THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY, $5 A YEAR.

TOO LATE TO HOWL.

The Time to Talk of Principles in Public Offices Is Before Election.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—What meaneth all this blowing about granting license to the saloons? Did not all the ministers and temperance men of our city vote for our Councilmen as Republicans, knowing that they were license men? Did they not expect when they nominated and voted with the rum and license men that they were voting for just what they have done? Do they expect to gather grapes of thorns, or figs from thistles? If you sow to the flesh can you expect to reap anything but corruption? Are you now going to stave the the Council all to thunder for doing what you voted for them to do? You that voted for them, virtually voted for the saloons; and when you, ministers, deacons, Sunday-school superintendents, teachers, and laymen, nominated these men in your primaries, you knew these men were license men.

Was the saloon question raised in your primaries? It is too late to howl now. Do you think you can change the spots on a leopard after he is out of the cage? or chain a panther after you have turned him loose among your sheep? Do you think you can cast out demons by Beelzebub? No, no, friends: by their fruits you shall know them, and you are known by the company you keep. Did you not vote the same ticket the saloon-keepers did? It is no use now to complain. You should have sounded the alarm before election. But no: you wished to elect your old party men at the expense of the saloon and rum party, and you did it. Now don't whine; but repent and do your first work, come out and be ye separate, and vote for what you profess to want.

ANTI-SALOON.

LIMITED LUNCHEONS.

Some Call 'Em Poverty, But They're a Feast Just the Same.

The first series of luncheons limited, or "Poverty Luncheons", as they have been dubbed, completed its round by the charming luncheon given yesterday at the home of ex-Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, by his daughter Miss Caroline. The members have given the luncheons in the following order: Miss May Shreve, Miss Edith VanBoskerck, Miss Reinhart, Miss Waring, Miss Middledith, Miss Clark, Miss Rodman, and Miss Caroline Randolph. The limit of two dollars for the cost of the viands has given full play to thought and skill in the preparation of dainty luncheons that have accordingly been preceded by pleasant expectation and enjoyed with keen satisfaction.

The menus, on which the cost of each article of food has been given, have been very ingenious in their pretty devices, and will be treasured many a long day by the skilful coterie, who have succeeded in entertaining pleasantly at small cost. The ended series has given such satisfaction that it is proposed to repeat it. Several other series have been organized in our city and other towns, and are equally ingenious and satisfactory.

Plainfield Crack Shots in This.

The annual tournament of the Boiling Springs Fishing and Gun Club of Rutherford, will be held March 5, 6 and 7. Targets will be used on the first two days and live birds on the last day. Shooting will begin at 9:30 each morning. The cup for the New Jersey championship has been won twice by the Boiling Springs Club, the members of which include such well-known trap shooters as Gus Greiff, Thomas H. Keller, Fred VanDyke, Neaf Apgar and Charles Smith.

The shooting at artificial targets will be at known traps and unknown angles; modified American Association rules to govern all contests. Entries for the live bird shoot will be received at 8 Murray street, Newark, by Gus E. Grieff, until Tuesday, March 5. At the contest in May, 1892, 9,000 blue-rock targets were used in one day.

Thriving in His Business.

James C. Field, Somerville's popular druggist, is putting in new counters, shelving and show cases of solid oak, highly polished and of the very latest pattern, which, when completed, will make his store one of the finest in northern New Jersey. As Mr. Field was once a Plainfielder, head of the firm of Field & Randolph, his many friends here will be glad to learn of his prosperity and success in Somerville.

—The Victor Wheelmen will hold a meeting at the home of Capt. Israel Jones Thursday, March 7.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

LIVE DOLLS ON SHOW.

13 in Row Perform Their Antics Funny.

THE MISSION BAND HAD THEM IN HAND

To Make for Heathen, Money—Tinkerer Fred, by Genius Led, Gave Each What Each Was After—When Mended, They Began to Play, and Drew Uproarious Laughter.

New York has had its dog show, its horse show, its poultry show; but Plainfield last night had her doll show, and all who saw it are just as well satisfied and pleased as though they had witnessed all the metropolitan attractions combined.

The doll show was presented under the auspices of the Presbyterian Mission Band. Previous to the commencement of the entertainment a tea and sale of confectionery and aprons was conducted in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Church. When the doors were thrown open at 4:30 and the sale commenced, four tables were to be seen, and surrounding each was a bevy of winsome women whose positions there as saleswomen and waitresses demanded the attention of the visitor and her pocketbook.

From the opening time till 8:30 a large number patronized the various tables, and thus gave to the Mission Band considerable profit for their earnest efforts not only to increase their own finances but also to provide a pleasant time for those who assisted them in that direction.

The first tea table was in charge of Mrs. Leal, and the Misses Patterson, Kline and Thayer, who poured the tea and prepared the other nick-nacks, which were served at table No. 2 by Misses Bilsh, Boice and Glenn.

The candy table was covered with all kinds of toothsome confections, and the young women who had charge were kept busy running the weight along the bar of the scales, opening bags, and pouring in bon-bons, chocolate creams, etc., to the welcome jingle of nickels, dimes and quarters. Those at this table were the Misses Tracy, and the Misses Gardner, Wilder, Lovell, Sutphen, Sebring and Bowers.

At the apron table Misses Moore and Patten essayed to tell the people what nice articles were here displayed, and like the rest they met with many profitable sales.

The reception committee, whose duty it was to make all feel at home, consisted of Misses Halloway, Thorne, Cahoone, Bilsh and Petrie. Shortly after 8, people began to arrive who had come to witness the doll show, and ahalf hour later the lecture room of the church was filled.

The doll show was presented in the form of a farce, with Fred H. Andrews as the star, supported by Miss Gertrude Walz and Will Runyon, and surrounded by the living dolls, all but two of whom whom were speechless, but whose actions caused volumes of laughter by their indescribable funny antics.

Mr. Andrews portrayed the character of a doll repairer, with Miss Walz and Mr. Runyon as Peggy and Silas, his children, who had the job of assistants to the tinkerer, The scene of the farce or show, or whatever it might be termed, was represented to be the shop of the doll repairer, where various citizens had sent their dollies to be mended of different casualities which had overcome them during their existence as playthings in the hands of the juvenile members of the family.

The curtains were drawn apart, and the scene presented was the shop full of winking, blinking dolls, but as motionless otherwise as though made of wax. At one end of the room was a table, on which were an oil can, saw, needle and thread, can of red paint, brush, a pail of sawdust, and other implements necessary to the occupation of a doll repairer. Along the walls hung toys that delight the little tots, and are indispensable to the well-regulated doll family.

The dolls were represented as told in The Press last night:

Rag doll	Miss Edith Tracy
Talking French doll	Miss Mabel Wilder
Peasant walking doll	Miss Phemie Johnston
Nun	Miss Sallye Swayze
Baby in cradle	Miss Helen Moody
Baby in chair	Miss Carolyn Thoms
Crying doll	Miss Madge Sutphen
Colored doll	Miss Flora Petrie
Japanese doll	Miss Louisa Patten
Gypsy doll	Miss May Tracy
Boy doll	Harold Dollner
Wooden doll	Miss Sarah Schuyler
Pin cushion doll	Miss Hallie VanDeventer

To each was pinned a note denoting the owner, and the repairs that were necessary. Among those who had sent in jobs—so the cards on them stated—were Mayor Gilbert, Councilman Fisk, Dr. Richards, Leander Lovell, Dr. Endicott, Dr. Hedges, and W D. Murray. Some needed new arms, new eyes, retouching of color on the cheeks; others required their mechanism to be repaired, such as the walking, talking and crying dolls. All the customers had to pay heavily for the repairs save Dr. Richards, who received a discount of 50 per cent. because he was a member of the clergy.

The dolls were repaired one at a time, but after the walking, talking and crying ones had been adjusted they occasioned no end of trouble to the tinkerer and his assistants because of their continued inclination to fulfil all the functions for which they were intended to represent, and thus occupying more time than they ought to, much to the perplexity of their temporary harborer. What the clown is to the circus the rag doll was to this entertainment. It was impossible to keep this ludicirous specimen in anything like a straight position, and the efforts made in this direction were very funny.

Each one of the young women was dressed in a manner suitable to the doll represented, and when all the costumes were conglomerated together they presented an unique scene.

The members of the Mission Band and their friends who assisted in making the show a success are entitled to great credit for the success of their endeavors to send the Gospel into the uncivilized countries.

NELLIE IN THE TOILS.

Recently Licensed Whiskey Has a Bad Effect on a Borough Belle.

Some of the city's newly licensed whiskey made business in the borough police court this morning, when Nellie Picket made her fourth debut on the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. She got drunk in the city, and became disorderly in the borough. Nellie crossed the brook early last night, and while on her way home on Grove street at 12:30 was met by John Barry and Charles Sprague, who were driving to the dump with the scavenger cart, and invited her to take a ride. Not being the recipient of such an invitation very often she climed in and went along. The cart is not as easy a vehicle to enjoy a ride in as it might be, but it seemed to have an invigorating effect on Nellie's feelings, for on the return drive along Mercer avenue she gave vent to them by a series of yells that made residents of that street dream that they were in the Indian territory.

William Wilson, a private watchman, heard the hilarity, and immediately notified Chief Marshal Pangborn, who hurried along Grove street and arrested Nellie before she got home.

After incarceration in the dingy cells of the police station, she presented a dejected sight when arraigned before Magistrate Crosley at 10 this morning.

"What do you say to the charge"—asked the Magistrate.

"I admit I was drunk"—said Nellie—"but if they (meaning the scavengers) had left me alone I'd been alright."

But her explanation did not satisfy the Magistrate, inasmuch as she was a frequent delinquent of justice.

"I'll have you sent down for 60 days"—said he, and the Court adjourned.

Good Stock from Plainfield.

Avon Park Stud has sold another good colt in Avon Boy, a two-year-old son of the great black mare Vanity, who was sold a short time ago.

Vanity started in twelve races last year and got part or whole of the money in eleven of them, among big fields and rough half-mile tracks. She will make a great mare this year in C. C. Brower's hands. Mr. Brower will also start Vanity's two-year-old son, Avon Boy, in some races this season.

Avon Park Stud is only about three years started and sent out two good ones last year in Vanity, 2:30½, Kitty Pilot, 2:34½, and has some of the choicest bred ones in the country, belonging to the best families. There is at this stud one of the best bred and handsomest young stallions that can be seen on any stock farm.

What a Change This Is

The last link in the borough's golden chain of good behavior for the month of February was broken at the last moment yesterday afternoon when the prospects were most bright for its completion. Two business men got in a quarrel, were arrested, and lightly fined.

Between 11 and 12 this morning the fourth arrest within 24 hours took place in the Borough, when Marshal Wilson took into custody a drunken and disorderly woman, who claims to live in New York, and incarcerated her in a cell in the police station. She will probably be arraigned before Magistrate Cooley tonight.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

JUVENILES ENTERTAIN.

Queen Esther Gives a Charming Programme.

The Queen Esther Band of Grace M. E. Church enjoyed a very pleasant time at the home of Mrs. John Valiant on Craig place last night. The following programme was arranged and carried out entirely by the juvenile members of the band:

Hymn	Band
Prayer	Rev. H. F. Randolph
Recitation	Flossie Conroy
Dialogue—"Mice at Play"— Aggie Morse, Tena Voehl, Anna Kirch, Mary Hoagland.
Piano Solo	Nellie Valiant
Song	Flossie Conroy and Belle DeMott
Recitation	Mabel Stevens
Song	Band
Dialogue—"An Afternoon Out", Nellie Valiant, Addie Carney, Carrie Pangborn, Hattie Messerschmidt, Nellie Vermeule.
Recitation	Mabel Wraite
Solo	Agnes Morse
Recitation	Hattie Messerschmidt
Duet	Bessie and Nellie Valiant
Recitation	Sadie Winckler
Exercises	Band

At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served, after which a peanut hunt was indulged in by the band. The first prize was won by Carrie Pangborn and the consolation by Flossie Conroy.

TWO YEARS MARRIED.

And Their Friends Happily Celebrate the Event.

A very pleasant and complete surprise was given to Mr. and Mrs. William Startup last evening at their home on Westervelt avenue, the occasion being the eve of their second marriage anniversary. The evening passed all too quickly with games and other amusements. The principal feature of the evening was the trimming of hats by the young men, in which Dr. Pocock carried off first prize, indicating that he is making rapid progress towards the millinery business, Henry G. Dunbar was not quite so fortunate, and so captured the consolation prize. Refreshments were served in abundance before closing, and all expressed their complete enjoyment of a very pleasant evening.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John M. VanFleet, Miss VanFleet, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bugg, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Oliver, Mrs. J. C. VanDyke, Dr. Pocock, Miss Lamming, Mr. Wilcox, Miss Ida Lamming, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Albertus Swaim, Alfred Willett, and Henry G. Dunbar and Walter Startup of Middletown, N. Y.

THIS MUST STOP.

Whoever Is Caught at This Work, Will Suffer.

Very shortly some person or persons are going to get themselves into serious trouble with the fire department officials if they do not desist from the dastardly trick of filling keyholes of fire alarm boxes with impediments so that it would be impossible to ring in an alarm if necessary.

Last night Policeman Hartpence found the keyhole of box 16, corner of East Front and Richmond streets, filled with a wooden wedge, which made it impossible to insert a key. This is the fourth box within two weeks that has been found in such a condition, each time being in widely separated parts of the city.

There is a heavy fine and imprisonment for conviction of such a crime, and Chief of the Fire Department Doane told a Press reporter today that every effort will be made to detect the guilty party. The informer gets one-half of any fine received. He requests that any citizen who may discover anyone suspiciously engaged about a box to notify him or the police immediately, no matter at what time of the night.

He'll Apply.

The gossips about town have had in circulation a rumor that E. P. Thorn had decided not to make application for a liquor license this year. Mr. Thorn was seen by a Press reporter this afternoon and said:

"My application for a a license will be filed at the Council meeting Monday night."

Salng for the Shock.

Valentine Swody, who was injured by being thrown by his horse coming in contact with an electric-charged trolley pole on Somerset street, has brought suit against the Plainfield Street Railway Company, through Reed & Coddington, in Justice Newcorn's Court. The summons is returnable March 8.

—C. R. Taylor will conduct the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. R. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

FIRST JUNIOR RALLY.

Young Christian Endeavorers Show Their Strengrh.

HAPPY SURPRISE FOR PLAINFIELD.

Nations Represented in Costume, and Foreign Tongues Give Christian Greeting—Dr. Lewis Advises Care for Early Growth.

At the Junior Endeavor rally in the First Baptist Church last evening Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, who made a short address, struck the keynote when he said that "Plainfield had never seen like it before".

Everyone present was surprised at the growth and most excellent work of this department of Christian work. Few had realized the magnitude the movement has attained.

Mrs. Wheaton Lowry of the Park Avenue Baptist society is the county superintendent, and it was at her suggestion, and with the cooperation of the superintendents of the local societies, that this first Junior rally was held and made the success that it was.

As the hymn "Junior Band" was being played by Miss Sue Peck on the piano and Miss Violet Truell, Lindsey Hillman and Willie McKillop on violins, the 150 Juniors who had gathered in the room below, marched into the auditorium, and a more pleasing picture could scarcely be seen. The bright faces and merry hearts of the little ones shed a happiness about that gave pleasure to the children of a larger growth.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich offered prayer; and Miss Whiting of the Congregational society conducted a most interesting exercise.

Ten of the Juniors, attired in foreign costumes, marched to the platform; and each told in the tongue of the nation he represented, what he had to say about the Junior work. The nations were represented as follows:

Samoa—Chas. Titsworth, Seventh-Day Baptist.

Chinese—Harold Nomer, Congregational.

Japanese—Grace VanSyckle, Seventh-Day Baptist.

India—Edith Titsworth, Seventh-Day Baptist.

Armenian — Harold Weisman, Congregational.

Turkey — Emma LaBoyteaux, Congregational.

French—Ethel Titsworth, Seventh-Day Baptist.

Spanish — Agnes La Boyteaux, Congregational.

Canadian—Ruth Maxson, Seventh-Day Baptist.

America—May Parmele, Congregational.

All joined in singing two verses of "America".

E. E. Anthony of Trinty Reformed Church then stated that he was not a Junior, but that he was grandfather by adoption of all the rest, and of course was much interested. He asked those present to give liberally when the baskets were passed, and a collection of $15 resulted.

While the baskets were passing, a beautiful violin trio was rendered with piano accompaniment.

A novel feature was then introduced, as the combined committees from all the societies marched to the platform to the music of one of the Christian Endeavor hymns, and in song told of their departments, as follows:

Lookout—With badge of red ribbon, warning all of danger.

Prayer meeting—White ribbon, signifying purity.

Social—Blue ribbon. They did n't want people to feel as their ribbon signified.

Sunshine—Yellow ribbon, representing one of the colors of sunbeams.

Missionary—Crimson ribbon, representation of the Blood that was shed on Calvary.

Music—Green ribbon, that color being restful to the eye so music was restful to the Soul.

The Junior Christian Endeavor pledge was recited in unison.

Mrs. Lowry then introduced Dr. Lewis, who was greeted by the Juniors with the Chautauqua salute.

He said in part: "Plainfield has never seen anything like this before. The Protestant churches have not until recent years properly cared for their children. We wonder at the power and strength of the Jewish and Catholic churches, but their strength is not surprising, for they begin with the children at the earliest possible period, and teach them their principles.

"There are three points I want you to consider and ponder:

"First, You never get a harvest in Autumn if you do n't plant in Spring.

"Second, Take especial care of early growth.

"Third, Every fundamental principle of the Church of Christ is shown to you tonight.

"We should be true as Christian Endeavorers to all things that count for good to secure the best possible results, until bye-and-bye we shall all be Seniors, and our Heavenly Father will welcome us to Himself."

A pleasing duet by Reta Pound and Harold Smalley was sung, and the good-night song "Keep in Line" was chorused by the societies.

The Mizpah benediction was repeated, and Rev. C. L. Goodrich closed the meeting with a ward of blessing.

The societies represented, and their superintendents, are as follows:

Park Avenue Baptist—Mrs. Wheaton Lowry.
First Presbyterian—Miss Sue Peck.
Trinity Reformed—Miss Berg.
Congregational—Rev. C. L. Goodrich.
Warren Chapel—Mrs. Taylor.
Washingtonville—Miss Beeching.
Seventh-Day Baptist—Mrs. H. M. Maxson.

Those acting as ushers at the meeting were Frank Clarkson, Clifford Braider, W. A. Stimpson, Joseph Hawkins and E. E. Anthony.

RHEUMATISM QUICKLY CURED.

Farmer Pettigrew Undecided Whether Explosions or a 300-yard Sprint Did It.

(From The New York Sun.)

Abel Pettigrew, a farmer who lives on the Westfield road near Springfield, suffered with rheumatism all Winter. Last week both feet were so swollen that he was not able to leave his bed. A neighbor suggested as a remedy that half a dozen bottles of hot water be placed in the bed close to the swollen feet, the water to be as hot as the patient could stand it. The bed on which Pettigrew lay was in the kitchen. When he heard of the remedy he told his wife to get half a dozen empty beer bottles and fill them with water and place them in the oven to get wormed. Mrs. Pettigrew did so. In a few minutes there was a loud explosion, which was rapidly followed by several others. The oven doors were blown off and the pieces sent skirling over the room.

Mrs. Pettigrew shrieked and ran out. Mr. Pettigrew yelled, jumped out of bed, and ran across the room and out into the road. He ran on for a few hundred yards and then stopped, turned around, and waited to see his house blown up. There were two more reports, and when nothing more was heard after a safe interval, Mr. and Mrs. Pettigrew ventured to return. The stove was a wreck, the window panes were broken, a big patch of the ceiling lay on the floor, and broken glass was all around. The six bottles had exploded. This was on Friday night and since then Farmer Pettigrew has had no rheumatism. Neither has he used any other remedy. He has not quite made up his mind whether the rheumatism was scared out of him or whether the 300-yard sprint down the icy road in his bare feet effected the cure.

The Danger Signal as a Benefit.

"The Danger Signal", Henry C. DeMille's great play, which will be the Music Hall attraction for Mr. Sohl's benefit next Monday night, is a really remarkable effort of that famous playwright. The story of the play is natural. Two young men are in love with a station master's daughter, and the exciting scenes and incidents which are crowded through the play all have something to do with this same love interest, which claims the closest attention of the audience until the finale of the last act.

Contrary to usual plays of this kind, there is no heartless villain, and no deeds of villainy are enacted, but the scenes are simple and natural ones in the lives of people who occasionally are confronted by perilous adventures, and who there prove themselves heroes.

She Blows Right, Now.

Chief Fairchild and Foremad J. Stahl got mad yesterday at the steam fire gong in the borough, and made an effort to ascertain what was the cause for the valve to stick and sound the long blow instead of the number of short ones, as intended. Last night at 6 they were rewarded for their labors by hearing the whistle blow properly. May it continue so to do is the wish of everybody.

Swearing to Their Incomes.

Justice Mosher is doing a rushing business nowadays taking the affidavits of persons who come under the scope of the income tax and are compelled to swear as to the amount of their income. Among those who have made affidavits was Benj. Urner of Fanwood, who complied with the law this morning.

Lenten Preachers.

Following is the list of preachers secured for Grace P. E. Church Thursday evenings at 8: March 7, Rev. Dr. McAllister; March 14, Rev. H. M. P. Roche; March 21, Rev. H. M. P. Pearse; March 28, Rev. Dr. Taylor; April 3, O. Bunting; April 11, Maundy Thursday.

Clothing for the Poor.

The Woman's Temperance Aid Society ask the public for donations of clothing of all description, for the deserving poor. They can be left with Mrs. King, 226 West Second street, or at Reform Hall.

—Street Commissioner Meeker is planning to clear Park avenue tomorrow for a presentable Sunday appearance.

Honeyman's Private Tours.

Next tour April 11 to Southern California via Mammoth Cave and New Orleans. Private hotel car. Time 41 days. Room for few only. European Tour, including a week's coaching trip in England, June 22. Circulars at 181 North avenue, Plainfield. 27w1

A MARRIAGE QUESTION

Ladies Discussing a Way To Remedy Divorce Laws.

Mrs. Detrieck Reads Many Letters from Governors, Who Are "Too Busy with State Duties" To Give the Matter Any Attention—Their Contempt for Women's Opinions.

Washington, March 1.—Mrs. Ellen B. Detrieck, of Cambridge, Mass., said in her speech yesterday "The governor of South Dakota replies that his time was so engrossed with state matters, that he could not personally reply, but would give the matter due consideration when he had leisure.

"The governor of Idaho wrote, 'At present I am too busy to give this matter my attention, but will try, at some future time, to take it up with you.' That future time has not yet arrived.

"The governor of Iowa wrote, 'The divorce laws of Iowa, I believe to be just and considerate and highly satisfactory to the people of our state, my official duties are such as to occupy my entire time, so that it is impossible for me to be of any service to you in the direction indicated.'

"Ten governors replied politely and evasively that they would give the request, 'careful attention.'

Educational Influences.

"Only two, Gov. Greenhalge of Massachusetts, and Gov. Brown of Rhode Island, as the committee reported, wrote cordial and manly responses, promising to do all in their power to carry out the moderate and just request of the Womens' council.

"The governor of Delaware alone wrote very fully, giving his opinion of both marriage and divorce, but he neglected to state whether or not he would comply with the councils' request."

Their Frank Contempt.

The report continues: "We might as well face the fact, that official servants of the United States cherish frank contempt for womans' opinions and wishes, and that, too, in regard to a matter which concerns the welfare of woman far more vitally than it does the welfare of men, as the statistics given in the former report of your divorce committee witness.

"Many a woman, tempted to ride in a carriage, would be immensely healthier and happier to use her own feet. Many an individual could live more nobly and happily, were she but allowed to express her own opinion as to how she ought to live.

"Respectfully submitted,
"Ellen Batelle Detrieck, chairman.
"Mary A. Livermore.
"Fannie B. Amea."

Miss Field said that in remedying divorce laws we ought to begin at the other end, and make marriages more difficult. (Applause.) She favored a national marriage law.

Another unmarried woman also responded to calls. She was Rev. Ida C. Hultin, of Illinois. Miss Hultin maintained that marriage should be subjected to some educational influences. Boys and girls ought, she said, to be educated for possible fatherhood and motherhood as well as for business and profession. (Great applause.)

"A Titled Foreigner."

Rev. Anna H. Shaw was called on "to sum up the opinions of the spinsters." She advocated preventation of divorce through teaching young people more about home and marriage. Too much weight was given in these days to the wordly goods of the parties and the principal reference to the estimable young lady of New York who was to marry a titled foreigner was that she would ship her money out of this country to the old world. There was no thought that she would ship her sweet, young self out of the country. Miss Shaw said she had no more respect for nine-tenths of the marriages than she had for the marriage relations established between men and women outside of the marriage rite.

GOOD ADVICE FOR WIVES.

Man Receives Too Much Tyranny at Home—His Dual Life.

Washington, March 1.—Mrs. Wright Sewall, in her speech at the Womens' convention yesterday said: "Women's little cruelties to men were as great as those of men to women. Tyranny was practiced on men in the home. There was too much looking up to the man as the provider. When the man came to be regarded merely as a source of supplies, he was just as much degraded in his home as woman was in national affairs. (Applause and some dissent.)

Five Years for Criminal Assault

Bridgeport, Conn., March 1.—Last night, after a week's trial, the jury in the superior criminal court returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Josiah Hockey, charged with criminal assault, the victim being 16-year-old Florence Sutcliffe. The case attracted great attention. Judge Andrews sentenced Hockey to five years in state prison, his previous good reputation saving him from a longer sentence.

Well, He Ought To Get It.

Perry, O. T., March 1.—Suit for divorce has been filed in the district court of Cleveland county by Dr. M. V. D. Morse, nephew of the telegraph inventor. The specific acts of cruelty alleged are that Mrs. Morse pulled the clothes from his bed in the winter and poured hot water on him in summer.

Are They Rebels?

London, March 1.—The Vienna correspondent of the Central News telegraphs that a large number of persons, mostly students, have been arrested in Kieff and Odessa on suspicion that they were engaged in revolutionary plots. Among the prisoners are several Poles and Jews.

Letter Carrier Murdered.

Washington, March 1.—Chief Postoffice Inspector Wheeler received a telegram last night stating that the mail carrier on the route between Forest and Trenton, Miss., was murdered on the 26th of February. The department will give the matter their immediate attention.

EIGHTEEN YEARS HIS SENTENCE

A Train Robber Must Spend This Time Behind the Bars.

Stafford Court House, Va., March 1.—It was late in the afternoon yesterday when the prosecuting attorney closed his two hours' argument in winding up the Aquia Creek train robbery case, and ten minutes later the jury returned with the verdict.

"Gentlemen of the jury, look upon the prisoner," said Clerk Bryan, "Have you agreed upon your verdict?"

"We have," replied Foreman Jones, in a firm voice.

"Is he guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty," said the foreman and the verdict was handed up. It is as follows: "We the jury find the prisoner Charles Morgan, alias Charles Augustus Morganthal, guilty as charged in the indictment and fix his term of confinement in the penitentiary at eighteen years."

The judge then asked Morgan if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. Half raising himself Morgan said: "I was not ready for trial and had no idea I would be tried at this term of court. I was not physically or mentally in condition to be tried and did not want to be tried in this condition."

"The court sees no reason in that for not passing sentence," said Judge Ashton, "You have had a fair trial and I now sentence you to the penitentiary for eighteen years."

ELECTRICAL WORKERS' STRIKE

Only 4,000 Men Idle—A Protest Sent to Bishop Potter.

New York, March 1.—The board of walking delegates of the building trades held a meeting yesterday after which President O'Brien said that reports had been received from all points where strikes had been ordered on account of the dispute between the electrical workers and their employers, and that while some 4,000 men in all had struck, so far only six non-union men had been employed in their places.

A letter was received by the strike committee from George F. Seward, president of the Fidelity & Casualty company, asking if they would submit the trouble to arbitration. The committee responded that they were ready at times to do so, and would be pleased to have Mr. Seward act as one of the arbitrators. A sub-committee called on him and he said he would advise the contractors to agree to arbitration.

Charles W. Hoadley, master workman of the union, sent a letter to Bishop Potter yesterday protesting against the reported action of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in furnishing men to take the places of strikers.

CAUSED BY CARELESSNESS.

Twenty-five Miners Meet Death in a Mine Explosion.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 1.—Advices from the scene of the mine explosion at Cerrilles place the number of dead positively at twenty-five. One man is still missing. All the rest of the miners were accounted for. Tom Leaden, the one rescued, is a member of the New Mexico legislature. He is making an effort to have the bill passed for the relief of the widows and orphans of the men killed.

The superintendent of the mine said yesterday that the explosion was caused by the carelessness of two miners who passed the danger line with unprotected lamps against orders. A coroner's jury was empanelled and will begin taking evidence to-day. The damage to the mine is very small.

WHAT FOOLS THEY WERE.

Died in the Midst of Plenty in Their Filthy Home.

Boston, March 1.—A sad case of destitution and death in the midst of plenty came to light in south Boston last night. The police were notified that two old men, both blind, had not been seen for several days. The officers forced the door of their room, in a dark and filthy basement, on a bed in the corner was found Joe Saunders age 60, dead, with his room mate Emmanuel Smith, 70, slowly dying. In the room was found a bank book calling for $224.40. In the mattress on which the two men were laying, $50 in bills were found. Lack of food, and exposure is said to be the cause of death.

Pleading for Buchanan.

New York, March 1.—Lawyer Chas. W. Brooke said yesterday that he would take the case of convicted murderer Dr. Robert W. Buchanan to the United States supreme court. The court of appeals decided against Buchanan. The argument Mr. Brooke intends to bring up is whether or not Juror Paradise, who was taken suddenly ill at the Astor house, was eligible to deliberate on the merits of the case as he was allowed to do. Mr. Brooke will be obliged to get the signature of a United States supreme court justice to a writ of error before the highest court in the country will review the case.

Malpractice Not Proven.

Dover, N. H., March 1.—The case against Dr. Frank E. Brigham, of Salmon Falls, for alleged criminal malpractice upon the late Marcia J. Quint of South Berwick, was given to the jury yesterday. The jury came in late in the afternoon and Foreman Corson reported a verdict of not guilty. At the announcement the spectators manifested their joy by loud applause. Upon motion of Brigham's counsel and agreement by the state attorney, the doctor was discharged.

Accidentally Killed.

Erie, Pa., March 1.—Mrs. Elizabeth Berriman, widow of Captain G. Berriman was accidentally killed yesterday by falling from her door-step and breaking her neck. She was 90 years of age and was the mother of the Berriman Brothers, large vessel owners on the lakes.

Uncle Sam Receives Bids.

Washington, March 1.—Bids were opened at the treasury department yesterday for the brick and terra cotta flooring work, etc., of the Worcester, Mass., public building, and the Pioneer Fire Proof Construction company, of Chicago, was the lowest bidder at $8,678.

In the House of Commons.

London, March 1.—The Welsh disestablishment bill passed its first reading in the house of commons last evening without a division. The Irish land bill will be introduced on March 4.

WANT THE RAILROADS

Populist Plank Adopted by Brooklyn Citizens.

The City of Churches Rises in Just Indignation Against the Trolley Car Monopoly—Jos. R. Buchanan Again to the Front—Brooklyn's Only Relief.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 1.—The populist, who by many people in the east, has been considered "dead," was last night very much alive in this city. The citizens are waking up to the fact, that if capitalists can combine for their interest to monopolize the streets of Brooklyn with their electric juggernauts, they should also combine, as tax payers, to own and control the city railroads. No stronger plank can be found in the peoples' party platform. With the above object in view about 450 persons assembled in the Criterion theatre last night where for more than three hours they listened to several speakers discuss the bill that has been submitted to the legislature by Mr. Conkling in regard to the street railroads being owned by the city. The following resolutions were read and adopted:

Whereas, The recent great strike in this city, involving as it did the lives of innocent onlookers, as well as the happiness and welfare of large numbers of our working people and the comfort and safety of the public at large, has drawn renewed attention to the existence of grave evils in the present system of street railway management, and

Whereas, These evils result from the fact that the corporations are more interested in paying their shareholders large dividends upon watered stock than in affording the public (to whom they owe their existence) a safe comfortable and convenient service; be it

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the remedy lies in the resumption by the municipality of the valuable franchises conferred upon these corporations, and

Resolved, That to give our opinion practical expression we pledge our enthusiastic support to the bill introduced in the assembly by Mr. Conkling and in the senate by Senator Bradley, submitting to the people of New York, Brooklyn and Buffalo, the question of the city ownership of the local railways occupying their streets.

Resolved, That we urge upon the legislature its immediate enactment into law, and call upon all citizens interested in securing to the city the benefit of the large revenues resulting from the possession of these franchises, to co-operate in an endeavor to place the issues squarely before the people at the next election.

Speeches advocating the control of street railroads by the people of the city were made by Dr. W. S. Rainsford, Joseph R. Buchanan, Thomas G. Shearman, Rev. Thomas J. Ducey, Edward King and others.

THE HYAMS' MURDER TRIAL.

Employes of the Two Brothers Called as Witnesses.

Toronto, Ont., March 1.—The Hyams' murder case was continued yesterday. Miss Mabel Latimer, who at the time of Wells' death was employed as typewriter in the Hyams Brothers office, was a witness. She said she was given many letters to deliver personally on the day of the alleged murder. On her return to the office she met Harry Hyams, who told her his brother had been fixing the elevator weight when it slipped and fell killing him. Mrs. Lucy Pengilley, a servant at the Hyams' house, gave damaging testimony, stating that she had washed a pair of trousers with blood spots on them, but as the stain would not come out they were sent to the dyers. The trial will continue to-morrow.

TOO MUCH MOTHER-IN-LAW.

O'Leary, Who Shot Her, Charged with Murder in the First Degree.

New York, March 1.—Among the indictments returned by the grand jury of the general sessions yesterday was one for murder in the first degree against Dennis O'Leary, a policeman, who, on February 16 last, shot and killed his mother-in-law, Mary White, during an altercation with her, at their residence.

The defendant will be called upon to plead in a few days, when the date of his trial will be fixed.

Giddy Girls at Noon Hour.

Brockton, Mass., March 1.—Three girls named Flora Miller, Nora Denehy and Mollie McCarthy, were standing on a platform leaning against a railing at the shoe factory of T. D. Barry & Co., when another girl, in fooling, ran against them. The railing gave way and three of them fell to the ground, a distance of some thirteen feet. They all were injured seriously. Physicians were summoned and the girls were removed to their homes.

A Serious Strike.

St. Louis, March 1.—The strike situation at the Ludor Iron works is becoming serious. Armed guards have been placed at the gates to protect non-union workmen and the company has secured beds for the new men to sleep in the works. Commissary department is also being organized in the works. Trouble is feared.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

About Nervous Prostration

By

H. O. CHAPIN,
Editor St. Paul Pioneer Press.

"After a most thorough trial and receiving the most gratifying results, I am glad to testify in favor of

BOVININE
The Original Raw Food

"By it I was brought up with remarkable rapidity from a long siege of nervous prostration."

All Physicians Endorse It.

Bovinine is an ideal food—an unequalled nutrient, is palatable to the most delicate stomach. Always it will sustain strength for weeks. It makes new blood. It contains the largest amount of nutrition in the smallest possible bulk.

For sale at all druggists.

THE BOVININE CO., NEW YORK.

GEO. J. TOBIN,
187 North avenue.
Practical Plumber
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer
TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

Mrs. L. Adams,
111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank.
is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.
BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET.
(Estate D. L. Smalley.)
94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.
GEO. EGEL, Manager.
We sell only first-class goods, at low prices, for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 10 t

HENRY G. ADAMS.
INSURANCE.
Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices.
BEE HIVE
Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½
Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.
Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.
We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,
222 West Front st

MRS. L. COLES,
FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,
Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st
Taylor's French System
used. Suits $6.co and upward.
2 2 tf

H. DeMOTT,
With livery attached,
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,
178 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 92 7

J. W. VAN SICKLE,
Dealer in all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats
GAME IN SEASON.
New No. 128., North Ave., Plainfield, N.
Telephone 148 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL and WOOD,
YARD—No. 208 Madison Avenue. Also
Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle 145 North avenue.

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION
is called to the
Home Department
of Rockview School, 317 East Front street. Children received from 4 to 15 Years.
Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.
Miss Fawcett's School,
25 Washington Ave.
Department for boys to the age of 12.
" girls and kindergarten.
Girls prepared for college.
Re-opened September 12.

Afternoon Class for Young Ladies
Three times per week. Higher English Branches, French and Music. For terms apply MISS FAWCETT, 25 Washington ave.

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE,
CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 75 Grandview ave. L. G. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,
MASON AND CONTRACTOR.
Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 5 28 3

JOHN P. EMMONS
—Mason and Builder.—
Washington avenue and Prospect place
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Jobbing promptly attended to 11 18 tf

D. L. HULICK,
CARPENTER,
And General Jobber.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
Orders may be left at Brenmer's Clothing Store, 16 Somerset street, or sent by mail.
Residence 178 Duer st.
6-2-tf

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
E. B Gayle, No. 12 Vine St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
7-21-tf

JOHN T. ODAM
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
Slate Roofer and Repairer
Residence, cor. Arlington ave. and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J. New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 5 28 3

GEO. W. STUDER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
985 ARLINGTON AVENUE.
Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to. Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,
21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.
E. H. McCullough, Proprietor.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 6-11-1

C. W. LINES,
Mason and Builder.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence—113 Liberty street.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to 12 28

Jno. J. Shotwell,
Wood Mantels,
Tiles and Fire Place
Furnishings.
221 Park avenue, upstairs. 3 5 tf

N. E. KING,
High Grade Portraits
In Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.
483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.
Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimen of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

JAMES E. BAILY,
97 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
Trucking of All Kinds Done.
Two and four-horse vans and trucks. Particular attention given to moving furniture and pianos. Satisfaction guaranteed. 5 26 tf

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 109 Park avenue.
Sewers, pavements and road improvements.
Publisher of city map and atlas.

Joseph E. Mosher,
Agent for
H. J. Hayden & Co.,
WAR CLAIMS ATTORNEYS, WASHINGTON, D.C.
All claims put in our hands will receive prompt attention.
Call at the Crescent Cigar Store for fine cigars

A. Lusardi,
No. 120 North Ave.,
Will be pleased to serve his friends and the public generally with first-class fruits and confectioneries, cigars, etc. Fresh roasted peanuts every day 10c. quart.
Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets.

CLEANER COAL.
L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
50 BROADWAY, cor. 44th ST.
Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.
UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.
He would also announce recently increased facilities for TURNING and SCROLL SAWING and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at shortest notice.
6-22-

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL ALBION,
OPEN FOR GUESTS
Park avenue and 8th street.
7

The Finderne,
FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.
Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.
HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.
(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30.) Steam heat; inclosed piazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.
A. E. WHITE, Manager, Finderne, N. J.
1 9 tf

HOTEL GRENADA,
North Avenue.
Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.
5-12-t

PURE
California Wines,
Port, Sherry and Catawba 20 cents bottle. The celebrated
Zinfandel Clarets,
25 cents to 50 cents per bottle at
E. P. THORN,
NO. 17 PARK AVENUE.

CITY HOTEL.
Plainfield, N. J.
COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. B. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.
With stables attached. 4 5 7

IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER
On draught at
CHARLES SMITH'S
Sample and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST.
The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian Dark and the St. Louis.
Ballantine's Ales also on draught The Indian Pale XXX Stock Ale and Porter.

A full assortment of Stationery!
AT
HARPER'S,
411 Park ave.

Real Estate VAN BUREN & TIMPSON. Insurance
M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance.
7 East Front Street.

HOAGLAND'S
Local Express.
Telephone 121.
Office 161 North Avenue

REMOVAL.
I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to
142 North Avenue
Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.
CALEB DICKINSON

AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE
For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Bad Complexion, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.
R·I·P·A·N·S TABULES are gently yet promptly. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
Price 72 cents a box. Address RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., N.Y.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North ave. 10,1 tf

Jones & Co., Excavators.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
JONES & CO.
Cesspools built. 9 15

FISCHER PIANOS.
ESTABLISHED 1840.
Nearly 100,000 Now in Use.
RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARD, WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO.
EASY TERMS.—EXCHANGED.
Catalogue mailed on application.
110 FIFTH AVE., cor. 16th St., N.Y.

A BABY

CONTRADICTS THE DOCTORS.

All Are Happy, Glad, and Well.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

The theories of physicians in regard to female complaints suffer a "Waterloo" very frequently, when sensible and thinking women take matters into their own hands.

Women are sometimes compelled to act for themselves, because of the suffering forced upon them by incompetent doctors, who are baffled by very simple complaints, because they are not the right sex to comprehend them.

Lydia E. Pinkham, when she gave to the world her Vegetable Compound, lifted women from the darkness into light. She placed within their reach a guaranty, not only of health, but of delicacy and self-respect.

The following letter is a little story where a "dear little boy" was the "Waterloo."

"I have taken three bottles of your Vegetable Compound, one package of Sanative Wash, one box of Liver Pills; and now I have a dear little babe four weeks old, and I am well. I have to thank you for this.

"I have spent $200.00 for doctors' bills without a cure. For my cure I only spent $5.00.

"I was once a victim of female troubles in their worst form. I have suffered untold agonies every month; had to stay in bed, and have poultices applied, and then could not stand the pain.

"My physician told me if I became pregnant I would die. I had bladder trouble, itching, backache, catarrh of the stomach, hysteria, and heart trouble, fainting spells and leucorrhœa. Can you wonder that I sing the praises of a medicine that has cured me of all these ills?" MRS. GEO. C. KIRCHNER, 351 Snediker Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A LADY'S TOILET

Is not complete without an ideal

COMPLEXION POWDER.

POZZONI'S

Combines every element of beauty and purity. It is beautifying, soothing, healing, healthful, and harmless, and when rightly used is invisible. A most delicate and desirable protection to the face in this climate.

Insist upon having the genuine.

IT IS FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

$500 DOWN

Buys One of Those New Houses

on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 212 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

R. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 8094, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger,
Samuel H. Lunger, Fin. Sec. 9 25 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 169, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 10 East Front stree

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. G. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS

Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc., in bunches, bouquets or design.

MILLS,

Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 2 17 tf

SHE WANTED A HUSBAND

A Widow Out $11,000 by Answering an "Ad."

Gave "Birney" Her Cash To Buy a Hotel—Date Set for the Wedding But He Never Returned—Then She Played Detective and Caught Her Recreant Lover.

Newark, N. J., March 1.—Mrs. Annie Gebhardt, of this city, lost $11,000 by answering a matrimonial advertisement, and hasn't even a husband to show for it. But she did some clever detective work, and had the satisfaction of seeing the man locked up in the Newark police headquarters last night.

She saw the advertisement in a Newark newspaper some four weeks ago, and says the prisoner answered the letter in person. He told her his name was Otto Birney, and that he lived in New York. The advertisement had stated he had money, but wanted a wife with some more, so that he could start in business.

They Would Buy a Hotel.

After a preliminary talk, Mrs. Gebhardt says, she accompanied the man to New York. They inspected a hotel and saloon property at Church and Cortlandt streets. This property, it was explained, was the one the man wanted to buy. The price, he said, was $18,000. He said he had $14,000 and his brother would lend him $5,000 more, but it would require $12,000 more than the $19,000 he could command, because the bar and hotel furniture would have to be purchased separately.

Mrs. Gebhardt had but $11,000, and she offered this. She says the man took it. The date for the wedding had been set and she had no suspicion but that the transaction was perfectly legitimate. After the man obtained the money she heard no more from him. Letters sent to the address in New York failed to bring a response, and the promise to call daily was not kept.

A Decoy Letter.

After the first few days Mrs. Gebhardt made up her mind she had been swindled. She did not report the matter to the police, but concluded to do some detective work on her own behalf. She carefully scanned the local and New York papers each day for matrimonial advertisements. She was rewarded a few days ago by seeing the same advertisement, and promptly had a friend of hers write to the man. Letters were exchanged and the writing compared with some of that in the possession of Mrs. Gebhardt. It was the same, and another letter was sent by her friend making an appointment to meet the man at the depot of the Central railroad of New Jersey last evening.

Caught at Last.

This arranged, Mrs. Gebhardt called on the police. She told her story, and Detectives Jaegers and Jackes were assigned to accompany her to the depot. The woman friend was waiting. Promptly on time, the man entered. Mrs. Gebhardt recognized him, and the police made the arrest.

At police headquarters, the prisoner registered himself as Charles Hecking, of this city. Mrs. Gebhardt preferred a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses against him. The police say the man is an old offender, as they had him under arrest five years ago for a similar offense. He is believed to have other victims in this city, who are reluctant to make their troubles known.

FORTY-TWO KILLED.

Five Coaches Jump the Rails with Their Human Freight.

City of Mexico, March 1.—An excursion train coming into the city on the Inter Oceanic railroad met with a frightful accident yesterday afternoon.

While rounding a curve on the side of a mountain five coaches jumped the track and went down the canon. Forty-two people were killed and thirty or more seriously injured.

The accident occurred about forty kilometers from this city. Wires have been down and it has been impossible so far to obtain any details of the awful disaster.

Capitol Employes Discharged.

Albany, March 1.—There was a large number of lay-offs in the maintenance department of the capitol last night, but officially the number is placed at fourteen, including three orderlies, an elevator man, six cleaners, two firemen and two laborers. Two or three of the orderlies were old soldiers and it is given out that they were dismissed for cause. It is reported that the number of employes whose services were dispensed with reaches forty instead of fourteen.

Encouraging News.

Detroit, March 1.—The Taugh Steam Forge department of the Michigan Peninsula Car works, which has been employing a limited number of men for many months, last night started work at its full capacity, giving employment to nearly 500 men. The prospects are that the forge will be kept going steadily.

To Help the Widow and Orphan.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 1.—The legislature last night appropriated $6,500 to be made available at once for the relief of the families left by the miners killed in the explosion at Cerrillos Wednesday. Of the twenty-four killed, eleven had families, and destitution is feared.

A Bishop Shot.

Rome, March 1.—A theological student in Catanzaro shot the bishop of the diocese yesterday with a revolver. The bishop was wounded seriously, but he will recover. The student said after his arrest that he sought revenge for the bishop's refusal to ordain him.

Populist Called Higher.

New York, March 1.—J. Alexander Fulton, aged 73 years, a leading Delaware lawyer, died suddenly at Dover, in that state yesterday. At the last election Mr. Fulton was the populist candidate for governor.

WHO ARE THE CONSPIRATORS?

E. V. Debs Tells in His Speech to 3,000 People in Chicago.

Chicago, March 1.—E. V. Debs, president of the American Railway union, delivered his lecture "Who are the conspirators?" to an audience of 3,000 people at the auditorium in this city last night.

The address was replete with caustic utterances aimed at the general managers, the United States deputy marshals and the courts, and the crowd applauded the speaker generously. "The railroads will find out before they get through that they undertook a bigger contract than they first imagined when they tried to down the American Railway union," said Mr. Debs.

"The general managers could have averted the Pullman strike if they would have only said one word, but that one word was wanting."

After an extensive review of the causes that led up to the great strike of 1894, Mr. Debs said:

"If the railroads would pay dividends on honest investments they would be able to pay honest wages. The General Managers' association went into partnership with the Pullman company to crush the life out of the A. R. U. The General Managers' association was formed for forcing sympathetic strikes and who then are the conspirators?"

Turning his attention to the deputy marshals, Mr. Debs said:

"When I was here a few days ago, I met Captain Palmer of the Chicago fire department. He told me that when his company was fighting the fire in the line of box cars near 55th street during the strike, he found a man cutting the hose there. He promptly "slugged" him and saw that he wore a deputy marshal's star. Two officers in citizens clothes caught two men with oiled waste in a box car and they were also found to be wearing deputy marshal's stars. These marshals were from the scum of the city."

The speaker praised Judge Caldwell as the fairest minded man on the bench.

EX-PRIEST SCORES CATHOLICS.

Great Excitement in Savannah, But He Is Not Attacked.

Savannah, Ga., March 1.—There has been another day and night of intense excitement in this city. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Slattery lectured to 600 women in Odd Fellows' hall. She and her husband were escorted to the hall by officers. They were followed back to their hotel by hundreds.

Last night Odd Fellows' hall was crowded to its limits, and it is said that a large proportion of those present were armed. Outside nearly the entire police force was stationed, and no crowd was allowed to congregate. Inside the hall there was a scene of enthusiasm. Slattery received an ovation and was cheered when he declared that the riot Tuesday night had shown the necessity of Protestant organization on the lines of the A. P. A., or the junior order of American Mechanics. Slattery was escorted back to the hotel by a large body of police.

Several hundred men followed, to assist in protecting him. There was no demonstration made against the ex-priest except hisses. Slattery announced that he intended to remain in this city until he could walk the streets without police protection.

Fifteen of the men said to have been prominent in the troubles Tuesday night were arrested yesterday.

A DARING ROBBERY.

Locked Passengers in a Freight Car and Stole the U. S. Mail.

Mount Carmel, Ill., March 1.—Two masked men entered the railroad station here early yesterday morning and at the point of revolvers robbed Night Operator Crouch of the day's receipts. The robbers then covered the four passengers in the waiting room with their guns, marched them single file to a freight car and locked them in. Returning to the depot they rifled three United States mail bags which were in the telegraph office. The imprisoned passengers were released by Agent Jones after being in the car over three hours.

Newark's Police Angry.

Newark, N. J., March 1.—The police board of Paterson, N. J., is about to investigate the charges made by Sophia Weinhardt, who was convicted of keeping a disorderly house, that she paid protection money to the police. On the stand last Wednesday she declared that she herself paid the money to Policeman Thomas Walker and Detective Connell, as well as to other policemen whose beats were in the neighborhood of her house. Chief of Police Graul says that the woman perjured herself in order to throw discredit on the police for raiding her place. Connell and Walker deny that her charges are true.

U. S. Marshal Takes Whiskey.

Charleston, S. C., March 1.—The schooner Carolina, which was seized here a few days ago by the dispensary constables, while endeavoring to land a cargo of whiskey at one of the wharves, was yesterday taken possession of by a deputy United States marshal, who is now in charge. The arrest of the vessel was upon a libel for possession instituted by the captain and owners of the Carolina. The action will take the dispensary law into the federal courts.

Troops for Cuba.

Madrid, March 1.—The government has decided upon a military occupation of the disturbed districts of Cuba. Orders have been issued to the royal navy and Transatlantic company to hasten preperations to transport 6,300 troops from Spain and a battalion from Porto Rico to Cuba.

Army Veteran Missing.

New Haven, Conn., March 1.—William Vetterman, an army veteran, has been missing for some time, and it is feared that he has in some manner committed suicide. He had been suffering from a cancer in the throat for some time and this made him despondent.

Death on the Rails.

Meriden, Conn., March 1.—Eva Spencer, aged 26, was killed at the Ferry street crossing of the Consolidated road last night. She was struck by a freight car which was being switched.

BOLD TRAIN ROBBERY

A Daring "Hold-Up" by Fifteen Armed Bandits.

The Baggage and Express Car Cut Loose from the Train by the Robbers, Who Plundered the Safe—The Amount Stolen Believed To Be Large—Ladies Held Prayer.

Dallas, Tex., March 1.—The boldest train robbery ever committed in Texas took place on the edge of this city last evening. Fifteen thoroughly armed men held up the Houston & Texas central express at the Missouri, Kansas & Texas crossing. The engineer and fireman were made to leave the engine; then the robbers cut loose the express and baggage cars, placed men on the engine, pulled the throttle wide open and ran northward, leaving the body of the train on the track.

Just before starting away with the express car the robbers compelled Engineer Tom Averett to get into the cab. He was then made to run out to a point near White Rock Creek Bottoms, about five miles north of the Dallas Union depot. There they stopped and compelled the express messenger to open the express car and admit them.

He Opened the Safe.

The messenger, confronted with six-shooters, opened the safe and the robbers plundered it. They tore up a large number of packages. After they had finished with the express car they shot out the headlight and other illuminations, leaving the engine and express car in total darkness except the light furnished from the firebox. They told the engineer to run back to his train as soon as he pleased.

The robbers then scattered to the timbers of White Rock Creek Bottoms, where it is presumed they had comrades and horses in waiting. Railroad express officials and employes declare that the robbers found no money, but the belief is general that a large sum was secured.

In running back to the balance of his train Engineer Averett had no lights or signals to guide him, and he crashed into the cars on reaching them, smashing several sets of bumpers. The passengers had hidden their effects under and about the seats. The shock to the car sent watches, money and miscellaneous valuables jingling and clattering around the floor.

Ladies Pray.

Facts of the robbery were telephoned into police headquarters by the fireman, who had to walk some distance to reach a telephone. Chief of Police Arnold and Sheriff Cabell, with ten mounted officers armed with Winchesters, started in pursuit from police headquarters. The robbers had nearly two hours' start of the pursuing posse from Dallas before the latter reached the scene of the hold-up and plundering.

Notices have been sent to all towns to be on the lookout and large numbers of men have been placed on all roads leading from this city and in the White Rock Creek Bottoms in the surrounding country with the hope of intercepting the robbers. The police, railroad and express authorities have no idea as to the identity of the bandits, but they are believed to be a new gang organized since the annihilation of the Dalton and Cook gangs.

On the train was a party of ladies returning from the Moody meeting being held here. They all went to praying, one of them leading with "Oh, Lord, Thou who rescued Daniel from the lion's den, deliver us, we beseech Thee, from the hands of these bandits."

The police late last night arrested Joe Mills at a variety theatre as one of the suspected robbers. He had requested a saloon-keeper to change a $20 gold piece before entering the theatre, saying he did not care to drink. When searched $219 in gold was found upon his person. He gave his address as Tennessee. Detectives are looking for the men who were with him before he entered the theatre.

Counterfeiters Captured.

Buffalo, March 1.—Edward Clancy and George Shaw, two of the counterfeiters arrested at Niagara Falls last night, were arraigned before Commissioner Fairchild for preliminary examination. They were held for trial on the charge of passing counterfeit money. Charles Bowers, who manufactured the spurious coin at Queenston, Ont., was detained by the Canadian authorities and will be tried in their courts.

France Tests Her New Gun.

Paris, March 1.—The war department has completed experiments with a new gun which is guaranteed for a thousand rounds. After 3,000 rounds had been fired with the heaviest charges of smokeless powder, the rifling was found in fair condition. The muzzle velocity of the projectile was 3,000 feet per second. It has a choke bore. The gun has a bore of about six inches and is between twenty-two and twenty-three feet long.

Preparing for the Flood

Port Deposit, Md., March 1.—The ice remains firm here, but the river is slowly rising at Conowingo. The water is running down over the ice and it may move at any time. When it does move it will flood this town. People living on the lower side of this place are moving their goods upstairs and making preperations for the gorge.

He Intimidated a Witness.

New Orleans, March 1.—The application for a new trial by Desforges, councilman of the seventh ward, who was recently convicted of intimidating a witness, was overruled by Judge Ferguson yesterday and he was sentenced to five years at hard labor in the state penitentiary and to pay the cost of the prosecution.

He Was Thawing Dynamite.

Kingston, N. Y., March 1.—While thawing dynamite cartridges at Binnewater yesterday, one exploded in the hands of Thomas Cavanaugh, employed by Lawrence Cement company. His right arm was blown off and he was otherwise terribly injured.

CURE THAT COUGH WITH SHILOH'S CURE

TAKE THE BEST

25cts., 50cts. and $1.00 Bottle. One cent a dose.

THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures where all others fail. Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough and Asthma. For Consumption it has no rival: has cured thousands, and will cure you if taken in time. Sold by Druggists on a guarantee. For a Lame Back or Chest, use SHILOH'S BELLADONNA PLASTER. 25c.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY.

Have you Catarrh? This remedy is guaranteed to cure you. Price, 50cts. Injector free.

Sold by all druggists. 8 14 y

Selling Off Regardless of Cost

TO CLOSE BUSINESS.

Store and Dwelling to let.

Everything must be sold. Counters, cases, millinery goods at half price, ladies' underwear, infant's wear, velvet ribbons, large double heater, large mahogany desk and bookcase combined, claw feet, and a number of books. Everything selling low. MRS. T. J. GILLIES, 1 23 1m 115 Madison ave

Prof. A. Wehner,

TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.

ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipzic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.

References given and required.

Address letters to the office of this paper. 1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new

SPALDING

FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new

'95 Spalding Cyclometer FREE.

W. H. ROGERS,

408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial Parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty. 10 18 t

The Perfect Waist Heater.

Sold by

DAVID T. KENNEY,

Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.

196 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR SOLID SILVER SPOONS.

COLLIER'S,

103 PARK AVENUE.
ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S

MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our Motto—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING TYPEWRITER

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.

It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.

It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.

These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.

The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.

Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,
307 Broadway, New York.
1 5 6m

FIFTY-EIGHT.

You don'd could always sometimes told
Of ven dem vinds vas awful cold,
Dhere von't some icicles been found
Dot furnaces and shtoves around—
Oxcept vhen quick dem coals vas short
You dit der bestest kind gebought
Von Geo. O. Stevens, him dot's known
By $8 dot delephone.

(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Timpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort
[Hygeia Hotel]

Or Virginia Beach, Va.
[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $16 Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE of meals and berths enroute, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,
Pier 26, North River, New York.
W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

[Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

In the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey porkland poultry a specialty.
203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles.

411 Park Avenue,
Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES
From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little booklet "Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning men's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,
175 North ave.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 1, 1895

PARTICULAR MENTION.

F. W. Clark of Scranton, Pa., and David Wilson of Easton, were in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton of Sandford avenue are spending the Winter at Colorado Springs.

Erwin Cooley of Westervelt avenue goes to Swarthmore College, Saturday afternoon.

Isaac L. Miller of Watchung avenue has been confined to the house for a week with the grip.

G. L. Colgate of Fanwood is one of the incorporators in the new Ironclad Rheostat Company.

Norman C. Magee, Past Grand Sachem, was a prominent figure at the Red Men's gathering in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Douglass of Washington avenue will spend a few weeks at Muskegon, Michigan.

A. D. Warnock for the past half-score of years at Dieke's bakery, has taken a position in New York city.

Mrs. D. I. Smalley of 23 Summit avenue has been confined to the house since last Saturday with a heavy cold.

John Carney returned today from Trenton, where he has been attending the State Red Men's gathering.

Miss Briggs of Fanwood has returned to her studies in the High School, after being confined to her home with the grip.

The many friends of William H. Brower of Watchung avenue will be glad to hear that he is now gaining after his long and severe illness.

Edna Sebring gave a party to a few of her little acquaintances yesterday afternoon in honor of her third birthday at her home on Craig place.

Mrs. Wilkins and Miss Laura Wilkins of Rochester will spend a few weeks with Mrs. Wilkins's daughter, Mrs. George Douglass of Washington avenue.

Miss Eliese Endress, who had been spending several months with her brother, Fred Endress on Liberty street, has returned to her home in Cincinnati.

Richard Stafford, who has been in Denver, Salt Lake City and numerous other places of the Far West, has returned after an absence of nearly five years, to make his home here once more.

Justice Wm. Newcorn returned from his pleasure trip to Philadelphia and Trenton this morning, and reports a very pleasant time. While in Trenton he was the guest of Assemblyman Codding.

It will be gratifying to the many friends of Mrs. Lawrence Myers and family, to hear that they are now domiciled in most delightful quarters on the bay of Naples, in full view of Mt. Vesuvius, and are all well.

Recent prominent arrivals at Hotel Finderne include: W. J. Ruddell and John Lord of New York; Mrs. D. B. Perry of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Halsey of Brooklyn; Mrs. G. F. Smith Lyman S. White and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Wise of New York.

Mrs David P. Hall of this city, daughter of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe of Boston, is to read at the charming home of her mother on Beacon street, Boston, a series of papers on the noted authors of the present century. This opportunity—remarks the Newark Daily Advertiser—to meet with one of the most talented women of New Jersey will be eagerly sought by the club women of Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Anness were guests last evening of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman and wife at their home on Duer street, and remained until this morning. Mr. Anness is the proprietor of the popular Hudnut pharmacies of New York city. He has an elegant country residence at Woodbridge, where he spends the Summer months. He is quite in love with beautiful Plainfield, and may become a resident here.

To Administer His Father's Estate.

John Cory was appointed by the Court in Somerville this morning administrator of the estate of his father, the late Daniel Cory Charles A. Reed represented Mr. Cory before the Court, Craig A. Marsh the widow, and W. R. Codington Mrs Lee and Dr. D. C. Adams, grandchildren.

The counsel were allowed $300 apiece as fees. The estate will be administered so that decedent's wishes will be fully carried out. The widow by deed gets property valued at $30,000, and even unrecorded deeds will be fulfilled as he wished.

Saw Scenes of the Holy Land.

In the German Reformed Church last night 200 people were entertained in a very pleasant manner by an exhibition of 200 stereopticon views of scenes in the Holy land. The views were exhibited by Rev. Geo. Hauser, while Rev. Mr. Lehman of Trenton explained them. They will be repeated this evening.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine I handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

THE WEATHER.

Rain, Probably Changing to Snow Early on Saturday Morning; Generally Fair During Saturday; Colder Tonight and Much Colder Saturday; Fresh Westerly Winds; Fair and Cold on Sunday.

North Plainfield Politics.

At the Republican primary meeting in North Plainfield tonight there will probably be nominated for mayor, Benjamin Arrowsmith Hegeman, with William A. Schutt, Ezra Loomis and Henry B. Lounsbury as candidates for councilmen. The election takes place Tuesday, March 12

The Democratic primary will be held tomorrow evening in the basement of the school building.

Athletic Women.

Arrangements are being made for the formation of a women's class in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to be instructed by Physical Director MacPhie. Those who desire to enter the class should make such application to Secretary Manning within the next few days.

Broke His Leg.

Charles Sutton, engaged in painting the house of F. A. Barnaby, fell from a ladder at 2 this afternoon and broke his leg. Dr. Probasco was called.

—A regular meeting of Perseverance lodge, K. of P., will be held this evening.

—Plainfield Council, Royal Arcanum, are planning for a big time the last meeting in March. The Press is requested not to divulge full particulars, but to ask every member of Plainfield Lodge to set aside that meeting night for a royal good time. Full particulars will be given later.

THE SONGSTRESS AT HOME.

Jessie Bartlett Davis Has a Stock Farm and Cultivates Chickens.

One could hardly call Jessie Bartlett Davis of the Bostonians an emancipated woman—she admits that she thinks nothing in the world so pretty a sight as newly-hatched chickens, and in the same breath declares she is awfully afraid of a horse!

Mrs. Davis' "home" means a farm of hundreds of acres owned by her husband. It is thirty miles from Chicago, and here a luxurious house, with all the modern comforts, electric lights, etc., make the country as charming in point of convenience as the town. The place is called Willowdale, and here Mr. Davis has a typical gentleman's country place, where blooded stock from Holstein, Jersey and Heresford graze on Illinois grass, and where thoroughbred horses and dogs are almost as common as at our annual shows.

Mrs. Davis is a model modern housewife. She can boil an egg so beautifully in three minutes that even a hen could not tell that it had ever been boiled at all, and she can cook a potato as only a Savarin—who thought potatoes in their natural state perfect—could. But Mr. Davis is less modern, fortunately, and when the annual servants' strike takes place in the spring he dons his full dress uniform of blue check and starts in to cater to the opera singer—as managers must do to the end of time.

But in one thing Mrs. Davis is a model farmer's wife. She knows a chicken when she sees one; why its feathers lie flat instead of standing out; what it wants when it comes out of its shell and says "Peep!" and what kind of a coop is best suited to the blue-blooded and chicken-hearted of the brood. She loves chickens very much, but her great fad is a certain ten-year-old chicken who calls her "mama." This big piece of lovableness, as she calls him, is as dark as a Spaniard and as beautiful as Endymion. He is called after his father and mother, William Jess. He goes to school during the winter in Chicago and learns all sorts of things which have nothing whatever to do with chickens and dogs or blooded bulls. Then when summer comes it brings the sunshine, vacation and his mother and long, delicious days down on the farm.

Mrs. Davis loves rowing, and she thinks nothing of gliding off from the house with the boy in the stern and rowing six miles, coming back laden with a cargo of wild flowers, berries and bright colored bugs and beetles—because the boy, although he is a civil engineer, is also a naturalist.

Hypnotism.

Don't scowl at my crooked inequity, for I'm not the man that's to blame;
don't frown at my moral obliquity, for I'm not to blame for the same, for all of my tergiversation and all of my meannesses shall result from my hyp-notization—and I'm not a fellow at all.

Not mine is the responsibility for the faults and the crimes I commit with such fatal and fluent facility—not mine is the fault—not a bit. Though my sins are a sore aggravation, and my frailties annoy and appal, they result from my hypnotization—and I'm not the fellow at all.

I should never be punished, but pitied; and 'tis foolish to hold me to blame for the various crimes I've committed—for I'm not to blame for the same. Take me not to the jail or the station, nor behind the cold, thick prison walls—my crimes come from hypnotization—and I'm not the fellow at all.

At Intervals.

Featherstone—Look here, Willie. When I am in the parlor with your sister do you ever peek through the keyhole?

Willie—Sometimes, when mamma isn't there.

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

Attention.
DEMOCRATS!

The Democratic Primary for the nomination of Borough officers will be held in the School House, Saturday, March 2, at 8 o'clock sharp.

J. R. NEWMAN,
L. C. KLINE,
Executive Committee.
3 1 2

North Plainfield
REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

The Republican Primary for the nomination of Borough officers will be held at the School Building, Somerset street, on Friday evening, March 1, at 8 o'clock.

B. A. HEGEMAN, JR.
H. N. SPENCER,
Executive Committee.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1.50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 26 1m

Central Employment Office
218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.
All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first-class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

DEATHS.

HETFIELD—In this city Feb. 27, 1895, Levi Hetfield, aged 77 years, 4 months and 28 days. Funeral services from his late residence, 322 Madison avenue, Saturday, March 2, at 2:30 p. m. 3

TERRILL & COLE,
Undertakers and Embalmers
200 West 2d street.
Next to Trinity Reformed Chu ch.
First-class livery attached.
Telephone 158. 11 26 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, 1 ct. a word, each insertion. (Less than ten words, ten cents.) Cash must accompany ads.

PROTESTANT woman wishes situation as first-class cook and laundress, best reference. 163 East 2nd street. 3 1 2

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan. Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

WANTED—A girl for general housework; must have references and be good cook and laundress. Apply to 54 Grove street. 2 28 3

THE attention of investors and those desiring a pleasant and well located home, is directed to lots on West Seventh street, where may be found the cheapest in the city. Also a 11 room house, all improvements with barn, for sale or to let. Call on J. H. French, city mills or any real estate agent. 2 28 2

A lady wants board and large room with a private family. House must have conveniences. Address Comfort care Press.

WANTED—Customers to come direct to the office for houses to purchase or rent, and I will do the rest. Mulford, broker.

SMALL houses to let, centally located. 9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

FOR SALE or to let on easy terms, 11 room house; all improvements; 22 Norwood ave; also 6 room house 748 East 2d st. Inquire J. Voehl, 65 Somerset st. 2 28 3

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 2 26 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

2 ROOMS to let 25x35 feet each; 104 and 106 Park ave. J. Cory. 2 27 6

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st 2 7 tf

AGENTS wanted to handle aluminum goods. Call or address G. E. Marx 700 South ave. 2 25 6

FOR SALE, on easy terms, 11 room house 22 Norwood ave., with all improvements, lot 50 x 175, or will trade for smaller property. Inquire J. Voehl, 65 Somerset street. 2 23 7

TO LET—House 109 West Fourth st rent reasonable. Apply B. E. Force 132 Park avenue. 2 23 6

YOUNG woman offers her services as companion and reader to elderly lady or invalid; if preferred, would occupy only a few hours each day. Address M. L., care Press. 2 21 tf

YOUNG woman wants office work. Address Capable, care Press. 2 4 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 1 30 tf

CASH buyer can get first-class upright piano at bargain; Address Starr, care Press. 2 2 tf

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt,
of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,
Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

Unapproachable

Yes, unapproachable, is the only word truly expressive of the stock and variety of the Embroideries just placed on Peck's Counters.

CHIMMIE FADDEN,
MAJOR MAX
and other stories as published in the New York Sun
PAPER, 50 CENTS.
R. C. RAND,
140 West Front st.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.
12-6-y

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

We will refund money on any goods that donot prove entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before you purchase.
Figure up what you can save on the following sample list:

Read Carefully.

The following list of bargains are all Strictly First Quality Goods.

16c can	Another lot of pink pearl Bahama pineapples, cored and sliced Very fine quality Worth 25c. Special 16c can	16c can
Mixed Tea 29c 1b	Mixed tea good quality our regular 45c grade special 29c pound or 4 pounds for $1	Mixed Tea 29c 1b
5c pound	Soda crackers N Y make regular price 9c special 5c pound	5c pound
Tomatoes 6c can	Just received 50 cases more of those leader tomstoes We open these goods for your inspection special 6c can	Tomatoes 6c can

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each	100 doz cups and saucers and soup plates at 3c each 150 doz thin blown table 60c per doz at 3c each Tea, breakfast tumblers worth	3c each
27c each	Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each	27c each
73c each	Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each	73c each
9c each	Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each	9c each

Dry and Fancy Goods Department

10c yard	New Silkaline in very taking patterns, only 10c yard; former price 15c.	10c yard
65c yard	Something new in furniture coverings; silk effects at only 65c; former price 85c.	65c yard
$3.99	Imitation silk damask portieres at only $3 99; good value at $5. A full line of new window draperies at new prices.	$3.99

New Spring Dress Goods.

It will well repay you to call and examine our New Stylish Dress Goods. The Low Prices excel anything we have ever offered.

15 cts	25 dozen ladies stainless hose, full regular made, our own importation, only 15c or two pair for 25c.	15 cts

Saturday Night Specials.

On Sale only from 8 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock.

25 Doz Fine soft finish 4 Button Kid Gloves in new Spring shades our own importation regular $1 quality. This sale only 59c 2 pairs only to each customer

25 Doz Ladies Stainless Black Hose regular price 10c This sale only 5c 3 pairs only to each customer

20 do ladies fine pocketbooks, imitation seal This sale 13c—about half price.

15 pieces only of 1 yard wide bleached Fruit of the Loom muslin, only 5½c Saturday night

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Mens Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
" " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Mens st. gt., button, $1.48, were $5 For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

A HARROWING HINDOO TRICK.

A Sword Blade Run Through a Basket Which Contains a Native Boy.

Prof. Herrmann recently contributed the following explanation of a famous Hindoo trick, to the N.Y. Herald:

One of the most interesting experiments done by the natives of India is known as the Hindoo box and basket trick. This is done by a tribe of traveling fakirs with no other apparatus than a large basket having but a small mouth or top opening, over which a lid or cover fits tightly.

In going through the Suez Canal shortly before the uprising of Arabi Pasha, our steamer halted at Ishmillia. In company with the other passengers, I went ashore and saw a troupe of Hindoo fakirs do the basket trick. There must have been at least a dozen natives of India in the troupe. One old fellow seemed to be the principal performer. He was dressed in the costume usually worn by the high caste natives of the Bombay Presidency, which consists of many yards of white cotton cloth gracefully draped around the figure in such a manner as to leave nothing but the arms, from the elbows to the hands, and the legs, from the knees down, exposed; his feet were thrust into great red slippers, the toes of which turned up like the point of an old fashioned skate, while on his head was an enormous turban, tied in such a manner that two long, flowing scarflike ends hung below the middle of his back. He wore an enormous snow white beard, which set off his swarthy countenance and gave his small, beady black eyes a truly demoniacal glitter.

At the beginning of the entertainment the principal members of the troupe seated themselves in a circle on the bare ground, when different members of the troupe entertained the audience with vanishing cups and balls, and exhibitions of their proficiency in palming and disappearing articles, all of which they did fairly well.

After this a small boy, nearly naked, came into the center of the circle and addressed a few words to the chief performer, when this dignitary flew into a rage, summoned two attendants, who brought the above described basket and placed it before him. He removed the lid, seized the lad and thrust him into the basket, after which the lid was replaced and tied with leather thongs. The shaking of the basket proved to a close observer that the boy, instead of remaining quiet after being thrust into it, was carefully placing himself in such a position as to insure his safety during what was to follow.

The old magician continued to rave in his native language, and finally drawing a sharp tulwar, or native sword, thrust it through and through the basket at different places, causing the boy to shriek in a fiendish manner and the blade of his sword to fairly drip with blood.

I, intent on observing his manner of doing the trick, rather than the effect it produced on the spectators, noted that the sword was carefully inserted in certain little apertures in the basket, intended to receive it. The cries of the boy grew fainter and fainter, and finally ceased altogether, when the magician, wiping the blade of his sword, returned it to its scabbard and seated himself on the ground.

His attendants all assumed a horror stricken look and sat as motionless as stone statues for a moment, when a boy's voice was heard calling, at a distance, and growing stronger and stronger as apparently the same lad that had been so ruthlessly slaughtered in the basket came running into the center of the group and embraced the magician. At this juncture every one of the performers arose, two of them seized the basket and carried it away to where all their belongings were deposited.

Now, no attempt was made to open the basket after the performance and allow it to be examined, and the explanation of the trick is undoubtedly this:

There were two boys, almost exactly the same in appearance, as no one appreciates the value of doubles so much as does your Indian magician. The first boy lay in the basket in such a manner as to escape the thrusts of the sword, which was made through openings and which he had been instructed to keep clear of. While concealed in the basket, he undoubtedly applied a sponge or cloth dipped in goat's blood or some chemical preparation resembling it to the sword, and he acted his part so well as to almost prove to the spectators that he was really being murdered. Instead of the same boy escaping from the basket and coming in, the double put in his first appearance, and the thing was done.

Now, in order to find out exactly what impression had been made on the unprofessional portion of the audience, I conversed with several of them, and in every case was informed that it was the most wonderful thing they had ever witnessed. Without exception they marveled as to how the boy could have gotten out of the basket and placed at such a distance from the performers without being seen. Not one of them suggested the possibility of a double, and I am satisfied that there was not one person present excepting myself, that did not firmly believe that the boy who entered the circle was the same one that was placed in the basket, and I am certain that none of them suggested having the basket brought back and examined.

Watterson's Tribute to Lincoln.

In Chicago recently Henry Watterson spoke of Lincoln. He said:

"I gather that Lincoln was not a civil service reformer of the modern school, because I find among my papers a note to Stanton in which, with not the faintest anticipation of such apostles of culture as the Hon. Carl Schurz and Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, he bluntly says:

"'I personally wish Jacob Freeze, of New Jersey, to be appointed colonel of a colored regiment, regardless of whether he can tell the exact color of Julius Cæsar's hair.'"

He concluded:

"Where did Shakespeare get his genius? Where did Mozart get his music? Whose hand smote the lyre of the Scottish ploughman and stayed the life of the German priest? God, God and God alone; and as surely as these were raised up by God, inspired by God was Abraham Lincoln; and a thousand years hence no story, no tragedy, no epic poem will be filled with greater wonder, or be followed by mankind with deeper feeling than that which tells of his life and death."

Progress in the Pulpit.

Dr. Lyman Abbott, the successor of Beecher in the pulpit of Plymouth Church, now declares himself an evolutionist, discredits wholly the story of Adam and Eve, can't digest the apple and doubts the snake.—Chicago Times.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Unit Social Club cleared about $100 by their recent dance.

—Preparatory service will be held in the Trinity Reformed Church tonight at 8.

—E. D. Smith, in advance of the Lillian Kennedy company, was in the city yesterday.

—Three candidates will be adopted into Miantonomoh Tribe, I. O. of R., M. this evening.

—Eight Plainfielders were in attendance at the State Lodge of the Red Men this week in Trenton.

—Masons are at work today straightening up the curb in front of Griffin's hardware store.

—The dramatic tale "The Wapsypinnicon Tiger", by Hamlin Garland, is concluded in this issue.

—Musical Director Fitzhugh had a rehearsal of the Choral Society in Vincent Chapel yesterday afternoon.

—A meeting of Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., was held last night, at which there was a good attendance.

—"The Thirteenth Column", a clever and entertaining story by Barry Pain, begins in The Daily Press tomorrow.

—The third in the series of John Clark Ridpath's monographs on Napoleon will appear in The Daily Press tomorrow.

—Wm. Ross succeeded Geo. Nolan this morning as driver of No. 2's hose wagon at the fire department headquarters.

—Street Commissioner Stout and a number of assistants are repairing the drainage on Somerset street at the corner of Manning avenue.

—Herbert Mustin having resigned as engineer of the Plainfield electric light power-house to go to Hoboken, his place has been given to Patrick Powers, who was chief fireman under him, and Morris Poland becomes the new fireman.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Knights of Pythias met last evening at their rooms in Casttle Hall.

The beginning of Lent was observed at All Saints Church service being held.

William Reynolds of North Plainfield intends renting Robert Murphy's new cottage and will occupy it in the near future.

J. O. U. A. M. meet this evening at their rooms over Baker's store. One initiation is expected.

Mrs. Andrews of Montana is spending a few weeks with her daughter Mrs. J. F. Braker.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held its entertainment and reception on Tuesday evening in the hall. The hall was nicely filled with a very appreciative audience, how thoroughly enjoyed every number on the programme. Miss Raybert of Plainfield rendered several selections and was encored several times. Miss Thomas of Brooklyn also came in for a good share of the applause. After the entertainment the hall was cleared for dancing. About fifty couples stayed to enjoy the tripping of the light fantastic toe to the strains of Guttman's orchestra. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Cristerson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stanbery, Fanwood; Mr and Mrs W E Collins, Mr and Mrs John Robison, Mr and Mrs W B Buckley, Mr and Mrs Chas Frantz, Mr and Mrs W Jimerson, Mr and Mrs George Collins, Mr and Mrs George Marsh, Mr and Mrs John Johnston, Miss Ella Frantz, Miss Edith Randolph, Miss Bliss, Miss Adams, Miss Hosinger, Miss Cox, Miss Carter, Miss Quereau, Miss Jennie Frantz, Misses Robison, Messrs. Noble, Quereau, Carter, Drake, Tuzo, Collins, and others of Scotch Plains; Mr and Mrs James Buckley, and Miss Raybert of Plainfield; Miss Nelson, and Miss Day of New Market; Miss Thomas, and Mr Thomas of Brooklyn. The committee in charge were: Messrs W B Buckley, W B Noble, Irving Quereau, L B Tuzo, and Gus E Collins.

The Regististry Board will meet at the Town Rooms Tuesday next to revise the registry list.

Miss Lulu Robison has been spending a week from school with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robison.

The Board of Directors of the Choral Union met at the church last evening.

James McNair and sisters of Brooklyn spent Tuesday with Miss Lulu Robison.

Miss Emma Clark is spending a few weeks with her sister at Manasquan.

Fanwood's borough scheme doesn't seem to worry Scotch Plains much.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sence of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

☞Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Short Stories of Heroism from Real Life.

Died In Combat, Like a Hero.

March 1, 1870, the long and bloody war between Brazil and Paraguay came to an end through the death of one man. The closing scene recalls the age of chivalry, when warriors preferred death to surrender. The fighting on the part of Paraguay had been waged on the principle of victory or death, and Lopez, the dictator, found his army reduced by frightful losses in battle to 1,000 men. With these he attempted to cross the border into Bolivia and was overtaken on the banks of the Aquidaban, near San Salvador, by a mounted Brazilian corps called the Rio Grande Horse. Lopez's camp was surprised at daylight so suddenly that the guards had no time to give warning. The dictator tried bravely to form his men in defense, but the camp was overrun by the Brazilian horsemen in a twinkling. With a band of faithful officers Lopez faced the foe. His war minister, his son and all the colonels of his forces fell around him, and he himself was severely wounded. General Camara, the Brazilian leader, called to him to surrender. He refused the offer and backed off, fighting, sword in hand, against a sheltering rock where the foe could attack only in front. After cutting down a mob of the assailants, who rushed in to take him alive, he was finally dispatched by a lance thrown from a distance by a mounted soldier. Although the war had been virtually over for months, the death of Lopez was the occasion of national fetes of rejoicing throughout the empire of Brazil.

LOPEZ.

A Raid on the Enemy's Capital.

March 1, 1864, was the date of Kilpatrick's attack on the defenses of Richmond with 500 troops and a single battery. All things considered, this was the boldest raid of the war. After passing around Lee's army on the Rapidan, Kilpatrick sent a detachment under Colonel Ulric Dahlgren to cross the James river, then countermarch and recross by the bridge into Richmond at 10 a. m., March 1, at which hour the main column, led by the general, would attack from the north. Through the ignorance of a guide Kilpatrick missed the road and arrived at the fortifications on Brook pike at 1 p. m. three hours late. A telegraph operator at one of the stations passed by the raiders sent a message to Richmond alarming the garrison, and Kilpatrick found his road blocked by infantry and artillery behind an earthwork commanding the pike and a barricade across the road. Nothing daunted, the Fifth New York cavalry advanced as skirmishers, followed by a storming column of 500 men, led by Major William Patton, Third Indiana cavalry. The enemy was forced back beyond a knoll, where Kilpatrick planted his guns to shell the city. When all was ready for a grand advance, heavy columns of Confederate infantry and artillery were seen marching forward to repel the raiders. Convinced that Dahlgren had failed to cross the bridge and spring the attack in the rear, Kilpatrick retired seven miles from the city and bivouacked for the night. The attack, incomplete as it was, cost the raiders 60 killed and wounded. Dahlgren had been unable to cross the James and turned back. His column ran into a ambush, and the leader was killed. The region was alive with enemies, and Kilpatrick's band had to cut its way out down the peninsula.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

THE Kingston, N.Y., Postmaster says:

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills

work wonders. They cured my son of Sick Headache and Indigestion. A young lady friend of my family cured herself of Sick Headache of long standing by their use. Every one recommends them highly."

N. WOLVEN, Postmaster.

This is home endorsement.

At all druggists. 25 cents. Send to us for free sample.

DR. J. A. DEANE CO., Kingston, New York

—As usual in Saturday issues, The Daily Press tomorrow will contain special Christian Endeavor and Epworth League columns.

—Press readers who wish to make their money go as far as possible in purchasing their needs will be interested in Edsall's new announcement on Page 4.

Shiloh's cure is sold on a guarantee. It cures incipient consumption; it is the best cough cure, only 1c a dose; 25, 50c, $1. Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root, the great blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the complexion and cures constipation; 25c 50c, $1. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life; I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels; 75c. Sold by all druggists.

5 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a cake of good Toilet Soap. 5 perfumed and wrapped; made by the best and biggest soap house in America (whose stamp is a guarantee of excellence). We warrant this a sound, pure soap. 1 cake or 100 at 5c each.

REYNOLDS.

8 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a good Baby's Bottle 8

with pure black rubber nipple, complete and ready for use: Bottle has a wide base, rounded corners, graduated side.

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

Established 1868. Park and North avenues, only.

YES,

That's the way we sell our goods. If anything you buy does not prove satisfactory or you find you do not want it bring it back, your money is ready for you, that's our way.

INTERESTING.

Muslin.

4x4 Fruit of the loom 5¾c. yd.

Dress Cambric.

¾ yard wide, fine dress cambric 6c. yd.

Turkish Towels.

Although the Turks did not make them, they are worth 30c. each, our price 19c.

Dress Goods.

54 in. Corset cloth 25 different colorings, value 98c., our price 49c., 50 in. Wool mixtures, we sell 6 yds., 5 yds. cambric and 2 yds, selesia, all for $2.39.

Black Dress Goods.

Extra good value is that 45 in. imported serge, our price 45c. value 65c.

Silks.

500 yards of new figured silks 39c. yard.

Kid Gloves.

4 button chamois gloves 79c. 6 button length mosquetaire chamois gloves 79c. 4 button kids fine quality 75c. 5 hook Foster kids 75c.

Hosiery.

Try the double knee and double sole stockings for children, sizes 6 to 8½, price 15c. Extra fine quality hose for ladies 19c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Van's 2 Van's CORSETS.

Gee-Wiz, What?

Corsets, value 50c, going at

23 cents.

Corsets, value 75c, going at

33 cents.

HOSIERY

fast black, seamless, at 8 cents pair.

EXTRA, EXTRA, EXTRA.

A 40 gauge silk finish ladies' full regular made hose, value 40c, going at

25 cents.

Van Emburgh,

Corner Store, Babcock Building.

ADVERTISED LETTERS,

February 25, 1895.

Allen Hannah	McDaland Mrs
Bowles Mrs F	Morris Mary
Bartee Lanra	Mulligan Ellen
Borchert Mr	Nelson Oscer
Connell James	Nessler Lewis
Courooiseer Mrs E	Obubeck A
Cairns Mrs K	O'Rourke Kate
Duping Mrs G	Paise Alice
Demarest Phillip	Ross D H
Edgar Irene	Runyon Jno M
Erikson Jenny	Stroble Willard
Emery S A	Staples S C
France Master J	Smith W
Gregory E W	Simmons Peter
Helon Mrs A D	Simmons Mary E
Haskin Ishm	Schmidt John
Heim Eugen	Stone Mr and Mrs
Hall Mrs Nancy	Shipton Jas D
Hampton Mrs Mary	Sutton George
Harris Mrs Sue	Smith George
Johns S E	Swartz A T
Kohler Fred	Trowbridge Maud
Lanigan Jas	Vandeboof E A
Little Mrs J K	Wright F L
Mumford A	Washington Jennie
McManus Mrs	Wright W W
	Young Thomas

MUSIC HALL, Joseph Sohl, Prop. R. C. Varian, Mang. Telephone call, 49B

MONDAY, MARCH 4.

Benefit tendered to

MR. JOSEPH SOHL,

on which occasion a magnificent scenic production of

The Danger Signal,

By Henry C DeMille,

will be presented with all its magnificent scenic effects and wonderful mechanisms.

SEE the life-like railroad scenes,
SEE the genuine full-sized monster locomotive, constructed of steel, propelled by steam,
THE great rotary snow plow and
THE cannon ball vestibuled train, consisting of a full-sized locomotive, tender and three coaches, flying across the stage at the rate of

FIFTY MILES AN HOUR.

☞Prices 35, 50, 75c and $1.

There Are Others

PHOENIX.

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,

177 North avenue.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. special are leaders. 2 26 3m

If you don't want a BARGAIN Don't read this.

Extra fine creamery butter 21c pound.
5 pounds for $1.00.
Fresh country roll butter 18c pound
6 pounds for $1.00.
Extra Vineland sweet potatoes 50c per basket.
2 pounds creamery cheese, extra fine, for 23c.

AT FULPER'S.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,

for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.

The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.

Corner Park avenue and Front street.

Fine China, Cut Glass, Miller Lamps, Oil Heater Stoves

Gavett's,

Next to Post-office.

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,

Established nearly 60 years.

We sell only high-grade instruments and at as low prices as are charged by many dealers for comparatively worthless ones. Cash or installments.

Warerooms—Babcock Building, Plainfield, N. J. H. C. HADLEY, Manager.

Tuning a Specialty.

Call and secure a copy of the Monthly Musical Guest. 1 25 tf

H. Hand,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER.

15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Residence and postoffice address

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.

Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

W. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.

First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's LAW OFFICES,

Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

A REAL PHILANTHROPIST.

The Good Deeds of a Well Known Georgian Turfman.

Nobody would have suspected him of having any sentiment in his composition. He was regarded by the score or more of Northerners who were at all familiar with him as an open hearted, hospitable Georgian who was fond of owning a race horse that could win a few races, and who took great delight in seeing his favorites gallop home in advance of their competitors every year at Monmouth Park. The old man had been in the livery and horse business for many years in a prominent Georgian town, and was tolerably well to do. He had never married, and therefore he had only himself to please.

He appeared to be content to spend a placid eleven months in Georgia and then to give way to a month of pleasure at Long Branch, where he met congenial spirits. He was unutterably happy in the society of his Northern friends, and said upon his departure for home each season that the intervening eleven months would pass away all too slowly for him.

During all the time he spent in the North nobody ever heard him mention a woman's name, but a golden deed in which the little man appears in the light of a philanthropist has just come to light. The war was over and he was sitting in the door of his stable in Augusta one morning when a friend, a doctor, passed by. After exchanging salutations, the physician said: "Poor John —— hasn't come home, and now I'm afraid his wife is going to die and leave them two little girls. She's very low this morning."

The good doctor returned the same evening, bringing the intelligence that the woman was dead and the little girls, aged 5 and 3 years, were orphans.

"'Twould be a great thing for some good man to adopt one of those girls," said the doctor.

"I'll take 'em both," said the horseman, and take them he did. The doctor was bound to secrecy and the children were sent to a boarding school. It was stipulated that all moneys for their support should be paid through the physician, and that the girls should never know the name of their benefactor. As the years passed by the girls grew to womanhood and were sent to Vassar to complete their education. Their guardian had never seen them, but the doctor assured him that they were a credit to him, and oftentimes pleaded with the old man to make himself known to them and pay them a visit.

This he steadfastly refused to do, saying: "What would young women of society care for an old man like me?"

Time passed on and the physician died, but feeling that death would absolve him from his promise he had communicated with the young women and told them whom they had to thank for their education and support. They wrote a most touching letter to their guardian asking permission to visit him, but he was so timid that he put them off until he could give the matter further consideration.

About a year later he was waited upon one day by a smart looking young man of 30 who introduced himself as a lawyer in a well known New York firm. The visitor explained his errand in a few words and asked for the hand of the elder of the sisters. It was a novel situation. Here was a young man he had never seen before asking for the hand of a ward he had never seen, and for the first time in all the years the responsibility of the situation dawned upon him. He made some inquiries concerning the young lawyer, found that he was as he had represented himself to be, and gave his consent to the marriage. He would not come to New York to see the ceremony, but there was no costlier gift on the list of presents than that which bore the card of the plain old Georgia horseman.—N. Y. Sun.

THE END SEAT IN THE PEW.

It Is the Place Occupied by the Protector of the Family.

"It is common enough," said Mr. Gratebar, "to see a man sitting in the aisle end of a pew in a church get up on the arrival of some other member of the family, step out into the aisle to let the late comer in and then resume his seat at the end of the pew. It seems to me that I have read that this custom originated in New England in the early days, when the men all sat by the aisle so that they could seize their guns and get out promptly in case of attack by Indians. We don't have much to fear from Indians nowadays, but the seat by the aisle is still occupied by the head of the family. He stands in the aisle while the others pass in and then calmly takes his place in the end seat, at the head of the line, as a sort of general protector.

"Sometimes in these days (we are so very free from Indians now) the head of the family thinks it is safe for him to stay at home when he has a headache, and then the young son takes his place. I imagine that he talks it over with his mother on the way to church, so that it is all understood. When they get to the pew he stands in the aisle while his sisters and his mother pass in. I fancy that his sisters are rather glad when they are all seated and no longer conspicuous, but upon his mother's face as she brushes past him into the pew there is a smile of affectionate pride; and then he takes his seat in his father's place and sits there with fine boyish dignity."

College Girls Coasting On Palm Leaves.

Wellesley college girls had gay times coasting. Splendid opportunities there are for coasting at Wellesley; there are plenty of hills and plenty of room right there on the grounds. I was greatly amused when they told me about sliding down that hill exactly in front of the college on dustpans! It all came about this way:

One inventive genius did not have a sled and did not know where to borrow one; but the crust was perfection and of short duration, so while she stood, with her task of sweeping just concluded, with dustpan in hand, the thought "Why not use the dustpan?" came like an inspiration, and out she skipped to the top of the hill and down she sped, seated in state in her dustpan. The news spread and the craze grew until every dustpan on the premises was well worn out. After that palm leaf fans were pressed into service, and it was whispered that pillows have now and then proved the most agreeable and satisfactory of conveyances.—Boston Advertiser.

A Rough Retort.

Fenderson—I got my education at Harvard.

Fogg—And forgot it where? —Boston Transcript.

THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

DAINTY NOVELTIES OF DELICATE SUMMER TINTS.

Attractive Combinations of Colors Seen in New Fabrics. Tempting Parasols Now Arrayed for Inspection. Exquisitely Embroidered Batistes and Muslins.

Extremes meet in the departing glory of rich winter fabrics, and the advent of dainty, gauzy summer novelties come like a breath of spring in the midst of howling blizzards, with a promise of summer in their delicate tints. When fur garments and flannels are the only things which suggest comfort, the organdies, muslins, ginghams and challies so reassuringly displayed in the shop windows seem to have lost their bearings, and added to these are the daintiest, thinnest of midsummer parasols, more elaborate and useless than ever, temptingly arrayed for inspection. There are chiffon parasols in all the delicate tints, ruffled and fluffed from the edge to the center, and trimmed with deep vandykes of lace radiating toward the edge between puffs of chiffon; parasols covered with tiny pink rosebuds or a solid mass of violets, so fascinating to look upon, but so vague as to their usefulness.

However, in spite of the weather, it is the fashions in prospect which claim our interest, and nothing can be more alluring than the exquisitely embroidered batistes, muslins and linens for summer gowns. These are shown in all over patterns with lovely pointed edges to match, and can easily be made up at home in the simplest manner, with a full waist gathered into a belt, and collar of satin ribbon, and full sleeves three-quarter length, with a frill of the edging falling over the arm. The skirts are slightly gored and gathered over a foundation skirt of the same material or of taffeta silk.

English embroidered nainsooks in cream tints, wrought with yellow or butter color, are especially pretty for thin dresses. The all over patterns can be used for the waist and sleeves, and the skirt made plain, with ruffles of edging.

The warmest winter wraps have not yet become burdensome, but jaunty little capes, reaching just below the elbows and utterly wanting in all the elements of comfort on a cold day, are such a popular variety of outdoor garments that they are quite as much the fashion as they will be later, when they will be better suited to the temperature. It is too early for novelties in spring capes, but the prospect is that everything which can be designated by the name will be worn. They may be short or long, double or single, but they will never leave us while the sleeves keep their present dimensions. They are too convenient, too easily made, to be soon discarded.

Velvet seems to be the popular material for dressy capes, and they are all furnished with the godet plaits around the edge. To correspond with the flaring skirts, lace, chiffon and jet are the most fashionable trimmings. The full neck ruche takes the place of the high flaring collars of the earlier season.

Two pretty blouse waists, illustrated, are of striped velvet, one with a plait down the middle of the front collar, belt and bow of plain satin; and the other, striped with myrtle green and heliotrope, has a belt of green ribbon and a vest and collar of dainty white muslin in tiny tucks, edged with narrow cream lace. Valenciennes is the prettiest. The edges of the blouse are trimmed with narrow bands of heliotrope velvet and cream satin studded with jet, and these appear again on the lower sleeve. N. Y. Sun.

A HEAVEN SENT BABY.

Mrs. Wolf Had Been Praying for a Child and Found One in the Street.

A bundle with an old newspaper for an outside wrapper lay in front of a big store on Market street, Newark, N. J., one recent afternoon. Hundreds of women passed in and out of the store. Some looked at the bundle curiously, but none attempted to touch it until Mrs. Charles Wolf came along. She picked it up and felt that it was warm.

On opening it she discovered a male infant about four weeks old. Its only covering beside the newspaper was an old piece of polka dot calico. Mrs. Wolf has no children of her own, and she was delighted with her find. She escaped from the crowd of women who gathered around her, boarded a car, and went to her home on Napoleon street. When her husband came home to supper she showed him the baby, and said she believed it was a gift sent her from heaven in answer to her prayers for a child.

THE SKIN DEPTH OF BEAUTY.

A Young Woman of Observation Says the Scientists Go Too Deep.

"I wish science would mind her own business," said a young woman of observation, as she laid aside her wraps. "I have just come from a class lecture for women and the lecturer told us that beauty is not skin deep after all. She wanted us to believe—it was a lecturess—that the charm of a pretty face depends upon our muscles and nerves and that when we look particularly charming it is because we have had these nerves and muscles well under control—that they twitch and pull just the way we want them to.

"That's all right. I mean I know perfectly well that I couldn't coyly drop my eyelids if you were to tell me I was the sweetest thing in the world, and modestly blush up to the roots of my hair at the compliment if I didn't work the eyelid muscles, and squeeze the blood up into my head by closing my larnyx for a time, but beauty is skin deep for all that, the science or no science. Why, take my skin off and I couldn't blush at all, and a nice looking object I'd be winking skinless eyelids, wouldn't I? Fancy Venus as a physiological chart displaying the uncovered muscles, or Helen of Troy showing the nerves and muscles that brought out her killing smile. I don't believe Paris would have tumbled head over heels in love with that sort of living picture, do you?

"The network of muscles that forms the mechanical system of your cheek may be magnificently developed, but I shouldn't admire the result half as much as I do if you were hideless; and my bright smile would haunt you as a nightmare if you could have a full view of the complex labyrinth of nerves bringing the smile into good working order. It's putting things on too anatomical a standing entirely, you know.

"The scientists can talk as much as they like, but they'll never get me to believe that beauty isn't a purely superficial thing; and so long as massage, open air exercise, baths and cosmetics are procurable or practicable I guess I'll do the best I can for my skin, beauty or no beauty."

SHE DIED OF THE COLD.

Mrs. Hunter, a Recluse, Who Had Hoarded Her Money, Expired in Her Hovel.

Admid filth and squalor, in a cold and cheerless room on the first flooor of her home, Newark, was found the body of Mrs. Margaret Hunter, an octogenarian, who for many years had lived the life of a recluse. Mrs. Hunter had not been seen by any of her neighbors since one of them carried her a little soup, and the supposition is that she died from exposure. When found she was lying in bed, with the scant covering tucked up closely under her chin.

She was suspicious of everybody, and although possessed of considerable money and real estate almost starved herself. Even when food was brought to her she was loath to eat it, and would never touch it unless it was first tasted by the person who brought it. She imagined every one was trying to kill her to get her money.

Notwithstanding the filth in which she lived, one bedroom in the house was always kept scrupulously clean, was nicely furnished; and it was the belief of her neighbors that this room was kept for some person whom the old woman had for years expected to visit her.

Some of the neighbors were inclined to believe that the woman might have had a missing son or a prodigal daughter for whose return she waited in vain, and the possibility of this theory being right is very likely, as it came to light shortly after the discovery of the body, that two sons, John and Thomas, are mentioned in her bank books, in which accounts to their credit are recorded. Where these two sons are or whether living or dead is not known.

With the bank books in which the accounts are credited to "her sons" were found were many other bank books. The aggregate amount which they represented was $11,895.85, with much accrued interest.

DAKOTA'S DIVORCE LAW.

It May Tend to Increase the Temporary Population of the State.

The new divorce law of South Dakota practically restores the old law of three years ago in force, except that it precludes the possibility of fraud by requiring personal service in all cases. The bill reads:

"A divorce must not be granted unless the plaintiff is in good faith a resident of the State of South Dakota for at least six months preceding the granting of such divorce, and in no case shall a divorce be granted without personal service of the summons within the State, or personal service of the summons and complaint in case of non-resident without the State. If such personal service as aforesaid, within or without the State, be not had, then and in that event the plaintiff shall not be entitled to a decree of divorce until the plaintiff shall have been a resident of this State one year preceding the granting of such divorce."

The statutory grounds remain the same as before. In effect the law requires a residence in South Dakota of three months before an action can be commenced and three months more are required before a decree can be granted. The weak point in the old divorce law was that in case the defendant could not be found a decree could be obtained by default, but in such cases the courts always held the defense could come in and reopen the case, which often resulted in embarrassing complications. The present law does away with the default feature.

Looking Forward.

"Fly," he implored.

The maiden pressed his hand to her lips.

"Fly, I beseech——"

And he strove to push her from the room.

"——you. I hear mamma coming in her heavy walking boots."

Even as he spoke a dark form appeared in the door and swore violently, after which there was the sound of conflict, and the beautiful boy was weeping alone.—Town Topics.

Hopeful.

Mr. Erastus Piukley is a great sufferer from the cold.

"The weather is moderating," remarked one of the people for whom he does chores.

"Yes'm," he replied. "Dat's whut everybody sas. I recon," he went on, doubtfully, as he chafed his hands, "dat ef she keeps on a moderatin' long 'nuff, she's gwine ter git wahmer arter while." —Washington Star.

Fame,

When founded on merit, never ceases to grow, both in extent and in solidity.

Allcock's Porous Plaster

is more popular to-day than ever before, because it does what is claimed for it—relieves and cures pains in the side, chest or limbs, lame back, rheumatism, etc.

Insist Upon Having the genuine ALLCOCK'S. No other plaster is nearly so good.

Allcock's Corn Shields,
Allcock's Bunion Shields,
Have no equal as a relief and cure for corns and bunions.

Brandreth's Pills.

One or two at night, for a week or two, tone up the system.

11 16y-m w f

READY TO PAINT.

Before you put on paint see that the article you put on is what it is represented. It is poor economy, indeed, to put on a mixture of burnt clays and kerosene. Come to us and get the best.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

141 East Front st.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE IS THE BEST. FIT FOR A KING.

$5. CORDOVAN, FRENCH & ENAMELLED CALF.
$4. $3.50 FINE CALF & KANGAROO
$3.50 POLICE, 3 SOLES.
$2.50 $2. WORKINGMEN'S. EXTRA FINE.
$2. $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
LADIES.
$3. $2.50 $2. $1.75 BEST DONGOLA.
SEND FOR CATALOGUE. W. L. DOUGLAS, BROCKTON, MASS.

Over One Million People wear the W. L. Douglas $3 & $4 Shoes

All our shoes are equally satisfactory. They give the best value for the money. They equal custom shoes in style and fit. Their wearing qualities are unsurpassed. The prices are uniform,—stamped on sole. From $1 to $3 saved over other makes. If your dealer cannot supply you we can. Sold by

A. WILLETT & SON.

NOTICE.

As directed by a resolution of the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, county of Union, State of New Jersey, notice is hereby given that an application has been made to the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood aforesaid, by the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, for permission to construct, operate and maintain a street railroad, with one or more tracks and necessary turnouts, to be operated by electricity or other motive power except steam, and to erect necessary poles, conduits and wires, power plant and necessary buildings along the following routes:

Beginning in the division line between the city of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood where Midway avenue crosses said division line and running thence in an easterly direction along Midway avenue to its connection with North avenue; thence still easterly along North avenue to the division line between the Townships of Fanwood and Westfield.

Beginning at the intersection of Mountain avenue and Forrest avenue or road, in the village of Scotch Plains, in the twp of Fanwood and running thence southeasterly along Forrest avenue or road to its intersection with North avenue; thence southerly along said North avenue to Depot street; thence to a point at or near the Fanwood station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The name of the corporation making the application is the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company.

The application was filed on the 15th day of February, eighteen hundred and ninety-five and will be considered by the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, at a meeting to be held on the 7th day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, at Excelsior Hall, at Scotch Plains, in the township of Fanwood aforesaid, county of Union, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

EDWARD L. HAND,
2 16 14 Township Clerk.

MONEY LOANED.

Local Representatives Wanted.

Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors, with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1129 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m-

H. Eggerding,

121 PARK AVENUE.
Manufacturer of the celebrated:
C. O. D. CIGAR

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 9tf

Granite Iron Ware.

Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.
Stoves at reduced prices.
Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-Iron Work.
Plumbing and Heater Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

119 East Front St.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Jan 20, 1895, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

FAST LINE leaves Philadelphia 12 25 p m daily with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars for Pittsburg, Northern and Eastern Pennsylvania.

6.37 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.34 p.m.—SOUTHWESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

8 42 p. m.—PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping cars, daily, for Pittsburg, Columbus, Chicago, and Toledo, daily, except Saturday for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00 9.08, 9.36 a. m., 9.39 p. m.

Sundays, 1, 9 08, 9 36 a. m., 9 41 p m.

For Baltimore only 1 37 p. m., week-days.

For Newark and New York—3 03, 5 24, 6 46, 8 17, 8 46, 10' 7 20, 7 49, 7 57, 8 06, 8 28, 8 32, 9 47, 9 17, 9 41, 9 45, 10 20, 10 38, 10 49, 11 07, 11 48 a. m., 1 13, 1 23, 1 56, 2 24, 2 40, 3 46, 3 57, 4 42, 5 15, 5 36, 6 46, 8 06, 8 27, 9 46, 9 59, 7 07, 7 38 7 59, 8 a. m. 9 10, 9 50, 10 08 11 03 and 11 58 p. m. Sundays 3 03, 5 24, 7 54, 8 46, 9 26, 9 47, 10 13, 10 38, 10 49 a. m., 12 32, 1 44, 2 32, 3 46, 5 46, 6 32, 8 24, 8 46, 7 05, 7 13, 7 25, 7 33, 8 30 9 15, 10 16, 11 46 and 11 56 p. m.

For New York only, 6 10 a. m. daily.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 3 07, 7 52, 9 05, 9 32, 11 48, A. M.; 1 08, 1 37, 3 32, 5 06, 6 06 7 46, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 3 06, 9 05, 9 36, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

(2 25p.m. with through Buffet parlor car) Sundays 8 50 a. m.

Cape May, Sea Isle City and Ocean City 1 37 p. m. weekdays.

For Rahway—1, 1 42 daily ex. Monday, 4 06, 6 44, 7 10, 7 50, 9 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 39, 11 42, a. m., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 48 3 20, 3 39, 5 39, 4 36, 4 56, 5 22, 5 40, 6, 6 06 6 12, 6 17, 6 27, 6 45, 6 59, 8 50, 7 20, 7 46, 8 14, 8 55, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 1 42, 8 50, 8 42, 9 49, 10 35 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 2 47, 3 20, 4 50, 5 20, 5 40, 7 21, 7 27, 7 47, 8 14, 8 47, 9 14, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 39, 9 08 9 36, 9 50, 11 42 a. m., 12 35, 1 37, 3 45, 3 59, 4 39, 5 05, 5 40, 6 06, 6 45, 7 46, 9 39 and 11 02 p. m. Sundays, 1 00, 6 39, 9 05, 9 36 9 49, 10 41 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 5 50, 7 47, 9 16, 9 41 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 42 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39 a. m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, and 7 20 9 54 p m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 42, 10 36, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 35, 2 48 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 5 57, 7 10, 7 39, 9 05, 9 36, 11 42 a. m.; 1 06, 1 37, 2 46, 5 06, 6 16, 7 46, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 9 05, 9 36, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 39 A. M., 2 46 and 6 06 p. m., and 5 40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 39 A. M.; 2 46 P. M.

For Freehold—7 39, 11 42 a. m., 4 36, 5 06 p.m., via. Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via. Monmouth Junction—7 39 and 11 42 a. m., 4 36 and 5 06 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 4 12 5 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 25 a. m., and 5 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Sea Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p. m.

For Boston—9 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 6 30, 7 30, 8 10, 8 30, 9, 9 10, 10 10, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 10, 12 30, 12 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 10, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 5 50, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 40, 7 00, 7 30, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 15 night. Sundays, 1 00 8 15, 8, 9 00, 9 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 3 00, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 15, 10 00 p. m., and 12 15 night.

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager
J. R. WOOD Gen. Pass Agent

Spring,

Housecleaning,

WALL PAPER!

Do you know spring is near? Well you'll need Wall Paper for that room and Paint, Oil and Brushes to make your home sweet and clean after the long cold winter.

Fine lot of Paper for 1895 that will please the most fastidious.

Of course there is only one place to get these things if you want the

Best and Cheapest,

and that place is on the corner of

North and Watchung Aves.

LOVE'S?

Yes!

MOSLER SAFE CO.,

contractors to the United States Government

Mosler Patent Safes,

(fire and burglar-proof) in general use

All Over the World.

Lowest prices. Special attention and information given by

S. W. CLARK,

General Agent,
118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.

Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

Tel. 29B Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.

Have your plumbing system tested with the smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

Opp Roberts's Livery 132 North Ave

J. C. POPE & CO.,

Insurance Agents,

NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET

Plainfield, N. J.

Nickel-In Cigar.

Why pay 10c for a cigar when for 5c you can get one of the famous Nickel-Ins at Conover's, 25 Somerset st. 10 31 3m

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect, Nov. 18, 1894.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 24, 5 37, 6 38, 6 59, 7 10, 7 30, 7 50, 8, 8 18, 8 37, 8 51, 9 46, 9 52, 10 04, 10 19 11 19, A. M., 12 06, 1 18, 2 07, 2 40, 3 04, 3 51, 4 40, 5 04, 5 54, 6 06, 6 35, 7 05, 8 00, 9 32, 10 17, 11 26 P. M. Sunday—2 24, 5 37, 6 38, 6 59, 8 00, 9 32, 10 17, 11 26 A. M., 12 06, 1 18, 4 05, 5 18, 6 06, 6 35, 7 05, 8 00, 9 32, 10 17 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street 4 00, 8 00, 7 15, 8 40, 9 10, 10, 11 45, A. M., 1 30, 1 45, 2 30, 3 30, 4 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, except Saturday, 5 30 6 45, 6, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10 15, 11 30 P. M. 12 15, 1 night. Sunday—4 30, 7 15, 8 30, 9 15, A. M., 12 M., 1, 7 15, 8, 9 30, 9 15, 10 15, 11 30 P. M. night. 1 A. M.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 30, 6 29, 6 50, 7 30, 8, 8 40 9 30, 10 04, 10 57, A. M., 12 06, 1 15, 2 07, 3 00, 3 19, 3 51, 4 50, 5 54, 7 08, 8 30, 10 17 11 20 P. M. Sunday—3 01, 5 03, 10 06, 11 20, A. M 12 27, 1 45, 3 00, 5 06, 7 11, 8 30, 9 35, 10 17 P. M.

Leave Newark 6 15, 7 12, 7 55, 8 30, 9 08, 10 00, 11 05 A. M., 1 15, 1 35, 2 30 Saturday only, 3 00, 3 30, 4 05, 5 40, 6 04, 6 54, 7 40, 8 20, 7 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 45, 9 35, 11 15 A. M., 1 10, 3 38, 4 10, 5 40, 6 20, 7 15, 7 38, 8 40, 9 26, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 8 45, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 a.m. 12 40 2 03, 3 23, 5 48, 4 26, 5 05, 5 14, 5 34, 6 04, 6 15, 8 33, 7 13, 7 30, 11 10 10, 11 22, P. M. 12 20 night Sunday—8 45, 9 20 9 54, A. M., 2 03, 3 23, 5 14, 5 34, 10 15, 11 14 P. M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 7 55, 7 45, 8 20, 9 08, 9 48, 11 40 A. M., 12 50, 1 45, 3 05, 3 25, 4 25, 5 20, 6 38, 6 57, 8 45, 11 05, P. M. Sunday 8 35, 9 45, 10 55 A. M., 12 08, 1 20 5 05, 6 45, 8 02, 9 04, 9 402, M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 8 16, 9 54, A. M., 12 45, 3 03, 5 05, 5 14, 9 23, 9 21 P. M. Sunday—8 45, 9 23 A. M. 3 03, 6 03, P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 7 00, 8 23, A. M., 12 23, 4 04, 7 03 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 23, A. M. 6 40, 7 30, P. M

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 54, a. m., 5 05 p.m

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Manch Chunk Williamsport and Tamaqua,

7 10 a. m. for stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

9 16 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Manch Chunk.

9 54 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge branch D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Hazleton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 4 0p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 08 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua, Sunbury and Williamsport, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton. Buffet parlor car to Manch Chunk.

5 05 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge branch

5 14 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Manch Chunk Shamokin and Tamaqua, Buffet parlor car to Scranton.

5 19 P. M. for Flemington.

6 05 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Reading and Harrisburg.

9 21 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

8 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Manch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 3 26 a.m. Sundays for Easton, 2 08 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua, Reading and Harrisburg, 4 36 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

For Atlantic City, 8 37 a. m. 1 13 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c

Leave Plainfield 8 37, 8, 10 27, a. m 1.13, 3 51, 5 54, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove 8 37, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 8 37, 5 36, 8 10 27 a. m. 1 13, 3 51, 4 50, 5.54, 7 08 p.m. Sunday—8 37, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 8 37, 8, 10 27 a.m., 1 13, 3 51, 4 50, 5.54 p.m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 45, 8 03 9 45, 10 46, a. m., 2 09*, 5 36* 6 32, 9 17* p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—5 45, 9 46, a. m., 2 09*, 5 14* 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Trenton 5 45, 8 04, 9 40*, 10 46, a. m., 12 40, 2 09*, 5 36*, 6 32*, 9 17* p.m., 1 12 night, Sunday—5 45, 9 34, a. m., 2 09*, 5 14* 6 32 p. m., 1 12 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 5 45, a. m. 2 09, 5 36* 6 45 p. m. 1 12, night. Sundays—9 46 a. m., 2 09, 5 14* 6 45 p.m., 1 12, night.

For Chattanooga, New Orleans and all points south with through vestibule sleeper, via Shenandoah Valley Route at 5 36 p m, Sundays 5 14 p m.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points west, week-days at 9 54 a m., 8 32 p. m. Sundays 6 36 p. m

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA, Reading terminal, 4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 11 35 a.m., 1 30 3 40 5 15, 6 04, 8 25, p.m. 12 10, night.

Sundays—4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 12 35 a. m., 3 50, 6 00, 8 25 p. m., 12 10 night.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 55, 7 55, 9 21, 11 12, 12, a m. 2 30, 6 12, 8 10, 11 45 p. m. Sunday—3 55, 7 55, 12 19 p m, 6 30, 6 12, 8 10, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 00 4 55, 9 06, 10 25, a.m., 12 15*, 2 10, 4 20*, 5 54, 9 03 p. m. Sundays—1 00, 4 55, 9 06, 10 27 a. m., 1 15*, 4 22 5 49*, 9 03 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rate may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN. Gen. Pass. Agt.

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS.

30 PARK AVE.

He Manufactures Them

L. L. MANNING.

Marble and Granite Works

Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.

—NO.—

BUT FULL VALUE.

G. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging, 27 Chatham street.

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

Of course it is nonsense to spend your money

For Wall Paper

Unless you get your money's worth. We claim to have the finest line of new patterns in the city. If so you ought to buy here.

WOOLSTON & BUCKLE,

141 and 145 North avenue.

CODDINGTON'S

FURNITURE AND VARIETY

EXPRESS.

OFFICES—24 West Front street; 28 Park avenue Post Office Box 228.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large covered trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 11 8 tf

IF YOU WANT ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat,

or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.

E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,

177 North Avenue.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager
Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.
1 14 tf

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement
For walls and ceilings.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats, Dress Shirts,
Gloves and Neckwear

U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,

120 West Front street.

QUEEN'S LAST KICK.

HAWAIIAN ROYALISTS EXPECTED AID FROM UNCLE SAM.

Spreckle's Tugs Transported Guns at San Francisco. Ex-Commissioner Castle Gives the Inside Facts of the Rebellion.

Senator Kyle received from Hawaii a letter from Mr. William R. Castle, one of the former Commissioners from that country to the United States.

Mr. Castle expresses no doubt that the cause of the rebellion was the desire of the royalists to reinstate the ex-Queen, and this, he writes, would not have been brought about "had it not been for the conviction of the Queen's adherents that they would have the moral support—possibly the actual assistance—of the Government at Washington."

Upon the conspiracy itself, Mr. Castle says it had been developed that the principal conspirators are Messrs. Nowlein, Gulick, Rickard, and Major Seward. The guns, pistols and other munitions of war it is explained, were procured in San Francisco by Mr. Wiedemann, one of the Queen's Commission, and "these things, by the way," writes Mr. Castle, "were purchased by one of the sons of Claus Spreckles, and, while it is not known whether he or any of the said family put any money into this thing or had any other special interest therein, it is known that at least one of the young Spreckels while here was engaged in actual sympathetic contact with the royalists. These munitions were placed upon one of Spreckels's tugs, taken out of the harbor of San Francisco, and put upon the trading schooner H. C. Walburg, owned in San Francisco.

"I believe Major Seward then returned and made arrangements for the landing of these things in a little harbor behind the bold headland of Diamond Head, about seven miles from Honolulu. Prior to the landing of the arms a new constitution had been prepared to be promulgated by the Queen, who also prepared and signed commissions for a new Cabinet, consisting of C. W. Ashford, Attorney-General; S. Nowlein, Minister of the Interior; C. T. Gulick, Minister of Finance, and R. W. Wilcox, Minister of Foreign Affairs. W. H. Rickard was to be rewarded by being made Marshal; A. C. Cleghorn, the father of Kaiulani, was commissioned as Governor of Oahu; J. H. Nawahi, Governor of Hawaii, and the two so-called princes were to be Governors of Maui and Kaui respectively.

"V. V. Ashford and A. Rosa, notoriously unfit men, were to be made Judges (probably of the circuit or trial courts). A proclamation of martial law was prepared and arrangements made to arrest and dispose of a large number of prominent citizens, men of the highest and most respectable character, and also to provide for the confiscation of property."

The plan of attack is detailed in the letter, which, among other things, included the capture of President Dole and the other officers of the Government, killing them if resistance was offered.

"The plan was a good one," said the writer, "and if it could have been carried out might have been successful, and, under any circumstance, would have resulted in the most awful slaughter of men, women and children in Honolulu."

The vigilance of the authorities, and particularly of the Marshal, Mr. Hitchcock, who "knew enough to believe that an outbreak was impending," is referred to and commented, and Mr. Castle thereupon gives a graphic account of the uprising and the attendant events, including the shooting down of Mr. A. W. Carter. In regard to the shooting of Mr. Carter, Mr. Castle says: "My own belief is that he was intentionally selected in furtherance of a threat that in case of any uprising all of the Annexation Commissioners would be slaughtered."

He declares "that the statement that Mr. Carter's death was unnecessary, and that he was there as an idle spectator is absolutely false and wicked. He was there as a brave man in the discharge of his duty, and was killed in the defense of law and order." The letter ends with a description of the personnel of the conspirators.

"All the leading royalists," it asserts, "excepting two or three whose connection has not yet been identified, were engaged in the conspiracy. As I glance over the list of twenty-five, including the four leaders whom I have before named, Wilcox, Townsend, Warren, Walker, Bowler, Redware, Wiedemann, Greig and Marshall, who led or were to lead the insurrection in its various departments, and covering a number of others not named, I find that all excepting one are addicted to the use of liquor. Of these, seven or eight are so often drunk, even on the streets, that they could not be trusted with the secrets and plans of the royalists. More than half of them are men who are living in open and notorious immorality. Most of them are so accustomed to the use of false, violent, and profane language that their statements are not received by men of business as credible."

Road Foundations of Cloth.

The Massachusetts highway commissioners' board has found in building macadamized roads that upon loose, sandy soil much stone is wasted by being driven into the sand. In such cases gravel, when accessible, has been placed upon the sand to a depth of three or four inches, and the stone laid on this. By so doing the cost is greatly reduced. There being no travel at Martha's Vineyard, cheap cotton cloth has been spread upon the sand, and over that the stone. The sand does not work up through the stone, and much less stone is required. Layers of tarred paper were tried, but without success, as the stone pressed through them.

A Witty Reply.

The Crown Prince of Germany, though only about twelve years old, has a very ready wit and a queer way of saying things. He sees the funny side of a situation at once.

One day, while visiting Potsdam, the little Prince was amusing himself by trying to make a donkey draw a cart. But the donkey was stubborn and would not go.

"Your donkey has a great deal of will power," called out the Emperor, who had been watching the struggle between his little son and the stubborn beast.

"Oh, no, papa," replied the little Prince, quickly, "it isn't his will power that troubles me. It is his won't power. He won't go."—The Amusing Journal.

Mr. Wixham—Did you ask that new girl to show you her recommendations?

Mrs. Wixham—No; recommendations don't amount to anything. I've given them myself.—Somerville Journal.

THE LAST NEGRO SLAVE.

In Servitude for Twenty-Eight Years After the Emancipation.

It may seem incredible that a man should live in a state of servitude in this land for more than a quarter of a century after the emancipation of the negroes by the war; but Anderson Whitaker, an old negro, of Scott county, Va., can verify the truth of the statement that at least one negro did not avail himself of the proclamation of freedom, but remained in a state of servitude till the death of his old master in 1893—a period of more than twenty-eight years, after he might have been cultivating his own vine instead of that of another.

Anderson Whitaker was a slave, owned by an old man named Nathan Whitaker, in Scott county, Va. When the close of the war manumitted the negroes, old man Whitaker was an invalid, confined to his bed most of the time by a severe form of inflammatory rheumatism, and Anderson was his body servant and nurse. The old man did not want to give up his old, trusted, and faithful nurse, and he proposed to Anderson that if he would remain with him just as he was during the rest of his life that he (Nathan) would give him a house and some land and other property when he died. Anderson was a simple and trustful young darky, reared in the backwoods, knowing nothing else but to obey "de marster," and knowing nothing of the world and its ways.

He had a comfortable home, plenty to eat and wear, and he concluded to forego the sweets of freedom and remain as he was until the old master's death, which he expected at any time, since the old man was quite feeble and had long been afflicted with rheumatism. So he remained at the old home, working just as he had done all his life, nursing his invalid master, doing the chores about the house, and when he could leave the house working on the farm.

In August, 1893, old man Whitaker died, and Anderson's long period of servitude was ended. He had grown to be an old man, and fully expected to have enough from the old man's estate to keep him in comfort the rest of his days, and it had never occurred to him to doubt that the contract in which he so implicitly relied would be violated. But Anderson learned, just as many another had done, when it was too late to be of any benefit to him, that promise and performance sometimes lie very far apart.

It developed after the old man's death that the contract or agreement under which Anderson had spent the best part of his life in the service of another was not in writing; and either through forgetfulness or design, Nathan Whitaker did not carry out his promise to his former slave. When the will was opened and read, Anderson found that he had been remembered, indeed, but not to the extent that he had expected, for all that the will gave him was an old horse worth perhaps $30. No house, no land, no remuneration for his more than a quarter century's toil and care for his old master and he found that now in his old age he must start in life to earn his daily bread by such work as he could find to do.

MADE THE BEST OF IT.

Snowbound Passengers Formed a Club and Had a Merry Time.

Train No. 4, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, bound from Chicago to New York, and jammed in a snowdrift near Cresson, Pa., in the Alleghany Mountains, contained a crowd of old and practiced travelers who knew how to make the best of a very bad situation.

With them was Governor Daniel H. Hastings, under whose benign auspices the Keystone State is now being operated, and in the smoking car were any number of colonels, majors, doctors, captains and professors, not known in military, naval or scientific lore, but still capital fellows for all that.

A search of the train revealed the presence on a rear car of "general" Coxey, who led an army of fellow tramps to Washington once. He was taken from his retirement and made to participate in a political discussion, the resolution being—"Resolved, that we favor the abolition of soap and water and all work." On a vote the nays, it was declared, had it.

Governor Hastings' speech as reported is as follows:

"Gentlemen—To the commissariat of this train I contributed nine sandwiches and a flask of liquid. Your able steward, in his wisdom, has fixed my pro rata share of the provisions at two sandwiches, and all I want to drink from the water cooler. But let that pass.

"I have had many honors in my time, but none that I ever appreciated less than the present. I feel that I have been instrumental in making this trip as pleasant as I could. I will now introduce my friend and an officer of my staff, Colonel Spangler, whose bag of peanuts went into the general fund. He writes all my speeches for me, and he will say what he thinks I ought to feel upon this frigid occasion."

Colonel Spangler, who was in pink pajamas, the first ever seen in Pennsylvania, said:

"The charge that I write Governor Hastings' speeches will be indignantly resented by my friends who ever read any of them. My office on the governor's staff is more congenial. I am the receiving vault for all the liquid refreshment tendered to him, but I notice that none is tendered on this occasion, and I will now resume my seat. I may say that the seat cost me nothing, as I am riding on a pass."

High Indorsements.

"The proprietors of a certain tonic are advertising the following testimonial as taken from the London Court Journal:

The producer of * * * have a splendid market in Russia for their nerve and brain tonic. The Dowager Empress has, at the suggestion of the Princess of Wales, drunk it since the death of her consort, with the most remarkable and beneficial results. It is well known that the Princess of Wales also derived increased strength from it during her last great trials. A great demand for this tonic has sprung up among the Russian aristocracy."

A tonic that assuages grief caused by the loss of friends, mends broken hearts, and revives drooping spirits, should have a large sale among all aristocracies.

They're Coming.

You bet old Dixie ain't forgotten—
Mills jest makin' fer the cotton;
Here they're comin' to receive it—
Here they'll pick, and here they'll weave it,
Then the land with fat will trickle—
Pound o' cotton fer one nickel.
Look away,
Every day—
Look away down South in Dixie!
—Atlanta Constitution.

PIANO BARGAINS.

Vanderbeek & Sattels

desire to say that they have just received a fine lot of

New Pianos

of different makes which they will sell at prices never before offered. Among them are those wonderful

Behr Brothers Pianos

Also Behning & Sons.

They represent also the Knabe, Hazelton, Chickering and many others.

They offer an excellent

Steinway Grand, $350.

A great bargain. Call soon at

221 PARK AVENUE.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must fatly be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

Special Bargains for February.

HIRTS at 39c; regular price 50c.
pecial buckskin gloves 98c, regular $1.50.
aw you our Reindeer Glove for dress or driving $1.50

HALLOCK,

109 West Front st.

5,000 Pounds

Another big supply of Fresh Country Roll

BUTTER at 18c Per Pound.

Watch for our special sale price list in Thursday's and Saturday's paper.

FULPER'S, 207 West Front St.

Misses Shoes

without tips; best leather; best shoe made. Sold at cost.

P. Cox make $1.50, were $2.

R. Dix make $1.25, were $1.75.

Alex. Willett & Son,

107 Park avenue.

106 East Front Street—— NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c
" Oolong tea	30c
" Young Hyson tea	40c
" Japan tea	40c
XX soda crackers	4½c
Ginger snaps	5½c
Nic-nac crackers	6c
California peaches	17c can
Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
Can peas, early June	8c
Can corn, fine goods	8c
Fine butter	24c
Ground coffee	17½c
Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
" Rio coffee	24c
Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented.

H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

SHAD! Rogers

232 W. 2d. St.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,

Prescription Druggist,

143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

[Copyright by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.]

CHAPTER II.

He looked sad and weak as he went out the door, but they knew the stuff of which his heart was made.

"If he isn't too dhrunk he'll come along when I lay me hand on his shouldher; if he's fightin' dhrunk, it's him or me," he said half to himself, as he went down the street, accompanied by Foster.

"Wan comfort," he added, in the same musing way, "Billy nivir shoots. It's fists wid him."

They heard a wild shouting up the street, where the open door of a saloon emptied its light into the street.

A crowd of men alternately surged in and out of the door, as if they moved away from a chained wildcat making plunges to the length of his chain. As they drew near, the howl of the drunken man could be heard as he raged against the barkeeper, who stood in deadly terror behind his bar pleading with him. He tried to assume a careless voice.

"Here, take all ye want. That's all right. I gave you y'r change. Take a drink—it's on me. That's all right—" Bill stopped suddenly like a hound scenting game.

"Here's Jim!" was the cry. "Get out o' the way, here's Jim."

Jim came through the crowd, his big, brown eyes fixed on Bill's wild face. The sadness in his face and its resolution awed the crowd.

"Billy, my boy, come home," he said, gently. "Come home, Billy," and he laid his hand on his brother's shoulder.

There was no sign of relenting in Bill's eyes. He looked astonished, then his eyes contracted to red slits, his mouth squared at the corners and his teeth showed in a horrible grin. His hand spread on the counter like a paw.

"To —— wid ye!" he answered.

"Get out o' my way," said Jim, without looking around. The crowd fell back, leaving a clear space.

"Come, Billy," he said again, but in a different tone. He saw a madman before him. With a quick, clutching, downward jerk, he rolled the Tiger to the floor and fell upon him. But the insane man rose under him with a rolling, bearlike action, and forced him on the floor on equal terms.

It was a terrible sight. The two brothers, so nearly equal in strength, Jim fighting because it was his duty and hindered by his great love and admiration for his brother, the other man irrational, cruel, deadly. Jim broke loose and rose.

Bill sprang at Jim, whose left fist met him and rolled him on the floor.

"God forgive me!" Jim said; "I nivir struck me brother before."

He waited for the fallen man to rise. Bill seemed to bound from the ground. Again Jim knocked him rolling, and again he rose. This time he rose with a knife in his hand.

"Ah!" breathed the crowd.

"Shoot him!" said the barkeeper.

"Keep off!" said Jim. A new look came into his eyes. He was fighting for his life now. Again he met the infuriate with his fist, but the man fell at his feet, throwing him sprawling. Jim whirled upon his back, catching Bill's hand in a terrible grip. The blood was running from a gash in his cheek.

Over and over the two men rolled in the blood and sawdust. Notwithstanding their great bulk, they writhed with the bewildering convolutions of cats. Now Jim came to the top, now Bill, but always that right hand of the sheriff's gripped the murderous wrist that held the knife. Jim fought silently, grimly. The brother uttered short, snarling imprecations, like a carnivorous animal at meat. He snapped at his brother with open jaws.

Again and again some volunteer raised a chair to strike Bill, but Jim said "no." His pride was touched. He would conquer him alone. He would not let another man strike his brother.

For ten minutes this struggle continued, and then Jim rose and sat astride the Tiger, who lay breathing heavily, cursing, raving under his breath.

"Handcuff him!" cried the crowd.

Jim shook his head. "There is no need," he said.

At the word "handcuff," the struggle began again. Bill wrenched loose suddenly and struck Jim again with the knife. The blow fell upon his collar bone, and the blood poured forth again. Jim caught the deadly arm again in his left hand and lifting his terrible right hand struck a blow upon the side of his brother's head, which laid him out limp and still.

"Out o' me way now," he said, as he rose holding the limp body in his hands. They made way for him and he passed out into the street.

A shudder seized on the crowd. Jim was covered with saw dust and filth from the floor. His face was unrecognizable by reason of the terrible blows with fist and knife which had fallen there, and his shirt was dripping with blood also. He walked into the middle of the road with the stunned man held in his hands. The crowd made way for him as if he were a king. He put Bill down and knelt watchfully beside him.

"Call the mayor," he said, "I'll have a word with him."

A moment later and the mayor came hurrying down.

"What is it, Jim?"

He lifted a wild, sad face to the mayor.

"Y'r anner, I ask permission to take Billy home. God knows it would kill him to wake in the jail, y'r anner. The b'y dawn't know what he's doin' at all. He'll be near dead with shame, whin he sees the mark he's put on me. If he wakes in jail, 'twill break the heart of 'im. Y'r anner, you know Billy, when the whisky's not in him, he's as fine a man as iver breathed the breath of life. May I take him home, y'r anner?"

The mayor, deeply moved, nodded his head.

"Do what you think best, Jim."

"God bless ye, y'r anner. Will somebody find Billy's team?"

The team was brought, and the maniac was lifted into the wagon like a log.

Jim climbed in. "Give me the lines," he said to the man in the seat.

"Shan't I go with ye, Jim?"

"Give me, I say."

"GOD FORGIVE ME," SAID JIM. "I NEVER STRUCK ME BROTHER BEFORE."

The man surrendered the lines and leaped out of the wagon.

"Good night, y'r anner. Good night, boys."

The wagon moved off in the glorious moonlight, with Jim sitting beside the drink-crazed man who lay on the bed of the wagon unbound, save by the grip of his brother's relentless right hand. He never set foot in Rock River again and the next year Jim was the only candidate for sheriff in the county.

[THE END.]

On March 6 we shall begin publication of a detective story by Nym Crinkle, entitled

"EIGHT MINUTES TO THREE".

A. C. Wheeler, who uses this pseudonym, is one of the best known journalists in the United States. He has been for many years the dramatic critic of the New York World, and is today one of the most brilliant writers on the American press. It is to his inimitable sketches of New York life that the Sunday World owes a considerable part of its popularity. Mr. Wheeler has written many successful stories, of which the best known is perhaps "The Great Laran Rebellion".

"Eight Minutes of Three" is in every way a remarkable piece of fiction, and deserves to rank with some of the weird tales of Poe. It will run five days, and will be followed by a short story of New England life by Mary E. Wilkins.

This story, like all the Daily Press serials, is brand-new, and copyrighted to Daily Press use.

BETTER THAN GOLD BONDS

VALUABLE

REAL ESTATE

in the business centre of Plainfield. The large building on West 2d street, known as

The Elkwood Building,

Will be sold at public auction on

Monday, March 4, 1895,

At 2 P. M., on the premises. The property is about 65 feet front by about 160 feet deep, and contains a three story brick building used for stores, public hall, flats, lodge rooms and offices. This property originally cost about $43,000, and affords a grand opportunity for investment. Attend the sale.

For further particulars inquire of W. R. Codington, Attorney, corner Park avenue and Second street, Plainfield, N. J. 2 26 5

Neuman Bros,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

offer special inducements in prices which will interest everybody.

White cherries 17c
Egg plants.....17c
Apricots.....17c
Crawford peaches.....17c
Sliced pineapple.....17c
Grated pineapple.....17c
Hamburg stringless beans.....10c can

17c

Try our own brands of Coffees, the finest in the market.

NEUMAN BROS.

BROUGHT HIM TO TIME.

Brief Note That Brought a Long-Winded Speaker to a Full Stop.

Henry Watterson tells this story of Hon. B. Lawless, a former member of the Louisville bar, and who came from Glasgow, Ky. He was a "long-winded" talker, and when he arose to make an argument he did not know when to stop. On one occasion he was making a speech before Judge Ballard, in the United States Court. He had spoken several hours and the Judge and everybody else were thoroughly tired out, though they were helpless.

At last Judge Ballard beckoned his brother, Jack Ballard, to him and implored him to stop Lawless, if he could.

"Oh, that's easy enough," replied the brother, "I'll stop him inside of three minutes."

There was a great deal of curiosity to see how this could be accomplished, as the orator seemed to be nowhere near the end of his speech. Jack Ballard took a pencil and a sheet of paper and wrote—

"My Dear Colonel—As soon as you finish your magnificent argument I would like you to join me to see Lillian Kennedy in 'She Couldn't Marry Three.'"

The note was handed to the orator who paused at the end of a soaring period, drew his glasses from his pocket and read the note. He put it in his pocket and said—

"And now, if it pleases your honor, and you, gentlemen of the jury, I leave the case with you."

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

—The male choir will contribute to the musical programme at the men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Building Sunday afternoon.

—Next Tuesday, March 5, the Epworth League of Monroe Avenue Chapel will hold an evening sociable. A voluntary offering of five cents will be welcome from every person attending.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c

Something

That gives you light at light prices are the Lamps which we have on sale this week—the largest and best assortment in the city. We quote only a few of the many specials for this week.

Hand lamp, complete.....10c
Bracket " " 12c
Hall lamp complete 97c
Hanging lamp, complete.....$1.98

Specials

Glass butter dishes.....9c
Shoe brushes.....17c
Scrubbing brushes.....5c
Roll toilet paper.....5c
Ammonia, best.....5c
Fancy cuspidores.....23c

Silk Waists

We intend to make this line of goods a specialty this spring and summer and will have the prettiest line in the city.

A $6 changeable Taffeta silk waist, latest spring style, $4.75.

Fancy China silk waists, all sizes, $3.49.

Spring Capes

This weather compels you to wear a cape, just what we have a large assortment of at low prices.

A changeable velvet cape $8, worth $9.50.

A Faille Silk cape, silk lined $8.75 worth $10.

A Faille Silk cape silk lined $11.50, worth $13.50.

Broad cloth capes in blue and tan, $4.50, worth $6.

Broad cloth capes in black only $2.50, worth $3.25.

Just received a very pretty line of satin skirts, latest organ pipe back, $7.95.

Dress Goods

On the tip end of every lady's tongue. What? Why, they all say what a pretty line of spring dress goods Boehm has. How can they help it? Our dress goods department will surpass any in the city. We intend to be the leaders of low prices if we are compelled to give them away. A broad assertion, but nevertheless it is true. You are welcome at any time to examine our goods and be convinced that we are the leaders.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values

IN

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality,

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c. at

49 cents.

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1.98.

☞ Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street. Newark, N. J.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B O F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S

Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose..... 7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose.....10c pair
" " " double knee.....18c pair
" " " extra heavy.....25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handkerchiefs.....5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs.....5c

210 West Front Street.

FEBRUARY PRICES.

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,

73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.

Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

PRICES DURING FEBRUARY.

Tapestry Brussels carpet per yard, only.....50c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only.....$10
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, only.....$20
Velvet carpet per yard, only.....75c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only.....$15
Antique oak sideboards, only.....$13 50
Extra super all-wool ingrain carpet per yard, only.....50c
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, in rug covering, only.....$30
Fancy couches and lounges, only.....$5
Low priced ingrain carpet per yard, only.....25c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only.....$20
Body Brussels carpet per yard, only.....85c
Antique oak chiffoniers with mirrors, only.....$8.75
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, in silk covering, only.....$40
Dining-room chairs, high back, antique oak, per set only.....$7.50
Antique oak extension tables, only.....$3.50
Oilcloth per yard, only.....10oc
Hall stands, only.....$5.50
Antique oak bedroom suits, only.....$25
Three ply carpet per yard, only.....75c

PORTLAND RANGES—The prices on these Ranges are not reduced, as we are not allowed to do so by the manufacturers. We have made reductions in all other departments not mentioned above at the same rate as in this ad. Easy terms. Goods delivered free to all parts of the State.

STORING FURNITURE—Having just erected a new building at 88, 90 and 92 Bank st., we can safely say that we have the most complete Storage Building in the State, and at such low rates. All ocked rooms. Furniture moved with vans by careful men in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

HEATH & DRAKE

OUR

Dress Goods

DEPARTMENT

is now stocked with the latest novelties for spring wear, showing many interesting changes. We have never before been able to give such surprising values in the newest made fabrics and in the most popular styles.

37-inch All-Wool Mixtures, in brown, green and blue, value 31c., at

25c. yd

39-inch Wool Cheviots, in all the new and popular colors, value 50c., at

39c.

44-inch All-Wool Argyle Suitings, in small seeded effects, value 69c., at

50c.

52-inch All-Wool Granit Mixtures, value 75c., at

59c.

42-inch Wool Rock Crepons, in Havana brown, dove gray, moss green, myrtle and raisin blue, value 90c., at

75c.

44-inch Wool Plisse Crepon effect, assorted colors, value $1.25, at $1.00

44-inch Wool Marine Serge, in navy and black, value 90c., at

75c.

Same, value $1.20, at $1.00

Beautiful New Crepons in all the popular colors.

New French Challies in beautiful patterns.

Particular attention given to mail orders. Samples sent upon request.

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

To All To Whom These Presents May Come, Greeting:

Whereas, In the judgment of the Board of Directors of The Music Hall Association of Plainfield, a corporation organized under the laws of this State, it has been "deemed advisable and most for the benefit of such corporation that the same should be dissolved before the expiration of the time limited in its certificate of organization," as appears by a duly authenticated record of the proceedings of said board of directors of such corporation held in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled "An Act concerning corporations," approved April 7, 1875, and the several supplements thereto, which said record, including the consent in writing of "two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders" of said corporation that such dissolution should take place, as by said act required having been by said corporation deposited in my office;

Now therefore, I Henry C. Kelsey, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, being satisfied by due proof that the requirements of "An Act concerning corporations," approved April 7, 1875, and the supplements thereto, relative to the dissolution of corporations, have been fully complied with by the said corporation, do hereby certify that The Music Hall Association of Plainfield did on the twenty-fifth of February, 1895, file in my office a duly executed and attested certificate of consent to the dissolution of said corporation by two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders thereof, which said certificate of consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file and of record in my said office, as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Trenton, this Twenty-fifth day of February, A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-five.

(L. S.)

HENRY C. KELSEY.
Secretary of State.

2 26 4

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Segars, Etc.

128 NORTH AVENUE.

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY,

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET,

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N. J

Telephone call, 29 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge. 9 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit.

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, india rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 9 p. m. H. HOSKINS, 26 North ave., Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritz, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong. 9 27

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY. $5 A YEAR.

THIS COUNCIL ENDED.

Borough Solons Conclude a Year of Work.

WHAT WAS DONE ON THE STREETS.

Clerk Arnold Instructed to Record on the Minutes the Council's Esteem of the Retiring Mayor, H. E. Needham.

The North Plainfield Republican primaries which were held last evening kept the majority of the members of the Borough Council away from their meeting for a time, and it was 9:40 before Mayor Needham called the session to order.

Clerk Arnold and Councilmen Peck, Winckler and Lounsbury were present.

The minutes of the previous meetings were read and approved.

Clerk Arnold's report showed that Fred Baker had paid $5 for a peddler's license, that Justice Crosley from fines had paid $13, and that the $50 license fee from the Street Railway Company had been paid.

Street Commissioner Stout's report was read, showing macadamizing done as follows: Myrtle avenue, 1175 lineal feet; Duer street from Emily street to Linden avenue, 975; Linden avenue from Somerset street to Sycamore avenue, 1950; total 4100 lineal feet. Total cost of macadamizing, $2,460. Repairs on Washington avenue $117; repairs on Somerset street, $500. 649 lineal feet of crosswalks were laid at a cost of $259.60. Crushed stone used, 445 tons. $41 was received from the sale of dirt. The total expenditure from April 15, 1894, to March 1, 1895, was $4,654.73.

Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed in a communication stated that legislation would be necessary on the question of dividing the Borough and Township funds, and the necessary steps were then in progress. There is $2,300 to be divided.

The monthly bills were audited, and warrants were ordered drawn.

Councilman Lounsbury said that he thought that some recognition should be made of the seven-years service which Mayor Needham had given so faithfully and conscientiously to the Council and Borough, and he moved that the Council's expression of regard for him be spread on the minutes. This was carried unanimously.

Mr. Needham then in his usual happy manner thanked the members for their good will, and extended his good wishes in parting with the councilmen.

The Council adjourned without day.

Boys Club Entertainment.

The entertainment held at the Boys Club last Saturday evening was one of most successful and enjoyable of this Winter's series. The club is beginning to realize that considerable talent is to be found among its own members, and several of the boys contributed to the pleasure of the occasion. Master Willie Kiss played on his autoharp which Santa Claus left with him not long since. Joe Burke rendered several pieces on the harmonica. John Varden and Clarence Angleman sang about the "Frog who went a courtin'", which gave much pleasure. Tommy Johnson and Howard Lowrie sang "Hand me down a quarter" with much effect. The club sang "Polly Wolly Doodle" very creditably. The Silver Leaf Quartette of young colored men had been engaged to sing, and their funny songs were greatly enjoyed. Their exhibition of fancy dancing, too, was a wonder and delight to the spectators. At the end of the evening the boys rendered a familiar college song in a hearty chorus, and the programme was as usual concluded with "America".

Tonight the boys will have a similar good time.

New York Philharmonic Club.

The last subscription concert of the series by this club will be given in the Casino on Tuesday evening next, 5th inst.

Anton Schott and Miss Hamlin on account of illness will not appear at this concert as announced. The soloists will be W. H. Rieger, tenor; Eugene Weiner, flutist; Sol Marcosson, violinist, and Henri Haagmans, violoncello.

Memorial to Frederick Douglass.

Special memorial services will be held in Bethel Chapel, Washington and Fifth streets, tomorrow evening at 8, in memory of the late Hon. Frederick Douglass. Rev. W. A. Alexander, the pastor, will deliver an appropriate discourse on the life, labors and character of this distinguished and singular personage.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

GRADUATES GET TOGETHER.

North Plainfield's Ex-Students Give a Midwinter Reunion.

A number of graduates and teachers of the North Plainfield Public School attended the midwinter reunion of the Alumni Association last evening in the upper class rooms.

The programme, which was greatly enjoyed, was as follows:

Address by President.....John McLoughlin
Piano Solo.....Miss May MacDonald
Essay—History and Civil Government, Robert Clark
Vocal Solo—The Gale.....Herbert Schutt
Essay—Reading.....William Wilcox
Recitation.....Miss Grace E. Overton
Essay—Spelling and Punctuation, [Miss Clara Steiner
Read by David Bodine.
Vocal Trio—Robert Clark, Edward Clark and Stacy Raynolds.
Essay—Composition.....George Taggart

Refreshments were served, and the pleasant evening was closed by the singing of college songs.

Among those present were: Mr and Mrs Overton, Mr and Mrs C E Boss, Mr and Mrs Potter, and the Misses Laura Emmons, Bertha Thorne, Grace E Overton, Alice and Susie Woodland, Nellie Arnold, May MacDonald, May Clawson, Emma Gillem, Alice Carroll, Tina Smith, Miriam Wilcox, Maggie Cory, Clara Steiner, Nellie Van Winkle, Ida and Cathie Lewis, Martha Humble, Cutter, Shafer, Bainbridge, Mamie R Steiner, Jessie Coddington, Maggie and Edith Miles, Wm Schutt, John H McLoughlin, Stacy Raynolds, Walter Raynolds, Geo Taggart, George Bolsterle, Wm Wilcox, Thomas MacDonald, Dykman Winckler, Edward O Clark, Robert Clark, Henry B Drake, David Bodine, Frank Holland, Clarence Murphy.

Their Uniforms Complimented.

The Division Encampment of the Sons of Veterans held in Trenton, Feb. 21, was one of the best yet held. There were 200 members of the order present, about half of which were delegates. After a lively contest Senior Vice-Commander James E. Pierson of Hopewell was elected Commander. Inspector Victor D. Renwick of Camden was in opposition.

John Hand Camp, No. 28, of this city, was recognized by securing three officers. W. C. Dobbins was elected a member of the Division Council, H. C. McVoy was appointed Division Chaplain by Commander Pierson, and H. S. Thatcher was elected Representative to the National Encampment to be held in Knoxville, Tenn., next September. Camp 28 received many compliments on the choice of their uniform, it being considered one of the handsomest in the divison.

Those attending from Plainfield were: Capt. W. C. Dobbins; Sergeant of Guard H. S. Thatcher; Quartermaster Sergeant H. C. McVoy; First Sergeant H. J. Martin; Second Lieutenant Charles F. Stephens; Corporal of Guard Edward Smith, and W. C. Smith, Jr.

Officers Re-elected.

The annual meeting of the Sunday-school teachers of the First Baptist Church was held in the church last evening with a good attendance. The East Third Street Mission was not represented. All of the officers were re-elected, and there was but one addition, that of assistant treasurer. The officers are:

Superintendent—Rufus K. Case,
First Assistant—G. H. Batchelor.
Second Assistant—G. F. Brown.
Secretary—C. H. Smith.
Treasurer—Harold Serrell.
Assistant Treasurer—Miss Florence Serrell.

M. C. Dobbins was reappointed Superintendent of Mt. Olive Sunday-school, and Clarence S. Johnson, Secretary.

Reports of both schools represented were read, and showed them to be in excellent spiritual and financial condition.

By a vote of the teachers it was decided to give the usual excursion this Summer.

45 to Spare.

The Park Club tucked the Fanwoods under their wing last night and took them into camp. Duplicate whist was the point at issue, and the Parks won by the following score:

PARK CLUB.		FANWOOD.
H. A. McGee.....	12	Kyte.....	6
G. P. Dupee.....		Keib.....
S. Townsend.....	23	Quereau.....	2
S. St. J. McCutchen		Downer.....
C. A. Reed.....	20	McCarthy.....	2
Geo. T. Rogers....		Querean.....
	55		10

West End Made Merry.

Last night the home of Misses Anna and Minnie Martin, 349 Manson place, was filled with 40 merry visitors, who had come to enjoy the hospitality of their entertaining hostesses. Dancing commenced at 9 and continued until 12, when refreshments were served, after which dancing dancing and games were participated in until early this morning. Miller furnished the music.

Jersey Central a Dividend Payer.

(From Town Topics.)

The situation looks much better for the coal stocks, and these are in position to advance sharply. Jersey Central will continue to be a dividend payer, and th stock is safe to buy to hold for results that will be forthcoming in less than a month.

LONG TIME AT IT.

But a Borough Ticket Finally Arranged.

REPUBLICANS SELECT LEADERS.

E. A. Hegeman, Jr., the Unanimous Choice for Mayor—Wm. C. Smith, H. B. Lounsbury and Wm. A. Schutt for Councilmen.

Though every nomination but two made at the Republican borough primary last night was unanimous it took the G. O. P. statesmen two long and weary hours to finish the business that would have ordinarily occupied a half hour. This was occasioned by reason of a number of borough improvements coming up for discussion, in which it was sought to pledge the nominees to the work of carrying into execution after their election—that is, if they are elected. But this little "if" did n't seem to cut much of a figure, for the business of the primary was conducted in a manner that indicated that this portion of the political world had adopted the conclusion that the candidates nominated would be elected.

There was something over a hundred present, but only 84 votes were cast, and the only contest made was on the nomination of long-term councilman and freeholder, and not much vim was injected into either of these. The prediction in last night's Press as to the probable nominees for mayor and long-term councilman was fulfilled.

The primary was called to order by H. Newton Spencer, and Charles Place and Horace J. Martin were elected permanent chairman and secretary respectively.

Before the nominations were taken up A. V. D. Honeyman presented a set of resolutions to be considered at the caucus, which were substantially as follows:

That in convention assembled we advocate immediate attention of the Council to the conditions of the cross and sidewalks of the borough, and we ask our nominees, in case of election, to see to it that ordinances are immediately enacted, if they do not now exist, which will improve the walks; if there is no such power then to apply to the Legislature for such authority. Also that we request the incoming Council to appoint a street commissioner who has himself some authority to compel property owners to keep their sidewalks in better condition, and who is authorized to build and maintain crosswalks that are passable. If he fails in his duty to so retain control of his office, then he be discharged forthwith.

Mr. Honeyman spoke in support of the resolutions, and said that the caucus seemed to be the only place before or after election where the citizen could express his views with any weight. If candidates were elected on a platform to remedy certain evils, they would make an effort to do so, and the place to call attention to such matters was in the primary North Plainfield, he said, was worse off for side and crosswalks than any other township in this section of the State. As long as such a condition existed it was a hindrance to the progress of the borough, for people would not purchase real estate. The Street Commissioner and Borough Council, he said, claimed to have no authority to remedy matters. If this was so, a bill should be drafted which would give such legislative authority. Somerset street is a disgrace to the borough. If this resolution was adopted the incoming officials would know what the people wanted.

In reply to Mr. Honeyman Mayor Needham said that ordinances had been passed such as was proposed, but the difficulty was in the lack of enforcement, for which the borough officials were not to blame. No funds were provided for this work, and, of course, nothing could be done.

The resolutions were adopted.

The nomination of Mayor was next taken up, and E. A. Hegeman, Jr., unanimously named.

For two long-term Councilmen H. B. Lounsbury, Elmer E. Winckler and Wm. A. Schutt were named. The total number of votes cast was 79, of which Lounsbury received 69, Schutt 58, and Winckler 27. Lounsbury and Schutt were declared the nominees.

Then followed these unanimous nominations: For short-term Councilman, Wm. C. Smith; Assessor, Dr. J. A. Cooley; Collector, H. N. Spencer.

For Freeholder, Lewis E. Barkalew received 36, C. P. Sebring 27, and Jacob Long 21, the first-named receiving the nomination.

The remainder of the nominations were made unanimously as follows:

Overseer of the Poor, David R. Weaver; Justices of the Peace, Lewis A. Kline, Fred Brown, and Charles Taynor; Constables, Mark Dowd, Samuel Taynor, and J. W. Van Horn; Surveyor of Highways, Jacob Long, and J. S. Lunger; Pound Keepers, Patrick Egan, and John Stine; Commissioners of Appeal, Lewis M. French, John P. Emmons, and Robert Carson.

The appropriation for borough purposes was made $5,000, $500 to be reserved for laying and repairing sidewalks.

For repairs of roads, $4,000, $1,000 to reserved for Somerset steet and $250 for cleaning roads and gutters from snow.

For support of poor, $1,500.
For Board of Health, $500.

The following were made a committee to fill any vacancies that may occur: P. A. Emmons, Jr., S. B. Joseph and Ezra Loomis.

WILL BE COLDER TOMORROW.

Perhaps the Mercury Will Fall 15 to 20 Degrees.

The indications point to clearer and colder weather by tomorrow. The temperature may fall 15 to 20 degrees by that time.

DUKE ALEXIS IS DEAD.

San Remo, Italy, March 2.—The Grand Duke Alexis of Russia, uncle of Emperor Nicholas II., died here this morning. He was 45 years of age.

PROF. J. S. BLACKIE DEAD.

London, March 2.—Prof. John Stuart Blackie, the well-known author and Greek and Latin scholar, died today in Edinburgh.

Clearing the Wreck.

The wreckage of the Bayonne collision, told of on Page 8, was not fully cleared away from the scene of the accident until after 9 this morning. At that hour the dozen or more coal cars that had been piled up in a mass under the Centre street bridge had been carted away, but the wreckers had just succeeded in fastening together the pieces of the demolished engine of the express, which was then hauled back to the East Thirty-third street station.

Funeral of Levi Hetfield.

The funeral of Levi Hetfield was held at his late residence Madison avenue and Fourth street at 2:30 this afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes. The bearers of the casket were his sons, Walter L., and John M. Hetfield, sons-in-law, Dr. Walter Manning and Harold Serrell, and grandson, Arthur Serrell.

Moving the Postoffice.

The postoffice will be moved to the Babcock Building Monday night. The office will close Monday at 6:30, one hour earlier than usual.

The 8 o'clock outgoing eastern mail will be made up at the old office and go as usual. Tuesday, all business will be in the new headquarters.

Condition Unimproved.

Alfred Terry, who received serious injuries by falling from a load of hay at Short Hills, Wednesday, still remains in a precarious condition in the Muhlenberg Hospital. He has at no time regained consciousness since the accident. Doubts are entertained by the physicians for his recovery.

Brave Boys.

While Baker Hand was stopping at Barnes Bros. grocery store on business this noon, his horse got frightened and ran away. The horse was caught near Elmwood place, by Walter Arlington Clark and William Vail. The damage was slight.

A Serious Fracture.

Calvin Sutton, the painter, whose fall from a ladder was exclusively reported in The Press last night, is in the Muhlenberg Hospital. Both bones in the leg were fractured.

—The jury trying ex-Capt. Doherty, New York, disagreed this morning, 9 to 3 in his favor.

—H. DeMott, undertaker, has engaged Rogers & Hoffman to model him a house and store for Somerset street.

—The annual meeting of the McAll auxiliary will be held at the Public Library, Wednesday morning, March 6, at 11.

—Max Wiertz, the favorite caterer, will resume his table d' hote, next Monday, affording an incomparable dinner from 5:30 to 8 for 75 cents.

—The Board of Engineers has done a commendable thing in issuing through Chief Doane a proclamation against loitering in engine-houses, and against promiscuous admission.

—A. W. Baker and B. C. Young, whose card appears in this issue, are equipped to fill all orders in the line of carpentry and building. They give prompt attention to jobbing, and are quick and skilful.

—Amos Andrews, Superintendent of the Water Supply Company, had his men engaged yesterday in uncovering and thawing out the water pipes leading to Mr. Sandford's house, corner of Sandford avenue and East Front street.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. B. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

GREET THEIR LEADER.

Plainfield Club Women Salute Their Chief.

BRILLIANT EVENT IN THE CASINO.

Reception to Mrs. Henrotin of Chicago, President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

A brilliant and intellectual assemblage of women attended the reception given in the Casino of the Union County Country Club yesterday afternoon to Mrs. Ellen M. Henrotin of Chicago, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The event was conducted by the Monday Afternoon Club, the Current Events Club and the Resoris Club of this city who, are among the foremost influential members of the Federation.

The Casino presented a beautiful aspect of cheerfulness from the tasteful manner in which it had been arranged for the occasion. The platform was filled with potted plants of various kinds, while all over the walls smilax and other green foliage met the vision; and spread about the floor were many rugs brought from private homes, which gave to it a parlor-like appearance.

The Executive Committee who had made the arrangements was composed of Mrs Huntington, Mrs Wood, Mrs Conklin, Mrs Evans, Mrs Randolph, Mrs Haviland, Mrs Brown, Mrs Tomlinson and Miss Leonard.

The guests were received by Mrs Kimball of the Resoris; Mrs Faber, Jr., of the Current Events; and Mrs Miller of the Monday Afternoon Club.

The Entertainment and Decorative Committee was as follows: Mrs Evans, Mrs Randall and Mrs Gilbert of the Monday Afternoon Club; Mrs Halloway of the Resoris Club; and Mrs McCutchen of the Current Events Club.

After pleasant social intercourse for a few minutes, Mrs. Miller made an address of welcome. Other interesting addresses followed, among them being Mrs. Henrotin's, which was one of great interest and contained many facts concerning the work in which she and her hearers are engaged, that permitted a greater insight into the labor than could otherwise be secured.

Margaret Yardley of Orange, president of the State Federation, also was present, and spoke of the work that had a local interest.

At the conclusion of the literary exercises light refreshments were served, Miss Day and Mrs. Evans pouring the tea. They were assisted in receiving by the Entertainment Committee.

Athletics and Baseball.

Already there is talk of outdoor athletics for the members of the Y. M. C. A., and a good baseball team is one of the proposed branches.

Physical Director McPhie hopes to secure the meet for Plainfield of the Y. M. C. A. Athletic League, which comprises members from different parts of the State. In the event of its coming here Plainfield will have an opportunity of witnessing a fine series of manly games.

The Symphony and Fanny Crosby.

Miss Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn writer, will give a concert in Reform Hall next Tuesday evening. The attractions will include an Edison phonograph and a Symphony. The Symphony is a wonderful instrument, giving to its audience the pleasure of full orchestral music, automatically. Several are now possessed in Plainfield, and Mr. Waldron has put one in Hotel Albion, where he gives frequent concerts. One is in constant use in Reform Hall, and a number in private homes.

Thanks to The Press.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—At a meeting of the Women's Temperance Aid Society held Feb. 21, a motion was made and seconded that a vote of thanks be given you for so gratuitously affording us such valuable space in your most excellent paper, which has been of great benefit to us.

H. N. KING,
Secretary, pro tem.

MRS. G. F. OPDYKE, President.
Plainfield, March 1, 1895.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs and expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

Plainfield Makes Her Voice Heard in the Halls of Legislation.

The following petition for equal suffrage has been sent from Plainfield to the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, in Legislature assembled:

The undersigned, citizens of the United States (21 years of age), residents of the State of New Jersey, Officers of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, respectfully pray your Honorable body to submit to the electors of the State, a proposition to strike the word "male" from Article II, Section I, of the Constitution, and thus take the first step towards restoring to women the right to vote on equal terms with men. This right was formerly exercised by women, in the State of New Jersey, and was guaranteed to them by the Constitution. As it was abridged by an Act of Legislature in 1807, and finally taken away in 1844, on the adoption of the present Constitution, without the consent of the women of the State, and without consultation with them, it would seem just to your memorialists that the franchise should now be restored to women.

FLORENCE HOWE HALL,
President.
MARGARET CAMPFIELD,
Vice-President.
EMMA L. BLACKWELL,
Recording Secretary.
MARY D. HUSSEY,
Corresponding Secretary.
M. F. KROM, Treasurer.
AARON M. POWELL, Auditor.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK.

A meeting of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association was held Wednesday afternoon, and it was decided to invite the other schools of this city to unite and under this united organization hold a field day in the Spring and make it open to the State. The committee appointed to confer with like committees from other schools consisted of Charles B. Morse, Carlos C. Gallup and another to be appointed later.

The Kappa Delta Phi held its regular meeting Friday afternoon. The programme consisted of the reading of an original essay and a hat talk. The speakers and their subjects were as follows: John V. Beekman, Jr—Value of Books; Carlos C. Gallup—The Advisability of Distributing Some of Our Knowledge; Charles B. Morse—Is the High School Degenerating? Lewis H. Rand—The Lyceum; Henry Eggerding—The Kappa Delta Phi and Its Branches; J. Hazelwood Craig—Should the Present Methods of Electing a President of the United States be Superseded by Others? Chas. Noble—The System of Order in the High School; Henry B. Drake—The Recent Changes in the Teachers and the School; Wilbur F. Cornwell—Will Successful Results be Obtained in Building Air-ships?

He Converted Woolley.

Rev. Stephen Merritt of New York, the famous evangelist, will address the Plainfield Branch of the Christian Alliance, Tuesday evening at 7:30. Mr. Merritt is one of New York's greatest philanthropists. Last Winter he fed from 2,000 to 3,000 people, and also maintained a shelter for homeless men called the Travelers' Club. Among others, John G. Woolley, who so deeply interested a Plainfield audience at the W. C. T. U. Sunday afternoon meeting in Music Hall, was converted under his teachings. All Plainfield will be glad of a chance to hear this famous man.

Gold.

Gold leaf was made in Egypt 1706 B. C. Gold was discovered in California in 1848. Gold novelties in pins of all descriptions, bracelets, chains, collar and cuff buttons, charms, lockets, pendants and countless other ornaments of the latest designs and at the most reasonable prices, are always obtainable at the old reliable establishment of Collier's, 103 Park avenue.

Broke the Backbone.

Henry S. Thomas started for Dunellen yesterday afternoon about 4, on his wheel. In climbing the hill near Grant avenue he encountered considerable mud, and before he reached the level the backbone of his wheel broke in the middle, leaving him standing in the road. A. M. Griffen's wagon happened along, and gave him a lift.

He's a Master in Chancery Now.

Chancellor Alexander T. McGill has appointed Lawyer Clarence L. Murphy a Master in Chancery, on the recommendation of Counselor J. H. VanWinkle of this city. Although Lawyer Murphy was admitted to the bar only last week, he has already moved into the law offices formerly occupied by Lawyer Harry C. Runyon, and will commence business Monday.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c

FREE SILVER WANTED

Special Call to the Democracy of the Country.

Statement Read Setting Forth Their Plan To Lessen the Burden of Debts, and To Help the People Who Are in Financial Bondage. How It Will Be in 1896.

Washington, March 2.—Representative Bryan, of Nebraska, abandoned at a late hour yesterday his intention of securing a conference of the free silver representatives and senators with a view to issuing a call to the democrats of the country laying down the proposition that a majority of the democrats favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver and calling upon this majority to take control of the party organization. He decided, instead, to circulate the call among such of the house democrats as favor the free coinage of silver, with a view to securing their indorsement. About twenty gentlemen had signed at the hour of adjournment.

Populist Not in It.

These were representatives of fifteen states, Mr. Bryan's purpose being to widen interest in the call as much as possible. A number of democrats declined to sign for one reason or another, but Mr. Bryan believes that in the end a very considerable number will affix their signatures to the paper. A copy of the call will be also circulated in the senate to-day. It is presented only to democrats, and not to populists or to free silver republicans.

Important to Democrats.

The call is addressed "To the democrats of the United States," and reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned democrats, present for your consideration the following statement:

"We believe that the establishment of gold as the only monetary standard and the elimination of silver as a full legal tender money will increase the purchasing power of each dollar, and to the burden of all debts, decrease the market value of all other forms of property, continue and intensify business depression, and, finally, reduce the majority of the people to financial bondage.

Greenbacks Not Mentioned.

"We believe that no party can hope for enduring success in the United States so long as it advocates a single gold standard and that the advocacy of such a financial policy would be especially fatal to a party, which, like the democratic party, derives its voting strength from those who may, without reproach, be called the common people; and we point to the overwhelming defeat of the party in 1894, to the opposition aroused by the veto of the seigniorage bill and to the still more unanimous protest against the issue of gold bonds, as proof that the democratic party cannot be brought to the support of the gold standard policy.

"We believe that the money question will be the paramount issue in 1896 and will so remain until it is settled by the intelligence and patriotism of the American voters.

Asking Editorial Aid.

"We believe that a large majority of the democrats of the United States favor bi-metallism and realize that it can only be secured by the restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present ratio and we assert that the majority have, and should exercise, the right to control the policy of the party and retain the party name.

"We urge all democrats who favor the financial policy above set forth to associate themselves together and impress their views upon the party organization; we urge all newspapers in harmony with the above financial policy to place it at the head of the editorial column and assist in the immediate restoration of bi-metallism."

Killed at a Crossing.

Meriden, Conn., March 2.—Coroner Mix, of New Haven county, was here yesterday investigating the killing of Miss Eva Spencer Thursday night by a train on the Consolidated road. While it will never be known who was really to blame for the accident, the coroner says he feels that the railroad people are responsible for not having a gateman at the crossing at night. He will direct that the railroad company put one on there at once.

Moonshiners Captured.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 2.—United States Revenue Agent Brooks, of New York, and Special Gauger Smith raided an illicit still at 443 Driggs avenue, Williamsburg yesterday. They found the still in active operation and arrested two men. One man escaped through a trap door. The still had a capacity of five barrels a day. The officers confiscated two tubs of mash, a still, a heater, worms and 150 gallons of high proof spirits.

Must Die in the Chair.

New York, March 2.—Justice Williams yesterday sentenced Teufil Tuszkwitz, a Russian, who murdered his former partner, to be executed during the week beginning April 22. The prisoner told the court he did not wish a new trial, even if it was granted, as the sentence might be imprisonment for life.

A Switchman Killed.

Buffalo, March 2.—Arthur Russ, 23 years old, a switchman in the yards of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, was run over by a locomotive and instantly killed early yesterday morning. He had been married only a few days.

Sash and Planing Mill Burned.

Fargus Falls, Minn., March 2.—A fire in the central part of the business section of this town yesterday, caused a loss of $10,000. The insurance was about half that amount. The collier sash and planing mill was burned.

They Will Work Full Time.

Putnam, Conn., March 2.—The Dady & Prentice Silk company announced yesterday that their mill would be run on full time after Monday, March 4. The mill has not been running more than half time for several months.

CHINESE ROUTED.

Battle with Japanese Fought Near Ta-Ping-Shan.

London, March 2.—A Central News dispatch from Tokio, under the date of Feb. 27, says:

"A battle was fought near Ta-Ping-Shan on Feb. 24 in which the Chinese suffered a severe defeat.

"Field Marshal Oyama reports that 'in the afternoon a force of about 13,000 of the enemy, with twenty guns, began an attack from Peinaitaz, Tonchahotz and Faoyamaim. After a heavy cannonade, we attacked their centre at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and repulsed them, driving them toward Kingcow. Our loss was twenty killed and 250 wounded, including seven officers. The enemy lost 200 killed. The numbers of their wounded is unknown. The natives state that the Chinese came in full force, 20,000 strong, led by Gens. Sung, Ma, Shang and Chang Sung.'"

A dispatch from Chee-Foo says that all is quiet there. The Red Cross hospital there is full to overflowing with sick and wounded, and Dr. Douthwaite is working incessantly to relieve them.

Five thousand Chinese soldiers, laden with loot, have passed Chee-Foo, fleeing from the Japanese. The Chinese inhabitants of Ningbai are welcoming the Japanese. No males are allowed to leave that city.

BLUE FRONT ATHLETIC CLUB.

Boxing Entertainment Stopped by the Police.

New York, March 2.—A special boxing entertainment was given at Wood's hall, Jersey City, last night under the auspices of the Blue Front Athletic club. The entertainment started with a friendly three-round bout between Bob Wilson, of the Lenox Athletic club and Charley Roden, of the Scottish-American Athletic club. The men were well matched and made a good showing. Three special bouts followed.

The first was a six-round contest at 115 pounds between Willie Thayer, of the Scottish-American Athletic club and Fred Cooper, of the Emerald Athletic club. It was stopped by the police in the fifth round. Thayer had the advantage of Cooper in both heighth and reach. After two minutes of fighting Thayer landed a right-hander that staggered Cooper and the police stopped the bout. Thayer was given the decision.

IT MADE HIM WINK.

Told To Point the Gun at Him—Now Cold in Death.

Columbus, O., March 2.—At Wilmington, O., while Homer Hinshaw and Robert Holladay, schoolmates aged 14, were playing with a thirty-eight-calibre revolver which they thought was not loaded, the former told his companion to point the gun at him and snap it and see if it would make him wink. This was done and the ball entered just above the right eye, resulting in death.

Miss Moot Co-respondent.

Buffalo, March 2.—In supreme court yesterday Judge Green made an order to serve upon Harry W. Gardner of Chicago, by publication, the summons and complaint in an action brought against him by his wife for absolute divorce. The couple were married here about five years ago, the bride being only 16 years of age. Gardner is a traveling salesman for a Chicago house. The wife charges her husband with infidelity, the co-respondent being Miss Isabella Moot of Boston.

Fell Through Broken Ice.

Morristown, N. J., March 2.—Frank Meeker, 7 years old, was drowned yesterday while playing on the rotten ice on Rosevere's Water street pond, this city. Meeker, Harry Hudson and Frank Valentine broke through the rotton ice, when their screams were heard by John McCormick, a neighbor. He jumped into the water and rescued Valentine and Hudson, but was unable to save Meeker. Hudson was unconscious, and it is thought that he will die of pneumonia.

He's Looking for Blood.

Ardmore, I. T., March 2.—The two brothers of Ivision Keel, who died last week from a bullet wound received in an encounter two months ago with United States marshals, came to town last night, determined to avenge his death. A posse of officers was sent to arrest them and firing began on both sides. Guy was shot in the head and Ellis is still in town looking for revenge. The streets are being patrolled by officers.

To Jail for Life.

Chicago, March 2.—Edmund Jordan, the murderer of Alfred Barnes, janitor of the Hiawatha flats, was adjudged guilty last night and the punishment fixed at imprisonment for life. The jury acquitted John B. Jersey and found Anna Mahoney guilty of being an accessory after the fact, leaving her punishment to be determined by the court.

Three Killed; Many Injured.

New York, March 2.—A building in course of erection at 151 Orchard street collapsed yesterday, burying about fifty men beneath a mass of stone and brick. Three killed outright, the number of injured yet unknown. The contractors were arrested and arranged in court, but may be liberated on a bail bond.

Smallpox Epidemic.

Little Rock, Ark., March 2.—There are forty-two cases of smallpox at Hot Springs and six at Malvern. A house-to-house vaccination is being made in both towns, and everything is undergoing rigid disinfection and fumigation.

Prominent New Yorker Dead.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 2.—Leonard Scott, founder of the Leonard Scott Publishing company of New York, died here last night of chronic bronchitis, aged 85 years. The remains will be forwarded to New York to-day.

Strike of Glass Workers.

Hartford City, Ind., March 2.—The refusal of the Sneath Glass works to pay union wages to blowers resulted yesterday in a strike of 200 men.

Money for Officers and Crew.

Havre, March 2.—The French line will make presents of money to La Gascogne's officers and crew.

M'CAFFERY'S MILLIONS

A Deserted Wife of the Millionaire Found at Last.

Located in New York and Employed as a Housekeeper—She at First Refused To Give Her History—Meets Her Children After Forty-Eight Years—Heirs by Two Other Wives.

Washington, March 2.—The story which has been floating round in the newspapers for some weeks, that a deserted first wife of John McCaffery, the dead millionaire, of Chicago, had been found, is now confirmed.

Those interested in the matter still suppress some of the details and assert that the facts in relation to the case are exaggerated in western dispatches, especially in regard to the extent of the pecuniary interests involved.

Mr. Charles F. T. Beale, an attorney of west Washington (formerly known as Georgetown), made the discovery that Mrs. McCaffery, the mother of the five children referred to in John McCaffery's will, was living. He found her in New York where she was employed as a housekeeper.

Thought of Her Children.

At first she refused to say anything about her past life, the treatment received from her late husband still rankling in her mind, and his desertion of her being still unforgiven. She wanted, however, to hear of her children, three of whom had been found, leaving two still unheard of.

Two daughters—one 50 and the other 52 years of age—and one son, were brought over to Georgetown, and on Tuesday last their mother met them there for the first time in forty-eight years, and the occasion was made one of great rejoicing. The recognition was mutual and complete. The resemblance between the daughters and the mother is very great.

The reunited family will probably remain here until the two missing children are found.

Deserted Her in New York.

McCaffery deserted his wife in New York a few years after he came to this country from Ireland. He went west, but left his children in this city, where they received a good education, but never saw their father after he went away. Two of the girls married, while the boys drifted around to hunt their fortunes.

Another girl, Nancy, who, when the family came to America, from Ireland, was left in that country on account of sickness, came over after McCaffery's desertion of her mother. Mrs. McCaffery never knew that this daughter had left Ireland until a short time ago. It is thought that she is married and living in Kansas City.

The youngest daughter married a Mr. Shipley and is living in Maryland, and the other married a Mr. Austin, and resides in Pennsylvania.

One of the sons has been located and brought here, but the whereabouts of the other is unknown. He is supposed to have enlisted in the army and gone west.

How He Became Rich.

McCaffery seems to have been several times married. His second wife died a few years ago at Alexandria. Going west, McCaffery took up his abode at Chicago and grew up with the city.

He amassed money in grain speculation and married a third time. His wealth accumulated during his stay of nearly a quarter of a century in the western metropolis and passed the million mark. Upon his death, a year ago, it was discovered for the first time that he had children by three different wives. His first wife, he thought, was dead, but, by the terms of his will, five years were allowed to hunt up the children of his first wife.

Tried To Buncoe Farmers.

Norwich, Conn., March 2.—A stranger giving the name of Hotchkiss, claiming to represent the Brighton market of Boston, visited Preston this week, to purchase cattle and contracted for $2,300 worth of live stock. The farmer with whom he boarded became suspicious of him, and said he would telegraph to Boston to inquire concerning Hotchkiss' credit and character. He expressed his willingness to have the inquiry made, but he disappeared, and has not been since heard of. The farmers narrowly escaped being buncoed out of their stock.

The Trouble in Havana.

Havanna, March 2.—The governor of Pinar del Rio made a raid on an insurgent resort near the provincial capital yesterday and captured twenty rifles and 12,000 cartridges. Antonio Carbelo was captured by troops at Yaguaraniso. He was carrying arms and displayed revolutionary emblems. As he refused to surrender he was shot dead.

He's Going Fishing.

Washington, March 2.—The indications are that the president expects to go to North Carolina on a fishing and ducking trip shortly after the adjournment of congress. The lighthouse tender Violet, upon which his earlier trips were made, has been ordered to leave Baltimore to-day and come to this city where she should arrive Monday.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

MARCH, APRIL, MAY

Paine's Celery Compound Makes People Well!

It Makes Strong Nerves and Pure Blood; It Cures Disease!

It is the One Remedy That all Schools of Physicians Prescribe

The Demand for It is Tremendous; It Never Fails to Benefit.

Nothing Was Ever So Highly and Widely Recommended.

First Prescribed by America's Greatest Physician.

It Has Become a Blessing to the Entire Country.

Men and Women in the Highest Stations Publicly Recommend It.

Grateful People Everywhere Heartfully Endorse the Famous Remedy.

It makes people well!

It builds up the weakened, shattered nerves; it sends new life and blood through the arteries.

Where everything else has failed Paine's celery compound—the greatest achievement of that giant among men, the ablest physician of this generation, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth—this wonderful Paine's celery compound has in thousands of cases cured disease.

It has freed old age from many of its infirmities. It has made thousands of lives worth living that were once a burden. It has proven itself so easily the greatest of all spring remedies, making the weak strong and the infirm well, that in the big cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis and the rest, the leading newspapers, making their own canvasses, have found that the demand for Paine's celery compound is enormous, as far surpassing that of any other remedy as the curative power of this great compound does indisputably surpass that of any other.

For Paine's celery compound is not a patent medicine. It is not an ordinary tonic, sarsaparilla or nervine. It is so superior to them all that they are not even good imitators.

Paine's celery compound positively and permanently cures nervous debility and exhaustion. Neuralgia, sleeplessness, melancholia, hysteria and headaches yield to its refreshing properties—all these troubles are directly traceable to the one cause, poorness of the blood and poorness of the nervous tissues.

For kidney troubles it is the most infallible of remedies. It owes its unfailing power to check at once the progress of this breakdown among the tissues of the kidneys to its remarkable nutritive efficiency.

Just as soon as Paine's celery compound begins its strengthening work there is at once a rallying of all the important organs of the body. The appetite improves, the spirits become more hopeful, the dull pains of disease lessen, sound, refreshing sleep returns, "that tired, worn-out feeling" departs, and the sufferer knows, without being told by a physician, that he or she is getting well.

The season of March, April and May—the springtime, when if one can do so he must recuperate his lost strength and get back the health that nature intended for him—that season is here. It behooves every man, woman and youth now to get well. And Paine's celery compound makes people well.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices.

BEE HIVE

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½

Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.

Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.

We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,

222 West Front st

GEO. J. TOBIN,

187 North avenue.

Practical Plumber

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer

TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

Mrs. L. Adams,

111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank, is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.

BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET.

(Estate D. L. Smalley.)

94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.

GEO. EGEL, Manager.

We sell only first-class goods, at low prices for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 19 t

HENRY C. ADAMS.

INSURANCE.

Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 213 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

R. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 8084, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Lunger, Fin. Sec. 9 28 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 10 East Front stree

G. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. G. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

$500 DOWN

Buys One of Those New Houses

on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

MRS. L. COLES,

FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,

Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st

Taylor's French System

used. Suits $6.00 and upward.

2 2 tf

H. DeMOTT,

With livery attached,
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,
176 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 92 y

J. W. VAN SICKLE,

Dealer in all kinds of

Fresh and Salt Meats

GAME IN SEASON.

New No. 122., North Ave., Plainfield.

Telephone 148 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS

Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc., in bunches, bouquets or design.

MILES,

Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 2 17 tf

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL and WOOD,

YARD—No. 226 Madison Avenue. Also office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle 145 North Avenue.

A JURIST TESTIFIES.

Unimpeachable Evidence from a Brooklyn Official.

Munyon Relieved Him, Cured Him of Rheumatism in a Few Hours.

Judge Nue, whose popularity in Brooklyn was demonstrated by the immense majorities by which he was elected, and a gentleman of unimpeachable character, in speaking of Prof. Munyon, says: "I consider Munyon's Rheumatism Cure the best in the world. When I began to use his remedy I was unable to walk without the aid of crutches at times: this had been going on for nine years, and the day before I began using it I could not get up the steps to the Court room. After taking a few doses I was immediately relieved, and in three days was completely cured."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatics, lumbago or pain in the back are speedily cured.

Munyon's Homoeopathic Home Remedy Co. of Philadelphia put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25c. a bottle.

Those who are in doubt as to the nature of their disease should address Professor Munyon, 1505 Arch st., Philadelphia, giving full symptoms of their disease. Professor Munyon will carefully diagnose the case and give you the benefit of his advice absolutely free of all charge. The Remedies will be sent to any address on receipt of retail price.

ELY'S
Cream Balm CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

Is quickly absorbed. Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation. Heals the Sores, Protects the Membrane from Additional Cold. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.

IT WILL CURE. A particle is applied into each nostril and is a greeable. Price 50c. at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren st., New York.

Something

That gives you light at light prices are the Lamps which we have on sale this week—the largest and best assortment in the city. We quote only a few of the many specials for this week.

Hand lamp, complete	10c
Bracket " "	12c
Hall lamp complete	97c
Hanging lamp, complete	$1.98

Specials

Glass butter dishes	9c
Shoe brushes	17c
Scrubbing brushes	5c
Roll toilet paper	5c
Ammonia, best	5c
Fancy cuspidores	23c

Silk Waists

We intend to make this line of goods a specialty this spring and summer and will have the prettiest line in the city.

A $6 changeable Taffeta silk waist, latest spring style, $4.75.

Fancy China silk waists, all sizes, $3.49.

Spring Capes

This weather compels you to wear a cape, just what we have a large assortment of at low prices.

A changeable velvet cape $8, worth $9.50.

A Faille Silk cape, silk lined $8.75 worth $10.

A Faille Silk cape silk lined $11.50, worth $13.50.

Broad cloth capes in blue and tan, $4.50, worth $6.

Broad cloth capes in black only $2.50, worth $3.25.

Just received a very pretty line of satin skirts, latest organ pipe back, $7.95.

Dress Goods

On the tip end of every lady's tongue. What? Why, they all say what a pretty line of spring dress goods Boehm has. How can they help it? Our dress goods department will surpass any in the city. We intend to be the leaders of low prices if we are compelled to give them away. A broad assertion, but nevertheless it is true. You are welcome at any time to examine our goods and be convinced that we are the leaders.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

ADVERTISED LETTERS,

February 25, 1895.

Allen Hannah	McDaland Mrs
Bowles Mrs F	Morris Mary
Bartee Laura	Mulligan Ellen
Borchert Mr	Nelson Oscer
Connell James	Nessler Lewis
Courooiseer Mrs E	Obubeck A
Cairns Mrs K	O'Rourke Kate
Duping Mrs G	Paise Alice
Demarest Philip	Ross D H
Edgar Irene	Runyon Jno M
Erikson Jenny	Stroble Willard
Emery S A	Staples S C
France Master J	Smith W
Gregory E W	Simmons Peter
Helon Mrs A D	Simmons Mary E
Haskin Ishm	Schmidt John
Heim Eugen	Stone Mr and Mrs
Hall Mrs Nancy	Shipton Jas D
Hampton Mrs Mary	Sutton George
Harris Mrs Sue	Smith George
Johns S E	Swartz A T
Kohler Fred	Trowbridge Maud
Lanigan Jas	Vandehoof E A
Little Mrs J K	Wright F L
Mumford A	Washington Jennie
McManus Mrs	Wright W W
Young Thomas

INDIRECT MURDERERS

What Brooklyn's Trolleys May Be Considered.

Three Hurt Yesterday—Citizens Talk of Holding Indignation Meetings. President Lewis Says the Children Are To Blame—They Must Be Kept Off the Street.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 2.—Day after day that juggernaut the Brooklyn trolley continues its destruction of human life. Yesterday no immediate deaths were reported, but several serious accidents occurred.

William Box, of 592 Quincy street, while crossing Fulton street, near Throop avenue, was struck by trolley No. 142 going uptown, and sustained a fracture of the skull.

Thomas Feistler, of 421 Jerome avenue, and Leon Morgan, of Williams avenue and News Lots road, were thrown from a wagon in a collision with a Broadway trolley car. Feistler's leg was broken and his companion was badly cut.

Try Homan's Safety.

The feeling in this city is growing in intensity, and it is not unlikely that the grand jury will take an active part before long. Mayor Schieren conferred with several members of the railroad committee of the board of aldermen, to urge the common council to adopt an ordinance regulating the speed of trolley cars, and compelling companies to equip them with life-saving devices. There is talk of an indignation meeting of citizens to try and stop further slaughter of school children. During February 488 accidents were reported.

When President Lewis, of the Brooklyn Heights Railroad company, was asked if he proposed to do anything to prevent the terrible and constantly increasing slaughter, he replied:

Does He Lie?

"I might answer that by asking what the people propose to do to prevent it? I regret these accidents as much as anybody, but we cannot do anything unless we have the co-operation of the people.

"Most of the accidents occur to children. Now, in some European cities where they have gone through the experiences that we are having here, regulations have been made requiring the children to keep off the streets where the tracks are. The police see that the law is enforced and children are compelled to play on the side streets. If we had such a law here I think it would prevent a great many accidents.

Of Course We Do.

"When you look at it we have not had so very many accidents. During 1894 we carried 100,000,000 people and yet we killed only eight people. It is true that during the first year after electricity was introduced a great many people were killed, but the number has been constantly decreasing since."

"Do you think that the accidents are due to the fact that the cars are being run at too high a rate of speed?"

"I do not. The cars are not run too fast, except in rare instances. A motorman who runs his car too fast should be arrested and punished. The too high rate of speed is responsible for only a very few of the accidents. But the great thing is to keep the children off the streets."

Parkhurst an Instrument of God.

Washington, March 2.—Elizabeth B. Grannis, of New York, spoke at the Womens' convention on the "Non-application of religion to morals," premising her speech with a eulogy upon the work of Dr. Parkhurst, who the speaker said "has been without doubt an instrument raised up of God for the special work to which he has been called." The tenor of the paper read by Mrs. Grannis was fervidly in favor of women taking primary action in the adjustment of municipal matters and evincing their sense of the responsibilities that rest upon them in their duties at the ballot box.

Women Laugh at Breckinridge.

Washington, March 2.—At yesterday's session of the National Council of Women, Miss Blackwell, a daughter of Lucy Stone, told her audience that, some years ago, forty members of congress were asked to give their opinion of woman suffrage, and Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, answered that he was opposed to woman suffrage because it would effect the present relations between husband and wife. (Great laughter and loud applause).

Hundreds See the Prisoner.

Fredericksburg, Va., March 2.—Morgan and Searcy, the Aquia Creek train robbers, were brought here yesterday and again lodged in jail. Morgan's wonderful nerve has not deserted him. Several hundred persons were at the depot to see the prisoners. Morgan was taken to the jail in the ambulance but Searcy walked along unconcernedly handcuffed to Detective Hinde.

Raised the Beacon Light.

Newport, R. I., March 2.—United States engineers made another trip to Point Judith yesterday and have now raised the beacon on the breakwater now building, to fifteen feet above mean high water, thus making it more serviceable in warning vessels of the obstruction in heavy weather.

The Fire in Norfolk.

Norfolk, Neb., March 2.—The Runo hotel was completely wrecked inside by fire and water last night, as is also the cigar factory of Maupin & Wagner, next door. The loss cannot be estimated, but will be heavy. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Lawyer To Be Cremated.

Westfield, N. Y., March 2.—Brandor Keys, a prominent Philadelphia lawyer, died here yesterday after an illness of about five years. He died from the effects of the grip. His body will be sent to Buffalo for cremation.

Theatre Burned.

Glasgow, March 2.—The theatre Royal, in this city, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning March 3. Comment by Rev. Walter J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Burnt Offering.

BIBLE READINGS.—Lev. i, 1-9; Rom. xii, 1.

In the open court before the "tent of meeting" which contained the most sacred furnishings of the tabernacle stood the brazen altar for burnt offerings. It was made hollow, of boards, and covered with plates of brass. A grating on the top served to receive the wood and the sacrifices. The interior of the altar may have been filled with earth or stones. Of this, however, nothing is said in the Bible.

The burnt offering was to be a bullock, a male sheep or goat, or a turtle dove or young pigeon. No part of this offering was to be eaten either by the priests or the one making the sacrifice, but all was to be burned on the altar. The fire was to be kept perpetually burning on the altar.

The burnt offering represented perfect self surrender to God. Its import is summed up in Paul's exhortation, "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

Thoroughly Equipped.

Education does not stifle zeal. God places no premium on ignorance. Intelligent piety is not less but more effective than ignorant devotion. Ignorance is never the mother of devotion. Her offspring is a brood of superstitions and bigotry, if not hypocrisy. The Holy Scriptures themselves are "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." The more one knows the better he can be and more useful.

Bishop James N. Fitzgerald.

Bishop James N. Fitzgerald is the president of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church. He is eminently fitted for this position. He is progressive in thought, energetic in action, safe in counsel and has the affection and confidence not only of the young people of the church, but also of the older and more conservative elements. His official residence is New Orleans. His duties as bishop call him to all parts of the United States and even to foreign countries. Bishop Fitzgerald is about 58 years of age and is a native of Newark, N. J. He studied at Princeton and chose the law as his calling, but on his conversion abandoned the court for the pulpit.

BISHOP FITZGERALD.

That Great University.

The American university at Washington bids fair to be one of the great institutions of this great country in the next century. Its plans are broad enough to make it truly national in character. Its location is strategic in the Capital City, with its unequaled education facilities afforded by the many collections in museums, libraries and governmental departments. The grounds are superb in situation and ample in extent. A special gift provides for their gardening, to be begun next May. The endowment grows steadily, and funds are being received for buildings. The scheme is a magnificent one. Grand men are in control of the enterprise, which will not be restricted in operations to denominational lines. Bishop John F. Hurst, the resident bishop at Washington, is the chancellor.

Cheerfulness.

'Tis well to work with a cheerful heart
Wherever our fortunes call,
With a friendly glance and an open hand
And a gentle word for all.
Since life is a thorny and difficult path,
Where toil is the portion of man,
We all should endeavor while passing along
To make it as smooth as we can.

New Life In the East.

Whatever one may think of the restoration of the Jews to Palestine, one thing is certain, new life is being infused into the old land, and prosperity such as has not been seen for ages seems dawning. Jerusalem is fast outgrowing its old limits. A new quarter in the western suburb has arisen in the last few years. Every available piece of land is rapidly being bought up. Trade is increasing, and last year a public garden was opened outside the Jaffa gate. Two boats on the Dead sea are employed in gathering bitumen. It is proposed by steam launch and barges to bring produce from Moab by a shorter route to Jerusalem. The railroad from Jaffa to Jerusalem is also working wondrous changes in thought and style of doing things in this ancient land.

Missionary Enthusiasm.

Open doors stand invitingly on every side. Activity such as the world never before saw is pushing the borders of Christ's kingdom far into the borders of heathenism. Not to be thrilled at the stories of heroism coming up from every land is to show oneself either ignorant of the most important movements of the times or indifferent to the condition of one's brethren in distress. The regular church papers, special periodicals devoted to various fields and departments, the secular press and even the reports of United States consuls teem with information.

Reflex Influence of Missions.

The evangelization of a heathen people will do more to start the wheels of industry than all possible tariff legislation. One New England firm has sold more agricultural implements in South Africa since the Christianizing of the native tribes than are sufficient to pay the whole expense of the missions from the beginning.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 3. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Spiritual death and spiritual life.—Rev. iii, 1-3, 7-13, 20-22.

Spiritual death and spiritual life are actually represented in the references from God's word to illustrate the topic. The importance of the topic as well as its solemnity can be clearly seen. Spiritual death! What a solemn thought that there can be such a thing; that the soul may die to the duties it owes to God and to the blessings that it receives from God in Christ! Spiritual life! What a joyous, happy thought that the soul may live in vital connection with Jesus Christ, as the branch to the vine, and may receive life from Him. Spiritual death should be earnestly shunned, while spiritual life should be anxiously desired and sought.

1. Spiritual death (Rev. iii, 1-3). Death is here represented in the church of Sardis. "Thou hast a name to live, but thou art dead." Sardis was one of the churches that received unmixed reproof. It received no praise at all. It was spiritually dead. It had not always been so, for Christ reminds it of a better condition in times past. Nor was it necessary at this time. Spiritual death in church or individual is a sad condition. It is unnecessary, unnatural, is dishonoring to Christ and to ourselves, and a stumbling block in the way of many who might by a better example be led to a better life. But there is pointed out in connection with Sardis the things that may be done to bring us back again to a state of life. 1. Be watchful. Guard carefully against continuing further into the state of deadness. 2. Strengthen the things which remain. All was not hopeless. Some even in Sardis had not succumbed to the general spiritual apathy, and some works were not entirely dead. These men to be strengthened and others would rise around them. 3. Remember the past. Recall better days that you may earnestly covet them again. 4. Repent. Turn from evil. Turn back to God. But Sardis disregarded these injunctions, and her candlestick was removed. Let us be warned by her fate against her example.

2. Spiritual life (Rev. iii, 7-13). This is exhibited in the church of Philadelphia. We know less of the church of Philadelphia than some of the other seven, and yet we love it. It was alive. It did its duty faithfully and well. Christ had no reproof for it at all. It had strength. It was trusty. It had been faithful. It had not denied the name of Christ. It had trouble with those who claimed to be Jews, and yet were not, but it had been patient and loyal to Christ. It was abundantly rewarded. Its enemies were to be humiliated before them. It was to be kept in time of temptation, and these promises were crowned by one of the noblest pledges to him that overcometh in verse 12. These are the characteristics of spiritual life, ecclesiastical or personal, and some of their rewards. They are open to all and free to all. No one need be spiritually dead. Life is offered to all. "Behold I stand at the door and knock, and if any man hear My voice and open the door I will come in and sup with him, and he with Me" (verse 20). If we let Christ in the church or heart, we may have life. To exclude Him means spiritual death.

Bible Readings.—Isa. ix, 2; Math. vii, 21-23; John vi, 53, 54; Rom. v, 14-19; viii, 6, 7; Gal. ii, 20; Eph. ii, 1-5; iv, 17, 18; v, 14; Col. ii, 13; iii, 3, 4.

The Christian's Hope.

The imagination will sometimes fly up to God with such a power that eagle's wings cannot match it. It sometimes has such might that it can almost see the King in His beauty and the land which is very far off. But if it is potent one way it is another, for imagination has taken us down to the lowest planes of earth. But I rejoice and think of one thing—that I can cry out when this imagination comes upon me. So it is with the Christian. If he cries out, there is hope. Can you chain your imagination? No, but the power of the Holy Ghost can.—Christian Work.

The Endeavor Spirit.

A degree of importance is to be attached to Endeavor methods. The plans under which Endeavor work is conducted are not all equally wise and efficient. Some effort should be made to become acquainted with and to adopt the best methods. But more important than this, more essential to success, is the possession of the Endeavor spirit. If we are animated by the affections and motives of the true Endeavorer, the ordinary methods will be invested with great efficiency, and a great work will be accomplished.—National Presbyterian.

The Growth of Christian Endeavor.

The new year begins with more than 37,000 Christian Endeavor societies, representing not far from 2,225,000 members.—John Willis Baer.

Thy Way, Not Mine.

Thy way, not mine, O Lord!
However dark it be!
Lead me by Thine own hand,
Choose out the path for me.

Smooth let it be or rough.
It will be still the best.
Winding or straight, it leads Right onward to Thy rest.

I dare not choose my lot.
I would not if I might.
Choose Thou for me, my God.
So shall I walk aright.

The kingdom that I see
Is Thine; so let the way
That leads to it be Thine,
Else I must surely stray.

Take Thou my cup and it
With joy or sorrow fill
As best to Thee may seem.
Choose Thou my good and ill.

Choose Thou for me my friends,
My sickness or my health;
Choose Thou my cares for me,
My poverty or wealth.

Not mine, not mine, the choice
In things or great or small.
Be Thou my guide, my strength,
My wisdom and my all!

—H. Bonar.

An agreeable Laxative and NERVE TONIC. Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per package. Samples free.

KO NO The Favorite TOOTH POWDER for the Teeth and Breath, 25c.

Captain Sweeney, U.S.A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cts. Sold by Druggists.

SHILOH'S CURE.

THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures when all others fail. For Consumption it has no rival; has cured thousands, and will CURE YOU, if taken in time. Price 25 cts., 50 cts., & $1.00.

Sold by all druggists.

814y

Selling Off Regardless of Cost
TO CLOSE BUSINESS.

Store and Dwelling to let.

Everything must be sold. Counters, cases, millinery goods at half price, ladies' underwear, infant's wear, velvet ribbons, large double heater, large mahogany desk and bookcase combined, claw feet, and a number of books. Everything selling low. MRS. T. J. GILLIES, 115 Madison ave

1 23 1m

Prof. A. Wehner,

TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.

ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipzic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.

References given and required.

Address letters to the office of this paper.

1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new

SPALDING

FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new

'95 Spalding Cyclometer

FREE.

W. H. ROGERS,

408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.

Tonsorial Parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty. 10 13 1

The Perfect Writing Paster.

Sold by

DAVID T. KENNEY,

Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.

196 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR SPOONS.

COLLIER'S,

103 PARK AVENUE.

ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S

MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,

SOMERSET STREET.

OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING TYPEWRITER

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.

It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.

It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.

These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.

The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.

Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,

307 Broadway, New York.

1 5 6m

FIFTY-EIGHT.

You don'd could always sometimes told
Of ven dem vinds vas awful cold,
Dhere von't some icicles been found
Dot furnaces and shtoves around—
Oxcept vhen quick dem coals vas short
You dit der bestest kind gebought
Von Geo. O. Stevens, him dot's known
By 58 dot delephone.

(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Timpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort
[Hygeia Hotel]
Or Virginia Beach, Va.
[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $16 Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE of meals and berths enroute, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,

Pier 26, North River, New York.

W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

In the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey pork and poultry a specialty.

203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles.

411 Park Avenue,

Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES

From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little booklet "Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning men's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,

175 North ave.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 2, 1895

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. James Hallock of East Ninth street is ill.

Miss Bertha Clum of Leland avenue is visiting friends in Clifton.

Rev. and Mrs. Jacob Cramer are guests of Wallace Hall of Rockview avenue.

Mrs. Wesley Servis of West Front street moved yesterday to Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hyler of West Front street are visiting at Three Bridges.

John Henry and family of Johnston avenue moved yesterday to 520 East Front street.

Thomas Hendry of East Third street moved yesterday to 721 South avenue, Netherwood.

Miss E. F. Baker of New York city is the guest of Mrs. William Palmer Smith of Belvidere avenue.

C. W. Bolby of Netherwood avenue will soon move to Clinton where he will open a piano and music store.

Miss Karline Ashbridge of Philadelphia is visiting her friend, Miss Marguerite Yerkes of Central avenue.

Mrs. E. D. McCarthy of Park avenue left yesterday for Raleigh, N. C., where she will remain until May 1.

The aged mother of Freeholder John H. Tier is hopelessly ill at the home of her son, Washington Tier, Rahway.

Mrs. A. D. Drayton and family spent yesterday at the birthday anniversary of an octogenarian uncle in Middlebush.

John Bremer of Greenbrook road has been re-engaged by the Somerville Woolen Mills. Mr. Bremer is an experienced mechanic.

C. L. Wright of Leland avenue, who has been ill with the grip, has so far recovered that he is able to commute regularly to New York city.

Mrs. Louise Worthington and daughter Miss Laura, of this city, left yesterday for Charleston, S. C, where they will remain two months.

Miss Florence Honegger, who has been spending the past month with friends in this city, has returned to her home in New Brighton, S. I.

Mrs. N. P. T. Finch of Belvidere avenue left today for Peekskill, where she will be the guest of her daughter, who is a student in St. Gabriel School.

Frank H. Fowles of Helena, Montana, who has been spending a few days with Benj. R. Western of Washington Park, was delighted with Plainfield.

The marriage will take place next Tuesday evening at 7:30 of Miss Emma Pullen to John Andrews, at the home of the bride, Fourth and Liberty streets.

The body of the late Wm. Whitenack of Basking Ridge was laid at rest Thursday, Rev. Drs. Rankin and Randolph officiating. He was uncle of Charles and John Willis of Johnston drive.

Miss Helen A. White, who has been spending the past month at the Hygeia Hotel, Old Point Comfort, Virginia, returned to her home on Belvidere avenue, Netherwood, yesterday.

Miss Alice Coard has returned from a visit at Albany, and is now confined to her home on East Ninth street with an attack of the grip. Her mother, Mrs. J. J. Coard, is also quite ill with the grip.

A LEMON BUFF ROOSTER AND HENS.

$1,000 Has Been Refused for the Peerless America and His Mates.

In a large cage near the center of Madison Square Garden what is probably the highest priced rooster in America strutted about during the Poultry Show as if aware of the fact that bipeds of his style come high. America is his name, and with him were six hens of the same breed and fine coloring. These birds are the property of Adams, Purdue & Young, and they were raised by Mr. Newton Adams at his farm near Utica, N. Y. America is a lemon buff colored cochin, and to obtain this particular purity of shading brings a feeling to the fancier very much like the satisfaction a potter feels when a perfect peachblow vase is produced.

America was sired by Wonder, a bird that took first prize at the last Poultry Show as a cock, and first prize the year previous as a cockerel, and whose get are said to be better birds in every way than their sire. The particular breed is known in England as the Mrs. Harris strain. The characteristic mark is the extreme length of feather all over the body, as well as the heavy foot feathers. Mr. George Purdue, one of the owners of America and sisters, said that Mr. Adams experimented a long time before he was able to produce their particular shade of color and still retain the proper form. The birds were merely on exhibition, and they are not for sale, although $1,000 has been offered for the lot.

The Usual Result.

"How did that strike at Durkee's shop come out, Bill?"

"Why, just like all other strikes."

"How's that?"

"Both sides got the worst of it."

Old Lady—Why are you two men using such frightful language?

Ragson Tatters—Well, lady, me an' me pard has to exchange heated words fur ter keep warm, not havin' no overcoats.—Philadelphia Press.

A False Diagnosis.

La grippe is confounded by many persons with a severe attack of catarrh, which in some respects resembles the former. These individuals suffer severely with pain about the forehead, eyes and ears, with soreness in throat and stoppage of the nasal passages, and in fact, are incapacitated for work of any kind for days at a time These are catarrhal sufferers. Ely's Cream Balm has been used with the best results in such cases. The remedy will give instant relief.

BELIEVE IN DREAMS.

SOME PROMINENT PEOPLE WHO ATTACH IMPORTANCE TO THEM.

Such Airy Nothings Are They Made Of, Few Dreamers Trust to Their Fantasies. Dr. Parkhurst Don't Dream, but Chauncey Depew Does, and Also Mrs. Grannis.

In all climes dreams have been accepted as omens of good or bad fortune, in business, in love or war, and as harbingers of blessings or forewarnings of death and disaster. Nobody has ever satisfactorily explained the cause of dreams. By some they are attributed to overeating just before going to bed; other scientific writers claim that whatever is uppermost in one's mind previous to retiring is invariably the subject of one's dream; and still others emphatically aver that the condition of the blood is the predisposing cause. The writers of the last class declare that their theory is proved by the fact that some people never dream.

Paley describes a dream as "that condition of the human mind when reason loses control and fancy takes the reins." Some very prominent men place credence in dreams, and even the most skeptical will not deny that they have dreamed things that were coincidental with future events.

Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst said that he did not have time to dream; that when he went to bed he endeavored to sleep soundly, and usually was successful.

"In my opinion," said the doctor, "a person with an active brain and possessing good health never dreams. I have never dreamed. I do not attach much importance to them. Although I may be a skeptic on the subject, I will not assert that one ought not to place credence in dreams, for in human life, awake or asleep, there are many strange coincidences."

Sergt. Dunn, the weather prophet, is not an enthusiast regarding dreams, but asserts that at night, while in a state of semi-consciousness, he has solved many problems that baffled him during the day.

"But I do not have those hallucinations that some people claim to have," said he. "I may have had wandering thoughts while asleep, but if they can be called dreams I have always been able to trace the cause to a deranged stomach."

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Grannis, the social reformer, has had many and varied dreams. "When I was a girl about 22 years old," said she, "I dreamed that I, in company with another person, was trying to bring my dead father back to life. We traveled all through Europe in our trials, and really I witnessed scenes of European grandeur that were exact in every particular, although I had never been abroad. When I did go, a few years later, I remembered many places I had seen in my dream. I can say that I am a believer in dreams."

"It is an oft repeated tale," said "Our Chauncey" M. Depew, "that Napoleon, a week before Waterloo, dreamed that he was to meet Wellington, and that in this panorama of sleep the battle was raging at its height, when he suddenly awoke, exclaiming: 'Let us each save ourselves! Grouchy! Grouchy!' A few days later Grouchy's tardiness lost Napoleon the great battle and an empire. That was a remarkable coincidence, and, if true, should be sufficient argument to substantiate all the statements made by dream enthusiasts."—N. Y. Recorder.

FIGHTING INDIANS.

It Takes a Kind of Courage That Men Frequently Lack.

"It takes a special kind of courage to fight Indians," said Major Edward Ragsdale at the "Little Gem," in Topeka. "They're pretty sure to surprise you, and they're slippery as quicksilver and as hard to catch. Their yelling and whooping alone are enough to stampede men not trained to their style of fighting. Sometimes they fight under cover, and you catch a fire from an enemy you can't get a sight of, and again, where there hasn't been one to be seen, they seem all to spring out of the ground at once and charge you as though nothing could stand their onset. Then there's the knowledge that if they catch you alive you'll be skinned alive or burned or your life tortured out of you by slow degrees in a thousand other ways they can think up to make you suffer. There's many a stout hearted desperado, a terror in white settlements, and not afraid to have a pistol or shotgun scrap at any hour of the day or night with a man of his own color, who doesn't count for a row of pins in an Indian fight.

"Take Sam Brown, of Nevada, for a case in point. He was not afraid of any man that wore boots, and he was the terror of the mining camps everywhere he went. The Pinte Indians got bad one time and a party was organized in the camps to go out against them. Sam joined the volunteers, and everybody in the party and all that stayed behind were talking about the big deeds Sam Brown would do, and chuckling to think how those redskins would be wiped out when they run up against him.

"Well, when they came upon the Indians things didn't turn out quite as they had expected. It was the whites that got licked out in short order, and those that weren't left on the ground stampeded for safety. Sam Brown was one of the first ones to run, and the pace he set his horse at to get away from those redskins was something that beat quarter racing in the way of reckless riding. As they stampeded down a canon, every man trying to be foremost to get away, Sam hailed Joe McMurtrie, who was riding a better horse than his:

"'Oh, Mac! Pull your horse a little so I can come up. We'll ride safer together.'

"McMurtrie's answer to that friendly invitation was to bend down to his horse's neck, set in the spurs and get out of that canon ahead of Sam and back to Bodie as fast as hoofs could carry him. He knew Sam Brown, and that if that worthy once got alongside him he wouldn't hesitate to shoot him off his horse, so as to get a better mount for himself. After they all got back to the settlement he didn't go round to places where he was likely to meet Sam, lest it might stir him up to unpleasant recollections of their Indian campaign—people were that considerate of others' feelings in those days when the other happened to be Sam Brown."—Chicago Tribune.

Unkletom—I hear you turned people away in Jayport.

Barnes Tormer—We tried to, but they wouldn't go until they got their money back.—Indianapolis Journal.

"You think you know it all now, don't you?"

"Me? Lord, no! I'm married."—Syracuse Post.

The Danger Signal Monday Night.

In "The Danger Signal", the play to be given for Mr. Sohl's benefit in Music Hall Monday night, a beautiful story of love and duty is depicted. The realistic scenes are in the shape of pictures of the rail, and include a monster locomotive made of steel and iron, made from models furnished by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, a freight train, a cyclone rotary snow plow, and the great effect of an express train 180 feet long, 12 feet high, crossing the stage at the rate of fifty miles an hour.

A SURGEON'S KNIFE.

Recommended by a Philadelphia Specialist—A Simple Remedy Averted an Operation.

Philadelphia, Penn., Item.

A healthier, heartier, happier man than John J. Neill, of 2437 North Eighth street, Philadelphia, could not be found in a day's search. Among those who knew him formerly, the fact that he is still alive is a constant wonder

In the fall of 1889 he began to suffer from stone in the bladder, and his miseries were indescribable. Consulting an eminent physician in Philadelphia, he was told that he would have to submit to a surgical operation. So much did he dread the result, for if unsuccessful it meant death, that he put off the evil day as long as possible. While in this frame of mind, he chanced to see a notice of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Although disheartened with his many futile attempts with medicine, he was induced to make one more trial.

On July 1, 1893, he bought the first bottle of Dr David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and within a month had experienced beneficial results, and before he had finished the third bottle, the gravel was completely dissolved and his suffering at an end.

Mr. Neill feels that he owes a lasting debt of gratitude to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. He never fails to recommend it for disorders of the bladder and urinary organs, and says "it will effect a cure if one be possible!"

The great value of Dr David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy lies in the fact that it dissolves the excess of uric acid in the blood. Many of the ailments people suffer from—for instance, rheumatism, nervousness, dyspepsia, kidney, liver and urinary troubles, and the sickness peculiar to women, all come from this one cause.

Favorite Remedy dissolves this acid and expels it from the system, thus curing the disease. In cases of scrofula, diabetes, Bright's disease and stone in the bladder, it never fails.

—The billiard and pool tournament at the Park Club will close tonight.

—The life of Luther was illustrated with stereopticon views in the German Reformed Church last night.

—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in Trinity Reformed Church tomorrow morning at 10:30.

—A special meeting of Jerusalem Commandery, F. & A. M., was held last night, at which the entered apprentices degree was worked on one candidate.

—Contractor T. J. McGann began this morning the excavating of the cellar for A. D. Thompson's new house on Belvidere avenue, corner of Putnam.

—Richard A. Boyce, of the Somerset House, recently purchased a lot on East Second street from John J. Kenney, and will begin building a house in the early Spring.

—Ex Councilman Charles P. Sebring intends soon to connect by telephone the Edison electric light station in the borough with the Bound Brook Power and Heating Company's station at Sebring's Mills, Greenbrook.

CLEVELAND'S

It's So.

No other baking powder costs so much to make as

Cleveland's Baking Powder

No other gives so much value for its cost

Pure & Sure.

BAKING-POWDER

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt,

of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,

Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr J. V. E. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

Unapproachable

Yes, unapproachable, is the only word truly expressive of the stock and variety of the Embroideries just placed on Peck's Counters.

CHIMMIE FADDEN,
MAJOR MAX

and other stories as published in the New York Sun

PAPER, 50 CENTS.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front st.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.

$15 suits for $10.

$12 ulsters for $8.50.

$15 overcoats for $10.

Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.

12-3-y

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

We will refund money on any goods that donot prove entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before you purchase.

Figure up what you can save on the following sample list:

Read Carefully.

The following list of bargains are all Strictly First Quality Goods.

16c can	Another lot of pink pearl Bahama pineapples, cored and sliced Very fine quality Worth 25c. Special 16c can	16c can
Mixed Tea 29c lb	Mixed tea good quality our regular 45c grade special 29c pound or 4 pounds for $1	Mixed Tea 29c lb
5c pound	Soda crackers N Y make regular price 9c special 5c pound	5c pound
Tomatoes 6c can	Just received 50 cases more of those leader tomstoes We open these goods for your inspection special 6c can	Tomatoes 6c can

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each	100 doz cups and saucers Tea, breakfast and soup plates at 3c each 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each	3c each
27c each	Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each	27c each
73c each	Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each	73c each
9c each	Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each	9c each

Dry and Fancy Goods Department

10c yard	New Silkaline in very taking patterns, only 10c yard; former price 15c.	10c yard
65c yard	Something new in furniture coverings; silk effects at only 65c; former price 85c.	65c yard
$3.99	Imitation silk damask portieres at only $3 99; good value at $5. A full line of new window draperies at new prices.	$3.99

New Spring Dress Goods.

It will well repay you to call and examine our New Stylish Dress Goods. The Low Prices excel anything we have ever offered.

15 cts	25 dozen ladies stainless hose, full regular made, our own importation, only 15c or two pair for 25c.	15 cts

Saturday Night Specials.

On Sale only from 8 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock.

25 Doz Fine soft finish 4 Button Kid Gloves in new Spring shades our own importation regular $1 quality. This sale only 59c 2 pairs only to each customer

25 Doz Ladies Stainless Black Hose regular price 10c This sale only 5c 3 pairs only to each customer

20 do ladies fine pocketbooks, imitation seal. This sale 13c—about half price.

15 pieces only of 1 yard wide bleached Fruit of the Loom muslin, only 5½c Saturday night

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5 For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

FLOOD OF WRITINGS.

FOR TEN BOOKS PUBLISHED, ONE HUNDRED ARE SUPPRESSED.

Every Publisher a Bear on the Novel Market. A Little Theology Fairly Profitable. Nearly All Poetry Declined. The Profits of Authors.

There is sometimes a disposition to blame publishers for the great number of useless books that annually come from the press, but for ten books published nearly 100 are suppressed by obdurate publishers. Of 100 manuscript books sent unrequested to the publishers more than 90 per cent. are rejected by the house to which they are first sent, and probably more than 75 per cent. never find a publisher. One general publishing house accepts only 2 per cent. of the unsolicited manuscripts received, and a partner in another firm is of the opinion that 90 per cent. of all manuscript books once rejected never see the light.

Perhaps 70 per cent. of all manuscript books are condemned as hopeless by the first reader to whom they are sent. Many are condemned, and rightly, after having been read only in small part. The reader dips in here and there when the first few chapters seem to condemn a book, and, if the thing does not improve he makes a report of unconditional disapproval. The first reader sometimes commends a book, but suggests material changes. It then goes to another, and perhaps another, and finally is considered from the business point of view as to its probable salability. If it is deemed salable the suggested changes are presented to the author, and after they are made perhaps the book is accepted and perhaps it is not. A novel recently sent to a conspicuous publishing house of New York was enthusiastically commended by the first reader, severely criticised by the second and not condemned by the third. It was then sent back to the author, with the suggestion that he make several radical changes, cut it down one-fourth and resubmit the manuscript. He did all this and the publishers finally declined to publish the book. The whole transaction occupied about eight months.

When a manuscript is approved by the readers and by the publisher the terms that the latter offers may not suit the author, in which case he declines the offer and takes his wares to another shop. Authors' agents, middlemen better known in England than in this country, hawk about manuscripts among the publishing houses and manage sometimes to have an author's successive works published by many different houses.

Publishers who are also printers put out many books that they would not take the risk of publishing on their own account. They sometimes appear as printers of such books, sometimes as publishers. There may be reasons of taste why a house prefers to appear in the former capacity rather than the latter.

Publishers say that novels now lead in the number of books offered, and three-quarters of the rejected manuscripts are novels. The immense success and large profits of some novel writers that burst upon the public excite the cupidity of many imitators. Every publisher is a bear on the novel market, as, indeed, upon every sort of manuscript. Theology is a much overwritten science, and scores of volumes on this subject are annually rejected by publishers. A few standard works on theology are supposed to have been fairly profitable to their writers as well as their publishers. At least one of the famous Presbyterian theologians has had a large sale. Some houses are known as publishing only orthodox works. This is true of the Harpers and the Scribners. The Putnams have published theology of all sorts, from the strictly orthodox treatise to works of destructive criticism. The Appletons have published much of the latter class, though the head of the house is a sound churchman.

Although many works on political economy are published annually, Carlyle's "Dismal Science" is gingerly handled when it comes in manuscript to the publishers. The late Oliver B. Bunce was chief reader for the Appletons when Henry George's "Progress and Poverty" came in manuscript to the office. Mr. Bunce, hardened reader as he was, sat up all night with the manuscript, having carried it home, and coming to the office next day apologized for recommending the publication of a politico-economic work. The publishers were not surprised at the apology, but they were at the recommendation. Mr. Bunce's advice was taken, however, and the Appleton's gave "Progress and Poverty" to the world. Its success was eventually enormous.

Nearly all the poetry submitted to publishers in book form is declined, and most books of verse issued are unprofitable. Even fairly well known poets sell slowly. One living American poet whose verse commanded good prices in the magazine offices complained some years ago, when his fame was thoroughly established, that his royalties of the year before amounted to just $2. Bayard Taylor was always vexed that his volumes of travels far outsold his volumes of verse. He wished to be known as an American poet, while the perverse public insisted upon calling him the great American traveler. Will Carleton's publishers, however, have never regretted accepting his manuscript, and Riley's poems pass through many editions.

Publishers say that, with all their care and sifting, only a small number of the books published yield a fair profit. Some on which great expectations are built fall flat, and on the whole the reading public is as hard to calculate upon as is the theatergoing public. Most books die a natural death in less than five years, many are stillborn, and of the few that are regarded as highly successful a considerable percentage are utterly forgotten in ten years. It is a high tribute to Nathaniel Hawthorne that almost up to the time his copyright expired his heirs received several thousand dollars a year from the royalties on his works.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Official Announcements for Worship in Plainfield Tomorrow.

[Matter intended for this department must be supplied fresh every week, not later than 10 a. m. Saturday to insure insertion.]

Reform Hall—4 p. m. Gospel temperance meeting.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Meeting—Conducted by George H. Batchelor at 4:15 p. m.

East Third Street Mission—Gospel service, 8 p. m., conducted by L. W. Serrell.

St. Joseph's Church—Masses at 8:30 and 10:30 a. m.; Sunday-school at 3, and Vespers at 8 p. m.

St. Mary's Church—Masses at 7:30, 8:30, 9:30, and 10:30 a. m.; Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m.; Vespers, 8 p. m.

Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest—Morning prayer and sermon, 11; Sunday-school, 9:45 a. m.

St. Peter's German Lutheran Church—Services, 10 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.; Sunday-school, 9 a. m. Rev. Ed Kionka, pastor.

Mount Olive Baptist Church—Preaching 8 p. m. by Rev. Dr. Sampson of Philadelphia. Subject, "The Liberty of Christ".

Crescent Avenue PresbyterianChurch—Rev. William R. Richards, D. D., pastor. 10:30 a.m., Communion; 2:30, Sunday-school; 7:30, preaching.

Rev. Dr. Boggs of Ramapatan, India, will lecture under the auspices of the Temple Builders in the First Baptist Church at 7:30 tomorrow night.

Y. M. C. A. Building—4:15 p. m. meeting for young men conducted by E. R. Taylor. Music by Prof. Conde's Symphony Orchestra and the male choir.

Grace Church—Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector. Early Celebration of Holy Communion, 7:30; litany, Holy Communion and sermon, 11; children's service, 3:30.

All Souls Church—Rev. Hobart Clark, pastor. Services at 10:45 a. m. with preaching by the pastor. Sunday-school, 11:45 a. m. Meeting of the Guild, 7:45 p. m.

The Consecration meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational Church tomorrow evening will be in the form of a prayer and praise service.

First Church of Christ (Disciples) Morris's Hall, 110 Liberty street—Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. by Rev. D. T. Stanley; Lord's Supper, 12 m.; Sunday-school, 2:45; Christian Endeavor, 7 p. m.

Grace M. E. Church—Rev. Herbert F. Randolph, pastor. Services at 10:30 a. m., and 7:45 p. m. Morning subject, "Freedom by the truth"; evening, "Social demons cast out". Sunday-school, 2:30; Epworth League, 7.

St. Stephen's Church, Rev. S. P. Simpson, rector—Holy Communion, 7:30 a. m.; Sunday-school, 9:45; litany, Holy Communion and sermon, 11; evening prayer, 4:30. Free stages from station at 10:30 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Park Avenue Baptist Church—Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor. Preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning theme, "Very incomplete yet marvelously imperfect"; evening, "A woman with a proper will". Sunday-school, 2:30.

Trinity Reformed Church—Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor. 10:30 a. m., Sacrament of the Lord's Supper; 7:30 p. m., preaching by pastor. Subject, "How to go on to perfection". Sunday-school, 2:30; prayer-meetings at 10 a. m. and 6:45 p. m.

Church of the Redeemer, Protestant Episcopal—Rev. Dr. Jocelyn Johnstone, rector. Celebration of the Holy Communion, 7:30 a. m. Morning service and second celebration of the Holy Communion, 11:15; Sunday-school, 3 p. m.; evening service, 4:30.

First M. E. Church—Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes, pastor. 10:30 a. m., Sacrament of the Lord's Supper and reception of members; 2:30 p. m., Sunday-school; 6:45 p. m., Epworth League prayer meeting; 7:30, sermon, subject, "Lent, its history, meaning, and use".

Congregational Church—Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor. Morning service, 10:30, with Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Sunday-school, 2:45 p. m. The pastor will take up with his class the third topic of the series "Stones of Egypt". Christian Endeavor consecration meeting 7:30 p. m.

First Presbyterian Church—Morning—Prelude, Communion in G, Welv; anthem, "O Saviour of the world", Goss; offertory, "He shall feed his flock", Handel, Miss Glenn; Communion. Evening—Prelude, Offertaire, St. Cecile, Grison; Pastorate, Kullak; anthems, "Abide with me", Reed; "Sweetly breath the lyres above", Chopin; offertory, baritone solo, F. J. Pope; postlude, in 7, Andrews.

UP TO DATE.

Oh, dear to my mind is the old-fashioned ingle
That fond recollection presents to my view,
Where forest-hewn logs would in fire-glow mingle
And cheer us with comfort and radiance too.
But warmer today, and more comfort insuring
Are fires whose fervor is kindled anew
With fruit of the mines that the wise are securing
From coal yards of Stevens, near Grant avenue—
That excellent coal you are sure of procuring
Near junction of Front St. and Grant avenue.

—Counselor Chas. A. Reed has been annoyed by the impression that he is a Government official in the income-tax matter. He has no more to do with the two-blank returns than has any other attorney.

BY THE WAY.

—A handsome thing to see is a dainty hand encased in a kid glove from Peck's.

—Tax Collector John Johnson has not been able to be at his office for several days, on account of a heavy cold.

—The police are keeping their eyes open for the culprits who have been stuffing the keyholes of fire-alarm boxes full of impediments.

—Your Sunday girl likes sweetmeats, and you'd better hurry around to Leggett's and get a box of his fresh Huyler's, just in today.

—U. B. Crane of 120 West Front street receive today a large supply of the new spring styles in hats, shirts and neckwear. Mr. Crane will show you some of the finest goods if you call.

—Street Commissioner Meeker had a force of men yesterday digging out and moving the ice from the drain pipe at the corner of Watchung avenue and Ninth street, thus allowing the water to find its way to Cedar brook.

—Two of the members of the Fire, Water and Lamp Committee of the City Council made a tour yesterday through Netherwood, locating the new sites for electric lights along Leland avenue, North avenue and Cushing road.

Honeyman's Private Tours.

Next tour April 11 to Southern California via Mammoth Cave and New Orleans. Private hotel car. Time 41 days. Room for few only. European Tour, including a week's conching trip in England, June 22. Circulars at 181 North avenue, Plainfield. 27w1

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—North Plainfield Borough Democrats will hold their primary in the schoolhouse at 8 tonight.

—The exhibition of the Delaware Camera Club slides by the local club has been indefinitely postponed.

—William A. Jacques of Bayonne has plans out for a two-story Queen Anne cottage on Netherwood avenue.

—A meeting of the recently organized Plumbers Association was held in the parlors of the Hotel Grenada last night, at which plans for future work were discussed.

—Among the residence changes in the borough the coming Spring is noted the removal of Charles Willard Smith of Duer street to the Mellen house on Willow avenue.

—A district meeting of the Knights of Pythias will be held in the rooms of Perseverance Lodge next Friday evening, at which Grand Chancellor Ralph Donath of Jersey City and several other grand lodge officers, will be present.

—Nothing so brightens and improves a room as an appropriate design of wall paper, neatly put up. Edward Love, corner of North and Watchung avenues, has an immense stock from which you can choose; also paints, brushes, shades, glass and fine carpets and rugs, direct from the manufacturers. It will pay you to call before going elsewhere.

—Edsall's Commercial Palace is having a big run on 300 dozen butter plates at 2 cents each, fluted with gold-line assorted decorations, fine quality china; just think of the price—they are going at 2 cents each; regular value, 75 cents a dozen. Several other big bargains in the house-furnishing department have been secured from the assignee of the bankrupt sale of Herbert Ellis, Trenton.

Her Wit Gave Her a Seat.

One day last week a large Irish woman got into a Sixth avenue car, and the car being full, she was obliged to stand. She rode for many blocks quite patiently, first resting herself on one foot and then on the other. Still no one got out.

With a face that Harrigan would have given fifty dollars for, she exclaimed—"Well, ain't none of yees going home, or be yees all going to ride into the next county?"

"No, we are all going to see Lillian Kennedy in 'She Couldn't Marry Three.'"

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell; 25c., 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists.

Max Wiertz

544

West Front St

Having been compelled to close my Dining Room since Dec. 26 on account of the cold weather, I beg to announce to my patrons that I will resume business Monday, March 4, by giving a first-class

Table d'Hote Dinner for 75c,

5:30 to 8 p. m.

Max Wiertz,

544 W. Front St.

Attention.

DEMOCRATS!

The Democratic Primary for the nomination of Borough officers will be held in the School House, Saturday, March 2, at 8 o'clock sharp.

J. R. NEWMAN,
L. C. KLINE,
Executive Committee.
3 1 2

5 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a cake of good Toilet Soap 5 perfumed and wrapped; made by the best and biggest soap house in America (whose stamp is a guarantee of excellence). We warrant this a sound, pure soap. 1 cake or 100 at 5c each.

REYNOLDS.

8 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a good Baby's Bottle 8 with pure black rubber nipple, complete and ready for use: Bottle has a wide base, rounded corners, graduated side.

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

Established 1868. Park and North avenues, only.

DEATHS.

DAY—At Morris Plains, John Day, died March 1, 1895, age 27 years, 8 months, 22 days.

Funeral from his brother's residence, James Day, West Third street, Sunday afternoon, March 3, 1895, 1:30 at the house and 2 o'clock at at St. Mary's Church.

Friends and relatives are respectfully invited to attend.

TERRILL & COLE,

Undertakers and Embalmers

200 West 2d street.

Next to Trinity Reformed Chu ch.
First-class livery attached.
Telephone 153. 11 26 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

PROTESTANT woman wishes situation as first-class cook and laundress, best reference. 163 East 2nd street. 3 1 2

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

WANTED—A Swede or German girl as chambermaid and waitress. Call at 202 East 9th st.

MONEY to loan. Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

WANTED—A girl for general housework; must have references and be good cook and laundress. Apply to 54 Grove street. 2 28 3

YOUNG woman skilful at all kinds of sewing would like to engage as regular or extra hand to dressmaker, or would go out as seamstress. Address Clever, care Daily Press. 3 2 tf

COOK and laundress wanted. 224 E. 5th st. 3 2 tf

CORNER flats to let; all improvements steam heat. Annie Miller, 339 Park avenue.

LARGE furnished room to let. 20 Emily street, corner Vine.

BOARD—Wanted from April 1, for man, wife and and two-year-old child; private family preferred. Require two rooms; will furnish one themselves. Address C. W., care Daily Press, and arrange for interview. 3 2 tf

WANTED—By an English person, a situation as working housekeeper Please address Priscilla Negus, Bound Brook.

ON account of going to Europe will sacrifice Horace Waters & Co., 7½ octave grand upright almost new, brilliant tone, parlor furniture, French white onyx clock, Jacot's importation, fancy tables, chairs, lamps, pictures, sewing machine, dining-room furniture, bedroom furniture, household and kitchen utensils, carpets, curtains, portieres. 31 Fairview avenue, near Somerset street. 3 2 3

WANTED—A Swedish girl to do general housework. Call at 900 Sherman avenue, Plainfield.

WANTED—Cook, washer and ironer, no colored. 97 Mercer avenue.

FOR SALE—$1,150 or to let $10 per month, new 5 room house 138 Johnston avenue, near Front street. A comfortable and healthful home for a small family. Apply 129 Plainfield ave. 3 2 2

TO LET—New house 6 rooms, North Plainfield. Apply to F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford avenue.

TO LET—Six room house 823 East 2d street, rent reasonable. Apply 248 Jackson street Netherwood.

LOST—From carriage while going through West 7th street and Park avenue to station, a black silk umbrella natural wood handle. The finder will greatly oblige by leaving same at this office.

SMALL farm 2 miles out for sale or exchange for Plainfield property. Chas. L. Moffett attorney cor Park and North avenues.

SMALL houses to let, centally located, $9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

FOR SALE or to let on easy terms, 11 room house; all improvements; 22 Norwood ave; also 6 room house 745 East 2d st. Inquire J. Voehl, 65 Somerset st. 2 28 3

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 2 26 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

2 ROOMS to let 25x35 feet each; 104 and 106 Park ave. J. Cory. 2 27 6

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st. 2 7 tf

FOR SALE, on easy terms, 11 room house 22 Norwood ave., with all improvements, lot 50 x 175, or will trade for smaller property. Inquire J. Voehl, 65 Somerset street. 2 23 7

YOUNG woman offers her services as companion and reader to elderly lady or invalid; if preferred, would occupy only a few hours each day. Address M. L., care Press. 2 21 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 1 30 tf

A. W. BAKER, 208 Park Ave. B. G. YOUNG, 337 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young,

Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 2 m

Van's 2 Van's

CORSETS.

Gee-Wiz, What?

Corsets, value 50c, going at 23 cents.

Corsets, value 75c, going at 33 cents.

HOSIERY

fast black, seamless, at 8 cents pair.

EXTRA, EXTRA, EXTRA.

A 40 gauge silk finish ladies' full regular made hose, value 40c, going at 25 cents.

Van Emburgh,

Corner Store, Babcock Building.

BETTER THAN GOLD BONDS

VALUABLE

REAL ESTATE

in the business centre of Plainfield. The large building on West 2d street, known as

The Elkwood Building,

Will be sold at public auction on

Monday, March 4, 1895,

At 2 P. M., on the premises. The property is about 65 feet front by about 160 feet deep, and contains a three story brick building used for stores, public hall, flats, lodge rooms and offices. This property originally cost about $43,000, and affords a grand opportunity for investment. Attend the sale.

For further particulars inquire of W. R. Codington, Attorney, corner Park avenue and second street, Plainfield, N. J. 2 26 5

Neuman Bros,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

offer special inducements in prices which will interest everybody.

White cherries 17c
Egg plants.....17c
Apricots.....17c
Crawford peaches.....17c
Sliced pineapple.....17c
Grated pineapple.....17c
Hamburg stringless beans.....10c can

17c

Try our own brands of Coffees, the finest in the market.

NEUMAN BROS.

YES,

That's the way we sell our goods. If anything you buy does not prove satisfactory or you find you do not want it bring it back, your money is ready for you, that's our way.

INTERESTING.

Muslin.

4x4 Fruit of the loom 5¼c. yd.

Dress Cambric.

¾ yard wide, fine dress cambric 6c. yd.

Turkish Towels.

Although the Turks did not make them, they are worth 30c. each, our price 19c.

Dress Goods.

54 in. Corset cloth 25 different colorings, value 98c., our price 49c, 50 in. Wool mixtures, we sell 6 yds., 5 yds. cambric and 2 yds, selesia, all for $2.39.

Black Dress Goods.

Extra good value is that 45 in. imported serge, our price 45c. value 65c.

Silks.

500 yards of new figured silks 39c. yard.

Kid Gloves.

4 button chamois gloves 79c. 6 button length mosquetaire chamois gloves 79c. 4 button kids fine quality 75c. 5 hook Foster kids 75c.

Hosiery.

Try the double knee and double sole stockings for children, sizes 6 to 8½, price 15c. Extra fine quality hose for ladies 19c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

W. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.

First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's

LAW OFFICES,

Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

MUSIC HALL,

Joseph Sohl, Prop.
R. C. Varian, Mang.
Telephone call, 49B

MONDAY, MARCH 4.

Benefit tendered to

MR. JOSEPH SOHL.

If you don't want a BARGAIN Don't read this.

Extra fine creamery butter 21c pound.
5 pounds for $1.00.
Fresh country roll butter 18c pound.
6 pounds for $1.00.
Extra Vineland sweet potatoes 50c per basket.
2 pounds creamery cheese, extra fine, for 23c.

AT FULPER'S.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,

for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.

The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.

Corner Park avenue and Front street.

New Lines of Dinner Sets,

Rich Cut Glass, White China for decoration, Fancy Flower Pots

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

BRIAR PIPE GIVEN AWAY

DUKES MIXTURE

for 35 cents

Every pipe stamped DUKES MIXTURE or ATC

2oz Packages 5¢

NOTICE.

As directed by a resolution of the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, county of Union, State of New Jersey, notice is hereby given that an application has been made to the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood aforesaid, by the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, for permission to construct, operate and maintain a street railroad, with one or more tracks and necessary turnouts, to be operated by electricity or other motive power except steam, and to erect necessary poles, conduits and wires, power plant and necessary buildings along the following routes:

Beginning in the division line between the city of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood where Midway avenue crosses said division line and running thence in an easterly direction along Midway avenue to its connection with North avenue; thence still easterly along North avenue to the division line between the Townships of Fanwood and Westfield.

Beginning at the intersection of Mountain avenue and Forrest avenue or road, in the village of Scotch Plains, in the twp of Fanwood and running thence southeasterly along Forrest avenue or road to its intersection with North avenue; thence southerly along said North avenue to Depot street; thence to a point at or near the Fanwood station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The name of the corporation making the application is the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company.

The application was filed on the 15th day of February, eighteen hundred and ninety-five and will be considered by the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, at a meeting to be held on the 7th day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, at Excelsior Hall, at Scotch Plains, in the township of Fanwood aforesaid, county of Union, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

EDWARD L. HAND,
Township Clerk.

2 16 14

READY TO PAINT.

Before you put on paint see that the article you put on is what it is represented. It is poor economy, indeed, to put on a mixture of burnt clays and kerosene Come to us and get the best.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

141 East Front st.

MONEY LOANED.

Local Representatives Wanted.

Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors, with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m

H. Eggerding.

121 PARK AVENUE.

Manufacturer of the celebrated

C. O. D. CIGAR

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 9tf

MOSLER SAFE CO.,

contractors to the United States Government

Mosler Patent Safes,

(fire and burglar-proof) in general use

All Over the World.

Lowest prices. Special attention and information given by

W. CLARK,

General Agent,

118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.

Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

J. C. POPE & CO.,

Insurance Agents,

NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET

Plainfield, N. J.

Granite Iron Ware.

Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.

Stoves at reduced prices.

Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-iron Work.

Plumbing and Heater Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

119 East Front St.

[Copyright by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.]

I knew Charles Backerton Salemaker fairly intimately. He was a young man, mild-eyed, fair-haired, good-tempered, and—before he went on the staff of Home Happiness—conscientious. He was fond of describing himself as a good all-round journalist. I was one of the people who saw him last before his unfortunate and mysterious disappearance; and, as far as anyone can know why he disappeared, I know it.

I think the trouble really began when Home Happiness, an excellent magazine, supplied a long-felt want. The very first number supplied it fully; after that first number hardly anybody seemed to want any more. The streets of London were filled with crowds of people who were doing without the last issue of Home Happiness, and not minding it. Wherever the English language—or any other language—was spoken, there were earnest men and women who had never heard of the magazine, and did not even want to hear of it. And yet the editor was a man of talent. When hardly anybody bought his second number, he sent round a paragraph to the other papers to the effect that their esteemed contemporary, Home Happiness, was rapidly securing the first place among weekly journals of the domestic class. It is true that the other papers never inserted that paragraph, not considering it to be altogether funny enough, but still the thing showed enterprise. Then again, when the third number did not sell quite so well as the second, he advertised Home Happiness at all of the railroad stations as "A success unprecedented in the history of journalism!" Some people called this also enterprise, and some called it something shorter. And finally the editor did a very clever thing when he secured, at a moderate salary, the services of Charles Backerton Salemaker. Salemaker loved work; he worked willingly, and he was—at one time, at any rate—a conscientious man.

The paper started its first number with great profusion. In return for his salary, Salemaker was asked to write only one column a week, a column entitled "Politics for Papa." I know that he was uneasy about this, thinking and saying that he was afraid he was not really doing enough for the money he received. However, he did the column well. Any liberal or any conservative who read it would have found nothing with which it was possible to disagree. Salemaker said it was written from an independent standpoint. Subsequently expenses were cut down; journalists fell off the staff of that paper like leaves before the blast, and their work was assigned to Salemaker without increase of salary.

When the art critic went it was Salemaker who was appointed to write that delightful column, "Through the Picture Galleries." "And this," he said to me, "gives me great pleasure, for I have never had it practically recognized that I know something about art." I could understand that, and told him so. I do not think he was quite so pleased when he was given a third column to do every week, because the third column was called "Notes for the Nursery." "However," he said, "one can always read up a subject." He bought two second-hand medical works on the treatment of children and quoted them alternately. The two medical works were diametrically opposed to each other on several important points, and in consequence there was a little trouble. He also invented a new game for infants, to be played with wax matches, and the editor got a furious post-card saying that if the author of "Notes for the Nursery" had the feelings of a mother, she would never have advocated a game which must lead to phosphorus poisoning and incendiarism in the end. Salemaker said that he would be more careful in future, and the editor—to show that he still had confidence in him—gave him two more columns to write every week.

SALEMAKER LOVED WORK.

I met him in the street a fortnight afterwards, and he was not looking quite as enthusiastic as usual. "Well," I said, "how's the paper, and have you got the feelings of a mother yet?"

"The paper is beginning to turn the corner," he said. "It'll do very well in time. Of course, there is none of the silly extravagance that there was at first. The staff has been very much reduced."

"Then who does the work?"

"Well, I write eight columns for every number myself now, and the editor does most of the rest. Of course, it's no hardship to me; a good all-round journalist does not want to be tied down to one subject. Besides, the paper is practically turning the corner now."

I advised him not to overwork himself, and he hurried away to the office; I thought he seemed paler and thinner than he used to be.

That night, after dinner, I was alone in my chambers, when suddenly Salemaker arrived.

"It's a terrible business!" he exclaimed, as he came in at the door. He did not look himself. He seemed indignant and distraught. He was wearing his hat very much on the back of his head. I gently removed his hat, made him sit down, gave him something to smoke, and asked him what was the matter.

"It's a perfectly terrible business. I've just come from the office. I wanted to consult you," he said, rather incoherently.

"I see," I said. "The success unprecedented in the history of journalism is going to stop—going to put up its poor, unhappy shutters."

"Nothing of the kind. The paper is now, as a matter of fact, definitely turning the corner."

"Do you know," I asked, "that you've already told me that twice to-day?"

He sighed.

"Have I?" he said drearily. "Very likely. I've got into the habit of saying it whenever I hear the paper mentioned. Let me tell you what's happened. We've got a column in the paper called 'The Height of Fashion,' a column for women, you understand."

"IT'S A TERRIBLE BUSINESS."

"Quite so."

"Well, it used to be written by a lady journalist, a Miss Catling. It was one of the most popular features of the paper. Now the editor, on the plea of economy, has turned her off, or, rather, asked her to write gratuitously. She says she won't work for nothing, and she doesn't care. She says she shall go and be a new woman, and write an improper novel. You can see she's cut up about it."

"Well," I said, "I'm sure your sympathy with her does you credit, and if the editor discontinues the most popular feature, it may retard the progress of the paper, but after all—"

"Stop!" he said, irritably, "that isn't it at all. 'The Height of Fashion' is to come out every week as usual, but the scandalous—the absurd—I may say the unspeakable thing about it is that I've got to write it." He laughed bitterly. "I, Charles Backerton Salemaker—moi qui vous parle—have got to write a fashion article for women. Think of it! Picture it!"

"Why don't you protest?"

"Protest? What else do you think I've been doing at the office except protesting? Heaven knows I don't mind work. I give them plenty for their money. I write the politics, the art and the nursery notes, and other things besides, and I've never complained. I told you that I did eight columns a week. That was a lie. I wrote eleven then, and I have just had two more put onto me. 'The Height of Fashion' makes the thirteenth. I lied to you because I was ashamed to say how much I did. I had high principles once, but Home Happiness has about done for them. You see, publishers won't send us books for review—say they've never heard of us. Theater managers won't send us tickets. What's the consequence? I review books I've never read, and criticise plays I've never seen; I always notice them favorably, and so I've never been found out. Last night I wrote an obituary of a man who isn't dead, and some 'Genuine Experiences of a Detective,' which I never was. But that was honesty itself compared with what the editor wants now. Besides," he added, more quietly and reflectively, "it will be a very difficult thing to write that article without being bowled out."

I said that the subject was probably much easier than was generally supposed. I had known some girls who appeared to be singularly, impressively stupid, and yet they thoroughly understood fashions.

"Ah, yes," he said; "it is not so much a question of brains as a question of instinct. All women have the instinct. You think the subject easy? I'll guarantee you don't even understand the elements of it, the mere question of structure, letting alone ornamentation. Here's a thing which may happen any day, and I've seen it myself: The top half of a woman's dress has two rows of buttons and button holes; one row is genuine, practical and works; the other row is pure 'fake.' just put on out of exuberance. Can you tell me which is which? No, you can't, and I can't, but a girl of twelve could without looking. Then there are dresses which can never be put on at all—at least, one would say so if there wasn't a woman inside them. How did the woman get there? The only possible explanation is that she was melted down, poured in through the collar and allowed to set. I say that it is the only possible explanation, but I am perfectly well aware that it is not the right one. And you can't tell me the right one. I don't know and can't find out the bare elements of the subject."

"Then why didn't you tell the editor so?"

"I did," said Salemaker, pacing excitedly up and down the room. "He's a married man, and has got two sisters into the bargain to my certain knowledge. He lives in the atmosphere of it. He would only have to leave the women in a room together, and nature would do the rest. They would begin to talk clothes, and he could have his clerk at the keyhole to take it all down in shorthand. That would give him something to go upon. As for me, I have not got one living female relation. However, he wouldn't hear of doing it himself. He said he had enough to do already He told me that a good all-round journalist could write any article on anything."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Mothers

have never found a preparation so well adapted to the needs of thin, delicate children, as Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites.

Children almost universally like the taste of it, which makes its administration easy, and it supplies their blood with the food properties that overcome wasting tendencies.

Scott's Emulsion enriches the blood, promotes the making of healthy flesh, and aids in a healthy formation of the bones.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute.

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

Spring,

Housecleaning,

WALL PAPER!

Do you know spring is near? Well you'll need Wall Paper for that room and Paint, Oil and Brushes to make your home sweet and clean after the long cold winter.

Fine lot of Paper for 1895 that will please the most fastidious.

Of course there is only one place to get these things if you want the

Best and Cheapest,

and that place is on the corner of

North and Watchung Aves.

LOVE'S?

Yes!

H. Hand,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER.

15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Residence and postoffice address

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.

Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS.

30 PARK AVE.

He Manufactures Them

L. L. MANNING.

Marble and Granite Works

Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.

—NO.—

BUT FULL VALUE.

G. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging.

27 Chatham street.

Of course it is nonsense to spend your money

For Wall Paper

Unless you get your money's worth. We claim to have the finest line of new patterns in the city. If so you ought to buy here.

WOOLSTON & BUCKLE,

141 and 145 North avenue.

Tel. 29B Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.

Have your plumbing system tested with the smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

Opp Roberts's Livery 132 North Ave

CODDINGTON'S

FURNITURE AND FREIGHT

EXPRESS.

OFFICES—26 West Front street; 40 Park avenue Post Office Box 229.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large covered trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfactory guaranteed. 1 13

Misses Shoes

without tips; best leather; best shoe made. Sold at cost.

P. Cox make $3 50, were $2.

R. Dix make $2 25, were $1.75

Alex. Willett & Son,

107 Park avenue.

106 East Front Street — NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c	Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
" Oolong tea	30c	Can peas, early June	8c
" Young Hyson tea	40c	Can corn, fine goods	8c
" Japan tea	40c	Fine butter	24c
XX soda crackers	4½c	Ground coffee	17½c
Ginger snaps	5½c	Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Nic-nac crackers	6c	Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
California peaches	17c can	" Rio coffee	24c
		Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented.

H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

Special Bargains for February.

HIRTS at 39c; regular price 50c.

pecial buckskin gloves 98c, regular $1.50.

aw you our Reindeer Glove for dress or driving $1.50.

HALLOCK.

109 West Front st.

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,

Established nearly 60 years.

We sell only high-grade instruments and at as low prices as are charged by many dealers for comparatively worthless ones. Cash or installments.

Warerooms—Babcock Building, Plainfield, N. J. H. C. HADLEY, Manager.

Tuning a Specialty.

Call and secure a copy of the Monthly Musical Guest. 1 23 tf

There Are Others

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,

177 North avenue.

PHOENIX.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. special are leaders. 2 26 tf

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat,

or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.

E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,

177 North Avenue.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager

Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn. 1 14 tf

SHAD! Rogers 232 W. 2d. St.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement

For walls and ceilings.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats, Dress Shirts,

Gloves and Neckwear

U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,

120 West Front street.

Spring Curry Comb

Clock Spring Blade. Soft as a Brush. Fits every Curve. The Only Perfect Comb. Used by U. S. Army and by Barnum and Forepaugh Circuses, and Leading Horsemen of the World. Ask your Dealer for It. Sample mailed post paid 25 cents. See our name on the handle. SPRING CURRY COMB CO., 102 Lafayette St., South Bend, Indiana.

788-1 9-11

AN ALDERMAN CURED.

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the Best and Surest Spring Medicine.

Mr. Crouch and Editor E. C. Gere, in the Daily Hampshire Gazette, Give This Wonderful Remedy a Glowing Tribute.

ALDERMAN CHAS. S. CROUCH.

The editorial columns of the Northampton (Mass.) Daily Hampshire Gazette of Dec. 28th, give the particulars of the remarkable cure by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, of Alderman Charles S. Crouch, one of Northampton's ablest and best-known statesmen.

Editor E. C. Gere, of this leading newspaper, personally investigated the facts of this wonderful cure, and his widely-read editorial states the details of the cure exactly as they occurred, giving Hon. Mr. Crouch's own words.

Following is the editorial in full:

Learning that a great cure had been effected in Alderman Chas. S. Crouch, of Northampton, Mass., by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, a reporter took occasion to call on Mr. Couch and talk with him about it, and among the thousands of testimonials given to this world-renowned medicine, none will be more widely read or give greater weight than this one coming from so noted a man as Alderman Crouch. Mr. Cronch is one of the plain, old-fashioned kind of men, outspoken, and always means just what he says. In conversation with Mr. Crouch, he said:

"Last Spring I did not feel in my usual health; felt as tired in the morning as when I retired; had no energy nor ambition to go about a day's work; no appetite with which to regain strength and energy. In this condition I worked along from week to week, thinking that after a while matters would right themselves and I would feel like myself again. But to the contrary, I grew worse.

"Knowing that Dr. Greene's Nervura was not a patent medicine, but a medicine put up from a prescription discovered by the doctor in his private practice, I resolved to try it. The first bottle helped me so much that I purchased another one, and even a third bottle, when, to my great joy, I found myself as well as ever I was in my life; and furthermore, have remained so."

In further conversation he said:

"Dr. Greene's Nervura is great medicine. There is no humbug about it! It was made to cure and it does cure! No one need be afraid to use it."

Day by day he praises this wonderful medicine to his friends and neighbors, as the one sure way to regain their health.

Mr. Crouch has always been an active man in town and city affairs. In old-town meeting days he was always on hand to help with his eloquent oratory the pressing needs of the times, and since Northampton has been a city he has served for several years in its government, and at the last election he received the largest vote for alderman he ever had. He is a contractor, and during the past few years has built some of the finest houses in the city.

The word of this widely-known city government official, Alderman Crouch, should have the most convincing weight with the public, but when we have added to this the fact that the Northampton Daily Hampshire Gazette, a newspaper of the highest standing vouches editorially for the truth of every word, and its editor states that he has personally investigated all the facts of the marvelous cure, there should be no hesitation by the people to use this great medical discovery, this wonderful curer of disease, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is a fact, no longer to be doubted, that this remedy cures—that it makes those who use it strong and well—that it is the surest and most certain cure for disease known at the present day.

It is the very best of all spring medicines, and should be taken now by all who are weak nervous and run down, to strengthen the nerves and invigorate the blood.

It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that this medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

IF YOU WANT ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE.

Military Studies Begun In the School of Brienne.

HIS WAR GENIUS FORESHADOWED.

Defiant In Manner, He Incurred the Animosity of His Fellows—Arrested For Challenging a Schoolmate—Battle of the Snow Fort—Desired to Lead, Not Follow.

[Copyright, 1895, by John Clark Ridpath.]

III.—AUTUN AND BRIENNE.

The old town of Autun lies on the left bank of the Arroux, 164 miles southeast of Paris. Here the boys Buonaparte were put to school, in January of 1779. The town is an epitome of European history. It was the capital of the brave Æduans, whom Cæsar overcame in the first year of the Gallic war. The place from being a Roman oppidum became barbarian again. The Vandals had it; then the Burgundians; then the Huns; then the Franks; then the Saracens; then the Normans; and once, the English. Of these vicissitudes, the monumental traces remained when Napoleon, in his tenth year, arrived at the gates. He was put under charge of the Abbe Chardon, nephew of the General Marbœuf. The latter devoted himself to the interests of the Buonaparte family, and paid a part of the expenses.

NAPOLEON AT TWENTY-TWO.

The plan of Carlo Buonaparte and his friend the general was to give to both the boys a military education. It was deemed expedient that they should first learn French in the school of the Abbe, at Autun. To this work they were put, on their arrival; and in about three months they were reckoned sufficiently advanced to begin a regular course of instruction in some military establishment.

Meanwhile the father and Marbœuf had gone to Versailles, and were assiduous in their efforts to get the boys established as pensioners. The solicitation was that the young fellows should be educated at the expense of the state. Marbœuf invented a fiction, flecked with fact, about the nobility of his wards; and the petition was granted finally as to Napoleon. But Joseph had now passed the limit of his eleventh year, and was no longer eligible—unless by violation of law. He must therefore be diverted to the priesthood, while the younger brother was assigned, at the public charge, to the military academy at Brienne-la-Chapelle, on the right bank of the Aube, in the department of the same name, a hundred and eighteen miles from Paris. Thither he was transferred in the latter part of April, 1779, and was admitted as a cadet.

At Autun, the chief business had been to teach him French. He applied himself closely to this task, but not very successfully. He learned to speak French, brokenly, with an Italian accent. To the end of his life he never acquired a nice knowledge of the adopted tongue. His grammar was broken, his composition thunderstruck, and his spelling heretical. His practical knowledge of the language which he was destined to use for forty-two years in his intercourse with men was sufficient; but his mind was never tolerant of technicalities. These he slurred over with impetuous impatience, as though they were insignificant details fit for children.

This trait of neglecting the exactitudes was strongly manifested from Napoleon's childhood. He went as far as the practical in whatever subject he touched; but having seized thus much, he cared for nothing else. He desired correctness in others, for that was useful to him; but as for himself, he wanted only aggregate results and a knowledge of their practical advantage. All authors have commented on the inaccuracies and lapses in the Napoleonic correspondence and manuscripts. It became his habit to slur over, in his rapid way, the errors in his writing; and his arrogance seemed to convince him that, while correct spelling was an accomplishment in pedagogues, it was rather a fault in great men.

His teacher, the Abbe, has left a sketch of the lad, as he was at Autun, entirely consistent with what we know of his antecedent and subsequent character. The young Bonaparte is described by his master as being of solemn demeanor; rarely laughing; never happy or mirthful; no disposition for playing; proud and solitary; easily wounded; always resentful; learning with lightning-like rapidity, but stopping short of correctness; vain of his faculties; patriotism almost morbid; disliking the powerful foreign race with which his lot had been cast; looking back regretfully to Corsica, and (most unboylike) thinking more of his country than he did of his home and mother.

Already, before leaving Autun, the pale little Bonaparte fell into frequent quarrels with his French schoolmates about the Corsican revolution! They insulted him with the charge that his countrymen had been cowards—else they would have won their independence. To this he answered angrily that if the French had outnumbered his people only four to one, the invaders would have been defeated. Military calculation already! In his childhood he had made Paoli a god; and it is recorded of him that he said in one of his playground disputes: "Paoli was a great general, and I should much like to emulate him!"

The military academy at Brienne was one of ten of like kind recently established in the kingdom. Besides these, there were two higher schools, one at Paris and the other at La Fleche. This system had superseded another which had failed on account of its unpopularity. The military education and the right thereto was a plum for the nobles. Boys of the Third Estate had therein no part or lot. In the schools were gathered the weakened reproductions of a moribund nobility. The governors of the schools were even as the cadets. The institutions degenerated, until there was a popular reaction against them. There was a reform, headed by the Church. New schools were established, and monks were put in charge of them!

At the time when the boy Napoleon went to Brienne, the remarkable condition was presented of a system of military schools in charge of the monastic fathers. The condition was as if West Point and Annapolis should be put under the administration of a General Conference! The Brienne academy was conducted by the Minim Fathers, good men in their way, but as sources of inspiration to lads with the gleam of military glory in their brains they were mere dullness and obfuscation! The courses of study were in mathematics, geography, history, Latin, modern languages, philosophy, and such poor misnamed science as might be squeezed from the sponge of clerical dogmatism in the eighteenth century.

Such was the disciplinary fare which was offered to the boy Napoleon. He was now far removed from friends and kinsmen. He made the acquaintance of his schoolmates; admired one of them—Bourienne—and seemed to love another—Des Mazis; but his character and manner were rocks of offense to the rest of the hundred and fifty. Nothing more striking has been presented in personal annals than the contrast which the poor Corsican lad, with his solemn face, long, stiff black hair, haughty expression, close-shut Italian mouth, solitary pride of bearing, and unfashionable insular suit, afforded to the throng of noble, mocking effeminates among whom he was washed up as from the sea.

On his entrance into the academy—which was a clean, well-ordered place—Napoleon brought from the Abbe Chardon certificates of moderate proficiency and the usual character-sketch of himself as a pupil. But nothing protected him from the insane animosity of his fellows. They jeered at him in a manner that would have driven a less resolute spirit to despair. Had he been complaisant, he might easily have won peace, if not popularity; but his defiant air seemed to challenge the attacks of the contemptuous crowd.

Deep down in the situation lay the provocation of poverty. The boy perceived the disparagement to which he was subjected on this score; and it maddened him not a little. His most troublesome characteristic was this—that he would not follow in anything. He would lead. He would be first or nothing. Assumption of leadership and the air of it brought on him still greater contumely. The bitterness of the situation sometimes came to the verge of bloodshed. Once he got himself arrested for challenging another to fight him on account of an insulting remark about his father. The sullen boy went muttering to the guard-house. Nor was he restored to condition until Marbœuf had interceded in person with the authorities.

Getting his liberty, Napoleon sought his own company more than ever. For exercise he cultivated a small piece of ground as a garden. There was a hedge round about, and here he could be alone in his keep. All the while he applied himself, with great diligence and concentration of mind, to those studies which he preferred. Such was his willfulness that he virtually made his own curriculum. While becoming proficient in geography, history and mathematics, he neglected the languages, giving indeed to all the politer branches only such modicum of attention as was absolutely demanded.

Out of this epoch come some well-known stories of the student Bonaparte at Brienne. In course of time, his fellow-cadets, understanding him better, became first tolerant, and then friendly. Friendship in the case of the proud and arbitrary cadet meant subjection to his will. While he could not be companionable in sports, he could and would command. The existence of the tradition about his dividing his fellows into two armies, building a fort in winter out of snow (building it, too, according to the principles of good engineering!), making a siege, with snowballs for bombs, and with all the seriousness of Genghis Khan carrying the place by storm, may well attest his disposition and growing ascendency at the academy.

The young Napoleon remained at Brienne from April of 1779 to the year 1784. The inspector Keralio, coming from Paris to the military school, discerned in the slender cadet from Ajaccio the hints of promise. The method was in such cases to send up students from the minor academies to the Military School of Paris. Sometimes promotion was made directly to the navy; and this was considered a great honor. It appears that the inspector would have had Cadet Bonaparte sent to the fleet; but the officer died before his wish could be fulfilled.

Accordingly, at the end of Napoleon's course at Brienne, he was recommended for promotion to the military school in Paris. At this time, namely, in 1784, when Napoleon was in his sixteenth year, he was personally described by the inspector in the following terms: "M. de Bonaparte (Napoleon), born August 15, 1769. Height, 4 pieds, 10 pouces, 10 lignes (=1 metre, 59 centimetres, 3 millimetres=5 feet, 2.7 inches), is in the fourth class; of good constitution, excellent health, mild disposition (mistake there, Inspector!). Is upright, grateful; conduct very regular; has been always distinguished for his application to mathematics; is fairly acquainted with history and geography; is weak in all accomplishments (very true, Monsieur de Keralio!) and Latin. He will make an excellent sailor; deserves promotion to the Military School in Paris."

The character of the young Napoleon at this period of his career reveals in one thing a depth and far-off sight that might well have belonged to the forceful years of his maturity. The thing related to Joseph his brother. From his childhood he had discerned his own natural superiority. Usually the elder subordinates the younger. As early as the coming to Autun, Napoleon excogitated the scheme to lodge his brother on the safe ledge of the priesthood. Thus would he have him out of his way! Given a military career for both, and Joseph must be, by seniority, before him. But nothing shall be before him. Arguments fit for Richelieu are found why Joseph shall enter the Church, rise to distinction, be a Monseigneur, and by that way defend, support and advance the prospects of the family of Buonaparte. As for me, I will accept the hardships of the military life; and maybe something beyond! There are on record several subtle communications written by the young casuist, strongly urging the priestly office as the one thing suitable and advantageous for Joseph. Our future king of Naples or Spain or both, willingly obedient to the imperial scepter, shall testify to our prescience and brotherly wisdom!

JOHN CLARK RIDPATH.

Willie's Reasoning Power.

"Isn't it bettah," said Willie Wishington to his father, "to let anything alone than to do it badly?"

"It certainly is," was the reply.

"Well, that's why I don't twy to make my own living."—Washington Star.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

THIRTY years' observation of Castoria with the patronage of millions of persons, permit us to speak of it without guessing.

It is unquestionably the best remedy for Infants and Children the world has ever known. It is harmless. Children like it. It gives them health. It will save their lives. In it Mothers have something which is absolutely safe and practically perfect as a child's medicine.

Castoria destroys Worms.
Castoria allays Feverishness.
Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd.
Castoria cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic.
Castoria relieves Teething Troubles.
Castoria cures Constipation and Flatulency.
Castoria neutralizes the effects of carbonic acid gas or poisonous air.
Castoria does not contain morphine, opium, or other narcotic property.
Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep.
Castoria is put up in one-size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk.
Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose."
See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must faily be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St

5,000 Pounds

Another big supply of Fresh Country Roll

BUTTER at 18c Per Pound.

Watch for our special sale price list in Thursday's and Saturday's paper.

FULPER'S, 207 West Front St.

SPECIAL!

Gent's suits dyed	$2 25
Gent's suits cleaned	$1.50
Overcoat dyed	$1.50
Ladies' dresses cleaned	$1.50
" " dyed	$1.50
Lace curtains cleaned, a pair	50c
Blankets cleaned	$1.00

G. O. KELLER,

317 WEST FRONT ST.

☞ Goods called for and delivered.

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,

Prescription Druggist,

143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

COLLISION AT BAYONNE

Terrible Rear End Crash on the Royal Blue Line.

Engineer and Fireman Killed—Cars Telescoped and Burned and the Engine Demolished—Fire Department Called to the Scene—Wrecking Trains to the Rescue.

New York, March 2.—The 6 o'clock express of the Royal Blue line, Philadelphia & Reading railroad, was wrecked while passing through Bayonne last evening. At least thirty passengers had a miraculous escape. The engineer and fireman were killed.

The dead are: William Thomas, of Philadelphia, engineer. Winfield Holland, of Philadelphia, Assistant fireman.

The injured are: H. Orrell, of Lafayette, N. J., fireman, contusions of the body and scalp wounds, at Bayonne hospital. Frank Applegate, of Tioga, Pa., bruises on leg and side, not serious. George Hopkins, baggage master, injuries not serious.

The train was the Washington express which left this city at 6 o'clock and Jersey City at 6:12. It was made up of Philadelphia & Reading engine No. 680, a baggage car, smoking car, day coach and one sleeping car in the order named. The train was moving at a high rate of speed through Bayonne where there are four tracks in a cut which extends from Communipaw to Bergen Point. It was on track No. 4. Ahead of it on track No. 4, and moving in the same direction, was a long train of empty coal cars drawn by Philadelphia & Reading engine No. 667.

Rails and Ties Torn Up.

When this train was passing 49th street station, it broke in two. The station agent signalled the engineer of the coal train, who failed to understand what was the matter, but put on the brakes, stopping the front half of his train. The second half crashed into it and one of the empty coal cars was thrown from the track and across track No. 3. The station agent rushed out to signal the express, but it was too late. The big engine, with its four cars, dashed into the derailed coal car within a few seconds of the first accident.

Passengers who were on the train say they felt a sudden check, as the brakes were put on, and then came the crash. The momentum of the massive engine was so great that rails and ties were torn up and empty coal cars were smashed to splinters, and finally when its force was spent, 200 yards away, the engine lay upon its side, a tangled mass of scrap iron. The baggage car telescoped and was utterly demolished. A portion of its roof now rests on top of the coal train. The smoking car left the rails and slid over the top of the tender. The day coach and the sleeper left the tracks but remained on the ground.

The Dead and the Dying.

Half a dozen cars of the coal train were wrecked. Two of them were shoved up the bank under the 46th street bridge, knocking away several of the supports of the bridge.

The wreck caught fire from the engine, and the Bayonne fire department were summoned to the scene. They put out the fire and assisted the railroad men in searching the wreck.

William Thomas, the engineer, stuck to his post. He was taken out and laid on the bank where he died. His legs were broken and he was injured internally.

Fireman Orrell was taken out and carried to the 49th street station. An ambulance surgeon attended to his wounds and he was taken to the Bayonne hospital. He is badly bruised, but not fatally injured. Baggage-master George Hopkins does not know how he got out of his car. Nothing remained of the car, but a portion of the roof. Frank Applegate, a passenger in the smoker, was slightly injured. He proceeded on his journey later in the evening.

Climbing Through the Windows.

The body of Winfield Holland was taken from the wreck after the fire had been put out. The passengers had a bad shaking up and a dozen of them sustained slight bruises. Mr. Applegate was the only one seriously injured. Those who were in the smoking car escaped through the car windows, as both ends of the car were demolished. Express trains to the west were sent by way of the Newark loop.

W. H. Peddle, division superintendent, arrived on the scene shortly after the accident, and two wrecking crews were put at work clearing the tracks. The second, third and fourth tracks were completely blocked.

Foolish Parents.

Montgomery, Ala., March 2.—News was received here yesterday of the horrible death of four children aged from 4 to 14 on a plantation near Glenville. Tom and Dora Williams left their children at home while they went to attend a neighborhood dance and when they returned the smoking ruins of their cottage and the charred remains of their four children told their fate.

Combined for Interest of Employes.

Taunton, Mass., March 2.—The Anthony & Cushman Tack company has gone into the tack combination, as has also a small shop in Raynham. These were the only tack factories in this section and their surrender gives the combination a monopoly here. The owners say business was so dull that there seemed no other way to keep their men at work.

We Fail To See It.

Lansing, Mich., March 2.—In the senate yesterday the following resolution was introduced by Senator Barnum and passed without dissenting vote: Resolved, That the people are to be congratulated that the tariff tinkering, business paralyzing, wage reducing, pension repudiating administration is fast coming to a close.

Wilson's Nomination Confirmed.

Washington, March 2.—The nomination of William L. Wilson, of West Virginia, to be postmaster-general, has been confirmed by the senate and the president notified.

DEATH IN THE RUINS.

Several Workmen Buried Under Tons of Debris.

New York, March 2.—Three men were killed and a dozen more injured yesterday by falling of a building on the northeast corner of Tenth avenue and Forty-third street. A gang of laborers were tearing down an old malt house, when the floor upon which they were working gave way and carried them down into the cellar, where nearly all were buried beneath the rubbish. Two of the men were instantly killed, and another died in the ambulance while being removed to Roosevelt hospital.

The following is a list of the casualties: Hugh Cullen, residence unknown; John O'Connor, 427 West 46th street; Angelo Ticcor, 658 Eleventh avenue.

Charles Robsienn, 552 West 43d street, was probably fatally injured.

The second accident occurred in the afternoon at some buildings being erected at 151 to 157 Orchard street. One is dead, another missing, and is supposed to be buried in the ruins, two others will die and seven are badly injured.

MR. JAMES' IDEAS.

A Western Storekeeper Wants Protection from the East.

San Francisco, March 2.—"Citizens, read this. Eastern manufacturers are starving your industrial classes and bankrupting our business men. The crisis cannot be kept up much longer. Our only relief is a Pacific republic. We tax certain foreign goods. Why not protect ourselves against the east?" are the words of a proclamation posted by David B. James, a pioneer of California, in front of his Market street shop. Mr. James' idea is for all the states west of the Rockies to secede and he thinks it can be accomplished without any gun-play or letting of blood.

HAYWARD MURDER TRIAL.

The State Greatly Damaged the Evidence of Rebuttal.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 2.—The Hayward murder trial was resumed yesterday in spite of the fact that the county attorney is confined to his bed, from prostration. The state damaged the evidence of the defence considerably. Louis Bohm swore that he was present at the conversation between the lieveryman, Wilson, and James Ward, when the former was alleged to have said that it was not Harry but Adry Hayward he saw driving with Miss Ging on the night of the murder. Bohm says the Haywards were not mentioned in their conversation.

Vive Gascogne, Vive Baudelon.

Havre, March 2.—This city was bedecked with flags and the quays were crowded with people yesterday as a mark of welcome to the steamer La Gascogne. The big ship entered the harbor at 130 p. m. A regimental band occupied a place on one of the jetties and played the Marseillaise and other patriotic airs as the vessel came in. The members of the municipality and a large number of leading citizens boarded the steamer and congratulated Captain Baudelon and his officers upon their courage and seamanship in bringing the ship safely into New York.

McKee Rankin's Company Arrested.

Kansas City, Mo., March 2.—Wednesday night, McKee Rankin, the actor, and his company, were arrested under the felony act, on the charge of attempting to defraud a hotel, complaint being brought by the Centropolis hotel. Yesterday the case against Rankin and associates was dismissed and the actor at once employed an attorney to bring suit against the hotel company for $12,000 damages.

Two Hundred Miles a Year.

Ottawa, Ont., March 2.—An important step has been taken by the government regarding the Hudsons Bay railroad. A contract has been entered into which will ensure the immediate commencement of the construction of the road. The promoters intend to go on with the work at the rate of at least two hundred miles a year. Work will be commenced as soon as the weather will permit.

He Stopped Quick.

Plattsmouth, Neb., March 2.—Harry Hill, the murderer of Matt Akeson, was executed at the jail here yesterday. His neck was broken by the fall and he was pronounced dead in sixteen minutes after the drop fell. His crime was committed in 1893 when he killed his former employer, a farmer, who discharged him. Hill also tried to kill Akeson's family.

Mexico's Terrible Disaster.

City of Mexico, March 2.—The loss of life in the wreck on the Interoceanic railway was made known late last evening. Sixty-five persons were killed and forty were injured. The death list is likely to be increased as several passengers who were brought back in the wrecking train are expected to die within twenty-four hours.

Three Years for Murder.

Philadelphia, March 2.—Chas. Zimmerman, aged 16 years, who yesterday pleaded guilty to having killed Julius Simko, another lad, on June 2 last by striking him on the head with a baseball bat during a quarrel, was sentenced by Judge Biddle to three years imprisonment in the Eastern penitentiary.

Lumber Company's Loss.

Ottawa, Ont., March 2.—Fire in Gilmour & Hughson's lumber yards at Ironside last night destroyed between five and six million feet of lumber valued at $100,000. Insurance about one-half. Considerable of the lumber belonged to the Oswego Lumber company.

Sixty-two Years for Murder.

Baltimore March 2.—The five negroes who were recently found guilty of murdering Constable Edward Carver of Somerset county, were yesterday sentenced by Judge Wright. Their various sentences aggregate sixty-two years in the penitentiary.

Oldest Woman in Salem Dead.

Salem, Mass., March 2.—Mrs. Charlotte Bell, the oldest woman in this city, died at the almshouse yesterday, aged 101. Mrs. Bell became an inmate of the house a year ago. She was born in Glasgow, Scotland.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Short Stories of Heroism from Real Life.

Boarding a Fleet of Ironclads.

March 2, 1868, was the date of the most desperate boarding attack of modern times. The Paraguayans had no navy to cope with the well equipped Brazilian fleet, and Lopez, the dictator of Paraguay, selected 1,200 of his fierce Indian warriors, the pick of his army, to attack the enemy's ironclads in the river below Humanita. The men were all good swimmers and divers, with the hardy habits of their race. Armed with carbines, revolvers, hatchets and hand grenades, the boarders embarked in 48 canoes divided into eight sections—one for each ironclad. The canoes were overhung with leafy branches to resemble the floating islands occasionally seen in the Paraguay river and just before daylight drifted under stealthy paddles toward the fleet. They had almost reached it when the island collided with a Brazilian guardboat. The guard backed off and pulled for the nearest ironclad, the double turret Lima Barrios, followed by the mad canoemen, who broke their sections, 14 canoes going at the Barrios, 12 at the Cabral and the others scattering to assail the ones lying at a distance.

The boarders swarmed over the sides of the Barrios, and a bloody fight took place around the turrets. The Brazilian officers were cut down on deck, and terrible slaughter was caused by hand grenades thrown into the crowded turrets and through the ports of the gun chambers. The Cabral met the same fate as the Barrios, but the Brazil—a ten gunner—having a head of steam, made for the cluster of vessels where the battle was raging and swept the decks of the captive ships with grape. The Paraguayans who survived the fusillade jumped into the water and were given the choice of surrender or death. They chose the latter, and the Brazilians got but 13 prisoners out of 900 involved in the disaster. On the decks of the Lima Barrios and Cabral lay the bodies of 140 Paraguayans, and those killed by Brazilian marksmen while swimming away swelled the loss among the boarders to 400 killed.

A Parting Shot From Little Phil.

March 2, thirty years ago, Sheridan gave a parting shot to the enemy in the valley of Virginia. When the Union cavalry prepared to leave the valley and march to re-enforce Grant at Petersburg, the Confederates, under Early, rallied at Waynesboro. Early gave out word that a bloody battle must be fought there before Little Phil and his 10,000 sabers should pass through the gaps, eastward. Custer led Sheridan's advance, his troops galloping on in a pouring rain until held up by a heavy line of breastworks west of the town. A brigade was sent around the enemy's left flank, while Custer himself led two brigades, mounted and dismounted, direct in front. The most daring feat of the day was performed by the Eighth New York and First Connecticut regiments. They charged in column, mounted, riding over the breastworks and not stopping until they swept through the town and across South river beyond it. There they halted and turned about squarely in rear of the Confederates. The Eighth New York captured 800 prisoners, double the number in its ranks. The commanding officer, Major Compson, shot Early's horse and nearly captured the general, who, with a bodyguard of 15 or 20 men, was riding away to the mountains. Sheridan got everything except the leaders and Rosser's fleet cavalry. Waynesboro ended the warfare in the Shenandoah. GEORGE L. KILMER.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine I handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

Death of John Day.

John Day, a brother of James Day who has recently been granted a license for a saloon on West Third street, died in the Morris Plains Asylum yesterday morning. Undertaker Casey brought the remains to this city last evening. The late Mr. Day had been in the asylum more than six years.

Lots of Business Now.

Nellie Mulian, who was arrested yesterday noon by Marshal Wilson in the borough for being drunk and disorderly, was arraigned this morning before Magistrate Crossley, and on her promise to leave town, sentence was suspended.

Charles Sprague, drunk and disorderly, was fined $5 or 10 days in jail.

—J. B. Guttridge of Netherwood has placed a National cash register in his store.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values IN UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains.

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality.

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c. at

49 cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

☞ Mail orders promptly fil ed.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street Newark, N. J.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B C F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; se if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose	7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose	10c pair
" " " double knee	18c pair
" " " extra heavy	25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handkerchiefs	5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs	5c

210 West Front Street.

FEBRUARY PRICES.

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,

73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.

Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

PRICES DURING FEBRUARY.

Tapestry Brussels carpet per yard, only	50c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only	$10
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, only	$20
Velvet carpet per yard, only	75c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only	$15
Antique oak sideboards, only	$13 50
Extra super all-wool ingrain carpet per yard, only	50c
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, in rug covering, only	$30
Fancy couches and lounges, only	$5
Low-priced ingrain carpet per yard, only	25c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only	$20
Body Brussels carpet per yard, only	85c
Antique oak chiffoniers with mirrors, only	$8.75
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, in silk covering, only	$40
Dining-room chairs, high back, antique oak, per set only	$7.50
Antique oak extension tables, only	$8.50
Oilcloth per yard, only	20c
Hall stands, only	$5.50
Antique oak bedroom suits, only	$25
Three ply carpet per yard, only	75c

PORTLAND RANGES—The prices on these Ranges are not reduced, as we are not allowed to do so by the manufacturers. We have made reductions in all other departments not mentioned above at the same rate as in this ad. Easy terms. Goods delivered free to all parts of the State.

STORING FURNITURE—Having just erected a new building at 88, 90 and 92 Bank st., we can safely say that we have the most complete Storage Building in the State, and at such low rates. All ocked rooms. Furniture moved with vans by careful men in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

HEATH & DRAKE

Pushing Things

We are pushing things all along the line.

Dress ginghams, value 10c, at

6 cents

Dress ginghams, value 25c, at

19 cents.

Breakfast napkins, value $1 70, at

$1 45 doz

Huck towels, value 15c, at 12½ Cts.

Bleached table damask value 90c, at

75c.

Linen sheets 2½x2¾, value $5, at

$4 50 pr

8x10 table cloth linen, val. $2 25, at

$2.00.

Black Damasse satin, value $1 25, at $1.00

Black satin Duchesse, value 84c, at

69 c

Real Japanese silks, figured, value 50c, at

39c.

52-inch all wool granite mixtures, value 75c, at

59c.

44-inch wool Argyle suitings, in small seeded effects, value 69c, at

50c.

Free delivery to Plainfield and vicinity

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, That the account of the subscriber, administrator of Adele Feytel deceased will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the seventeenth day of April next.

CHARLES JOSEPH FEYTEL.

Dated February 11, 1895. 2 16 10

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, Executor of Robert Palmer, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the Seventeenth day of April next.

JOHN S. McLEAN.

Dated February 11, 1895. 2 16 10

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1 50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 26 1m

Central Employment Office

218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.

All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first-class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Cigars, Etc.

128 NORTH AVENUE.

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY,

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET,

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Telephone call, 39 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge 9 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit.

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, India rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 6 p. m. H. HORNISH, 26 North ave., Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockfellow and T. S. Armstrong, Esq.

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, MARCH 4, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY. $5 A YEAR.

A LIFE TO EXEMPLIFY.

Pastor Alexander Relates the Career of Douglass to Bethel Congregation.

In Bethel Chapel last night Rev. Wm. A. Alexander preached a memorial sermon on the life and death of Frederick Douglass, in which he reviewed the interesting events of his career and drew conclusions which would be profitable for his hearers to follow.

He told how Douglass as an ex-fugitive slave rose from humble obscurity to a prominent and important place among the eminent men of the world, and in the future it would be impossible to record the annals of the history without mentioning his name as one of the public men for a period of 54 years who had taken an active part in making its history. His hardships were many while agitating abolition, but when this point was gained his occupation and prominence did not go with it, for he was a versatile man and turned his efforts into other profitable channels, such as the still further education and enlightenment of the Negro, and the extension of the ballot to him. In fact after the slave question had been settled, he grew more in importance and influence than ever before. In all his life of activity he received less criticism than is the lot of the average public man. In closing he said that his life and character presents to the colored man of today a bright hope of success, for none of them are deprived of the advantages which Douglass was compelled to forego.

"THE LAND OF FLOWERS."

Personally-Conducted Tours to Florida via Pennsylvania Railroad.

Undoubtedly one of the most original and highly satisfactory creations of the Pennsylvania Railroad is the inauguration of personally-conducted tours under the supervision and direction of a Tourist Agent and Chaperon, and the marked success and popularity of the tours to Florida are due to several causes; the complete appointment of the special trains, the liberality of the rate and the return limit of tickets, are among the features that have attracted the traveling public.

The next tour of this year's series to Jacksonville, allowing two-weeks stay in Florida, will leave New York and Philadelphia March 12. The rate, including transportation, meals en route, and Pullman berth on special train in each direction, is $50 from New York and $48 from Philadelphia; proportionate rates from other points.

For further information apply to Ticket Agents, or address Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York, or Room 411, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, to whom application for space should also be made.

ALWAYS ADVANCING.

Another Progressive Step of the Commercial Palace.

Mr. Edsall of the Commercial Palace has been so fortunate as to secure the services of S. G. Wrentmore of Brooklyn as buyer and manager of his dry and fancy goods department, who has held a similar position for the past fourteen years with Abraham & Straus, Frederick Loser & Co., and Journey & Burnham of Brooklyn. He began his engagement this morning and will remove with his family to this city in a few weeks.

This is another progressive step of this progressive house, and doubtless will largely increase the sales in this department. We congratulate both Mr. Edsall and Mr. Wrentmore in this new enterprise, and gladly welcome him to our beautiful city, which we think is just a little ahead of Brooklyn as a city to dwell in.

Leading Up to Communion.

Beginning tonight a week of prayer will be held in Hope Chapel, conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. K. Newell. Following are the topics for each evening at 8:

Monday—"The Christian's First Duty"—Matt. 22:35-38.

Tuesday—"The Christian's Second Duty"—Matt. 22-39.

Wednesday—Young people's meeting—"Everything for God"—Luke, 14:25-33.

Thursday—"The Christian's Hope"—Col. 1:27.

Friday—Preparatory service before Communion—Ps. 139:23-24.

—Competent work women at low wages may be obtained through the Employment Committee of the Citizens Organized Aid Association, as announced in the "Want and Offer" column of The Daily Press.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

AFTER THE GIRLS.

Sportive Plainfield Damsels Raided by Police.

MOLLIE STEVENS AGAIN A VICTIM.

Lawyer DeMeza Takes the Officers to Task for Chasing into the House After the Females—Judge Coddington Merciful to the Wayward.

Mollie Stevens, the belle of Plainfield's tenderloin population, smiled contemptuously on Policeman Cooney this morning after securing a discharge from the custody of the law, into which she became entangled between 11:30 and 12 Saturday night, for too hilarious conduct near her domicile on North avenue.

Mollie and her mother were arrested by Policemen Cooney and Frederickson and housed in the city bastile, where they pondered over Sunday on the cruelty of the law and mentally castigated the guardians of peace so that their ears fairly tingled with that sensation that ensues when people are talking about one.

Mollie was the first to take her place before the tribunal of justice in the dingy police station this morning.

"What is the charge?"—asked Judge Coddington.

"I don't know, sir"—replied Mollie with a sober and dejected countenance.

It devolved on Policeman Cooney to present the charge. He said he was coming down North avenue from the 11:30 train Saturday night, and saw the prisoner and another woman ("Box-car Annie" McDonald) yelling and kicking-up in general. They yelled at a drunken man across the street, and asked for cigarettes from a passing party of five young men Pretty soon Mr. Stevens came along with a package of meat, and the girls hid in a hallway so that he would not see them. Just then Cooney moved on the enemy, so to speak, and obscured himself and uniform in another door way. After Stevens went into the house the girls again emerged into sight, and the policeman started after them, but Mollie ran upstairs into her home, while Annie also disappeared from the scene and future incarceration.

The policeman started after her, but got lost in the dark stairway, and had to return to the front door, where he quietly waited for ten minutes, when Mollie came down stairs to look the door, with a lighted lamp. As soon as she saw him she dropped the lamp, and Cooney nabbed her. Miraculously the lamp did not explode.

"Your honor,"—concluded the policeman—"she was drunk and yelling and kicking up in general."

"What do you say to the charge?"—asked the Judge.

"Not guilty, sir"—replied Mollie with much emphasis.

Attorney George DeMeza appeared for the prisoner and caused more excitement than is usual in police court

"What right had you to go in the house after her?"—fiercely demanded the lawyer of the policeman.

"On business."

"What business?"

"To arrest her."

"Had she escaped from you—did you have your hands on her?"

"No, sir."

"What was her condition?"

"She had two conditions."

"Was she drunk?"

"Yes."

"How do you know?"

"I could tell by the way her tongue went."

"Where?"

"Here in the station-house."

"Where else?"

The officer repeated about her calling to a drunken man and asking for cigarettes.

"Did you hear her use any improper language?"

"I was n't near enough."

"Is it any crime to beg cigarettes?"

"Not that I know of."

"That's all"—concluded the attorney.

Mr. DeMeza claimed that the charge was not substantiated, and asked the Court to dismiss the case.

Here Policeman Frederickson was called, and told how he had assisted in making the arrest of Mrs. Stevens, and also told how he saw Mollie trying to kick a hat held by several young men at the North Avenue station one night two weeks ago. Inasmuch as this incident had nothing to do with the Saturday night occurrence, it was not considered in this charge.

As there had been no convincing evidence as to the charge, Judge Coddington discharged the prisoner with the warning that if any such charges were ever substantiated he would punish her with the full penalty of the law.

Mrs. Stevens was next arraigned on the charge of drunkenness, interfering with Policeman Cooney in arresting Mollie, and using profane language towards the policeman, and threatening to have his brass buttons removed before Monday morning.

Policeman Cooney said that Mrs. Stevens was drunk, and besides trying to rescue Mollie fell down stairs. Mrs. Stevens was very anxious to testify, and when she got a chance she talked 300 words a minute. She said that her husband brought home some meat Saturday night, and while they were inspecting it she heard Mollie holler murder down stairs She went down, and saw Policeman Cooney arresting her girl. Mollie, she said, did n't get drunk, but was subject to fits and spasms, and she told the policeman so, but it did n't do any good. When he started away with her she told him about having him taken off the force. Then she went up stairs and very soon Policeman Frederickson came up and arrested her. "Sure, Judge"—she said—"I was so excited then; I had more trouble then seeing about the meat than I am into now; going down stairs I caught my foot in a piece of carpet and fell two steps; I did n't fall down stairs, I was n't drunk; I only had a glass of beer. The policeman acted more like a drunken man than anyone else, and, more, he did n't have no right to come into my house."

Mollie was then sworn, to substantiate her mother's statement.

"Was your mother drunk?"—asked Lawyer DeMeza.

"She was n't drunk"—replied Mollie.

"Was she sober?"

"She was sober."

Mollie heard her say "damn", at which Lawyer DeMeza added that the Supreme Court held that "damn" was not profane. Mrs. Stevens said she also was subject to spasms, which caused her being arrested for being drunk once.

Judge Coddington fined her $3 for using unseemly language to the policemen, and let the drunkenness charge pass.

The fine was paid.

"THE GOLDEN GATE."

Second Tour by Way of the Peerless Pennsylvania Railroad.

The large number of people who have leisure, and the growing desire of Americans to see the wonders of their native land, are the principal agencies in advancing a healthy sentiment in favor of travel.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company's personally-conducted tours to California will be conducted in all respects as those of preceding years, with some added advantages, which cannot fail to attract the attention and enlist the interest of the tourist.

In addition to the high-grade accomodations and entertainment in transit, the Pennsylvania tourists are treated with the same liberality wherever the journey is broken. The choicest rooms in the leading hotels are always reserved for their use, for which regular rates are paid, so that the guests, although members of a large party, enjoy all the privileges of individuals who may have made their own selections.

The second tour in the 1895 series to the Golden Gate will leave New York and Philadelphia March 20, 1895, arriving at San Francisco March 29, and at New York and Philadelphia May 16, 1895.

Detailed itinerary will be sent on application to Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York, or Room 411, Broad Street station, Philadelphia.

Clever Codding.

The legislative correspondent of The World had the following in yesterday's paper concerning the brilliant Westfield lawyer who was graduated from the printer's case:

"By all odds the cleverest politician in the House of Assembly this year is Charles N. Codding. He is playing politics all the time, and he is more familiar with the game than some who get credit for knowing a lot more than he does. Never does he lose sight of the fact that he is there as a Republican, and never does he forget that he wants to pass certain bills and defeat others. To accomplish his purposes he uses his plausible manner for all that is worth and he is making a wonderful success as a 'jollier'. As Chairman of the Committee on Municipal Corporations he has been carrying the Hudson members particularly on a string by the fairy tales that he pours into their ears. At the close of the session he will willingly mingle his tears when they get to weeping over blasted hopes."

Not Only But Also.

"The best way to remember anything is by association"—said the kindhearted school master.—"Now I 'll tell you again that 'non modo sed etiam' means 'not only but also'." Kill two birds with the same stone by associating this with another fact in this way: Edward Love, corner of North and Watchung avenues "not only" sells wall paper, but also paints, carpets, shades and glass.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

LAST SAD RITES.

Dr. Yerkes Speaks With Feeling at Levi Hetfield's Funeral.

The services at the funeral of the late Levi Hetfield Saturday afternoon were attended by many who had been acquaintances of his through an exemplary life, and as conducted by Dr. D. J. Yerkes were simple yet impressive.

The music was by Elmer E. Runyon, Geo. O. Stevens and B. T. Barnes, who sang "Rock of Ages", "Abide With Me", and "Nearer My God to Thee".

Dr. Yerkes commenced by reading a few verses of Scripture appropriate to such an occasion. After drawing an example for the living from the sad event, he spoke with great feeling as to his personal observations of the characteristics of dedecent. He said that Mr. Hetfield had lived a great many years in the community, and had always maintained a character among his fellow citizens. He was a man of conviction and conscientiousness, as he knew from personal association with him in church work. The positions of importance which he had held attested to the confidence people had in him; especially so when it is known that the illness which brought on death came from a fidelity to a trust that had been reposed in him.

The remains were interred in Evergreen Cemetery.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Old Sol made yesterday a very pleasant day for pleasure walks.

—The Board of School Trustees meets tonight in the High School Building.

—Two new houses are being built by Smith & Weber on West Front street.

—The Y. M. C. A. men's meeting yesterday was attended by 201, and the boys meeting by 62.

—Look it up—VanEmburgh & Son's ad in tomorrow's Press. Special. Samples now in window.

—Sewerage is the most important business to be considered at the Council meeting tonight.

—A number will be taken into the membership of Bethel Chapel on East Fifth street Friday evening.

—The contest between the Park and Country Clubs Friday evening will take place in the Park clubhouse.

—The sale of the Elkwood Building, advertised for today, is postponed to Thursday, March 7, at 2 p. m.

—A meeting of the Young Ladies Missionary society of the First Baptist Church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.

—James Emmons, for being drunk Saturday, was fined $5 in police court this morning, and took the pledge for six months.

—"Clarence L. Murphy, Law Office", is the legend that was tacked up at the entrance of the Schwed Building this morning.

—L. W. Lindsley, a musical prodigy on the harmonica, will give an entertainment in Bethel Chapel Thursday evening, March 14.

—The Epworth League of the Monroe Avenue Chapel will give a musical and literary entertainment in the chapel tomorrow night.

—The doll show given Thursday evening in the Crescent Avenue Church will be repeated some Saturday afternoon for the young people.

—The first lenten lecture of W. D. Murray will be given in the Y. M. C. A. Building tonight. Women as well as men are invited.

—Six persons united with Trinity Reformed Church at the Communion service yesterday morning, three by letter and three on confession.

—Albert Jaegar, the West End tonsorial artist, will remove his business April 1, at the corner of South Second street and Spooner avenue.

—Plainfield people who had occasion to use the trolley cars yesterday were informed that "She Could n't Marry Three" was due in this city shortly.

—The Danger Signal Company arrived in Plainfield yesterday afternoon at 2, and had a rehearsal in Music Hall at 3 Tonight will be their first performance of the season.

—The Young Men's League of Monroe Avenue Chapel will hold their regular business meeting Wednesday evening. All members should be present, for important business is to be transacted.

—That flourishing and dividend-paying institution, the City National Bank, has had its charter extended 20 years, as announced in the Comptroller's official publication in The Press today.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. R. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

IN THE VALLEY.

Here Amid Nature's Glories People Never Grow Old.

BUT THEY LIVE TO A RIPE OLD AGE

Interesting Glimpse of the Life Lived Over the Plainfield Hills, with Biographical Notes of "Grandma" Stead, Who Is Rounding Out Her Century.

The golden sunlight and the balmy air tempted a reporter of The Daily Press into a country drive a few days after the blizzard which made February an interesting month; and he found a convenient and hospitable stopping-place in the farmhouse of Aaron Allen, one of the highly esteemed citizens of Washington Valley. The road wound between high banks of the white frost-flowers which had drifted before the sweeping winds, and which had for two days held the farmers snowbound and busy digging their way out to civilization again. The broad expanse of valley, and the mountain sides and crests, were a gleam of snow, the trees with their sombre trunks relieving the glare. The sun was kissing the Winter landscape a goodnight smile, and in spite of the ice-king's grip on its verdant beauty the Jersey hills and farms made a glorious vision. Viewing the scene from the windows of the Allen homestead, and looking across the adjoining farm of Aaron's brother Elias, who is a North Plainfield Town Committeeman, the observer's eye had a superb sweep over the panorama.

The ancestors of Aaron Allen had an eye for beauty and good judgment of farm land, who settled in Washington Valley. They built a comfortable home on the hill side, and by their thrift made the land they acquired yield abundantly. The farm is a tidy and prosperous one today, and it has been in the family and operated by it more than 150 years.

The reporter who on this passing Winter afternoon was the guest of Mr. Allen felt there must be a vast delight in summering among those everlasting hills and drinking in the pure air and the visible delights of the splendid valley. Mr. Allen replied that they were besought continually by city people to open their house to them as Summer visitors, and he pointed to the longevity of the inhabitants of the region as proof of the vitalizing qualities of the wholesome living and divine atmosphere they enjoyed. He himself—he explained—was 75, though he did n't look it; and his mother-in-law who lived with him but who was then taking her afternoon nap was nearly at the close of her century.

This aged woman—the writer learned—was a widely-known and well-loved resident of the Valley—a veritable landmark. Her name is Mrs. Sophia Berkman Stead, but she is familiarly and affectionately called "Grandma" Stead by everyone in the country around.

"Grandma" Stead is one of the few remaining links between the present and colonial times. Mrs. Stead's father, Johnathan Berkman, was a descendant of the Berkman family of Holland, and came to this country on a traveling tour when quite a young man in the early days of the Revolution. Towards the close of the war he joined our forces, and fought for the country he had chosen to adopt as his own.

In 1790 he settled in Hunterdon County and it was on this farm that his daughter Sophia was born May 3, 1798. In 1819 Sophia was married to Thomas Stead, an Englishman who owned a large hat factory near Plainfield, where he carried on an extensive business for years. Failing health and losses occasioned by the civil war compelled him to retire from active life. He died in 1871, at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Allen, in the 84th year of his age. Mr. Stead was a devoted Christian. He was a deacon of the First Baptist Church of this city for 40 years, and Mrs. Stead is the oldest member of the same church. Seventy years ago she made her profession of faith, and has ever lived a consistent life, showing by her walk and conversation the power and efficiency of divine grace. Two children survive her, Mrs. Allen of Washington Valley, and Thomas Stead who resides at 39 West 20th street, New York city. Mrs. Harrison Coddington of Somerset street is the only grandchild of this aged relict, her three children being "Grandma" Stead's great-grandchildren. John Stein and his sisters of Greenbrook road are also related to Mrs. Stead, they being her sister's children.

"Grandma" Stead has lived with her son-in-law Aaron nearly a quarter of a century. She has always been hale and active till a severe attack of grip this Winter, which, it was feared, would result fatally, and which has left her weak. Her remarkably vigorous constitution and her cheerful temperament, have, with good nursing, sustained her.

A delight to the younger generation are the tales which "Grandma" tells so vividly and well of the oldtime days. Country customs and rural frolics she describes with a zest that make her a living story book of history; and a quaint and interesting relic of the habits of those early days which are so different from ours, is her placid way of drawing inspiration and invigoration from the pipeful of tobacco which has long been a constant companion, modern cigarette smoking among women being but a revival of this colonial custom.

Aaron Allen too can tell good stories of the past, and sitting by the roaring wood fire in the February twilight he glowingly described to the Press man the husking bees and harvest homes of the good old days. He told in full detail how the homespun was made from the flax raised on the farm, and said that if a chap caught on a knot in the top rail of a fence he was bound to hang, as the clothes of those days would never tear, and were mighty hard to wear out.

Mrs. Harrison Coddington, with true devotion, came in to bestow loving attention on her people, as the reporter was leaving; and he took with him a picture of genuine home happiness, and left good wishes that not only "Grandma" Stead but also Mr. Allen would live to round out a perfect century.

M'CUTCHEN WINS.

Park Club Billiard Tournament Ended.

The billiard tournament at the Park Club was finished Saturday night when Wm. McCutchen and Charles H. Lyman played off the game in which they were tied for first place at the close of the regular series Thursday evening, the first named winning the final game and the prize of $5. There were 18 entries in the tournament, but only a few finished the nine games necessaro to compete for the prize. The five highest scores were as follows:

	WON	LOST.
W. McCutchen	8	2
Lyman	8	2
S. McCutchen	7	2
VanDeventer	8	5
Townsend	5	4

The pool tournament is not yet completed, but in all probability C. H. Lyman will finish first in the series. There were 16 entries in this contest, it being necessary to finish 8 games in order to receive an average.

Sang Favorite Hymns.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational Church held prayer and praise meeting last evening as the monthly consecration meeting. Each present offered a short prayer or mentioned a favorite hymn, which then was sung. Horace J. Martin led the singing. The attendance was large, and the meeting successful.

Urbane Ed Calling on Friends.

Ed Marble, for a number of years connected with Geo. Thatcher's minstrel troupe as interlocutor and stage manager, was in Plainfield Saturday night calling on friends. He is now engaged in the production of a musical melodrama.

Teaches Them to Save.

Since its organization two months ago the Provident Fund society in connection with Hope Chapel is meeting with good success. Up to date about $150 has been put into the fund by the young people of the chapel.

Good Time for Boys.

The Boys Club entertainment Saturday night was enjoyed by 74 boys. Peter Kane played the harmonica, Fred Frey and Joe Galbraith danced, all the boys sang, and Supt. Marx talked pleasantly.

A Talk From India.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Park Avenue Baptist Church will hold their annual meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3, and will be addressed by a missionary from India.

As Pitiful as Degraded.

The unusual sight of a middle-aged and well-dressed woman passing along the principal streets and picking up cigar and cigarette stubs from the gutters, was observed in Plainfield Saturday.

The Challenge Accepted.

The Union County Country Club have accepted the challenge of the Park Club for an all-round contest at bowling, billiards, pool and whist, which will take place Friday evening of this week.

—The Hope Chapel Sewing class will meet Thursday afternoon at 3:30.

—The death of Levi Hetfield was the fifth which has taken place among the Board of Directors of the Dime Savings Bank within a year and a half.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c

BURNED HIM FOR A JOKE

Sunday Saloon Crowd Set Fire to a Sleeping Man.

They First Poured Oil Over His Shoes—Awoke To Find Himself in Flames—Beer Their Extinguisher. Suffering at the Hospital—No Arrests Made.

New York, March 4.—Michael Keating, a poor gardener, who makes a scanty living by doing odd jobs around the city, lies in Bellevue hospital in intense pain, as the result of a practical joke played on him yesterday.

The incident occurred in the saloon at 225 East 35th street at a time when all saloons were supposed to be closed, and the victim is so badly injured that he will be unable to walk for several days.

No Arrests Made.

No one has been arrested and the police of the East 35th street station, in whose precinct the saloon is situated, stated that they had no evidence which would permit them to make a prisoner of the saloonkeeper for violation of the excise law.

According to Keating's story he was in the saloon at noon yesterday, and under the influence of too much beer, fell asleep with his feet against the stove. There was a gang of half a dozen young men whom he knew in the saloon at the time.

After sleeping for about half an hour an intolerable pain in his feet awakened him. He found himself surrounded by the youths, who were laughing hugely, and pointing to his shoes, which were all ablaze.

Fought Fire with Beer.

He jumped out of his chair with a yell, and snatching a glass of beer, threw the contents on his feet and put out the flames.

Then he hobbled into the street, and, sitting down on the curb stone, pulled off the damaged shoes and began to cool his burned and blistered feet in the snow in the gutter.

Policeman Fox came along and Keating told his the story. He helped him to the East 35th street police station, and then telephoned for an ambulance in which the sufferer was conveyed to Bellevue hospital.

A Kerosene Trick.

Sergeant Linderman, who had the desk in the station house when Keating was brought in, sent Policeman Fox back to the saloon to arrest the bartender if he could obtain evidence that the excise law was being violated, but the officer returned with the statement that the saloon was closed and he was unable to get in.

The place was crowded last night, however, when a reporter visited it, and the bartender pointed out several men present who acknowledged that while Keating was asleep, they had sprinkled kerosene oil on to his shoes and beneath them and then dropped a lighted match on the shoes "as a joke."

ALLEGHENY PEOPLE IN TERROR

Streets Patrolled All Night To Watch the Ice Gorge.

Pittsburg, March 4.—Reports from up the Allegheny river show that the large ice gorges at and above Kittanning have not yet moved out, and there does not appear to be enough of water in the river to budge the ice. The people of Kittanning and other towns above, where the gorges are expected to break, anxiously patrolled the streets yesterday waiting for the upheaval which seemed bound to come at any minute, but all agree that there is not enough water to move the large body of ice, and this has somewhat diminished the nervous strain.

His Head Blown Off.

McKeesport, Pa., March 4.—William Morgan, age 55, married, and William Will, 25, were killed by an explosion of sulphuric acid gas at the National Tube works yesterday. Together with William Laveete they were about to unload a car of acid into a reservoir tank when the explosion occurred. Both men were blown some distance and Will's head was torn off. Morgan's neck was broken. Laveete escaped death but was badly burned.

Shot Dead Before His Children.

Pittsburg, March 4.—Louis Schaiver, a laborer, aged 45, committed suicide at his home yesteray by shooting himself in the head with a flobert rifle. Schaiver had been drinking for sometime past. When his wife left the house for a moment Schaiver got the rifle and before his two little children in the room, shot himself dead.

Where Is Little Fred?

Seymour, Conn., March 4.—Nelson Frederick Marion, the 10-year-old son of Nelson Marion, has been missing since Saturday. He was last seen at a store where his father is employed. It is feared that the lad may have fallen through the ice in a pond near his home. The little chap was a very bright and intelligent boy.

Was She His Wife?

Providence, R. I., March 4.—A man and woman were found dead in bed at the National hotel, on Orange street, in this city yesterday. The gas jet was turned, presumably by accident, and death resulted from asphyxiation. The man has been identified as Bernard Murphy, married, aged 26. The woman is unknown.

$50,000 Fire in St. Louis.

St. Louis, March 4.—Fire from an unknown cause yesterday destroyed the buildings and machinery of the Parker-Russell Fire Brick Manufacturing company at Oak Hill avenue and Morganford road. Loss $50,000; fully insured.

The Prince a Suicide.

Odessa, March 4.—Prince Achille Napoleon Murat killed himself in his house at Zougdidi yesterday. He was suffering from fever and had been delirious for several days.

Charged with Arson.

Malden, Mass., March 4.—Martin J. Crowe was arrested here yesterday, charged with arson, the complaint alleging that he set fire to the house of his sister.

NORTON'S HIRED ASSASSIN.

His Drunken "Scab" Uses a Pistol as a Means To Collect Fares.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 4.—There was quite an exciting time in front of the Long Island railroad station, Atlantic avenue, yesterday morning, when one of the new conductors on President Norton's cars shot twice at two passengers with whom he had had a quarrel over their fare.

Two men jumped on the car. One was in sailor costume and the other in plain clothing. They had, they said, been transferred from the Seventh avenue line. The conductor demanded their fare, and the men refused to pay, saying that they had paid their fare on a Seventh avenue car, and the conductor on that car said the Fifth avenue car would carry them to their destination without paying another fare. On their refusal to pay, the conductor ordered them off the car, and the men threatened to do him bodily injury, so he claims. It was then that he drew a revolver and fired one shot at the two men. They ran to the door and jumped off, at the same time calling the conductor a "scab." Conductor Appleton then ran to the rear platform and fired another shot at the two men, who ran in the direction of Flatbush avenue. Two policemen heard the shots and one of them rode to the end of the route where he placed the conductor under arrest for carrying a concealed weapon.

JAPS AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

Their Forces Prove Too Powerful for the Chinese.

London, March 4.—The Hai-Cheng correspondent of the Central News telegraphs under the date of Feb. 28:

"The first army to-day attacked the enemy encamped between the Liaoyang and New-Chwang roads. The Fifth brigade engaged the right wing, routed it, and drove it back toward Daifuton. The main column attacked and routed the enemy at Changhotai. The Sixth brigade marched along the Liaoyang road, joined the main division, and with it occupied Tungyentai and the immediate neighborhood in the direction of the Liaoyang.

"The Japanese loss was ten killed and eighty-two wounded. The Chinese left 150 dead on the field."

A Central News dispatch from Pekin says that Li Hung Chang, the head of China's new peace mission, is still at the capital. He has conferred with all the conspicuous officials and most of the European diplomatists.

There is a unanimous desire among men of influence in Pekin that United States Minister Denby help the Chinese mission by acting as intermediary in arranging for the meeting of the negotiators and the course of procedure.

NO SYMPATHY FOR EX-PRIESTS.

They Should Not Vilify the Homes That Have Nourished Them.

New York, March 4.—In a sermon which Rev. Thomas Dixon delivered yesterday on "Savannah Riots and Religious Intolerance," he said in reference to the attempt of the Savannah authorities to prevent the ex-Priest Slattery and his wife, the ex-nun, from delivering addresses:

"I have no sympathy with an ex-priest or an ex-nun who attempt to make a living out of their experience learned in the church that nourished them and taught them what they learned. No man should enter a church and after enjoying its benefits come out and vilify it.

"Though I must say that when a priest leaves a church and goes out into the world and vilifies it, there must be something radically wrong with him. He does a vile wrong when he goes out from his nest and befouls it"

TRAIN ROBBERS BAFFLED.

The Engineer and Fireman Save the Cars from Bandits.

Sacramento, March 4.—Two masked men held up the east-bound Southern Pacific overland train near Antelope station, a short distance from this city, yesterday. They climbed over the tender into the cab, and covering the engineer and fireman with revolvers, ordered them to stop and compelled them to uncouple the express car. At this stage the engineer and fireman turned on the robbers and succeeded, after a short struggle, in fighting them off.

And He Did.

Alliance, O., March 4.—"I am tired of collecting for other people; I am going to collect for myself to-day," jocularly remarked Howard Yocum, the driver for the Adams Express company. At noon he left the office with a large number of packages and failed to return. After a search the express wagon was found abandoned in the south part of the town, empty. The police cannot find Yocum and the express company will not say how much money he had collected.

The Tramp Murderer in Jail.

Rahway, N. J., March 4.—John Stone, the tramp who shot and killed Special Police Officer Alfred E. Jewell, of this city, while Jewell and other officers were attempting to arrest Stone and a gang of fellow tramps, waived examination yesterday, and was committed to the county jail in Elizabeth. Stone realized that his situation Saturday night was anything but a pleasant one, as it needed nothing but a determined leader to cause the crowd to cheat the law.

Bloodhounds After Him.

Lakeland, Fla., March 4.—A negro who has been working in this city tried to assault the 8-year-old daughter of Mrs. C. F. Holton yesterday morning. Mrs. Holton heard the screams of the child in time, and went to her assistance. The negro made his escape before he had time to accomplish his aim. Bloodhounds have been sent for, and it is thought that he will yet be caught and lynched.

They Are After Him.

Council Bluffs, Ia., March 4.—Sheriff Hazen yesterday received a telegram from the mayor of Carson, Ia., saying that a man supposed to be Riley, the escaped Griswold bank burglar, had been captured there and was being held awaiting identification. Officers have started for Carson to bring the prisoner here.

Down He Went.

Manchester, N. H., March 4.—James Welch threw John O'Brien down a flight of stairs yesterday, inflicting injuries from which O'Brien died this morning. Welch was arrested.

WHO PAYS THE FREIGHT

Criticisms on the International Marriage.

"Le Bon Temps Viendra" There Is a Good Time Coming in the Gould Mansion — Thousands Spent for Flowers — Dollars for the Poor. Will He Prove a False Jewel?

New York, March 4.—To-day is inauguration day in the Gould household. Miss Anna is to wed her pocket edition count, and with it he pockets some $2,000,000 more or less. This great event has kept the upper three-hundred and ninety-nine (McAllister being dead) on the qui vive. This marriage among the plutocracy is very much like a bull fight in Spain; everybody likes it except the contracting parties. Count de Castellane no doubt feels that Ce n'est que le premier pas qui coute. (it is only the first step that is difficult). The families of both the principles are doing their best to "have the affair pass off quietly," but as the day has drawn near it has made more noise than a detonate of artillery. Miss Anna says, "le bon temps viendra" (there is a good time coming). But we shall find at the Faux pas of the little count the world will say, "I told you so." Counts come high, and coute qui coute (cost what it may) Miss Anna must have one. As time wears on she may find him a' blase bijou. Voila tout.

What Gold Can Do.

The Gould mansion was in the hands of florists last night. Forty men were at work covering the walls with elaborate floral designs, twining garlands of roses and lilies, and filling alcoves and recesses with banks of palms and exotics. This morning the final touches will be made and at noon the most gorgeous house wedding, probably that this city has ever seen, will take place. Miss Anna Gould, the bride elect, took a walk in the park with the Count de Castellane yesterday afternoon.

Several near friends of the couple called at the house later in the day, and were shown the presents which are said to be the most valuable ever given to a bride in this country.

Detectives on Guard.

After the ceremony has been performed and the breakfast disposed of the presents will be displayed in the library. Several detectives are on guard inside and outside of the house, and they will remain until the count and countess depart.

It is said that the couple will go to Lakewood to remain until Wednesday, when they will sail for France. Whether this is the correct programme or not only the count and one or two others can tell.

An unique feature of to-day's proceedings, and which is said to be an idea of Miss Anna Gould's, will be a feast provided for one thousand poor children at the very hour the ceremony is taking place.

Blessed Are the Poor.

Both the Misses Gould have been liberal providers for the children of the slums at Christmas and Thanksgiving times, and the four hundred orphans at 225 East 80th street, and as many youngsters as can be gathered from the tenement districts of Rivington, Hester, Orchard and Forsyth streets, will be given a feast at the Allen street Memorial Methodist Episcopal church. Notices were given out in half a dozen east side Sunday schools yesterday, and all the youngsters who apply will be given sandwiches, bricks of ice cream, sponge cake, coffee and candy, all furnished by a well-known caterer.

THEIR NOVEL STRIKE.

Greedy Manufacturers Will Close All Mills To Down Labor.

Paterson, N. J., March 4.—The weavers employed in all the broad silk factories in this city, about forty in number, have decided to inaugurate in a few weeks a novel strike to increase their wages. They propose to strike at one mill at a time, and while it is in progress the operatives are to be supported by the weavers of the other establishments. The manufacturers have prepared themselves and intend to close every mill in the city working on broad goods when the weavers make their first demand.

The officers of the Pioneer Silk company, which last year refused to abide by the Manufacturers' union, will join the combination to squelch the strike that threatens a repetition of the labor troubles of last spring.

Threatened Inundation.

Columbia, Pa., March 4.—The Susquehanna at this place is free of ice, but the river below is still jammed solid. At Washington borough the lower part of the town is threatened with inundation and the tracks of the Columbia & Port Deposit railroad are covered with great masses of ice. Four trains are blocked at Safe Harbor, unable to move either way. Advices from further down the river show no change in the situation.

What Will It Be?

San Francisco, March 4.—Correspondence from Honolulu states that Mrs. Dole is interceding strongly for the ex-queen and that President Dole is reported to be wavering between granting her a full pardon or letting the sentence stand.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

WORKING GIRLS.

WILLING, ABLE, AND AMBITIOUS, But Often Held Back by an Illness They do not Understand.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

A young and intelligent working-girl of Brooklyn, N.Y., graphically pictures the working-girl's life.

Day in and day out, month after month, she toils. She is the bread-winner of the family, and must work that others may live. Rain or shine, warm or cold, she must get to her place of employment sharp on time. With the sunshine and gladness all crushed out of her life, she goes on until she falls.

Oh! this pictures only one of thousands. Some work in cramped positions, but the great majority of working girls, so to speak, live on their feet.

Among the latter the symptoms of female diseases are early manifested by weak and aching backs, pains in the lower limbs and lower part of the stomach. The "monthly period" is irregular: with some profuse, with others a cessation. The sure symptom, leucorrhœa, is present, and with faintness, weakness, loss of appetite and sleep. She may be sure that a womb trouble assails her. She knows not where to go for aid.

Miss Mary Smylie, of 2078 Susquehanna Avenue, Kensington, Philadelphia, Pa., urges her fellow working-girls to have faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She says: "I am a working-girl, and must stand eleven hours every day. I have suffered terribly from painful menstruation and kidney trouble; and my head was so dizzy I could hardly see. I began to take your Lydia Pinkham's Compound some time ago. It was highly recommended to me by a friend. Now I feel like a different girl: no more aches and pains. I am praising it to every one. Our Druggist sells lots of it.

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The

BEE HIVE

keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½
Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.
Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.
We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,

222 West Front st

GEO. J. TOBIN,

187 North avenue.

Practical Plumber

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer

TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

$500 DOWN

Buys One of These New Houses

on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. E. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

J. W. VAN SICKLE,

Dealer in all kinds of

Fresh and Salt Meats

GAME IN SEASON.

New No. 122., North Ave., Plainfield.

Telephone 148 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS

Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc., in bunches, bouquets or design.

MILES,

Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 2 17 tf

E. H. HOLMES.

DEALER IN

COAL and WOOD,

YARD—No. 208 Madison Avenue. Also Office for coal orders, 112 Wooleon & Rumble 145 Northjavenue.

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is called to the

Home Department

of Rockview School, 317 East Front street. Children received from 4 to 15 Years.

Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.

Afternoon Class for Young Ladies

Three times per week. Higher English Branches, French and Music. For terms apply MISS FAWCETT, 25 Washington ave

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE,

CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS.

Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 75 Grandview ave. L. G. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,

MASON AND CONTRACTOR.

Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 8 28 3

JOHN P. EMMONS

—Mason and Builder.—

Washington avenue and Prospect place

NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Jobbing promptly attended to 11 14 tf

D. L. HULICK,

CARPENTER,

And General Jobber.

Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.

Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

Orders may be left at Brenmer's Clothing Store, 16 Somerset street, or sent by mail.

Residence 178 Duer st. 8-3-3

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St
E. H Gayle, No. 13 Vine St

ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO 7-23-tf

JOHN T. ODAM

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL

Slate Roofer and Repairer

Residence, cor. Arlington ave. and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J. New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 8 10 3

GEO. W. STUDER,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

925 ARLINGTON AVENUE.

Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,

21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.

E. H. McCullough, } Proprietors.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 6-11-1

C. W. LINES,

Mason and Builder.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Residence—118 Liberty street.

Estimates cheerfully given.

Jobbing promptly attended to 11 4

Jno. J. Shotwell,

Wood Mantels,

Tiles and Fire Place Furnishings.

221 Park avenue, upstairs 3 5 tf

N. E. KING,

High Grade Portraits

In Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.

483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimens of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

JAMES E. BAILY,

97 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Trucking of All Kinds Done.

Two and four-horse vans and trucks. Particular attention given to moving furniture and pianos. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 26 tf

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 109 Park avenue. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas.

Joseph E. Mosher,

Agent for

H. J. Hayden & Co.,

WAR CLAIMS ATTORNEYS, WASHINGTON, D.C

All claims put in our hands will receive prompt attention.

Call at the Crescent Cigar Store for fine cigars

Mrs. L. Adams,

111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank.

is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.

BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

A. Lusardi,

No. 120 North Ave.,

Will be pleased to serve his friends and the public generally with first-class fruits and confectioneries, cigars, etc. Fresh roasted peanuts every day 10c. quart.

Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. Rheaume, Agt.

80 BROADWAY, cor. 6th ST.

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening

UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for TURNING and SCROLL SAWING and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL ALBION,

OPEN FOR GUESTS

Park avenue and 8th street.

The Finderne,

FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.

Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.

HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.

(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30) Steam heat; inclosed piazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.

A. E. WHITE, Manager, Finderne, N. J.

1 9 tf

HOTEL GRENADA,

North Avenue.

Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

5-12-1

PURE

California Wines,

Port, Sherry and Catawba 20 cents bottle. The celebrated

Zinfandel Clarets,

25 cents to 50 cents per bottle at

E. P. THORN,

NO. 17 PARK AVENUE.

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.

J. H. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.

With stables attached. 4 5 y

IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER

On draught at

CHARLES SMITH'S

Sample and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST.

The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian Dark and the St. Louis.

Ballantine's Ales also on draught The Indian Pale XXX Stilt Ale and Porter.

A full assortment of Stationery!

AT

HARPER'S

411 Park ave.

Real Estate — Insurance

VAN BUREN & TIMPSON.

163 North ave. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

M. M. DUNHAM,

Real Estate and Insurance.

7 East Front Street.

HOAGLAND'S

Local Express.

Telephone 121.

Office 161 North Avenue

REMOVAL.

I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to

142 North Avenue

Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.

CALEB DICKINSON

AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE

For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Complexion, Offensive Breath and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, act quickly yet promptly. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by druggists or sent by mail. Price 5c. carton or box. Address RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spru...

R·I·P·A·N·S TABULES

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North ave. 10,1 tf

Jones & Co., Excavators.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

JONES & CO.

Cesspools built, 6 15

FISCHER PIANOS

ESTAB...

Nearly 100...

RECEIVED HIG...

EASY TER...

Catalogue m...

110 FIFTH AVE., C...

RECLAIMED FROM DEATH.

The Terror of Man Thwarted.

In the Grasp of that Dread Disease, Consumption.—Life Given Back.—Almost Miraculous.

Fortunately, perhaps, the Consumptive does not realize his own condition. His is a disease of continual waste until he meets a death that is in reality one of starvation.

It is now generally conceded that this disease is incurable,—that is, by any known medicine. Change of climate, or some life-infusing food that will give new flesh, blood, and strength, and induce the various organs of the body to assume their normal functions,—this is the only hope.

The only way to do this effectually is to give the patient Bovinine, that great raw food product, the greatest concentration of the life-giving elements of raw beef known to modern science. In this connection the results obtained by Dr. J. H. Head of Atlanta, Ga., in the treatment of a case of consumption, are interesting.

Dr. Head relates briefly how a man about thirty-five years of age came to him for treatment. He had lost forty pounds in weight in six months; he suffered with a bad cough and experienced severe night sweats; he was unable to do any work; most of his family had died of consumption, and on examination his right lung was found to be seriously affected, and as the doctor remarked, "He was in a good way to have an early funeral."

But note what happened. He was given Bovinine. In two weeks he had gained seven pounds, his appetite had returned, he was able to do a good day's work, and most of the distressing symptoms had vanished; and at the time of writing the doctor felt sure of a complete cure.

This is but one of many similar cases. Bovinine will give new life and strength, make new blood and flesh, stop waste, ward off disease, and turn the current of life's river again into its natural channel. Give it one trial while there is yet hope.

Something

That gives you light at light prices are the [illegible] we have on sale this week—[illegible] and best assortment in the city. We quote only a few of the many specials for this week.

Hand lamp, complete	10c
Bracket " "	12c
Hall lamp complete	97c
Hanging lamp, complete	$1.98

Specials

Glass butter dishes	9c
[illegible] brushes	17c
Scrubbing brushes	5c
Roll toilet paper	5c
Ammonia, best	5c
Fancy cuspidores	23c

Silk Waists

We intend to make this line of goods a specialty this spring and summer and will have the prettiest line in the city.

A $6 changeable Taffeta silk waist, latest spring style, $4.75.

Fancy China silk waists, all sizes, $3.49.

Spring Capes

This weather compels you to wear a cape, just what we have a large asssortment of at low prices.

A changeable velvet cape $8, worth $9.50.

[illegible] Silk cape, silk lined $8.75 worth other point

For further [illegible] cape silk lined $11.50, worth Agents, or [illegible] broad cloth capes in blue and tan, $4.50, worth $6.

Broad cloth capes in black only $2.50, worth $3.25.

Just received a very pretty line of satin skirts, latest organ pipe back, $7.95.

Dress Goods

On the tip end of every lady's tongue. What? Why, they all say what a pretty line of spring dress goods Boehm has. How can they help it? Our dress goods department will surpass any in the city. We intend to be the leaders of low prices if we are compelled to give them away. A broad assertion, but nevertheless it is true. You are welcome at any time to examine our goods and be convinced that we are the leaders.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

ADVERTISED LETTERS,

February 25, 1895.

Allen Hannah	McDaland Mrs
Bowles Mrs F	Morris Mary
Bartee Lanra	Mulligan Ellen
Borchert Mr	Nelson Oscer
Connell James	Nessler Lewis
Courooiseer Mrs E	Obubeck A
Cairns Mrs K	O'Rourke Kate
Duping Mrs G	Paise Alice
Demarest Phillip	Ross D H
Edgar Irene	Runyon Jno M
[illegible] pastor, Rev. G. [illegible] the topics for each [illegible] Monday [illegible] ster [illegible] Matt. 2 [illegible] W	Stroble Willard
	Staples S C
	Smith W
	Simmons Peter
Tues[illegible] [illegible]rs A D	Simmons Mary E
[illegible] [illegible]shm	Schmidt John
Heim Eugen	Stone Mr and Mrs
Hall Mrs Nancy	Shipton Jas D
Hampton Mrs Mary	Sutton George
Harris Mrs Sue	Smith George
Johns S E	Swartz A T
Kohler Fred	Trowbridge Maud
Lanigan Jas	Vandehoof E A
Little Mrs J K	Wright F L
Mumford A	Washington Jennie
McManus Mrs	Wright W W
Young Thomas

Tel. 29B Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.

Have your plumbing system tested with the smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

[illegible] a specialty. 132 North Ave

New Discovery for [illegible] and colds, each bottle [illegible] tric Bitters, the grand [illegible] stomach and kidneys. [illegible] Salve, the best in the world; 25 cents per box. New Life Pills, which [illegible] All these remedies are guaranteed. Large cost just what is claimed [illegible] at trifling part of the dealer whose name [illegible] will be glad to [illegible] Sold at L. W. R[illegible]

[illegible]STON'S [illegible] FREIGHT [illegible] E S S [illegible] 28 Park Avenue [illegible] Box 328. [illegible] SPECIALTY. Large cost reasonable. Satisfactio [illegible] 1183

THE COMING FESTIVAL

All Germany Will Honor Prince Bismarck.

Arrangements for the Birthday Celebrations Are Nearly Completed—To Surpass All Other Occasions. State Socialism for Farmers—Presentations to the Court.

Berlin, March 4.—Arrangements for the Bismarck birthday festival are nearing completion. They show that the celebration will exceed all previous expectations. They have been planned on such an enormous scale that Dr. Schweninger has become alarmed for the prince's health and has taken steps to spread the receptions and processions over a week or ten days. He has been aided by Herr Pflueger, the organizer of the students' demonstration and by the Hamburg admirers of the prince.

The Countess Perponcher, arrested for perjury in denying her intimacy with Dr. Voight is still in jail although 10,000 marks bail was offered for her on Friday. Dr. Voight has been arrested for perjury and conspiracy.

William Dayas, an American pianist, made his debut in Linz last Tuesday. He is criticised favorably by all the newspapers.

With a Gold Sword.

Emperor William's refusal to interfere in behalf of Armenia seems to have won him the heartfelt gratitude of the sublime porte. Saturday evening Shakir Pasha, the sultan's special envoy, appeared before the emperor and empress at the Old Castle and, in his master's name, gave the emperor a diamond set gold sword. To Prince Eitel Frederick and Prince Adalbert, the emperor's second and third sons, he presented the decorations of the Osman order. He will be entertained at a state banquet on March 8.

The emperor and empress will go to Castle Urville near the French border on May 5. They will complete the consecration of the new Protestant church near the castle and the emperor will hunt woodcock in the Vosges.

The Bavarian Farmers' league, meeting in Regensburg, voted a general approval of Count Kanitz's schemes of state socialism for the benefit of the landowners. They endorsed especially his motion to abolish ground rent and to establish a government mortgage bank to which all mortgages on agricultural land shall be transferred.

They Will Celebrate.

The people of the Rhineland will have their main celebration at the National monument on the Niederwald. This monument, erected in commemoration of the union of Germany will be to the Rhineland what Friedrichsruh is to north Germany. Special trains and Rhine steamers will convey thousands from Cologne, Strassburg, Mayence, Frankfort and smaller cities to the foot of the hill from which Prof. Schilling's Germania overlooks Bingen. There will be speeches, music, Rhine wine and beer all day, and fireworks and illumination of the Rhine at night.

Present indications are that the whole first week of April will be given up throughout Germany to honoring the old chancellor and that at Friedrichsruh the arrival of presents and congratulations and the reception of deputations are likely to reach over well into May.

Is Suicide a Sin?

New York, March 4.—A man, apparently a little under 30 years of age, shot himself in the right temple yesterday in the summer house in Central park. The man was unconscious when found and died at the Presbyterian hospital shortly after his removal there. The only thing found like a clue to his identity was a triangular fragment of a card, which bore the inscription "ments," and on a lower line, "Mackey." It was suggested that this might mean "Compliments of Mackey." Twelve dollars and sixty-three cents in currency was found in his pockets. Up to a late hour no one had called to identify the body.

Afraid of Women.

Derby, Conn., March 4.—James Fitzpatrick, the famous Derby hermit, was found dead in his hut yesterday. He had not been seen for several days. A party found him lying dead on the floor. Half a century ago he was a very prominent person, but he was disappointed in love and for forty years he has not spoken to a woman. During this time he has lived as a recluse in an old hut in the suburbs. If a woman approached his hut he would run away and hide. He is wealthy, but his money has not yet been found.

Not Friends of the Goulds.

New York, March 4.—Mrs. Annie Lougherty, 36 years old, became insane at her home yesterday, and had to be removed to Bellevue. Her husband has been out of work for some time and there was nothing in the house to eat. The poverty and absolute want of the Lougherty's had preyed upon Mrs. Lougherty's mind until yesterday, when she became so violent her husband could not control her.

She Is a Terror.

Bangor, Me., March 4.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Mary Cowan, charged with poisoning Willie Cowan, the 7-year-old son of Elias Cowan, the woman's third husband, last night brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree. Mrs. Cowan heard the verdict without apparent emotion. J. F. Robinson, her counsel, will file a motion for a new trial.

France Loves Peace.

Rome, March 4.—It is learned from an official source that France is about to approach Italy with a view to arranging a commercial treaty and thus ending the long period of commercial hostility which has inflicted heavy losses on both countries.

Illness of Gen. Clernand.

Springfield, Ill., March 4.—The condition of General McClernand remains unchanged. He spent a comfortable day but his physicians regard his condition as still very critical.

"BRASS-POUNDERS" MEET.

They Also Adopt a Populist Plank Boys, Fall in Line.

New York, March 4.—A number of telegraph operators of this city met at Clarendon hall yesterday, and organized the American Telegraph union. There were about 200 operators present.

The meeting was called to order by Robert L. De Akers, who made an address advocating government control of the telegraph lines of the country. He was followed by others in the same vein, after which the meeting went into secret session. A committee was then selected from the three companies represented at the meeting, viz., The Western union, Postal Cable company and the Railroad and Press wires.

It was said by one of the board of directors that there were to be "no officers, no dues, national councils or meetings." This would give the organization the distinction of being the most silent and least expensive society of modern times. The director said propaganda would be carried on by means of a weekly paper which they will start. The members, he said, would meet as emergency required on the call of the board of directors.

It was said that organizations were being formed in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

Killed in a Fit of Jealousy—His Letter to His Mother.

Elkhorn, W. Va., March 4.—George Howell shot and killed Alice Gibson at Powhattan yesterday in a fit of jealously and then took his own life. This letter to his mother was found on his person:

"Dear Mother:—I will write you these few lines to let you know that I have not forgotten you. I am going to my long home in three hours. It is not on account of whiskey, but on account of love and nothing else so good bye darling mother. Do not grieve after me for my life will be misery to me so good bye dear mother. Tell Pa good bye and kiss all the children good bye for me. When you receive this I will be in eternity, pray for me. I will be in heaven with my loved one. Good bye darling mother.

"Your son
"George Howell."

The weapon used was a thirty-eight calibre revolver. The bodies were sent to their old homes. Four shots were fired, three lodging in the woman's body, the other ending the young man's career.

CRITICISED LADY SOMERSET.

William Hicks Calls Her a Stalking Horse for Aristocracy.

New York, March 4.—William Everett Hicks, secretary of the International Land congress at Paris, spoke last evening on "Lady Henry Somerset and Bogus Reform" before the Manhattan Single Tax club at Chickering hall. The meeting was an open one, and many who were not members of the club were attracted by the prospects of an attack on Lady Somerset, who so far has had an undisputed field for the exploiting of her theories of reform and has escaped criticism.

Mr. Hicks did not handle the subjects with gloves, but called the eminent English woman to account for not turning over her acres to the people instead of devoting them to parks. He said that she was "a stalking horse" for the aristocracy, and only attacked intemperance as a blind. He was frequently applauded.

STEAM RADIATOR EXPLODES.

A Newark Store Wrecked and One Man Injured.

Newark, N. J., March 4.—The explosion of a steam radiator in Hahne's big dry goods store, in this city, yesterday afternoon, caused severe injuries to one man and wrecked a section of the store.

The establishment fronts on Broad, Halsey, New and West Park streets. The radiator which burst was on the Halsey street side, on the ground floor, close to the show windows. The concussion blew out the windows close to the radiator. Under them, on the sidewalk, Frank Bell was standing. He was badly cut by the falling glass and bruised by the woodwork. The goods about the store were considerably damaged.

A Fire-Stricken City.

Toronto, Ont., March 4.—The third disastrous conflagration which has visited this fire-stricken city in less than two months occurred yesterday and the loss by the disaster is fully as great as either of the two previous visitations. This time the fire originated in the heart of the retail section of the city, starting in the morning in the splendid new departmental store of Robert Simpson's on the southwest corner of Yonage and Queen streets. Simpson's building was an immense seven-story structure completed only six months ago at a cost of $160,000.

We Wish It Success.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 4.—A newspaper called the Daily Press will be issued here to-day. The Daily Press will be the only daily paper issued in this city that receives telegraphic news report and it will undoubtedly fill a want here for a live newspaper. The Daily Press will receive the full leased wire service of the United Press.

They Rob Your Uncle Sam.

New Haven, Conn., March 4.—The amount stolen yesterday from the postoffice here is now stated to be $920. There are no new facts in connection with the robbery, and no clues have been found. The loss will fall on Postmaster Beach. The authorities at Washington have been notified and an inspector is expected to arrive in this city to-day.

Will Reduce Their Wages.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 4.—A reduction in wages of 8 per cent. in the big corset factory of Warner Brothers company has been announced to take effect in a few days.

More of the Beautiful.

Nantucket, Mass., March 4.—The storm of yesterday brought the heaviest snow fall of the season. The snow measured five inches on a level at dark.

Still Sneezing.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—The czar has influenza and a [illegible] throat.

THE END OF CONGRESS

Their Last Act Is a Move for Money Reform.

Silver Men Win the Day—Sunday Night Session of Both the Senate and House—Mr. Blackburn Opens His Mouth—Bills Passed Awaiting the President's Signature.

Washington, March 4.—The conferees on the sundry civil appropriation bill last night reached a final agreement on all the items in dispute between the two houses.

The senate was compelled to strike from the bill its amendments providing for the purchase of the Blaine property and appropriating money for the Tennessee centennial.

This disposes of the necessary legislation, and congress will have passed the appropriations needed when it adjourns to-day.

The senate at 10:30 passed the naval appropriation bill.

At 10:40 after an impassioned appeal from Mr. Blackburn, in charge of the diplomatic appropriation bill, the senate backed down from its insistance upon its amendment appropriating half a million dollars toward a Hawaiian cable.

An executive session was immediately afterward ordered, and, as he walked out of the chamber, Mr. Blackburn remarked that he had opened his mouth for the last time in the Fifty-third congress.

Silver Wins.

In the house discussion on the appropriation providing for delegates to an international monetary conference, Mr. Sibley said that the proposition was one which appeared regularly once in four years. The people had often, by such proposals, had their hopes of seeing silver restored raised, and had always been disappointed. It was claimed that at such a conference such adjustment would be made as would give silver its place as a money metal. No such result had been accomplished. He characterized the Sherman law as a makeshift to deceive the people—a law passed to quell the demand for free coinage. The demand for free silver was again being made, and this proposal was made to meet it.

He hoped that the conference, if held, would do some good, but he believed that it would only delay free coinage.

Jerry Simpson's Ideas.

Mr. Simpson referred to the proposed conference as "the same old game." He was satisfied that if the matter was left to the present occupant of the white house nothing would be done until after the next general election, and we would be left for six more years on the single gold standard.

The United States was the greatest silver producing country on the face of the earth, and it should take the first step in restoring silver to its place as a money metal, and not wait for foreign governments. This would do more to influence them than anything else.

Mr. Pence, in opposing the amendment, said that this congress had begun with the discussion of this important question (silver), and it now looked as though it would end with it. The president, he said, in appointing his commissioners might designate three presidential aspirants. When he came to it he hoped he would not overlook the great republican leader, the gentleman from Maine, Mr. Reed. The amendment won on the vote.

At last night's session the following bills were passed: To amend the charter of the Suburban Railway company and to authorize the construction of bridges on Tennessee rivers. The senate then took a recess until 9 o'clock this morning.

YES, THIS WAS IN BROOKLYN.

An Old Lady Run Over at the Fulton Street "Death Trap."

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 4.—Mrs. Jemina Johnson, 64 years old, of Jersey City, was run over yesterday afternoon by a trolley car at the Annex ferryboat on lower Fulton street.

Before the motorman, Patrick Morrow, could stop his car the wheel passed over her left leg, crushing it. Her leg was horribly mangled, and when she was removed to the Brooklyn hospital it was found necessary to amputate it. Mrs. Johnson was on the way to visit her son, Policeman Johnson. The motorman was arrested.

Two Hundred Cases of Smallpox.

Bismarck, Mo., March 4.—The smallpox scare is spreading and has seized every hamlet along the line of the Iron Mountain railroad. At some points shotgun quarantines have been established and passengers are not allowed to leave trains. The scare has extended throughout the region from forty-five miles south of Malvern to this place, a distance of 105 miles. It is said there were 200 cases of small pox in Hot Springs Friday night.

Pittsburg's Fire.

Pittsburg, March 4.—The Hotel Boyer, located on the corner of Seventh avenue and Duquesne way, was badly damaged by fire yesterday. When the fire started there were 100 guests and twenty-five servants in the house. Fortunately the fire started in the kitchen which was at the back end of the hotel and when the alarm was sounded all had plenty time to escape. The loss will reach $30,000; insurance $12,000.

Brotherly Love.

Hoboken, N. J., March 4.—Sabato Natolita, of this city, was stabbed in the back last night by his brother, Emiddo. The house is owned by Sabato. The latter went to the house last night to collect the rent. Emiddo refused to pay. The brothers quarrelled and Emiddo stabbed Sabato. Emiddo was arrested.

Ah, Those Radicals.

London, March 4.—The Standard correspondent in Berlin says the mayor of Coburg denies the report that the Coburg city council refused to celebrate Bismarck's birthday. The mayor says the story was invented by a local radical journal.

THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures where all others fail. Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough and Asthma. For Consumptive it has no rival—has cured thousands, and will CURE YOU if taken in time. Sold by Druggists on a guarantee. For a Lame Back or Chest, use SHILOH'S BELLADONNA PLASTER. 25c.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY. Have you Catarrh? This remedy is guaranteed to cure you. Price 50 Cts. Injector free.

Sold by all druggists. 814 y

Selling Off Regardless of Cost

TO CLOSE BUSINESS.

Store and Dwelling to let.

Everything must be sold. Counters, cases, millinery goods at half price, ladies' underwear, infant's wear, velvet ribbons, large double heater, large mahogany desk and bookcase combined, claw feet, and a number of books. Everything selling low. MRS T. J. GILLIES, 123 1m 115 Madison ave

Prof. A. Wehner,

TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.

ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipzic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.

References given and required.

Address letters to the office of this paper. 1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new

SPALDING

FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new

'95 Spalding Cyclometer

FREE.

W. H. ROGERS,

408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.

Tonsorial Parlor, 206 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty. 10 19 t

The Perfect Typewriter.

Sold by

DAVID T. KENNEY,

Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.

198 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR

SOLID SILVER SPOONS.

COLLIER'S,

103 PARK AVENUE.

ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S

MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,

SOMERSET STREET.

OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 6 4 y

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.

It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.

It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.

These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.

The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.

Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,

307 Broadway, New York.

1 5 6m

UP TO DATE.

Oh, dear to my mind is the old-fashioned logs
That fond recollection presents to my view,
Where forest-brown logs would in fire-glow mingle
And cheer us with comfort and radiance too.
But warmer today, and more comfort insuring
Are fires whose fervor is kindled anew
With fruit of the mines that the wise are securing
From coal yards of Stevens, near Grant avenue—
That excellent coal you are sure of procuring
Near junction of Front St. and Grant avenue.

(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Timpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort
[Hygeia Hotel]

Or Virginia Beach, Va.
[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $16 Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE of meals and berths en route, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,

Pier 26, North River, New York.
W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

[Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

in the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey pork and poultry a specialty.
203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles.

411 Park Avenue,

Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES

From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little booklet "Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning the men's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,

175 North ave.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 4, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

It is a personal insult to every Councilman for the repudiated Republican organ to charge that these men, elected by the people and sworn by oath of office to fulfil the public's best interests, vote for liquor license for the revenue there is in it. Plainfield decided long ago, from the depths of her experience, that the most effectual control of the liquor traffic is in high license and rigid regulation such as has been adopted here; and the Councilmen are only fulfilling the voice of the people.

The proposition of a correspondent of the Republican ex-organ, to license the churches and not the saloons, is not to be treated seriously.

Sensible people understand the animus of the rejected organ's abuse of the Mayor, Councilmen and heads of departments, and their respect for these public officials increases correspondingly as the attacks grow more venomous.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

John Daly spent Sunday in Rahway.

Henry Clark of Newark was in town Saturday.

Mrs. T. B. Drake of Duer street is ill with the grip.

John Miles of Stebbins place intends moving soon to Scotch Plains.

Edward L. Suffren of Linden avenue is able to be out again after a severe illness.

Miss Belle Carkhuff assumed her new situation with Putnam & DeGraw this morning.

A. W. Sutphen of Newark spent yesterday among friends and relatives in North Plainfield.

Miss Carter of Montclair is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. L. Goodrich of West Seventh street.

Charles French of Philadelphia is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore French.

W. H. Brower of Watchung avenue was out this morning for the first time, after a six-weeks illness.

Miss Elfleda A. Whiting of East Sixth street has returned after a visit with relatives in Chester, Pa.

The community will regret to learn that the illness of Mrs. T. S. Armstrong has developed into pneumonia.

Clarence M. Smith of New York, formerly of this city, spent Sunday with some of his Plainfield friends.

Miss Cassie Lawson is spending several weeks in New York, the guest of Miss Taylor on West Seventh street.

Foreman William Newman of Gazelle Engine Company will attend the wedding of a cousin in Brooklyn this week.

City Engineer F. A. Dunham will leave Plainfield tonight for Buffalo. Business will keep him away two or three days.

Rebeccah Page, M. D., is slowly recovering from her attack of pneumonia, and yesterday was able to sit up for a little while.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Titsworth are at Waltet's Park, a Pennsylvania mountain resort, for the benefit of Mr. Titsworth's health.

Alexander Muir of West Fourth street, who had an operation performed on two fingers, is improving rapidly, and will soon resume work.

Alfred Jewell, the special officer who was shot at Rahway Saturday, was a nephew of Mrs. Aaron Dunn, who resides on Park avenue.

Captain John Webber, a brave and handsome worker on Truck 2 of the Paterson fire department, is calling on friends in this city today.

The engagement is announced of Miss Lizzie Whitlock and James Ingram, both formerly of Plainfield, and now of Rosewille, a suburb of Newark.

J. E. Herbert and family of Jersey City have made their residence on North avenue. He is connected with the Standard Oil Company at Claremont.

Ex-Township Collector William H. Shotwell and family will remove to their new home on Fairview avenue, Watchung Park, Wednesday, March 6.

Surgeon C.P. Kindleberger, U. S. Navy, now on duty aboard the Receiving Ship Vermont, visited yesterday his cousin Mrs. F. J. Miller of Carlton avenue.

Frank Schuck is a grandpa, happy over the advent of a daughter to his daughter Mrs. Joseph S. Darby. The girl weighs 11 lbs., and is as bright as bouncing.

Madame Hultzman, of Fairview avenue, a pupil of the celebrated Madame Fursch-Mahdi, will soon leave for Paris, where she will complete her vocal studies.

The many friends of M. M. Dunham will be glad to hear that he is slowly improving from his long sickness, and hopes are now entertained that he will recover.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Startup of Westervelt avenue has been enjoying a visit from Mr. Startup's brother Walter, since Thursday last. He returned to his home, Middletown, N. Y., last evening.

The large circle of acquaintance of Mrs. Amy Moore, wife of Willis B. Moore, will learn with sorrow of her death, which occurred yesterday morning at her home in Newark. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, from Warren Chapel, North Plainfield.

DONNED THEIR WAR-PAINT.

The Borough Democrats Ready for the Battle at the Polls.

The Democracy of the borough, led by David Carney, held their primary in the basement of the school building Saturday evening, and nominated a ticket in one-eighth the time that it took the G. O. P. followers to select standard-bearers. There was no dilly-dallying about this primary; business was transacted at a 2:40 gait; and the attendants went home to don their war-paint and shout the slogan of victory to come.

The meeting was called to order by J. R. Newman, and the chairmanship laid upon the shoulders of L. C. Kline, while David Carney was selected to act as secretary.

A committee submitted a report in which it was recommended that the following be nominated as candidates for borough offices:

Mayor, John A Thickstun; Councilmen, long term, Elston M French, and William Conroy; Councilman, short term, Clarence Murphy; Overseer of the Poor, John Emmons; Collector, George Kirch; Freeholder, John H Kitchen; Assessor, Charles Lyman; Justices of the Peace, D D Smalley, H R Conklin, and W E Mattison; Constables, Thomas Melcher, Thos McGann, and William Wilson; Commissioners of Highways, F J Doremus, and J B Bovey; Commissioners of Appeal, A J Winckler, L M Baird, and Augustus Trust; Pound Keepers, E P Gavin, and John Maier.

The report was adopted and those named in it declared to be the nominees of the primary. On motion the chair was empowered to appoint a committee of three to provide the amount of appropriations to be voted on and to fill any vacancies that may occur.

The official signatures of the nominees have not been received by Borough Clerk Arnold up to the hour of going to press. It is necessary that these be in his hands by tonight to secure the printing of a ticket. Andrew Love, Sr., has been substituted for E. M. French, Samuel Moore for Thomas McGann, and Rudolph Spiegel for John Maier. Many of the nominees say they won't serve. Mr. Thickstun emphatically declines to run.

He Can Do It.

Chief Doane, Auguste J. Saltzman and Burney Rogers of the Plainfield Fire Department, called on Assemblyman Codding yesterday in regard to the bill which will take away the power and privileges of exempt firemen. They were well pleased with the treatment they received, and the genial Assemblyman promised to help them all he could in defeating the passage of the bill.

Follow Him You'll Wear Diamonds.

A few of the personal friends of Lessee Joseph Sohl will present him with a handsome diamond stud between the third and fourth acts of the Music Hall show tonight. The presentation will be made by J. A. Karet, on behalf of subscribing friends. Mr. Sohl will be called before the curtain for the presentation.

Programme and Supper.

William G. Holton Council, No. 55, J. O. U. A. M., of Dunellen, will entertain their friends tomorrow evening in the schoolhouse hall. Among the features will be an address by Rev. Mr. Davis of Bound Brook, and instrumental music by Misses Emma Nelson and Irene Day. A supper will conclude the entertainment.

Christian Alliance Address.

Rev. Stephen Merritt of New York will address the Plainfield Branch of the Christian Alliance tomorrow evening at 7:30, in Association Hall in the new Y. M. C. A. Building. His subject will be "The Ministry and Work of the Holy Spirit". A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Japanese Wedding.

Mr. Owey, a Japanese student of Rutgers College who is preparing to return to his country as a missionary, will have charge of a Japanese wedding to be given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian Church, Dunellen, Thursday evening.

To Act as an Escort.

The Uniformed Rank, K. of P., will act as an escort to Grand Chancellor Ralph Donath at the district meeting of this society, Friday evening, in the rooms of Perseverance lodge. They will also fill all the subordinate offices at this meeting.

A Souvenir.

The friends of Col. W. C. Williams of Mt. Pleasant, S. C., who spent several weeks in Plainfield, have sent him by mail a unique memorial with which to remember his pleasant participation in the meeting of the Rear End Debating Club.

—All voters in North Plainfield Township should see that their names are registered tomorrow, as that will be the last day of registry.

Don't Diet.

If you have dyspepsia, indigestion, habitual constipation or sick headache, don't diet. You need the strength that good food gives. Eat whatever you want, but take one of

Dr. Deane's
Dyspepsia Pills

after meals until cured. If you are constipated get bottle with white label, otherwise with yellow. At all druggists, 25 cents. Send to us for free sample.

DR. J. A. DEANE CO.,
Kingston, New York

TRAINING THE LADS TO ARMS.

State and National Aid for This Project. What Was Urged in Former Years.

The movements for introducing military drill into the public schools of this country is beginning to assume great proportions. It began, at least in its present phase, a year ago last summer, with the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. Last year at the annual reunion of this body the subject was renewed. During the autumn preparations were made here and there, and a sort of crusade was begun for the purpose of interesting the legislatures of the States, as well as cities, towns and school districts, in the matter. When Congress came together in December a bill was introduced to allow instructors to be detailed from the army for the purpose, just as to schools and colleges.

There is no doubt of the earnestness of the movement, as indicated by the public meetings held and the measures introduced into State legislatures. Among these latter a striking one is that which has appeared in the Senate at Albany, appropriating $100,000 for the equipment of public school scholars in the State of New York as the American Guard, which is to consist of all ablebodied male pupils of 11 years of age and upward. They are to be divided into companies in each school, and regularly officered as the National Guard.

This idea of training American schoolboys to arms is not a new one. It has been under consideration at times for generations. Major-Gen. Macomb, who was at one time the senior major general commanding the army, was very earnest upon this point. He held that the military instruction of youth was based upon the broad principle that all rudimentary training could best be acquired in early years:

"Suppose, for instance, that the teachers of schools should be licensed in each State by the proper authorities; that such of the teachers as would instruct their pupils in the military art as far as the school of the company should be compensated at a certain rate per boy, say $1 per annum, to be paid by the general government, on the certificate of the inspector of the district or brigade within which the school might be situated, who should make a report to the adjutant general of the State of the number of boys at the schools within his district or brigade, to be laid before the governor of the State, for the information of the legislature; and also a similar return to the war department for the use of Congress; and that each college in the Union should be endowed by Congress with a professor of the military art in the higher branches. The plan is not so difficult as one would at first suppose, for it would be only necessary in each school to instruct three or four of the most intelligent and best behaved boys, in the first instance, who who might be made the captain and lieutenants of the company, who would, after being well grounded in their duty, as set forth in the military regulations, instruct the other boys of the school. The officers and noncommissioned officers should be selected for their exemplary conduct, and it should be considered a great distinction to enjoy the offices. They should be furnished with wooden arms; they should be carefully taught how to stand firm, march and wheel, and go through the manual exercises."

Gen. Macomb proceeded to describe the drill that should be exacted. Every morning the lads were to assemble on the parade ground before the school, and, after the calling of the roll, should march into the schoolhouse and deposit their arms. Each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon should be exclusively devoted to the drill, the lads being clad in a neat uniform, one suggested by Gen. Macomb being a blue nankeen jacket and white trousers, with a black hat and white feather. On prescribed days, under the direction of the brigade major, a general muster should be held of all the schools in his district, formed into battalions and thus maneuvered. This would enable comparisons to be made of the state of drill and discipline reached; and it was further proposed that the general and field offices of the militia should attend and review the battalions and publish in orders their remarks upon them. A further suggestion worth noting was that "the young gentlemen of the colleges, who had advanced to the evolutions of the battalion and line, should take command of the battalions and brigades and perform the duty of adjutants, field and general officers."

REAL GRAVE FOR YORICK'S SKULL.

This Was in Virginia City Where the Theater Was in the Side of the Mountain.

"I once produced Yorick's skull from a real grave," remarked "Billy" Crosby. "It was years ago, in Virginia City, Nev., when that was a great mining camp and a stock company was maintained at Piper's Opera House, on B street. The theater was built—the whole town was—on the steep side of Mount Davidson. A street was 30 or 40 feet higher than B street, so they had to blast out rock to make a level for the theater. The stage rested square on rock. We got along very well without traps until Booth came there and 'Hamlet' was to be produced. Of course we could not get along without a grave, so a section of the stage was sawed out and some workmen with crowbars and picks dug down about three feet.

"Booth knew nothing about this until the grave diggers' scene was on. I was the First Grave Digger, and as Hamlet approached I lifted my pick and began digging for keeps. You know we usually lift the pick aloft and 'do business' of digging, letting the pick fall lightly in a box of earth which is on the trap platform where we stand. But I pitched in and picked like a good fellow, and when Booth heard the steel ring out from my hard knocks against the honest rock he was the most surprised looking Hamlet I ever saw. He got between the grave and the footlights, facing up stage, and looked down into my real grave with a puzzled smile and whispered:

"'What have we here, Grave-Digger?'

"'We're going in for Shakespearean realism,' I whispered back, throwing out a shovelful of rock I had loosened.

"Booth went on with the scene all right, but whenever he faced up stage he would look down into that real grave and smile curiously. After the show he examined it more carefully, and got down into the grave."

No Politics in Business Hours.

Great Statesman (desirous of getting an expert native opinion)—What is your opinion, Sam, of the war between China and Japan.

Sam Lung (devoted to his laundry business)—Ten centee shirt, thee centee suff, two centee collar.

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt,

of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,
Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. E. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

Unapproachable

Yes, unapproachable, is the only word truly expressive of the stock and variety of the Embroideries just placed on Peck's Counters.

CHIMMIE FADDEN,
MAJOR MAX
and other stories as published in the New York Sun
PAPER, 50 CENTS.
R. C. RAND,
140 West Front st.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.
12-6-y

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,
Established nearly 60 years.
We sell only high-grade instruments and at as low prices as are charged by many dealers for comparatively worthless ones. Cash or installments.
Warerooms—Babcock Building, Plainfield, N. J. H. C. HADLEY, Manager.
Tuning a Specialty.
Call and secure a copy of the Monthly Musical Guest. 1 23 tf

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.
TERMS CASH.
We will refund money on any goods that donot prove entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before you purchase.
Figure up what you can save on the following sample list:
Read Carefully.
The following list of bargains are all Strictly First Quality Goods.

13c can	Another lot of pink pearl Bahama pineapples, cored and sliced Very fine quality Worth 25c. Special 13c can	13c can
Mixed Tea 29c lb	Mixed tea good quality our regular 45c grade special 29c pound or 4 pounds for $1	Mixed Tea 29c lb
5c pound	Soda crackers N Y make regular price 9c special 5c pound	5c pound
Tomatoes 6c can	Just received 50 cases more of those leader tomatoes We open these goods for your inspection special 6c can	Tomatoes 6c can

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each	100 doz cups and saucers Tea, breakfast and soup plates at 3c each; 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each	3c each
27c each	Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each	27c each
73c each	Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each	73c each
9c each	Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each	9c each

Dry and Fancy Goods Department

10c yard	New Silkaline in very taking patterns, only 10c yard; former price 15c.	10c yard
65c yard	Something new in furniture coverings; silk effects at only 65c; former price 85c.	65c yard
$3.99	Imitation silk damask portieres at only $3 99; good value at $5. A full line of new window draperies at new prices.	$3.99

New Spring Dress Goods.
It will well repay you to call and examine our New Stylish Dress Goods. The Low Prices excel anything we have ever offered.

15 cts	25 dozen ladies stainless hose, full regular made, our own importation, only 15c or two pair for 25c.	15 cts

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.
DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.
Newest spring styles in a great variety of washable fabrics. New and stylish effects in all-wool and silk and wool. The prices are the lowest ever known
Priestley's Silk Warp blk Henriettas
$1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

EDSALL'S
The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.
Shoe Bargains.
Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5 For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.
DOANE & EDSALL.

ROT FROM THE GOVERNMENT.

A Sample of Useless Stuff Sent Out From the Department of Agriculture.

We congratulate those fortunate farmers who have received from the Government printing house, through their representatives in Congress, the handsome uncut octavo in gray paper, which is No. 8 of "North American Fauna." It comes from the division of ornithology and mammalogy of the department of agriculture, and bears the imposing title "Monographic Revision of the Pocket Gophers, Family Geomyidæ (exclusive of the species of Thomomys)."

The farmers, for whom the work is intended and published by the department of agriculture, cannot be too grateful to the government for furnishing them with information which will give them new ideas about the pocket gopher, at the least; and this information is conveyed for two hundred odd pages in common, intelligible, every day language like this:

"In front of the palatine (and also in front of the presphenoid, which is here clasped between the ascending wings of the palatine on the two sides of the skull) is a second fenestrum anterior to the usual one (which is in the presphenoid), and likewise looking completely through the skull. This latter opening is bounded in front by the maxilla and behind by the palatine. It is situated midway between the sphenoid fenestrum and the orbital end of the infraorbital canal."

We would not have believed before we read Dr. Merriam's book that the great facts of geomydal morphology, apparently so important to agriculture, could be expressed in language so absolutely free from scientific pedantry. The gopher need no longer be a mystery to the farmers. Mammalogy has described and depicted him. You can tell him easily by the co-ossification of his bones.

Any farmer not familiar with gophers who catches in his fields an animal which seems to him to be a gopher, can easily satisfy himself by applying the tests given above. If the presphenoid is inseparably united with the orbitosphenoids, the basiphenoid with the alisphenoid and spterygoids and the basioccipital with the oxoccipitals, 'tis a Geomys and no mistake.—New York Sun.

THE NEED OF PATRIOTISM.

Gen. Horace Porter's Tribute to Washington.

It is believed that the public display in our schools of the features of the father of his country will teach a lesson in patriotism. It has been found that man learns most of all in this world by example, and we believe that our school children should always have before them as an example George Washington.

In olden times the children of Greece and Rome were taught to repeat daily the names of the great heroes of their race. It would be a liberal education in patriotism if each school child would daily rise and mention the name and virtues of George Washington. His name stands for patriotism. He possessed all the virtues which can adorn the human man. Let the children think of him throughout the terrible winter at Valley Forge; it will teach them a lesson in patience. Let them see him kneeling in prayer before the God of Victory, for it will teach them faith. Let them learn of how he gathered his little army together and amid the storm and darkness crossed the sullen Delaware, falling upon the unsuspecting enemy, and by this act turning the tide of war. It will teach self reliance and boldness in action. Let them see him at Princeton, where at the head of his troops he showed to the world manly courage. And at the close of the war, which he had entered through love to his country, let them learn how he tendered his resignation to the Continental Congress, refusing the power which was offered to him; furnishing an example of modesty and non thought of personal advancement.

Patriotic lessons should be taught more in this country than in any other. In the countries of Europe the children are native born. They learn their lesson in patriotism at their mother's knee. But there are landed yearly thousands of foreigners, men of a different race and language. It is for us to teach them the great principles of American patriotism and the history of our Revolutionary heroes. They must be taught through the example of our great men, like George Washington, that freedom of state does not mean unbridled license.

A Cure for Bores.

Of the Hungarian statesman Francis Deak it is related that he used to rid himself of troublesome visitors by telling them the following story:

"Once when in Paris Napoleon I. paid a visit to a hospital for soldiers. Here he perceived among the rest a man who had lost one of his arms and he entered into conversation with him.

"'Where did you lose your arm?' asked the emperor.

"'At Waterloo, your majesty.'

"'Then no doubt you curse the emperor and your country every time you look at your mutilated limb?'

"'No, indeed,' protested the veteran, 'for the emperor and my native land I would readily sacrifice my other arm if need be.'

"'I can hardly believe that,' the emperor quietly remarked and passed on.

"But the soldier, anxious to prove that he was in earnest, immediately drew a sabre from its sheath and lopped off his other arm."

Here Deak would pause and fix a penetrating look on his visitor.

"Well, what have you to say of such a man and such an action?"

"A most sublime act of self sacrifice! A truly noble character!"

This was the style of reply invariably given.

"But the story has one flaw," he would gravely add.

"What is that, pray?"

"It is simply impracticable. How could a one armed man contrive to cut off his only remaining arm?"

She Would Accompany Him.

"There is one thing that has preyed heavily on my mind ever since we were engaged, and I am almost afraid to tell you about it," he said nervously.

"What is it, Charlie? Speak out!"

"I am a somnambulist."

"Oh, is that all?" she exclaimed with a sigh of relief; "I have always been a Universalist, but, of course, when we are made one I shall expect to attend your church."—Texas Siftings.

Not Baffled.

"Didn't you tell that young man I was out?" said the young woman.

"Oi did, miss," replied Bridget. "But he towld me to come back an' ax yez again, so's to be sure Oi hadn't misunderstood the name." — Washington Star.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

BY THE WAY.

—The postoffice moves tonight.

—Snow tonight, fair and colder tomorrow, is Farmer Dunn's prediction.

—Joseph Sohl's benefit, "A Danger Signal", is the Music Hall attraction tonight.

—The regular March session of the Plainfield Common Council will be held tonight.

—Hay-carter Terry has recovered consciouness at the Hospital, and is slowly improving.

—The monthly business meeting of the Reform Club will be held Thursday night in Reform Hall.

—John Kitchen of North Plainfield expects to build another house as soon as the weather permits.

—John H. Kitchen surveyed ground this morning for the erection of a new house on Plainfield avenue.

—Owing to a scarcity of cattle, the local beef houses have found it necessary to raise the price of meat.

—Important changes in nearly every mail are announced in the postal advertisement in The Press today.

—Queen City Lodge, I.O.O. F., will hold a meeting tonight, at which degrees will be worked on two candidates.

—An important meeting of the Camera Club will be held in their rooms in the Babcock Building this evening.

—The final concert of the series by the New York Philharmonic Club will be given in the Casino tomorrow evening.

—In Justice Newcorn's Court today the case of Blimm against Hulick, on contract, was settled. The case of Brokaw against Hulick, on contract, was adjourned for two weeks.

Shot the Dog.

A dog belonging to Peter A. VanFleet of 329 East Third street had a fit this morning, and the family were very much frightened. Word was sent to Janitor Ed. Martin of the North Avenue station, and he went to the house and shot the dog.

Securing Many Concessions.

The street railway are gradually securing concessions of the right of way on streets west of Watchung avenue, for their extension lines. It is not likely that anything definite will be done at the Council meeting tonight, concerning this matter.

New Quarters.

The new quarters obtained by the members of the First Church of Christ, Morris's Hall, Liberty street, near Front, were formally opened yesterday. The hall is a commodious one, and well adapted to the needs of the congregation.

Honeyman's Private Tours.

Next tour April 11 to Southern California via Mammoth Cave and New Orleans. Private hotel car. Time 41 days. Room for few only. European Tour, including a week's coaching trip in England, June 22. Circulars at 181 North avenue, Plainfield. 27w1

A man one time a good thing had
Which people would have prized,
But he never sold a single one,
For he never advertised.

INCREASING LENGTH OF LIFE.

Modern Heroines, at Least, Are Longer-Lived than Jane Austen's Were.

Is the human race becoming longer-lived despite the fret and fever of modern civilization? It is an interesting question, and it may very probably be answered some day by science in the affirmative. The longevity of professional men is now generally considered to be greater than that of farmers or mechanics. In other words, intellectual activity, although in many respects more exhausting than physical, has in the main a salutary effect upon the human frame. It may be the nerves rather than the muscles upon which we mainly depend, after all. It is a commonplace of observation that the big, hearty men are constantly dropping out of the world, while those of far more fragile organizations, apparently, live on to a ripe old age.

As to the increasing longevity of the race generally, there is no little incidental testimony on this head to be gathered from various sources. Some of the early heroes and heroines of romance are old before they reach what we should call middle life. And at the beginning of our own century Jane Austen, whose testimony is always unimpeachable, speaks of the healthy and contented woman of forty as having a good prospect of twenty years of life yet. Twenty years! What woman of to-day thinks of herself as falling into decrepitude at sixty? Elsewhere in Miss Austen's pages we run across people who are old with the passage of half a century of life. But now we have Gladstones at eighty and over, and think nothing of it.—Providence Journal.

Shiloh's cure is sold on a guarantee. It cures incipient consumption; it is the best cough cure, only 1c a dose; 25, 50c, $1. Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root, the great blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the complexion and cures constipation; 25c 50c, $1. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life; I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels; 75c. Sold by all druggists.

THE BANK CHANGE.

Perhaps an Entirely New Building May Replace the Present.

The Board of Directors of the First National Bank at their meeting tomorrow will consider further the proposition of remodeling their building. The plan to lower the floors may be abandoned, as at a recent conference it was suggested that a better plan, and one no more costly, would be to tear down the entire building and erect a brand-new one.

—A force of men has been digging up the drain pipe at the corner of Fourth street and Arlington avenue, and clearing away the ice with which it was filled thus doing away with the large mud puddles in the vicinity.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

On March 6 we shall begin publication of a detective story by Nym Crinkle, entitled

"EIGHT MINUTES TO THREE".

A. C. Wheeler, who uses this pseudonym, is one of the best known journalists in the United States. He has been for many years the dramatic critic of the New York World, and is today one of the most brilliant writers on the American press. It is to his inimitable sketches of New York life that the Sunday World owes a considerable part of its popularity. Mr. Wheeler has written many successful stories, of which the best known is perhaps "The Great Laran Rebellion".

"Eight Minutes of Three" is in every way a remarkable piece of fiction, and deserves to rank with some of the weird tales of Poe. It will run five days, and will be followed by a short story of New England life by Mary E. Wilkins.

This story, like all the Daily Press serials, is brand-new, and copyrighted to Daily Press use.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the creditors of Sidney E. Flower, of the city of Plainfield, Union county, New Jersey, carrying on the business of dealer in pictures and stationery at No. 123 East Front street, in the city of Plainfield aforesaid, that all claims against his estate must be exhibited to the subscriber, his assignee, at his store, No 151 West Front street, Plainfield, New Jersey, under oath or affirmation, on or before the 12th day of March next, being the time fixed by order of the Orphans' Court of Union county within which such claims must be presented, or be forever barred from coming in for a dividend of the said estate; and said creditors are further notified that a list of the claims against said Sidney E Flower will be filed with the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union at the expiration of said time when exceptions thereto may be filed by any person interested. V. L. FRAZER, Dated Plainfield, Jan. 17, 1895. Assignee.

1 21 7-oaw

Max Wiertz

544

West Front St

Having been compelled to close my Dining Room since Dec. 26 on account of the cold weather, I beg to announce to my patrons that I will resume business Monday, March 4, by giving a first-class

Table d'Hote Dinner for 75c,

5:30 to 8 p. m.

Max Wiertz,

544 W. Front St.

A. W. BAKER, 206 Park Ave. B. C. YOUNG, 337 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young,

Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 2 m

5 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a cake of good Toilet Soap 5 perfumed and wrapped, made by the best and biggest soap house in America (whose stamp is a guarantee of excellence). We warrant this a sound, pure soap. 1 cake or 100 at 5c each.

REYNOLDS.

8 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a good Baby's Bottle 8 with pure black rubber nipple, complete and ready for use: Bottle has a wide base, rounded corners, graduated side.

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

Established 1868. Park and North avenues, only.

DEATHS.

MOORE—Of congestion of the brain, March 3, 1895, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson Watts, 171 Summit st., Newark, N. J., Emma, wife of Willis K. Moore, in the 27th year of her age.

Funeral will take place in Warren Chapel, North Plainfield, Wednesday afternoon, March 6, at 2:30 p. m. Friends and relatives invited. 2

TERRILL & COLE,

Undertakers and Embalmers

200 West 2d street.

Next to Trinity Reformed Church. First-class livery attached. Telephone 153. 11 26 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, 1 ct. a word, each insertion. (Less than ten words, ten cents.) Cash must accompany ads.

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan. Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

YOUNG woman skilful at all kinds of sewing would like to engage as regular or extra hand to dressmaker, or would go out as seamstress. Address Clever, care Daily Press. 3 2 tf

A GOOD cook and laundress in a family of two; good references required. Apply at 37 Sycamore ave., North Plainfield. 3 4 tf

WANTED to rent, house of 7 or 8 rooms; centrally located. Address, stating location and rent, Frederick, Plainfield post-office. 3 4 2

THE Employment Committee of the Organized Aid can recommend several competent women by the day at reduced prices, to supply the place of servants temporarily absent. Competent seamstresses also can be obtained. Apply at office, corner Park and North ave., from 9 to 11 o'clock. 3 4 6

TO LET—2 7-room houses. Inquire 54 Pearl st. 3 4 3

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply 301 Madison ave

PANTS makers wanted; operators and finishers; work can be given home. Apply 213 West Front st.

WOMAN wants situation as cook and laundress; would go out by the day; city reference. Call 513 West 6th st.

WHITE Protestant girl wanted at 140 East 6th st; no washing or ironing 3 4 2

PRIVATE sale of furniture Tuesday and Wednesday, March 5 and 6, between 10 and 4 o'clock, at 34 Sycamore ave., North Plainfield. 3 4 2

WANTED—Girl for general housework in small family. Inquire No. 314 East 6th st. 3 4 2

A MIDDLE aged woman wants a place as cook, wash and iron; best of reference. Can be seen at her present employer, 54 Grove st. 3 4 2

A SWEDISH girl wants situation as cook. Call Mrs. Enander, 173 North avenue.

SIX ROOM flat to let; all improvements. 200 West 2d st. 3 4 tf

COOK and laundress wanted. 224 E. 5th st. 3 2 tf

BOARD—Wanted from April 1, for man, wife and and two-year-old child; private family preferred. Require two rooms; will furnish one themselves. Address C. W., care Daily Press, and arrange for interview. 3 2 tf

WANTED—By an English person, a situation as working housekeeper Please address Priscilla Negus, Bound Brook. 3 2 6

ON account of going to Europe will sacrifice Horace Waters & Co., 7⅓ octave grand upright almost new, brilliant tone, parlor furniture, French white onyx clock, Jacot's importation, fancy tables, chairs, lamps, pictures, sewing machine, dining-room furniture, bedroom furniture, household and kitchen utensils, carpets, curtains, portieres. 31 Fairview avenue, near Somerset street. 3 2 3

FOR SALE—$1,150 or to let $10 per month, new 5 room house 138 Johnston avenue, near Front street. A comfortable and healthful home for a small family. Apply 129 Plainfield ave. 3 2 2

SMALL houses to let, centally located, $9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 2 26 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

2 ROOMS to let 25x35 feet each; 104 and 106 Park ave. J. Cory. 2 27 6

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st. 2 7 tf

FOR SALE, on easy terms, 11 room house 22 Norwood ave., with all improvements, lot 50 x 175, or will trade for smaller property. Inquire J. Voehl, 65 Somerset street. 2 23 7

YOUNG woman offers her services as companion and reader to elderly lady or invalid; if preferred, would occupy only a few hours each day. Address M. L., care Press. 2 21 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 1 30 tf

Van's 2 Van's CORSETS.

Gee-Wiz, What?

Corsets, value 50c, going at 23 cents.

Corsets, value 75c, going at 33 cents.

HOSIERY

fast black, seamless, at 8 cents pair.

EXTRA, EXTRA, EXTRA.

A 40 gauge silk finish ladies' full regular made hose, value 40c, going at 25 cents.

Van Emburgh,

Corner Store, Babcock Building.

Treasury Department

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1895.

Whereas, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882.

Now, therefore, I, James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business on March 1, 1915.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, 1895.

JAMES H. ECKELS,
3 4 30 Comptroller of the Currency.

Neuman Bros,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

offer special inducements in prices which will interest everybody.

White cherries.....17c
Egg plants.....17c
Apricots.....17c
Crawford peaches.....17c
Sliced pineapple.....17c
Grated pineapple.....17c
Hamburg stringless beans.....10c can

17c

Try our own brands of Coffees, the finest in the market.

NEUMAN BROS.

YES,

That's the way we sell our goods. If anything you buy does not prove satisfactory or you find you do not want it bring it back, your money is ready for you, that's our way.

INTERESTING.

Muslin.

4x4 Fruit of the loom 5¾c. yd.

Dress Cambric.

¾ yard wide, fine dress cambric 6c. yd.

Turkish Towels.

Although the Turks did not make them, they are worth 30c. each, our price 19c.

Dress Goods.

54 in. Corset cloth 25 different colorings, value 98c., our price 49c, 50 in. Wool mixtures, we sell 6 yds., 5 yds cambric and 2 yds, selesia, all for $2.39.

Black Dress Goods.

Extra good value is that 45 in. imported serge, our price 45c. value 65c.

Silks.

500 yards of new figured silks 39c. yard.

Kid Gloves.

4 button chamois gloves 79c. 6 button length mosquetaire chamois gloves 79c. 4 button kids fine quality 75c. 5 hook Foster kids 75c.

Hosiery.

Try the double knee and double sole stockings for children, sizes 6 to 8½, price 15c. Extra fine quality hose for ladies 19c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

W. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.

First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's LAW OFFICES,

Corner Park avenue and Second street. Solicitor and Master in Chancery. Notary Public.

MUSIC HALL, Joseph Sohl, Prop. R. C. Varian, Mang. Telephone call, 49B

TONIGHT

Benefit tendered to

MR. JOSEPH SOHL.

on which occasion a magnificent scenic production of

The Danger Signal,

By Henry C DeMille,

will be presented with all its magnificent scenic effects and wonderful mechanisms.

SEE the life-like railroad scenes,
SEE the genuine full-sized monster locomotive, constructed of steel, propelled by steam,
THE great rotary snow plow and
THE cannon ball vestibuled train, consisting of a full-sized locomotive, tender and three coaches, flying across the stage at the rate of

FIFTY MILES AN HOUR.

Prices 35, 50, 75c and $1.

New Lines of Dinner Sets,

Rich Cut Glass, White China for decoration, Fancy Flower Pots.

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

JOHNSON'S ICE WHEEL.

The "Skacycle" is the Name of His New Invention.

John S. Johnson, the bicyclist and skater, has built what he calls a "skacycle," which of course means a combination of the skate and bicycle. The new machine is destined to beat the wind and ice yachts. Tom Eck, Johnson's manager, believes that his protege can skip over the ice on the "skacycle" at the rate of a mile a minute. So called "skacycles" and other nondescripts of the skate and bicycle combination have seldom upheld the theory of their great speed, but Eck and Johnson are both very confident of the success of this latest machine.

Johnson is also to have a tandem machine for the ice, upon which he and a skating partner, Patrick O'Connor, will attempt to do a little flying for records. O'Connor will ride a single arrangement while acting as pacemaker to Johnson in skating. Both the tandem and the single machine will be fitted with a long steel skate runner in front and a claw attachment to the rear wheel in lieu of the pneumatic tire. The tandem will be geared to 100 inches and the single machine to about 80 inches, as against the 68 or 70 inches to which most track cyclists are accustomed.

The machine looks well on paper, but it has "cut very little ice thus far." Johnson has been too busy at skating to give the machine any considerable time this winter. The "skacycle" has just been completed.

Harley Davidson, Olaff Rudd and Howard P. Moshier, who are all tiptop wheelmen of the class B order, are also to learn to ride the new machine. The latter, who this year won the title of "storm king whirlwind," has joined the Johnson combination of skaters and cyclists.

Johnson's record mile this year on skates is 2:42 4-5. He thinks with using the "skacycle" as a pacemaker that he can cover the distance in 2:30. The machine is invented by Johnson, who designed it at his home in Minneapolis, last fall. The picture shows the champion ready to mount. The pedals are so arranged that he can ride with skates attached to his shoes or without, but for fast time the latter mode is safer.

FASHION ON WHEELS.

Bicycling Has Taken a Strong Hold on the Upper Circles at the Capital.

Paris in one of its inspirations two years ago took to bicycle riding. Whether this fancy was due to a depreciation in investment values and persons found it cheaper to keep more bicycles and fewer horses, or whether it originated as a health measure, is not known. Then the fancy extended to the fashionables at the country houses in England, afterward coming to New York and other American cities.

Washington has for a long time been the abode of bicyclists. Its smooth streets and good country runs make it perhaps the most desirable city in the United States for the sport. Old men and women in government employ, as well as the young ones, go to and from their offices on wheels. But the fashionable set frowned on bicycle riding as an undignified exhibition not at all worthy of consideration, until the smart set of this city took up the amusement, and following this lead a change has come over the community at the national capital.

United States representatives, and many of those high in official life, and diplomats, old and young, beside many of the men and women who form Washington society proper, have set the seal of approval on the sport by appearing in Connecticut avenue on bicycles. It is not considered proper, however, to go cycling unless appropriately dressed for it—it must be looked upon essentially as a recreation.

With the men, knickerbockers and Norfolks or short jackets are worn, while the women wear short skirts under which they have leather or cloth leggings. Bloomers do not seem to have met with approval, although in the early experimental stages several girls wore them in their morning rides around the "White Lot."

The sacred precincts of H, I and K streets on clear, dry afternoons see riders of both sexes out for a spin in the country, while against the rail and trees around the Metropolitan club lean large and small bicycles.

THE WEAVER'S ART.

No Finer Picture Can Scarcely Be Imagined Than Some Persian Rugs.

The chief beauty of Oriental rugs consists in the harmonious blending of colors taken by the original impressionists from the deep tones of the sky, the radiance of light on mellow sands and the sheen of autumn, and in their softness of texture and exquisiteness of design. A famous old artist of France, speaking of the art of the Orientals to a friend, said:

"My rugs are the greatest comfort to me in my house," and, pointing to a few Oriental rugs around him, "these are my teachers. I have learned more from them than I would learn from a teacher who could speak to me. These are not silent; they speak to me new things every day."

Persia is the recognized source of what is most truly artistic, durable and valuable in rugs.

The antique Persians are soft, rich and silky, most exquisite in detail and minuteness of design, and, although the most expensive of rugs, will last from one to three or four hundred years. They are exceedingly rare now, and of course will grow more and more valuable on that account. In many of these rugs there is a persistence of symbols, borrowed from the old religion of the Persians; the lion standing for the sun, the dragon for the night and the phoenix for the rising splendors of the day. These, with symbolic representations of animal life—trees and flowers—are used to typify the struggle between good and evil, the evolution of life, the decay of death and the joys of Paradise.

"AFTER THE BALL."

A SCATHING ARRAIGNMENT OF THE DANCE BY DR. EATON.

Milwaukee's Four Hundred Stirred From Dome to Sub-cellar. An Amusing Spectacle Depicted by a Minister's Description of Their Discomfiture.

Never in its history has the Four Hundred of Milwaukee been stirred to deeper anger than by the sensational attack of Rev. Dr. Eaton, of Washington Methodist Episcopal church, on the Charity Ball recently given, and the hot roast to which he has treated the managers of the swell affair, in a paper entitled "After the Ball," which he read at the Ministers' association. Rev. Dr. Eaton stated that the 1,000 people present comprised bummers, gamblers, bawdy house keepers and their patrons, the Protestant and Catholic, the Jew and Gentile, the millionaire and dead beat, and described in lurid terms the drunkenness and debauchery and the lewd apparel, which, he claimed, were most characteristic of the affair.

Society was shocked by the plain language of the minister, and the papers have been full of interviews with prominent people who were patrons of the ball, in which they condemn Dr. Eaton and denounce him as a liar and a sensationalist.

All the papers in the State, not excepting those published on the cross roads, have had a fling at Eaton, but he has the consolation of knowing that the Methodists and Baptists are at his back and heartily sympathize with him during the storm of abuse and epithets hurled at his head. And this is his retort:

"Newspaper interviews, stately editorials, many of them gangrened with an air of injured innocence; letters from friends and foes have rained down upon my devoted head for these past days. One person sent me a magazine of nude statuary and living pictures, and then by that kind providence that always watches over the righteous the very same mail brought me a box of pills. For all these vituperations, this charitable spleen, the haste with which some manufacturers of public sentiment have managed as usual to crawl down on the wrong side of a great question of public morals and decency, I give my sincere thanks. The pulpit is my throne, but I ask no favors, nor do I make any special pleading in its behalf. Just about such advice as the devil would be supposed to give as to the proper conduct of a Christian minister has been offered without money and without price, but no one seems to think that the chief business of the Christian minister is to do what Christ did to rebuke sin.

"One would think that some of the leading journals of the city had a hard time of it bolstering up a rotten cause by the unsavory names which these interviews have brought out. One old guzzler imagines himself an authority upon public morals and decency and thinks that his attempt to villify me has enthroned him high in the esteem of decent people. Another courtly old dame pronounces my words as beneath contempt—two of a kind. The old guzzler referred to is a millionaire, prominent in society, and the dame is also a leader of the Four Hundred. Perhaps some of these good and respectable people do not know that this Charity Ball business furnishes an annual opportunity for a whole spawn of powdered and painted vermin to crawl up out of the slimy sewers of sin and to parade for a night in the social swim.

"Immediately upon the publication of my paper the road became full of dudes who were tumbling over each other to get interviewed or to write in the city papers that they saw nothing of the kind at the Charity Ball. Poor things; most of them were too drunk to see a fire engine; and that cry has been kept up ever since. There was scarcely a lady who danced or paraded whose dress was truly modest. Most of the arms and shoulders on exhibition were too skinny, flabby and ham smoked to look well even when covered up. No modest woman ever masqueraded in that style. Poor, hectic, wheezy, hollow eyed dancers take no place of usefulness in the church of God.

"The wine rooms the morning after told a story of carousal and drunkenness. Two society men had a fight in the vestibule. One man, drunk and boisterous, went to his carriage shouting, 'To hell with the Pope.' Another fellow sauntered around in the early morning in his ball dress and became so offensive that the police pulled him in. One woman got so drunk and hilarious as to make a shameful exhibition of herself in one of the rooms of the building. Another woman says that the last thing she remembers before she came too drunk to remember anything was the newsboy calling out the morning papers in the building. She was taken home on a dray or in a carriage, she does not know which. Still another lady sent her ball dress to a fashionable dressmaker to have that portion of her dress waist removed that had been ornamented with her seasickness.

"A thousand people, swell people, high up people, valiant people, knights of charity, dudes and dudesses of society, got together in Milwaukee, had a big dance, which, when some of the decenter ones had gone home, ended up in an old fashioned, high water mark carousal, and then gave the proceeds to charity, which amounted to $1 69 and two-third mills apiece, and now these society people, some of whom are millionaires, want all the world to know how benevolent they are, and this stupendous sacrifice, placed upon the altar of charity, is bait with which the devil gulled Christians into his service and dragged him into the Charity ball."

The Rival Hairdresses.

One of the two, by way of advertising himself, cuts his hair in the most faultless manner, according to the latest fashion plate: the other, on the contrary, cuts his in the most clumsy way imaginable. The first customer who entered his shop did not fail to take him to task about it.

"How in the world, being yourself a barber, do you have your hair so badly cut?"

"Why, sir, the reason is simple enough. I cannot possibly cut my hair myself, but am obliged to have recourse to my colleague over the way, and he is such a duffer!"

"And I suppose you cut his in turn?"

"Of course. And you can judge for yourself whether he oughtn't to be satisfied."—The Amusing Journal.

"Hobbles and his wife present an ideal of true married happiness."

"Nonsense! Why, he lives here and she spends most of her time in Europe."

"Well, isn't that far enough?"—Chicago Record.

FACTS ABOUT JAPAN.

Interesting Points Touched in a Talk With the Japanese Minister.

Very clever is his imperial Japanese majesty's envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, Shinichiro Kurino. Although a recent addition to the diplomatic corps, Mr. Kurino is no stranger to the United States, being well known in Boston and Cambridge, where as a Harvard student he passed seven years of his life. Eager to impart information as well as to acquire it, this agreeable gentleman is a welcome guest at public and private entertainments, and is always ready to answer questions about his interesting country.

"How far can the history of Japan be traced?" I asked the minister at our last meeting.

"Japanese historians authentically trace the history of Japan to the era of Jimmu Tenno, the first emperor of Japan and the founder of the present dynasty, who ascended the throne 2,554 years ago. The history of Jimmu Tenno is based to a certain degree upon tradition, but the Japanese regard the tradition as perfectly authentic and have canonized the first emperor, not alone as the progenitor of the present imperial house, but also as a hero and warrior who subdued the aborigines of southern and central Japan and, in a word, founded the nation."

"What is the origin of the people?"

"Ethnologists do not agree and nothing can be answered with certainty. The aborigines—Aino—are very unlike other Asiatic races and resemble the Esquimaux in some respects."

"What effect had the Perry treaty, in 1853, upon Japan?"

"It was this dawn of daylight from the outer world which showed the intelligent Japanese how thoroughly out of touch their country and, above all, their form of government was with the spirit of the age. It was then that the little band of reformers who were chiefly instrumental in bringing about the great change began their work."

"What is the population and what is the ratio of increase?"

"The present population is about 41,000,000. The increase has been 5,000,000 within ten years."

"What is the condition of the poor and what proportions are they of the whole people?"

"There are no great extremes of wealth and poverty in Japan. Wages are low, but living is cheap. There are very few great fortunes. The largest private fortune in Japan was acquired by steamships, increased by railroad investments and by investment in various commercial and industrial enterprises. The next largest was acquired through the ownership of agricultural lands. Speaking generally it may be said that wealth is acquired in Japan just as in other countries, with this possible difference, that there are no great fortunes acquired by purely speculative enterprises. Manufactures are rapidly coming to the front, especially cotton spinning and weaving."

"What are the orders of nobility?"

"There is a hereditary noble class in Japan, the descendants of the ancient landed nobility—daimios—and of the imperial family and court nobility. The emperor, who is of course the fountain head of all honors, has ennobled other subjects for distinguished public services. The orders of nobility are: princes, marquises, counts, viscounts and barons. Beside the members of the imperial family there are eleven princes, thirty marquises, eighty-four counts, 358 viscounts and 118 barons."

"Is trade respected at court?"

"Yes; and persons engaged in business pursuits are received at court. This is a complete revolution of ancient customs and ideas. When Gen. Grant was in Japan the merchants of Tokio gave him a magnificent ball and the emperor accepted an invitation to be present. This was the first time in the history of Japan that trade had been so honored."

"What are your principal exports?"

"Tea, silk, tobacco, rice, products of fisheries, lacquer, bronze, etc. The United States are Japan's best customer."

"What do you import?"

"Cotton and woollen goods, iron and steel, and manufactures of raw cotton, kerosene oil, clocks, watches, etc. Japan imports most from Great Britain; after that from China, Germany and the United States, in the order named. Exports exceed imports. In 1893 the former were 89,712,864 yen; the latter 88,257,171 yen. A yen is a coin about the value of a Mexican dollar.—Kate Field's Washington.

As Future Scientists Will Reason It Out.

"This," said the Professor of Ancient History to the class of '87 (forty-third century), "is a portion of a woman's gown preserved in the Metropolitan Museum of Antiquities since the nineteenth century. It is valuable both historically and for scientific research, showing, as you will see from these extensive sleeves, that the women of that period had abnormally developed muscles.

"This evidence of physical prowess is found only in a few remaining articles of dress that were worn in that day, but it is corroborated circumstantially by records showing that it was not until that age that woman's rights were seriously discussed. Having secured their rights towards the end of the century, they evidently allowed their muscles to degenerate, and have never, so to speak, been on their muscle again."

Two Views of a Tooth.

"I have been unto the dentist's,"
Said babbling Mrs. Brief,
"And had that horrid tooth removed,
So now I have relief."
"Oh, lucky tooth," the husband said;
"I'd so be forcepped, too,
To be removed from out the reach
Of your dear tongue—and you."

Fame,

When founded on merit, never ceases to grow, both in extent and in solidity.

Allcock's Porous Plaster

is more popular to-day than ever before, because it does what is claimed for it—relieves and cures pains in the side, chest or limbs, lame back, rheumatism, etc.

Insist Upon Having the genuine ALLCOCK'S. No other plaster is nearly so good.

Allcock's Corn Shields,
Allcock's Bunion Shields,
Have no equal as a relief and cure for corns and bunions.

Brandreth's Pills.

One or two at night, for a week or two, tone up the system.

11 16y-m w f

READY TO PAINT.

Before you put on paint see that the article you put on is what it is represented. It is poor economy, indeed, to put on a mixture of burnt clays and kerosene. Come to us and get the best.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
141 East Front st.

A LADY'S TOILET
Is not complete without an ideal
COMPLEXION
POWDER.
POZZONI'S
Combines every element of beauty and purity. It is beautifying, soothing, healing, healthful, and harmless, and when rightly used is invisible. A most delicate and desirable protection to the face in this climate.
Insist upon having the genuine.
IT IS FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE IS THE BEST. FIT FOR A KING.

$5. CORDOVAN, FRENCH & ENAMELLED CALF.
$4. $3.50 FINE CALF & KANGAROO.
$3.50 POLICE, 3 SOLES.
$2.50 $2. WORKINGMEN'S. EXTRA FINE.
$2. $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
LADIES.
$3. $2.50 $2. $1.75 BEST DONGOLA.
SEND FOR CATALOGUE. W. L. DOUGLAS, BROCKTON, MASS.
Over One Million People wear the
W. L. Douglas $3 & $4 Shoes
All our shoes are equally satisfactory
They give the best value for the money.
They equal custom shoes in style and fit.
Their wearing qualities are unsurpassed.
The prices are uniform,—stamped on sole.
From $1 to $3 saved over other makes.
If your dealer cannot supply you we can. Sold by
A. WILLETT & SON.

MOSLER SAFE CO.,
contractors to the United States Government
Mosler Patent Safes,
(fire and burglar-proof) in general use
All Over the World.
Lowest prices. Special attention and information given by
S. W. CLARK,
General Agent,
118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.
Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

J. C. POPE & CO.,
Insurance Agents,
NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET
Plainfield, N. J.

Granite Iron Ware.
Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.
Stoves at reduced prices.
Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-iron Work.
Plumbing and Heater Work.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
119 East Front St.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Jan 20, 1895, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

FAST LINE leaves Philadelphia 12 20 p m daily with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars for Pittsburg, Northern and Eastern Pennsylvania

6.37 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.34 p.m.—SOUTHWESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

8 42 p. m.—PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping cars, daily, for Pittsburg, Columbus, Chicago, and Toledo, daily, except Saturday for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00 3.05, 9.36 a. m., 9.39 p. m.

Sundays, 1, 9 05, 9 36 a. m., 9 41 p m.

For Baltimore only 1 37 p. m., week-days.

For Newark and New York—3 02, 5 34, 5 46, 6 17, 6 45, 7 0° 7 20, 7 49, 7 57, 8 06, 8 28, 8 32, 8 47, 9 27, 9 41, 9 48, 10 20, 10 38, 10 49, 11 07, 11 48 a. m., 1 13, 1 20, 1 56, 2 24, 2 40, 2 45, 3 37, 3 47, 4 43, 5 15, 5 36, 5 48, 6 06, 6 27, 6 48, 6 58, 7 07, 7 25 7 39, 8 a. m. 9 10, 9 50, 10 06 11 03 and 11 56 p. m.

Sundays 3 02, 5 34, 7 54, 8 45, 9 20, 9 47, 10 12, 10 28, 10 49 a. m., 12 35, 1 44, 2 32, 2 45, 3 45, 4 38, 5 34, 5 49, 7 05, 7 12, 7 26, 7 38, 8 20 9 15, 10 15, 11 46 and 11 56 p. m.

For New York only, 6 10 a. m. daily.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 3 37, 7 19, 9 06, 9 26, 11 43, A. M.; 1 06, 1 37, 5 32, 5 50, 6 38 7 46, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M. 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

(2 25p.m. with through Buffet parlor car) Sundays 8 59 a. m.

Cape May, Sea Isle City and Ocean City 1 37 p. m. weekdays.

For Rahway—1, 1 43 daily ex. Monday, 4 06, 8 44, 7 10, 7 59, 8 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 39, 11 43, a. m., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 43 3 20, 3 39, 3 59, 4 38, 4 52, 5 22, 5 40, 6 06 6 12, 6 17, 6 27, 6 45, 6 52, 6 59, 7 20, 7 46, 8 14, 8 45, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 1 43, 3 59, 4 43, 9 49, 10 28 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 36, 1 50, 2 47, 3 28, 4 50, 5 20, 5 40, 7 21, 7 27, 7 47, 8 14, 8 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 59, 9 06 9 36, 9 50, 11 43 a. m., 12 35, 1 37, 2 43, 2 59, 4 28, 5 06, 5 40, 6 06, 6 45, 7 46 8 39 and 11 02 p. m. Sundays, 1 00, 6 06, 9 05, 9 36 9 49, 10 41 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 5 40, 7 47, 9 16, 9 41 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 59 a.m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, and 7 20 9 54 p.m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 43, 10 25, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For Perth Amboy—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 59, 12 46 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, 7 20 7 36 9 54 and 12 27. Sundays, 1 43 10 25, 11 47 a.m 10 14 p m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 35, 2 43 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 36, 11 43 A. M.; 1 06, 1 37, 2 43, 5 06, 5 36, 7 46, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 55, 9 05 9 36, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M., 2.45 and 6.36 p. m., and 5.40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 43 P. M.

For Freehold—7 59, 11 43 a. m, 4 53, 5 06 p.m., via Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via Monmouth Junction—7 59 and 11 43 a. m., 4 53 and 5 06 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 4 12 5 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 28 a. m., and 5 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Sea Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p. m.

For Boston—3 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 6 30, 7 30, 8 10, 8 30, 9, 9 10, 10 10, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 10, 12 30, 12 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 10, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 5 50, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 40, 7 00, 7 30, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 50 p. m., 12 15 night. Sundays, 1 00 6 15, 8, 9 00, 9 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 2 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 6 30, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 15, 11 00 p. m., and 12 15 night.

E. M. PREVOST, General Manager
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent

Spring,
Housecleaning,
WALL PAPER

Do you know spring is near? Well you'll need Wall Paper for the room and Paint, Oil and Brushes to make your home sweet and clean after the long cold winter.
Fine lot of Paper for 1895 that will please the most fastidious.
Of course there is only one place to get these things if you want the Best and Cheapest,
and that place is on the corner of
North and Watchung Aves.

LOVE'S?
Yes!

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS.
30 PARK AVE.
He Manufactures Them

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.
—NO.—
BUT FULL VALUE.
O. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging.
27 Chatham street.

MONEY LOANED.
Local Representatives Wanted.
Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors, with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m

H. Eggerding,
121 PARK AVENUE.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 9tf

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect, Nov. 18, 1894.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 14, 5 37, 6 39, 6 59, 7 10, 7 30, 7 50, 8, 8 15, 8 37, 8 51, 9 46, 9 59, 10 04, 10 20 11 19, A. M., 12 00, 1 18, 2 07, 3 00, 3 12, 3 51, 4 00, 5 04, 5 44, 7 08, 8 20, 8 32, 10 17, 11 20 P. M. Sunday—2 14, 5 37, 6 00, 8 07, 9 02, 10 04, 11 10, 11 20 A. M., 12 00, 1 45, 3 00, 5 20, 8 32, 9 11, 9 30, 10 17 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street 4 00, 6 00, 7 15, 8 40, 9 10, 10, 11 45, A. M., 1 30, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 3 45, 4 30, 5, 5 15, except Saturday, 5 00 6 45, 6 15, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10 15, 11 30 P. M 12 15, 1, night. Sunday—4 00, 7 15, 8 30, 9 15, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2 15, 4, 5 30, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night. 1 A M.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 6 38, 6 52, 8 20, 7 26, 7 30, 8, 8 49 9 22, 10 06, 10 27, A. M., 12 06, 1 18, 2 07, 2 30, 3 13, 3 51, 4 30, 5 34, 6 34, 7 02, 8 30, 10 17 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 07, 8 22, 10 08, 11 20, A. M 12 37, 1 45, 3 30, 5 36, 7 11, 8 27, 8 32, 10 17 P. M.

Leave Newark 6 15, 7 16, 7 55, 8 30, 9 06, 10 05, 11 05 A. M., 1 15, 2 25, 3 20 Saturday only, 3 55, 5 05, 6 00, 6 40, 6 54, 8 34, 8 40, 9 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 45, 9 25, 11 00, A. M., 1 10, 2 37, 6 10, 6 40, 7 20, 9 22, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

"LAINFIELD AN SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 7 10, 9 16, 9 54, 11 a.m. 12 46 2 06, 3 22, 3 45, 4 56, 5 05, 5 14, 5 34, 6 04, 6 19, 8 32, 7 12, 7 56 8 21, 10 50, 11 23, P. M. 12 22 night Sunday—8 45, 9 20 9 54, A.M., 2 05, 3 22, 5 14, 6 56, 10 15, 11 14 P.M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 36, 7 00, 7 36, 7 56, 8 20, 9 06, 9 42, 11 40 A. M., 12 50, 1 45, 2 06, 3 22, 4 26, 5 22, 6 36, 8 17, 9 45, 11 06, P. M. Sunday 8 22, 9 45, 10 55 A. M., 12 06, 1 20 5 04, 6 45, 8 02, 9 06, 9 40P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 9 16, 9 54, A.M., 12 46, 3 06, 5 06, 5 14, 7 36, 8 21 P. M. Sunday—6 45, 9 20 A. M., 3 06, 6 36, P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 7 00, 8 35, A.M., 12 32, 4 04, 7 00 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 32, A. M. 6 40, 7 20, P. M

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 54, a. m., 5 05 p.m

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Manch Chunk Williamsport and Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m. for stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

9 16 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Manch Chunk.

9 54 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge branch D L & W R R, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Nanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m. way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

3 06 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua, Sunbury and Williamsport, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton. Buffet parlor car to Manch Chunk.

5 05 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge branch

5 14 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Manch Chunk Shamokin and Tamaqua, Buffet parlor car to Scranton.

6 19 P. M. for Flemington.

6 39 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Reading and Harrisburg.

9 21 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Manch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 28 a.m. Sundays for Easton, 3 06 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Tamaqua, Reading and Harrisburg, 6.35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Manch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

For Atlantic City, 8 27 a. m. 1 18 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c

Leave Plainfield 8 27, 9, 10 27, a. m 1.18, 3 51, 5 54, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove 8 53, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 8 27, 8 38, 10 27 a. m., 1 18, 3 51, 4 50, 5.54, 7 06 p.m. Sunday—8 53, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 9 27, 5.10 27 a.m., 1 18, 3 51, 4 50, 5.54, p.m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 45, 8 46, 10 45, a. m., 2 08*, 5 14* 6 46 8 21, 9 27* p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—5 45, 9 46, a. m., 2 08*, 5 14* 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Trenton 5 45, 8 46, 9 40*, 10 45, a. m., 12 45, 2 08*, 5 14*, 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night. Sunday—5 45, 9 34, a. m., 2 08*, 5 14* 6 45 p. m., 1 12 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 9 45, a. m. 2 08, 5 14* 6 45 p. m. 1 12, night. Sundays—9 46 a. m., 2 08, 5 14* 6 45 p.m. 1 12, night.

For Chattanooga, New Orleans and all points south with through vestibule sleeper, via Shenandoah Valley Route at 5 14 p m. Sundays 5 14 p m.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points west, week-days at 9 54 a m., 8 23 p. m. Sundays 6 45 p. m

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

Reading terminal, 4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 11 35 a.m., 1 30 3 40 5 15, 6 04, 8 25 p.m. 12 10, night.

Sundays—4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 12 35 a. m., 2 50, 6 00, 8 25 p. m., 12 10 night.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 55, 7 58, 9 21, 11 19, a m. 2 30, 6 12, 8 10, 11 45 p. m. Sunday—3 55, 7 58, 12 19 p m, 8 30, 6 12, 8 10, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 05 6 56, 9 06, 10 25, a.m., 12 15*, 2 10, 4 29*, 5 54, 9 05 p. m. Sundays—1 00, 4 56, 9 06, 10 27 a. m., 1 15*, 4 32 5 45*, 9 05 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rate may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass. Agt.

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.
CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.
Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

H. Hand,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Residence and postoffice address
SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.
Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

L. L. MANNING.
Marble and Granite Works
Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

Of course it is nonsense to spend your money
For Wall Paper
Unless you get your money's worth. We claim to have the finest line of new patterns in the city. If so you ought to buy here.
WOOLSTON & BUCKLE,
141 and 145 North avenue.

IF YOU WANT ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

PIANO BARGAINS.

Vanderbeek & Sattels

desire to say that they have just received a fine lot of

New Pianos

of different makes which they will sell at prices never before offered. Among them are those wonderful

Behr Brothers Pianos

Also Behning & Sons.

They represent also the Knabe, Hazelton, Chickering and many others.

They offer an excellent

Steinway Grand, $350.

A great bargain. Call soon at

221 PARK AVENUE.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must faily be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

PROFESSOR WILDER.

BRAINS, CATS, AND COLLEGE ATHLETHICS HIS HOBBIES.

Girl Students Stand the Horrors of His Operating Room Better Than the Boys.

Values Brains in College Above Brawn.

His Cat House a Great Source of Fun.

Professor Burt G. Wilder, of Cornell University, who recently exhibited a brainless frog, and has become known as one of the most skillful experts in brain anatomy in the United States.

He spends all his spare time on the comparative anatomy of brains, and has made many important discoveries, and Cornell University has been a great gainer by his presence in the faculty. He was one of the original faculty, and his collection of brains is one of the sights of the institution.

Those who know him find him a genial, warm hearted, almost overconscientious man, eager to help painstaking students. They also know him as an ardent, excitable, self willed, and absolutely fearless man. To those students who are not in his classes he is known as the one man in the faculty who has made unceasing war for twenty years on college sports. Every year there is a scare among the athletes at Cornell lest Dr. Wilder shall succeed in his nefarious purpose of killing athletics, and every year there is a rally in the faculty to head him off. The Doctor recently said in a printed article:

"I can probably claim a 'bad pre-eminence' among American professors on the following grounds: I never witnessed an intercollegiate contest, contributed a cent for their maintenance, or voted to permit absences of any team or crew. Since 1876 I have objected to the whole system in writings."

PROF. B. G. WILDER.

"Not very long ago society flocked to admire a drooping lily or a nodding sunflower with a slim something in petticoats or trowsers behind it, dribbling forth unintelligible—and therefore inestimable—inanities. To-day, the obvious college representative is the captain of a successful football team. The game is witnessed by thousands at a high price. Great newspapers devote columns to contests, which, in the total of fury, bodily hurt and bloodshed, surpass some pugilistic encounters, and approximate war before the introduction of gunpowder. Brains give place to brawn. 'A whole head is worth less than a half back.' The æsthetic craze has been succeeded by an athletic craze."

Dr. Wilder has another fad besides brain study and hostility to football and other athletic sports. It is cats. He was one of the first teachers of physiology to use cats in experiments before the students. To illustrate the action of the heart and lungs he has put hundreds of cats under the influence of chloroform and cut them up in his lecture room. The young women students have invariably stood it better than the young men the first time. Some male freshman is almost sure to faint when he sees the doctor's experiments in vivisection, but the girls, although they occupy the front seats, look on without a quaver. To get cats Dr. Wilder offered 10 cents each for all the small boys could bring him. There was a procession of small boys immediately across the Cornell campus, each with a bag. The Doctor had to have constructed at once a cat house, and Ithaca became known as the one town in all New York State where the midnight feline serenades and quarrels, with the resultant bootjack and pistol shots, were unknown. Ithaca is still a model town in this respect, thanks to Dr. Wilder, and many of its citizens who get a comfortable night's sleep when the citizens of other towns are leaning out of their windows seeking a chance to kill the members of some cat congress, openly thank Dr. Wilder for their comfort.

Dr. Wilder's cat house used to be a great source of much fun for the students. More than once has it been raided and the cats allowed to escape. It used to be out in a little orchard, now occupied by a handsome building, and there is a record of a case of arson when it was burned one night and the cats were sent scurrying over the campus to disappear in the neighboring gorges. Dr. Wilder and his cats have been caricatured repeatedly in the college annuals, and finally their memory was made secure in a college song. It was once sung to the evident embarrassment of the Doctor. The class of '83 was making its last rounds of the buildings on class day and cheering every familiar thing, animate or inanimate, that had shared in their college life. The members of the class had just passed the orchard when Dr. Wilder and an eminent friend of the New York medical fraternity were seen coming from a building on their way to the cat house. The Doctor was exhibiting his happy family of cats awaiting execution. Taking advantage of the license of the day the graduating class at once stopped, and some one proposed three cheers for Dr. Wilder. The Doctor was plainly pleased. He bowed and smiled his acknowledgments, and then the irreverent young men began this song:

Old Dr. Wilder went a-prowling after cats.

It is sung to the tune of "John Brown's Body."

Contrition.

Mistress (angrily)—Bridget, I find that you wore one of my decollete ball gowns to the hack drivers' ball last evening. It's the worst piece of impudence I ever heard of. You ought to be ashamed of yourself!

Bridget (meekly)—Oi was, mum; Oi was!—and me young mon said, as if Oi iver wore sich an indacent dress in public ag'in, he'd break our ingagemint.—Puck.

CATCHING A WILD HEIFER.

She Charges a Skillful Man and is Flipped Over in a Jiffy.

In Washington county, Me., between New Stream and the East Machias river, the townsmen of Northfield and Whitneyville have had considerable fun since October chasing a wild heifer, which strayed from Bartlett Albee's farm in Northfield some time last summer. She displayed all the alertness and sagacity of game animals eluding capture. Dogs were put on her trail in November, but instead of circling as deer do when pursued by hounds, she put straightaway like a caribou, to remain for weeks away from her accustomed localities.

A few weeks ago there was a heavy snow storm in that part of the country, and reports having come to Whitneyville that the heifer, a shadow of her former self, had been sighted in the woods near the confluence of Old and New streams, which empty into the Machias east of Northfield, Thomas Hennessey and Jim Healy accompanied by some boys started out to capture her.

Hunger had driven the animal from the woods to the clearings, but nothing could induce her to come near a human being. When sighted, Hennessey and Healey gave chase on snow shoes, the deep snow making rapid progress for the heifer out of the question. She ran, however, till her pursuers were close on her quarters, when she suddenly turned to give battle. Her bellowings were horrific, and she looked so frightful when she turned that Hennessey and the boys gave way.

Healey was game. Two years ago a she bear is said to have treed him, and he has been the victim of more or less guying ever since. He is a powerful young fellow and knows how to handle cattle.

When the heifer turned he planted himself squarely in front of her. She hesitated, eyed him furiously for a moment, and charged. When she lowered her head to give him the toss, Healey grasped both of her horns, threw all the weight of his body on his left hand, bearing the heifer's head into the snow, at the same time pushing up and over on the left horn. It's a trick that has to be done on the instant, and when it is worked as Healey worked it down goes the animal, as did the heifer.

Healey held her head in the snow while Hennessey and the boys procured ropes with which to tie her legs together. This being done, she was bundled onto a sled and taken to Northfield, where she is now putting on fat and getting used to her earlier surroundings.

MAPS AND MODELS.

Complicated Preliminaries that Have to Be Worked Out in Staging a Production.

The non theatrical person who may chance to penetrate the holy of holies of a prominent manager's office will look with curiosity at what appear to be toy theater stages set up on desk and table and will wonder to what mysterious uses the miniature playhouses are put. He may give voice to his curiosity and the manager, perchance inclined to graciousness by big box office receipts, may vouchsafe the explanation that these apparent toys, far from being playthings, represent one of the most important of the many preliminaries to the production of a new play.

They are models and embody the combined ideas of playwright, stage director, scenic artist and manager as to the most effective setting for the real stage when the new piece is offered for public favor.

This is arranging the actual acting business of the play, the scenes, situations, grouping of characters, entrances and exits and the like, all of which must be decided on before the scenic artist is launched forth on his career. The stage director, with this duty before him, spreads on the table a large sheet of brown paper, on which he traces the outlines of a stage. Then he starts at the beginning of the play, with the first line spoken by the first character, plans where the character shall enter, takes him down stage or wherever the most interesting effect would be produced, moves him around to the delight of a prospective audience, has him sit here, stand there, lean against something elsewhere and trace all these goings and comings on the brown paper with black dotted lines and arrows pointing out directions to be taken.

Then the next character is similarly carried around, and his or her dotted lines and arrows cross and recross those of the first, or meet at tables and chairs, represented by red and blue crosses and circles, or point off the stage, if fate leads the actor thither, and thus each of the parts is worked out from the rising of the curtain even unto the going down of the same.

FORT DELAWARE DOOMED.

The Old Stronghold That Saw Sad Scenes From 1861-65 Being Demolished.

Fort Delaware, lying close to the Jersey shore, off Salem, N. J., will soon be a thing of the past. Within a year no part of the old brick and stone structure will remain.

The government, fearing early in the twenties that Philadelphia was a vulnerable point in case of war, built Fort Delaware. It cost $350,000, and a garrison was kept there for nearly three-quarters of a century, but for the last two years no tread of sentry or rattle of musketry has come from its ramparts. Its big 68-pounders have become rusted from want of care, and for months swarms of rats have held high carnival within its confines.

The gray walls of the fort have become a landmark to the seafaring men entering the Delaware, and they, more than any one else, will miss it.

Fort Delaware's big guns never sent shot or shell at an enemy, but the stronghold was used as a prison for rebel soldiers during the rebellion and left behind a fearful record of death. The structure was reared on a low, swampy island in the river, one of whose chief products was malaria. More than fifteen-hundred rebel prisoners were confined there in 1863, and the mortality among them was frightful. In one month nearly four score died. The physicians in charge did everything in their power, but the death dealing vapors continued to claim victims.

Godspeed To Missionary Goforth.

The faculty and students of Knox College held a meeting lately at the college in order to bid Godspeed to the Rev. Jonathan Goforth, the college's devoted missionary to Honan, China.—Toronto Globe.

On the Word of a Brother Editor.

Editor Spence was in our midst last week and made a critical examination of our improved machinery. He pronounces it great.—Albion Record.

Special Bargains for February.

SHIRTS at 39c; regular price 50c.
Special buckskin gloves 98c, regular $1.50.
Saw you our Reindeer Glove for dress or driving $1.50

HALLOCK,

109 West Front st.

5,000 Pounds

Another big supply of Fresh Country Roll

BUTTER at 18c Per Pound.

Watch for our special sale price list in Thursday's and Saturday's paper.

FULPER'S, 207 West Front St.

Misses Shoes

without tips; best leather; best shoe made. So'd at cost.

P. Cox make $1 50, were $2.

R. Dix make $1.25, were $1.75.

Alex. Willett & Son,

107 Park avenue.

106 East Front Street——NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c	Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
" Oolong tea	30c	Can peas, early June	8c
" Young Hyson tea	40c	Can corn, fine goods	8c
" Japan tea	40c	Fine butter	24c
XX soda crackers	4½c	Ground coffee	17½c
Ginger snaps	5½c	Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Nic-nac crackers	6c	Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
California peaches	17c can	" Rio coffee	24c
		Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented. H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement For walls and ceilings.

SHAD! Rogers

232 W. 2d. St.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats, Dress Shirts,
Gloves and Neckwear

U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,

120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat,

or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.

E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,

177 North Avenue.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager
Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.
1 14 tf

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,

Prescription Druggist,

143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

[Copyright by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.]

CHAPTER II.

"You said yourself once that you would tackle any subject if you were allowed half an hour to read it up."

"Certainly, but this is the one subject that you can't read up. You can't get it out of a book, because any book upon the subject would be out of date before it could be published."

"Can't you get it out of other papers?"

"Even then you can't be certain of being up to date. I tell you—and you can believe it or not, as you like—that the shape of a sleeve has been known to change completely in a single night. Of course, the other papers would give me the right vocabulary—words like 'selvedge,' and 'ruching,' and things of that kind."

"M'yes. They wouldn't tell you what they meant."

"No. There you are again; the thing's too difficult."

"Look here," I said, "you must know some good-natured woman of the world—one of the kind that likes young men—one of the kind that believes that journalism is connected with authorship, and authorship is connected with romance. You had better go to her, tell her frankly what your position is, and ask her—"

He interrupted me. "You are being perfectly useless to me," he said, with clenched teeth and studied calm. "If you know me at all, you must know that I would sooner be boiled alive in non-corrosive ink and have my blue-black carcass eaten by half-caste Kaffirs, than let any woman of my acquaintance know that I had been even asked to do anything so presumptuous and immodest. If I attempt this article at all, it will be to prove to the editor that I really am an all-round journalist, and you must understand that I don't want it talked about."

"Certainly. But if you're going to write the article, how do you propose to get your information?"

"I can't say exactly. I shall look in the windows of the big shops, and take notes of the people in the Park. Then the managers of the shops would tell me something in return for a gratuitous advertisement. I thought, perhaps, you might have some other notion."

"No," I said, "I'm afraid I am not of much use. However, I can say that I am sincerely sorry for you."

He shook my hand warmly on leaving, and thanked me. "If anything should happen," he said, hopelessly, "it will, at any rate, be a consolation to me that I have had your sympathy. Good night." He had no sooner shut the door behind him than he opened it again and put his head in. "You don't happen to know what a basque is, do you?" he asked in a melancholy voice. "No? Well, it doesn't matter. It's only one thing out of many. Good night again." He looked very depressed, as if he had some presentiment that he had undertaken a task beyond his powers, and evil would come of it.

Three times on the following day I saw Salemaker. The first time was in the morning, outside the law courts. He was walking very fast in the direction of the west, and seemed more energetic than on the previous day. He came up to me, and said at once in rather a peremptory way: "What's accordion plaiting?"

I confessed that I didn't know.

"That's just like you," he said, impatiently. "You never do know anything. I can't stop."

He hurried on. I noticed that he was carrying under his arm two or three of the feminine journals.

Later in the day I found him staring into the windows of a big shop in Regent street where they sold bonnets. As for his appearance, I can only say that he looked like a desperate man. "I am glad to see you," he said, gloomily. "If you'd come a minute later, it would have been all over. I should have broken that window, thrown the bonnets and things into the street and trampled on them. I have been thinking about doing it for the last five minutes."

"Look here, Salemaker," I said, "you've been overworking yourself. You wouldn't get yourself into this condition if you didn't take things so seriously."

"I'll give you a sovereign," he replied, "to stick your foot through that window. Go on, do it. Nobody's looking. I can't do it myself, because it would injure the paper if I got into the police courts. You've got no position to speak of, and it wouldn't matter if you did it. If you don't want the sovereign, do it out of friendship. There's a hat at the back trimmed with two shoe buckles and a split hummingbird. If I could tear that in half and throw it under an omnibus I should feel better."

"Control yourself," I said, firmly. "I'm going to take you to the club, and give you tea, and, so far as it is humanly possible, stop you from behaving like a lunatic. What have you been doing all day?"

"I have been collecting material for an article entitled: 'The Height of Fashion.' That's what has brought me to this. You won't do this little thing to oblige me? Just what I thought. You call yourself a Bohemian, and as a matter of fact you're eaten up with respectability."

With some difficulty I persuaded him to come with me to the club. There I gave him tea and consolatory cigarettes. When he was a little calmer, I pressed him to tell me his experiences. He did so, with some reluctance.

"I began," he said, "by going to Bond street. I found a window there with just the right kind of clothes in it. They were so ugly as to be almost indecent. That was why I knew they were all right; they couldn't have been exhibited at all if they hadn't had style. They must have been simply saturated with style. Besides, Bond street's always all right, anyhow. So I pulled out my note-book, and it was just then I saw her with her green eyes fixed on me."

"What her?"

"Miss Catling. Didn't I mention it? I believe she must have been lying in ambush there. She saw, of course, what I was doing, saw it at a glance. I was doing her work. She just bowed, and came at me like an angry cow. I took off my hat and walked quickly away. She pursued. I quickened my pace, and got on to an omnibus. She got on to another omnibus immediately behind it.

"I'LL GIVE YOU A SOVEREIGN," HE REPLIED.

I waited a few seconds, and then stepped off my 'bus. So I got clear away."

"But how? When she saw you get off the one 'bus, why didn't she get off the other, if she wanted to catch you?"

"Because she had paid her penny and couldn't bring herself to take less than the full pennyworth. Women mostly like value for their money. I had counted on that. As I say, I had got clear off, but I believe the incident spoilt my nerve. After that I had no intention of gong anywhere in particular, but I found myself in front of another big shop window in Oxford street. I pulled myself together. I decided to go in, say that I wanted the latest news about the fashions and offer in return for the information a gratuitous advertisement of the firm. Well, I went in. Inside there was a tall stately man. He smiled at me just as if he wanted to be a friend to me, and yet all the time his stateliness seemed to be a kind of bar between us."

Here Salemaker paused and buried his head in his hands.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

H. DeMOTT,
With livery attached,
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,
178 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 92 7

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET.
(Estate D. I. Smalley.)
94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.
GEO. EGEL, Manager.
We sell only first-class goods, at low prices, for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 10 t

HENRY C. ADAMS.
INSURANCE.
Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

Electrical Strikers Quiet.

New York, March 4.—Nothing important developed in the strike of the electrical workers and the building trades in sympathy with them yesterday. A meeting was held, but no decided change in the strikers' plans was agreed on.

Result of a Duel.

Paris, March 4.—M. Percher, the Debats editor who was killed in a duel on Friday, will be buried in Etampes to-day. The archbishop of Paris refused to grant religious rites and the bishop of Orleans probably will do the same.

Lord Rosebery's Condition.

London, March 4.—Lord Rosebery passed a wakeful night and does not gain strength. His condition yesterday was altogether unsatisfactory.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

NOTICE.

As directed by a resolution of the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, county of Union, State of New Jersey, notice is hereby given that an application has been made to the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood aforesaid, by the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, for permission to construct, operate and maintain a street railroad, with one or more tracks and necessary turnouts, to be operated by electricity or other motive power except steam, and to erect necessary poles, conduits and wires, power plant and necessary buildings along the following routes:

Beginning in the division line between the city of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood where Midway avenue crosses said division line and running thence in an easterly direction along Midway avenue to its connection with North avenue; thence still easterly along North avenue to the division line between the Townships of Fanwood and Westfield.

Beginning at the intersection of Mountain avenue and Forrest avenue or road, in the village of Scotch Plains in the twp of Fanwood and running thence southeasterly along Forrest avenue or road to its intersection with North avenue; thence southerly along said North avenue to Depot street; thence to a point at or near the Fanwood station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The name of the corporation making the application is the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company.

The application was filed on the 15th day of February, eighteen hundred and ninety-five and will be considered by the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, at a meeting to be held on the 7th day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, at Excelsior Hall, at Scotch Plains, in the township of Fanwood aforesaid, county of Union, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

EDWARD L. HAND,
2 16 14 Township Clerk.

BETTER THAN GOLD BONDS
VALUABLE
REAL ESTATE
in the business centre of Plainfield. The large building on West 2d street, known as The Elkwood Building,
Will be sold at public auction on
Monday, March 4, 1895,
At 2 P. M., on the premises. The property is about 65 feet front by about 160 feet deep, and contains a three story brick building used for stores, public hall, flats, lodge rooms and offices. This property originally cost about $43,000, and affords a grand opportunity for investment. Attend the sale.
For further particulars inquire of W. R. Codington, Attorney, corner Park avenue and Second street, Plainfield, N. J.
The above sale stands adjourned to Thursday, March 7, at 2 p. m. 3 4 3

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7 20, 8 40, 11 a. m., 2 20, 5, 6 20 p. m.
Close—7 and 9 20 a. m., 1 45, 6, and 7 30 p. m

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8 40 a. m., 2 40, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 15 a. m., 4 30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arrives 12 m; closes 9 10 a.m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9 30 to 10 30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6 15 p. m

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 212 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

R. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 8024, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Langer, Fin. Sec. 9 25 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 142, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Mason ic Hall, 10 East Front stree

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. C. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

H. A. STILES,
of Leech, Stiles & Co., the Philadelphia Eye Specialists, formerly with

TO PLAINFIELD
Every Thursday.
He will be found at
No. 107 East Front Street,
Dunham's Real Estate Office
From 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

BAMBERGER'S
"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"
NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values
IN
UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality,

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK
for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c, at 49 cents.

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN
with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at 12½ cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE
36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at
7½ cents

CHENILLE PORTIERES,
each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

☞ Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,
147 and 149 Market Street,
Near Broad Street Newark, N. J.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,
Painters and Decorators.
167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B C F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S
Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose	7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose	10c pair
" " " double knee	18c pair
" " " extra heavy	25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handkerchiefs	5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs	5c

210 West Front Street.

FEBRUARY PRICES.

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,
73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.
Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

PRICES DURING FEBRUARY.

Tapestry Brussels carpet per yard, only	50c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only	$10
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, only	$20
Velvet carpet per yard, only	75c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only	$15
Antique oak sideboards, only	$13 50
Extra super all-wool ingrain carpet per yard, only	50c
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, in rug covering, only	$30
Fancy couches and lounges, only	$5
Low priced ingrain carpet per yard, only	25c
Antique oak bedroom suits, only	$20
Body Brussels carpet per yard, only	87c
Antique oak chiffoniers with mirrors, only	$8.75
Mahogany finished frame parlor suits, in silk covering, only	$40
Dining-room chairs, high back, antique oak, per set only	$7.50
Antique oak extension tables, only	$8.50
Oilcloth per yard, only	20c
Hall stands, only	$5.50
Antique oak bedroom suits, only	$25
Three ply carpet per yard, only	75c

PORTLAND RANGES—The prices on these Ranges are not reduced, as we are not allowed to do so by the manufacturers. We have made reductions in all other departments not mentioned above at the same rate as in this ad. Easy terms. Goods delivered free to all parts of the State.

STORING FURNITURE—Having just erected a new building at 88, 90 and 92 Bank st., we can safely say that we have the most complete Storage Building in the State, and at such low rates. All locked rooms. Furniture moved with vans by careful men in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,
73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

HEATH & DRAKE

Pushing Things

We are pushing things all along the line.

Dress ginghams, value 10c, at
6 cents

Dress ginghams, value 25c, at
19 cents.

Breakfast napkins, value $1 70, at
$1 45 doz

Huck towels, value 15c, at 12½ Cts.

Bleached table damask value 90c, at
75c.

Linen sheets 2½x2¾, value $5, at
$4 50 pr

8x10 table cloth linen, val. $2 25, at $2.00.

Black Damasse satin, value $1 25, at $1.00

Black satin Duchesse, value 84c, at
69. c

Real Japanese silks, figured, value 50c, at 39c.

52-inch all wool granite mixtures, value 75c, at
59c.

44-inch wool Argyle suitings, in small seeded effects, value 69c, at 50c.

Free delivery to Plainfield and vicinity

HEATH & DRAKE,
777 and 779 BROAD STREET,
Newark, N. J

MRS. L. COLES,
FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,
Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st

Taylor's French System
used. Suits $6.00 and upward.
2 2 tf

FLORIST.
A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue,
has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1 50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 26 1m

Central Employment Office
218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.
All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

L. PAOLI & CO.,
Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Cigars, Etc.,
128 NORTH AVENUE,
FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY.
10 CENTS A QUART.
I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.
Hummer & Mulford,
VARIETY MARKET,
Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.
220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N J
Telephone call, 29 A.
Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge 9 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,
26 acres, or in plots to suit,
Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, India rubber trees, etc.
L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED
Sulphur and Vapor Baths,
followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 8 p. m. H. HOSMER, 26 North ave., Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Frank Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong.

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY. $5 A YEAR.

ALL THEIR WAY.

Netherwood's Well Owners Win Again.

FINAL DECISION IN A FAMOUS SUIT.

Messrs. Kean, Bergen and Voorhees Now Control the Right to Run Mains from Plainfield Throughout the County, and the Cranford "Union" Is Dissolved.

[From The Elizabeth Daily Journal.]

The Court of Errors and Appeals rendered a decision at Trenton today morning in the famous case of the Union Water Company against John Kean, Frank Bergen, Senator Voorhees and others, holding thot the Court of Chancery had no jurisdiction to grant an injunction against them at the suit of the Bigelow organization, and reversing the decree of the Court of Chancery made a year ago. This case has been pending for nearly four years in the courts, and grew out of proceedings taken in July, 1891, by Messrs. Kean, Bergen and others to organize the Union Water Company under a special act of incorporation passed in 1870. Six of the commissioners named in the act to receive subscriptions gave notice at that time, calling for subscriptions, and in pursuance thereof Mr. Kean and his associates subscribed for the number of shares required by the charter, paid in their money, and elected a board of directors, and proceeded to construct works. Thereupon Alden B. Bigelow of Cranford, and a few others, who were also incorporators and commissioners named in the charter, set up a claim that the company had been organized in 1870. It turned out that eleven persons at a meeting called for the purpose, in August of that year, had agreed to subscribe for one hundred shares of stock each, and each gave a check for $500 in part payment to one of their number, who acted as treasurer. Subsequently these checks were returned by common consent to the parties who had given them, and nothing further was done until 1891, when Frank Bergen, president of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, conceived the idea of extending a water main from Netherwood to Elizabeth and constructing lateral systems in Fanwood, Westfield, Cranford and Roselle. As a step in that proceeding he requested the requisite number of incorporators mentioned in the charter of the Union Company to call for subscriptions, by public notice, as the charter required, not knowing of the attempt to organize in 1870. They did so, and in that way it happened that two rival organizations of the company came into existence. The case has attracted a great deal of attention, both in the courts and throughout the county, the Kean-Bergen organization having expended a large sum of money in laying nearly thirty miles of mains, claiming to be the corporation. When the Bigelow organization filed their bill in the Court of Chancery for an injunction the Chancellor denied it; subsequently on final hearing of the cause in the Court of Chancery Vice Chancellor Pitney granted an injunction. An appeal was taken from that decree and decided today as stated above.

Senator Schenck of New Brunswick and Mr. Wilbur of New York represented the Bigelow organization in the litigation, and R. V. Lindabury of Elizabeth and ex-Judge Stevens of Newark represented the Kean-Bergen organization.

A Woman's Plaint.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—The annual sale of the souls and bodies of scores of the residents of Plainfield has taken place. The sad scenes of other years will be repeated. Little children who now eagerly watch for the coming of a kind father will learn to dread the staggering footsteps of their once protector, while the comforts of many happy homes will be taken to supply the rum poison and enrich the drunkard-maker; people who have had no part nor lot in the matter of license will be called on to provide for the families thus defrauded. Those men who by their votes last Monday night will bring all this trouble on the helpless and innocent belong to the (so-called) Grand Old "temperance" Party. Grand indeed, and "manly", to rob women and children of a happy and comfortable home, and subject them to privation and abuse. And this great Government professes to protect the weak and defenseless!

"Right may hang upon the scaffold,
Wrong may sit upon the throne;
But the Lord among the shadows
Is keeping watch above His own."

MRS. DEF.

Collected for India.

Rev. Dr. Boggs of India gave an intensely interesting talk Sunday evening in the First Baptist Church under the auspices of the Temple Builders, on his work in India. His work has certainly been wonderful, and the large audience was much enthused in listening to his experience. At the close a collection was taken for the support of the native preacher at the Yerkes Chapel in Tetu, India. The selections by the choir were a feature of the service.

NORTH PLAINFIELD SCHOOL.

Tax Amounts Named for the Year to Come.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Education of North Plainfield was held in the schoolhouse last evening.

There were present Trustees Joseph, Loomis, Schutt, Overton, Townsend, Wells, and McCutchen.

The financial report of the District Clerk, and the general report of the Board, which are to be presented at the district meeting to be held March 19, were presented and considered.

The amount needed to be raised by special district tax for the conduct of the school during the coming year was discussed, and it was concluded that the amount needed to be raised for teachers salaries and general expenses was $6 600, and the amount needed for free text books and supplies $750.

The District Clerk was directed to post the necessary legal notices and make the necessary legal advertisements calling the annual school meeting for March 19, and to insert in such notices the amounts named above as desired to be voted at such meeting. He was further directed to advertise the notice of the meeting in the Plainfield papers.

The Finance Committee presented the paid January coupons on the outstanding bonds of the district, and the District Clerk was directed to transmit them to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Adjourned.

TOMORROW we shall begin publication of a detective story by Nym Crinkle, entitled

"EIGHT MINUTES TO THREE".

A. C. Wheeler, who uses this pseudonym, is one of the best known journalists in the United States. He has been for many years the dramatic critic of the New York World, and is today one of the most brilliant writers on the American press. It is to his inimitable sketches of New York life that the Sunday World owes a considerable part of its popularity. Mr. Wheeler has written many successful stories, of which the best known is perhaps "The Great Laran Rebellion".

"Eight Minutes of Three" is in every way a remarkable piece of fiction, and deserves to rank with some of the weird tales of Poe. It will run five days, and will be followed by a short story of New England life by Mary E. Wilkins.

This story, like all the Daily Press serials, is brand-new, and copyrighted to Daily Press use.

A Noted Blind Hymn Writer.

Miss Fannie J. Crosby will be in Reform Hall tonight, and give humorous and other recitations.

When a baby of six weeks her eyesight was totally destroyed, but this affliction has never been a source of regret, as Miss Crosby considers that her memory has been strengthened, and she is able to concentrate her mind fully upon her lifework of singing Salvation into the hearts of young and old.

Rev. Dr. Lowry of Plainfield has been acquainted with Miss Crosby the past 25 years, and has composed much of the music for her sweet hymns. He will present this remarkable woman to the audience, tonight. Attend, with your friends and the children.

All This, Free.

Charles Bullman of Plainfield, who has spent several years in South America, will lecture in Y. M. C. A. Assembly Hall this evening, and exhibit the following articles: Blow-guns from Amazon River, Brazil, and San Juan River, Colombia; bows and arrows from Marovie River, French Guiana, Rio Negro, and Brazil; pottery from Peru; hats from French Guiana; musical instruments from Columbia and Peru; and photographs of scenes in Columbia, Venezuela, West Indies, Les Guianos, Sandwich Islands, and Samoa.

No admission fee will be charged.

After Business, Rations.

A very important special meeting of the members of the Crescent Wheelmen will be held in the clubhouse tomorrow evening at 8:30, and all are earnestly requested to be present as business relating to the coming season will be discussed. Refreshments will follow.

Close Shooting.

The shooting match at Elizabeth Saturday at 25 birds, single barrel, between Dan Terry of this city and Fred Lever of Elizabeth, was won by Lever by the close score of 18 to 17.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. R. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

UNCLE SAM'S MOVE.

Babcock Building Now Holds Our Postoffice.

POSTMASTER HETFIELD'S SUCCESS.

The New Quarters Are a World's Fair Model, Handsome, Commodious, Superb, and the Public as Well as the Employes of the Service Are Delighted.

Uncle Sam's servants in the postal service in the city of Plainfield moved into their new quarters in the Babcock Building last night, and in the parlance of the street they're "simply out of sight". It is doubtful if there is another postoffice in the country whose facilities for quick handling of mail and convenience for employes excel those of the new local office. The 14 employes of the office commenced moving from the old building last night at 6:30, and at 11:30 had transferred all mail, records, etc., which it was necessary to move. Every fixture in the new quarters was furnished by the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company of Stamford, Conn., and they are made of oak and ash, elegantly finished.

POSTMASTER JOHN M. HETFIELD.

The lobby of the office where business is transacted with the public is surrounded by a cabinet in which the 200 call and 250 lock boxes, general delivery, money order, registered letter, stamps, inquiry and carriers windows, are located. It is made in the shape of an L, running about 20 feet back from the entrance and then running about the same distance across the room to the west wall.

The most noticeable thing which is observed on entering are the desk, chair and settee situated in the west window, which are placed there exclusively for the use of the women patrons, at which they may write or address letters or rest from fatigue. The desk and chairs are elevated on a platform, and surrounded by an oak railing, the inside of which is covered with a brussels carpet.

On entering one first meets the door leading to the private office of Postmaster Hetfield, which is furnished in a cozy manner. Going from there one passes to the registry and money-order departments, which are equipped with every appurtenance necessary to expedite business. Along the east wall is the supply bureau for stamps, blanks, etc. Turning to the left the general delivery window is encountered, and running back on each side are the paper and letter boxes, partitions arranged in them so that any address can be found at a glance.

The mailing and delivery departments are separated from the other portions of the office by a wire fence. In the centre of the commodious room is the elevator shaft where pouches are brought in from and sent out to trains and stages. Near the wire fence on the east side of the room is the first distributing table where the pouches are emptied on arrival and routed out, after which they are taken to the respective tables of each carrier and sorted into streets.

The mailing department is in the northeast corner of the room where is the dumping table, 6x12, and two stamping tables, which are supported with solid columns, and which deadens the sound of stamping. The iron rack has places for 8 pouches, and letter receptacle containing 156 boxes.

There is also a sufficient number of lockers for use of the office attaches. The mailing fixtures and lockers were used in the postoffice at the World's Fair in 1893. A new feature which has been added to the office is the use of an electric bell which is sounded at regular delivery hours by the supintendent of carriers to notify his subordinates as to the time to start on their routes of delivery.

Postmaster Hetfield was highly congratulated on all sides this morning, for the success of his enterprise.

—The annual meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held in the Public Library tomorrow morning at 11.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

PHILHARMONIC TONIGHT.

Programme of Rare Good Music Arranged for the Final Concert.

The following splendid programme will be given in the Casino tonight, as the third subscription concert of the New York Philharmonic Club:

PART FIRST.

Symphonie XIII.....J Haydn
Adagio—Allegro
Largo.
Menuetto.
Finale.
(Expressly arranged for Flute and Strings by the composer.)

Violin Solo—{a. Cavatine.....C Bohm
{b. Fairy Dance.....Bazzini
Sol Marcosson.

Recitative and Aria (LaParisina).....Donizetti
William H Rieger.

{a. Nachtgesang.....Jean Vogt
{b. Pizzicati.....E Gillet
N Y Philharmonic Club.

PART SECOND.

Quartette—No. 10, No. 74.....L v Beethoven
Andante—Allegro.
Two Violins, Viola and Violoncello.

Flute Solo—{a. Adagio.....Arnold Krug
{b. Scherzando..S Demersseman
Eugene Weiner.

Violoncello Solo—Concert Allegro, E minor, Henry Haagmans. [D Popper

Songs—{a. Wenn ich in deine Augensch. [Sissell
{b. Selected
W H Rieger.

Hungarian Dance, No. 8..... .....A Dvorack
N Y Philharmonic Club.

WANT A REFORMATORY.

Plainfielders Urge the Need of a Home for Wayward Children.

A stated meeting of the Union County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association was held in All Souls Church last night.

The discussion of the report of the Committee on Children was the principal matter considered, which was in reference to the need of a reformatory in New Jersey which inculcated the advanced ideas of the penalogist. Wm. Paterson, who presented the report, said that there was a great and growing need for such an institution in this State. There was also need for the enactment of law which would restrain parents who attempted no control over their children from keeping their families together to grow up in crime. Mr. Paterson and Mayor Gilbert were appointed a committee to draft a legislative bill embodying such powers.

His Hat Electrocuted.

As Will Pangborn was riding up Somerset street yesterday afternoon in an electric car the trolley arm slipped from the wire, and the rope connected with it suddenly shot up also. But as it went up, it came into collision with Will's hat, and the next instant the nice new tile lay in a pool of nice black Somerset street mud. Pangborn jumped off and rescued his property, but walked the rest of the way, removing, as far as possible, with a very mournful air, the evidences of the fall.

Bad Walking.

The condition of some of the crosswalks and sidewalks on Liberty, Fourth and Fifth streets is wretched. At several places there are no walks, and it is impossible to walk without going over one's shoes in mud.

Those having to use East Fourth street between Washington and Richmond streets, and Watchung avenue between Second street and North avenue, are complaining bitterly about the condition of the sidewalks.

His Partner's Work Ended.

Mayor H. E. Needham of the borough attended the funeral Sunday of his late partner, Henry D. Camendon, which was held in the Dutch Reformed Church, Thirty-fourth street, New York city. He had been connected with that church 65 years. In the evening Mr. Needham listened to Rev. Mr. Dixon at the Y.M.C.A. hall in New York.

Working for Temperance.

At the meeting in Reform Hall Sunday afternoon there was a large attendance. The singing was excellent, addresses were made by Messrs. Sayre and Titsworth, and a number of others. Mrs. Opdyke presided, and also made a good talk for temperance.

Mustering Recruits.

It is expected that two recruits will be mustered at the meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, this evening, and it is hoped that every member will be present.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

17 MILES OF SEWERS.

The Council Advancing Plainfield's Improvement.

CONTRACTORS ASKED TO BID.

Long List of Streets Which Are to Have Mains Laid This Summer—Council to Consider Proposals March 25.

The Plainfield Common Council last night made important progress in the sewer matter, by authorizing the reception of bids March 25 for sewer construction in the following thoroughfares:

Grant ave between West Third st and West Front st.
Grant ave between West Seventh st and West Eighth st.
West Front st between Grant ave and Central ave.
East Front st between Watchung ave and Berckman st.
Second st, East and West respectively, between Plainfield ave and Berckman st.
South Second st between Liberty st and Plainfield ave.
West Third st between Central ave and Arlington ave.
East Third st between Watchung ave and Midway ave.
North ave between Park ave and Watchung ave.
Fourth st, East and West respectively, between Plainfield ave and the C RR of N J.
East Fourth st between Cottage place and Richmond st.
Cottage place between Washington st and East Fourth st.
East Fifth st between Washington st and Richmond st.
Sixth st, East and West respectively, between Plainfield ave and Richmond st.
West Seventh st from Grant ave 900 feet west.
Seventh st, East and West respectively, between Plainfield ave and Crescent ave.
West Eighth st between Central ave and Park ave.
West Eighth st between Grant ave and Plainfield ave.
Crescent ave between Third place and East Seventh st.
Elmwood place between West Second st and West Front st.
Plainfield ave between West Front st and West Fifth st.
Liberty st between West Front st and West Fifth st.
Liberty st between West Sixth st and West Eighth st.
Orchard place between New st and Liberty st.
Division st between West Fifth st and West Eighth st.
New st between West Front st and West Seventh st.
Central ave between West Third st and West Eighth st.
Central ave from West Ninth st to a point 180 feet north of Randolph road.
Madison ave between West Front st and a point 380 feet north of Stelle ave.
Arlington ave between West Third st and West Ninth st.
College place between West Eighth st and West Ninth st.
Park ave between Front st and Ninth st.
Sycamore st between East Fourth st and East Seventh st.
Watchung ave between East Front st and East Sixth st.
Watchung ave between LaGrande ave and East Ninth st.
Watchung ave between Richmond st and Woodland ave
Church st between East Front st and East Fourth st.
Washington st between East Front st and and East Third st.
Washington st between East Fourth st and LaGrande ave.
Richmond st between East Front st and Putnam ave.
First pl between Crescent ave and East Ninth st.
Second pl between Crescent ave and East Ninth st.
Third pl between Crescent ave and East Ninth st.
Putnam ave between Franklin pl and Richmond st.
Franklin pl between LaGrande ave and Watchung ave.
LaGrande ave between Watchung ave and Richmond st.
Carlton ave between LaGrande ave and Watchung ave.
Kensington ave between LaGrande ave and Watchung ave.
Webster pl between Putnam ave and Watchung ave.
Hillside ave between Watchung ave and Prospect ave.
Woodland ave between Watchung ave and Highland ave.
Elm pl between East Front st and Green brook.
Westervelt ave between East Front st and Green brook.
Sandford ave between East Front st and Green brook
Norwood ave between East Front st and Green brook.
Ravine road between Berkeley ave and Belvidere ave.
Belvidere ave between Ravine road and LaGrande ave.
LaGrande ave between Belvidere ave and Woodland ave.

All this represents about 17 miles of sewer, and is to be accomplished this Summer.

Other business before the Council was the granting of the following licenses:

Cartmen—David Jones, P Hankerson, A Venable, S Bolden, A Hankerson, Charles Karr, Christopher Columbus, P Findley, R Wortman, Spencer Conway.
Hackmen—G Belden, Richard H Day, D O'Brien, Adam C Blair, Michael Kennedy, J Martin, F Brown, A B Dunavan.
Truckmen—J E Bailey, F B Randolph.
Peddlers—W Willis, horse and wagon; P Haines, W Ralston.
Stage—H DeMott.
Sprinklers—F A Pope.

In accordance with the request of the Citizens Organized Aid Association, Messrs. Ginna, Dumont and Erickson were appointed to confer with the Association committee concerning the better care of paupers.

The Street Committee was given power to place two street lamps on West Front street near Grant avenue, and two on Central avenue near Randolph road; and the Fire Committee to place a hydrant on Stelle avenue.

A petition from the Board of Health for $2,000 for an emergency hospital was filed.

The Building Committee was given power to permit Charles Conant to move his frame building, 229 233 West Front street, back to make room for a brick building.

V W. Nash was reappointed delinquent tax collector.

The Finance Committee was instructed to rent collector's and assessor's offices at $100 at year. Those officials have been paying their own rent. If the city pays it, they can secure needed fireproof vault room.

100 copies of the Chief Engineer's report, and 250 copies of sewer specifications, were ordered printed.

Lights were ordered as follows: Dunellen, LaGrande and Arlington avenues, 1 each; Leland avenue bridge, 1; North avenue, from Leland avenue to waterworks, 3. Refused: West Fourth street, near Park avenue; West Fifth street, Park terrace, and Dunellen avenue, between Rock and Jefferson avenues.

Progress was reported on street railway extension.

Council adjourned to March 25.

A COURT QUARTETTE.

Four Plainfield Irrepressibles in the Toils.

Just an even quartette of scrappy individuals was before Judge Coddington in the City Court this morning for mixing up in a battle royal in John Goff's saloon on Liberty street Saturday night.

The culprits were John Durgan, Sr., John Durgan, Jr., Pat Boyle and James Muldowney, the first named having one eye draped in mourning as an evidence that he must have come in contact with someone's knuckles.

Though all were antagonists Saturday night during the scrap, this morning they had combined for mutual protection against the charges of disorderly conduct, and were agreed on one point in particular—that the fight was not of sufficient importance to receive the attention of the court.

From the story told by Muldowney it seemed to be sort of a "Little Johnny Dugan" affair, in which Durgan, Sr., asserted that Boyle was n't true to him, for some busybody had told Durgan that Boyle had applied an epithet to him that was not very complimentary to his standing in society in the Boulevard.

So while Boyle was drinking a glass of beer in the Goff place, Durgan, Sr., asked him as to the truth of the rumor. The answer was not entirely satisfactory and Durgan let go a sockdolager that raised Boyle's ire, who retaliated with a blow that fel'ed his opponent to the floor. Just then everybody seemed to get mixed up and all adjourned to the street where after a little tussle and a few words the crowd dispersed, but not without attracting the attention of the residents of that section, who made a complaint to the police and the arrests followed.

Judge Coddington could get no tangible evidence this morning, and the case will be called up at 9 Saturday morning for disposition.

John Newman, a 20-year-old lad, and about as tough as can be found, was also arraigned on the charge of disorderly conduct and using profane language on West Front street, near New, Sunday night. He was fined $5 or 20 days.

The Strong Man on His Muscle.

As Charles Dupee was exercising on the horizontal bar in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, yesterday afternoon, one of the iron supports broke, preventing further use of it. It was taken down immediately, and will be put in position again as soon as the broken part can be replaced.

Foreign Talent and Local.

The Park Club will have a musical time Saturday night, when a concert will be given by the Lehigh University Mandolin and Banjo clubs, assisted by local talent.

—A milkman driving along East Front street, near Washington street, early this morning, in a light wagon, met with a sudden fall. The right front wheel caught in a rut, and was wrecked. He was obliged to leave the wagon, and call for it later in the day.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dismondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph, druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c.

ON THEIR HONEYMOON

Anna Gould Is Now Countess de Castellane.

Renounces Her Christian Religion for a Papish Title—The Bride's Trying Ordeal in Which She Is Noticeably Nervous—Count Paul Ernest Boniface Blushes.

New York, March 5.—In the Gould mansion at high noon yesterday, under the floral bower in the splendid drawing room, with all its beauties and grandeur that wealth can buy, Miss Anna Gould renounced the religion of her her loving mother, the religion of her devoted father (if he had any) the Christian religion of her beautiful sister, for belief of the pope. With this condescension and about $2,000,000 more or less she weds the Count de Castellane (perhaps for love) and his title. Archbishop Corrigan officiating.

This long looked-forward to event took place under the most favorable conditions, the threatening weather having abated, and clear skies shone auspiciously upon the newly married couple.

Knelt in Prayer.

The wedding procession started from the second floor at 12:20 o'clock. It was 12:26 when the couple knelt before the archbishop, and the closing words of the service were spoken seventeen minutes later, at 12:43.

Archbishop Corrigan, just before pronouncing the couple man and wife, delivered a short address to the young couple on the solemnity of the occasion and the sacrament of matrimony. The archbishop spoke in a low tone, and his remarks were scarcely audible to the assembled guests. The music was also playing at the time.

She Is Nervous.

Miss Anna Gould was very nervous during the proceedings, and was very pale as she turned to receive the congratulations showered upon her.

Her replies to the archbishop's questions were tremulous and almost inaudible, while the count's words could be heard throughout the great room.

The archbishop was assisted by his secretary, Father Connelly, and Father Newey, who acted as master of ceremonies. The archbishop wore the full robes of his office and carried a crozier, the symbol of his office. Over his long purple robe he wore the chasuble, and on his head the mitre, and over the chasuble the customary short purple cape.

Fathers Connelly and Newey were simply dressed in black cassocks and white surplices.

When the archbishop took his position on the platform he said:

Paul Takes His Anna.

"Paul Ernest, wilt thou take Anna here present for your lawful wife?"

The count answered, "I will."

Then turning to the bride the archbishop said:

"Anna, wilt thou take Paul Ernest here present to be thy lawful husband?"

The bride answered, "I will."

Then the bridegroom repeated after the archbishop:

"I, Paul Ernest, take thee, Anna, to be my lawful wife, to have and to hold from this day forward for better, for worse, for richer or for poorer, in sickness, in health, till death do us part."

Then turning to the bride, the archbishop said the same words, which she repeated after him. The best man then handed the ring to the bridegroom, which the bridegroom placed on the bride's finger, and said while holding the ring on her finger:

"With this ring I thee wed and I plight unto thee my troth."

The archbishop then said the few words which made the couple man and wife: "By the authority committed in me I pronounce you man and wife."

The Song Signal.

It lacked only a few minutes of noon when the elder de Castellane and Mrs. Gould entered the room and took their seats. It was then that Frau Sucher, the diva, standing on the lower steps in the hall, broke out in her first song, "Elsa's Dream," from Lohengrin. Her voice rang loud and clear through every nook and cranny of the big house. To the guests the music seemed laden with the fragrance of the flowers which surrounded them, and which by this time had begun to fill the room with an overpowering sweetness.

The Count's Mustache.

And then the Count de Castellane, who, with his blond-mustached and pink-cheeked brother, the Count Jean, had been waiting behind the closed doors of the reception room on the opposite side of the hall, came out, and followed in the footsteps of the priest until he stood almost beside him. The cheeks of the count were glowing like a schoolgirl's, but the flush was not an intermittent one. His hair had been curled until not a ringlet was out of place, and he stood up very straight beside his brother as he waited for his bride, his perfect-fitting frock coat setting his trim figure off to advantage.

Le Bon Temps Viendra.

Irvington, N. Y., March 5.—The Count and Countess de Castellane arrived at Lyndhurst, the Gould residence at this place last evening. The train was half way to this place before those on it knew that the bridal couple were passengers. On reaching the depot the bridal couple alighted. The Gould coach was waiting and the party entered it at once. There was no demonstration either at the depot or at the house. When the party left the seat in the car it was found to be plentifully sprinkled with rice.

Wants $33,000 for Alleged Slander.

Greenfield, Mass., March 5.—Counsel for Mrs. Mary Sherwin brought suit yesterday against Mrs. Ellen L. Grout, both of Orange, for $33,000, alleging that Mrs. Grout ruined her character by certain "public, false and malicious charges."

What Japan May Expect.

St. Petersburg, March 5.—The Grashdanin says that if Japan should insist on any partition of China, or on acquiring Corea she would assuredly have to reckon with Russia as an armed antagonist.

CORBETT SCORES FITZSIMMONS.

But Will Extend Time for Balance of Stake Money.

Baltimore, March 5.—Champion Corbett has agreed to extend the time for the deposit of the balance of Fitzsimmons' $10,000 side stake until May 1. In conceding this point Corbett takes occasion to score Fitz in a letter, a copy of which Manager Brady gave the United Press.

The letter open by stating that Corbett has no desire to obtain possession of any portion of Fitz's stake through default, and he freely relinquishes his rights in the matter. He, however, speaks of Fitz's request as unprecedented in the annals of pugilism. He adds:

"I never sought this match. I shall always contend that you are not in my class, and I will receive no credit for defeating you. Half a dozen second-class heavyweights are willing to meet you at any moment, and if you are in need of money you could replenish your purse considerably by meeting Steve O'Donnell for ten or fifteen rounds at Coney Island.

"In forcing me into this match you used every contemptible method available, even going so far as trying to take my title from me by default, and it was to prevent a foreigner like yourself from having the faintest claim to the championship that I consented to meet you.

"You represented that you had unlimited backing; I glean from Captain Glori's interviews that the match was made with me simply to try and boom your theatrical engagements.

"If by May 1, you fail to meet your obligations I shall claim forfeit so that it may go on record, declare the match off and return your $5,000. I shall then be ready to meet any other man in the world on the same conditions as govern your match."

"WOULD CUT HIS HEART OUT."

An 11-Year-Old Boy Fatally Stabs a Man in Church.

Huntingdon, Pa., March 5.—News has reached here of a probable murder committed at Mill Creek last night. Cloyd Coy, aged 11, sat directly behind David Wilson, aged 21, in the First Methodist church and found great pleasure in sticking bits of chewing gum in Wilson's hair. Wilson remonstrated and threatened to smack Coy's mouth.

This angered Coy who drew a large knife and began whetting it on his shoe, remarking to a companion that he would "cut Wilson's heart out." As soon as services were over and the congregation was leaving the church Coy thrust his knife into Wilson's abdomen. Physicians believe the victim will die. Coy was arrested.

WHISKEY TRUST TAKES WATER.

Beaten in the Fight They Are Now Anxious for Peace.

Baltimore, March 5.—The whiskey trust, which, since its organization, has been engaged in a bitter and determined struggle against the independent distillers, with the purpose of either forcing them out of business or of making them enter the trust, has finally gotten enough of the battle and is now anxious for peace. Recently letters were sent out to all the leading independent distillers, notifying them that the trust was willing to enter on friendly conditions with them in the market, provided the distillers would agree to abide by fixed prices and would contract to manufacture no more spirits than determined by the trust. Not one of them accepted the offer.

GRIFFO-LEEDS PRIZE BOUT.

After Fierce "Boxing" the Australian Became the Winner.

Coney Island, N. Y., March 5.—The liveliest "boxing bouts" ever held in this arena, was witnessed here last night by nearly 4,000 bullet-headed humanity. The principle topic among this small multitude was the Griffo-Leeds bout which was last on the programme. The little Australian wonder had only his car fare in his pockets, yet made bets that he could do his man in three rounds. In this he was disappointed. It was in the twelfth round that the decision was awarded to Griffo. It is only fair to the higher grades of society to say that none of the long-haired Gould-Castellane wedding guests were present.

Brother Shoots Brother.

Philadelphia, March 5.—Last night William and Joseph Hodges, brothers, quarrelled in a saloon because the former refused to loan the latter a dollar. The quarrel was suddenly terminated by Joseph shooting his brother. William was taken to the hospital where he died without having regained consciousness after being shot. Joseph disappeared after the shooting and the police are in doubt whether he is in hiding or committed suicide by jumping into the river as he threatened to do when he realized he had shot his brother. The brothers were professional policy writers.

They Lived Unhappily.

Palmer Mass., March 5.—Frank Stumpf, aged 35, proprietor of the Palmer cash tea store, committed suicide yesterday by poisoning himself with laudanum. He had been living very unhappily with his wife of late, and Saturday night they had a bitter quarrel. Sunday Mrs. Stumpf left her husband and has not been seen here since. Stumpf locked up his store and went to his home on Park street, where he was shortly afterward heard groaning. Medical assistance was called, but it was of no avail, and he died last evening.

Physician in Trouble.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 5.—Upon instructions from Coroner Dolen, a warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Dr. Hitchcock, who for the past year has conducted a medical institute in the east end. He is charged with abortion and manslaughter. Emma J. Zeibert, a young girl who died at the hospital here, made an ante mortem statement implicating the physician.

Coopers on Strike.

Rockland, Me., March 5.—Coopers Union No. 55 struck yesterday for an increase of wages from five cents to seven cents a cask—the wages paid two years ago. The strike includes practically all union and non-union coopers in the city, numbering 250.

ARCHITECTS AROUSED

They Get Tired of the Constant Building Strikes.

They Will Likely Act at Once by Giving Their Work Direct to the Unions—Contractors' Existence in Danger—The Strike Condition Remains Unchanged.

New York, March 5.—A small army of able-bodied police officers were quartered at the Presbyterian building, 20th street and Fifth avenue yesterday.

Contractor Strong had promised to have a lot of non-union men to take the place of the men who are striking at this job if it had been possible to get them. All the men who materialized were three non-unionists and a squad of police. What the police were there for no one knew.

It was suggested at the union headquarters that the fact of Contractor Srong being a nephew of Mayor Strong may account for the presence of the bluecoats. The strikers claim that it is a preconcerted plan to incite them to violence.

There was no further strikes ordered and the board of delegates' reports showed that the fourteen buildings which have been struck were all locked up tight.

Non-Union Men Quit.

There were a few men who had been brought in from other cities put to work at electrical jobs yesterday in other places, but the union scouts succeeded in getting most of them to leave their jobs quietly.

One non-union electrical worker, who had been hired by the Contractors' association to go through Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey to get men for them, was also landed in the same net.

He had made arrangements with about a hundred men to come on to this city, but was persuaded to burn his contracts and join the union.

A non-union foreman and several men were taken off a job on which they had been put to work by the New York Electrical Equipment company at 75th street and Madison avenue.

Commissioner Feeney, of the state board of arbitration and mediation, attempted again to induce Mr. Strong to consider the question of arbitration, but met wih anoher rebuff. He will try to help Mr. Bowker, of the Edison Electrical Illuminating company, in his efforts to bring about a settlement.

Strike Well Handled.

Mr. Bowker has stated that he was well pleased with the attitude the men have taken in the matter and considers that the circumstances are in their favor, as they are cool-headed and are handling the strike very judiciously.

Architects Lamb & Rich called yesterday at the headquarters of Electrical Workers No. 3.

They stated that they had plans ready to start on for the erection of two new buildings, one to cost $1,000,000, and the other half that amount. They had been to see the Contractors' association, as one of its members holds contracts for the electrical work in the buildings.

The architects were dissatisfied at the stand of the contractors, and will force an issue with them at once. They expressed themselves as being weary of the constant strikes, and said if the contractors would not listen to reason they would try to force arbitration through the master builders.

In case they cannot secure an arrangement by which both the contractors and the board of delegates will agree to arbitrate all differences they will take other steps to secure their interests.

How They Do It in California.

Sacramento, Cal., March 5.—Last night two masked and armed men entered a saloon on the outskirts of the city and robbed the money drawer, went through the pockets of those present, and then backed out of the door and drove out of the city. They are believed to be the two men who attempted to rob the overland train Saturday night. They are being searched for in all directions.

A Daring Robbery.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 5.—After purchasing a revolver in the store of A. Moses yesterday, two well-dressed men loaded the weapon and then deliberately shot the proprietor of the store when he went to make change. The robbers then kicked him insensible, stole $100 and escaped. Their victim is seriously hurt.

Killed Over a Game of Cards.

Sacramento, Cal., March 5.—At a late hour last night a white man named Boyle shot and killed Mrs. Adams, a negress, then shot himself. Boyle had been playing cards with the woman and her husband. At the conclusion of the game the tragedy occurred. Boyle is still alive.

A Cold Blooded Murder.

Pittsburg, March 5.—A telephone message from McDonald, Pa., reports a cold-blooded murder of an unknown foreigner at Jumbo mine. A miner came out of the mine and almost immediately after meeting a stranger fired a bullet into his body, killing him. The miner quickly disappeared.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

You need this Spring Medicine now.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy.

Purely Vegetable and Harmless.

The Best Spring Medicine.

Felt Weak and Dizzy. Had Indigestion. Stomach Bloated. Pain and Distress in Stomach.

Joseph E. Hood, of 129 Front Street, Woonsocket, R. I., speaks as follows in regard to his recent illness:—

"I felt weak and dizzy in the morning, and my stomach would not digest well, and made me feel so it would burst. I had excruciating pain in the pit of my stomach at times. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and every dose gave me relief the moment I took it. The pain is all gone and I feel strong all day—in fact, I feel like a new man. I would not be without Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy in the house."

MR. JOSEPH E. HOOD.

Perfectly Cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy. It will cure you.

Weak, Tired and Nervous.

MRS. J. W. BEALE.

Mrs. J. W. Beale, who resides at 52 Eastern Avenue, Worcester, Mass., makes the following statement:—

"I was sick for more than seven years, not able to do my housework for five years. I employed more than sixteen different doctors without benefit. The whole length of my spine was very bad, which went to my head, being so bad that it was about impossible for me to stoop to the floor, or turn my head to the right or left, my neck was so stiff.

"I was unable to comb my hair, the nerves of my head were so sore. I also had convulsions and kidney trouble.

"After a time I was persuaded to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Words cannot express my wonderful cure! Now all is changed, and I am strong and well, and able to do all my work. I have gained 26 pounds in weight, and where before all was gloom and despondency, there is now light and hope.

"Words cannot express my feelings! Thanks to God, and the wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, I am cured. I write this with the desire that others may be influenced to use this wonderful medicine as I did and be cured.

Liver and Bowels out of order. Nerves weak. Could not sleep.

Mr. James Meehan, who resides at 87 Granite Street, Quincy, Mass., says:—

"I was taken sick with liver disease and ulceration of the bowels. My heart was also affected. I was confined to my bed three months.

"A consultation of physicians was held, and I was pronounced incurable.

"After that I stopped taking their remedies, and began the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

MR. JAMES MEEHAN.

"Previous to this I could not sleep, my nerves were excitable and spasmodic, my stomach would not bear food, vomiting almost constantly. Soon after beginning this remedy I slept better, and my stomach would bear light food.

"I continued to gain until I could get out. I now work all the time, and feel that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy saved my life."

He was made well by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy.

Are you weak, tired, nervous? Take

Dr. Greene's Nervura

Blood and Nerve Remedy.

The Great Spring Medicine.

The discovery and prescription of a physician.

All druggists sell it for $1 per bottle.

It Cures.

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The

BEE HIVE

keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½
Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.
Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.
We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,

222 West Front st

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS

Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc. Baskets, bunches, bouquets or design.

MILES,

Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 2 17 tf

Mrs. L. Adams,

111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank.

is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.

BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL and WOOD,

YARD—No. 238 Madison Avenue. Also

Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle 145 North avenue.

N. E. KING,

High Grade Portraits

in Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.

483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimen of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

JAMES E. BAILY,

97 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Trucking of All Kinds Done.

Two and four-horse vans and trucks. Particular attention given to moving furniture and pianos. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 26 tf

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 159 Park avenue. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas.

Joseph E. Mosher,

Agent for

H. J. Hayden & Co.,

WAR CLAIMS ATTORNEYS, WASHINGTON, D.C

All claims put in our hands will receive prompt attention.

Call at the Crescent Cigar Store for fine cigars

A. Lusardi,

No. 120 North Ave.,

Will be pleased to serve his friends and the public generally with first-class fruits and confectioneries, cigars, etc. Fresh roasted peanuts every day 10c. quart.

Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.,

50 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening. UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for TURNING and SCROLL SAWING and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner, short notice.

Real Estate Insurance

VAN BUREN & TIMPSON.

163 North ave. Plainfield, N. J.

HOAGLAND'S

Local Express.

Telephone 121.

Office 161 North Avenue

REMOVAL.

I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to

142 North Avenue

Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.

CALEB DICKINSON

AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE

For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Bad Complexion, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

R·I·P·A·N·S TABULES set gently yet promptly. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by druggists or sent by mail. Price 5 cents a box. Address RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., N.Y.

RIPANS TABULES

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North ave. 10 1 tf

Jones & Co., Excavators.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

JONES & CO.

Cesspools built, 9 15

FISCHER PIANOS.

ESTABLISHED 1840.

Nearly 100,000 Now In Use.

RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARD, WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO.

EASY TERMS.—EXCHANGED.

Catalogue mailed on application.

110 FIFTH AVE., cor. 16th St., N.Y.

PRAISED BY THE PRESS.

The Leading Dailies Investigate Munyon's Remedies.

And Declare They Cure 96 Out of Every 100 Persons.

"From testimonials received and from facts gathered by a Times reporter, we find that out of every 100 who have used Munyon's Rheumatism Cure, 96 have declared themselves cured or greatly benefited. There can now be no hesitancy in saying that Munyon's Rheumatism Cure may be termed a positive cure for rheumatism."—Philadelphia Times, May 14, 1893.

"We know that thousands of people in our midst have been cured by Munyon's little sugar pellets."—Boston Post.

"Munyon's Remedies act almost instantaneously, speedily curing the most obstinate cases in a few hours."—Baltimore American.

"Over 1,600 people have written us that they have been cured by Munyon's Remedies."—New York Press.

"Munyon's Remedies are handy to carry, pleasant to take and absolutely harmless."—Washington Post.

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or pain in the back are speedily cured.

Munyon's Homoeopathic Home Remedy Co. of Philadelphia put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25c. a bottle.

Those who are in doubt as to the nature of their disease should address Professor Munyon, 1505 Arch st., Philadelphia, giving full symptoms of their disease. Professor Munyon will carefully diagnose the case and give you the benefit of his advice absolutely free of all charge. The Remedies will be sent to any address on receipt of retail price.

Something

That gives you light at light prices are the Lamps which we have on sale this wee — the largest and best assortment in the city. We quote only a few of the many specials for this week.

Hand lamp, complete	10c
Bracket " "	12c
Hall lamp complete	97c
Hanging lamp, complete	$1.98

Specials

Glass butter dishes	9c
Shoe brushes	17c
Scrubbing brushes	5c
Roll toilet paper	5c
Ammonia, best	5c
Fancy cuspidores	23c

Silk Waists

We intend to make this line of goods a specialty this spring and summer and will have the prettiest line in the city.

A $6 changeable Taffeta silk waist, latest spring style. $4 75.

Fancy China silk waists, all sizes, $3.49.

Spring Capes

This weather compels you to wear a cape, just what we have a large asssortment of at low prices.

A changeable velvet cape $3, worth $9.50.

A Faille Silk cape, silk lined $8.75 worth $10.

A Faille Silk cape silk lined $11.50, worth $13.50.

Broad cloth capes in blue and tan, $4.50, worth $6.

Broad cloth capes in black only $2.50, worth $3.25.

Just received a very pretty line of satin skirts, latest organ pipe back, $7.95.

Dress Goods

On the tip end of every lady's tongue. What? Why, they all say what a pretty line of spring dress goods Boehm has. How can they help it? Our dress goods department will surpass any in the city. We intend to be the leaders of low prices if we are compelled to give them away. A broad assertion, but nevertheless it is true. You are welcome at any time to examine our goods and be convinced that we are the leaders.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

ADVERTISED LETTERS,

February 25, 1895.

Allen Hannah	McDaland Mrs
Bowles Mrs F	Morris Mary
Bartee Lanra	Mulligan Ellen
Borchert Mr	Nelson Oscer
Connell James	Nessler Lewis
Courooiseer Mrs E	Obubeck A
Cairns Mrs K	O'Rourke Kate
Duping Mrs G	Paise Alice
Demarest Phillip	Ross D H
Edgar Irene	Runyon Jno M
Erikson Jenny	Stroble Willard
Emery S A	Staples S C
France Master J	Smith W
Gregory E W	Simmons Peter
Helon Mrs A D	Simmons Mary E
Haskin Ishm	Schmidt John
Heim Eugen	Stone Mr and Mrs
Hall Mrs Nancy	Shipton Jas D
Hampton Mrs Mary	Sutton George
Harris Mrs Sue	Smith George
Johns S E	Swartz A T
Kohler Fred	Trowbridge Maud
Lanigan Jas	Vandehoof E A
Little Mrs J K	Wright F L
Mumford A	Washington Jennie
McManus Mrs	Wright W W
Young Thomas

CODDINGTON'S

FURNITURE AND FREIGHT

EXPRESS.

OFFICES—24 West Front street; 28 Park avenue Post Office Box 220.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large covered trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 11 15

WILL CURB THE TROLLEY

Brooklyn's Mayor Invokes the Aid of Aldermen.

They Must Regulate the Speed—Mr. Schieren a Committee of One To Observe and Report upon the Observation of the Trolley—Its Murderous Work Continues.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 5.—Mayor Schieren yesterday at a meeting of the board of aldermen sent the following presentation:

The speed of trolley cars shall be limited as follows: Anywhere within a radius of one mile from the Brooklyn bridge terminus or from the foot of Broadway, Brooylyn, E. D., the rate of speed shall not exceed six miles an hour. In every other part of the twenty-eight wards the rate shall not exceed eight miles an hour. In the twenty-ninth, thirtieth, thirty-first and thirty-second wards of this city the rate shall not exceed ten miles per hour.

All cars must stop with the front platform near crossings. Outside the radius above mentioned cars shall not stop inside of any block which does not exceed 300 feet in length and outside the radius above defined there shall be a stopping place in the middle of the block indicated by a sign bearing the marks "trolley station." All cars shall stop before crossing any intersecting railroad.

No one but motormen or conductors shall be allowed on the front platform of the cars, but such platform may be used for the exit of passengers at the corner stoppages. The rear platform gate on the track side shall always be closed.

At $100 Per Month.

The mayor presented the following, providing for an inspector, which was introduced at the meeting:

Resolved, That the mayor be, and is authorized to appoint for such period as he shall deem best, an inspector whose duty it shall be, under direction of the mayor, to observe and report upon the operation of the trolley cars in the city of Brooklyn, at a salary to be fixed by the mayor, not exceeding $100 a month, the same to be charged to the salary account of the mayor's office.

A discussion followed the reading of the mayor's proposed ordinance. Alderman Leich objected to the cars not stopping within a block. "We are here," he said, "to accomodate the traveling public and not the railroad companies. The cars should stop wherever passengers want them to stop."

Strike Expenses.

The proposed ordinace and the resolution were referred to the railroad committee. The committee will hold a meeting this week and at it the whole trolley matter will be taken up.

The board of aldermen adopted a resolution authorizing the payment from the revenue fund of special policemen employed by the police department during the late strike. It will require about $75,000.

The trolley continued its work of destruction as usual yesterday. Chas Eickler and Louis Bauman, sustained serious cuts and bruises on the head and body through a collision at Flushing and Bushwick avenues. Car No 3,329, of the Flushing avenue line crashed into No. 2,238 of the Union avenue line. The passengers were dashed about, glass and woodwork crashed, and a policeman sent out a hurry call for an ambulance. All except Eickler and Bauman refused medical assistance, but they had to be taken to their homes.

Struck by a Blizzard.

Detroit, March 5.—This city suffered from the worst blizzard of the season yesterday. Street car traffic was impeded and all lines experienced the greatest difficulty in keeping cars moving, blockades being of frequent occurrence. About six inches of snow is on the ground. The storm abated somewhat during the afternoon but a strong wind drifted the snow badly. Incoming trains on all roads were affected and were from one hour to five hours late.

They Want the Fire Bug.

Hartford, Conn., March 5.—The selectmen of Chatham have offered a reward of $200 for evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of those who set fire to the house of Thomas Cavanaugh a week ago, when he and his wife burned to death. There is a strong belief now that the old couple was robbed and murdered and the house burned to destroy evidence of the crime. Detectives are now working on the case.

She Skipped "for Reasons."

Buffalo, March 5.—To evade the execution of United States criminal warrant charging her with selling liquor at her fashionable boarding house without having paid the special tax, and it is said, for various other reasons, Victorine Bay suddenly departed from this city last night. She is a vivacious French woman, about 30 years old, and is said to have a peculiar and interesting history.

Cuban Insurgents Surrender.

Havanna, March 5.—The entire band of insurgents in Jaguey Grande, with Marrero, their leader, have surrendered to the authorities. The governor of the province of Santiago has reported to the governor-general that the rioters at Buire are disposed to surrender, and a favorable result of pending parleyings with them is expected.

The War in the East.

London, March 5.—The Times will print to-day a dispatch from Haitcheng saying that the third Japanese division joined the fifth division on March 3, twenty miles southwest of Liaoyang. It is estimated that there are 15,000 Chinese troops at Liaoyang, 4,000 at Matenrie and 12,000 at Mukden.

To Build a Water Tower.

Toronto, Ont., March 5.—At a special meeting of the city council last night it was decided in view of Sunday's fire to call for the immediate erection of a water tower and the purchase of 400,000 feet of hose.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Constable Killed by a Desperate Young Miner.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 5.—Constable Eugene Lynch was shot from ambush near Saddy, this county, yesterday, by John Lemons, a desperate young miner who was living with a notorious woman named Mossie Skyles. The man and woman were tried before a magistrate Saturday for assaulting Lemons' father and bound over to court.

The constable and his brother Tom arrested the pair, but Lemons escaped from the latter's keeping and as the former was crossing a high railroad trestle with the woman, Lemons poured a volley of buckshot into his breast from the bushes and was seen later running away with the Skyles woman. The officer was mortally wounded and a posse of citizens are scouring the country. A heavy reward is offered for Lemons' capture and officers and bloodhounds have been sent from here for the purpose of taking the murderer, dead or alive. The dead man was a remarkably brave officer and leaves a large family.

HAWAII'S GOVERNMENT.

Criticism by the Chronicle—Englishmen Must Be Liberated.

London, March 5.—The Daily Chronicle says: "The sentences which the handful of adventurers now running Hawaii passed upon those who ventured to stand up for the dethroned queen are so grotesque that they cannot be allowed to stand. Their offence 'against the law' lies solely in the fact that they were unsuccessful. If they had been shot in hot blood, or tried by a drum head court martial, all that could have been said would be that they knowingly took the risk. But that this mushroom government of beachcombers and others who usurped power—which is detested by the natives—should be allowed to send Englishmen to life-long torment, cannot be tolerated. Let them be exiled, but they must be liberated."

TO TAX THE NOBLE RED MAN.

The Attempt To Levy Assessment Meets Opposition.

Guthrie, O. T., March 5.—The attempt of the authorites of Payne to levy a tax on the Indians who occupy allotments within the county has aroused a troublesome opposition. The red men agreed not to permit any valuation of their belongings to be made. This agreement was broken by an Indian, John Amble, and he also gave the assessors information. The other Indians have sworn to kill him by the forms of torture usually applied to traitors among the Indians and Amble is now under the protection of the whites. This is the first attempt to tax Indians. The United States attorney for Oklahoma who has been appealed to by the Indians advises them to enjoin the collection of the tax.

QUEEN LIL GETS FIVE YEARS.

She Must Also Pay $5,000 Fine—Gulick and Seward Will Live.

Washington, March 5.—Secretary Gresham has received from Minister Willis confirmation of the press reports in regard to the sentence of ex-Queen Liliuokalani. The dispatch to the secretary came by steamer to San Francisco and was telegraphed from there.

The sentence is imprisonment for five years and $5,000 fine.

Minister Willis also confirms the news that the death sentences imposed on Gulick and Seward had been commuted.

Two of the Triplets Will Live.

New York, March 5.—Mrs. Camilla Cafella, who gave birth to triplets in a poverty stricken apartment on Mott street last week, and who was removed to Bellevue hospital, is suffering from pneumonia, and will probably die. One of the triplets—a boy—died soon after its birth; but the other two—girls—are doing well. Her husband had been out of work for some time, and a few days ago went to Boston under a promise of employment. Mrs. Cafella was left destitute, and was given assistance by her poor neighbors.

Horses Killed by a Trolley Wire.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 5.—A broken trolley wire instantly killed two horses belonging to the Rochester Brewing company of New York, on Third avenue, south Brooklyn. The horses which were being driven by Joseph Schondors, were leisurely trotting along the road when a live wire, emitting a blue flame, fell close to the driver's head and curled round the horses, throwihg them to the ground. The wire sunk into the animal's flesh, and they died in agony. They were valued at $400.

An Editor Called Higher.

New York, March 5.—Howard A. McGlee, the exchange editor of the Commercial Advertiser, died in St. Vincent's hospital yesterday from valvular disease of the heart. He was 28 years old and came originally from Memphis. At one time he was associate editor of the Memphis Appeal, and afterward went to Chicago and was one of the prominent men in the Bohemian Guild of that city. A brother and three sisters survive him.

A Bomb Under the House.

Vincennes, Ind., March 5.—At Decker, twelve miles from here, yesterday a dynamite bomb wos thrown under the house of G. A. Bennett, shattering the dwelling. No one was hurt. Great excitement prevailed and guards were placed over the building while men were sent to this city for police and bloodhounds, both of which have begun their work.

Killed with a Hammer.

Montreal, March 5.—David Edwards, a young man 25 years of age, living with his family at Outremont, about five miles from this city, was arrested last night on a charge of murdering his sister, a young girl of 15. The deed was committed during a quarrel and the girl was killed with a hammer. Edwards is locked up.

Dantourt's Owner Dead.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 5.—A dispatch from Los Angeles announces the death there of Samuel A. Browne, a noted horseman and manager of the Kalamazoo stock farm. Mr. Browne was the breeder of many well-known horses among them being Dancourt, who won the Great Horseman's stake at Detroit last summer.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED

The President Signs Ninety Acts Dated March 2.

The Next Session Will Convene in December—Filibustering to the Last—People Rejoice Over the Adjournment—Senators Who Followed in the Path of Duty.

Washington March 5.—The people can now breath more freely. The 53d congress has adjourned. Although the next one will likely be in the early part of December, it is a decided relief to the average citizen to know that he will henceforth read no more of the filibustering, scheming ways of the senators of which, perhaps, he voted for. This congress, whatever it may have done, or left undone, was elected by the people. It cannot receive more censure than the Reed-McKinley election in 1890. Even with the next sitting of congress there is as yet no assurance that they will go out of office with a better record than the one just passed.

Praise for Senators.

The populists throughout the entire land should pass resolutions congratulating themselves on the deliverance of the country from the torment of such a congress. From an unbiased point of view, it must be noticed the firm, steady, persistent interest that some of the senators have taken in the interest of the people. They have "hewn to the line letting the chips fall where they may." No abler advocates of the people's cause could be found than Mr. Stewart, Mr. Simpson, Mr. Pence and a few others. With a common observing eye, any one could see the filibustering that has been carried on at the capitol. Delayed time, wasted opportunities, etc., that has marked the sitting of the 53d congress.

The End at Last.

The house adjourned promptly at noon in the presence of crowded galleries. It had taken a recess at 3:15 o'clock yesterday morning, after disposing of the naval appropriation bill, which was passed exactly as it came from the senate. At 8 o'clock the house reassembled and spent the time until noon, with an intermission of one hour and fifteen minutes in recess, disposing of measures of minor importance and in passing resolutions complimentary to Speaker Crisp. These resolutions were presented by Mr. Cannon (rep., Ill.) for the republicans upon the refusal of Mr. Reed to be a party to the matter. Mr. Reed, probably with the emphatic declination of the democrats to endorse his administration of the speakership fresh in his mind, also refrained from voting on the resolutions. Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, the democratic leader, and the new postmaster-general, made his valedictory in complimenting Speaker Crisp.

Cleveland's Faithful Work.

All the ninety acts of congress signed by the president yesterday bear the fictitious endorsement "approved March 2 1895." The continuing legislative day of Saturday was also operative at the white house and at noon, when March 4 began, March 2 and March 3 ended simultaneously. In the case of the president there was more truth than fiction in the practical loss of a day from the calendar, for since last Friday, when the extraordinary deluge of legislation commenced to pour into his office, he has never left his desk for more than a few hours at a time. The cabinet has been almost unintermittently in session and practically as sharp an investigation of the merits of measures has been in vogue as when under ordinary circumstances ten days are allowed in which bills may be thoroughly considered before they fail to become laws. Between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning of the last three days the president has allowed those about him to snatch a little rest and four or five hours later they have returned to continue the work with him. Whether in the meantime he found opportunity for a little sleep is more than the members of the cabinet know.

Five of the big appropriation bills did not reach the president until yesterday morning after 9 o'clock.

The president will leave this city for North Carolina on the lighthouse tender Violet with Secretary Carlisle and a few friends in all probability at once.

Killed by Charlie Allen.

Dawson Ga., March 5.—Paul Hill Slade while standing between his two brothers on a public street, was shot and instantly killed by Charley Allen. The whole affair was done so rapidly that despite the crowds on the streets and the nearness of Slade's two brothers, the shooting could not be prevented. The shooting was the result of a financial dispute.

Burglars Get the Trousers.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 5.—Burglars broke a front window in Abraham Lebenthal's clothing store on Water street last night, grabbed several overcoats and pairs of trousers and escaped from the police who had been attracted by the breaking glass. The thieves jumped aboard a passing freight train east bound and have not yet been captured.

Four Hundred Weavers Strike.

Providence, R. I., March 5.—The weavers at the Manton Worsted mill went out on strike yesterday and unless settlement is effected there will be a period of idleness for about 400 operatives. They rebel against fines and want the old wage schedule restored.

His Mangled Corpse.

St. Louis, March 5.—The badly mangled corpse of William M. Thompson, a circus performer, was found in the switch yards of the Baltimore & Ohio railway at Cone station, Illinois, last night. He had started for Bridgeport, Conn., and fell from a train.

Elwood's Destructive Fire.

Elwood, Ind., March 5.—Alexandria was visited by a destructive fire yesterday. Six business places in the Bee Hive block were destroyed, with a loss of $50,000. Insurance half that amount.

An agreeable Laxative and Nerve Tonic. Sold by Druggists, 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per package. Sample free.

KO NO The favorite [illegible] POWDER [illegible] Breath, 25c.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Consumption Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cts. Sold by Druggists.

SHILOH'S CURE.

This Great Cough Cure promptly cures when all other fails. For Consumption it has no rival; has cured thousands and will cure you, if taken in time. For Sale by [illegible] 25c., 50cts., $1.00.

Sold by all druggists.

8 14 y

Selling Off Regardless of Cost

TO CLOSE BUSINESS.

Store and Dwelling to let.

Everything must be sold. Counters, cases, millinery goods at half price, ladies' underwear, infant's wear, velvet ribbons in the double heater, large mahogany desk and bookcase combined, claw feet, and a number of books. Everything selling low. MRS T. J. GILLIES, 1 23 1m 115 Madison ave

Prof. A. Wehner,

TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.

ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipzic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.

References given and required.

Address letters to the office of this paper. 1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new

SPALDING

FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new

'95 Spalding Cyclometer

FREE.

W. H. ROGERS,

408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.

Tonsorial Parlor, 206 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty 10 18 t

The Perfect Base Burner.

Sold by

DAVID T. KENNEY,

Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.

198 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR SOLID SILVER SPOONS.

COLLIER'S,

103 PARK AVENUE.

ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S

MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,

SOMERSET STREET.

Our Motto—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING TYPEWRITER

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.

It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.

It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.

These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.

The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.

Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,

307 Broadway, New York.

1 5 6m

UP TO DATE.

Oh, dear to my mind is the old-fashioned ingle
That fond recollection presents to my view,
Where forest-hewn logs would in fire-glow mingle
And cheer us with comfort and radiance too.
But warmer today, and more comfort insuring
Are fires whose fervor is kindled anew
With fruit of the mines that the wise are securing
From coal yards of Stevens, near Grant avenue—
That excellent coal you are sure of procuring
Near Junction of Front St. and Grant avenue.

(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Timpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort

[Hygeia Hotel]

Or Virginia Beach, Va.

[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $16 Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE of meals and berths en route, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,

Pier 26, North River, New York.

W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

[Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

In the yard. A[No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue.

Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey pork and poultry a specialty.

203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles.

411 Park Avenue,

Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES

From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little booklet "Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning the men's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,

175 North ave.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 5, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Short Stories of Heroism from Real Life.

A Rescue In the Ohio Rapids.

About midday on Sunday, March 5, 1883, the passenger steamer James D. Parker attempted to shoot the rapids in the Indiana channel of the Ohio at Louisville. The moment she entered the chute the lookout in the station house of life saving crew No. 10 had a premonition that she was going to have trouble and gave the alarm. Instantly the lifeboats Ready and Reckless were manned and started off in the track of the steamer, the oarsmen pulling with a will and the boats outrunning the current. The imperiled steamer was a stern wheeler, and, the weight of her cargo being in front, on reaching the incline of the channel her wheel and rudders could not get a grip on the current by which she could be managed and steered. After a few moments her bow disappeared under water; then she careened to starboard, her smokestacks toppled over, and a cloud of steam arose from her like the vapor of an explosion. In bumping against the rocks her stern was knocked off, and swinging out into the channel she sank in 18 feet of water. Groups of terrified passengers, women and children among them, rushed from the cabins on deck. The roof had fallen, and boxes and barrels tumbled to the decks below. The whole affair took place inside of ten minutes, but the vessel had barely gone down after striking the last rock when the life savers, all steaming and reddened from their life and death pull, were alongside with the Ready and Reckless. A gangplank was made by twisting off a cabin door, and upon that women and children, the first to be saved, were helped into the boats. Some of the impatient passengers, doubting the prowess of the life savers, jumped into the rapids and were swept down stream, but these were picked up after 12 loads had been taken from the wreck, and out of 105 souls on board not a life was lost.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE

—Daniel Dunavan was thrown from a wagon yesterday, but was uninjured.

—An Elm place runaway was stopped this morning by Peter Peterson, the hackman.

—Joseph Sohl and R. C. Varian have dissolved partnership, Mr. Varian retiring.

—When, Where and What? Answered by reading VanEmburgh & Son's advertisement.

—Queen City Lodge, I. O. O. F., worked the initiatory degree on two candidates last night.

—A beautiful array of paper dolls, including brownies and queens, is shown by Rand the stationer.

—A special rehearsal of the Choral Society will be held next Thurday evening in Vincent Chapel.

—The first letter deposited in the new postoffice was sent by Mrs. Lulu VanDorn of 201 Arlington avenue, to Brooklyn.

—A preparatory service for those who are to join Bethel Chapel Friday night, will be held tomorrow evening by Rev. W. A. Alexander.

—The Sons of Temperance will hold their regular meeting this evening. It is expected that one proposition for membership will be received.

—Hustling Robert Ferris has just returned from Brooklyn, where he has a portrait studio, and is engaged in canvassing the city for work.

—Rev. Joseph Orr McKelvey, Warren Chapel's talented young pastor, preached a very impressive sermon in his pulpit Sunday morning. His text was Mark 7:24.

—Mollie Stevens, who was released from jail by Judge Coddington yesterday, made a spectacle of herself on North avenue last night, and ought to have been arrested again.

—The Assembly bill which affects exempt firemen came before the committee in Trenton today at noon. Chief Doane and Vincent W. Nash were present in the interest of the firemen, and they feel assured that the bill will not become a law.

—J. H. Leggett, the enterprising Front street corner druggist, has taken into consideration the project of starting a branch store in Bound Brook. This would be giving Bound Brook a first-class pharmacy without weakening the Plainfield headquarters.

—After taking a stroll through Peck's store a woman remarked: "I understand now how to account for your great reputation as the store for good goods. You carry a complete stock of choice goods in your line, and your prices are certainly low."

—The North Plainfield Board of Health last night elected the following for the ensuing year: President—Rev. W. E. Honeyman; Secretary and Treasurer—J. H. Carman, M. D.; Counsel—C. A. Reed; Health Inspector—Frank Whiteley. John Barry and Theodore Wilson were made scavengers.

George W. Rockfellow is home from Newberne N. C.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. B. T. Barnes of Norwood avenue is severely ill.

William VanEps is visiting relatives in Mountain View.

James McKnee of West Front street is ill with the grip.

The illness of F. M. Bacon has developed into an abcess.

D. B. Horton of Westervelt avenue will soon move to Brooklyn.

Thomas Smith of Doane & Edsall's spent yesterday in Newark.

E. L. Suffern is once more able to be out, after a tedious illness.

James King of Newark is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Manning.

Everett Peck of Myrtle avenue has recovered from his attack of the grip.

E. P. Williams of West Seventh street is home from an extended business trip.

J. C. Dyer was taken ill with the grip, after attending church Sunday morning.

Mrs. J. J. Coard of East Ninth street has recovered from a severe attack of the grip.

Miss Ashbrook of Philadelphia is the guest of Miss Marguerite Yerkes of Central avenue.

Mr. Nexson of Craig place will leave this city to make Brooklyn his home about April 1.

Mrs. Rachel Bogert left town this morning for Jamaica, L. I., where she will visit for two weeks.

Howard Martin and H. O. Nightingale attended the art exhibit on 23d street, New York, last week.

Wm. J. Ladd will leave his fine residence on Willow avenue and move back to his old home in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Campman of Sandford avenue will leave Plainfield for the delights of the Pacific coast, in a short time.

Having lost his luxuriant mustache, John Powers of Reynolds's pharmacy reveals more smiles than ever.

Dr. Frank R. Searles, formerly of Plainfield, was one of the attending physicians at the recent wreck on the Central.

Mrs. Peter Hodge and son Raymond of Somerset street, are spending the day with Mrs. Hodge's mother in Somerville.

Wm. T. Newman of West Second street is visiting his grandfather, Dr. Wm. Newman of Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn.

Walter S. Rust of The Daily Spy, Worcester, Mass., is in town for several days, the guest of H. S. Miller at Hotel Grenada.

William DeLong of Sandford avenue returned to school yesterday after a long absence, occasioned by a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. W. R. Mattox, who has been seriously ill with the grip, is very much better, and hopes of speedy recovery are entertained.

B. J. Baxter of Richmond street, who has been confined to his home by illness for a few weeks, has recovered sufficiently to be around.

Mrs. S. G. Smith, though still ill with the grip, has gone to the home of her mother in Hartwick, N. Y., who lies at the point of death.

George Whitely of West Fifth street, who has been seriously ill the past month, is much better, and was able to go out Sunday for a while.

W. B. Dolan of Elizabeth yesterday took charge of the Plainfield branch of the Metropolitan Insurance Company. He takes the place vacated by Charles Williams.

Milton Farlee, formerly of Plainfield and latterly of Rahway, was taken last week to the Elizabeth Hospital, where he is confined with typhoid fever. His brother Charles Farlee of this city visited him Sunday.

L. B. Mulford of the firm of Hummer & Mulford, who expected to start this afternoon in company with his wife for Asheville, N. C., for his health, has been obliged to defer it on account of the serious illness of his oldest son, Andrew.

Mrs. Bermann will give her final extra lecture on "The Development of Opera", at the home of Mrs. W. Palmer Smith, Saturday, March 9, at 4. Wagner will be the subject. Mrs. Bermann will be assisted by H. Rowe Shelley, pianist, and Nicholas Douty, tenor. Mrs. Bermann is giving a course of interesting lectures Tuesday afternoons during Lent in the parlors of Hotel Waldorf.

A Fig Cake made with Cleveland's Baking Powder is fit for a queen.

Cleveland's, the best that money can buy.

It's easy to make. The recipe is in the Cleveland cook book, which will be mailed free on receipt of stamp and address.

Cleveland Baking Powder Co., New York.

DEATHS.

MOORE—Of congestion of the brain, March 2, 1895, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson Watts, 171 Summit st., Newark, N. J., Emma, wife of Willis K. Moore, in the 27th year of her age.
Funeral will take place in Warren Chapel, North Plainfield, Wednesday afternoon, March 6, at 2:30 p. m. Friends and relatives invited. 2

TERRILL & COLE,
Undertakers and Embalmers
200 West 2d street,
Next to Trinity Reformed Church.
First-class livery attached.
Telephone 159 11 26 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, 1 ct. a word, each insertion. (Less than ten words, ten cents.) Cash must accompany ads.

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan, Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

YOUNG woman skilful at all kinds of sewing would like to engage as regular or extra hand to dressmaker, or would go out as seamstress. Address Clever, care Daily Press. 3 2 tf

FOR SALE—Fresh cow and calf 6 days old; Jersey. 91 Mercer ave., North Plainfield. 3 5 2

FOR SALE—Piano, diningroom set, hall set, 2 chiffoniers, brass bedstead, odd parlor chairs, servant's set, rugs, etc. Apply Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, 930 Putnam ave. 3 5 2 RESPECTABLE woman, good laundress, will go out by the day. Address A., care Press.

GIRL wants situation as upstairs girl, waitress or light housework. Apply 838 Richmond st.

FOR SALE—Property at bargain; no fair offer refused. Inquire or address 1116 East 2d st., city.

WANTED—A young married man to drive a delivery wagon. Address L., care Press.

A GOOD cook and laundress in a family of two; good references required. Apply at 37 Sycamore ave., North Plainfield. 3 4 tf

WANTED to rent, house of 7 or 8 rooms; centrally located. Address, stating location and rent, Frederick, Plainfield post-office. 3 4 2

WANTED—An experienced chambermaid and waitress; references required. 139 East 7th st. 3 5 2

THE Employment Committee of the Organized Aid can recommend several competent women by the day at reduced prices, to supply the place of servants temporarily absent. Competent seamstresses also can be obtained. Apply at office, corner Park and North ave., from 9 to 11 o'clock. 3 4 6

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply 301 Madison ave

TO LET—2 7-room houses. Inquire 54 Pearl st. 3 4 3

WHITE Protestant girl wanted at 140 East 6th st; no washing or ironing 3 4 2

PRIVATE sale of furniture Tuesday and Wednesday, March 5 and 6, between 10 and 4 o'clock, at 34 Sycamore ave., North Plainfield. 3 4 2

WANTED—Girl for general housework in small family. Inquire No 314 East 6th st. 3 4 2

A MIDDLE aged woman wants a place as cook, wash and iron; best of reference. Can be seen at her present employer, 54 Grove st. 3 4 2

SIX ROOM flat to let; all improvements. 200 West 2d st. 3 4 tf

COOK and laundress wanted, 224 E 5th st. 3 2 tf

BOARD—Wanted from April 1, for man, wife and and two-year-old child; private family preferred. Require two rooms; will furnish one themselves. Address C. W., care Daily Press, and arrange for interview. 3 2 tf

WANTED—By an English person, a situation as working housekeeper Please address Priscilla Negus, Bound Brook. 3 2 6

ON account of going to Europe will sacrifice Horace Waters & Co., 7¼ octave grand upright almost new, brilliant tone, parlor furniture, French white onyx clock, Jacot's importation, fancy tables, chairs, lamps, pictures, sewing machine, dining-room furniture, bedroom furniture, household and kitchen utensils, carpets, curtains, portieres. 31 Fairview avenue, near Somerset street. 3 2 3

SMALL houses to let, centally located, 9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 2 26 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

2 ROOMS to let 25x35 feet each; 104 and 106 Park ave. J. Cory. 2 27 6

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st 2 7 tf

YOUNG woman offers her services as companion and reader to elderly lady or invalid; if preferred, would occupy only a few hours each day. Address M. L., care Press. 2 21 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman, 1 30 tf

A. W. BAKER, 206 Park Ave. B. C. YOUNG, 337 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young,
Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 2 m

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. R. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt, of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

Unapproachable

Yes, unapproachable, is the only word truly expressive of the stock and variety of the Embroideries just placed on Peck's Counters.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.

VAN EMBURGH & SON

Have Placed on Sale

1 lot outing flannel at 3½c yard, worth 8c.
1 lot white apron checks at 3c yard, worth 7c.
" " " 6c yard, worth 10c.
" " " 8c yard, worth 15c.
1 lot yard wide bleached muslin at 5c; soft finish.
1 lot fast black SEAMLESS hose 8c. worth 15c.
We are still selling Sheeting Muslins at our cut prices. The above goods are displayed in our window.

Corner Store Babcock Building.

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,

Established nearly 60 years.
We sell only high-grade instruments and at as low prices as are charged by many dealers for comparatively worthless ones. Cash or installments.
Warerooms—Babcock Building, Plainfield, N. J. H. C. HADLEY, Manager.

Tuning a Specialty.

Call and secure a copy of the Monthly Musical Guest. 1 23 tf

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

We will refund money on any goods that donot prove entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before you purchase.
Figure up what you can save on the following sample list:

Read Carefully.

The following list of bargains are all Strictly First Quality Goods.

13c can	Another lot of pink pearl Bahama pineapples, cored and sliced Very fine quality Worth 25c. Special 13c can	13c can
Mixed Tea 29c lb	Mixed tea good quality our regular 45c grade special 29c pound or 4 pounds for $1	Mixed Tea 29c lb
5c pound	Soda crackers N Y make regular price 9c special 5c pound	5c pound
Tomatoes 6c can	Just received 50 cases more of those leader tomatoes We open these goods for your inspection special 6c can	Tomatoes 6c can

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each	100 doz cups and saucers Tea, breakfast and soup plates at 3c each 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each	3c each
27c each	Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each	27c each
73c each	Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each	73c each
9c each	Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each	9c each

Dry and Fancy Goods Department

10c yard	New Silkaline in very taking patterns, only 10c yard; former price 15c.	10c yard
65c yard	Something new in furniture coverings; silk effects at only 65c; former price 85c.	65c yard
$3.99	Imitation silk damask portieres at only $3 99; good value at $5. A full line of new window draperies at new prices.	$3.99

New Spring Dress Goods.

It will well repay you to call and examine our New Stylish Dress Goods. The Low Prices excel anything we have ever offered.

15 cts	25 dozen ladies stainless hose, full regular made, our own importation, only 15c or two pair for 25c.	15 cts

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.
DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.

Newest spring styles in a great variety of washable fabrics. New and stylish effects in all-wool and silk and wool. The prices are the lowest ever known.

Priestley's Silk Warp blk Henriettas
$1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5 For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

THOSE ARTIFICIAL VIOLETS.

New York and Other Women Make a Fashion that Cuts a Florist's Profits.

Of cautious thrift and cool business judgment the women have never before made so admirable a display as in the contest with and triumph over one of the monopolies that threatened to crush her independence. In this instance the florists with violets for sale are the humbled foes. For several seasons they have been steadily raising the price of these flowers that New York women particularly have come to consider almost as necessary a part of dress as hats and handkerchiefs. Hitherto they cheerfully paid well for the little blossoms until, during the winter, their value was raised by the avaricious florists to a point that aroused remonstrance. Finding argument of no avail the women silently stretched forth the long arm of fashion to mete out vengeance to the obstinate dealers by proclaiming muslin, velvet or silk violets permissible substitutes for the natural flowers. Not only did the artificial ones become permissible, but they have grown to be ubiquitous adjuncts of feminine costume. They have even received Parisian sanction, and the florist now tears his hair with one hand while with the other he figures up the loss this drop in the natural violet market has brought. Through his window he can see that never before have violets been so popular. Not only do women pin them on their muffs and wear them in their hats, but the dressmakers and tailors now send home gowns, coats, capes and dress waists with big bunches of purple velvet blossoms sewed at throat and breast.

In the millinery departments of Broadway dry goods shops basketsful of neat violet boquets, tied with satin ribbon, tempt the passerby. Some women even carry nosegays of the silk ones in their hands and sniff them approvingly, for down in their depths are secreted wee satchets of lavender silk filled with ground orris root or a bit of a sponge, which, when sprayed with violet extract, gives out as comforting perfume as any nose could ask. The charm of the situation is that every one is enabled to wear violets of more or less excellent quality for six weeks. They are one fourth as expensive as the product of cold frames and greenhouses, and everybody is satisfied except the florist.

MUSIC, HOME AND WIFE.

Women Should Remember After Marriage How Their Playing Charmed.

The club would not be so much blamed for keeping men away from home in the evening if the wives did not make the grievous mistake of giving up music after marriage.

The average man is tired when he gets home from business and after dinner he needs some diversion from the day's routine. It was her musical ability that attracted him so his sweetheart perhaps, or even if not an expert in the art, he no doubt counted it a charming accomplishment that she could play Chopin expressively and sing old Scotch ballads with sentiment and feeling. But after marriage too many women seem to become entirely indifferent to the æsthetic influence of music in the home, though they are quick to bewail the fact if their husbands drop any of their efforts to please.

In the days of courtship the sweetheart nearly always finds his fiancee at the piano, her willing fingers bringing forth soft rippling strains that seem to envelop her in an atmosphere of ideal feminine refinement. But when sweetheart has become benedict the grating of his latch key in the lock is all the music that greets him on his homecoming, unless the maid servant is humming "After the Ball" as she sets the dinner table.

THE COLORADO SPIRIT.

The Women Propose to Eliminate the Question of Sex From the Churches.

"Can I be a deacon in this church?" The question was asked by a Colorado woman who wanted to join the church. "No, madam, you cannot," was the minister's answer. "Then I won't join it so there!" she exclaimed. The other women who had applied for admission stood by her with Colorado determination, and likewise refused to join.

It seems that these Colorado women are bound to win their demands. They must be ahead of all the other women in creation, in the march of progress. They are voters and members of the Legislature, and judges and mayors and political bosses, and school directors, and police officers, and everything else save soldiers. That one of them in Denver who wanted to be a deacon, and raised the uproar in which the other women upheld her, said she would like the job of "passing the plate" in church, and it was after the minister had denied her this privilege of grace that she gave him a scolding never to be forgotten.

Paper Hosiery.

Paper gloves and hosiery are named as among the very latest novelties. Stockings which shall sell at 3 cents a pair are proposed. In fact, the experiment of making paper stockings has been going on for several months and the party engaged therein believes that paper mittens or gloves would possess advantages in their season. The goods are light and airy and very comfortable in summer.

When finished and dyed their appearance is similar to ordinary fabric goods. The knitting is from paper yarns. The paper yarns are made pretty much after the plan of making common paper twines, except that the former are put through certain special processes. The principle is that of making a sort of nap on the yarn. This is done automatically. Ordinary paper twine or yarn is too smooth, but a good gigging up gives the yarn a nap and this imparts softness. After the knitting has been done the goods are placed in a sizing bath made from potato starch and tallow, which imparts solidity and durability to the texture.

With paper passenger car wheels, paper water pails, why not paper socks and stockings?—The Glover.

A Necessary Exception.

The Utica Herald is doing its best to hasten the spelling reform by omitting the letters "ugh" from words ending with them, such as though, through, although, etc. It makes an exception, however, in the case of cough.—Chicago Daily Tribune.

A Woman's Wiles.

"Let me have a two cent stamp, please," said the dapper youth.

"We're all out of stamps," said the pretty post mistress, "but we have some lovely postal cards for a penny each."

And man like he bought a dozen.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

HIGH SCHOOL PLANS DEFERRED.

Fire Escapes to Be Put on the Schools Next Summer.

The question as to whether the trolley road should be given permission to pass the public schools on Arlington avenue, was the chief feature at the Board of Education meeting last evening. It was decided that there would be no objections to the road going through Fourth street, although Dr. Probasco and Mr. Lounsbury were the only objectors to the Arlington avenue route.

The Board did not want anyone to think they were opposed to public improvements.

Principal Maxson was Clerk of the meeting, Mr. Clark not being present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The usual batch of monthly bills was presented, approved and ordered paid. Mr. Finch stated that the interest on the bond of $25,000, amounting to $625, would be due the Mutual Life Insurance Company March 11, and moved it be paid, which was carried; also $1,000 on the principal.

Collector Johnson presented his report for Feb. which showed that $610.98 in taxes with $11.79 interest had been received and deposited in the First National Bank.

Mr. Lounsbury reported that the Committee on Building thought it advisable to wait till the Summer vacation to place fire escapes on the buildings, and that A. M. Griffin being the lowest bidder on heating the schools properly be given the work and that this work be done during the April vacation.

Principal Maxson read a very interesting report of the recent convention of School Superintendents held in Cleveland, Ohio. At the conclusion of the report thanks of the Board were given him for it.

Mr. Finch of the Committee on High School stated that plans for a new High School had been decided on and J. Warner Allen of East Orange was the successful architect, but owing to the action of the legislature, they recommended that no action be taken and that the committee be discharged. It was carried.

After the meeting adjourned the Committee on Buildings held a conference to look over the plans and bids for fire escapes on the buildings.

Miss Elsie Jobes of Franklin place has recovered from the grip.

Miss Ida Demler is improving after a long illness with the grip.

Miss Fannie Demarest of Park avenue is very ill with the grip.

The condition of Mrs T. S. Armstrong was slightly improved at noon today.

Miss Belle Quaily of East Second street is ill with an attack of quinsy sore throat.

Mrs. A. J. Moore of Westervelt avenue is convalescing after an attack of the grip.

John Moore of Liberty Corner has returned home after visiting friends in this city.

Mrs. Mary Desborough of East Front street is spending a few days in New York, visiting relatives.

Anthony Schoder, District Deputy Grand Master, is in Plainfield today, inspecting the new Masonic lodge rooms in the Babcock Building. He will pay a fraternal visit to the lodge tonight.

Hooray for Plainfield.

In spite of Rahway's bitter opposition, Plainfield has won the fight for the Decoration Day sanction, and the Crescent Wheelmen will give a great circuit meet on their track on that day.

No Democratic Ticket.

Borough Clerk Arnold says there will be no borough Democratic ticket in the coming election, as none was filed with him within the time set by law.

Escaped the Cops.

Chief Grant and Sergeant Kiely were called to East Fourth street near Washington street this morning to quiet a disturbance, but when they arrived the difficulty had subsided.

Followed Advice and Was Cured.

In speaking of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, Mrs. James E. Beach, of Rosendale, N. Y., says—"About seven years ago I was a sufferer from kidney disease, so sick and helpless I could not walk a step. My physician could do me no good, so I began to use Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and from the very first dose I could see improvement, and it entirely cured me. My husband used it for dyspepsia with excellent result." Favorite Remedy dissolves the excess of uric acid in the blood, thus curing disease. Such ailments as rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney, liver and urinary troubles, and the ills peculiar to women, all arise from this cause, and are cured by Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Honeyman's Private Tours.

Next tour April 11 to Southern California via Mammoth Cave and New Orleans. Private hotel car. Time 41 days. Room for few only. European Tour, including a week's coaching trip in England, June 22. Circulars at 181 North avenue, Plainfield. 27w1

Plainfield Ahead in the Totals.

The Roselle Casinos, a five-men team, came to Plainfield last evening and bowled a five-men team from the Plainfield Bowling Club. After a very exciting contest the visitors captured the first game by three pins, but the home team were fully awake when the second game started, and crept away from their opponents, beating them 25 pins. The scores:

FIRST GAME.

P. B. C.		R. C.
VanEmburgh	168	McQuaid	137
Maltby	131	M. Hibbard	143
VanAlstyne	149	Birdsall	122
Waters	148	G. Miller	182
Vail	149	Warner	164
	745		748

BY FRAMES.

Plainfield..... 59 134 201 282 346 429 505 585 660 745
Roselle.....60 157 230 297 360 465 520 587 681 748

SECOND GAME.

P. B. C.		R. C.
VanEmburgh	178	McQuaid	144
Maltby	139	M. Hibbard	147
VanAlstyne	160	Birdsall	122
Waters	165	G. Miller	150
Vail	143	Warner	197
	785		760

BY FRAMES.

Plainfield.....75 148 233 310 388 473 532 617 707 785
Roselle.....68 157 238 292 351 434 511 578 663 760

Speaking of Ellen.

Ellen Mullin of North Plainfield, who on several occasions has found her way to the dispenser of justice, was arrested last evening by Marshal Wilson on Harmony street, for being drunk and disorderly.

It was with difficulty that the marshal transported her to the lockup, where she was kept over night.

This morning she appeared before Justice Crosley, and Marshal Wilson gave evidence as to the woman's condition when arrested.

Mrs. Mullin persisted in telling the Court how innocent she was, but the Justice thought 20 days would be needed for her to recuperate.

Lacked a Signature.

The application for a license which E. P. Thorn expected to have made at the Council meeting last night was not filed for the reason that the necessary signatures of all the executors who own the property in which the saloon is situated have not been secured.

Trolley-Car Headway.

Ten-minute headway was commenced on both trolley lines, yesterday. On the Front street line this is easy to accomplish, but on the Somerset street line it was impossible to do so. The effort was abandoned today.

—D. A. McPhie, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., has recovered from a slight illness, but was not able to teach the classes as usual yesterday.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell; 25c., 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists.

REFORM HALL TONIGHT

Miss Fannie J. Crosby,

THE BLIND HYMN WRITER,

will give humorous and other recitations. The Symphony Organ, Edison Phonograph and other attractions.

TICKETS 25 CENTS.
No reserved seats.

MUSIC HALL,

3 Nights Commencing Thursday, March 7

Special return engagement of the sterling soubrette,

Miss Lillian Kennedy,

supported by a strong company of first-class artists, in

SHE COULDN'T MARRY THREE,
A MIDNIGHT FROLIC,
A DAUGHTER OF DIXIE

A succession of beautiful stage pictures. New songs, new dances, new specialties.

Prices 10, 20, 30 and 50c. EXTRA—Special matinee Saturday afternoon for ladies and children. Admission 10 and 20c, including reserved seat.

Three New Styles.

A Year of Paper Dolls 60c

The Brownies in Paper Dolls 60c.

Famous Queens in Paper Dolls 15c.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front st.

5 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a cake of good Toilet Soap 5

perfumed and wrapped, made by the best and biggest soap house in America (whose stamp is a guarantee of excellence). We warrant this a sound, pure soap. 1 cake, or 100 at 5c each.

REYNOLDS.

8 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a good Baby's Bottle 8

with pure black rubber nipple, complete and ready for use: Bottle has a wide base, rounded corners, graduated side.

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

Established 1868. Park and North avenues, only.

YES,

That's the way we sell our goods. If anything you buy does not prove satisfactory or you find you do not want it bring it back, your money is ready for you, that's our way.

INTERESTING.

Muslin.

4x4 Fruit of the loom 5¾c. yd.

Dress Cambric.

¾ yard wide, fine dress cambric 6c. yd.

Turkish Towels.

Although the Turks did not make them, they are worth 30c. each, our price 19c.

Dress Goods.

54 in. Corset cloth 25 different colorings, value 98c., our price 49c., 50 in. Wool mixtures, we sell 6 yds., 5 yds. cambric and 2 yds. selesia, all for $2.39.

Black Dress Goods.

Extra good value is that 45 in. imported serge, our price 45c. value 65c.

Silks.

500 yards of new figured silks 39c. yard.

Kid Gloves.

4 button chamois gloves 79c. 6 button length mosquetaire chamois gloves 79c. 4 button kids fine quality 75c. 5 hook Foster kids 75c.

Hosiery.

Try the double knee and double sole stockings for children, sizes 6 to 8½, price 15c. Extra fine quality hose for ladies 19c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Max Wiertz

544

West Front St

Having been compelled to close my Dining Room since Dec. 26 on account of the cold weather, I beg to announce to my patrons that I will resume business Monday, March 4, by giving a first-class

Table d'Hote Dinner for 75c,

5:30 to 8 p. m.

Max Wiertz,

544 W. Front St.

W. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.

First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's

LAW OFFICES,

Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

Neuman Bros,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

offer special inducements in prices which will interest everybody.

White cherries	17c
Egg plants	17c
Apricots	17c
Crawford peaches	17c
Sliced pineapple	17c
Grated pineapple	17c
Hamburg stringless beans	10c can

17c

Try our own brands of Coffees, the finest in the market.

NEUMAN BROS.

Are You Reading

Those Interesting Monographs on

Napoleon

BY

John Clark Ridpath

IN THIS PAPER?

The Greatest Warrior

Described by one of

The Greatest Historians

They Are Published Saturdays.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,

for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.

The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.

Corner Park avenue and Front street.

If you don't want a BARGAIN Don't read this.

Extra fine creamery butter 21c pound.
5 pounds for $1.00.
Fresh country roll butter 18c pound
6 pounds for $1.00.
Extra Vineland sweet potatoes 50c per basket.
2 pounds creamery cheese, extra fine, for 23c.

AT FULPER'S.

There Are Others

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,

177 North avenue.

PHOENIX.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. special are leaders. 2 23 3m

New Lines of Dinner Sets,

Rich Cut Glass, White China for decoration, Fancy Flower Pots

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

Stop that Cough!

It may lead to serious consequences. Cough remedies will not do it, because it means more than a simple cold. Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites will do it, and at the same time will build up and fortify the system against further attacks.

We are putting up a 50-cent size for just these local difficulties. For ordinary Coughs and Colds that quantity will doubtless cure. If it is deep-seated it may require more.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION
is called to the
Home Department
of Rockview School, 317 East Front street.
Children received from
4 to 15 Years.
Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.

Afternoon Class for Young Ladies
Three times per week. Higher English Branches, French and Music. For terms apply MISS FAWCETT,
25 Washington ave.

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE,
CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 75 Grandview ave. L. C. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,
MASON AND CONTRACTOR,
Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 5 28 y

JOHN P. EMMONS
—Mason and Builder.—
Washington avenue and Prospect place
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Jobbing promptly attended to 11 24 tf

D. L. HULICK,
CARPENTER,
and General Jobber.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
Orders may be left at Brenmer's Clothing Store, 24 Somerset street, or sent by mail.
Residence 178 Duer st. 5-5-6

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. B Gayle, No. 18 Vine St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO 7-21-tf

JOHN T. ODAM
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
Slate Roofer and Repairer
Residence, cor. Arlington ave. and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J. New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 5 19 y

GEO. W. STUDER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
985 ARLINGTON AVENUE.
Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to. Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,
21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.
H. H. McCullough, Proprietor.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 6-11-1

C. W. LINES,
Mason and Builder.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence—118 Liberty street.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to 12 6 tf

Jno. J. Shotwell,
Wood Mantels,
Tiles and Fire Place Furnishings.
221 Park avenue, upstairs 3 5 tf

A full assortment of Stationery!
AT
HARPER'S,
411 Park ave.

GEO. J. TOBIN.
187 North avenue.
Practical Plumber
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer
TELEPHONE CALL 158. 12 15 tf

$500 DOWN
Buys One of Those New Houses
on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance.
7 East Front Street.

A CAPTAIN'S DREAM.

The recent death of Captain Isaac S. Jennings, at Harvey Cedars, N. J., one of the best known fishing and hunting resorts on the New Jersey coast, recalls an interesting story.

Captain Jennings was proprietor of the hotel at Harvey Cedars for many years and had been identified with the history of the place. It was he who made it a success. Always kind and hospitable, he made an admirable host, and a hearty grasp of the hand always greeted the coming as well as the parting guest.

In speaking of his seafaring days not long since, Captain "Ike" became reminiscent.

"I've got a yarn to spin," he said, as he removed his slouch hat from his head and laid it on the table, took a whiff or two from his pipe and settled back comfortably in his chair. "It may seem strange to you; you may not believe it; but it is nevertheless as true as gospel, every word of it.

"It happened several years ago, when I was master of a schooner that traded between New York and some of the Southern ports. She was a good vessel, a good sailor, and the wind never blew too hard for her. On the trip in question, our destination was Savannah, Ga., and we were in port several days loading and unloading.

"While we were in port I was aroused one night by a peculiar noise on deck that led me to jump out of my bunk and hasten forward. The noise was repeated, and, on looking around, I saw the oddest looking animal I ever saw in my life. It resembled a dog to a certain extent, but its body was longer than that of any dog I had ever seen. Picking up a bung-starter I advanced toward the animal, when it turned on me in a way that rather startled me, so I halted. After gazing steadily at me for a moment, the animal turned and slowly walked to the bow, climbed over the rail and walked up the wharf, halting every few steps to turn and look at me until it was out of sight.

"I must confess to being strangely impressed, and it was a long time before I could shake off a feeling of depression. For an hour or more I lay awake in my berth, thinking of my singular experience, and then fell asleep. The next morning I asked the men on the piers if they had ever seen such a looking animal as I described around the wharves, but none of them had. One old man said maybe it was a warning, but I only laughed at that.

"We had had favorable winds, and were bowling along at a good rate, so I turned in just before midnight, leaving the first mate at the wheel. I was pretty tired, and soon fell asleep.

"Just how long I slept I do not know, but suddenly I was aroused by some one calling my name. So clear and distinct was it that I felt it must be some one in the cabin where I slept, so I was on my feet in an instant. The cabin was dark and all was quiet save the ripple of the water against the vessel's sides. I listened for a moment, and, hearing nothing, I went on deck. By the starlight I saw the mate at the wheel.

"'Did you call me?' I asked.

"'No, sir,' he replied, 'I didn't. I've had no occasion to. Everything is all right.'

"I concluded I had been dreaming, so I went back to the cabin and turned in. A few minutes later I was again asleep, and dreamed I saw a dismantled vessel off to the eastward with decks awash and the crew lashed to the rigging. Then I heard my name called again, louder than before, twice in succession.

"'Captain Ike!' Captain Ike!! Help us. We are sinking!'

"Then I went on deck again.

"'Didn't you call me?' I asked of the man at the wheel, in a manner that showed I was very much in earnest.

"'No, Captain,' he replied, 'no one has called you. I have been on the deck all the time, and nothing of the kind has occurred.'

"This convinced me that the call I had heard meant something out of the ordinary, and I gave orders to have the vessel's course changed to the east'ard. The mate remonstrated, as he said it would take us out of our way, but without telling him the reason I insisted on the course being changed. It was then two o'clock in the morning.

"We kept on in the course I had given until just at daybreak, when the lookout sighted a wreck on the starboard bow. My heart gave a bound as I heard it, and the mate turned on me with wonder in his eyes, but said nothing. In a short while we were in hailing distance of the wreck. I went off in the small boat, accompanied by two of the men.

"As we came alongside the sight was a pitiful one. The schooner, for it had been such, was a complete wreck. Both masts were broken off close to the deck, on which was a tangled mass of rigging. The sea was making a breach over the deck, at the after part of which the crew, or what was left of them, were lashed fast to the broken stump of the mast. They were overjoyed to see us, but too weak to help themselves.

"So we untied the lashings, assisted them to our boat and took them back on board ship, where we supplied them with dry clothing and the first bit of food they had tasted in forty-eight hours. Their vessel was lumber laden, and this had kept them afloat. But for the nature of her cargo she would have foundered.

"Now comes the strangest part of the story. After the shipwrecked men had somewhat recovered from the effects of hunger and exposure one of them told me of the storm they had run into, which had completely wrecked their vessel and left them floating about at the mercy of the wind and waves. Their provisions had all been spoiled and their water casks swept overboard.

"A giant wave had struck the vessel as she lay in the trough of the sea, carrying two of the crew overboard. The rest lashed themselves to the hulk in momentary expectation of seeing it plunge head foremost to the bottom.

"'And now, Captain,' said he, 'I want to tell you something queer. We had been so long without food and water that we were almost dead. Two of the men wanted to jump overboard and end it, but I restrained them. Last night we were in despair, but we all prayed earnestly to God for aid, and we are not praying men as a rule. All of a sudden I seemed to see your ship heading toward us, and I saw you on deck. 'Our prayer is answered,' I cried to the men. 'We will be rescued by morning. They doubted me at first, but when I insisted that it was true they took fresh courage. It was then about two o'clock in the morning, and sure enough when daylight came you came with it.'

"Now," continued Captain Ike, as he relighted his pipe, "you have heard the story. It is true, every word of it. If you can explain it you will do well. I believe the call that came to me in the cabin that night was of supernatural origin; in fact, it cannot be explained in any other way. It resulted in the saving of four human lives, and it has always been the source of satisfaction to me that I followed my inclination on that eventful night, instead of trying to convince myself that it was a delusion."—New York Herald.

A CHINAMAN COOK.

Men of Yeast and of Resources that Are Superior to Recipes.

I had been expecting my Chinese cook for some time; his roll of bedding and clothes had been dumped at our door by the freighter three days before. Finally, just at dusk, I spied him as he came leisurely jogging along over the Divide, carrying a tin pail carefully in his hand—that was his only luggage. My curiosity was excited. What could that pail hold so precious that it must be personally conducted fifty miles by stage and eight miles on foot? It proved to be yeast!

Since then I have had half a dozen Chinamen in my kitchen at various times, and each one came to me in this same way, equipped with his little pail of yeast. But as their bread is sweet and good whether made one loaf at a time or by the troughful, sixty loaves in a batch, you do not feel like quarreling with them if they prefer their own private brand of yeast to yours. How they make it is an enigma. A Chinaman is never out of yeast, yet I never caught one preparing it. He baffled me every time, just as he would foil my every effort to watch him mix pie crust. There is either some superstition or a secret rite connected with yeast and pie crust that admits of no lookers on.

Before I attempted to teach a Chinaman anything new, I left him to his own devices for a week or so and watched results. Generally I found that in housekeeping the Chinaman always has an eye for appearances. This showed itself in many ways, best perhaps in setting the table. With carving knives like razors, they sliced meats, bread and fruit so that they looked most appetizing; their fritters never were in tatters, their codfish balls did not ooze at the edges, the pies never disgraced themselves by overflowing their banks, each macaroni potato strip, which they were particularly fond of cooking, was an exact geometrical parallelopipedon done to a crisp.

As a rule, Chinamen are good bakers, managing an oven admirably; the bread was neither over nor under done; meats were never dried up; they excel in cooking rabbit, chicken and roast pig.

But the Chinese love of appearance had another side to it. To be sure, the croquettes never lost caste by falling asunder; we wished they had; they held together as compactly as though they had been glued. We longed for a juicy cherry pie that could not help but run over; even a bowlful of jelly never quivered or shook. It couldn't, it was starched too stiff.

Yet these were nothing compared to the Chinaman's cakes and puddings. His loaf cake was never known to fall; it rose defiantly and kept on rising. Nothing, not even a blast of air from an ice factory, could have prevented it. It rounded up in the center and broke open; it did everything that flour and baking powder could make it do; it looked like a poem, but before it was cold it was nearly as dry as hard tack. But the puddings reached the climax of culinary art. Chinamen seem to hold a secret veneration for puddings, especially gelatine and bread puddings.

In this day of specialties it is difficult to secure a Chinaman who is willing to undertake the general care of a house. It is only when isolated from other Chinamen that you find out his versatility. It is when off on the desert, away from provision stores and conveniences to work with, that the Chinaman rises to the occasion. Empty tin cans serve in lieu of saucepans; a stray piece of sheet iron suffices for a fry pan; given a lard pail and a hatchet he will make a steamer; a small brad and a hammer and he will manufacture a grater; a piece of baling wire and he will twist you a broiler. He knows how to butcher and dress a beef; he will shoot and prepare game, even cultivate your garden patch for you, if it be worth while to plant one. He is no less adaptive in cooking. He is wholly independent of recipes; if one ingredient is gone, he will substitute another. This repeated substitution of ingredients sometimes results in a strange similarity of dishes made from wholly different recipes, but one always has the assurance that when meal time comes the Chinaman will have something in readiness, were his provisions restricted to a ham bone.

Like every human species the Chinaman can be watched to advantage, and it required no small amount of agility on my part to keep pace with him. I was measuring out the ingredients for spice cake one morning and a cup of raisins was called for; Charlie Lee could only find half a cup. I insisted there were plenty more in the cellar and I must have a full cup. I left the room for a moment. Quicker than a flash he went to the tea kettle and poured in enough boiling water to make the raisins swell and fill the cup. I returned in time to spoil his little scheme, much to his amusement.

"Oh, you catchee Shollie; you heap sabe me," and then he grinned so like the Cheshire cat I could not appear angry, though I tried my best. But every one knows the Chinaman's fault; he can shirk work in a hundred ways and his cunning is proverbial; but when you have said all against him, you can teach him to do almost anything you wish. He never chatters, and for an emergency he is invaluable. If I were to rough it in a mining camp, or go out on a survey, or summer in a canon, I would choose a Chinaman every time as my aide-de-camp.—Impress.

Where Silence Was Eloquent.

Said the mistress to Bridget,
With a shake of her digit,
"How is it no sound from the kitchen is heard
Whenever your 'steady'
Is with you already—
There's never a murmur, not even a word?"

"Your pardon I'm beggin'," Said Bridget McGreggin;
"My beau is a 'daisy' that's quite hard to beat;
But so bashful is Barney
That, havin' no blarney,
He does nothin' at prisint but sit down and eat."

Boy—Mr. Dunn called to see about that bill of his.

Mr. Short—Well, if he comes in again tell him his bill is in a good state of preservation and is likely to reach a good old age.—Boston Transcript.

BRIAR PIPE GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY ONE POUND bale OF DUKES MIXTURE
for 35 cents
Every pipe stamped DUKES MIXTURE or ATC
2 oz. PACKAGE— 5¢

READY TO PAINT.

Before you put on paint see that the article you put on is what it is represented. It is poor economy, indeed, to put on a mixture of burnt clays and kerosene Come to us and get the best.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
141 East Front st.

DIRECTIONS for using
CREAM BALM.
Apply a particle of the Balm well up into the nostrils. After a moment draw a strong breath through the nose. Use three times a day, after meals preferred, and before retiring.

ELY'S CREAM BALM opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of taste and smell. The Balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once Price 50c at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

Tel. 29B Established 1878.
ADDIS & SON,
PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
Opp Roberts's Livery 132 North Ave

H. DeMOTT,
With livery attached,
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,
175 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 9s 7

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET,
(Estate D. L. Smalley.)
94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.
GEO. EGEL, Manager.
We sell only first-class goods, at low prices for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 19 t

HENRY C. ADAMS.
INSURANCE.
Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

J. W. VAN SICKLE,
Dealer in all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats
GAME IN SEASON.
New No. 122., North Ave., Plainfield
Telephone 148 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

MOSLER SAFE CO.,
contractors to the United States Government
Mosler Patent Safes,
(fire and burglar-proof) in general use
All Over the World.
Lowest prices. Special attention and information given by
S. W. CLARK,
General Agent,
118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.
Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

J. C. POPE & CO.,
Insurance Agents,
NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET
Plainfield, N. J.

Granite Iron Ware.
Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.
Stoves at reduced prices.
Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-iron Work.
Plumbing and Heater Work.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
119 East Front St.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Jan 20, 1895, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

FAST LINE leaves Philadelphia 12 25 p m daily with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars for Pittsburg, Northern and Eastern Pennsylvania

6.37 p. m. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.34 p.m.—SOUTHWESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

8 42 p. m.—PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping cars, daily, for Pittsburg, Columbus, Chicago, and Toledo, daily, except Saturday for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00 9.08, 9.26 a. m., 9.20 p. m.

Sundays, 1, 9 08, 9 26 a. m., 9 41 p m.

For Baltimore only 1 37 p. m., week-days.

For Newark and New York—3 02, 5 34, 5 45, 6 17, 6 45, 7 0° 7 20, 7 45, 7 57, 8 00, 8 20, 8 32, 8 47, 9 27, 9 41, 9 48, 10 20, 10 58, 10 40 11 07, 11 48 a. m., 1 13, 1 20, 1 56, 224, 2 40, 3 45, 3 57, 4 42, 5 15, 5 36, 5 48, 6 08, 6 27, 6 48, 6 58, 7 07, 7 28 7 59, 9 . . 9 10, 9 50, 10 08 11 02 and 11 56 p. m. Sundays 3 02, 5 34, 7 54, 8 45, 9 20, 9 47, 10 12, 10 38, 10 49 a. m., 12 38, 1 44, 2 32, 3 45, 5 45, 6 28, 8 24, 8 49, 9 05, 9 24, 9 58, 10 16, 11 16 and 11 56 p. m.

For New York only, 6 10 a. m. daily.

For Philadelphia—1 05, 6 37, 7 19, 9 09, 9 26, 11 43 a. m.; 1 05, 1 37, 3 32, 5 09, 6 26 7 05, 8 47, 9 39 p. m. Sundays at 1 05, 9 09, 9 26, 10 41 a. m.; 5 07, 6 27, 7 47 and 9 41 p. m.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

(2 25p.m. with through Buffet parlor car) Sundays 8 50 a. m.

Cape May, Sea Isle City and Ocean City 1 37 p. m. weekdays.

For Rahway—1,1 43 daily ex. Monday, 4 08, 6 44, 7 10, 7 50, 8 04, 9 46, 9 50, 10 39, 11 43, a. m. 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 45, 3 20, 3 39, 5 09, 6 26 7 05, 8 47, 9 39, 11 06 p. m. Sundays, 1,1 43, 8 50, 9 43, 9 49, 10 25 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 2 47, 3 20, 4 30, 5 20, 5 40, 7 21, 7 27, 7 47, 8 14, 8 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 39, 9 06 9 36, 9 50, 11 43 a. m., 12 35, 1 37, 2 45, 3 39, 4 32, 5 08, 5 40, 6 00, 6 45, 7 46, 9 39 and 11 02 p. m. Sundays, 1 00, 6 39, 9 06, 9 36 9 49, 10 41 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 5 40, 7 47, 9 16, 9 41 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39 a. m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, and 7 20 9 34 p m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 43, 10 25, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For Perth Amboy—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39, 12 46 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, 7 20 7 36 9 34 and 12 27, Sundays, 1 43 10 25, 11 47 a m 10 14 p m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 35, 2 48 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 39, 9 06, 9 36, 11 43 a. m.; 1 06, 1 37, 2 48, 5 08, 6 26, 7 46, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 39, 9 06, 9 36 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 39 A. M., 2 48 and 6.36 p. m., and 8.40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 39 A. M.; 2 48 P. M.

For Freehold—7 39, 11 43 a. m. 4 38, 5 08 p.m., via. Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via. Monmouth Junction—7 39 and 11 43 a. m., 4 38 and 5 08 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 4 19 5 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 25 a. m., and 5 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Sea Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p m.

For Boston—8 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 6 20, 7 25, 8 10, 8 30, 9, 9 10, 10 10, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 10, 12 35 13 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 20, 4 00, 4 10, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 5 50, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 59 p. m., 12 15 night. Sundays, 1 00 6 15, 8, 9 00, 9 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 2 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 6 30, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 15, 13 00 p. m., and 12 15 night.

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager
J. R. WOOD Gen. Pass Agent

The Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect, Nov. 18, 1894.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 16, 5 37, 8 22, 8 00, *8 37, 9 10, 9 30, 9 37, 9 51, 9 46, 9 55, 10 04, 10 20 11 10, A. M., 12 06, 1 18, 2 07, 3 20, 3 12, 3 44, 4 10, 5 04, 6 04, 7 02, 8 20, 9 22, 10 17, 11 59 P. M. Sunday—2 16, 8 37, 8 00, 9 07, 9 30, 10 04, 11 10 A. M., 12 35, 1 45, 3 00, 4 22, 5 30, 7 11, 8 22, 9 22, 10 17 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street 4 20, 6 00, 7 15, 8 0 40, 9 10, 10 35 AM, A. M., 1 30, 2 00, 3 30, 3 45, 4, 4 10, 4, 5 10, except Saturday, 5 30 6 40, 6, 6 15, 6 40, 7, 7 00, 8, 9 30, 9 15, 10 15, 11 30 P. M. 12 15, 1, night. Sunday—4 20, 7 15, 8 00, 9 15, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2 15, 4 30, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night. 1 A M.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 30, 6 10, 6 40, 7 26, 7 30, 8, 8 40 9 22, 10 06, 10 57, A. M., 12 06 1 15, 3 07, 3 30, 5 13, 5 35, 4 30, 5 54, 6 02, 6 30, 10 17 11 20 P. M. Sunday—8 07, 8 22, 10 00, 11 20, A. M 12 22, 1 45, 3 30, 5 36, 7 11, 8 22, 9 12, 10 17 P. M.

Leave Newark 6 15, 7 12, 7 45, 8 35, 9 05, 10 05, 11 00 A.M., 1 15, 2 25, 2 20 Saturday only, 3 05, 3 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 34, 6 10, 6 20, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 45, 9 35, 11 00, A. M., 1 10, 2 30, 4 10, 5 45, 7 20, 9 20, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

"LAINVIEW AND SCHERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 7 10, 9 16, 9 54, 11 30 A.M., 12 45 2 00 2 30, 3 45, 5 05, 5 16, 5 34, 6 04, 6 35, 8 05, 10 55 P.M. 8 21, 10 26, 11 23, P. M. 12 30 night Sunday—8 45, 9 30 9 54, A.M., 2 05, 3 20, 5 16, 6 20, 10 16, 11 14 P.M.

Leave Somerville, 6 30, 7 00, 7 56, 7 56, 7 45, 8 20, 9 05, 9 48, 11 40 A. M., 12 55, 1 45, 3 05, 3 25, 4 25, 5 28, 5 57, 8 45, 11 05, P. M. Sunday 8 05, 9 45, 10 55 A. M., 12 05, 1 20 5 05, 6 45, 8 03, 9 05, 9 40 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 9 16, 9 56, A.M., 12 46, 3 05, 5 16, 6 28, 6 21 P. M. Sunday—8 45, 9 28 A. M., 3 05, 6 05, P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 7 00, 8 35, A.M., 12 27, 4 06, 7 00 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 02, A. M. 6 40, 7 20, P. M

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 54, a. m, 5 05 p. m

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

6 48 A. M. for Dunellen, Boston, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport and Tamaqua,

7 10 a. m. for stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch,

7 16 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge branch D L & W R R, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Hazleton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m. way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 08 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Sunbury and Williamsport, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton. Buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk.

5 05 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge branch

5 16 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Mauch Chunk Shamokin and Tamaqua, Buffet parlor car to Scranton.

6 19 P. M. for Flemington.

6 56 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading and Harrisburg.

8 21 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

8 55 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 28 a.m. Sundays for Easton, 2 08 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Reading and Harrisburg, 5 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

For Atlantic City, 9 27 a. m. 1 28 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c

Leave Plainfield 9 27, 8, 10 27, a. m 1 18, 3 51, 5 54, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove 8 52, a. m., 3 35 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 9 27, 5 38, 8 10 27 a. m. 1 12, 3 51, 4 50, 5 54, 7 05 p.m. Sunday—8 52, a. m., 3 35 p. m.

For Freehold, 9 27, 8, 10 27 a.m., 1 18, 3 51, 4 50, 5 54 p.m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 45, 8 03 9 48, 10 45, a. m., 2 05, 5 54 7 05 8 21, 9 27 p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—5 45, 9 04, a. m., 2 05, 5 54, 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Trenton 5 45, 8 44, 9 40, 10 45, a. m., 12 45, 2 05, 5 54, 6 39, 8 21, 9 27 p.m., 1 12 night, Sunday—5 45, 9 34, a. m., 2 05, 5 54 6 45 p. m., 1 12 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 9 43, a. m. 2 05, 5 54 6 45 p. m. 1 12, night. Sundays—9 43 a. m., 2 05, 5 54 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Chattanooga, New Orleans and all points south with through vestibule sleeper, via Shenandoah Valley Route at 5 34 p m. Sundays 1 12 p m.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points west, westdays at 9 54 a m., 8 22 p. m. Sundays 6 45 p m

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA,

Reading terminal, 4 10, 8 20, 9 50, 11 25 a. m., 1 20 3 40 5 15, 6 04, 8 28 p. m. 12 10, night.

Sundays—4 10, 8 20, 9 50, 12 25 a. m., 3 50, 6 00, 8 28 p. m. 12 10 night.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 55, 7 58, 9 21, 11 19, a m. 2 40, 6 19, 9 10, 11 45 p. m. Sunday—3 55, 7 58, 12 19 p m, 3 50, 6 19, 8 10, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 00 4 58, 9 06, 10 26, a.m., 12 15*, 2 10, 4 29*, 5 54, 9 07 p.m. Sundays—1 00, 4 58, 9 06, 10 27 a. m. 1 10*, 4 23 6 48*, 9 05 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rate may be had on application in advance to ticket agents at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Sup't.
H P. BALDWIN. Gen. Pass Agt.

Spring,
Housecleaning,
WALL PAPER
Do you know spring is near? Well you'll need Wall Paper for the room and Paint, Oil and Brushes to make your home sweet and clean after the long cold winter.
Fine lot of Paper for 1895 that will please the most fastidious.
Of course there is only one place to get these things if you want the Best and Cheapest,
and that place is on the corner of
North and Watchung Aves.

LOVE'S?
Yes!

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS,
30 PARK AVE.
He Manufactures Them

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.
—NO.—
BUT FULL VALUE.
C. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging, 27 Chatham street.

MONEY LOANED.
Local Representatives Wanted.
Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors, with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m

H. Eggerding,
121 PARK AVENUE,
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 9tf

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.
CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.
Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address
MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

H. Hand,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Residence and postoffice address
SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.
Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

L. L. MANNING.
Marble and Granite Works
Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

Of course it is nonsense to spend your money
For Wall Paper
Unless you get your money's worth. We claim to have the finest line of new patterns in the city. If so you ought to buy here.

WOOLSTON & BUCKLE,
141 and 145 North avenue.

IF YOU WANT ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

PIANO BARGAINS.

Vanderbeek & Sattels

desire to say that they have just received a fine lot of

New Pianos

of different makes which they will sell at prices never before offered. Among them are those wonderful

Behr Brothers Pianos

Also Behning & Sons.

They represent also the Knabe, Hazelton, Chickering and many others.

They offer an excellent

Steinway Grand, $350.

A great bargain. Call soon at

221 PARK AVENUE.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must fairly be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¼c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

To All To Whom These Presents May Come, Greeting:

Whereas, In the judgment of the Board of Directors of The Music Hall Association of Plainfield, a corporation organized under the laws of this State, it has been "deemed advisable and most for the benefit of such corporation that the same should be dissolved before the expiration of the time limited in its certificate of organization," as appears by a duly authenticated record of the proceedings of said board of directors of such corporation held in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled "An Act concerning corporations," approved April 7, 1875, and the several supplements thereto, which said record, including the consent in writing of "two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders" of said corporation that such dissolution should take place, as by said act required having been by said corporation deposited in my office;

Now therefore, I Henry C. Kelsey, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, being satisfied by due proof that the requirements of "An Act concerning corporations," approved April 7, 1875, and the supplements thereto, relative to the dissolution of corporations, have been fully complied with by the said corporation, do hereby certify that The Music Hall Association of Plainfield did on the twenty-fifth of February, 1895, file in my office a duly executed and attested certificate of consent to the dissolution of said corporation by two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders thereof which said certificate of consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file and of record in my said office, as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Trenton, this Twenty-fifth day of February, A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-five.

(L. S.)

HENRY C. KELSEY, Secretary of State.

2 2t 4

ASSIGNEE'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, assignee of Sylvester Sharkey, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of March next.

Dated January 7, 1895.

1 8 10-03w CHARLES B. CLIFFTON.

NOTICE.

As directed by a resolution of the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, county of Union, State of New Jersey, notice is hereby given that an application has been made to the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood aforesaid, by the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, for permission to construct, operate and maintain a street railroad, with one or more tracks and necessary turnouts, to be operated by electricity or other motive power except steam, and to erect necessary poles, conduits and wires, power plant and necessary buildings along the following routes:

Beginning in the division line between the city of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood where Midway avenue crosses said division line and running thence in an easterly direction along Midway avenue to its connection with North avenue; thence still easterly along North avenue to the division line between the Townships of Fanwood and Westfield.

Beginning at the intersection of Mountain avenue and Forrest avenue or road, in the village of Scotch Plains, in the twp of Fanwood and running thence southeasterly along Forrest avenue or road to its intersection with North avenue; thence southerly along said North avenue to Depot street; thence to a point at or near the Fanwood station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The name of the corporation making the application is the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company.

The application was filed on the 15th day of February, eighteen hundred and ninety-five and will be considered by the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, at a meeting to be held on the 7th day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, at Excelsior Hall, at Scotch Plains, in the township of Fanwood aforesaid, county of Union, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

EDWARD L. HAND, Township Clerk.

2 16 14

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL ALBION,

OPEN FOR GUESTS

Park avenue and 8th street.

The Finderne,

FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.

Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.

HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.

(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30) Steam heat; inclosed piazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.

A. E. WHITE, Manager. Finderne, N. J

1 9 tf

HOTEL GRENADA,

North Avenue.

Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

5-12-1

CITY HOTEL,

Plainfield, N. J.

COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.

J. E. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.

With stables attached. 4 6 1

IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER

On draught at

CHARLES SMITH'S

Sample and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST

The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian Dark and the St. Louis.

Ballantine's Ales also on draught The India Pale XXX Still Ale and Porter.

H. A. STILES,

of Leech, Stiles & Co., the Philadelphia Eye Specialists, formerly with

QUEEN & CO. OF PHILADELPHIA, SEND THEIR EYE SPECIALIST TO PLAINFIELD

Every Thursday.

He will be found at

No. 107 East Front Street,

Dunham's Real Estate Office

From 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

INTERVIEWED SULLIVAN.

He Tells an Amateur Reporter That He Can Knock Out Any Man in America.

Secretary Hoke Smith's Atlanta, Ga., Evening Journal was in the hands of the ladies for one day of the exposition. Mrs. Joseph Thompson, president of the women's board, as editor in chief, took charge of the Journal and got out a forty page paper, which was full of excellent features and was in every respect superior. The sweet society belle who acted as sporting editor tackled John L. Sullivan for an interview, and here is the result:

Mr. Sullivan stepped into the portals of the Kimball House parlors with a worried look and demanded in his famous fog baritone, "Where's de young woman what wanted ter see me?"

"Here she is," replied the reporter faintly, but as sweetly as she knew how.

"Well, what yer got ter say?"

The reporter at this juncture paused for reply—because the possibility of reply was absent at this time—by reason of fright. She finally mustered up enough reportorial cheek to venture, in tremulous tones:

"Mr. Sullivan, the women of the exposition"—

"What exposition?"

"The women of the Cotton States and International Exposition."

"Say, no man in the biz," he said, "is willing to do more for de female sex than me, and I am tickled to death—on the ded, now, miss—wid dis interview; but I'm not on to your point yet."

"Well, you know," the reporter began, "the women connected with the exposition have charge of the Atlanta Journal to-day, and they have sent me down here to interview you."

Mr. Sullivan shook the timbers of the parlors with several hearty guffaws, and when he had recovered himself said: "On the ded, now, this is rich. Well, just tell 'em that I've been the victim of misfortune and am still willin' to knock out any man in America inside of twenty rounds."

"Yes, sir," said the reporter, smiling sweetly. "Thank you, Mr. Sullivan, for this talk." And the last words she heard, stepping on the elevator, were:

"Now, ain't she a peach?"

MYSTIFIED AUTHORS.

Father Prout Made It His Business to Hoax Notable Characters.

Authors have often mystified the public, but a man who made a business of mystifying professional writers is a notable character. Such a one, however, was the Rev. Francis Mahoney, better known as "Father Prout."

His favorite trick was to take a well known and popular poem translate it into another language, boldly assert that in its new form it possessed great antiquity, and charge the author with having stolen it. This trick he played on more than one noted author during the early days of the present century, and each were sorely puzzled to explain the identity of the poem which he knew to be his own with that in a foreign language.

Prout translated Moore's "Go Where Glory Waits Thee" into excellent French verse, attributed it to Mme. La Comtesse de Chateaubriand, and charged Moore with having stolen it bodily. The song, "Lesbia Hath a Beaming Eye," he rendered into choice Latin, and claimed as a youthful production of his own, which he had once shown to Moore. Another of Prout's achievements was the translation of Wolfe's "Burial of Sir. John Moore" into French, claiming, at the same time, that the lines were written by Colonel de Beaumanois, who was killed at Pondichersy in 1749. Not satisfied with this he proceeded further and translated the same lines into German verse, and stoutly declared that while Wolfe had stolen from the French poet, the latter had in turn pilfered from the German, the latter poem, having, as he stated, been written to commemorate the death and burial of the Swedish General Toistenson, who was killed at the siege of Dantzig. Poor Wolfe was dumbfounded at seeing his popularity disappear, and was not much comforted when the hoax was discovered.

A PLEASANT MATCH MAKER.

Bargained With a Son-in-Law, Then Gave Him the Wrong Girl.

Speaking of German weddings a writer says:

"As a rule sons and daughters born and bred in slavish obedience do not even murmur. Amusing incidents do occur, and that very often. One of these was comical enough to seem worth repeating. A peasant, with four daughters, all of them decidedly unattractive in looks, disposed of his second and least homely one at the marriage last year. When the young fellow, however, came to the old man's house, the sly old fox led out his first born, five years older than the groom and enough to frighten any one away.

"Thereupon a stormy interview, a lengthy discussion, and at last after a deal of haggling an agreement was reached, simply by increasing the mature old maiden's dowry by a thousand marks ($250). And I saw this couple at the fair—cooing like turtle doves, and happy as can be.

"Odd, isn't it? Yet that is the rule with these marriages concluded in such ultra prosaic fashion. Nearly all of them turn out well, I am credibly informed. You see these peasants from around Teltow are much like those Zola so graphically paints in his novel, "La Terre"—with souls that have no room for anything beside the thirst for more land and more gold. Or, to put it in a more complimentary way, they're not quite so finical as we city bred people are."

A Girl's Composition About Boys.

"Boys are men that have not got as big as their papas, and girls are women that will be ladies by and by. God likes women better than men, that's why there are more women than men. Boys are a trouble. They wear out everything but soap. If I had my way, half of the boys in the world would be girls and the rest would be dolls. My papa is so nice that I think he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy."

The Value of Bananas.

Twenty-five years ago the value of the bananas exported from Jamaica was practically nothing. People grew them for their own use, but never thought of shipping them. In the years 1892-93 the value of the bananas exported from Jamaica reached over $2,000,000. It exceeded that of either sugar, rum, coffee or dyewoods.

Jones—How's Wheeler getting along since he bought a bicycle?

Jones—On crutches, I believe.—Life.

Special Bargains for February.

HIRTS at 39c; regular price 50c.
pecial buckskin gloves 98c, regular $1.50.
aw you our Reindeer Glove for dress or driving $1.50

HALLOCK,

109 West Front st.

5,000 Pounds

Another big supply of Fresh Country Roll

BUTTER at 18c Per Pound.

Watch for our special sale price list in Thursday's and Saturday's paper.

FULPER'S, 207 West Front St.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose	7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose	10c pair
" " " double knee	18c pair
" " " extra heavy	25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handkerchiefs	5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs	5c

210 West Front Street.

106 East Front Street — NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c
" Oolong tea	30c
" Young Hyson tea	40c
" Japan tea	40c
XX soda crackers	4½c
Ginger snaps	5½c
Nic-nac crackers	6c
California peaches	17c can
Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
Can peas, early June	8c
Can corn, fine goods	8c
Fine butter	24c
Ground coffee	17½c
Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
" Rio coffee	24c
Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented. H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement

For walls and ceilings.

SHAD!

Rogers

232 W. 2d. St.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats. Dress Shirts,

Gloves and Neckwear

U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,

120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat,

or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.

E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,

177 North Avenue.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager

Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.

1 14 tf

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,

Prescription Druggist,

143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

(Copyright by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.)

CHAPTER III.

I said: "What next?"

"Host my pluck suddenly. I tried to speak about Home Happiness, but I couldn't. He asked me what he could have the pleasure of doing for me, and I stammered out something about elastic. It was the only thing I could think of. He took me up to a counter with a proud, beautiful girl behind it, and I said: 'Elastic, please.' The girl said: 'How many yards would you require?' I didn't know anything about that, and so I said twopennyworth. Then I thought that seemed rather a poor thing to say to a girl in that position, and so I altered it to sixpennyworth. She said: 'Certainly, and what kind of elastic?' How was I to know that there were two kinds of elastic? However, I said: 'The kind they use for catapults.' She went behind a sort of desk and stopped there patiently for some time. She may have gone there to laugh or she may not. After a few minutes she came back and remarked: 'Elastic you said, I think? Then she began to measure it out. I took it away in a whitey-brown paper parcel, and everybody stared at me. When I got outside the shop I threw the parcel down on the pavement, in a fit of irritation, I suppose. A boy picked it up and handed it back to me again. Then I went on to the park. I thought I might make some notes of the dresses there and also get rid of the parcel. I sat down on a chair, paid my penny and got out my note-book. I made notes of three dresses that I saw. These are the notes:

"THE KIND THEY USE FOR CATAPULT."

"'No. 1. Black.

"'No. 2. A kind of brown. Buttons on it.

"'No. 3. A sort of bluish. Looked as if it hurt.'

"It struck me then that I was not getting enough detail. I had only jotted down the general effect. A woman was sitting opposite me with a good, many things on; so I began to sketch them. I was absorbed in my sketching, but I remember that I did have a shadowy idea that the woman was beginning to look uneasy. Presently she got up. It was out of sheer absent-mindedness (I was only thinking of the sketch) that I said to her: 'Sit down again. I've not done with you yet.' A policeman was passing near, and she went to speak to him."

"Well?"

"Oh, I didn't stop. There didn't seem to be anything to stop for. I was out of the park and into a hansom before the woman had finished with the policeman. I told the man to drive fast to Charing Cross. In my hurry and confusion I had forgotten to leave the elastic behind me, and when I had paid the cabman I found that I was still grasping the parcel in my hand. That didn't matter. I left the elastic in a flower-pot at a restaurant where I lunched."

"But this thirteenth column. What have you done towards it?"

"I've read the fashion papers, but that's about all. Since luncheon I've been doing nothing but stare into shop windows. They muddled my head more than you can possibly understand, and they caused in addition a distinct amount of nervous irritation. Perhaps you noticed it when you met me just now."

A POLICEMAN WAS PASSING NEAR AND SHE WENT TO SPEAK TO HIM.

"Look here," I said, "you'd better give up the whole thing. You can't possibly do this column, and you'd better write to your editor and say so."

He would not take my advice.

"A good all-round journalist can write an article on anything," he said obstinately. "I'm going off to write my article now—this minute."

"But do be reasonable," I said. "Why attempt the impossible?"

"It is not impossible," he answered, as he picked up his hat. "Observation is no good. I've found that out. Study is also no good. The male man can find out nothing about the female fashions in those ways. But I have just thought of a third course—thought of it while I was talking to you—and I am now going to try it." He put on his hat. "On the whole," he added, "it is perhaps as well that you refused to smash that window for me. You may have been right; and I daresay I spoke too harshly when I said that you were respectable. I was much worried at the time, and you must make allowances. I shall bring you the article to look at to-night. Au revoir."

He did bring me the article, and it was the last time that I ever saw Charles Backerton Salemaker. Possibly, as he said in a subsequent letter, I shall never see him again. That night he looked radiant, triumphant, happy in the pride of achievement. He brought with him several typewritten sheets. They were the article in question, which he had just completed.

"First of all," he said, "let me explain the theory on which the article is written. The novelist works both from observation and imagination. He overhears some chance remark in the street, and from that with the help of imagination he constructs a character—even an entire novel. I've worked on the same lines. I've taken as my starting-point the little that I remember of the fashion papers and the shop windows, and I've allowed my imagination to play all around it."

He began to read the first sheet. It was to the effect that the season would soon be at an end, and that the autumn would follow with its beautiful foliage, and subsequently he and other high-bred English girls would give themselves up to a round of country-house visiting.

"That's all very well," I observed, "but it's not fashions."

"No; that's the introduction."

"Well, cut the introduction."

He turned over a few sheets and read as follows:

"'In the meantime the park every Sunday looks very gay and smart. One of the best dressed women that I have seen there lately is unquestionably Lady B. She wore a coat and skirt of Irish guipure of a dull bronze color, with tabs of eau-de-nil silk bordered with passementerie. The same color was repeated in the accordion-plaiting on the pom-pom, and the whole was surmounted by a hat of vieux rose surah, trimmed with skunk.' What do you think of that?"

"I must confess that it sounds just like the real thing."

"Quite so. And it's all imagination. Here's another bit: 'An equally tasteful confection was worn by a lady of a rather more matronly type. The skirt, cut after the present approved fashion, was of petunia face-cloth, shot with bombazine; this was suitably allied with a cape of Roman satin of a somewhat deeper tinge, edged with brown Siberian dachshund, and having a deep empire collar of amber velvet cut V-shape.'"

I did not care to hear any more. I thought then, and still think, that it sounded all right. Apparently it was not all right, as the following extract from a letter I received from Salemaker two days later will show:

"You will never see me again. It is all over. The editor apparently showed my copy to his wife, and has written to ask me what I mean by sending a cowardly and offensive parody in place of the work that he ordered. He has told me to call and, if possible, explain. I shall not do so. I do not think that I can look him, or anybody else, in the face again. I feel that I am rightly punished for my presumption. It was wrong of me, in my pride in my own versatility, to have undertaken that thirteenth column. Everything is against me now. I went into a restaurant the other day, and there was Miss Catling lurking behind some tea and a large bun. I dashed out, jumped on to a 'bus, and found that the woman whose clothes I had so mistakenly attempted to sketch in the park was sitting opposite to me. I cannot escape from my unspeakable shame. Fate reaches out a long arm of coincidence and collars me at every turn. That attempt to write the thirteenth column seems to have swelled up and filled my entire life. Before the sun has set I shall probably find myself in the same railway carriage with the proud girl who sold me so much elastic. But I must risk that. England has become too small for me, and I must go."

The remainder of the letter was purely personal. That week Home Happiness announced that its fashion article was unavoidably crowded out, but would appear in the next number. There never was a next number. In the following week the whole of Home Happiness was crowded out, and it never appeared again.

Meanwhile the friends and relations of Charles Backerton Salemaker are getting very anxious, and any information as to his whereabouts would be thankfully received.

[THE END.]

—Josiah Brown has had a telephone, 67F, put in his house.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs and expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

A Word to the Wise is Sufficient.

I suffered terribly from roaring in my head during an attack of catarrh, and became very deaf. used Ely's Cream Balm and in three weeks could hear as well as ever.—A. E. Newman, Garling, Mich.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from the nose Physicians prescribed without benefit. After using Ely's Cream Balm a short time the disease was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held March 4, 1895, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, March twenty-fifth, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 25, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council March 4, 1895, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000, payable to the treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

1,067 feet 24 inch pipe sewer,
2,284 feet 12 " " "
4,925 feet 10 " " "
80,605 feet 8 " " "
108 feet 8 to 12 inch cast iron pipe sewer,
116 manholes,
28 drop connections at manholes,
179 lampholes,
68 flush tanks,
4,141 Y branches,
875 extension connections on Y branches,
5,735 feet underdrains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposals, specifications, contract, bond, &c., may be obtained at the office of A. J. Gavett, constructing engineer, No. 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MAC MURRAY,
City Clerk.

Treasury Department

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1895.

Whereas, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882,

Now, therefore, I, James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business on March 1, 1915.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, 1895.

JAMES H. ECKELS,
Comptroller of the Currency.

3 4 30

BETTER THAN GOLD BONDS

VALUABLE

REAL ESTATE

in the business centre of Plainfield. The large building on West 2d street, known as

The Elkwood Building,

Will be sold at public auction on

Monday, March 4, 1895,

At 2 P. M., on the premises. The property is about 65 feet front by about 160 feet deep, and contains a three story brick building used for stores, public hall, flats, lodge rooms and offices. This property originally cost about $43,000, and affords a grand opportunity for investment. Attend the sale.

For further particulars inquire of W. R. Codington, Attorney, corner Park avenue and Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

The above sale stands adjourned to Thursday, March 7, at 2 p. m. 3 4 3

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7 30, 8 40, 11 a. m., 2 30, 5, 8 30 p. m.
Close—7 and 9 20 a. m., 1 45, 5, and 7 30 p. m

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8 40 a. m., 2 40, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 15 a. m., 4 30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arrives 12 m; closes 9 30 a. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9 30 to 10 30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6 15 p. m

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 219 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

R. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 8024, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Lunger, Fin. Sec. 9 25 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 148, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 10 East Front stree

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 28, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. G. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

BAMBERGER'S

THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values

IN

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality,

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c, at

49 cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

☞ Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street. Newark, N. J.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B C F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money.

Alex. Willett & Son

Sell the best

Men's $3 Shoe

IN THE CITY.

CARPETS

Made and Laid With Paper Without Charge

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,

73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.

are making and laying Carpets with paper without charge, which is a saving of 15c per yd.

Parties about going to housekeeping will find no larger stock of Parlor Suits and Bedroom Suits to select from at such low prices. All of the latest Spring styles of Bedroom Suits of the Hall & Lyon manufacture, and Parlor Suits of all the latest manufactures and of the latest designs and coverings.

Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

All other goods suitable to furnish a house with in our line are sold at the lowest prices. Terms easy; one dollar per week.

The Portland Range!

The Court of Errors has just unanimously affirmed the opinion of the lower courts that no other dealer can take any range and put the name Portland on it and try to hoodwink the people that they are selling the original Portland Range, when such is not the case. 7,000 of these ranges now in use and not one complaint. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Goods delivered to all parts of the State free of charge.

Storing Furniture

Our new building just erected at 88, 90, 92 Bank street, seems to be the only building in the State to store furniture, the way it is being filled up. Furniture moved with vans at reasonable rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

HEATH & DRAKE

Pushing Things

We are pushing things all along the line.

Dress ginghams, value 10c, at

6 cents

Dress ginghams, value 25c, at

19 cents.

Breakfast napkins, value $1.70, at

$1 45 doz

Huck towels, value 15c, at

12½ Cts.

Bleached table damask value 90c, at

75c.

Linen sheets 2½x2¾, value $5, at

$4 50 pr

8x10 table cloth linen, val. $2 25, at

$2.00.

Black Damasse satin, value $1 25, at

$1.00

Black satin Duchesse, value 84c, at

69. c

Real Japanese silks, figured, value 50c, at

39c.

52-inch all wool granite mixtures, value 75c, at

59c.

44-inch wool Argyle suitings, in small seeded effects, value 69c, at

50c.

Free delivery to Plainfield and vicinity

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J

MRS. L. COLES,

FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,

Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st

Taylor's French System

used. Suits $6.00 and upward.

2 2 tf

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1 50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 26 1m

Central Employment Office

218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.

All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first-class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Segars, Etc.

128 NORTH AVENUE.

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY,

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET,

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N. J

Telephone call, 29 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge. 9 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit,

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, india rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 9 p. m. H. HORNISH, 26 North ave., Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Frizz, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong. 6 27

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY. $5 A YEAR.

INCREASING IN GROWTH.

Annual Meeting of the McAll Auxiliary Shows it to Be Prosperous.

The annual meeting of the McAll Auxiliary held in the Public Library this morning was attended by 31 members, all of whom evinced great interest in the welfare of this admirable organization.

The following officers were elected: Vice-presidents—Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, Crescent Avenue Church; Mrs. F. O. Herring, Grace P. E.; Mrs. W. B. Wadsworth, Congregational; Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Trinity Reformed; Mrs. James Petrie, First Presbyterian; Mrs. Alexander Gilbert, First Baptist; Mrs. J. M. Vansickle, Seventh-Day; Mrs. James Middledith, Park Ave; Miss Minnie G. Wood, Friends; Mrs. Herbert Randolph, Grace M. E.; Mrs. C. P. Ralli, Netherwood. Secretary—Miss Saidee Hilliard Hunter. Treasurer—Mrs. John Gray Foster.

Reports from the various committees and officers showed the organization to be in a prosperous condition, with 243 annual subscribers. During the year $450 had been raised for missions.

The local press was thanked for their kindness and attention in publishing matters concerning the Auxiliary.

Methodist Children Enjoy Themselves.

One of the prettiest and most successful parties of the season was given by Miss French and Miss Trenham to the children of the infant class of the Methodist Sunday-school, yesterday, in Vincent Chapel.

Being a pleasant day, most all were present. Miss Trenham showed her natural skill in entertaining the children, who entered into the fun with happy and light hearts.

Miss Grace Overton and Miss Eleanor VanDeventer so artistically performed the Punch and Judy show that they were encored.

After the games and singing by the class, Mrs. E. T. Douglass played a lively march, and the children marched about the room and into the parlor, where there were five tables beautifully decorated and filled with tempting dainties.

Those who aided at the tables were Miss French, Miss Trenham, Mrs. Clark, Misses Maude French, Bertha Thorne, Mrs. French, Misses Edna French, Bessie Valiant, Mrs. E. T. Douglass and Miss Douglass.

Among those who were present were: Misses Marguerite Townsend, Dorthy Douglass, Marion Overton, Gladys Peck, Master Mills, Master Pope, Baby Susan, a little cousin of Miss French, Masters Charlie and Raymond Lyman, with a great many others.

Doll Show to be Repeated.

The annual meeting of the Young Ladies Presbyterian Band was held in the Crescent Avenue Church yesterday afternoon, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:

President, Emily Tracy; vice-president, Harriett Holloway; secretary, Katharine Thorn; treasurer, Josephine Petrie; managers, Misses Brower, Yerkes, Blish, Bronson and Patten. It was decided to repeat the doll show for the young people Saturday afternoon, March 16. The treasurer reported that $72 was cleared from the doll show on Thursday night of last week.

Little People Enjoy Themselves.

The tenth birthday of Miss Mabel Holloway was pleasantly remembered in the parlors of Hotel Grenada last night, when a number of her little friends assembled and enjoyed themselves as only little people can. Merry games were indulged in and light refreshments served. The following were present: Misses Maud Cuttrell, Amy, Maud and Myra Emmons, Grace and Bessie TenEyck, Tillie and May Mulford, and Edith Holloway; Masters George B. Miller, Frank Emmons, Fred and Louie Holloway.

At Hymen's Altar.

A pretty but quiet wedding occurred last night at 7:30, when Emma Pullan was married to John Andrews of Cranford by Rev. G. Kennedy Newell at the home of the bride on Liberty street. The bridemaid was Florence Pullan and the best man Alexander Muir. The bride was becomingly attired in a white silk dress, and carried white roses. The couple will take up their residence in this city.

Relic of the Blizzard.

The macadamized road on East Front street at Mulford Cole's hill, is in great need of repair, as the numerous ruts on one side of the road are ten or twelve inches deep, making it almost impassable for teams, while the other side is still blockaded with snow.

Collected for India.

Rev. Dr. Boggs of India gave an intensely interesting talk Sunday evening in the First Baptist Church under the auspices of the Temple Builders, on his work in India. His work has certainly been wonderful, and the large audience was much enthused in listening to his experience. At the close a collection was taken for the support of the native preacher at the Yerkes Chapel in Tetu, India. The selections by the choir were a feature of the service.

FINAL PHILHARMONIC.

Delightful Programme Finely Executed.

COLD HOUSE BUT WARM APPLAUSE.

Manager Newman Highly Complimented on the Artistic Success of the Season's Performance.

The closing subscription concert in the New York Philharmonic Club course caused the County Country Club's Casino to be comfortably filled last night by Plainfielders appreciative of good music. The Casino's temperature was cold; so cold in fact that the snapping and rumbling of the recalcitrant steam in the radiators disturbed the members of the orchestra and annoyed the audience almost beyond endurance. Many fine passages in the second half of the programme were drowned in the clattering of the steam-heating apparatus.

Not this season at least has there been a more perfectly-presented musical selection than the club's opening number, Haydn's Thirteenth Symphony. The "Largo" and "Finale" were surpassing beautiful, and by most present were regarded as the club's best work.

Sol Marcosson captured the audience at once when he began playing that wonderful violin with which he seems to be able to express volumes of unwritten words.

The "Fairy Dance" by Bazzini was a daintily written and cleverly played bit of quaint music, and elicited the first encore of the evening.

William H. Rieger is so well known in Plainfield, and the quality and tone of his voice so marked, that to speak of his enthusiastic reception seems unnecessary. It may be that his first selection, a recitative and aria from "La Parisina", was not in accord with the remainder of the programme. To all appearances it was less enjoyed than other more familiar selections which he sang.

That number which so many local musicians have looked for in vain on previous programmes of the Philharmonic Club—a flute solo by Eugene Weiner—appeared in last evening's card of talent. Mr. Weiner played three selections, and demonstrated in each his remarkable ability and talent. No such music has been heard in Plainfield this year, and is not likely to be heard again until he returns. His is a rare gift, amply utilized.

The violoncello solo by Henry Haagmans exhibited his rare powers; his delicate touch equaling, though in less marked degree, the deft fingering of Mr. Marcosson. A concert allegro in E minor by Popper gave Mr. Haagmans an opportunity of demanding his share of the approbation of his audience.

The appreciation of last evening's concert shown by those present ought to exert an influence toward inducing the Philharmonic Club to plan for another season of concerts in this city during the next concert season. For this season's treat, the public has H. Otis Newman to thank.

TODAY The Press begins publication of a detective story by Nym Crinkle, entitled

"EIGHT MINUTES TO THREE".

A. C. Wheeler, who uses this pseudonym, is one of the best known journalists in the United States. He has been for many years the dramatic critic of the New York World, and is today one of the most brilliant writers on the American press. It is to his inimitable sketches of New York life that the Sunday World owes a considerable part of its popularity. Mr. Wheeler has written many successful stories, of which the best known is perhaps "The Great Laran Rebellion".

"Eight Minutes of Three" is in every way a remarkable piece of fiction, and deserves to rank with some of the weird tales of Poe. It will run five days, and will be followed by a short story of New England life by Mary E. Wilkins.

This story, like all the Daily Press serials, is brand-new, and copyrighted to Daily Press use.

Charles Bullman Talks.

In the lecture room of the Y. M. C. A. last night 50 young men were entertained and instructed concerning the manner and customs of South American inhabitants, by Charles Bullman of this city. A number of unique articles used in domestic life and war by these uncivilized people was exhibited, and it was in the explanation of their various uses that the talk delighted the youth.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. B. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

THE HOLY SPIRIT.

Rev. Mr. Merritt Tells About Its Activity in Christian Life.

The address of Rev. Stephen Merritt in the Y. M. C. A. Association Hall last night, on the "Ministry of the Holy Spirit", was one of the soundest and most logical arguments for the acceptance of this essential in Christian life that has yet been made to a Plainfield audience. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the Christian Alliance, and was well attended.

The speaker had a peculiar manner of delivery and speech that made even the most disinterested person give close attention to what he had to say—something that is not easy to accomplish with such a solemn theme.

Mr. Merritt said to become imbued with the Holy Spirit would change the whole tenor of one's life and wipe away all the burdens which had been hard to carry. It would not only bless us but also bless everybody we came in contact with, and we would seek only to scatter abroad the truths of Christ, for it was the intention of Jesus Christ when He sent the Holy Spirit to us He sent it as His personality. It is not an impression and then an elevation, but every day is better than the past in experience, blessing and success. So few of us know Him—we know of Him.

Mr. Merritt told how the acceptance of the Holy Spirit had transformed his life into a much more happy and successful one than it had been before, even though he was a Christian. He used to go to Methodist camp meeting once as inactive as could be, but always became enthused during its progress to such an extent that his Christianity would slop over, and then when he left all his efforts that had slopped over were lost, for he could not sustain the interest which had been exhibited there. Since he took in the Holy Spirit his life had been of one even tenor, and he was happy all the time and had been blessed with great success. The Holy Spirit came to him while attending an Alliance meeting.

He said that he believed in divine healing, for he himself had been benefited by it. In closing he said it was not what you do, but what the Holy Spirit does through you.

Window Smashers at Work.

The large plate glass in the west window of Horsley Barker's drugstore on West Front street was broken with a stone last night by some unknown miscreant after 11 when the store was closed. The glass was valued at $100 and was not insured.

Evidently it was the work of a gang who are making a business of committing depredations about the city at short intervals. About two months ago Mr. Barker found his windows daubed with black paint, and also quite frequently signs which are left in front of the store over night are found in the brook nearby the next morning. T. J. Carey, the auctioneer, has also suffered in much the same manner by having his awning cut into strips with a knife.

It is thought that the glass was broken by the same gang who are stuffing the keyholes of fire-alarm boxes. If they are caught the law will deal severely with them.

K. of P. District Session.

A district meeting of Knights of Pythias from Perseverance, 74, K. of P., Unity, 102, K. of P., and Goodwill, 101, K. of P., of Scotch Plains, will be held in Perseverance lodge rooms on West Second street, Friday night at 8, when Grand Chancellor Ralph Donath of Jersey City, Grand Vice-Chancellor Dr. Hithcock of Newark, and Grand Master-at-Arms Rockafellar of Somerville, will be present. Crescent Division, No. 13, Uniform Rank, K. of P., under command of Capt. Flannery, will act as an escort to the Grand Chancellor and his staff. An interesting and profitable time is assured to all, and at the close the Grand Chancellor and his staff will be given a reception and collation.

Happy Surprise.

A few musical young people went to the home of Mrs. J. C. VanDyke of East Front street, and gave her a little surprise, last evening. A quartette composed of Miss F. May Grant, Miss Florence Kline, and Messrs. Robert Clarke and Will Holmes, rendered some very fine selections. Games and music were important features of the evening, after which refreshments were served, and the party started for home at 11 p. m.

F— 20 Letters.

The Trenton Daily True American of Saturday, March 2, speaking of the late session of the Improved Order of Red Men, says that John H. Carney, the humorist, took back to his Council a charter for the longest named Tribe in existence, Paughcaughnaugheinque, No. 193.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Startup of Middletown is visiting friends in this city.

Ed Dorsey of Second street is the proud father of a five-pound girl.

Elsie T. Smith is ill with tonsilitis at her home on Westervelt avenue.

Frank Hampton of Dunellen was in town yesterday calling on friends.

George F. Nourse of Ithaca was a guest of Hotel Grenada last night.

Miss Lizzie E. Kitchell of Summit is the guest of Mrs. John Bicknell of South avenue.

J. L. Nash of Vineland and Anthony Schoder of Woodbridge were in town yesterday.

R. C. Varian will join the Danger Signal Company as business manager, Sunday, March 10.

N. W. Pike, the newcomer druggist, is still confined to his rooms in Hotel Grenada with the rheumatism.

Mrs. Altenhain of Jersey City Heights is visiting her daughter, the wife of Rev. Mr. Hauser of Duer street.

Mrs. Katharine Runyon of Newark is is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Stover, on East Ninth street.

Jeremiah VanWinkle has leased the house 425 West Fourth street, and will take possession at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wakefield of Netherwood avenue are rejoicing over the advent of a daughter, Sunday night.

Dr. Daniel H. Thickstun, who has been in the South some time past for his health, is expected home about March 15.

Mrs. John Blimm and daughter of East Third street are improving from recent illness which has kept them closely confined.

Stewart Hoffman of Somerville was in Plainfield yesterday on business. He was a welcome visitor among his many friends.

Alfred Ovenshire of North Plainfield, who has been afflicted with the pneumonia for several weeks, is improving slowly in health.

Rev. Father Smith of Cranford will preach this evening at 8 in St. Mary's Church the first of the Wednesday evening Lenten sermons.

Mrs. Michael Uhdal, who has been suffering with the grip at her home on South avenue, has so far recovered that she is able to be about.

George H. Wyckoff of North avenue, Netherwood, is building a stone wall in front of his residence, which will greatly add to the beauty of his place.

Joseph L. Moore has rented the house on Front street near Grant avenue, owned by Jeremiah Manning, and will take possession this month.

Vinie Rushton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rushton, has so far recovered from scarlet fever that the quarantine has been raised from the house.

Miss Margaret Lynch, who has been spending the past two weeks with friends in Brooklyn, returned to her home on Woodland avenue, Netherwood, yesterday.

Mrs. Wm. VanWinkle of Park place and Mrs. Jacob VanWinkle of Park avenue are today attending the funeral of A. E. Jewell, at Rahway, who was killed by a tramp Sunday.

Mrs. T. H. May of Somerset street returned home yesterday after spending a week at Plainview, N. Y., where she attended the funeral of her father-in-law Francis H. May.

Peter Hodge has received word of the safe arrival of his mother in Carribelle, Florida, where she will reside with her husband, who is connected with the Carribelle Lumber Company.

Mrs. Edward Hann, wife of the letter-carrier, is suffering with a painful attack of erysipelas. Miss Hartpence of Rosemont, a cousin of Mrs. Hann, is caring for her during her illness.

Sidney Wrentmore, who has been engaged at the Commercial Palace as manager and buyer, has rented the house 221 Richmond street, of William Thickstun, the North avenue real-estate agent.

J. VanEps is now engaged in adjusting the mechanism of the phonograph which he is building, the principal parts having been constructed. It will be at least two months before the machine is completed.

Dr. Lee of Scotch Plains, ("Haddenham"), who has been confined to his bed for several weeks with inflammatory rheumatism, is still unable to move or be moved. But he says he has in his daughter the very best of nurses, and so has no fear of defeating his enemy in due time.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

MR. MAXSON ON SCHOOLS

He Tells the Board of His Cleveland Visit.

PLAINFIELD SYSTEM A MODEL.

Advice that Promotions Be Made Twice a Year, as a Help to Better Scholarship.

To the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN:—Having recently attended the annual meeting of the National Association of School Superintendents it occurs to me that it might be interesting to you to receive a brief report of the meeting.

In its makeup and in the papers presented, it was probably the most important educational meeting that our country has ever seen. There were superintendents present from all parts of the country, from Maine to Florida and from Florida to California, including the best talent in the profession. The main subjects presented were "The preparation of teachers", "School organizations in large cities", "Correlation of studies", and "Individualism in mass education".

In many cases it was very interesting to compare the aims and plans of our own school system with the thoughts expressed. In the matter of preparation it was insisted that no one should be accepted as a teacher without a high school training followed by a course of special preparation for the work. This is in accord with the unwritten law of your Board requiring candidates for a position in our schools to be graduates of a normal or a training school, or of some higher institution.

Regarding schoolhouses, it was maintained that there should be ample light largely from the left side only, full ventilation by artificial means, (a point in which our schools, though better than some, are still deficient), adjustable desks so that every pupil shall have a desk suited to his size no matter in what room he sits, and that more attention should be paid to the architecture of the schoolhouses and the finishing and the adornment of the rooms that the taste of the pupils might be cultivated and the school made as attractive as possible.

Regarding the school work itself, in the treatment of arithmetic, it was held that too much time was spent upon it daily and that it was continued too many years in the course. It was asserted that this protracted attention to that subject dulled the sharpness of the mind in the direction of language and science and that it would be better to simplify and condense the work in arithmetic so as to use less time for it and then substitute a simplified algebra or geometry in the last two grades of the course. For two years our schools have been working in this direction, condensing and simplifying, with the thought of being able eventually to take up the elements of geometry in the ninth grade.

It was also advocated that no arithmetic work should be done at home, both that the pupil might do his work independently and that the parent might have to spend less time in solving intricate problems.

In reading, it was held that after the third grade the work should be largely in the line of a training in the best literature, that the pupil should read and study classics instead of the ordinary reader, that learning how to read should teach the pupil to love to read that which is good. This is the aim that is held up before our teachers and that was kept in view in the purchase of new books for the classes last Fall.

Of science study in the lower schools, the report said "In an age whose proudest boast is the progress of science in all domains, there should be in the elementary schools, from the first, a course in the elements of the sciences." There was recommended a first course in botany, zoology, and physics, so as to treat of the structure and use of the familiar plants and animals, and as explanation of the simple phenomena of nature, to arouse the interest of the child; a second course that should tend more toward scientific classification; and a third course in the higher grades that shall help the pupil in acquiring the facts of science, and to stimulate and encourage him in the use of his gifts of observation. It has been found that the lessons in botany, zoology and physics give the pupil much aid in learning his geography and other lessons relating to nature". Our schools have, for some time with the aid of the science teacher in the High School, been attempting this work in science, with increasing good results.

It was said, by the highest authority in our country, that since the child of today lives in a world where machinery is constantly at hand, there should be a course of manual training in every school system. "A course of training in wood and iron work, together with experimental knowledge of physics or natural philosophy, makes it easy for him to learn the management of such machines. Sewing and cookery have not the same, but stronger claims for a place in school." This is my own conviction regarding these subjects, and I hope that, unless private benevolence should come forward as it has in so many places and put it within the power of the Board to do this work, the time is not far distant when it may be done at public expense as a necessary part of a school system.

In the discussion of studies it was assumed as a universal, established fact that the high school is an essential part of a school system. Concerning individualism in teaching, it was held that the graded school is in danger of erring in two directions: in holding back bright pupils to keep pace with the average of the class, and in dragging the slow pupils along too fast, for the same reason, that the whole class might be promoted at once at the end of the year. This results in great loss, both to the bright pupil who is kept back and to the slow ones who get beyond their depth, become discouraged and drop out early in the course. As a remedy for this it was held that the classes should be arranged so as to be half a year apart, instead of a whole year, as in most schools. With these shorter intervals it would be easier to promote a pupil at any time in the year as he showed ability to do the work of the higher grade. We are already trying to accomplish the same thing in another way as shown in the annual report.

A fitting close to this report may be a thought that well expressed the spirit of the meeting: "What you would have society, that the school must be, hence every good element of life must be in the school". The teacher must look two ways: he must study society to see what the child ought to be in the future; he must study the child to see what he now is. He must then surround him with influences and conditions that shall move him toward that ideal citizen that he would have him become.

Respectfully submitted,
H. M. MAXSON,
Supt. of Schools.

Monroe's Good Work.

The entertainment which was given in Monroe Avenue Chapel last evening under the auspices of the Epworth League was enjoyed by a large audience.

The programme, preceded by a hymn, and prayer by Pastor Munson, was as follows:

Cornet Solo—
Raymond McGee.
Recitation {a. Judgment Day. b. Selected.
Miss Grace E. Overton.
Song {a. Selected. b. Selected.
Mr. Bond.
Drill—
Misses Burt, Robinson, Bodine; Masters Colling, Robinson, VanDoren, VanLiew.
Song {1. Vy Vould n't You Lofe Me. 2. Whistling Coon. 3. Parrot Song.
George Stevens.
Intermission.
Dialogue—Champion of her Sex,
Misses Beekman, Aldrich, Palmer; Ackerman, Wenzel, Burts, LaRue.

President J. J. Praed had charge of the entertainment, and Misses Aldrich, Beekman and Burt composed the Social Committee.

A large collection was received, to carry on the good work of the league.

Now for Victory.

Harry C. VanEmburgh was in Bound Brook last night and arranged to bowl off the tie game between the Plainfield and Bound Brook clubs on the alleys of the Somerville club. This will be the game which will decide the winner of the Watchung League series, and the Plainfielders are going to make every effort to finish first, and to that end a large number of rooters will go along to encourage the boys into running up big scores. It was first proposed to play the tie off on the Finderne alleys, but as this club do not allow excessive rooting it was decided to go to Somerville where the boys could holler to their heart's content.

"Hit-or-Miss" It.

A "Hit-or-Miss" sociable will be given in the parlors of the Congregational Church tomorrow evening by the Willing Workers Mission Band. An interesting programme has been provided which will include a selection by a burlesque instrumental quartette and several amusing and exciting games. During the evening ice-cream and cake will be served.

The members of the congregation are cordially invited, as the entertainment planned will be of interest to both old and young. A silver offering will be received.

Choral Society Rehearsal.

A full rehearsal of the Choral Society will be held tomorrow evening at 8. A full attendance is urgently requested.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dismondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: 'I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c.

VANDERBILT DIVORCE

Justice Barrett Grants Mrs. William K. a Decree.

Given the Custody of the Children. Result of the Scandal in Which the Name of Nellie Neustretter Figured—The Papers Sealed—Willie's Gay Life.

New York, March 6.—Mrs. Alva E. Vanderbilt was granted a decree of absolute divorce from William K. Vanderbilt, by Justice Barrett in the supreme court yesterday. Under the decree, Mrs Vanderbilt may marry again, but Mr. Vanderbilt cannot do so during his divorced wife's life time. Wm. K., as he is commonly called, is to be permitted to visit the children at all proper times. They are to receive their education in the United States, upon consent of both parties. The three children are Consuelo, William K. jr., and Harold S. Mr. Vanderbilt has made ample provision for his wife. He has formally agreed to pay her a lump sum, considered entirely sufficient by Mrs. Vanderbilt and her attorneys. It is said that Mrs. Vanderbilt will sail for Europe to-day for a long visit, her three children to accompany her.

History of the Trouble.

The domestic trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, which culminated in a divorce, became public gossip in social circles last August. The first intimation that Mr. Vanderbilt and his wife were to separate came to public notice when a cable dispatch from Paris was received announcing that Mrs. Vanderbilt was arranging with her lawyers to institute divorce proceedings against her husband. There was considerable mystery who the woman in the case was but soon the news came from Paris that the woman who would be named by Mrs. Vanderbilt as co-respondent was Nellie Neustretter, a young woman of American birth who had been living in Paris quietly until she attracted the attention of Mr. Vanderbilt. Then, it was said, Nellie Neustretter established herself in grand style in a suite of elegant rooms with many servants.

His Gay Life.

The first indication that all was not as it should be between Mr. Vanderbilt and his wife that started their acquaintances in Europe talking, was when the party on the yacht Valiant, which had been cruising in the Mediterranean, broke up suddenly and to the surprise of many of the guests of the Vanderbilts.

It is said that Cornelius Vanderbilt went to London to act as peacemaker but failed to make a compromise. The proposition submitted to her was, it is said, that she should consent to a separation and that Mr. Vanderbilt would give her $3,000,000, the custody of her children, and the possession of the three houses at Newport, Islip and in this city.

Then came stories from Paris to the effect that Mr. Vanderbilt was leading a very gay life and was spending money in a way that made all Paris wonder and talk. These stories were denied by Mr. Vanderbilt's friends who did not hesitate to denounce the statement that he had established Nellie Neustretter as his mistress, as a falsehood.

She Was Miss Alva Smith.

On September 28 last, Mrs. Vanderbilt and her three children arrived in this city by the steamer Lucania. From the wharf she went at once to Newport and a family council was held. It is said another effort was made to induce Mrs. Vanderbilt to keep out of the divorce court. She would not do as her family wished, but insisted upon an absolute divorce.

Mr. Vanderbilt first met his wife in 1875, when he was 29 years old. She was Miss Alva Smith, a southern girl, then 18 years old. They met at a reception given by his sister, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard. Within a year they were married. They went to Europe on their honeymoon and then returned to this city. Mr. Vanderbilt built a gray-stone house at 52d street and Fifth avenue, which cost $3,000,000. He also built a marble house at Newport which cost $1,000,000, which he gave to his wife.

The Co-respondent.

Nellie Neustretter, the woman who is said to have caused all the trouble is a native of this country. She was born in Eureka, Nevada, and received a good education at Miles seminary, Alameda county. She then went to San Francisco and had a gay life.

In 1884 she met and married a cigar drummer named Henry Neustretter. He was away from home most of the time and Nellie led a rapid life. In 1887 she came to New York with a notorious woman named Laura Edelmen, of Los Angeles. Neustretter got a divorce from Nellie. About a month ago, it is said, she gave birth to a boy.

Child Burned to Death.

Rochester, N. Y., March 6.—Mrs. Byron Birdsell went away yesterday leaving her three children alone in the house. Fire broke out in the afternoon and an alarm was sent in by neighbors. When the fire department arrived the place was all ablaze. After the fire had been extinguished it was found that one child was burned to death, the others being rescued by neighbors.

Three Thousand To Resume Work.

Wilmerding, Pa., March 6.—After seven months of an almost complete shut down, the Westinghouse Air Brake works here, started up yesterday in full on double turn, the first time since the plant was built, four years ago. About 3,000 men from now on will find employment here and the works will run steadily.

Martial Law Declared.

Havana, March 6.—Martial law has been declared in the province of Santa Clara as the result of the uprising of two insurgents bands ,one of them under the lead of the notorious bandit Matagas.

Shirt Makers on Strike.

Rutland, Vt., March 6.—One hundred and fifty shirt makers at Tim & Co.'s shirt factory struck yesterday for an increase of pay. About 450 operators are affected.

IMPORTANT NEWSPAPER LAW.

No Pay for a Paper Sent Beyond the the Time of Subscription.

Washington, March 6.—The assistant attorney-general for the postoffice department has made an important ruling in regard to what are known as "newspaper laws."

These so-called laws provide that subscribers to newspapers are liable for the price thereof unless they give express notice to discontinue, or when they give notice to discontinue without paying arrearages, or refuse to take papers from the office, and that the publisher of a newspaper can have any one arrested for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it, and that it is a dangerous trick to allow a subscription account to run on for six months or a year and a half, and then to tell the postmaster to mark it "refused," or send the editor a notice to discontinue the paper.

The department has time and again informed parties making inquiries and the public generally that there are no such laws. The ruling now made, however, goes beyond this. It is to the effect that a publisher who makes a demand for payment through the mails, accompanied by a threat of enforcing such pretended laws in case the demand is not complied with, may be prosecuted for attempting to obtain money under false pretenses, provided he knows that such so-called laws have no existence as laws or decisions of the courts.

FITZSIMMONS WILL REPLY.

Says Corbett Was Sarcastic, But Is Thankful for the Favor.

Baltimore, March 6.—"Bob" Fitzsimmons, the world's champion middleweight, had but little to say in regard to Corbett's letter which gives him a time extension to May 1 in which to pay the remainder of the deposit his agreement with Corbett requires.

"Corbett has done me a favor in extending the time and I appreciate it. I don't care to comment extensively on the tone of the letter. It was rather sarcastic, but, situated as I am I don't care to respond to it now. When I have made up the deposit in full (with a very impressive look) I shall answer it."

A MUCH MARRIED MAN.

Found by the Sheriff Living with Wife No. 3—Lodged in Jail.

Binghamton, N. Y., March 6.—Edward Oliver is in the Broome county jail with the serious crime of bigamy. On Feb. 12, wife No. 1, whose maiden name was Ella Fessenden and who lives near Susquehanna, Pa., swore out a warrant in which it is charged that Oliver had married a woman named Wagner, who resided in Albany county. The sheriff found him here last night with wife No. 3, they have one child about two weeks old. Miss Hill says she did not know Oliver, or Edwards, had any other wives. Oliver was brought back to this city and lodged in jail. He refuses to make any statement.

JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

Women to the Bar Advocated by Mr. Voorhes.

Trenton, N. J., March 6.—In the senate last night Mr. Daly introduced a bill submitting to popular vote the question of purchasing a water supply for Jersey City. The bill making women eligible to examination for admission to the bar was advocated by Mr. Voorhees but it was killed by a vote of 6 to 8.

The senate passed the Newark fire and police bills and bills authorizing Hoboken to issue $500,000 bonds for water works and providing that the American flag alone shall float over state as well as city and county buildings.

Frightened to Death.

Kittanning, Pa., March 6.—Yesterday Constable L. H. McAllister went to Kittanning township to serve a summons on Mrs. David Stitt as a witness in the Bowser barn burning case. She is an aunt of James Stitt, one of the defendants. When she saw the constable approaching her house she locked the door and refused to open it until he told her that he had a summons for her. When she opened the door she immediately fell backward and died.

Ice Twenty Feet Thick.

Port Deposit, Md., March 6.—The water has all left town, but the railroad track for two miles is covered with ice from five to twenty feet thick. The town authorities are trying to cut a driveway through the streets. There is a fourteen-mile gorge at McCall's Ferry, which may move at any time. The damage by the flood will reach $25,000, most of which will have to be paid by the poorer classes.

A Gift from General Greely.

New Haven, Conn., March 6.—The Boarman Manual Training school here has received a fine gift in the way of apparatus from General Edwin S. Greely, of the E. S. Greely company of New York. The gift is made up of glavanometers, rheostats and other apparatus used in electrical experimentation and measurement. The gift is valued at several thousand dollars.

Mascoutah Kennel Club.

Chicago, March 6.—The annual bench show of the Mascoutah Kennel club opened yesterday in Battery D armory, with 886 entries. In point of class, quality and quantity the show easily rates among the best of the country and it certainly is the best yet given in this city. The attendance during the afternoon, when the judging began, was very large.

Needed No Conservator.

Norwich, Conn., March 6.—In the Johnson conservator trial yesterday several business men testified that Mrs. Johnson was capable, shrewd and intelligent, had a remarkable capacity for business and needed no conservator, for which her son, Andrew Johnson, petitions on account of her alleged extravagance.

Hanged with a Skein of Yarn.

Laconia, N. H., March 6.—Mrs. Joseph L. Odell, wife of a prominent citizen of Lakeport, committed suicide last night by hanging herself to a door with a skein of yarn. She was 60 years old and has suffered mentally for some years.

REPUBLICAN'S VICTORY

Exultation Throughout the State of New York.

Big Majorities Rolled Up in the City and Town Elections—Ithaca's Hot Fight on the License Question. Middletown's Temperance Board. Reports from Other Places.

Rome, N. Y., March 6.—At the municipal election here yesterday the republicans elected Dr. W. J. P. Kingsley mayor over Jerome Graves, by a majority of 553. They also elected their justice of the peace, two out of four constables and four out of five aldermen.

Amsterdam, March 6.—The republicans won a complete victory in the city elections. Their entire ticket was successful by majorities ranging from 300 to 800. William A. Fisher was elected mayor by 300 majority. Low license excise commissioners were elected. Last year high license prevailed. The republicans elected the aldermen in all the wards, and the common council will be unanimously republican.

Kingston, March 6.—According to the latest advices the town elections for minor offices in Ulster county have gone republican by large majorities.

Plattsburgh March 6.—At the town election here the republican ticket was elected by over 400. But two towns in Clinton county elect the democratic ticket.

Saratoga, March 6.—Town meetings in twenty towns in Saratoga county resulted in favor of the republicans.

Auburn, March 6.—The republicans made a clean sweep in the charter election, electing their entire ticket by decisive pluralities. For mayor, Orlando Lewis, was elected by 1,524 plurality; Recorder Charles F. Guion, democrat, who has been in office fourteen years, was defeated by 861, and Charles J. Stupp, after eight years' service as treasurer, was beaten by 935.

Ithaca, March 6.—The city election was held and was a republican victory. The fight waxed warm on saloon and anti-saloon issues, and the high license candidate for mayor, Leroy G. Todd, who was supported by the republicans, carried the city by 515 votes.

Batavia, March 6.—The whole republican ticket was elected excepting William F. Miller, democrat, for collector, who had 209 majority. The license candidate for excise commissioner won by 219 over no license and limited license.

Middletown, March 6.—A city election was held here yesterday and the republicans swept the city by majorities ranging from 384 to 650. They elected every candidate but one, Alderman Joshua Hirst, democrat, carrying the third ward by 29 majority. The board of aldermen stands eight republicans and one democrat. A "no license" excise board was elected by a majority of 472, but two members of the board who will hold over are for license.

Peekskill, March 6.—The republicans in the charter election elected two trustees, assessor and treasurer. Stephen D. Horton (independent) was re-elected president without opposition, and Edward F. Hill and Homer Anderson (democrats) were chosen water commissioners by small majorities. The republicans will have good working majorities in both boards.

Corning, March 6.—At the municipal election yesterday, out of the nine offices filled, seven republicans and two democrats were elected. Four of the five aldermen elected are republicans. The proposition to bond the city for $70,000 for a new water system was defeated by 52 majority.

A. O., U. W.'s Convention.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 6.—The 22d annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, opened here yesterday, with nearly 500 delegates in attendance. It was voted to grant the A. O. U. W., of Nebraska, $2,500 for the relief of the sufferers, and the supreme lodge representative was instructed to advocate the adoption of the $1,000 beneficiary.

Stole Poor Boxes.

Pittsburg, March 6.—Last night two poor boxes and their contents were stolen from St. Peter's cathedral, Ohio street, Allegheny. The broken boxes were found in a lumber yard on Kilbuck street. The thieves had forced entrance to the church through a basement window. The amount of money secured could not be estimated, but is not believed to have been large.

Killed in a Saw Mill.

Fitchburg, Mass., March 6.—George B. Andrews, president of the Worcester North Agricultural society, was killed yesterday by falling on a circular saw in Cushing's saw mill. He was 50 years old, owner of a fine farm and had made a national reputation as a raiser of fine fruits and grapes. He was prominent in the grange and an active promoter of farmers' interests.

Financially Embarrassed.

Boston, March 6.—The large retail dry goods and notion house of W. S. Butler & Co., of Tremont street, is financially embarrassed and has called a meeting of its creditors for next Monday. This action is due to losses occasioned by rendering assistance to a firm which failed recently in another line of business.

Backlen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A few drops of

Bovinine

taken in milk will sustain a patient's strength while dieting in severe cases of typhoid fever, pneumonia, diphtheria, and all fevers.

It contains the active principles of beef concentrated, and acts as a simple and effective food, acceptable to any stomach.

It will sustain life for weeks unaided, as it did in the cases of General Grant, the late Emperor Frederick, and many other distinguished persons.

Ask any physician.

Sold by all druggists.

THE BOVININE CO., NEW YORK.

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices.

BEE HIVE

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½
Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.
Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.
We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,

222 West Front st

A full assortment of Stationery!

AT

HARPER'S,

411 Park ave.

GEO. J. TOBIN,

187 North avenue.

Practical Plumber

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer

TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

$500 DOWN

Buys One of Those New Houses

on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

ADVERTISED LETTERS,

February 25, 1895.

Allen Hannah	McDaland Mrs
Bowles Mrs F	Morris Mary
Bartee Laura	Mulligan Ellen
Borchert Mr	Nelson Oscer
Connell James	Nessler Lewis
Courooiseer Mrs E	Obubeck A
Cairns Mrs K	O'Rourke Kate
Duping Mrs G	Paise Alice
Demarest Phillip	Ross D H
Edgar Irene	Runyon Jno M
Erikson Jenny	Stroble Willard
Emery S A	Staples S C
France Master J	Smith W
Gregory E W	Simmons Peter
Helon Mrs A D	Simmons Mary E
Haskin Ishm	Schmidt John
Heim Eugen	Stone Mr and Mrs
Hall Mrs Nancy	Shipton Jas D
Hampton Mrs Mary	Sutton George
Harris Mrs Sue	Smith George
Johns S E	Swartz A T
Kohler Fred	Trowbridge Maud
Lanigan Jas	Vandehoof E A
Little Mrs J K	Wright F L
Mumford A	Washington Jennie
McManus Mrs	Wright W W
	Young Thomas

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL and WOOD,

YARD—No. 228 Madison Avenue. Also

Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle 145 North avenue.

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is called to the

Home Department

of Rockview School, 317 East Front street. Children received from 4 to 15 Years.

Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.

Miss Fawcett's School,

25 Washington Ave.

Department for boys to the age of 12.
" girls and kindergarten.
Girls prepared for college.
Re-opened September 13.

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE,

CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS

Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 75 Grandview ave. L. G. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,

MASON AND CONTRACTOR.

Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 8 28 3

JOHN P. EMMONS

—Mason and Builder.—

Washington avenue and Prospect place, NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Jobbing promptly attended to 11 16 tf

D. L. HULICK,

CARPENTER,

And General Jobber.

Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.

Jobbing Promptly Attended To.

Orders may be left at Brummer's Clothing Store, 18 Somerset street, or sent by mail.

Residence 178 Duer st. 6-6-3

PEARSON & GAYLE,

Carpenters and Builders.

RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.

E. B Gayle, No. 18 Vine St

ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO 7-21-tf

JOHN T. ODAM

PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL

Slate Roofer and Repairer

Residence, cor. Arlington ave. and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J. New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 8 20 3

GEO. W. STUDER,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

985 ARLINGTON AVENUE.

Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,

21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.

H. H. McCullough, Proprietor.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 6-11-1

C. W. LINES,

Mason and Builder.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Residence—118 Liberty street.

Estimates cheerfully given.

Jobbing promptly attended to 12 4t

Jno. J. Shotwell,

Wood Mantels,

Tiles and Fire Place Furnishings.

221 Park avenue, upstairs. 3 5 tf

N. E. KING,

High Grade Portraits

In Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.

483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimen of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

JAMES E. BAILY,

97 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Trucking of All Kinds Done.

Two and four-horse vans and trucks. Particular attention given to moving furniture and pianos. Satisfaction guaranteed. 5 28 tf

Joseph E. Mosher,

Agent for

H. J. Hayden & Co.,

WAR CLAIMS ATTORNEYS, WASHINGTON, D.C

All claims put in our hands will receive prompt attention.

Call at the Crescent Cigar Store for fine cigars

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS

Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc., in bunches, bouquets or design.

MILES,

Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 2 17 tf

A. Lusardi,

No. 120 North Ave.,

Will be pleased to serve his friends and the public generally with first-class fruits and confectioneries, cigars, etc. Fresh roasted peanuts every day 10c. quart.

Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.

60 BROADWAY, cor. 46th ST.,

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method operating.

LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for TURNING and SCROLL SAWING and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL ALBION,

OPEN FOR GUESTS

Park avenue and 8th street.

The Finderne,

FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.

Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.

HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.

(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30) Steam heat; inclosed piazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.

A. E. WHITE, Manager, Finderne, N. J.

1 9 tf

HOTEL GRENADA,

North Avenue.

Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public. 5-12-1

CITY HOTEL.

Plainfield, N. J.

COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.

J. R. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.

With stables attached. 457

IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER

On draught at

CHARLES SMITH'S

Sample and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST.

The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian Dark and the St. Louis.

Ballantine's Ales also on draught The Indian Pale XXX Stil Ale and Porter.

H. A. STILES,

of Loech, Stiles & Co., the Philadelphia Eye Specialists, formerly with QUEEN & CO.

of PHILADELPHIA,

SEND THEIR

EYE

SPECIALIST

TO PLAINFIELD

Every Thursday.

He will be found at

No. 107 East Front Street,

Dunham's Real Estate Office!

From 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Mrs. L. Adams,

111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank, is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.

BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

F. A. DUNHAM,

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 109 Park avenue. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas.

Real Estate Insurance

VAN BUREN & TIMPSON,

163 North ave. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HOAGLAND'S

Local Express.

Telephone 121.

Office 161 North Avenue

REMOVAL.

I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to

142 North Avenue

Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.

CALEB DICKINSON

AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE

For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Bad Complexion, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

R-I-P-A-N-S TABULES

are purely vegetable. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by druggists or sent by mail. Price 5 cents a box. Address RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., N.Y.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North ave. 10 1 tf

Jones & Co., Excavators.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

JONES & CO.

Cesspools built, 9 18

FISCHER PIANOS.

ESTABLISHED 1840.

Nearly 100,000 Now In Use.

RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARD,

WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO.

EASY TERMS.—EXCHANGED.

Catalogue mailed on application.

110 FIFTH AVE., cor. 16th St., N.Y.

YOUNG GIRLS.

INTERESTING CONCLUSIONS.

Mothers Agree on One Vital Subject.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Young girls, to the thinking mind, are ever subjects of the deepest interest.

Some lead lives of luxury, while others toil for mere existence. Separate, however, as their paths in life may lie, Nature demands of them the same obedience. All are subject to the same physical laws, and suffer in proportion to their violation.

Young girls are reticent through modesty, and often withhold what ought to be told.

Yet they are not to blame, for information on such subjects has been withheld from them, owing to the false interpretation of a mother's duty.

In such cases they should do as thousands of young ladies are doing every day: write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., giving as nearly as possible their symptoms, and receive her freely given advice and timely aid.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the young girl's most trusty friend. It can be obtained of any druggist, and speedily relieves and cures irregularities, suspension, retention, and all derangements of the womb and ovaries.

It banishes promptly all pains, headache, backache, faintness, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholia, etc. Young girls must know that self-preservation is the first law of nature.

A LADY'S TOILET
Is not complete without an ideal
COMPLEXION
POWDER.
POZZONI'S
Combines every element of beauty and purity. It is beautifying, soothing, healing, healthful, and harmless, and when rightly used is invisible. A most delicate and desirable protection to the face in this climate.
Insist upon having the genuine.
IT IS FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE IS THE BEST. FIT FOR A KING.

$5. CORDOVAN, FRENCH & ENAMELLED CALF.
$4. $3.50 FINE CALF & KANGAROO
$3.50 POLICE, 3 SOLES.
$2.50 $2. WORKINGMEN'S. EXTRA FINE.
$2. $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
LADIES
$3. $2.50 $2. $1.75
BEST DONGOLA.
SEND FOR CATALOGUE.
W. L. DOUGLAS, BROCKTON, MASS.
Over One Million People wear the
W. L. Douglas $3 & $4 Shoes
All our shoes are equally satisfactory
They give the best value for the money.
They equal custom shoes in style and fit.
Their wearing qualities are unsurpassed.
The prices are uniform,—stamped on sole.
From $1 to $3 saved over other makes.
If your dealer cannot supply you we can. Sold by
A. WILLETT & SON.

W. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.
First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's
LAW OFFICES,
Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

Neuman Bros.,
THE POPULAR GROCERS,
offer special inducements in prices which will interest everybody.
White cherries 17c
Egg plants.....17c
Apricots.....17c
Crawford peaches.....17c
Sliced pineapple.....17c
Grated pineapple.....17c
Hamburg stringless beans.....10c can
17c
Try our own brands of Coffees, the finest in the market.
NEUMAN BROS.

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance.
7 East Front Street.

CODDINGTON'S
FURNITURE AND FREIGHT
EXPRESS.
OFFICES—14 West Front street; 81 Park avenue
Post Office Box 228.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large covered trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 11 13

FREE SILVER COINAGE

A Manifesto by the American Bimetalists.

Bond Issue Denounced—An Address to the People on the Lines of Organization—Declaration That Monetary Reform Is Necessary to a Return of Prosperity.

Washington, March 6.—The American bimetallic party, through its executive committee, has prepared a statement of the issue on which the new party will organize, and with it forwards an address to the people of the United States. The document in part is as follows:

"The money question is now indisputably the dominant issue in the United States, and will remain so until settled rightly. Other questions, however important, must wait for this, which, to a greater or less extent, involves all others. The issue is between the gold standard, gold bonds and bank currency on the one side, and the bi-metallic standard, no bonds and government currency on the other.

Free Silver Coinage

"First—On this issue we declare ourselves to be unalterably opposed to the single gold standard, and demand the immediate return to the constitutional standard of gold and silver, by the restoration by this government, independently of any foreign power, of the unrestricted coinage of both silver and gold into standard money, at a ratio of 16 to 1, and upon terms of exact equality; the silver coin to be a full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts and dues, public and private.

"Second—We hold that the power to control and regulate a paper currency is inseparable from the power to coin money; and hence that all currency intended to circulate as money should be issued and its volume controlled by the general government only, and should be legal tender.

"Third—We are unalterably opposed to the issue by the United States of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace, and demand the payment of all coin obligations of the United States, as provided by existing laws, in either gold or silver coin, at the option of the government, and not at the option of the creditor.

"On this issue we appeal from the dictation of the money power to the intelligence and patriotism of the American people.

Address.

"To the people of the United States: The signers of the declaration of independence held that a decent respect for the opinions of mankind required that reasons should be given for dissolving the bonds that had bound the colonies to Great Britain. So we, who find it necessary to sever our relations with the political parties with which we have heretofore acted, and form new alliances in a common cause, deem it proper that some of the reasons which impel us to this action should be submitted to a candid public.

"The monetary reform, for which we contend, as above set forth, is, in our judgment, so vital to the common welfare and so necessary to a return to conditions of prosperity in this country, as to preclude longer delay in the inauguration of a movement, the purpose of which is to bring together all who believe in the necessity of the proposed reform, for this object, and this alone. Those in favor of the gold standard are, and have been, united in purpose and action. Party lines do not divide them when this issue is raised. Differences on other questions are then laid aside, and together they in well-beseeming ranks, march all one way."

Princeton's Football Association.

Princeton, N. J. March 6.—The university treasurer, Thomas J. Perkins, rendered his report last night as treasurer of the Football association. For many years the association has ended each season with a surplus in the treasury and have contributed to the support of the track athletic team, which has never been self-supporting. This year's report shows a deficit in the treasury of $2,150.09, the total liabilities being $22,928.03. The receipts from games was but $18,186.27, whereas it has usually been about $20,000. It is understood by the college that the deficit has occurred through no fault of the management.

Lady Aberdeen at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Ont., March 6.—Lady Aberdeen arrived here from Washington late yesterday. She was met at the depot by a delegation from the local council of women and escorted to the Royal hotel, where a magnificent luncheon was served at which over one hundred members sat down. Last evening she addressed a large audience at the Grand Opera house.

Will Not Observe Patriots' Day.

Boston, March 6.—At the town meeting yesterday, for the first time in many years, the town of Lexington refused to make any appropriation at all for the celebration of Patriot's day. This is a matter of great surprise to every one who knows how intimately the holiday is connected with the history of the town and how proud the town is of that history.

Scrapbooks for the Czar.

New York, March 6.—The steamship Ems yesterday carried a special consignment to the czar of Russia, consisting of four scrapbooks bound in seal and clamped with gold. They were prepared from American newspaper comments on the death of the late and marriage of the present czar.

Robert Ross Day.

Troy, N. Y., March 6.—To-day is the anniversary of the murder of Robert Ross, who was shot while trying to prevent the violation of the ballot-box during the election in this city. A large public meeting will be held this evening in commemoration of the event.

Will Search for Wrecks.

Fort Monroe, Va., March 6.—The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius which has been at Norfolk for the past two weeks, went to sea yesterday in search of floating wrecks.

RAVISHED, THEN ROASTED.

Negro's Attack on a Sixteen-Year Old White Girl.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 6.—Near Hawthorne, Alachua county, yesterday evening, Annie Jenkins, a 16-year-old white girl was ravished by a negro and then roasted. The girl was returning home from a neighbor's and was walking on the railroad track. She discovered some ties on fire and attempted to extinguish them. While thus engaged a negro seized her, dragged her into the bushes. Afterward the brute held the girl over the burning ties until her clothing was in a blaze.

He then threw her into a muddy place near the track and escaped. The girl became unconscious and was so found several hours later by her father, who, alarmed by her absence, went in search. When she recovered consciousness she told the above story. Posses are searching for the negro and if caught the whites swear they will burn him at the stake. The girl will hardly recover.

OFF FOR EUROPE.

Representatives of Millions Sail on the New York.

New York, March 6.—When the American line steamer New York sailed for Southampton this morning she had representatives of two of the wealthiest families in this country, members of titled English and French houses, and others world-famous for qualities other than those that wealth and position have made. Among them are the Count and Countess de Castellane. The count and his bride, who was Miss Anna Gould until Monday last, occupy the best suite on the steamer. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. Astor and their child also sailed on the New York. Among the other notables are W. Bourke Cockran, Sir George Errington, Lady Errington, Count Krasicky, Lady Henry Somerset, Miss Francis E. Willard and Joseph M. Bresler, vice-consul of Hawaii.

DIVORCE FOR BALLANTINE.

End of a Match That the Brewers' Family Looked Coldly Upon.

Paris, March 6.—The action for divorce brought by George F. Ballantine, of Newark, N. J., against his wife has been decided in his favor.

George A. Ballantine is the son of the late Peter Ballantine, head of the great Ballantine brewing interests. Six years ago he met Miss Mabel Lathrop of Boston, in the Adirondacks. Their marriage occurred in 1889. Mr. Ballantine's bride was coldly received by his family and the two went to Paris. He applied himself to the study of architecture, his wife to enjoying life in the French metropolis. His income of $600,000 a year, it is said, was not sufficient to keep up the expenses.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION.

Must Attend School Sixteen Weeks in Each Year.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 6.—In the house yesterday the entire afternoon session was taken up in consideration of the Farr compulsory education bill. The measure was passed after a long wrangle, which at times was very bitter, by a vote of yeas 134; nays 13—the democrats refrainig from voting.

The bill now goes to the senate. It provides for the compulsory attendance at school of children between the ages of 8 and 13 years for at least sixteen weeks each year, and gives school directors discretionary power in the matter of excuses for non-attendance.

His Confession of Murder.

Nashville, Tenn., March 6.—Easley Russell who was brought here last night from Wilson county to escape the vengeance of a mob, confessed at the jail that he was guilty of the murder of Dr. Hugh Waters. He alleges that he met Dr. Waters in the road on horseback and he rode a bicycle. They quarrelled over an old business affair. Waters advanced on him with an open knife when he drew his pistol and fired.

Insurance Company vs. Underwriters

San Francisco, March 6.—In the injunction case of the Continental Insurance company of New York against the board of underwriters of the Pacific before Judge McKenna in the United States circuit court yesterday, the plaintiff submitted five affidavits from its agents in different cities on the coast to show that the rules of the underwriters' compelled them to relinquish continental business.

Taken Ill on the Stage.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 6.—Nat C. Goodwin, playing "The Gilded Fool," at the Park theatre in this city last night, was unable to finish the performance. He managed to get through the first act with difficulty and when the curtain went down on it he refused to continue the performance. Col. Sinn made an address, stating that Mr. Goodwin was taken ill, but the nature of illness was not stated.

Dr. Breintnall Dead.

Newark, N. J., March 6.—Dr. John H. H. Breintnall, who was stricken with paralysis while at his dinner at his home Sunday afternoon, died shortly before 8 o'clock last night. Dr. Breintnall was born in Philadelphia about sixty-four years ago.

Fire in Red Bud.

Red Bud, Ill., March 6.—The business building occupied by McQuillen and Tolen, dry goods; Joe Wolff's jewelry store; G. I. Rieu, law office and Gilmore's barber shop was completely destroyed by fire last night. The loss aggregates $75,000.

Wreck of a Schooner.

Ocracoke, N. C., March 6.—The schooner Etta M. Barter struck on the outer reef Saturday. The deck load of lumber washed away and the hull broke in two. The cargo of lumber is washing ashore and seas are breaking over the wreck.

For an Advance of Wages.

Boston, March 6.—Some seventy-five Poles and Hungarians, employed in the fertilizing department of the Abattoir at Brighton, struck yesterday for an advance of wages.

Suffrage Bill Defeated.

Boston, March 6.—The house of representatives yesterday defeated the womans' suffrage bill by a vote of 127 to 87.

A WIFE'S DOUBLE LIFE

She Is Charged with Having a Flat Next Door.

Prof. Von der Heide Brings Suit for Absolute Divorce—Edward M. Clark Named as Co-respondent. Was He Her Sick Lady Friend? A Domestic's Evidence.

New York, March 6.—From the testimony of two witnesses in the suit for divorce brought by Prof. John Von der Heide against his wife, Anna, it appears that Mrs. Von der Heide has been leading a double life.

In one flat which she occupied with the professor she was known by the name to which she is entitled by her marriage certificate, and in a flat in the adjoining building she figured as "Mrs. Post," and her name was coupled with that of Edward M. Clark, formerly clerk of the Hotel Brighton at Long Branch.

Prof. Von der Heide, who is a well-known musician, asks for an absolute divorce on statutory grounds, alleging improper intimacy between his wife and Clark. On the witness stand he testified that he was married to the defendant in Buffalo on Nov. 27, 1882, and that they came to this city in May, 1890.

Often Sat on His Knee.

Edith Weiman, who was employed in the Von der Heide household as housekeeper in 1893, testified that she had seen Clark frequently at the Von der Heide flat, at 339 West 59th street.

"Was Mrs. Von der Heide particularly friendly to Clark?" was asked.

"Oh, my yes! I saw them hugging and kissing each other, and Mrs. Von der Heide often sat on his knee."

Miss Weiman was not inclined to tell all she knew, but under instructions from the court she told in detail of the improprieties indulged in by the defendant and the co-respondent.

The witness said that while the Von der Heides were living together at 339 West 59th street, she also used another flat at 341 West 49th street. One stairway led up to both flats, one being on the second and the other on the third floor.

Her Sick "Lady Friend."

Mrs. Von der Heide, the witness said, was often with Clark in the flat at 341, giving him more of her time than she gave to her husband.

Q. Under what name did she live at 341? A. Mrs. Post.

Q. Who rented the flat? A. Mrs. Von der Heide rented it as Mrs. Post.

Q. And Clark lived there? A. Yes, most of the time.

Miss Weiman said that Mrs. Von der Heide deceived her husband by telling him that she was going to visit a sick lady friend whenever she called on Clark.

Anna Helmricht, a former servant, testified that Mrs. Von der Heide inserted personals in the newspapers to the effect that a lady desired the acquaintance of a wealthy gentleman; object, matrimony. She received a number of answers and frequently met the men at her flat.

"Elephant" Eddie.

The witness identified two letters written by Mrs. Von der Heide to E. M. Clark. The letters, which were introduced in evidence, are very affectionate. Clark is referred to as "My darling good boy" and "My beloved sweet darling." Of Clark's occupation as hotel clerk she writes: "Poor sleepy baby; rather sleep than serve those rich dogs."

She calls Clark her "Elephant Eddie," and writes: "Take good care of yourself, and don't grow too fat. Keep all your love for your little wife. Don't divide my kisses with other girls, or I will kill you both. You know I mean business, love. I've got the pistols, ha, ha, and the owner, too."

The letters are dated July 18. The plaintiff's case closed with the offer of the letters. The defense asked for additional time in which to prepare their side of the case, and an adjournment was taken till to-morrow morning.

John M. Egan May Be Receiver.

Portland, Ore., March 6.—The arrival here last night of John M. Egan who had charge of the General Managers' association during the railroad strike last summer gives greater credence to the rumors which have already been current here, that he is to be proposed for appointment by Judge Gilbert as receiver of the Oregon Short Line & Utah Northern Railway company. Judge Gilbert will not return from San Francisco until the last of this week and the receivership case will not be heard before next Saturday or Monday.

Demurrer Overruled.

San Francisco, March 6.—The demurrer of counsel for Charles Fair to the petition of the executors for probate of the missing document as the will of the late Senator Fair was overruled yesterday. The case was then continued until March 18. The court decided to hear Saturday next the application of counsel for the executors for leave to file a certified copy of the will.

The President Acts.

Washington, March 6.—The president has commuted to three months actual imprisonment the sentence of six months imposed upon Harry Ragen, in Ohio, for impersonating a United States officer, and denied an application for clemency in the case of Dr. A. B. Johnson, sentenced in Missouri to four years imprisonment for making false affidavit in a pension case.

Thy Hold Parade.

Haverhill, Mass., March 6.—The strikers held a parade yesterday afternoon with 200 in line. The procession formed at Union headquarters on Washington street and proceeded up River street to Spaulding & Swetts factory and halted in front of the building. They succeeded in calling out two workmen.

Strikers Quit Work.

Cleveland, March 6.—One hundred employes of the Cleveland Shipbuilding company went out on strike at noon yesterday against a reduction in wages. The strikers were employes in the boiler making department.

CURE THAT COUGH WITH SHILOH'S CURE
TAKE THE BEST
25cts. 50cts. and $1.00 Bottle. One cent a dose.
THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures where all others fail. Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough and Asthma. For Consumption it has no rival: has cured thousands, and will cure you if taken in time. Sold by Druggists on a guarantee. For a Lame Back or Chest, use SHILOH'S BELLADONNA PLASTER. 25c.
SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY.
Have you Catarrh? This remedy is guaranteed to cure you. Price, 50 cts. Injector free.
Sold by all druggists. 8 14 7

Selling Off Regardless of Cost
TO CLOSE BUSINESS.
Store and Dwelling to let.
Everything must be sold. Counters, cases, millinery goods at half price, ladies' underwear, infant's wear, velvet ribbons, large double heater, large mahogany desk and bookcase combined, claw feet, and a number of bricks. Everything selling low. MRS T. J. GILLIES, 1 23 1m 115 Madison ave

Prof. A. Wehner,
TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.
ALSO VOICE CULTURE.
Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipzic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.
References given and required.
Address letters to the office of this paper.
1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new
SPALDING
FOR '95.
Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new
'95 Spalding Cyclometer
FREE.
W. H. ROGERS,
408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial Parlor, 304 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cut in a manner. 10 19 1

Theo. Bellock & Co., Peoria.
Sold by
DAVID T. KENNEY,
Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.
198 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR
SOLID SILVER SPOONS.
COLLIER'S,
103 PARK AVENUE.
ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S
MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,
SOMERSET STREET.
OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING
TYPEWRITER
Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.
It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.
It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.
These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.
The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.
Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,
307 Broadway, New York.
1 5 6m

UP TO DATE.

Oh, dear to my mind is the old-fashioned ingle-
That fond recollection presents to my view,
Where forest-hewn logs would in fire-glow mingle
And cheer us with comfort and radiance too.
But warmer today, and more comfort insuring
Are fires whose fervor is kindled anew
With fruit of the mines that the wise are securing
From coal yards of Stevens, near Grant avenue—
That excellent coal you are sure of procuring
Near junction of Front St. and Grant avenue.

(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Simpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations
For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.
To Old Point Comfort
[Hygeia Hotel]
Or Virginia Beach, Va.
[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for
$16 Old Point Comfort, $16 Virginia Beach, $17 $17
INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE
of meals and berths enroute, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.
These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.
Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.
Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to
Old Dominion S. S. Co.,
Pier 26, North River, New York.
W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.
[Superior quality of
LEHIGH COAL.
No. 2 Coal Only $3.75
In the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.
Yard and office, 763 South Avenue.
Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,
Dealer in all kinds of
CHOICE MEATS
Jersey porkland poultry a specialty.
203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S
Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles,
411 Park Avenue,
Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb
V. L. FRAZEE,
151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in
Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.
LOCK BOXES
From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.
Ask for our little booklet "Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning men's clothing.
HILLIER & Co.,
175 North ave.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH.6, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Short Stories of Heroism from Real Life.

They Died For Liberty.

March 6 is the anniversary date of the gallant struggle made by Travis and his patriot band along the walls of the Alamo. On that day—1836—America gave the world a new Thermopylæ and placed the word Texan beside the word Spartan as a synonym for warlike valor. Only 188 men of arms could be rallied at that frontier outpost to bare their breasts against the host of Mexican spearmen swarming over the border. It was a fight for liberty. Travis carried the banner of the infant nation that had just raised the standard of revolt on the Rio Grande and which Santa Anna resolved to strangle in the cradle. After ten days' siege the dictator formed his column under the walls of the Alamo, with a line of cavalry behind it, to scourge the storming parties forward with the saber should they falter. The Mexicans numbered between 4,000 and 6,000.

At daylight ladders were placed against the walls, and the voltigeurs attempted to mount them, but were twice hurled back by the Texans. Santa Anna then appeared, on the scene. Inspired by his presence and also by the lashes of their officers, the front ranks mounted the wall. They were quickly cut down by the Texans, but more followed so rapidly that the defenders could barely get room to strike for the protection of their own persons. Too closely pressed to load and fire, they clubbed their rifles and gave ground inch by inch until but a handful remained. Colonel Davy Crockett, the hero of the desperate siege, fell at the very last, stabbed to death in the presence of Santa Anna. Colonel Bowie, the renowned borderer, was pressed into a corner, but shot down several Mexicans before he could be dispatched. Within an hour after sunrise that Sabbath morning every man of the little band lay dead. But they had made the Mexicans pay dearly for the victory. During the siege and assault their busy rifles had slain over 500 enemies and wounded 1,000 more. The news of the tragedy called all Texas to arms, and sounding the battlecry, "Remember the Alamo!" the people arose to avenge Travis and his martyrs.

DAVY CROCKETT.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

BY THE WAY.

—An important meeting of Gazelle Engine Company will be held this evening.

—A business meeting of the Women's Temperance Aid Society will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m., in Reform Hall.

—Father Carey of the Trenton Diocese will deliver the first of the Lenten lectures in St. Joseph's Church this evening.

—City Treasurer Titsworth was busy writing checks this morning in payment of the salaries of the municipal employes.

—A regular communication of Jerusalem Lodge, F. and A. M., was held last night. Nothing but routine business was transacted.

—The next bowling game in the Elizabeth Journal series will be between Plainfield and Cranford Tuesday evening of next week at the latter place.

—A select social is to be held in Friendship Hall, New Market, tonight. The committee are E. M. TenEyck, E. VanDorn, F. Faulks and L. H. Snoden.

—Elegant new signs in the windows of Woolston & Buckle are an exhibit of the excellence of work done by that firm. Their prices on wall-papering and decorating are right.

—The employes of the postoffice are greatly pleased with their new quarters in the Babcock Building. The light and ventilation are much better than in their former quarters.

—Williams & Co. of this city have received the contract for the mason work for A. D. Thompson's new house on Belvidere avenue, where they will begin work as soon as the excavating is completed.

—One of the tank-wagons belonging to Jones & Co. became stranded in the mud on Belvidere avenue yesterday afternoon, but with the aid of four horses and several men they were able presently to proceed on their way.

—W. H. & W. VanWinkle, the Somerset street grocers, kindly remembered the clerks and carriers of the postoffice by presenting them with a fine box of cigars on the evening the postoffice was moved, to soothe them through the weary hours of work.

—Mrs. L. Coles, who took a suite of rooms in the Babcock Building to carry on her dressmaking business, is more than pleased with the amount of custom she has received during the first month, and desires The Press to thank her patrons and friends for the liberal patronage bestowed.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

W. S. Bullock is out again after a severe illness.

D. W. Rogers, an exempt fireman, is recovering from his recent illness.

Lewis DeCamp of Plainfield avenue, after a month of the grip, is out again.

Miss Florence Walker of Boehm's dry-goods house is confined to her home with grip and tonsilitis.

Rev. Chas. E. Scudder of North Plainfield has accepted a call to the Montgomery Street Church, Newark.

Charles H. Schermerhorn, manager of the Western Union office, is confined to his home with an attack of the grip.

Rev. J. P. Taylor has sold his property on East Sixth street near Franklin place, to Dr. S. W. VanDuyn of Newark, through J. T. Vail.

L. W. Serrell contributes a thoughtful article on "The Kingdom and The Church", to The Religious Herald of Richmond, Va.

Miss Margaret Schuck of North Plainfield returned home yesterday after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. J. S. Darby of Alton.

Alfred S. Wilmont of Metuchen, father of C. H. Wilmont of 70 Duer street, died Monday evening. His funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

M. J. Meaney, formerly of this city, has resumed his duties as agent of the Jersey Central at Westfield, after a 40 days absence from work on account of injuries received in a wreck.

John W. Kirkner of West Eighth street is able to be out again after almost two-months confinement with pneumonia. His many friends will be glad to hear of his complete recovery.

I. Winthrop Travell, principal of the High School, has recovered sufficiently from his attack of pneumonia to be about the house again. He hopes to return to his duties in a week or two.

The work of A. B. Clemens, of the Y. M. C. A. Educational Department, was so prominently recognized during the State Convention that he has been offered the assistant State Secretaryship. He is considering the call.

Cards are out announcing the wedding of Matthew Walker and Miss Clara Woldt of Westfield. The marriage will take place Wednesday evening, March 20, at the home of the bride. Mr. Walker was formerly employed by Grocer G. W. Rockfellow, and is now in business for himself in Westfield.

Donation Visit.

Mt. Zion A. M. E. Church was visited last night by about 70, when a committee consisting of Mrs. Jane Scott, Mrs. Carrie Brown, Mrs. Theodore Hooper, Mrs. A. Binn, Miss Logan, Miss Ella Jackson, and Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson of Mt. Olive Baptist Church, gave a handsome donation to Rev. T. A. V. Henry, pastor of Mt. Zion Church. Rev. Mr. Gibson delivered the presentation address, and presented groceries of all kinds. Rev. T. A. V. Henry responded. After serving sandwiches, cake, and coffee, the company dispersed, leaving the table loaded with good things.

Long Time Coming.

During H. A. Weber's term as a member of the Common Council three years ago there was an ordinance passed ordering a crosswalk to be built on Liberty street at the corner of West Second street. During all this time people have been obliged to wade through mud at this location during nasty weather, as the walk has never been built.

More Bowlers.

The woodwork of the Y. M. C. A. bowling alley has been finished, and painters are now finishing the job. The alley will be opened some time next week with a contest between clubs chosen from among the members.

Change in the Library Board.

A. C. Baldwin has resigned from the presidency of the Board of Managers of the Public Library, and Mason W. Tyler was elected president and J. Evarts Tracy vice-president.

Dumb, But Bright.

Frank E. Stover has a massive St. Bernard dog which has been trained to do a number of difficult tricks, such as boxing, wrestling, standing on his head, etc.

CLEVELAND'S

Bread, biscuit and cake raised with

Cleveland's Baking Powder

keep their freshness and flavor.

The reason is, the leavening power of Cleveland's is produced by pure cream of tartar and soda only,—not by alum, ammonia or any other adulterant.

Cleveland's is

"Pure & Sure."

BAKING-POWDER

LIQUIDS can't cure Dyspepsia, neither will drastic griping pills of mercury.

Dr. Deane's

Dyspepsia Pills

will and do. You can get a sample sent you, free for the asking, to prove it. They contain no mercury nor opium. If you have dyspepsia, better send for them.

DR. J. A. DEANE CO.,
Kingston, New York

—Wm. Mullon has lettered handsome signs on the front windows of the new postoffice.

—Miss Nellie Killoran had her right hand crushed by the slamming of a Jersey Central car door yesterday.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

DEATHS.

JOHNSON—In this city March 6 18?5, Mrs. Johnson, of Prescott place, in her 75th year.
Notice of funeral in tomorrow's paper.
GOELLER—In this city March 5, 1895, Willie, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Goeller.
Funeral from his parents' residence, 612 West 3d street, Thursday afternoon, March 7, at 2:30 p. m. Friends and relatives are respectfully invited to attend.

TERRILL & COLE,

Undertakers and Embalmers

200 West 2d street.

Next to Trinity Reformed Church.
First-class livery attached.
Telephone 159. 11 26 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, 1 ct. a word, each insertion. (Less than ten words, ten cents.) Cash must accompany ads.

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan. Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

YOUNG woman skilful at all kinds of sewing would like to engage as regular or extra hand to dressmaker, or would go out as seamstress. Address Clover, care Daily Press. 3 2 tf

FOR SALE—Fresh cow and calf 6 days old; Jersey. 91 Mercer ave., North Plainfield. 3 5 2

AGENTS make $5 daily; marvelous invention; retails 25c; 2 to 6 sold in a house; sample mailed free. Forshee & McMakin, Cincinnati, O. 1 2 y-w WANTED—Situation as coachman, gardener or useful man on gentleman's place; good reference. Adolph Sera, Westfield, N. J.

TO LET—Two small stores or offices on one of the finest corners in the city, with or without stable room for one or more horses; also one flat with six rooms. Inquire of F. Westphal & Son, cor. of West 4th and Liberty st. 3 6 m

WANTED—A young married man to drive a delivery wagon. Address L., care Press 3 6 tf

THE sale of furniture at 34 Sycamore avenue will be continued through Thursday and Friday. 3 6 2

TO LET—3 or 4 rooms for light housekeeping; no children. Apply 103 Duer street. 3 6 tf

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Apply 301 Madison ave

FOR SALE—4 sash with glass 36x46. Inquire 123 West 2d st. 3 6 2

FOR SALE—Piano, diningroom set, hall set, 2 chiffonieres, brass bedstead, odd parlor chairs, servant's set, rugs, etc. Apply Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, 930 Putnam ave. 3 5 2

WANTED—An experienced chambermaid and waitress; references required. 139 East 7th st. 3 5 2

THE Employment Committee of the Organized Aid can recommend several competent women by the day at reduced prices, to supply the place of servants temporarily absent. Competent seamstresses also can be obtained. Apply at office, corner Park and North ave., from 9 to 11 o'clock. 3 4 6

TO LET—2 7-room houses. Inquire 54 Pearl st. 3 4 3

SIX-ROOM flat to let; all improvements. 200 West 2d st. 3 4 tf

WANTED—By an English person, a situation as working housekeeper Please address Priscilla Negus, Bound Brook. 3 2 6

SMALL houses to let, centally located 9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 2 26 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

2 ROOMS to let 25x35 feet each; 104 and 106 Park ave. J. Cory. 2 27 6

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st. 2 7 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 1 30 tf

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night, when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt,

of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,

Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. E. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

Unapproachable

Yes, unapproachable, is the only word truly expressive of the stock and variety of the Embroideries just placed on Peck's Counters.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.

VAN EMBURGH & SON

Have Placed on Sale

1 lot outing flannel at 3½c yard, worth 8c.
1 lot white apron checks at 3c yard, worth 7c.
" " " 6c yard, worth 10c.
" " " 8c yard, worth 15c.
1 lot yard wide bleached muslin at 5c; soft finish.
1 lot fast black SEAMLESS hose 8c worth 15c.

We are still selling Sheeting Muslins at our cut prices. The above goods are displayed in our window.

Corner Store Babcock Building.

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,

Established nearly 60 years.

We sell only high-grade instruments and at as low prices as are charged by many dealers for comparatively worthless ones. Cash or installments.
Warerooms—Babcock Building, Plainfield, N. J. H. C. HADLEY, Manager.

Tuning a Specialty.

Call and secure a copy of the Monthly Musical Guest. 1 23 tf

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

We will refund money on any goods that donot prove entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before you purchase.
Figure up what you can save on the following sample list:

Read Carefully.

The following list of bargains are all Strictly First Quality Goods.

French Peas 16c can	25 cases of French Peas—P. H. LeMarie Nicolle & Co., Petits Pois Moyens No. 1. Special price while they last at 16c can, or $1.80 per dozen.	French Peas 16c can
Mixed Tea 29c lb	Mixed tea good quality our regular 45c grade special 29c pound or 4 pounds for $1	Mixed Tea 29c lb
5c pound	Soda crackers N Y make regular price 9c special 5c pound	5c pound
Tomatoes 6c can	Just received 50 cases more of those leader tomatoes We open these goods for your inspection special 6c can	Tomatoes 6c can

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each	100 doz cups and saucers Tea, breakfast and soup plates at 3c each 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each	3c each
27c each	Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each	27c each
73c each	Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each	73c each
9c each	Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each	9c each

Dry and Fancy Goods Department

10c yard	New Silkaline in very taking patterns, only 10c yard; former price 15c.	10c yard
65c yard	Something new in furniture coverings; silk effects at only 65c; former price 85c.	65c yard
$3.99	Imitation silk damask portieres at only $3 99; good value at $5. A full line of new window draperies at new prices.	$3.99

New Spring Dress Goods.

It will well repay you to call and examine our New Stylish Dress Goods. The Low Prices excel anything we have ever offered.

15 cts	25 dozen ladies stainless hose, full regular made, our own importation, only 15c or two pair for 25c.	15 cts

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.
DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.

Newest spring styles in a great variety of washable fabrics. New and stylish effects in all-wool and silk and wool. The prices are the lowest ever known.

Priestley's Silk Warp blk Henriettas

$1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5. For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

Fanny Crosby Greeted.

The attendance at Reform Hall last evening was very large, and the concert given by Miss Fanny Crosby and Mr. Waldron, under the auspices of the Tem-Aid Society, was very successful.

Rev. Dr. Robert Lowry introduced Miss Crosby and she afforded much pleasure with her recitations, which were very well rendered.

The musical part of the programme, in charge of Mr. Waldron, and rendered by the Symphony, was a marvel and was a delightful feature.

It is sincerely hoped that the entertainment will be repeated at an early date.

Thomas Rafferty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rafferty of Park avenue, is still a great sufferer with rheumatism.

Mrs. S. G. Smith has been unable to go to her mother's bedside in Hartwick as hoped, she herself being still confined to her bed.

Jeremiah Bilyeu of Chatham street was seized with rheumatism about a week ago and since then has been getting worse. Today he was unable to move. He is a member of Post 109.

—The Committee on Educational Work in the Y. M. C. A. held a meeting last night and discussed matters of which it has charge.

—John Weber of Bound Brook, whose hand was crushed in a cornsheller, had three fingers amputated at Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday.

—Two adoptions will be made at the meeting of Iona Council this evening. Reports from the representatives to the Grand Lodge will also be made.

—A one-legged man was about town this morning soliciting alms for the purchase of an artificial leg by presenting a presenting a piece of poetry entitled "The Brakeman's Appeal". He has been here before.

—The central figure in the new play, "She Could n't Marry Three", which appears in Music Hall this week, is a little fisher girl, Bess Brandon, which is played with wonderful fidelity and force by Miss Lillian Kennedy.

—Dore Vroom, the sign writer, is touching up with goldleaf the five elevator frames in the new Babcock Building on West Front street. His work adds materially to the attractiveness of the interior of the new building.

—The water pipes running in the building occupied by Marsh, Ayres & Co., have been frozen for the past two days. Today Supt. Amos Andrews of the Water Company thawed them out and the tenants were thereby made happy.

HOW MR. HUNTINGTON SUCCEEDED.

What He Would Do if He Were Young and Wanted to Make Money.

I asked Mr. Collis P. Huntington, the great railroad magnate, to what he attributed his success in life, and he replied:

"Attention to my own business."

Mr. Huntington was a forty-niner. "I arrived in Sacramento with nothing," he said, "and was glad to get a job in a general store at a very small salary. Our customers were mostly miners. There were three other clerks, who devoted most of their time to running around with the boys. I stuck to the store and gained the confidence of the proprietor. By and by I became a partner, and after that fortune came easily."

"If you had to begin life anew," I asked, "what would you do? What do you regard as the best field for a young man?"

"If I were young and had $100,000," he replied, "I would go at once to the Congo Free State and buy rubber. Over across the mountains you can buy it crude for a cent a pound. To get it down to the coast for shipment you would probably have to pay a cent or two more. The natives will carry it over on their backs for that price. It doesn't cost much to ship it to New York, where you can usually count on about $1 a pound. It's an adventurous sort of business, but I know of nothing that will pay better. I'd be worth a million in ten years if I were a young man and could start with $100,000."

COLLIS P. HUNTINGTON.

"But suppose you did not have the $100,000," I asked.

"Then I'd start with $10,000 and take my chances," he replied.

"But, Mr. Huntington," I said, "it is not every young man that has $10,000. What would you do if you did not have that sum?"

"A young man in this day and generation who does not possess $10,000 had better stay at home and work at something till he gets it," was the answer. "And," he continued, "I guess the only way to get it is to save it."

Mr. Ward McAllister, the social director of the Four Hundred, endeavored to persuade Mr. Huntington to invest in certain stocks in Wall street.

"Mr. McAllister," said the pioneer, "I have made it the rule of my life never to go outside of my own enterprises for investment. They offer me all the opportunities for speculation I need. I do not believe in scattering my resources. If I do not have faith in my own companies, how can I expect others to take stock in them?"

Mr. Huntington's fortune is variously estimated at from $6,000,000 to $20,000,000. He began with nothing.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—What time is it? See Page 8.

—Hebard & Co. have put in a 'phone, 93B.

—A large tree is being cut down at New and Fourth streets.

—Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., will hold a regular meeting this evening.

—A regular meeting of Perseverance Lodge, K. of P., will be held this evening

—Hilton & Hughes of New York now send a delivery wagon regularly to Plainfield.

—"Eight Minutes to Three", a great detective story, by Nym Crinkle, begins in this issue.

—Edward P. Thorn of East Second street has placed a substantial boardwalk in front of his property, about 100 feet.

—Wm. Garen, in advance of Ward & Vokes, was in town yesterday billing the troupe, which is to appear in Music Hall March 13.

—No important business was transacted at the regular weekly meeting of the Street Committee of the Common Council last night.

—Jacob Coee and son yesterday received the contract for slating four new houses of W. A. Weber on West Front street near West End Park.

—A men's service will be held in Grace P. E. Church Friday evening. Rev. E. M. Bodman will make a short address. All men are cordially invited.

—Henry W. Force of New street is today putting in an entirely new front door and entrance to Dr. J. B. Probasco's house on East Front street.

—There was very little business at the North Plainfield registry places yesterday, and a passer-by would scarcely notice anything out of the ordinary.

—Minerva Temple, Bathbone Sisters, will hold a parlor sociable and dance at the residence of Mrs. E. T. Bowman, 232 West Front street, tomorrow evening.

—Through the agency of William Tickstun, a most desirable flat in the Voehl Building on East Front street has been rented to Letter-carrier Robert H. Loughlin.

—The baths at the Y.M.C.A., have been finished, and yesterday some necessary painting was done to complete the job As soon as the paint gets dry they will be opened for use.

—The topic for the First M. E. Church prayer meeting this evening is "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God". The Official Board will hold its monthly session after the prayer meeting.

—At the meeting of the Camera Club last night plans for future work were discussed, but nothing definite was decided on. R. W. Happersett was elected a member of the club.

—In the case of McNabb against Rushmore which came up before Justice Mosher yesterday, judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $107. The case will be appealed.

—A horse belonging to Jacob Coee became frightened at a passing train on Liberty street yesterday afternoon, and did some damage to the wagon but was unable to get away from the driver.

—Four houses at the corner of Grove street and Greenbrook road, owned by Craig A. Marsh, are being thoroughly renovated and put in first-class condition. Wm. Thickstun will have the renting of them.

—Chief Engineer Doane and Justice V. W. Nash appeared before a Legislative Committee in Trenton yesterday against granting a franchise to the Lloyds Insurance Company under conditions which other companies do not enjoy.

—The site of Kenyon's machine works, corner of Richmond and East Third streets, is being cleared and the old structures are being removed. It is the intention of the owner of the property to erect two or three creditable dwellings.

—Division No. 4, A. O. H., will give their twenty-first annual sociable in Gesang and Turn Verein Hall, Monday evening, March 18. The grand march is to begin at 9:30. The committee in charge is J. F. O'Halloran, Michael Regan, Joseph Galbraith, Patrick Regan and Patrick Harrington. Naylor will furnish the music.

After Snow Comes Mud.

Street Commissioner Meeker had a force of men on Park avenue yesterday afternoon scraping the roadway from the surplus mud.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sence of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

Mission Society Meets.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of Grace M. E. Church met last evening at the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Garey, Craig place. Mrs. A. A. Taft gave a select reading to the amusement of all, after which a dialogue was presented by Mary Hoagland, Addie Carney, Tena Voehl and Agnes Morse. Little Miss Mabel Garey closed the programme by a select recitation which was highly enjoyed and showed her careful training. An amusing feature of the evening's entertainment was the donkey party. The usual collection was taken. These home meetings are a pleasant addition to Grace M. E. Church sociability.

Read What the Newark Papers Say About Watson & Co., the Broad and Market St. Clothiers.

$30 Suits now $15. $25 Suits now $12 50
$20 Suits now $10. $18 Suits now $9 00

Black basket suits, gray over plaid suits black demi-nat. worsted suits, black vicuna suits, silver mixed diagonal worsted suits, fancy check worsted suits, dark plaid worsted suits, fancy dark check worsted suits, olive pin check worsted suits, gray mix vicuna suits, blue birdseye worsted suits, honey comb slate worsted suits gray and black cass. suits, blue and black plaid worsted suits, whip cord black worsted suits, mixed diag. worsted suits, homespun plaid suits, blue silk mix worsted suits, gray mix Azeaila suits, black laurel suits, Oxford mix vicuna suits, electric blue diagonal suits, brown checkerboard plaid cass, suits, black and white stripe worsted suits, blue and black check worsted suits, besides hundreds of fancy cassimere and silk mixed suits in very handsome patterns, which you should see before the choicest styles are sold, as they are the finest goods used in the merchant tailoring trade and have been cut by the best custom cutters and made by the finest tailors during the dull season, all now offered at just half the usual prices, as Watson & Co. have so completely overstocked their custom department that they have been compelled to charge over thousands of the choicest patterns to their ready made stock and place the loss where it belongs, but they will probably get back part of it in the future from the great advertisement this half-price sale gives them, and the many new customers they make, who will be permanent ones when they see the elegant garments Watson & Co. can give them all ready to put on or in the third baste to be correctly fitted and finished while they wait. It would be a poor buyer who would think of paying regular prices for clothing when they can go to Watson & Co. and see the handsomest perfect fitting garments in the State at just half the usual rates.—Newark Rem.

Shiloh's cure is sold on a guarantee. It cures incipient consumption; it is the best cough cure, only 1c a dose; 25, 50c, $1. Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root, the great blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the complexion and cures constipation; 25c 50c. $1. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life; I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels; 75c. Sold by all druggists.

MUSIC HALL,

3 Nights Commencing Thursday, March 7

Special return engagement of the sterling soubrette,

Miss Lillian Kennedy,

supported by a strong company of first-class artists, in

SHE COULDN'T MARRY THREE,
A MIDNIGHT FROLIC,
A DAUGHTER OF DIXIE

A succession of beautiful stage pictures. New songs, new dances, new specialties.

Prices 10, 20 30 and 50c. EXTRA—Special matinee Saturday afternoon for ladies and children. Admission 10 and 20c, including reserved seat.

The sign on the windows reads

Woolston & Buckle,

Paper Hangers.

We have had the door hinges and latch oiled up so that getting in is easy. So also is the getting out.

Prices are so low on Wall Papers that you will buy before you go.

Three New Styles.

A Year of Paper Dolls 60c

The Brownies in Paper Dolls 60c

Famous Queens in Paper Dolls 15c.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front st.

5 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a cake of good Toilet Soap 5

perfumed and wrapped, made by the best and biggest soap house in America (whose stamp is a guarantee of excellence). We warrant this a sound, pure soap. 1 cake or 100 at 5c each.

REYNOLDS.

8 CENTS buys at REYNOLDS'S a good Baby's Bottle 8

with pure black rubber nipple, complete and ready for use: Bottle has a wide base, rounded corners, graduated side.

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

Established 1868. Park and North avenues, only.

YES,

That's the way we sell our goods. If anything you buy does not prove satisfactory or you find you do not want it bring it back, your money is ready for you, that's our way.

INTERESTING.

Shirt Bargain.

25 dozen men's outing shirts, manufacturer's samples, worth from $1 to $2 each; our price 69c.

Dress Cambric.

¾ yard wide, fine dress cambric 6c. yd.

Turkish Towels.

Although the Turks did not make them, they are worth 30c. each, our price 19c.

Dress Goods.

54 in. Corset cloth 25 different colorings, value 98c., our price 49c., 50 in. Wool mixtures, we sell 6 yds., 5 yds cambric and 2 yds, selesia, all for $2.39.

Black Dress Goods.

Extra good value is that 45 in. imported serge, our price 45c. value 65c.

Silks.

500 yards of new figured silks 39c. yard.

Kid Gloves.

4 button chamois gloves 79c. 6 button length mosquetaire chamois gloves 79c. 4 button kids fine quality 75c. 5 hook Foster kids 75c.

Hosiery.

Try the double knee and double sole stockings for children, sizes 6 to 8½, price 15c. Extra fine quality hose for ladies 19c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Hot Rolls

of profit at cold prices. Quite an accident happened to us while carrying carpets to our carpet department. 5 rolls tumbled down a flight of stairs; nothing broke but the prices and we are happy to say they broke in half. Not a piece of carpet have we forgot to mark down. If ever you had a chance to buy carpets cheap, this is one that you should grasp. A bare floor is as bad as a bare head. These are only a few of our many specials.

53c..Brussels carpet handsome patterns..53c
69c.....Brussels carpet worth 85c.....69c
29c.....Ingrain carpet worth 45c.....29c

Mattings

15 rolls of 17c matting 12½—by roll 10c.
13 " 20c " 10c " 15c.
10 " 35c " 25c " 20c.

Oil Cloths

In this line we have the best selection and lowest prices of any house in the city.

Ladies' Separate Skirts

Crepon skirts $4 25—worth $6
Black serge skirts $3 75—worth $5
Cloth skirts, all sizes, $2 49, worth $3 50
Just received an elegant line of Spring Capes in b'ack, blue and tan at $1.25. This price for a short time only.

Infants' Long Robes

$1 25 will buy a $1 65 robe, nicely trimmed.
$1 45 " $2 robe, handsomely made.
$2 00 " $2 65 robe, Valenciennes lace trimming.

Housefurnishing Goods Department.

Sorry you did not get one of our lamps last week, but this week we have a sale on Brooms and Wash Boards. For one week we will give you
A 20c Broom for 11c.
A 23c Wash Board for 12c.
and bargains in any article that you can think of in this department.

Dress Goods

We still lead with our goods on the top of the ladder.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

A. W. BAKER, 206 Park Ave. B. C. YOUNG, 337 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young,

Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 2 m

NAPOLEON

Monographs on the Man of Destiny

A Series of Original and Interesting Studies

—BY—

JOHN CLARK RIDPATH

THE HISTORIAN

Read Them in This Paper

They Are Published Saturdays.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,

for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.

The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.

Corner Park avenue and Front street.

If you don't want a BARGAIN Don't read this.

Extra fine creamery butter 21c pound.
5 pounds for $1.00.
Fresh country roll butter 18c pound
6 pounds for $1.00.
Extra Vineland sweet potatoes 50c per basket.
2 pounds creamery cheese, extra fine, for 23c.

AT FULPER'S.

There Are Others

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

PHOENIX.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. special are leaders.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,

177 North avenue.

2 25 3m

New Lines of Dinner Sets,

Rich Cut Glass, White China for decoration, Fancy Flower Pots

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

"THE POET'S CONFESSION."

With my nose to the grindstone of duty,
I sing you a song for a fee,
And though it may not be a beauty,
'Twill make little matter to me.
For I sing for the sake of the money,
And not for the sake of the art,
And though the song may not be funny,
'Twill still make an editor "part."

I will stir you to amorous passion,
Though chaste as Diana myself;
Or I'll bawl in the patriot's fashion—
'Tis purely a question of pelf.
I will e'en sing a hymn if you're willing,
Devoutly as any divine,
And the charge by the line is a shilling—
'Tis cheap at a shilling a line.

When I write about wine I am witty,
But wittier still, as I think,
When I knock off a temperance ditty
In order to pay for a drink.
I can sing of the joys of the "beano,"
I can sing of the choir boy who died;
Though at these I am not very keen-o,
Still I'm certain I could if I tried.

So give me your poetical order,
You have not a moment to lose;
You will find me a faithful recorder
Of any emotion you choose.
With my nose to the grindstone of duty,
I'll turn the thing out in a trice,
And if it should not be a beauty,
Well, that's the result of the price.
—Judy.

PERFECTION OF THE LOCOMOTIVE.

The Vast Improvement Secured By the Specialization of Work.

Twenty-five years ago it was generally assumed that no man could become a first class locomotive engineer until he had passed years in the great repair shops of the country. A young man not only served a long probation as a fireman, but, under the rules of the great railroad systems, he was also compelled to serve an apprenticeship in the shops.

There has been a great change in the manner of selecting engineers in the past twenty years. It is no longer considered absolutely necessary that men should subject themselves to the training of former days. William Buchanan, Master Mechanic of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, who has been connected with the company since 1847, and continuously employed in the machinery department, says that the chief requisites are sobriety, coolness, good judgment and a thorough knowledge of the road.

Few men not in the employ of the line are appointed as engineers. They are not required to serve an apprenticeship in the machine shop, principally because of late years men have become specialists. The company in the first years of its existence had eight repair shops, whereas now, with its increased traffic and larger equipment, two are amply sufficient. In centralizing the work the company has saved time and money, and now has in its employ a corps of tried men. Years ago, in case of an accident to any particular part of the machinery of a locomotive, it was practically impossible to locate the responsibility. Under the present system such accidents, if due to defects, are readily traced to the workman responsible.

For instance, if an engine slips an eccentric, the machinist who does nothing else the year round but attend to this particular part of the machinery is at once located, and is reprimanded if in any way at fault. Men are employed whose exclusive duty is setting out the packing for the valves. Others devote their entire time to setting valves. Another man does nothing but file journal brasses for axle bearings. Another pays his attention exclusively to perfecting and polishing piston rods. To illustrate the nicety to which the system has been brought may be cited the exactness observed in fitting the boxes or journals of the driving wheels. Two men are required in this work. One works on the right hand journal, the other on the left hand side and at the other end of the axle, and they are never permitted to reverse their positions.

This method of systematic work applies to every part of the great machines. As a result Mr. Buchanan drew attention to the performance of engine 870. This is known as the record breaker of the road. On March 26, 1893, it came from the shop, entirely new and practically untried, and on April 2, 1894, it was placed in the shop for repairs. It had been 370 days in service, ten days of which time it had been idle. During the remaining 360 days it doubled the road every day between New York and Albany, making 360 round trips without a break, its total aggregating 105,866 miles. In all that time, during which it pulled the Empire Express, it lost only forty minutes by reason of any defect in its machinery, ten minutes because of a broken follower rod, and thirty minutes on account of a slight difficulty with the whistle.

THE GREAT AMERICAN.

A Southern Editor's Tribute to the Memory of Abraham Lincoln.

It will not be regarded as rank treason on this, his natal day, in this generation, to publish of him in a Southern community that he was a great and good man. He measured up to the work he was called on to do, and when he turned to obey the final summons he had written his name among the immortals.

He held to the belief that he was elected president of the whole country as it existed when he was elected, and should see that the laws of the Union were faithfully executed in all the States. This was the pivotal idea of the war for the preservation of the Union. It was peculiarly and emphatically Lincoln's idea, and how well it prevailed let history tell.

With the lapse of time has come to us a clearer vision and broader views, and we have come to recognize him as one of the earth's great ones, whose laurel laden brow, made for the morning, drooped not in the night.—Fredericksburg Free Lance.

Bismarck's Wit.

When he was a young man Bismarck was for some time an official reporter for one of the courts of justice. In those days his temper sometimes got the better of him, but upon one occasion at least his wit saved him from disgrace. This was, when questioning a witness, the latter made an impudent retort, whereupon Bismarck exclaimed angrily:

"If you are not more respectful I shall kick you out of the room."

"Young man," said the judge, interrupting the proceedings, "I would have you understand that this is a dignified court of justice, and that if there is any kicking to be done the court will do it."

"Ah, you see," said Bismarck to the witness, "if you are not more respectful to me the court will kick you out of the room. So be careful, very careful, sir."—Scottish Nights.

BRITISH WAKING UP.

AMERICAN IDEAS ADOPTED AT LAST ON ENGLISH RAILWAYS.

Vestibuled Trains, Dining Coaches, Sleepers, and Steam Heat Among the Improvements Made In the Last Five Years.

Railway traveling in Great Britain has improved remarkably in comfort and convenience in the last two or three years, and the improvement has been accomplished largely, almost entirely, by the adoption of American models and ideas. In that short period there have been radical changes in English railway methods, and a complete abandonment of the principal peculiarities that have so long made English railways unique in their particular discomforts and inconveniences. There has been a sudden swing from the old fogeyism which dominated English railway management from the time railways began, and resisted all advancement except in the old grooves, to a modern and American like willingness for innovation and experiment. The changes have all been made by the leading railways, and on similar lines, so that an American visiting England after an absence of a little more than two years, finds the railway system revolutionized.

The most notable changes have been the adoption of the American car model, of the American system of dining cars and sleeping cars, the American system of heating cars in winter, lavatories on trains, and the American system of baggage checking. None of these things was known on British railways five years ago, or in the rudimentary stage. The greatest change of all has been the introduction of what the English call the "corridor train," which is simply a train of cars having an aisle running through on the American plan. From the first invention of railroading the British coaches have been divided in compartments entered by a door at either side. They were in reality merely an extension of the stage coach idea, being a number of coaches joined together. Every one knows the discomforts and dangers of being locked in these stuffy compartments during a continuous ride of maybe two or three hours. Yet no argument in favor of the American car would be listened to. And, indeed, American cars pure and simple, are not in favor to-day, though they have been tried on one or two English lines. But the corridor trains are an embodiment of the American idea, with a concession to the English love of solitude and seclusion.

As much as twenty years ago Pullman cars were introduced into England, and have been run on a few trains of one or two roads ever since; but they have never been popular, and have been used mainly by Americans and other foreigners. The English people prefer the single compartment, and will pay much more to have one compartment reserved for two or three persons than for seats in a parlor car, with all its comforts of freedom of movement and privileges of smoking and reading rooms. The new corridor car retains the seclusive feature of the compartment. Pullman dining and sleeping cars have also been tried, but with indifferent success, so far as the English travelers are concerned. The "wholesale herding together" is the objection. One company had a number of third class cars built on the American model, but even the third-class passengers wouldn't ride in them, and they had to be reconstructed.

The corridor coaches differ slightly in construction on different railways. They are only used yet on the principal through trains between the chief cities of the kingdom, as between London and Glasgow or Edinburg or on the southern routes for the Continent. The two classes, first and third, are still retained, and are likely to remain. The second class has been abolished in recent years. The new coaches look almost exactly like ordinary American cars from the outside. They average sixty feet in length, run on 2 bogie trucks, and are connected at the ends by vestibuled platforms; but instead of being entirely open inside, with a gangway down the middle, they are divided into compartments, and a passageway runs along one side of the car. All the compartments open into this corridor, and thus communication is obtained from each compartment through the length of the train.

Each first class compartment seats four persons, two on a side, and each third class compartment is made to seat six persons. There are in each car one compartment for smoking, one reserved for women and children, a lavatory for men and one for women. There is also a small compartment in the middle of some cars intended for storing the hand baggage of passengers. The compartments are accessible from the exterior of the car by single doors, as well as through the corridor, which itself has doors along its length to permit of speedy ingress and egress. The windows of the corridor are extra large and afford excellent facilities for seeing the scenery. Cars of similar design are in use on some Continental railways, but the English newspapers give full credit to the "American idea" of their cars. They say that these compartment corridor carriages give all the safety and convenience of the American car, with many added comforts and conveniences. All the cars of both classes are handsomely finished and upholstered.

He Can Sympathize With the Hen.

Wm. Godson has given up his attempt to sit in a chair perfectly quiet for twelve consecutive hours for seven days, and loses a bet of $100. When he left the chair last night at midnight he was pretty well played out. His limbs were swollen and it was painful for him to move his arms and neck. His eyes were badly strained and he presented a worn out appearance. He sent word to his backer that he was more dead than alive; in fact, he is now under a doctor. He stood the test for five days, making sixty hours.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Woman's Sphere the Household.

Dr. Louise Fiske Bryson believes in domesticity as woman's proper sphere. "It's what she is best fitted for physically, mentally and morally," she says. "It is an unfortunate necessity that she is ever obliged to resort to any other sort of work. In fact, I have no patience with any woman who grudges her house and home duties. Such a one has everything and doesn't know it. She deserves a good trouncing."

Explaining the Poor Water.

Stranger—Why don't your city officials supply you with better water?

Resident (apologetically)—Well, you see, most of them sell beer.—Tid-Bits.

VOUDOOISM IN NEW YORK.

An Old Negro Doctor Comes to Grief Through White Patients.

"Dr." Bijah Bass, an old negro, whose hair is white and who looks weird and uncanny, runs an alleged drug store in New York. When west side colored folk want to buy rabbits' feet they go to the doctor, and if they are unlucky at policy he sells them potions and charms that he guarantees will make them put their money on winning numbers. In the summer time he climbs up the steep Palisades by moonlight and gathers herbs, of which he makes never failing remedies.

Beside healing wounds, the colored scientist can bring together lovers who have separated, find lost and wayward sons and daughters, mutter strange gibberish and obtain political appointments for his customers and warm over chilled hearts—at least, he says he can do all these things and enough believe him to provide him with a comfortable living.

Stella Harvey is young and pretty, but for some reason her sweetheart deserted her for another. She heard of Dr. Bijah Bass and went and asked him how much he would charge for a spell that would cause the lover to repent and return.

"How long had he been engaged to you?" inquired the necromancer.

"Three months," she replied.

"That makes it a little hard," said the magician, doubtfully, "on account of the juxtaposition of the planet Mars. However, I will consult Saturn and Jupiter about it and maybe I can fix 'em."

Then he showed her a big telescope and threw into the fire a powder made of dried snails and capsicum. After that he put on a silk cap, waved a large wand, charged her $5 and told her to call again. She had only $2 with her and this the wizard accepted, making some exclamations in a strange tongue, beating the wall with his wand and then hiding the money in his left shoe.

The love sick girl waited upon him again, and he told her that he had gone over the ground with his friends Saturn and Jupiter and that they had guaranteed to find the lost youth. They said that they were scouring the east side for him, and that when they got his address she must go to his house, wearing a blue vail, and strew a powder round him. Then at once he would forget that he had ever loved any one else.

The learned mountebank gave her six brown powders, one of which she had to take every night out of a blue glass. After absorbing a powder she must go down on her knees and repeat a prayer which he wrote down for her. On rising in the morning he said she must write down her dreams in blue ink and give them to him. Then he would see his friends Saturn and Jupiter and talk it over with them, and find out what the dreams indicated. With the written dreams she must bring a new bottle of red ink and a new pen, together, of course, with the balance of $3.

The doctor said that he would dream also, and after adding his dream to hers the sum of the two would provide him with a working basis. From this, with the aid of his fellow conspirators, Jupiter and Saturn, he would arrive at all sorts of valuable conclusions. But, above all, she must not forget that $3, of which $1 went to Jupiter's New York agent and $1 to the stool pigeon of Saturn.

Unfortunately for the necromancer he overdid his part. He burned a powder, and, going into a trance, exclaimed: "I see him. He has a black mustache. He'll be back to you next week. How about that $3?"

"It isn't him!" cried Miss Stella. "My young fellow has a red beard."

"That's all right," replied the wizard, nonchalantly. "He's cut off his beard and dyed his mustache."

"'Tain't no such thing," the customer said, indignantly. "You're a fraud. Give me back my $2. I took your old powders and didn't dream at all. You're a swindler."

"Mind who you're talking to," yelled the enraged necromancer, "or I'll make horns grow on your head."

Thoroughly awed by this Miss Harvey ran out of the house. Then her doubts got the better of her fears, and she went and asked the sergeant of the police station if she could put the law on a man for making horns grow out of her head. He wasn't quite sure and referred her to the captain, who soon elicited the whole story, and the wizard doctor and his den of magic were raided.

CATHOLIC CHURCH STATISTICS.

Present Condition of the Church in This Country. Increase During 1894.

According to the statistics of the Catholic Church in the United States, as furnished by the official Catholic directory, the membership of the church in this country increased 175,832 during the year 1894. The figures furnished by the chancellors of the various dioceses show that the Catholic population of the United States is 9 077,856. In the whole country there are 17 archbishops, 75 bishops, 10,053 priests, 5,659 churches with resident pastors, 3,650 missions with churches, making 9,309 churches in all; 5,194 stations and chapels, 9 universities, 28 seminaries for secular students, with 2,129 students, 77 seminaries of the religious orders, such as the Jesuits, Franciscans, etc., with 1,474 students, 182 high schools for boys, 609 high schools for girls, 3,731 parochial schools with 775,070 pupils, 239 orphan asylums sheltering 30,867 orphans, 821 charitable institutions. The total number of children in Catholic institutions is 918,207.

These figures, compared with the figures for the previous year, show the following increases: Priests, 236; churches, 580; university, 1; secular seminaries, 3; regular seminaries, 16; children attending parochial schools, 10,000; charitable institutions, 88; children cared for in charitable institutions, 5,685.

An Affectionate Mother.

"The most affectionate mother I ever knew," said Col. Goslington, "and I believe all mothers are affectionate, is the wife of my young nephew, Claude Goslington. When their young child was sick its mother took its medicine for it. It was some sort of bitter medicine, and when it came time to take it the child said: 'I can't take that; 's nasty!' 'Well, 'oo needn't take it, Regie; mamma will take it for 'oo.' And she did, and thereafter at the appointed times she took Regie's medicine for him regularly. Regie got well, notwithstanding that he didn't get his medicine; but what child could stay long sick with such a mother as that?"

"B'gosh," said Farmer Corntossel, as he walked out of the depot. "I never git ter town without bein' bit somehow. Fust it's bunko, then it's a gold brick, an' now, by hokey, I'm frostbit."—Washington Star.

Fame,

When founded on merit, never ceases to grow, both in extent and in solidity.

Allcock's Porous Plaster

is more popular to-day than ever before, because it does what is claimed for it—relieves and cures pains in the side, chest or limbs, lame back, rheumatism, etc.

Insist Upon Having the genuine Allcock's. No other plaster is nearly so good.

Allcock's Corn Shields,
Allcock's Bunion Shields,
Have no equal as a relief and cure for corns and bunions.

Brandreth's Pills.

One or two at night, for a week or two, tone up the system.

11 16y-m w f

Treasury Department.

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1895.

Whereas, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882,

Now, therefore, I, James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business on March 1, 1915.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, 1895.

JAMES H. ECKELS,
Comptroller of the Currency.

2 4 30

READY TO PAINT.

Before you put on paint see that the article you put on is what it is represented. It is poor economy, indeed, to put on a mixture of burnt clays and kerosene. Come to us and get the best.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,

141 East Front st.

Tel. 29B Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.

Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

Opp Roberts's Livery 132 North Ave

H. DeMOTT,

With livery attached,
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,
175 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 92 y

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET,

(Estate D. I. Smalley.)

94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.

GEO. EGEL, Manager.

We sell only first-class goods, at low prices, for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 10 t

HENRY C. ADAMS.

INSURANCE.

Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

J. W. VAN SICKLE,

Dealer in all kinds of

Fresh and Salt Meats

GAME IN SEASON.

New No. 122., North Ave., Plainfield.

Telephone 148 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

MOSLER SAFE CO.,

contractors to the United States Government

Mosler Patent Safes,

(fire and burglar-proof) in general use

All Over the World.

Lowest prices. Special attention and information given by

S. W. CLARK,

General Agent,
118 West 5th st., Plainfield. N. J.

Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

J. C. POPE & CO.,

Insurance Agents,

NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET

Plainfield, N. J.

Granite Iron Ware.

Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.

Stoves at reduced prices.

Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-iron Work.

Plumbing and Heater Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

119 East Front St.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Jan 20, 1895, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

FAST LINE leaves Philadelphia 12 25 p m daily with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars for Pittsburg, Northern and Eastern Pennsylvania.

6.37 p. m. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.04 p.m.—SOUTH WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

8 40 p. m.—PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping cars, daily, for Pittsburg, Columbus, Chicago, and Toledo, daily, except Saturday for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00 9.06, 9.36 a. m., 9.39 p. m.

Sundays, 1, 9 05, 9 36 a. m., 9 41 p m.

For Baltimore only 1 37 p. m., week-days.

For Newark and New York—3 02, 4 04, 5 46, 6 17, 6 45, 7 07 7 20, 7 45, 7 57, 8 06, 8 28, 8 32, 8 47, 9 17, 9 41, 9 48, 10 20, 10 38, 10 48, 11 07, 11 48 a. m., 1 15, 1 20, 1 56, 2 24, 2 40, 3 46, 3 57, 4 47, 5 42, 5 55, 6 28, 6 42, 6 56, 7 27, 7 45, 8 28, 9 07, 9 26 9 56, p. m. 9 10, 9 50, 10 08 11 03 and 11 56 p. m.

Sundays 2 02, 4 04, 7 56, 8 46, 9 20, 9 47, 10 12, 10 20, 10 49 a. m., 12 26, 1 44, 2 28, 2 45, 3 45, 4 28, 4 54, 5 47, 7 05, 7 12, 7 25, 7 56, 8 20 9 15, 10 16, 11 46 and 11 56 p. m.

For New York only, 6 10 a. m. daily.

For Philadelphia—1 07, 4 07, 7 10, 9 05, 9 36, 11 43 a. m., 1 06, 1 37, 3 32, 5 09, 6 26 7 25, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 06, 9 39, 9 06, 9 36, 10 42 A. M., 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

(2 25p.m. with through Buffet parlor car) Sundays 6 50 a. m.

Cape May Sea Isle City and Ocean City 1 37 p. m. weekdays.

For Bahway—1, 1 43 daily ex. Monday, 4 08, 6 44, 7 10, 7 59, 8 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 30, 11 40, a. m., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 48 3 20, 3 29, 5 59, 4 39, 4 53, 5 22, 5 50, 6 06 6 12, 6 17, 6 27, 6 45, 6 52, 6 59, 7 20, 7 46, 8 14, 8 55, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 1 43, 8 59, 9 45, 9 49, 10 28 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 2 47, 3 28, 4 50, 5 20, 5 40, 7 21, 7 27, 7 47, 8 14, 8 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05 9 36, 9 50, 11 43 a. m., 12 35, 1 27, 2 48, 3 50, 4 32, 5 06, 5 40, 6 06, 6 45, 7 46, 9 20 and 11 09 p. m. Sundays, 1 00, 5 39, 9 05, 9 36 9 49, 10 41 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 3 40, 7 47, 9 16, 9 41 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 59 a. m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, and 7 20 9 54 p m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 43, 10 28, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For Perth Amboy—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 59, 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, 7 20 7 56 9 54 and 12 27. Sundays, 1 43 10 28, 11 47 a m 10 14 p m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 35, 2 48 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 36, 11 43 A. M.; 1 06, 1 37, 2 48, 5 06, 5 26, 7 46, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 9 06 9 36 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M., 2 48 and 6 36 p. m., and 5 40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 48 P. M.

For Freehold—7 59, 11 43 a. m., 4 36, 5 06 p.m., via. Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via. Monmouth Junction—7 59 and 11 43 a. m., 4 36 and 5 06 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 6 19 6 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 25 a. m., and 6 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Sea Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p m.

For Boston—3 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 6 30, 7 20, 8 10, 8 30, 9, 9 10, 10 10, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 10, 12 30 12 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 20, 4 00, 4 20, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 5 50, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 40, 7 00, 7 30, 9 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 12 night. Sundays, 1 00 6 15, 8, 9 00, 9 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 2 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 6 30, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 15, 11 00 p. m., and 12 15 night.

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager
J. R. WOOD Gen. Pass. Agent

Spring,

Housecleaning,

WALL PAPER

Do you know spring is near? Well you'll need Wall Paper for the room and Paint, Oil and Brushes to make your home sweet and clean after the long cold winter.

Fine lot of Paper for 1895 that will please the most fastidious.

Of course there is only one place to get these things if you want the

Best and Cheapest,

and that place is on the corner of

North and Watchung Aves.

LOVE'S?

Yes!

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS,

30 PARK AVE.

He Manufactures Them

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.

—30.—

BUT FULL VALUE.

O. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging.
27 Chatham street.

MONEY LOANED.

Local Representatives Wanted.

Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors, with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m.

H. Eggerding,

121 PARK AVENUE.

Manufacturer of the celebrated

C. O. D. CIGAR

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 9tf

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect, Nov. 18, 1894.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 18, 5 37, 6 32, 6 50, 7 30, 8 00, 7 50, 7 00, 7 30, 8 18, 8 37, 9 51, 8 46, 9 33, 10 06, 10 37 11 19, A. M., 12 06, 1 18, 2 07, 3 00, 3 13, 3 44, 4 10, 5 04, 6 04, 7 07, 8 20, 9 38, 10 17, 11 16 P. M. Sunday—2 34, 3 37, 5 03, 5 47, 7 09, 10 04, 11 31 A. M., 12 32, 1 45, 7 00, 8 28, 9 32, 9 11, 9 32, 10 17 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street 4 30, 6 00, 7 10, 8 40, 9 10, 10, 11 45, P. M., 1 30, 2 00, 3 00, 3 45, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 30, except Saturday, 6 00 6 45, 6 50, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10 15, 11 30 P. M. 12 15, 1, night. Sunday—4 00, 7 10, 8 30, 9 15, A. M., 12 M., 1, 3 15, 6 00, 7, 8 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 30 night. 1 a. m.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 6 39, 8 10, 8 39, 7 36, 9 05, 4, 5 44 9 22, 10 04, 10 57, 2. M., 12 06 1 15, 2 07, 2 30, 3 19, 3 31, 4 30, 5 04, 5 44, 6 04, 7 09, 8 00, 10 12 11 38 P. M. Sunday—8 07, 8 52, 10 08, 11 38, A. M 12 37, 1 45, 3 20, 5 30, 7 13, 8 37, 9 13, 10 17 P. M.

Leave Newark 6 15, 7 15, 7 55, 8 30, 9 08, 10 00, 11 30 A.M., 1 15, 1 55, 3 30 Saturday only, 3 55, 4 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 04, 6 34, 8 10, 8 20, 9 10, 10 00, 11 30 P.M. Sunday—7 20, 8 44, 9 25, 10 15, A. M., 1 10, 2 20, 4 10, 5 40, 7 20, 9 25, 10 30 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

"LAIDLEY DAN SOMERVILLE."

Leave Plainfield 5 48, 7 10, 9 16, 9 54, 11 a.m., 12 05 2 05, 3 20, 4 45, 5 06, 5 30, 6 14, 8 54, 6 04, 9 10, 9 37, 11 54 8 21, 10 56, 11 23, P. M. 12 30 night Sunday—5 48, 8 30 9 04, A.M., 9 05, 3 20, 5 14, 6 30, 10 16, 11 14 P.M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 7 55, 7 45, 8 20, 9 05, 9 48, 11 40 A. M., 12 50, 1 45, 3 05, 3 25, 4 20, 5 20, 6 18, 6 47, 8 48, 11 05, P. M. Sunday 8 25, 9 45, 10 55 A. M., 12 05, 1 20 5 05, 6 45, 8 05, 9 05, 9 402. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON

Leave Plainfield 6 48, 8 16, 9 54, A.M., 12 46, 3 03, 5 05, 5 16, 6 38, 9 21 P. M. Sunday—5 46, 9 30 A. M., 3 05, 6 05, P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 7 00, 8 53, A.M., 12 37, 4 04, 7 05 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M. 6 40, 7 30, P. M

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 54, a. m., 5 05 p.m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

8 48 A. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport and Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m. for stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

9 16 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge branch D L & W R R, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Hanticoke, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

3 08 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Sunbury and Williamsport, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton. Buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk.

5 05 P. m., way for Easton, connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge branch

6 14 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Mauch Chunk Shamokin and Tamaqua, Buffet parlor car to Scranton.

6 19 P. M. for Flemington.

8 38 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading and Harrisburg.

8 21 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

8 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton, 8 26 a.m. Sundays for Easton, 9 08 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Reading and Harrisburg, 6.35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

For Atlantic City, 8 37 a. m. 1 18 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c

Leave Plainfield 8 37, 8, 10 27, a. m 1.18, 3 51, 5 54, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove 8 53, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 8 37, 8 53, 8 10 27 a. m. 1 18, 3 51, 4 50, 5.54, 7 08 p.m. Sunday—8 53 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold, 8 37, 8, 10 27 a.m., 1 18, 3 51, 4 50, 5.54 p.m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 45, 7 45 9 48, 10 45, a. m., 2 08*, 5 54* 6 8 21, 9 37* p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—5 45, 9 04 a. m., 2 08*, 5 14*, 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Trenton 5 45, 8 44, 9 40*, 10 45, a. m., 12 40, 2 08*, 5 54*, 6 30*, 8 21, 9 37* p.m., 1 12 night, Sunday—5 45, 9 04, a. m., 2 08*, 5 14* 6 45 p. m., 1 12 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 5 45, a. m. 2 08, 5 54* 6 45 p. m. 1 12, night. Sundays—9 48 a. m., 2 08, 5 14* 6 45 p.m. 1 12, night.

For Chattanooga, New Orleans and all points south with through vestibule sleeper, via Shenandoah Valley Route at 5 34 p m. Sundays 1 15 p m.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points west, week days at 9 54 a m., 8 22 p. m. Sundays 6 35 p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA, Reading terminal, 4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 11 35 a.m., 1 20 3 35 5 18, 8 04, 8 26 p.m. 12 10, night. Sundays—4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 12 35 a. m., 3 50, 6 05, 8 25 p. m., 12 10 night.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 55, 7 58, 9 21, 11 19 a.m. 2 40, 6 12, 8 10, 11 45 p. m. Sunday—3 55, 7 58, 12 19 p m, 3 30, 6 12, 8 10, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 05 6 58, 9 06, 10 25, a.m. 12 15*, 3 10, 4 29*, 5 54, 9 01 p.m. Sundays—1 00, 6 58, 9 06, 10 27 a. m. 1 15*, 4 25 6 48*, 9 03 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rate may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Sup't.
H P. BALDWIN. Gen. Pass. Agt.,

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

H. Hand,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER.

15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Residence and postoffice address
SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.

Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

L. L. MANNING.

Marble and Granite Works

Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

Of course it is nonsense to spend your money

For Wall Paper

Unless you get your money's worth. We claim to have the finest line of new patterns in the city. If so you ought to buy here.

WOOLSTON & BUCKLE,

141 and 145 North avenue.

IF YOU WANT ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

PIANO BARGAINS.

Vanderbeek & Sattels

desire to say that they have just received a fine lot of

New Pianos

of different makes which they will sell at prices never before offered. Among them are those wonderful

Behr Brothers Pianos

Also Behning & Sons.

They represent also the Knabe, Hazelton, Chickering and many others.

They offer an excellent

Steinway Grand, $350.

A great bargain. Call soon at

221 PARK AVENUE.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must faily be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
3 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

MY COUSIN MARY.

It was my sad fortune from earliest childhood up to be a failure in all ways. I was not so handsome as could have been expected in the son of my beautiful mother and the young father who died before I was born and who was also beautiful, I was told. I was not brilliant, though both sides of the house showed men and women of excellent ability; and, worst of all, I was not good, though this puzzled me not a little as a child, for my intentions were of a magnificent order and the resultant behavior not nearly so reprehensible as that of many boys I knew, less punished.

But in some way the things I meant to do failed of accomplishment or were found when accomplished to have most unhappy consequences; and the things I did under pressure of discipline were seldom satisfactory.

Years of reproof and often overheard complaint as to my trying disposition finally convinced me of my unworthiness and in time I grew to look at my life as a failure, merely an opportunity for as much self indulgence as could be procured without too great expense.

Being of a lazy and luxurious disposition, I only fell into the habit of deriving an inexhaustible fund of pleasure from mere imagination of what things might be, to console myself for my ineffectual struggle to make them such. As a little boy I was sent to bed with military precision by my inflexible mother, usually with a sense of failure and illdoing in the day behind me and I used to lie mute and still in my little chamber and make up to myself in royal bursts of imagination for the disappointments of the real life. How often, so laid, and thought to be sound asleep, I have, in spirit, not only established my pre-eminent virtues by a series of noble acts—so easy to imagine, so difficult to perform in the gray irksomeness of every day life—but besides this have I glutted my infant soul with the sweet vengeance of magnanimity; arranging unparalleled donations and privileges to be conferred by me, me the lamentable and unworthy son, upon my grateful family and friends. One sweetest joy of these fair dreams was that when I should be a man my cousin Mary, who disliked me for the disagreeable boy I was, should love and marry me.

It was a sore problem with me in those days to decide whether I should indeed receive the open gratitude of my beneficiaries, reveling gloriously therein, or whether, proudest height of power concealed, I should bestow all benefits in secret and yet remain condemned and criticised by the unwitting recipients of my bounty. But my cousin Mary in these dreams always loved me for myself alone, and then—afterward—ah! the jewels I showered upon her!

This habit of internally satisfying myself, of paying back in triumphant magnanimity for all "the stings and arrows of outrageous fortune" continued with me as I grew, and remained my best consolation after I had become an unaspiring reporter on a great newspaper. And still in my solitary chamber downtown, when I was not so tired as to sleep perforce in what hours remained to me, I would console myself for all the mortifications of the day and of all other days in my unhappy memory by proud, unhampered visions of what I would do under given conditions of wealth and power.

Splendid conditions these, so easily imagined, fitting so smoothly to my shoulders as I planned and adopted them, but ah! so laughably impossible of attainment!

And then all at once, by a chance no stranger to be sure than many a one I was in the daily habit of recording, there fell into my hands, not talent and beauty and power, indeed, as I had demanded in my boyish dreams, but wealth practically unbounded, such wealth as I could never of myself have earned or won or found, or in any least or faintest way deserved.

To be sure, I had been laying myself out on the old fellow, as I should never have dared to do had I known him for a millionaire, but that was not from benevolence, but a purely selfish appreciation of his boundless fund of travel and experience. His society was worth money to me besides the pleasure of it and therefore did I court him assiduously, with many an entertainment and excursion, which again were no credit to my generosity, for had I not the interminable tickets and passes and the duty of going to all these weary things?—a duty much lightened by the society of the lounging, invalid old gentleman, whom I supposed no richer than myself.

I told him my story, such as it was, and I am fain to think that some subtle sympathy, some consciousness of a similar experience in his own boyhood made him take more of an interest than I then suspected in this poor series of failures I called my life.

Then he died very suddenly and serenely, leaving me some unbelievable millions; and as no one but his solicitor knew that he had any money, so no one knew that I had any; and behold me forthwith in exactly the position of my childish heart's desire!

What joy! What wild, free rapture of plans, with occasional bursts of fancy which even I dismissed as quite untenable. For instance, I had no longer any faintest hope of marrying my Cousin Mary. She was quite taken up with another cousin, Fred by name, and would have married him long since, no doubt, had he been able to support a family. But he was proud and would not marry until he could offer something to his wife. I knew that, for he had told me so.

However, it was now my delicious fate to arrange matters for these two so that they should be able to marry, neither knowing how it had come about nor in the least corner of their hearts suspecting me. Then with what swelling pride should I look upon their happiness and know that I had given it—I, who so far had given only trouble and mortification to my family!

It was an easy matter to make my mother's last years comfortable; and ah! the pleasure, the selfish pride I took in remembering small personal wishes and gratifying them bit by bit, while never suspected!

It was an easy matter, too, through my agent, to buy the paper on which I wrote, to slowly dismiss the men who were a disgrace to it, to promote and engage men whose work made it a great voice soon, and through it slowly to win the public confidence and work my will, little by little, among the affairs of the city. Such a splendid game it was to arouse public enthusiasm over free baths, or some children's playground scheme or other, to start subscription lists and covertly head them myself; to machinate safely and quietly through my great pages and all the while having my copy refused half the time, and the other fellows wondering how I kept my place.

All this and much more was easy and exciting; more of a triumph and a joy even than I had ever imagined it would be; but my pet scheme of schemes hung fire a little. Fred got his new position in a perfectly natural manner; he was a good fellow and deserved it. Still there was no sign of an engagement between him and my cousin Mary. Then I thought, being an independent girl, she might be waiting to have something of her own; and after as pretty a bit of finesse as I ever saw in my life—it was my own invention, and small wonder, for had I not schemed at such pleasant miracles since I was 8 years old?—I managed to provide her with a neat little fortune of her own. Still no result. So one day when I was at home—I did not go often, for mother would always lecture me on my habits, and somehow I never could entirely get over the hurt of it, big as I was—I chanced to go alone with my Cousin Mary for as much of an evening as she would be willing to bear my company.

I felt very happy to see how beautifully she was dressed in these days, how her hands were white already, and grown smooth again where the delicate fingers used to be rough with countless needle pricks. The house was a comfortable one now, my mother was far easier in her mind and therefore a sweeter companion.

Everything looked pleasant around Mary and I told her how glad I was to see it.

I did not tell her how glad I was to see her, how in all the rich and varied joy of my present position, as in all the unutterable weariness and dullness of my former state, to see her was the keenest delight I ever felt, or ever hoped to feel. Calm, strong, beautiful woman that she was, perfect in loveliness of face and form and character, mine would be a poor triumph after all if I could not contrive to make her happy.

I sat watching her and she watched the leaping flames of the fire; and I wondered clumsily in what possible way I could force her into the happiness which should be hers, when all at once she rose and came to my side.

"Cousin Tom," she said in that delicious voice of hers, "why don't you amount to more? Why don't you do yourself justice in some way? Is it"—and here she blushed beautifully—but the cousinship gave her courage and she went on. "Is it for lack of money to make a start with? Because, you know, I am quite rich now—because I want you to let me—you'll forgive my awkwardness, won't you?—to let me give you some of it, Tom, a whole pile of it."

That blessed, generous, self forgetting creature! She looked so lovely as she said it that my poor brain swam dizzily.

"No," said I at length, "it is not lack of money, my dear Cousin Mary, but sheer personal incapacity that prevents my amounting to anything. I am an ordinary, stupid fellow at best, and my family are too clear headed to give me that blind, loving faith which makes even stupid fellows do very well sometimes."

"You are not stupid," she cried, "nor ordinary—I know you better than you think. You could be something splendid if you chose. Why don't you choose?"

And then she looked at me with such an earnest, tender, believing glance as fairly drove me to her feet.

"Oh, Mary, you blessed angel!" I cried to her, "could you—would you—is it possible that you, after all, can find it in your sweet heart to make a place for such a useless good for nothing as I?"

And then my Cousin Mary just came into my arms and comforted my sore heart with a thousand tender words of hope and faith. And she said the sweetest joy of joys to her was that now she was really able to help me with her precious little fortune. And since she values it so much I have let her help me with it always. As if any fortune, great or small, were to be mentioned in the same breath with her love.—The Impress.

THINGS IN MISSOURI.

The Whirl of Life in the Center of the American Continent.

The earth in its beautiful array of white makes one almost forget that sorrow and pain dwells among us. The leafless trees are adorned with beautiful icicles, shining in the radiance of the sun like thousands of diamonds in nature's crown. The beauties of the present always fill us with solemnity and awe in beholding what nature forms, and no sculptor can imitate.

The cold snap has scattered the corner loafers.

T. H. Price of Hallsville was in our midst Tuesday.

Tripp Wiseman and his tandem team Sunday, was the sensation.

F. Palmore says he is tired of keeping boarding house.

We give the news. We publish facts. We cringe to nobody. We patronize those who patronize us. We have no favorites. We show no partiality.

Say, has this been cold enough?

Two handkerchiefs for 5c. at Kahn's.

Wedding bells are ringing.

Dr. Gentry had a load of hogs on the market Monday.

Brother Blalock failed to fill his appointment here Sunday on account of the big snow.

Rabbits in the market by the car load.

Old Uncle John Wall had a parylectic stroke of the right side and is in a critical condition.

Green B. Morris lost his fine mare, caused by eating fodder he thinks.

Mrs. Myrtle Robinson was the charming guest of Stella Crews Sunday.—Centralia Fireside Guard.

Our Inventive Genius.

Commissioner of Patents John S. Seymour in his report to Congress says that during the year there were 20,803 patents granted and 1,600 trade marks registered and 12,920 patents expired. The total expenditures were $100,100,047. The receipts over expenditures were $87,392, and the total balance to the credit of the patent office in the treasury of the United States amounts to $4,369,135. In proportion to population more patents were issued to citizens of Connecticut than to those of any other State. Next in order in proportion to population are Massachusetts, the District of Columbia, New Jersey, Montana, Rhode Island, New York and Colorado. As to foreign countries, more patents were granted to subjects of Great Britain than of any other country; next in order come Germany and the Dominion of Canada.

Special Bargains for February.

HIRTS at 39c; regular price 50c.
Special buckskin gloves 98c, regular $1.50.
Saw you our Reindeer Glove for dress or driving $1.50

HALLOCK,

109 West Front st.

5,000 Pounds

Another big supply of Fresh Country Roll

BUTTER at 18c Per Pound.

Watch for our special sale price list in Thursday's and Saturday's paper.

FULPER'S, 207 West Front St.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose	7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose	10c pair
" " " double knee	18c pair
" " " extra heavy	25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handkerchiefs	5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs	5c

210 West Front Street.

106 East Front Street — NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c
" Oolong tea	30c
" Young Hyson tea	40c
" Japan tea	40c
XX soda crackers	4½c
Ginger snaps	5½c
Nic-nac crackers	6c
California peaches	17c can
Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
Can peas, early June	8c
Can corn, fine goods	8c
Fine butter	24c
Ground coffee	17½c
Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
" Rio coffee	24c
Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented.

H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement

For walls and ceilings.

SHAD!

Rogers

232 W. 2d. St.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats, Dress Shirts,
Gloves and Neckwear

U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,

120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat.

or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.

E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,

177 North Avenue.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager
Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.
1 14 tf

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,

Prescription Druggist,

143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

EIGHT MINUTES OF THREE.

A DETECTIVE STORY

BY NYM CRINKLE.

[Copyright, 1895, by Bacheller, Johnson and Bacheller.]

CHAPTER I.

On the 17th of March, 1878, Mr. Gustave Prineveau was shot and killed in his private conveyance while returning from a drive with his wife. It was about five o'clock in the afternoon, and the carriage at the time was between Sixty-sixth and Sixty-seventh streets on Fourth avenue, in New York.

Mr. Prineveau was seated on the left of his wife in the carriage, which was a two-seated phaeton, and was driven by their man, John Teedson, who sat on the seat in front of them. Mr. Prineveau, who was sixty-three, died almost instantly, and the post mortem, held the next morning at ten o'clock, showed that he had been killed by a pistol bullet that had entered his heart at the fifth intercostal space, glanced upward and severed the aosta. A small hole was found in his vest on the left side corresponding to the bullet.

The post-mortem examination was a long one. As it was impossible for either of the other occupants of the carriage to have got round to the left side of Mr. Prineveau so as to have inflicted the wound without accomplishing an unprecedented feat, that would have been seen, and as there was no assignable motive for such an act, the whole purpose of the examination was directed to finding out what incentive some other person might have had to commit the deed.

The following facts were then elicited.

Mr. Prineveau had been married a little less than five years to a woman who, previous to that marriage, had been known as the widow of a South American merchant who had died while on a visit to Buenos Ayres. At the time of Mr. Prinevoau's marriage he was reported to be very wealthy, having amassed a fortune in coal speculations in Pennsylvania and New York.

He, too, had been previously married, by which marriage there had been two sons, one of whom had died three years before the father, in California, and the other of whom was still living somewhere in Ohio. The only other relation that could be traced was a nephew, Jared Clarkson, about twenty-eight years old, who was a scapegrace, and had lived for several years upon the bounty of Mr. Prineveau, but whose whereabouts at the time of Mr. Prineveau's death could not be ascertained.

It was shown that the deceased had been a man of singularly weak character in the management of his estate; that he gave away vast sums of money, was easily frightened or cajoled, and that from all accounts his wife's advice and influence alone saved him from many foolish speculations and misfortunes in his old age. Among his papers were found receipts for over one hundred thousand dollars signed by unknown persons and covering the four years immediately preceding his death. His relations with his wife had always been of the most amiable and trustful kind. None of the servants knew of his ever having quarreled with her. Mrs. Prineveau looked after all his personal comforts, was continually solicitous about his health, accompanied him everywhere, and bore the reputation of being a discreet domestic woman with an obvious affection for a man who was twenty years her senior.

There was in his house on Fifth avenue a servant who had been with them for five years—her name was Rose Kenny, and she testified that about a week before the murder Mr. Prineveau had been visited at night by the nephew Clarkson, whom she had let in, and who was seen by Mr. Prineveau in the library, a small room in the wing at the rear of the house. From appearance she thought the man had been drinking. He wore a rough and soiled overcoat and an imitation astrakan cap pulled over his face. He stayed over half an hour in the library, and she heard him from the front parlor speaking in loud and angry tones. She admitted that she had listened, and swore that she heard him say: "Then look ont for yourself, for you will not live to accomplish it." To which the old man in a soft voice made some kind of appealing reply.

HE WORE A ROUGH AND SOILED OVERCOAT.

This was about ten o'clock at night, and Mrs. Prineveau, who had gone to a concert at Steinway hall with a party of friends, had not returned. She came back at ten minutes of eleven, and, upon making inquiries of the maid, Rosy, learned these facts and showed a good deal of indignation because Mr. Prineveau had been subjected to the annoyance of a worthless and reckless scapegrace.

Mrs. Prineveau herself corroborated this statement explicitly, but could give very little information about the habits or antecedents of Clarkson, except that she had learned incidentally from her husband that he was a drunkard with a wife and two children, and, owing to his dissolute habits, had never been able to take care of himself or his family.

It was also learned that on the afternoon of the 14th of March Clarkson had been seen by the coachman hanging about the house, and the hall boy, who had been sent on an errand, encountered him on the corner and was there held in conversation by him, Clarkson asking him, among other things, if Mr. Prineveau did not take a drive usually in the afternoons.

These bits of testimony led to the police efforts to find Clarkson. Mr. Prineveau was buried in the Trinity cemetery on the 19th. His funeral was attended by many old New Yorkers, and public attention was turned to the efforts made by Mrs. Prineveau to discover the perpetrator of the crime.

CLARKSON WAS SEEN HANGING AROUND THE HOUSE.

On the 21st Clarkson's wife and children were found in a miserable lodging place in Varick street. But Clarkson had disappeared. His wife promptly acknowledged that he had come home late on the afternoon of the 17th, had hurriedly changed his clothes and gone out. She had not seen him or heard of him since. But she strenuously denied that he had committed a crime, and refused to be influenced by any of the damaging circumstances.

Here the affair threatened to end, as so many others of its kind have ended, in idle curiosity, police inefficiency and ultimate forgetfulness. But on the 23d Clarkson was discovered in hiding in Troy. He was brought here and lodged in the city prison, and then it became known to the public that the police had found in the rooms of Mrs. Clarkson in Varick street a small French revolver with five chambers, one of which was empty, and the bullets of this pistol corresponded in size with the one taken from the body of Mr. Prineveau.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Pleasant Reception.

Mrs. George Voehl gave a reception last evening to near friends, and the evening was delightfully spent. Various games were played, songs and recitations were rendered, and an elaborate spread was given. Covers were laid for fifteen, who heartily did justice and enjoyed her hospitality. They not only extended their well wishes for her future prosperity, but also gave handsome and costly presents, among them a magnificent pair of diamond earrings from her husband.

Sam Frazee gave several violin selections, accompanied by that well-known pianist, Mr. Creigher. John H. Carney gave a few of his original sayings, much to the delight of all. It was midnight when the guests began to depart for their various homes.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

BETTER THAN GOLD BONDS

VALUABLE

REAL ESTATE

in the business centre of Plainfield. The large building on West 2d street, known as

The Elkwood Building,

Will be sold at public auction on

Monday, March 4, 1895,

At 2 P. M., on the premises. The property is about 65 feet front by about 100 feet deep, and contains a three story brick building used for stores, public hall, flats, lodge rooms and offices. This property originally cost about $43,000, and affords a grand opportunity for investment. Attend the sale.

For further particulars inquire of W. R. Codington, Attorney, corner Park avenue and Second street, Plainfield, N. J.

The above sale stands adjourned to Thursday, March 7, at 2 p. m. 3 4 3

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7 20, 8 40, 11 a. m., 2 30, 5, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 and 9 20 a.m. 1 45, 4, and 7 30 p. m

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8 40 a. m., 2 40, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 15 a. m., 4 30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arrives 12 m; closes 9 30 a.m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9 30 to 10 30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6 15 p. m.

BATHING IN THE DEAD SEA.

An Easy Matter to Float on the Surface of the Thick Water.

The Dead sea, or more properly the Salt sea, is also called in Scripture the sea of the Arabah; in the Apocrypa, the Sodomitish sea; in the Talmudical books, sea of Salt and sea of Sodom. The name Dead sea seems to have been first used in Greek, and the Arabic name is Bar Lut, or the sea of Lot. It has a length varying from 40 to 46 miles and is only about three miles across at its broadest part.

From the analysis of the United States expedition it appears that each gallon of the water, weighing 12¼ pounds, contains nearly 3½ pounds (3.319) of matter in solution, an immense quantity in view of the fact that sea water, weighing 10¼ pounds per gallon, contains less than one-half pound. Of this 3½ pounds nearly a pound is common salt (chloride of sodium), about two pounds chloride of magnesium and less than one-half pound chloride of calcium (muriate of lime). There does not appear to be anything about it inimical to life, and the story of a recent tourist confirms this. He says:

"As for the Dead sea, it will, in contradiction of the name, forever preserve a green and living memory in my mind. No fish can survive in it, we all know, but for a place for a swim, or, above all, for a float, commend me to it beyond all the Winnepesaukees in the world. How it bears you up in arms! How it annihilates the tiresome ponderosity and dignity of the laws of gravitation! How it introduces you into the inner consciousness of dainty ariel and thistledom and all other airy, fairy creatures! The more you weigh the less you weigh. There is the real hydrostatic paradox. An elephant in the Dead sea would feel himself a gazelle. Then what a mirror its steely surface was that morning, and how beautiful its reflections of the mountains of Palestine on the one hand and of Moab on the other!"—Brooklyn Eagle.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held March 4, 1895, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, March twenty-fifth, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 25, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council March 4, 1895, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000, payable to the treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

1,057 feet 24 inch pipe sewer,
2,284 feet 12 " " "
4,925 feet 10 " " "
80,605 feet 8 " " "
108 feet 8 to 12 inch cast iron pipe sewer,
116 manholes,
28 drop connections at manholes,
179 lampholes,
68 flush tanks,
4,141 Y branches,
875 extension connections on Y branches,
5,735 feet underdrains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposals, specifications, contract, bond, &c., may be obtained at the office of A. J. Gavett, constructing engineer, No. 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MACMURRAY,
City Clerk.

NOTICE.

As directed by a resolution of the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, county of Union, State of New Jersey, notice is hereby given that an application has been made to the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood aforesaid, by the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, for permission to construct, operate and maintain a street railroad, with one or more tracks and necessary turnouts, to be operated by electricity or other motive power except steam, and to erect necessary poles, conduits and wires, power plant and necessary buildings along the following routes:

Beginning in the division line between the city of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood where Midway avenue crosses said division line and running thence in an easterly direction along Midway avenue to its connection with North avenue; thence still easterly along North avenue to the division line between the Townships of Fanwood and Westfield.

Beginning at the intersection of Mountain avenue and Forrest avenue or road, in the village of Scotch Plains, in the twp of Fanwood and running thence southeasterly along Forrest avenue or road to its intersection with North avenue; thence southerly along said North avenue to Depot street; thence to a point at or near the Fanwood station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The name of the corporation making the application is the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company.

The application was filed on the 15th day of February, eighteen hundred and ninety-five and will be considered by the Township Committee of the township of Fanwood, at a meeting to be held on the 7th day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, at Excelsior Hall, at Scotch Plains, in the township of Fanwood aforesaid, county of Union, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

EDWARD L. HAND,
Township Clerk.
2 16 14

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 213 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

R. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 6094, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Lunger, Fin. Sec. 9 25 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 10 East Front stree

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 28, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. C. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values IN UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality,

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c, at

49 cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street Newark, N. J.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B C F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money.

Alex. Willett & Son

Sell the best

Men's $3 Shoe

IN THE CITY.

CARPETS

Made and Laid With Paper Without Charge

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,

73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.

are making and laying Carpets with paper without charge, which is a saving of 15c per yd.

Parties about going to housekeeping will find no larger stock of Parlor Suits and Bedroom Suits to select from at such low prices. All of the latest Spring styles of Bedroom Suits of the Hall & Lyon manufacture, and Parlor Suits of all the latest manufactures and of the latest designs and coverings.

Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

All other goods suitable to furnish a house with in our line are sold at the lowest prices. Terms easy; one dollar per week.

The Portland Range!

The Court of Errors has just unanimously affirmed the opinion of the lower courts that no other dealer can take any range and put the name Portland on it and try to hoodwink the people that they are selling the original Portland Range, when such is not the case. 7,000 of these ranges now in use and not one complaint. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Goods delivered to all parts of the State free of charge.

Storing Furniture

Our new building just erected at 88, 90, 92 Bank street, seems to be the only building in the State to store furniture, the way it is being filled up. Furniture moved with vans at reasonable rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

HEATH & DRAKE

Pushing Things

We are pushing things all along the line.

Dress ginghams, value 10c, at
6 cents

Dress ginghams, value 25c, at
19 cents.

Breakfast napkins, value $1.70, at
$1 45 doz

Huck towels, value 15c, at 12½ Cts.

Bleached table damask value 90c, at
75c.

Linen sheets 2½x2¾, value $5, at
$4 50 pr

8x10 table cloth linen, val. $3 25, at $2.00.

Black Damasse satin, value $1 25, at $1.00

Black satin Duchesse, value 84c, at
69 c

Real Japanese silks, figured, value 50c, at
39c.

52-inch all wool granite mixtures, value 75c, at
59c.

44-inch wool Argyle suitings, in small seeded effects, value 69c, at 50c.

Free delivery to Plainfield and vicinity

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J

MRS. L. COLES,

FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,

Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st

Taylor's French System used. Suits $6.00 and upward.

2 2 tf

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1 50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 25 1m

Central Employment Office

215 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.

All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first-class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Soups, Etc.

128 NORTH AVENUE,

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY.

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET,

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N. J

Telephone call, 29 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge. 9 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit.

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, India rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 9 p. m. H. HOSMER, 26 North ave., Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow, and T. S. Armstrong. 9 27

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY, $5 A YEAR.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Librarian's Report for the Month of February, 1895.

Volumes on accession-book, Jan. 31, 1895	12,874
" added by purchase	103
Volumes added by gift	21
Volumes now in the library	12,998
Number of card-holders	3,522
Cash rec'd from fines	$ 18 23
" " " non-resident subscriptions	$ 2.00
Home Circulation.
Fiction	1397
Juvenile	515
Biography	188
Travel	260
Philosophy	16
Religion	35
Sociology	48
Philology	2
Natural science	77
Useful arts	27
Fine arts	55
Literature	213
History	219
General works	18
Total	3121
Total for February, '94	2314
Increase	807
Visitors to building	3,549
Average circulation per day	135

Gifts during the month—

Feb. 1—From N. Y. State Library, 76th annual report.

Feb. 1—From Smithsonian Inst., 8th-10th annual reports.

Feb. 13—N. J. Journal of 50th Senate; also minutes of 118th Gen. Assembly, 2 v.

Feb. 20—Miss M. S. Miller, 10 odd volumes.

Feb. 20—Plainfield Club of Princeton, Princeton Bric-a-brac, class of '96.

Feb. 25—J. W. Murray, Rebellion records, v. 46, pt. 1 and atlas.

Feb. 28—Miss Boorman, Fortnightly Review, (unbound) 2 v.

Literary World, 2 v.

EMMA L. ADAMS, Librarian.

Lillian Kennedy Tonight.

Lillian Kennedy begins her Music Hall engagement of three nights and matinee, this evening. This young actress is rapidly forging to the front, and in "She Could n't Marry Thee" is said to excel anything she has hitherto attempted. The play tells the story of a young girl who is forced to make a choice from among three lovers. One of the rejected takes the blow gracefully and remains a true friend to the girl who has won his heart, but who cannot give her heart in return. The other rejected suitor tries to take a cowardly revenge upon the gentle but high-spirited maiden whom he has vainly tried to make his wife. He is able for a time to separate her from her husband, but at last his cruel plot is thwarted. The climax comes with his attempt to throw Bess's husband under the wheels of an express train. Bess saves her husband, however, and the villian pays the penalty with his life. This is a most exciting situation, for a real passenger engine dashes across the stage under full headway with a train of cars, a few seconds after Bess has performed her heroic rescue.

To Drill Next Monday.

Considerable business was transacted by John Hand Camp, No. 28, S. of V., Tuesday evening in addition to the muster of one recruit in the Degree of Friendship. First Sergeant H. J. Martin and Frank Clarkson were appointed a committee to confer with like committees from Col. Hugh B. Reed Camp, Somerville, and Capt. James I. Bullock Camp, Flemington, for the purpose of holding a joint campfire.

Reports were made by H. S. Thatcher and H. C. McVoy, delegates to Division Encampment. H. J. Martin and Chas. Stephens also made a few remarks.

The members decided to hold their first drill Monday evening. First Sergeant H. J. Martin was instructed to procure swords and belts for the officers. Samuel Terry, Jr., Fred Sutton and Clifford Compton were appointed a committee to secure colors for the Camp.

Plainfield's Winning Trio.

Yesterday was the second day of the big trapshooting tournament in Rutherford, under the auspices of the Boiling Springs Fish and Gun Club, and the cracks of the county are there contesting for the trophys. Plainfield was represented by a winning trio in Neaf Apgar, Charley Smith and T. H. Keller, and the representatives of the Climax Gun Club brought home the bulk of the prizes. Apgar won first average and Keller the fourth on the opening day. Yesterday Apgar again captured the high average, breaking 94 2-5 per cent. of the targets shot at in 200 rounds, Keller taking third with 92 1-2 per cent. Smith shot well to the front in all the matches, but having failed to arrive in time to enter one of the events was barred from competing for the average prizes. Today is the closing day of the meeting and live birds are the targets for the day.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

BY THE WAY.

—East Fifth street is being scraped. A clear of surplus mud.

—As firm as the eternal hills—the well-earned fame of Peck's embroideries.

—A Jersey Central locomotive killed a goat near East Third street yesterday.

—Out from 13 to 5, and they'll be sold out tomorrow. White's ad tells what.

—Rev. Ed. Klonka will conduct service every Wednesday, during Lent, at 8 p. m.

—As yet no offers have been made by any one for the old postoffice fixtures in the Clarkson Building.

—H. Hand the auctioneer successfully conducted a vendue of personal property of Israel J. Coon at Smalleytown yesterday.

—Several loads of cinders were placed on the sidewalk in front of the Mt. Olive Church on Liberty street, improving the walk.

—At the conclusion of the district meeting of the K. of P., Friday night, a banquet will be served to the attending members.

—The Ministers Association will meet next Monday at the rectory of Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman. Rev. Edward Love will read the paper.

—Street railway officials are steadily securing concessions of the right of way along the streets through which it is desired to build the extensions.

—Lyman and Hinrichs will defend the Park Club at pool, and VanDeventer and Underwood at billiards, in the contest against the Country Club tomorrow night.

—The annual business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church will be held Friday evening, when the officers for the coming year will be elected.

—A feature at one of the places of registry in North Plainfield, Tuesday, was a game of draw poker to see who would be the next mayor. The result was not announced.

—Have you seen White's advertisement? He does n't say what it is, only that the price will be 5 cents a yard, and you will surely want some of it when you see it. It will be worth seeing, as he never advertises an article unless it has merit and is a bargain.

Mission Work in China.

Rev. Dr. Blodgett, a returned missionary from China, spoke to a good sized audience in the lecture room of Crescent Avenue Church last night on his work in that country. He said that China presented a great field for the missionary. But it was very hard to preach the Gospel there, because of the natural superstition of the people and abject subservience to the will of the Emperor. He had seen great China cities and found only one man who had any idea of Christianity. To overcome their prejudice is hard, but after it is overcome it is very difficult to get them to publicly admit conversion on account of the attitude of relatives and friends who ostracise them from society on such occasions. The great majority who attend mission meetings are men.

"This Desk Is For You."

Edward White, always up to date, has instituted another improvement in his establishment which is greatly appreciated by his feminine patrons who find the new postoffice too far removed from their district to suit their convenience. He has provided at the front of the big store a desk and easy chair, with writing materials at hand; and here fair shoppers are welcome to rest and indite postal card, letter, or other correspondence. The sign "This desk is for you" notifies the public that Mr. White desires it used, and the favor is greatly appreciated by the gentler sex.

Daughters of Liberty.

A movement is on foot to organize a Daughters of Liberty Lodge in Plainfield. With the large number of Junior Order of Mechanics in town, of which the lodge is an auxiliary, a strong organization should be effected.

W. W. Stratton of East Third street is at the head of it, and he has secured Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Mott of Brooklyn, and Mr. Kocht of Ohio, to come to Plainfield at a date soon to be announced, at which time they will explain the principles and objects of the order.

Farr on Four-Fold Gossip.

Rev. F. W. Farr, dean of the Missionary Training College in New York, will deliver a lecture under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the Christian Alliance March 19, at the home of Mr. Peck, 317 East Front street. He will take for his subject "The Four-Fold Gossip".

Clever Charley.

Notice was posted in the Park clubhouse last night that Charles Lyman was the winner of the pool tournament.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Charles K. Kelly of Newark was in town last night.

Joseph Doyle, Jr., of Philadelphia was in Plainfield yesterday.

Jerard Drew of Washingtonville is recovering from pneumonia.

J. T. Collins of Taunton, Mass., was in Plainfield yesterday on business.

B. F. Everingham of Lakewood is visiting relatives on Richmond street.

Frederick H. Bach of Somerset street has been visiting friends in Washingtonville.

Frank Happy, who has been quite ill at his home in Washingtonville, is recovering.

A second memento has been sent by Hotel Grenada guests to Col. Williams, Mt. Pleasant, S. C.

Mrs. Charles Blume and Mrs. John Spencer have returned from a visit with Mrs. Farmer at Westfield.

Miss Josie Butcher of East Fifth street, who has been ill some time, is somewhat improved in her condition.

A. L. Faxon has left the Plainfield Latin School to become an instructor in the Glenwood Institute, Matawan.

Mr. Gerhardt of Jersey City is acting as operator at the Western Union office during the illness of C. H. Schermerhorn.

Miss Isabella VanWinkle of Central avenue is not improving from her long illness as fast as her friends would wish.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lowrey of New Brighton, S. I., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Horsley Barker at their home on Grove street.

Augustus French and wife of Scotch Plains, who have been spending the Winter in southern climes, are expected home in a few days.

Mrs. George A. Collins of this city was reported last night in a critical condition from an operation performed in the Brooklyn Hospital.

Morris Wield of Reading, Pa., was in town yesterday visiting his brother Joseph of the Moy pharmacy, and his old-time friend Louis Callman.

The Whist Club, which has passed so many pleasant evenings this Winter at the homes of the members, will be entertained Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Emmons.

A farewell reception is to be given Mr. Munson, pastor of Monroe Avenue Chapel, by the Ladies Aid Society, Wednesday evening, March 27. Mr. Munson expects to enter the Eastern Conference, leaving Plainfield about April 1.

A. D. Thompson has been elected president and general manager of the Carabelle Land and Lumber Company, vice Daniel Cory, deceased. F. S. Bunyon was chosen vice-president, and Theodore F. French secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Rebecca A. Marchand announces the marriage of her daughter Miss Gertrude, who has a large acquaintance in this city, to Dr. Henry Hale Brotherlin, Wednesday, Feb. 27, in Pittsburgh. They will be at home March 15 at Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Worth All They Earn.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—Seeing in The Daily Press that the committee of the Citizens Organized Aid Association would furnish competent women at low wages, I would suggest that if they are competent they are worth just as high wages as are most of the incompetent servant girls. Because they are unfortunate enough to be so poor that they have to call on the Association for help, is no reason for grinding them down. "The laborer is worthy of his hire." FAIR PLAY.

Republicans Fear to Pass Them.

The New York Evening Post states that Senator Bradley is still unable to get his borough local-option bills (drafted by Rev. W. E. Honeyman of this city) out of the committee. He was questioned by Senator Winton yesterday in the Senate as to when they would appear, and he replied that he could say conscientiously that they would be reported within forty-eight hours. He has been urging them very hard, but the Republican leaders are a little afraid of the bills.

Bound to Come Sometime.

(Trenton Correspondence of The Elizabeth Journal.)

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall of Plainfield, daughter of Julia Ward Howe, and President of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, yesterday sent a petition to Senator Voorhees to be introduced in the Senate, requesting that the Constitution be so amended as to strike out the word "male." The petition will be given respectful consideration.

Formal Junior Opening.

The Junior Department of the Young Men's Christian Association at its formal opening on Saturday evening at 7:30 will be addressed by A. D. French of Montclair. Thomas Schaeffer will give a fancy baton and Indian club performance. Another feature of special interest to boys will be an opportunity to witness the work of the men in the gymnasium. Refreshment will be served and a genuine good time is anticipated.

FIGHTING SEBRING.

Voters Claim His Nomination Isn't Legal.

SAY HE DOUBLY REGISTERED.

Failing in His Borough Ambitions, He Successfully Pulls the Township Wires—Republicans Dissatisfied and Democrats Alert.

In accordance with the call issued by Levi Kline and J. R. Newman, Executive Committee of the Democratic party in North Plainfield, a number of voters met yesterday afternoon at 3 in Ackor's grist mill, for the purpose of placing a ticket in the field in opposition to those made by the Republicans and the "Citizens". A. C. Johnson occupied the chair, and all freely expressed their opinion.

Considerable opposition was shown to Charles Sebring, who after having failed of the nomination for Freeholder in the borough, went over into the township and secured the nomination of Town Committeeman. This was held to be a most outrageous violation of law, and the voters said they were determined to defeat him. They claimed that he was registered in both borough and township, which, it was alleged, would make his nomination void. Those present were not entirely in favor of the "Citizens" ticket, claiming that it was not legal from the fact that the officers in charge of the primary were not sworn in at the time it was held.

It seemed to be the sentiment that a straight Democratic ticket should be put before the people of the township and supported by every man in favor of the principles of the party.

Chairman Johnson thought that it would be a good idea to adjourn the meeting till Friday night at 7, and in the meantime have those present work to have a large delegation present.

The meeting therefore adjourned to the time mentioned, and Mr. Johnson issued a new call which was posted in a conspicuous position.

The feeling against Sebring is said to be even more bitter in his own party than among the Democrats, and many harsh threats are made to slaughter him at the polls.

Street Railway Annual Meeting.

The officers of the Plainfield Street Railway met in annual session yesterday afternoon at the company's office. Proposed extensions were talked about, and thoroughly discussed, and it was expressed as their desire to push them forward as rapidly as possible.

They were anxious to lay the rails from West Fourth street into Arlington avenue. The consents of property owners on the east side and in the Netherwood district had been obtained, and just as soon as the company felt assurred they could proceed without any hindrance they would go ahead with it.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were:

President—Thomas Nevins.
Vice-president—Dr. J. T. Fritts.
Treasurer—Chandler Riker.
Secretary—Adrain Riker.
Directors—J. B. Brown and Thomas Nevins, Jr.

Mr. Adleman was appointed superintendent for another year.

Real Estate Changes Hands.

During February the following transfers of North Plainfield real estate were recorded in the Somerset County Clerk's office:

George E. Cummings to John L. Brewster, $2,000.

Margaret E. McLaughlin to Charles W. Hummer, $500.

Charles W. Hummer to Margaret E. McLaughlin, $2,200.

Jacob Voehl and wife to Israel W. Stout, $2,900.

Jane E. Brokaw to Gustav Rupert, $1,200.

Thos. Jennings to Sarah F. Jennings, $1.

George A. Dilts, Sheriff, to Mary C. Davis, $1,200.

Aaron D. Thompson and wife to Fidelity T. & D. Co., $1.

Caroline A. Hudson, trustee, to Wm. J. Hudson, $1.

Ella Mundy and husband to Irenaeus Allen, $1.

Irenaeus P. Allen and wife to Jane Wyckoff, $1.

Jane Wyckoff and husband to Annie A. Allen, $1.

Sarah E. Squier and husband to Serafino Trojano, $85.

Getting in Shape.

In settlement of their tie in the Watchung League Plainfield and Bound Brook will bowl on the Bound Brook alleys tomorrow evening. The following compose the team from this city: Wilbur, Waters, Maltby, Vail, VanAlstyne, Petrie, VanEmburgh. They will practice on the Trade alleys this evening, so as to be in first-class condition.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. R. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—A regular meeting of Alert Hose Company will be held this evening.

—Mr. Rivers formed a dancing class of 25 at Scotch Plains Tuesday night.

—The Master Plumbers Association will meet in McVey's parlors tomorrow evening.

—One of A. B. Dunavan's valuable horses is incapacitated from work by lameness.

—Agents for H. H. Baker's Plainfield directory are canvassing the city for a new issue.

—Remember the toothsome shad for tomorrow's order. Rogers has the best of this and every seafood.

—The store on West Front street formerly occupied by the New York Millinery is receiving exterior improvements.

—The Official Board of the First M. E. Church met last night after prayer meeting and transacted routine business.

—The steamship Lahn, on which Winfield Angleman sailed for Europe, arrived safely at Southhampton yesterday.

—The social to be given in Friendship Hall, New Market, will be held next Wednesday evening, instead of last night as reported.

—Love Brothers will remove their grocery business to their new store on West Front street, two doors above their present location, April 1.

—No important business was transacted at the meeting of Gazelle Engine Company last night. Something unusual was a large attendance of members.

—To knock out Spring fever, beef and iron are needed. This tonic and strengthener is prepared in solution of wine by Reynolds, and sold at 50 cents a bottle.

—Joseph Brengle Miller of Elizabeth came to town last night disguised by the loss of his mustache. He called on the fellow-members of his fraternity, and was cordially greeted.

—The police are looking for the person or persons who smashed the large plate-glass in the display window of Barker's pharmacy Tuesday night, and if caught The offenders will be dealt severely with.

—The Young Men's Association of Monroe Avenue Chapel did not hold their meeting last evening, the required number of members to constitute a quorum not being present. The president postponed the meeting.

—The brakes on Car No. 6 of the Somerset street branch of the street railway have been worn so, that it was thought best yesterday to replace them with new ones. Car No. 1 was run on the branch till the difficulty was remedied.

—Not only is Boehm's new ad (like all his ads) an interesting story; but also his store is interesting with its great collection of bargains in dry goods and house furnishings at prices that delight householders and overwhelm competitors.

—At the meeting of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, last night, two pale faces were adopted into the tribe, and Representative Stiglitz made her report of the Grand Council meetings at Trenton. The Entertainment Committee announced that $40 had been cleared from their recent dance.

Setting Its Value.

Alfred Smalley and Andrew Lutkins commenced the work of appraising the Miles estate on Somerset street yesterday. Lawyer George W. DeMeza, counsel for the administrator, and H. N. Spencer, also were present. The work will be concluded today.

Back to the Plainfield Trolley.

Charles Huxley, formerly conductor on the street railway, and who has since been a resident of Jersey City, returned to Plainfield yesterday and will move his furniture here today. Mr. Huxley will resume employment on the street railway.

Take It Away.

Residents along East Fifth street are indignant over the fact that for two months a dead cat has lain in front of house No. 403, which has decomposed so that a fearful stench comes forth from the body. The feline should be removed.

The Cory Estate.

The Somerville Messenger is authority for the statement that the Daniel Cory estate consists of $50,000 personal property and $15,000 to $20,000 realty.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

TO JOIN THE LEAGUE.

Crescent Wheelmen Strengthening Their Forces.

The Crescent Wheelmen held a very important meeting last evening when the question of the race meet for Decoration Day was discussed.

There was intense rivalry between Elizabeth, Rahway and Plainfield, and the fact that the Plainfield club is not a member of the L. A. W. apparently weakens their strength in the fight.

Last night, however, it was the expressed wish of everyone to join the League and it was so decided. The cost will be $2 for each member and $1 a year dues.

Bert Heinrichs and Nate Titsworth were appointed a committee to see every member and secure their consent to the plan.

The meet will be held in this city.

True Reformers at Work.

An organization composed of colored people called the United Order of True Reformers, with the Great Fountain at Richmond, Va., has established a subordinate lodge in Plainfield. It was instituted recently with a membership of of fifty-three, and there are 30 more ready to join.

As it is impossible to do the work satisfactorily with over 50 members another branch will be started. The officers of the present one are:

Past Worthy Master—J. A. Saunders.
Worthy Master—A. Venable.
Worthy Secretary—N. J. Pollitt.
Worthy Chaplain—Rev. P. S. Gibson.
Worthy Mistress—Mrs. J. A. Saunders.
Worthy Treasurer—Joseph Saunders.

It is a beneficial order paying death and sick benefits.

The Plainfield branch is in a flourishing condition and meets regularly in the lodge rooms over Hallock's hat store.

Model in all Respects.

Frank L. C. Martin is now situated in his new bicycle emporium on Park avenue, two doors below his former location. The store was remodeled expressly for his purpose, and is equipped with every convenience for the bicycle business. Along one side of the store are the bicycle racks, enclosed with a railing, while in front on the other side is a cozy little office, and back of this are more bicycle racks. In a rear room is the repair shop, where the machinery is propelled by a two-horse power electric motor. At the rear of the office is a pipe where connections can be made with pneumatic tires, and compressed air forced into them without the aid of hand locomotion.

A Big Grocery for Plainfield.

The Sherman Outfitting Company have decided to give up their business in Plainfield, and will consolidate with the Newark store. The Plainfield stores they occupied have been rented by S. Scheuer & Sons of Newark, who will conduct a large grocery business, as a branch to their Newark headquarters. They will take possession April 1.

From the Fated Elbe.

Fred S. Cutter of 111 Richmond street is exhibiting to his friends interesting relics of the sunken steamship Elbe, in the shape of correspondence picked up by the steamer Aurania. The correspondence was received by the United States Leather Company of New York, with which Mr. Cutter is connected. It is seastained but legible.

Personal Purity.

A personal purity talk will be given by Charles F. Taylor of Princeton College, at the men's meeting at Association Hall Sunday afternoon. Horace J. Martin will sing a solo especially prepared for the address.

At the boys meeting in the upper hall A. D. French will give an illustrated talk, with "Nails" as his subject.

May Move.

At the meeting of Unity Lodge, K. of P., last night the matter of removing to Odd Fellows Hall from their present quarters in the Coward Building was considered. The trustees were authorized to investigate the advantages to be derived from such action, and report at the meeting held next Wednesday evening.

Assemblyman Somers Married.

(From The Somerville Messenger.)

Assemblyman Frank W. Somers was married Tuesday to Mrs. Ella Anderson Cawley, widow of the late James S. Cawley of Bound Brook.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c.

BESSIE SHOOTS TO KILL

Mad with Rage She Fired at Isaac Cochran.

His Eyes Now Sightless, the Nerves Being Severed, and He Cannot Recover—The Woman Says She Is His Common Law Wife and That He Talked of Leaving Her.

New York, March 7.—Isaac A. Cochran, a young real estate dealer, was fatally shot in the wine room of Henry Zimmer's saloon last evening, by Bessie Fairbanks, a young woman, who had been living with Cochran for three years, she claims, as his common law wife.

Cochran was removed to the Presbyterian hospital in a dying condition.

The surgeons found two bullet holes, one of which penetrated the right temple and passed back of the right eye and the other back of the right ear. There was a mark over the right eye as if one of the bullets had emerged there.

Both Optic Nerves Destroyed.

It is supposed that both optic nerves were severed, for both eyes were closed and sightless. The surgeons said that Cochran could not live.

Bessie Fairbanks was arrested immediately after the shooting by Policeman Reilly, and locked up in the East 67th street station. She was hysterical, and had to be almost carried to the station.

To Sergeant Donovan, however, she gradually unfolded her story after she had become calm. She said in brief that she had been living with Cochran for three years as a common-law wife, but that recently he had refused to provide for her, and had treated her brutally when she applied to him for aid. It was after he had refused a last appeal while they were in the wine room of Zimmer's saloon that she drew her revolver and shot him.

Jealousy the Cause.

The girl also said that she believed Cochran was paying attention to another woman, though who it is she does not know. The police believe that the element of jealously as well as that of want, impelled the woman to her fatal act.

The couple entered the saloon through a side door opening into the wine room at 8:30 o'clock. They took a seat in the southeast corner at one of the tables. There is a space of about three feet between the table and the wall, and in this space they seated themselves, the girl sitting on the inside against the wall. Cochran called Bartender Herman Ellenhausen and ordered a whiskey for himself and a glass of beer for Miss Fairbanks.

The bartender, after serving these drinks, was passing through the archway leading to the saloon in front when he heard the succession of shots.

There was no one in the wine room at the time, but Cochran and the girl. The bartender ran out into the street and met Policeman Reilly, who hurried into the wine room.

Emptied Her Revolver.

After wounding Cochran the girl never stopped firing until she had emptied her revolver, and from the position of the bullet holes in the wall it seems probable that although desperately wounded, Cochran made every effort to escape from the room.

The first bullet, which evidently did not remain in the man's head, struck the wall a few inches above the wainscoting three feet from where he was sitting.

Three other bullet holes formed a triangle in the plaster directly back of where Miss Fairbanks had been sitting, and she must have rushed past her victim to the middle of the room and then wheeled to fire at him again.

The fifth bullet went through the covered archway into the saloon in front, whizzed over the heads of the bartenders and broke a mirror back of the bar.

The weapon, a 32-calibre, five chamber affair, she retained empty in her hand when Policeman Reilly rushed in. Cochran was then leaning against the west wall, with both eyes closed, and Miss Fairbanks stood some ten feet away.

Mechanically she raised the revolver, but the policeman struck it from her hand, and she began to weep as if realizing for the first time what she had done.

She was taken to the police station half a block away, and another policeman brought Cochran, who, strange to say, was able to walk.

The woman was taken weeping to her cell and locked up.

Red Star Liner Aground.

New York, March 7.—The Red Star line steamer Friesland, Captain Nickels, which was chartered by Mr. Frank C. Clark, sailed the same day as La Touraine, with 450 excursionists. She was last reported aground at Port Said, after having landed her passengers at Jaffa, Palestine last Sunday. She is on a sandy bottom and in no danger.

Miners Ask an Advance.

Uniontown, Pa., March 7.—The miners of the fourth and fifth pools on the Monongahela river are out for the 69 cent rate. All work is suspended and the men say they will not return unless the demand is granted. No trouble is reported anywhere. O'Neil Bros., of Fayette City offered a slight advance, but the offer was refused.

Will Remove to Baltimore.

New London, Conn., March 7.—The Standard Keystone Target company is to remove to Baltimore. The concern is to reorganize with $100,000 capital and will employ fifty hands at its Baltimore works.

A Farmer's Insane Deed.

Brattleboro, Vt., March 7.—Chester C. Hubbard, a highly respected young farmer of Wilmington, committed suicide there yesterday, by hanging. Temporary insanity is supposed to have been the cause.

Seven Miners Killed.

London, March 7.—Seven miners were killed yesterday while descending the shaft of the Mail Beach lead mine, near Shrewsbury, Shropshire.

HAWAIIAN PRISONERS.

Editorial Comments by the London Daily News.

London, March 7.—The Daily News will say editorially to-day:

"The announcement that none of the death sentences in Hawaii will be executed will not excite surprise. It would have been impossible for the American party to kill prisoners for sharing in civil war. They are bound by the great traditions of their own history, and national pride should forbid their departing from the same and reducing themselves to the level of effete Europe. Moreover, the queen's friends were only fighting to give her majesty her own again. The republican party's only proof of right was force. If the ghost of Monroe took to walking, the party which has so grossly violated one of the precepts of his doctrine might find it hard to sleep nights."

A GIANT DEAD.

Weighed Over 500 Pounds and Was Too Heavy To Stand.

New York, March 7.—David Robinson of East Moriches, said to be the largest man on Long Island, is dead. Mr. Robinson, the last time he was weighed, balanced a pair of coal scales at a figure above 500 pounds. He was about 65 years old.

Mr. Robinson's friends say he could lift 2,000 pounds of dead weight when he was 28 years old. Mr. Robinson sailed to Europe several times and used to wrestle many of the crack English wrestlers. For the past several years he has been so large that he could scarcely stand upon his feet.

TO INVESTIGATE POVERTY.

Assembly Will Appoint a Committee for the City of New York.

Albany, March 7.—Assemblyman Reinhard yesterday presented a resolution that a committee of five be appointed with power to hold public hearings in New York city to inquire into the nature, extent and causes of the wretched condition of 100,000 women in the city, on many of whom families are dependent, whose average wages are 60 cents a day, while a larger proportion receive a much smaller sum, the result of which is misery, immorality and crime. The resolution was adoped.

TURNED FROM HOME.

Five Little Ones Cast Adrift by a Heartless Father.

New York, March 7.—Five children, three girls and two boys, the oldest 14, the youngest 7 years old, were found last evening wandering aimlessly through East 121st street.

The oldest of the group, Pauline Cantor, said that her father, David Cantor, had turned them all out of doors.

When Cantor was arrested he said he was unable to support his children.

ATTACKED BY A HAWK.

A Little Girl Frightfully Lacerated Near Akron, O.

Akron, O., March 7.—A 2-year-old daughter of Charles Gates, near Harrisburg, was attacked yesterday by an immense hawk, which fastened its talons into her neck and face.

Mr. Gates drove the bird away with a club, but the child was shockingly lacerated.

Mrs. Booth Granted a License.

Cincinnati, March 7.—Mrs. Ballington Booth, of the Salvation army, was yesterday granted a minister's license by Probate Judge Ferris. The document gives Mrs. Booth a right to officiate at weddings and is one of the four legal constructions given in favor of the Salvationists in their efforts to be recognized as a congregation. Adjutant Hargreaves and Lieutenant Talbott will be married at the Salvation Army Temple on the 20th inst. Mrs. Booth will perform the wedding ceremony.

His Head Flattened to a Pulp.

Pittsburg, March 7.—M. J. Sands, shipping clerk of Denoon & Bro., glass and paint dealers, met instant and a horrible death yesterday. While riding in the freight elevator, Sands head caught between the door and floor of the fourth story. No help was at hand to stop the elevator and with a crunch Sands head was flattened to a pulp. Sands was 30 years old and leaves a widow.

Embezzler Sent Back.

New York, March 7.—James Matthew Keene, who was arrested at the Marlborough hotel on Feb. 5, charged with having embezzled £1,900 from the African Merchants' company, and was held for extradition, was returned to Liverpool yesterday. Keene's wife accompanied him.

Escaping Gas Causes Explosion.

Kansas City, Mo., March 7.—Gas escaping from a leaky pipe in the office of Lewis Day, a real estate agent yesterday, caught fire and exploded, fatally injuring John Lynch and hurting Billy McCormick and Clarence McElroy, all firemen, and destroying the building.

Killed by a Freight Car.

Providence, R. I., March 7.—William Abbott, 25 years old, was killed by being run over by a freight car drawn by horses on South Water street last night. His foot was caught in a frog and the wheels of the car nearly cut him in two. He leaves a wife at Riverside.

Train Ditched by a Broken Rail.

Spencer, Ind., March 7.—Part of the morning passenger train on the Indianapolis & Vincennes railway was ditched yesterday morning between Marco and Sanborn by a broken rail. The rear coach was destroyed by fire and five passengers were injured.

Crushed in an Elevator.

Branford, Conn., March 7.—Frank Emper, a laborer at the Yale Lock works, was injured in an elevator yesterday afternoon and it is thought that his back is broken.

U. S. Cruiser at Newport.

Newport, R. I., March 7.—United States cruiser Marblehead, Commander Chas. O'Neill, arrived here yesterday from Norfolk, to receive her torpedo outfit.

A Boy Missing.

Troy, N. Y., March 7.—A 13-year-old son of W. P. Van Zile, has been missing since Monday. He had been ill for eight weeks and had just recovered.

MONETARY CONVENTION

Delegates Want the Session Held at Washington.

Claims Made That the Capital Is the Best Place for the International Conference—Silver Can Safely Be Restored in the World's Mints—All Nations Invited.

Washington, March 7.—A strong movement is about to be inaugurated in favor of holding the proposed international monetary conference in this city. Representative Culberson, of Texas, one of the delegates appointed by Speaker Crisp, is strongly in favor of it, and other delegates are giving it earnest consideration.

The iniative for calling the conference may be taken by Mr. Cleveland. Although the Wolcott amendment does not call upon the president to do so, he has sufficient power under the general law to take this action.

Silver Basis Countries.

The failing of every conference held in Europe to affect the situation in the slightest degree favorably to silver, makes it more desirable that the next one should be held in an atmosphere friendly to the white metal.

To be truly international, invitations would be sent to every nation in the world, and when the statistics are examined it is easily seen that a large majority of the population of the world reside in silver using countries. India, China and Japan, in Asia, all of South America save Uruguay and the Central American republics, are silver basis countries.

To them this city would be a preferable location for the conference. If peace is established between China and Japan within the next ninety days, as is not improbable, both countries would be represented.

The United States, Mexico and the other Spanish-American republics produce four-fifths of the annual silver supply of the world, yet they consume in coinage, the arts and sciences less than one-half of the world's silver product, the balance going abroad.

Bring Europe into Line.

The shrewd economists who study high finance are convinced, that by holding the monetary conference in this city, figures and statements could be produced which would convince the European countries that silver can safely be restored to its place in the world's mints.

The visible supply of silver bullion on the market to-day does not exceed 15,000,000 ounces out of an annual production of 220,000,000 ounces, really less than six weeks' product, so closely from hand to mouth is production carried to the market demands.

Mine silver alone is available to any appreciable extent to supply the demand. What is most needed to bring Europe into line is the assurance that the Western Hemisphere can absorb at least half of the world's annual production of silver at a fixed ratio. This would be about $100,000,000 a year at the present coinage value, and about $67,000,000 at present bullion value.

This should be a great test to the United States and her silver-using sisters to the south, and this city is the best place in which to demonstrate the fact to the world.

The Town in Danger.

Tidieute, Pa., March 7.—The ice in the Allegheny threatens danger. It has broken here and moved down on the old gorge at Solomon's Rock, which held it firmly, raising the water at this place sixteen feet, flooding many of the houses. The lumber interests may suffer largely as there is a large amount of timber and shingles piled along the river.

An Irishman's Views.

New York, March 7.—The principal speaker at the Irish Revolutionary brotherhood's annual banquet last night was Recorder Goff. He said the time had come for Ireland to use force if she wished to be free, that home rule was a snare through the promises of which the country has been weakened, and that in the end freedom is bound to come.

Willful Murder the Charge

St. Thomas, Ont., March 7.—The grand jury yesterday brought in a true bill against William David Weller and John D. Hendershott, charged with wilfully murdering William Henry Hendershott on December 14 last. The prisoners pleaded not guilty. The trial will begin to-day.

Intruder Shot Dead by a Woman.

Montgomery, Ala., March 7.—Charlie Pope endeavored to gain an entrance into the house of Lucy Coleman late last night. The woman ordered him away, He broke the door down and the woman fired, killing him instantly.

Cleveland at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., March 7.—President Cleveland arrived here early this morning on the lighthouse tender Violet, and after a few hours started for the North Carolina coast.

Removing Machinery.

Winsted, Conn., March 7.—Fifteen carloads of the Hartford Axle company's machinery are leaving Norfolk for Dunkirk, N. Y., owing to a change of base.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, Druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

LOOK UP, NOT DOWN.

Spring Days Bring Good Cheer

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND IN THOUSANDS OF HOMES.

On Every Hand People Are Getting Well.

THE GREAT SPRING REMEDY MAKES ONE STRONG.

Now Ordered by Physicians Everywhere in March.

Ah! what avail the largest gifts of Heaven
When drooping health and spirits go amiss?
How tasteless, then, whatever can be given;
Health is the vital principle of bliss.

Weak, tired-out men and women with nerves "unstrung" and badly nourished need Paine's celery compound. They are especially urged to take it during these early spring days of March and April, when the body is most susceptible to its strengthening influence.

Of the thousands of men and women with brains and hands all day actively engaged, but whose physical powers are little used, who imagine themselves more dangerously sick than they are, the vast majority are merely reduced in strength and spirits, and need nothing but a vigorous tonic in the spring to recuperate their tired nerves. They need nothing so much as Paine's celery compound. It exactly fills their need.

The infirmities peculiar to the aged come from stagnating blood and the tardy scanty production of nerve force. They should take Paine's celery compound—there is no time so favorable as March.

The rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness and lack of strength that Paine's celery compound so rapidly dispels are thus found to be mere temporary conditions to which their time of life is liable, and the cause of needless anxiety.

Needless if they fully perceive the meaning of these infirmities and take pains at once to correct the beginnings of weakness and debility, as it is so easy to do now in the spring

Paine's celery compound is the great spring medicine. It is prescribed by countless physicians in cases of rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness and the many other results of starved nerves and depleted blood. In every drug store in the country, Paine's celery compound is always to be obtained.

It is the world's great remedy for weakness. Its use year by year through so large a part of the civilized world tells something of the good it must be accomplishing. If men and women who feel the effects of too close application to work would use Paine's celery compound, there would be less insomnia, less pain in the back of the neck, fewer days of utter physical exhaustion and incapacity for anything but suffering. Its extensive use today is the cause of a vast alleviation of human misery and despair. Its presence in the world is a blessing. It has kept the family circle whole in thousands of homes that are happy and grateful today. Try it.

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices.

BEEHIVE

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½
Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.
Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.
We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,

222 West Front st

ADVERTISED LETTERS,

February 25, 1895.

Allen Hannah	McDaland Mrs
Bowles Mrs F	Morris Mary
Bartee Laura	Mulligan Ellen
Borchert Mr	Nelson Oscer
Connell James	Nessler Lewis
Courooiseer Mrs E	Obubeck A
Cairns Mrs K	O'Rourke Kate
Duping Mrs G	Paise Alice
Demarest Phillip	Ross D H
Edgar Irene	Runyon Jno M
Erikson Jenny	Stroble Willard
Emery S A	Staples S C
France Master J	Smith W
Gregory E W	Simmons Peter
Helon Mrs A D	Simmons Mary E
Haskin Ishm	Schmidt John
Heim Eugen	Stone Mr and Mrs
Hall Mrs Nancy	Shipton Jas D
Hampton Mrs Mary	Sutton George
Harris Mrs Sue	Smith George
Johns S E	Swartz A T
Kohler Fred	Trowbridge Maud
Lanigan Jas	Vandehoof E A
Little Mrs J K	Wright F L
Mumford A	Washington Jennie
McManus Mrs	Wright W W
Young Thomas

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL and WOOD,

YARD—No. 1208 Madison Avenue. Also Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle 145 North avenue

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is called to the

Home Department

of Rockview School, 317 East Front street. Children received from 4 to 15 Years.

Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.

Miss Fawcett's School,
25 Washington Ave.

Department for boys to the age of 12.
" girls and kindergarten.
Girls prepared for college.
Re-opened September 13.

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE,
CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS
Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 75 Grandview ave. L. C. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,
MASON AND CONTRACTOR.
Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 5 28

JOHN P. EMMONS
—Mason and Builder.—
Washington avenue and Prospect place NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Jobbing promptly attended to 11 16 tf

D. L. HULICK,
CARPENTER,
And General Jobber.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
Orders may be left at Bremmer's Clothing Store, 26 Somerset street, or sent by mail.
Residence 178 Duer st. 5-2-c

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
E. B Gayle, No. 13 Vine St
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO 7-21-tf

JOHN T. ODAM
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
Slate Roofer and Repairer
Residence, cor. Arlington ave and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 5 10 y

GEO. W. STUDER.
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
985 ARLINGTON AVENUE.
Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,
21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.
H. H. McCullough, Proprietor.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 6-11-1

C. W. LINES,
Mason and Builder.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence—118 Liberty street.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to 12 6

Jno. J. Shotwell,
Wood Mantels,
Tiles and Fire Place Furnishings.
221 Park avenue, upstairs 3 5 tf

N. E. KING,
High Grade Portraits
in Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.
483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimen of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

JAMES E. BAILY,
97 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
Trucking of All Kinds Done.
Two and four-horse vans and trucks. Particular attention given to moving furniture and pianos. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 26 tf

Joseph E. Mosher,
Agent for
H. J. Hayden & Co.,
WAR CLAIMS ATTORNEYS, WASHINGTON, D.C
All claims put in our hands will receive prompt attention.
Call at the Crescent Cigar Store for fine cigars

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS
Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc., in bunches, bouquets or design.
MILES,
Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 9 17 tf

A. Lusardi,
No. 120 North Ave.,
Will be pleased to serve his friends and the public generally with first-class fruits and confectioneries, cigars, etc. Fresh roasted peanuts every day 10c. quart.
Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. Rheaume, Agt
80 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,
Invites the public to inspect the operation his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening
UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.
He would also announce recently increased facilities for TURNING and SCROLL SAWING and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL ALBION,
OPEN FOR GUESTS
Park avenue and 8th street.

The Finderne,
FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.
Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.
HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.
(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30) Steam heat; inclosed piazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.
A. E. WHITE, Manager, Finderne, N. J.
1 9 tf

HOTEL GRENADA,
North Avenue.
Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.
5-12-4

CITY HOTEL.
Plainfield, N. J.
COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.
With stables attached. 457

IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER
On draught at
CHARLES SMITH'S
Sample and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST.
The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian Dark and the St. Louis.
Ballantine's Ales also on draught The Indian Pale XXX Still Ale and Porter

A full assortment of Stationery!

AT

HARPER'S,

411 Park ave.

$500 DOWN
Buys One of Those New Houses
on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

Mrs. L. Adams,
111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank.
is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.
BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 109 Park avenue.
Sewers, pavements and road improvements.
Publisher of city map and atlas.

Real Estate Insurance
VAN BUREN & TIMPSON,
163 North ave. Plainfield, N. J.

HOAGLAND'S
Local Express.
Telephone 121.
Office 161 North Avenue

REMOVAL.
I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to
142 North Avenue
Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.
CALEB DICKINSON

AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE
For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Bad Complexion, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.
R·I·P·A·N·S TABULES
act speedily and surely. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
Price 50 cents a box. Address RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., N.Y.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North ave. 10 1 tf

Jones & Co., Excavators.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
JONES & CO.
Cesspools built. 9 18

FISCHER PIANOS.
ESTABLISHED 1840.
Nearly 100,000 Now in Use.
RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARD, WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO.
EASY TERMS,—EXCHANGED.
Catalogue mailed on application.
110 FIFTH AVE., cor. 16th St., N.Y.

TO BE HEEDED NOW.

In the Spring You Are Always Run Down.

THIS WILL TELL YOU JUST WHAT TO DO FOR YOURSELF.

And Just Why You Should Follow Exactly This Plan.

In the spring everybody needs to think about taking a spring medicine. Not only is this a common practice, but a very necessary and healthful one. It is a fact which physicians acknowledge and the people recognize generally, that a spring tonic taken during the months of March, April and May is more conducive to the restoration of health, in cases of those who are sick, than any other course of treatment that could possibly be adopted.

It is further understood by everybody that even for those who call themselves well, it is very important at this season of the year, if they would maintain good health and vigor, to take a spring remedy to strengthen and invigorate the nerves, tone up the action of all the organs, and thus, by creating a healthy condition of the nerves, blood, stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, assist nature in the efforts she always makes in the spring to cleanse purify and invigorate the system.

In the spring there are a great many and important changes going on in the body. Perfect health cannot be maintained while the system is clogged and the organs sluggish, and the person has a languid and weakened feeling, with more or less nervousness and debility.

Now in regard to what you should take The best spring medicine, indorsed and recommended by physicians, druggists and the people, is Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. In proof of this, thousands of testimonials are being constantly published in the papers. The following is from Mrs. Etta Sumner, of Goodells, Mich.

"I have been afflicted," she says, "with nervous debility for a year. My nerves were completely prostrated, and I suffered at the slightest excitement, with great headache. At times I was entirely overcome by this disease. I would stay in the house alone, and despise the sight of my own people.

"My entire nervous system was shattered and my life was a worriment and burden to me. I was advised to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and while on the first bottle, began to recover. My friends were very much surprised.

MRS. ETTA SUMNER.

"Before I had finished the second bottle I could sleep with a quiet mind, and eat with a ready and refreshing appetite. I have taken three bottles and am entirely cured of all my sufferings. I have found Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to be exactly what it is represented.

"I cannot speak half highly enough of it. I cheerfully and earnestly recommend it to everyone afflicted with disease What gives people absolute confidence in it, is its being the discovery of one of our best known and most successful physicians."

No remedy in the world is so sure to bring back bloom and color to the wan and faded cheeks, the brilliancy to the hollow and haggard eyes, the lightness and elasticity to the weak and weary steps, the strength and vitality to the unstrung, shattered and worn-out nerves. It is, indeed, the greatest of all spring medicines, for it makes the sick well and strong.

It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of this wonderful medicine.

Neuman Bros.,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

offer special inducements in prices which will interest everybody.

White cherries 17c
Egg plants.....17c
Apricots.....17c
Crawford peaches.....17c
Sliced pineapple.....17c
Grated pineapple.....17c
Hamburg stringless beans.....10c can

17c

Try our own brands of Coffees, the finest in the market.

NEUMAN BROS.

M. M. DUNHAM,

Real Estate and Insurance,

7 East Front Street.

CODDINGTON'S

FURNITURE AND FREIGHT

EXPRESS.

OFFICES—24 West Front street; 33 Park avenue Post Office Box 238.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large cars and trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1183

SPAIN SENDS TROOPS

Demands the Recall of the American Consul.

Cuban War Is Growing—Vigorous Action To Suppress the Rebellion. The Offending Magistrate Is H. O. Williams, a New Yorker—Enthusiasm in Spanish Military Circles.

Madrid, March 7.—Captain-General Calleja has demanded the recall of the American consul-general at Havana. At a cabinet council last night it was agreed to support the demand.

General Callea has also sent a dispatch to the government asking that the re-enforcements for the troops in the island be sent direct to Santiago de Cuba, equipped and ready to take the field.

The war office is hurrying the preparations, and there is great enthusiasm in military circles at the prospect of a campaign. Detachments from the various garrisons to form the first seven battalions are mustering fast at Santander, Cadiz, Corunna and Barcelona, from which ports they will embark at the end of the week. The cruiser Mercedes will carry to Cuba 2,000,000 cartridges.

In a State of Siege.

General Lugue, according to dispatches received here from Havana, has defeated a band of Cuban rebels near Cienfuegos. Four Spanish soldiers were wounded. Other rebel bands have been dispersed at Cabre and Lengo.

The report that the Cuban province of Santa Clara had been declared in a state of siege is confirmed by official dispatches. The government troops in Santa Clara, who are pursuing a band of insurgents under the leadership of Matagas, have not yet caught up with them.

The queen has entirely recovered from her recent attack of measles and has given an audience to Senor Groizard, minister of foreign affairs.

American Consul

London, March 7.—A dispatch to the Standard from Madrid says that Marshal Martinez de Campos, who was given the title of "Pacicador de Cuba" owing to his successful efforts some years ago to restore tranquility in the island, has returned to Madrid from Paris, where he had been visiting. He has had several interviews with Infanta Isabella, Prime Minister Sagasta, the minister of war and the minister of the colonies, and has promised to accept the command in Cuba whenever he shall be appointed to it.

Marshal de Campos was appointed to the governor-generalship of Cuba in 1876, and it was due to him that the insurrection that broke out in 1868, and lasted ten years, was brought to an end. Upon the expiration of his term of office he returned to Spain, and has since taken a prominent part in national affairs, notably in the Melilla affair.

The American consul at Havana is Hamon O. Williams, of New York.

Their Narrow Escape.

Parker, Pa., March 7.—The passengers on the southbound afternoon train on the Pittsburg & Western road yesterday returned thanks for a marvelously narrow escape from certain death. As the engine whistled for Heiner station a terrific wind blew a huge tree directly across the engine, almost derailing the train. The tree made a complete wreck of the locomotive but no one was injured.

Burned by Enemies.

Appleton City, Mo., March 7.—The Appleton City Roller mills were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss $10,000; insurance $4,000. The fire was of incendiary origin and is supposed to be the result of an emnity. There is every evidence to show that the building was broken into, wrecked with dynamite and then fired. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

Quarantine Against Smallpox.

Little Rock, Ark., March 7.—The board of health of this city has issued a quarantine order against Hot Springs on account of smallpox. Last evening two men were arrested while coming into the city from Hot Springs. Smallpox has appeared at Hollywood. Forty cases were reported at Hot Springs yesterday. There are only two cases at Malvern.

A Patersonian Dead in Cuba.

Paterson, N. J., March 7.—News has just reached here that the Rev. Dr. Sebastian B. Smith, rector of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, died Sunday in Havana, Cuba. The news created great excitement on account of the size of his parish, and of the bitter struggle between the doctor and Mgr. Satolli.

Shot by a Drummer.

Fort Gaines, March 7.—Judson Hyatt, a well known dry goods drummer from Macon, was shot and killed at the Cook house here last night by Sheriff J. T. McAllister. The killing occurred in a difficulty between the two men in Hyatt's room. No one else was present at the time.

Shropshire Commits Suicide.

Birmingham, Ala., March 7.—J. L. Shropshire, for years the trusted cashier of the Central railway of Georgia in this city, has committed suicide. The railroad officials refuse to disclose the condition of his books.

Seized by France.

Paris, March 7.—The government is in receipt of information by cable from Zanzibar that the French have seized the island of Nossivey, lying southwest of Madagascar.

Mine Buildings Burned.

Milan, Mo., March 7.—The buildings, engine house and shafts of the Locust Valley Coal mine were destroyed by fire late last night. Loss $75,000, with little insurance.

Financially Embarrassed.

Texarkana, Ark., March 7.—The First National bank of this city closed its doors yesterday and Examiner Nelson is in charge. The condition of the bank is not known.

JAPANESE SLAUGHTER.

Desperate Fighting in the Streets of New-Chwang.

London, March 7.—The Tokio correspondent of the Central News says a dispatch from Gen. Nodzu, dated at Hai-Cheng yesterday, gives this information:

"As arranged, the army attacked old New-Chwang yesterday. The fighting began at 10 o'clock in the morning. Both divisions had entered the city by noon. Part of the enemy had fled to Yingkao, but the greater part still occupied the houses and streets and obstinately resisted the Japanese troops. The street fighting was desperate, but the Japanese won their way gradually street by street, until by 11 o'clock in the evening they had completely routed the enemy.

"The Chinese left behind 1,880 killed and wounded, 800 prisoners, eighteen guns, and great quantities of rifles, ammunition, banners and provisions. The Japanese loss was somewhat above 200 killed and wounded.

IS IT SUSIE MARTIN'S SKULL?

Ghastly Find in a Cellar of a Forty-Second Street House.

New York, March 7.—The skull of a human being was found in the cellar of 459 West 46th street, last night.

The skull is possibly that of Susie Martin, the trunk of whose murdered body was found a year ago in the basement of 517 West 39th street.

The skull is an unusually small one and has evidently been boiled at some time. It was found wrapped in some old linen, which may have been used on an ironing board and portions of a girl's plaid jacket which answers the description of that worn by Susie Martin when she disappeared.

After the murder of the girl her parents moved to Newark, where the father deserted his family. They are said to be destitute.

A GIRL BURNED TO DEATH.

Gertie Lewis Played at the Stove in Her Mother's Absence.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 7.—Gertie Lewis, 7 years old, of this city, was burned to death yesterday afternoon while playing about the stove at her home during her mother's absence.

The flames from Gertie's clothing ignited those of her brother Daniel, two years old.

He was badly burned about the face and arms, but it is believed that he will recover.

Neighbors heard the screams of the children, and put out the flames before any damage was done to the house.

CASTELLANES AT THE FALLS.

The Marquis and His Family Visit Points of Interest.

Niagara Falls, March 7.—The Marquis and Marquise de Castellane, Count Jean de Castellane, Miss Lloyd and servants arrived in this city late last night from New York and are registered at the Imperial hotel. They came to see the falls.

This morning the party went for a long drive, taking in all the points of special interest on the American and Canadian side of the river. They expect to leave this evening for New York.

Threatened the Governor's Life.

Indianapolis, March 7.—Gov. Matthews made public yesterday an anonymous letter which threatened his life if he does not stop his fight on the Roby race track. The latter says that the Roby interests will be alive long after the governor is dead. The communication states that a relative of the governor's accepted a bribe to influence him. The letter also states that Gov. Matthews in his future political career will need the influence of the Roby race track people.

Employes Dissatisfied.

Lawrence, Mass., March 7.—Some trouble is brewing among the operatives at the Washington mills over the matter of wages. The operatives think that they should receive an increase over the present wages. Yesterday a deputation was sent to the office, and failing to gain their point a body of them from the carding, spinning and drawing rooms quit work.

In the Sheriff's Hand.

Lebanon, Pa., March 7.—Another large manufacturing plant in this city is in the sheriff's hands, the Union Roller works, Colonel Robert H. Hammond proprietor. The works were seized on executions aggregating $4,000. Col. Hammond is one of the oldest and best known manufacturers in the Lebanon valley.

Jake Gaudaur's Challenge.

Orillia, Ont., March 7.—Jake Gaudaur, champion oarsman of the world is out with a challenge to row any man in the world, W. A. G. Harding preferred, on any course in America, for a stake of from $1,000 to $2,500 a side.

Designer Herreshoff Improving.

Providence, R. I., March 7.—It was said yesterday that Nat Herreshoff is well on the way to recovery. The patient seems to have shaken off all symptoms of pneumonia and his appetite is good.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Paris, March 7.—President Faure is suffering from influenza.

Constantinople, March 7.—Count Gropello, secretary of the Italian embassy here, died of cholera yesterday.

Athens, March 7.—The Hamburg-American line steamship Furst Bismarck with a large number of American excursionists on board, has arrived here.

Liverpool, March 7.—Gen. Barrios, the Nicaraguan special envoy to Great Britain, whose mission grew out of the troubles at Bluefields, is a passenger on board the Umbria, which left Queenstown on Sunday for New York.

London, March 7.—The Daily News is informed that the Duke of Sutherland has suddenly been taken ill at Trentham. His symptoms are alarming. A medical specialist left here this morning for Trentham in response to an urgent summons.

London, March 7.—The queen experienced no fatigue from her presence at the drawing room yesterday. She drove out during the afternoon, and appeared to be in excellent spirits. Her majesty will start for the continent on March 13, traveling incognito as the Countess of Balmoral.

WARNING TO STRIKERS

Notified That They Must Return or Lose Their Jobs.

Non-Union Men Join the Ranks of the Strikers—Many Trades Unions Indorse the Electrical Workers' Strike—Brotherhood of Carpenters Called Out.

New York, March 7.—The executive committee of the board of walking delegates who manage the electrical workers' strike and the sympathetic strike of the building trades unions met yesterday and then scattered in squads of twos and threes about the city.

"We are going out hustling," said one of the delegates.

Chairman Anslow, of the committee, refused to say whether they were about to order more strikes.

There are many large jobs that have not been molested, and it was said that they would not be struck except as a last resort.

Carpenters Go Out.

Five more non-union wiremen were persuaded by union pickets to quit jobs they had taken. Three were employed by the New York Electrical Equipment company.

One hundred and seventeen non-union carpenters, sixty-five wiremen and a few other mechanics from other cities had, it was said by the bosses, been put to work, but the union men declare the statement a bluff.

The Operative Plasterers' society has officially indorsed the strike under its seal.

Notices have been posted on the buildings whereon strikes have occurred, warning the strikers to return or their places will be filled by any other men who apply. The resolutions of the Master Masons' association, deprecating the strike and supporting the Electrical Contractors' association, have been framed and hung up at the entrances of all the "struck" buildings.

One hundred and fifty United Brotherhood carpenters were called out from John Jacob Astor's and Charles T. Yerkes' residences, on Fifth avenue, opposite Central Park; the Savoy hotel annex and the Clearing house in Cedar street.

Will Fill Their Places.

The strike was ordered by the district council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters in support of the electrical wiremen.

It is reported that committees of architects and the board of walking delegates and the electrical workers are to confer either to-day or to-morrow for the purpose of bringing about a settlement of the strike.

The Marble Industry Employers' association notified the secretary of the Compact Labor club of marble cutters' helpers, that unless the members of the latter body, who struck in sympathy with the electrical workers, return to their labors to-day, other men will be engaged in their places.

The matter was the subject of a special meeting of the Compact club last night in Central hall.

The Master Masons' association, the Electrical Contractors' association and the hoisting contractors held a session yesterday afternoon discussing the strike. The board of walking delegates also held a session.

Commissioner Feeney visited the headquarters of the strikers yesterday afternoon to see if he could do anything toward settling the strike. Nothing resulted from his visit. The pickets of the strikers are kept busy bringing to headquarters non-union men whom they persuaded to quit work.

Charged with Murder.

Toledo, March 7.—Peter Peaney, the husband of the woman who was murdered at Tontogany Friday night, was arrested yesterday charged with the crime. A new 32-calibre revolver, the size the woman was shot with, was found in his possession. The murder has caused great excitement and the arrest of Mr. Peaney was made at the instance of officers after he Tontogany officers had given up the case.

Cannes' Yacht Race.

Cannes, March 7.—The principal race to-day will be for yachts of more than 20-rating. The course will be from the clubhouse, round the island of St. Honorat to Point d'Aguille and back, ten miles, three times over. The first prize is 2,000 francs and a gold medal; second, 500 francs and a silver medal; third, 100 francs and a bronze medal. The Ailsa was measured, but the result was not made public.

Pottery Strikers Win.

Elizabeth, N. J., March 7.—The strike of the Elizabeth pottery workers was settled yesterday. The result is a substantial victory for the men. Last Saturday notice was given that there would be a reduction of 20 per cent. in wages. The men refused to submit to the cut, and the pottery was shut down. Yesterday the management agreed to pay the old rate. Work will resume next Monday.

No English Nobleman.

Trenton, N. J., March 7.—James Elder, a supposed crook, who was driven out of this city by the police five years ago for impersonating an English nobleman was arrested here yesterday to await the action of the authorities of Philadelphia, where he is said to be wanted for larceny and other offences.

Railroads and Highways Blocked.

Vienna, March 7.—Southern Austria is suffering again from the cold and heavy snows. The railroads and highways are impassable in many districts. Trains have not entered or left Fiume for twenty hours.

Teutonic Arrives.

New York, March 7.—The steamer Teutonic, from Liverpool, arrived at this port last night. She had on board 278 cabin and 427 steerage passengers. Time of passage, 6 days, 7 hours and 17 minutes.

Valkyrie III.'s Keel Cast.

Glasgow, March 7.—The keel of the challenger for the America's cup, Valkyrie III., was cast yesterday; eighty tons of lead were used.

An agreeable Laxative and Nerve Tonic. Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 25c., 50c., and $1.00 per package. Samples free.

KO NO The Favorite TOOTH POWDER for the Teeth and Breath, 25c.

Captain Sweeney, U.S.A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cts. Sold by Druggists.

SHILOH'S CURE.

THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures where all others fail. For Consumption it has no rival; has cured thousands, and will cure YOU, if taken in time. Price 25 cts., 50 cts., $1.00.

Sold by all druggists.

8147

Selling Off Regardless of Cost

TO CLOSE BUSINESS.

Store and Dwelling to let.

Everything must be sold. Counters, cases, millinery goods at half price, ladies' underwear, infant's wear, velvet ribbons, large double heater, large mahogany desk and bookcase combined, claw feet, and a number of books. Everything selling low. MRS T. J. GILLIES, 115 Madison ave

123 1m

Prof. A. Wehner,

TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.

ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipzic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.

References given and required.

Address letters to the office of this paper.

1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new

SPALDING

FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new

'95 Spalding Cyclometer

FREE.

W. H. ROGERS,

408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.

Tonsorial Parlor, 304 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cut a specialty. 10 19 t

The Perfect Typewriter.

Sold by

DAVID T. KENNEY,

Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.

198 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR

SOLID SILVER SPOONS.

COLLIER'S,

103 PARK AVENUE.

ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S

MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,

SOMERSET STREET.

OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING TYPEWRITER

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.

It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.

It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.

These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.

The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.

Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,

307 Broadway, New York.

1 5 6m

UP TO DATE.

Oh, dear to my mind is the old-fashioned ingle
That food recollection presents to my view,
Where forest-hewn logs would in fire-glow mingle
And cheer us with comfort and radiance too.
But warmer today, and more comfort insuring
Are fires whose fervor is kindled anew
With fruit of the mines that the wise are securing
From coal yards of Stevens, near Grant avenue—
That excellent coal you are sure of procuring
Near junction of Front St. and Grant avenue.
(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Timpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. K. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort
[Hygeia Hotel]

Or Virginia Beach, Va.
[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $16
Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE of meals and berths en route, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,

Pier 26, North River, New York.
W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

[Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

in the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue.
Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey pork and poultry a specialty.
203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles.

411 Park Avenue,

Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES

From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little booklet "Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning gentlemen's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,

175 North ave.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 7, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Short Stories of Heroism from Real Life.

A Hot Corner at Pea Ridge.

March 7, 1862, was the opening day at Pea Ridge, called by the Confederates Elkhorn Tavern, from a wayside inn near which the severest fighting took place. The Confederates, under Van Dorn, made a bold flank attack on Curtis' army, expecting to cut it off from its support. The grand charge was led by Generals McCulloch and McIntosh, who fell at the head of their troops. Two guns of Guibor's battery, well supplied with canister, moved out in the charge, and losing all the horses were stranded at the tavern under the fire of 20 Union guns. The only supports were "Rock" Champion's cavalry company of 22 riders, who were in saddle behind the tavern, out of range of the bullets. Seeing a Union regiment move out of the timber to charge the guns, Champion shouted to Guibor, "They're flanking you!"

"I know it, but I cannot spare a gun to turn on them," said the captain.

"Then I'll charge them!"

Turning to his band, he shouted: "Battalion, forward! Trot, march! Gallop, march! Charge!" And with a yell they dashed at the full regiment moving up, bayonet in hand. Three of the riders were old dragoons of the plains, and others had been with Scarlett's Heavies in their marvelous charge at Balaklava. Within 30 seconds they were among the Union ranks sabering, shooting and yelling like Mohicans. The result was a stampede of the infantry after one feeble volley. What was all Champion had hoped to do—break and confuse the charging line. Having secured a battle-flag for a trophy, he called off his men.

Mosby's Night Riders at Work.

The night of March 7, 1863, was made memorable in the camps of the army around Washington by one of Colonel Jack Mosby's boldest exploits. Having been chased up and down the country at a pace not to his liking by Colonel Sir Percy Wyndham's First New Jersey cavalry, he decided to raid Union headquarters at Fairfax Court House and carry the active Englishman to Richmond. Stealing past the Union cavalry pickets by a circuitous ride under the guidance of a deserter, his band struck the guards on the road just outside the village. These surrendered at the point of the pistol, and even then thought their captors were comrades playing a practical joke. The deserter, who knew the lines thoroughly, was sent after Colonel Wyndham, but that officer happened to be in Washington. In roaming about the Union lines Mosby's followers had picked up several prisoners, one of whom said that he was a guard at the headquarters of General Stoughton, commander of the infantry outposts. Failing to get the particular colonel he wanted, Mosby decided to take a general instead. With half a dozen trusty fellows he stole up to the window of the general's house, aroused the inmates and stated that he bore a dispatch for the commander. A staff officer came to the door and was seized without ceremony. He led the way to the room where the general lay asleep. The noise of entering made by the intruders aroused him, and turning to face them he saw a brace of revolvers pointing at his head. "You are my prisoner," said the guerrilla.

"What!"

"My name is Mosby. Stuart's cavalry is all around you and Stonewall Jackson between you and the army."

Thoroughly deceived, Stoughton offered no resistance, and the guerrillas galloped away with their prisoner from the midst of several thousand armed men who stood at his call.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

These are Good.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich will give a series of Lenten readings in the Congregational Church, Thursday afternoons at 4 beginning today. He will read from the recent book of the late Dr. Gadur of Cambridge, "The Ministry of the Spirit", which was recommended very highly by Dr. Pierson. Any who may wish to come will be welcome.

Fraternal Visit.

Mr and Mrs. W. W. Coriell, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hand, Mrs. Morse, Mr and Mrs. I. L. McVoy, and several others from Post 73, G. A. R., and Woman's Relief Corps No. 10, attended a reception in Elizabeth Tuesday evening given by Ulric Dahlgren Corps No. 20. They report having had a good time.

King Rooter Kenney.

The Plainfield Bowling Club are making big arrangements for playing off their tie game with the Bound Brookers at Somerville. John Kenney will officiate as King Rooter, and with his cohorts will make Rome howl every time Plainfield makes a point. Robert A. Meeker will act as referee.

The Bank Project.

The First National Bank is considering three sets of plans for the improvement of its quarters, and will soon decide whether to rebuild or remodel. The bank has leased the Clarkson or old postoffice building, their lease beginning May 1.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Wilson of "Tunlaw" has left town for a short visit.

Mrs. John VanName of Elmwood place is much improved from her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Vanderbeek celebrate their 41st wedding anniversary tomorrow.

M. M. Dunham is gradually improving, and his friends feel assured that he will recover.

Oscar Peterson of 817 South Second street is dangerously ill at his home with pneomonia.

Stephen Coleman after a short illness is able to resume work at Rugg's coal and wood yard.

The marriage of William Schenck and Miss Bertha Barber took place last evening in Scotch Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cullen of 1001 South Second street were made happy Tuesday by the advent of a son.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashley Grace Tuesday. Mrs. Grace was Miss Virginia Randolph of this city.

Mrs. Clark and her mother, Mrs. Saunders of New York, returned to their home this morning after a visit at the home of Roswell G. Horr.

Miss Kate M. Clark of Milton, Wis., a niece of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dunham, has left for the South and home after a two-months visit in Plainfield. Her many friends wish her godspeed.

Dr. W. F. Gaston yesterday afternoon performed on operation on F. M. Bacon to relieve him from a painful abscess which has confined him to his home for some time. The operation was successful.

—Weather tomorrow: Showery.

—Brittania was beaten at Cannes today by the new cutter Ailsa.

—The W. C. T. U. will give an entertainment Thursday, March 14, in their rooms, Watchung avenue, entitled "Aunt Samantha's Album of Living Pictures".

—Marsh, Ayres & Co. are judicious advertisers, and through The Press are constantly attracting new patrons. Their stock and work are the best, and their prices are rock-bottom.

—Mrs. Randolph Harriott has sold her lot on East Second street to Miss Lizzie Ribble, and a dwelling house will be erected thereon this Spring. The sale was effected by W. A. Woodruff, one of Plainfield's live real-estate dealers.

An Evening at Whist.

A number of the young people of Plainfield who meet every other week to play whist held their regular meeting last evening at the home of Miss Genevieve Daniels, West Eighth street. A pleasant evening, which concluded with an elaborate collation, was enjoyed by all.

Among those present were: Misses Florence Smith, Etta Blish, Lulu Patton, Swayze, Ethel Green, Arleen Crane, Clarence Cree, Arthur Freeman, Fred Freeman, Mr. Swayze, Fred Smith, Harry Patton, Gilmore Drayton, Frank L. C. Martin and Mr. Daniels.

Pleasant Surprise Party.

A surprise party was given last night to Miss Catherine Webster at her home on East Second street by a number of her friends, the occasion being her 70th birthday anniversary. The event was arranged by the Misses Hoeap, and afforded a pleasant time for about 20 guests. Refreshments were served. Among those present were Mr and Mrs Moore, Mr and Mrs Lane, Mrs Woodruff, Misses Carrie Boice, Laura Runyon, Margaret Vermeule and Carrie Moore, Mr and Mrs Coward, H Mulford Estil, Mrs Vermeule, and Mrs Lane of Denver, Col.

Elkwood Building Sold.

The Elkwood Building on East Second street was bought at the public sale at 2:30 this afternoon by C. T. Barney of New York.

The price paid was $27,000, which is $1,800 less than the amount of the two mortgages, the first being $20,000 and the second $8,000, with interest and fees of $900. The bidding was started at $17,000. The building originally cost $43,000.

Takes a Partner.

J. A. Smith, the energetic and popular West Front street grocer, finds the cares of his large business so heavy that he has taken in a partner, his brother, F. E. Smith. This is a splendid team of hustling merchants, and the house is bound to prosper.

Pure Cream of tartar—not a particle of alum, ammonia or any adulteration—in

Cleveland's Baking Powder

One reason why Cleveland's is the best that money can buy.

Cleveland Baking Powder Co., New York.

My Baby

was a living skeleton; the doctor said he was dying of Marasmus and Indigestion. At 13 months he weighed only seven pounds. Nothing strengthened or fattened him. I began using Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites, feeding it to him and rubbing it into his body. He began to fatten and is now a beautiful dimpled boy. The Emulsion seemed to supply the one thing needful.

Mrs. KENYON WILLIAMS,
May 21, 1894. Cave Springs, Ga.

Similar letters from other mothers.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

Co-partnership Notice.

Notice is hereby given that J. Augustus Smith has associated with him, as co-partner, Frederick E. Smith, and that the general grocery business formerly conducted by him at No. 125 West Front street, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, is now conducted and will hereafter be conducted by the subscribers as co-partners under the firm name and style of J. Augustus Smith & Bro.

J. AUGUSTUS SMITH,
FREDERICK E. SMITH.

1 376

DEATHS.

JOHNSON—In this city March 6, 1895, Mrs. Johnson, of Prescott place, in her 75th year.

Funeral from her late residence 214 Prescott place, Friday afternoon March 8, 1895, 2 o'clock at the house and 2:30 at St Mary's Church. Interment at St. Mary's cemetery.

Friends and relatives are respectfully invited to attend.

TERRILL & COLE,

Undertakers and Embalmers

200 West 2d street.

Next to Trinity Reformed Church.
First-class livery attached.
Telephone 153. 11 26 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan. Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

TO LET—Two small stores or offices on one of the finest corners in the city, with or without stable room for one or more horses; also one flat with six rooms. Inquire of F. Westphal & Son, cor. of West 4th and Liberty st. 3 6 m

MONEY wanted to introduce a patent (allowed), one-half interest given. Address L. W. H., 104 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J. 3 7 3

LOST—Last night, between depot and Madison avenue and Front street, one diamond ear-drop. One hundred dollars will be paid for its recovery. Samuel Dreier, pawnbroker, corner Madison avenue and Front street.

PURE Brahmas and Buff Cochins for sale. 452 West Second street.

TO LET—Two stores and middle top flat 224 East Front street; new 11 room house with all improvements 22 Norwood avenue, and a 6 room house 746 East 2nd street. Inquire J. Voehl 65 Somerset street. 3 7 6

TO LET—Desirable flats in the Miller Building. All improvements, steam heat. Inquire Miller 339 Park ave corner of 4th street. 3 7 6

FLAT to let from April 1, all improvements. Apply 612 Park avenue.

FOR SALE or to let, two new 7-room houses on Stone street. Address March, care of Press. 3 7 3

TO LET—Two houses, 7 rooms, including bath; improvements; city water. Rent $20. 310 Central ave. 3 7 9

A NEAT German girl wishes situation as upstairs girl or light housework. Call at 118 North avenue. 3 7 2

WATER motor for sale cheap. Address J. C. Clark, Plainfield.

WANTED—A young married man to drive a delivery wagon. Address L., care Press 3 6 tf

THE sale of furniture at 34 Sycamore avenue will be continued through Thursday and Friday. 3 6 2

TO LET—3 or 4 rooms for light housekeeping; no children. Apply 103 Duer street. 3 6 tf

FOR SALE—4 sash with glass 36x46 Inquire 123 West 2d st. 3 6 2

THE Employment Committee of the Organized Aid can recommend several competent women by the day at reduced prices, to supply the place of servants temporarily absent. Competent seamstresses also can be obtained. Apply at office, corner Park and North ave., from 9 to 11 o'clock. 3 4 6

SIX-ROOM flat to let; all improvements. 200 West 2d st. 3 4 tf

WANTED—By an English person, a situation as working housekeeper Please address Priscilla Negus, Bound Brook. 3 2 6

SMALL houses to let, centally located, $9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 2 26 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st. 2 7 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 1 30 tf

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt, of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

EQUAL TO MANY,
SUPERIOR TO MOST.

The Variety, Quantity and Value AT PECK'S.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.

VAN EMBURGH & SON

Have Placed on Sale

1 lot outing flannel at 3½c yard, worth 8c.
1 lot white apron checks at 3c yard, worth 7c.
" " " 6c yard, worth 10c.
" " " 8c yard, worth 15c.
1 lot yard wide bleached muslin at 5c; soft finish.
1 lot fast black SEAMLESS hose 8c. worth 15c.

We are still selling Sheeting Muslins at our cut prices. The above goods are displayed in our window.

Corner Store Babcock Building.

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,

Established nearly 60 years.

We sell only high-grade instruments and at as low prices as are charged by many dealers for comparatively worthless ones. Cash or installments.

Warerooms—Babcock Building, Plainfield, N. J. H. C. HADLEY, Manager.

Tuning a Specialty.

Call and secure a copy of the Monthly Musical Guest. 1 23 tf

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

We will refund money on any goods that donot prove entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before you purchase.

Figure up what you can save on the following sample list:

Read Carefully.

The following list of bargains are all Strictly First Quality Goods.

French Peas 16c can	25 cases of French Peas—P. H. LeMarie Nicolle & Co., Petits Pois Moyens No. 1. Special price while they last at 16c can, or $1.80 per dozen.	French Peas 16c can
Mixed Tea 29c lb	Mixed tea good quality our regular 45c grade special 29c pound or 4 pounds for $1	Mixed Tea 29c lb
5c pound	Soda crackers N Y make regular price 9c special 5c pound	5c pound
Tomatoes 6c can	Just received 50 cases more of those leader tomatoes We open these goods for your inspection special 6c can	Tomatoes 6c can

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each	100 doz cups and saucers Tea, breakfast and soup plates at 3c each 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each	3c each
27c each	Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each	27c each
73c each	Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each	73c each
9c each	Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each	9c each

Dry and Fancy Goods Department

10c yard	New Silkaline in very taking patterns, only 10c yard; former price 15c.	10c yard
65c yard	Something new in furniture coverings; silk effects at only 65c; former price 85c.	65c yard
$3.99	Imitation silk damask portieres at only $3 99; good value at $5. A full line of new window draperies at new prices.	$3.99

New Spring Dress Goods.

It will well repay you to call and examine our New Stylish Dress Goods. The Low Prices excel anything we have ever offered.

15 cts	25 dozen ladies stainless hose, full regular made, our own importation, only 15c or two pair for 25c.	15 cts

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.
DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.

Newest spring styles in a great variety of washable fabrics. New and stylish effects in all-wool and silk and wool. The prices are the lowest ever known.

Priestley's Silk Warp blk Henriettas

$1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5. For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

ECONOMY AT TABLE.

COOKING MUCH NEGLECTED IN AMERICAN FAMILIES.

A Frenchman Whose Salary is Many Thousand Dollars a Year Talks Sensibly Upon Short Comings and Gives Advice as to Cheap Living.

The economy of the French people in the matter of cooking has become proverbial. It has been said, and without much fear of contradiction, that a French family will live upon what an American family wastes or throws away. The thrift of the French people is due in the largest possible measure to their economy in the management in the culinary department of their households.

The food, even in the humblest families, although coarse, is invariably well cooked. Out of the simplest materials the French housewife will prepare a dinner that will not only please the palate, but delight the eyes as well. She delights in novel dishes, which she constructs out of the remnants of yesterday's dinner. She makes delicious salads from the very weed that grows out in her garden.

Xenophon Kuzmier, chef of New York's swellest hotel, who has devoted considerable thought to the subject of cooking for workingmen's families, recently said in discussing the matter:

"The trouble in this country is that the workingman's family has too much money to spend. If they had less the probabilities are that there would be less extravagance than there is among this class of people.

"The women who are the wives of these sons of toil have, in most cases, never received any instruction in the preparation of food for the table. All they know they have picked up in the most careless manner from the experiences of their friends. Many of them have never been taught by their mothers how to cook a single dish previous to their marriage.

"New housewives too often start in with the idea of beefsteak and fried potatoes, corned beef and cabbage and pig's head and greens are about all the dishes they are to live upon.

"The vegetables found in the markets are abundant in quantity and excellent in quality. You will find, however, that poor people always think they must buy the expensive kinds. Now, as a matter of fact, the common kinds, such as carrots, cabbage, turnips and beets, which are the leading vegetables in the market, can be bought at low prices the year round. In the season, cauliflower, tomatoes, asparagus, green peas and beans, squash and oyster plant can be bought for very little money. They can be prepared in a long variety of ways. There is no necessity of repeating the same vegetable, potatoes excepted, in the bill of fare for an entire week.

"Fruits, too, are abundant and cheap. I would advise workingmen to buy more apples, oranges, and other fruits for their table and less cabbage. Baked apples and stewed prunes cost but little and are very nourishing and healthful. Plain puddings and pies make an excellent dessert, provided they are not too rich, but fruit is better. Stale bread, rice, tapioca, farina and sago puddings cost but little and go a great ways in a large family. To make a good bread pudding you break up the bread and place it in a dish. Then pour over it some milk into which have been stirred three or four eggs, according to the size of the family. Slice a few apples and add a few raisins, some sugar to taste, a dash of cinnamon and a little butter. Then place in an oven and bake 20 minutes to half an hour.

"I am a great believer in soups as a nourishing food. They are easily prepared and are infinite in variety. A soup bone with plenty of meat attached can be bought at seven or eight cents a pound. A three pound piece will furnish a meal for six persons.

To make a plain vegetable soup place the meat, with bone attached, in an iron pot with three or four quarts of water. Season to taste. Add some vegetables in the shape of carrots, onions, leeks and celery, cut in small pieces; a little piece of cabbage and some parsley. The total cost of this soup for a family of six would not exceed 35 cents. Other soups can be made in the same way, taking the stock as the basis.

"Stews are another cheap form of food which can be made in great variety. Beef mutton or veal stew is made by cutting up the meat in small pieces and stirring with vegetables, such as potatoes, onions, carrots and tomatoes, on the fire, with a little water, for an hour and a half.

"In roasts, the dearest pieces are the cheapest. If you buy a sirloin roast you can eat all but the bone. In chuck roast there is too much bone and trimmings, which, of course, cannot be eaten. Roast pork with apple sauce, is a cheap dish, and yet it is one of the most delicious that can be prepared. The point in cooking pork or veal is that it shall be baked until it is thoroughly done. A safe rule to remember in cooking meats of any kind is that dark meats should be cooked rare and light meats well done.

"Salads are a splendid form of food. They give a relish to a dinner that nothing else can. Beside the green salads, such as lettuce, celery, field salad, escarole, which at present are rather expensive, there are a number which may be made at a small cost. These include potato salad, which is made by slicing cold or warm boiled potatoes and mixing with them some vinegar and oil and seasoning with pepper and salt. In case you have no oil, bacon fat may be used instead. Bean salad is made in the same way, boiled white beans being substituted for the potatoes."

What the President Can't Do.

The President cannot take any of the White House furniture or table ware with him into private life as a souvenir of his stay in the mansion. When the Harrison family wanted a White House souvenir Mrs. McKee brought to Washington the cradle in which Benjamin Harrison was rocked and kept it in the nursery all through her father's administration, so that she might think of it afterward as the White House cradle.—Washington Star.

A Poorhouse By Another Name.

Not long ago the poorhouse at Fort Howard was burned down. The Green Bay Gazette quotes a tender hearted citizen of Fort Howard as expressing the hope that when it is rebuilt it will be called by some less repellent name, such, for instance, as Old Folks' Home, or the Home for the Friendless. He says: "Many people who ought to be inmates of such a place are kept from going there simply because it is called the poorhouse. If it was called what it really is, a home for the aged and friendless, people would not dread going."

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

M'ALLISTER'S BALL.

His Bitter Controversy Over the Washington Centennial.

The death of Ward McAllister recalls the famous and amusing controversy in which he became involved with Stuyvesant Fish, Elbridge T. Gerry and others in 1889, over the management of the ceremonial ball of the Washington Centennial.

It was a most spirited controversy, diversified with much personality of a more or less acrimonious nature. For the time it helped to make miserable the lives of Mr. Fish and his fellow members of the Centennial Entertainment Committee, and furnish entertainment for the whole country, while it also served more than any other event in his career to establish Mr. McAllister's national reputation as the leader of the fashionable host and the greatest amateur chef and manager in the country.

The trouble was that McAllister assumed from the start a greater responsibility than Mr. Fish and his committee thought him entitled to. He went ahead with the arrangements, exactly as if he was the supreme head, and he made the machinery of his Patriarchs' balls the nucleus of the mechanism of the big ceremonial ball.

He consulted with the caterers of the city and made contracts for the supper, the wines and the decorations. He settled all the details of the ceremonial events of the ball, and made up and gave out for publication the list of the sixteen women whom he had chosen to dance the quadrille d'honneur.

It was this last act that brought on the storm. Stuyvesant Fish had made a list of women himself, but Mr. McAllister had rejected it, holding that some of Mr. Fish's personal friends thereon were not suited, by reason of birth and dignity, to so great an honor.

The result was a very bitter feeling between the two, and Mr. Fish's committee took the matter up, after a vast amount of discordant passages at arms, and clipped the manager's wings.

This was, indeed, a sad blow to Mr. McAllister. In a moment all his plans were swept aside, and he was left merely the floor manager, to carry out the plans of "that man Fish," as he contemptuously designated the chairman of the Entertainment Committee in a newspaper interview.

He resigned the place of secretary, but still clung to the post of manager, in the hope that affairs might still permit him to see the fruition of the dream of his life.

At a meeting of the committee angry words passed, and Mr. Fish demanded his resignation as manager, which he refused to give—to him—adding that if Mayor Grant, the head of the General Committee wanted it he would resign to him and to him only.

A very bitter war of words followed. First McAllister talked to reporters and then Fish talked. The controversy dragged on for weeks in this way and made the spiciest of reading.

"Neither Fish nor Gerry has the slightest idea of how to get up a ball," said McAllister. "It requires a special talent and much observation and study. Gerry says that it makes no difference if you have nothing better than pork and beans, so long as you have a big crowd. That's his idea of a great ceremonial ball.

"I have seen this Centennial ball in my mind, pictured even its smallest particulars. I saw its surging masses, never quiet, for I meant to put champagne on one side and refreshments on the other to keep the great kalidoscope ever moving.

"I saw in my imagination the greatest ceremonial that the country had ever seen in the entrance of the President of the United States. I saw the opening quadrille in its every movement—a magnificent thing, as magnificent to the eye as to the fancy—and last of all the great cotillon.

"I have attended the great balls of the Duke of Tuscany, of the Emperor of Austria, of dozens of other royal potentates, and I had planned to reproduce in this ball the best features of all."

As McAllister didn't resign, the committee literally "fired" him in the middle of April in a letter from Secretary Gouveneur Morris, in which he said that as the committee had robbed the office of manager of its importance, it was the committee's wish, that he, McAllister, should continue no longer to fill the office.

"The whole thing in a nutshell," said Mr. Fish for publication, "is that McAllister is getting pretty well advanced in years, and the committee, consisting of William Jay, W. W. Astor, W. K. Vanderbilt, Robert Goelet and myself, is not one that can be bossed by any demagogue, big or little, young or old."

A man one time a good thing had
Which people would have prized,
But he never sold a single one,
For he never advertised.

—The steamship Havel ran aground in Gedney's Channel this morning. She will float at high tide.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell; 25c., 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists.

Advertised Letters.

Postoffice Plainfield, N. J., March 4, 1895.

Apgar Mrs Isaiah	Foster Mrs M E
Anderson Mrs	Falian Frank 2
Oberger Mr	Garthwaite L M
Cottinger Miss M E	Lockwood Mrs
Cradox Miss Lizzie	Packard W Alfred
Dunham Chas L	N J Mutual Live Stock Association

Their First Anniversary.

At the regular meeting of Paughcaughnaugheingue No. 193, held in their wigwam last evening a committee of five was appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the first anniversary of the above named Tribe to be held April 11 as upon April last. The citizens of Plainfield were more than amused by the first appearance of the Indians with the long name, and whose charter contains the names of many business and professional men of our city. John H. Carney, representative to the Great Council of the State of New Jersey, made his report as Representative, of the proceedings of the Great Council. It was a masterly piece of work fully detailed, and one would imagine hearing it read that they were really at the Great Council. He gave in full the Great Incohonee's speech, also the speech of the Great Sachem, Wm. J. Forsyth, and never forgot giving compliments to the above Tribe with the long name. Spell it, its number is 193. By a vote of this Tribe he received a vote of thanks for the able and complete report.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sence of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

Lost a Diamond.

Mrs. Samuel Dreier was so unfortunate as to lose one of the diamond pendants of an $800 pair of earrings last night. She was returning from New York on the 7:30 train, and replaced them in her ears from her purse after passing Westfield. At the teatable home she discovered her loss. She offers $100 reward for recovery of the stone.

Narrowly Missed a Fall.

Frederick Mosher, plumber, while working on the roof of the Crescent Building on Watchung avenue yesterday afternoon slipped from his position and narrowly escaped falling to the ground. He managed to catch hold of the gutter, thus saving himself. Those who saw his situation were sure he would meet his death.

—Hillier & Co's delivery wagon now makes a trip to Fanwood every Tuesday.

—Special money-saving bargains are offered by Fulper for tomorrow and Saturday. His ad gives details.

—"Pop" Green will have charge of the refreshments at the banquet of the Knights of Pythias tomorrow night.

—Two tramps were caught stealing a ride on the 7:12 Somerville train last evening and were ejected by Conductor Haines.

—Firemen in full uniform are again given the privilege of riding on the street railway free, and in going to a fire the badge will answer if unable to have on a uniform.

—E. H. Clevely, the North avenue caterer, is making improvements about his place, and others are planned which will greatly facilitate business during the Summer season.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

MUSIC HALL,

Jos. Sohl, Lessee and Manager.
Telephone 49B.

3 Nights Commencing Thursday, March 7

Special return engagement of the sterling soubrette,

Miss Lillian Kennedy,

supported by a strong company of first-class artists, in

SHE COULDN'T MARRY THREE,
A MIDNIGHT FROLIC,
A DAUGHTER OF DIXIE.

A succession of beautiful stage pictures. New songs, new dances, new specialties.

Prices 10, 20, 30 and 50c. EXTRA—Special matinee Saturday afternoon for ladies and children. Admission 10 and 20c, including reserved seat.

A. W. BAKER, 206 Park Ave. B. C. YOUNG, 337 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young,
Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed. 32 m

BEEF, WINE, IRON.

The words suggest STRENGTH and ENERGY if any words can. Spring Fever is at hand. Perhaps you need BEEF and IRON. The wine only serves to hold them in solution together. Pint bottles of the best that can be made at

Reynolds's Pharmacy,
AT 50 CENTS

They are worth 13c. per yard and nave never sold for less. We will sell them

TOMORROW,

(Friday) for 5c per yard.

There are 1,500 yards, but come in the morning before the assortment is broken.

WHITE,
of Plainfield.

Hot Rolls

of carpet. Quite an accident happened to us while carrying carpets to our carpet department, 5 rolls tumbled down a flight of stairs; nothing broke but the prices and we are happy to say they b oke in half. Not a piece of carpet have we forgot to mark down. If ever you had a chance to buy carpets cheap, this is one that you should grasp. A bare floor is as bad as a bare head. These are only a few of our many specials.

53c..Brussels carpet handsome pat'erns..53c
69c.....Brussels carpet worth 85c.....69c
29c.....Ingrain carpet worth 45c.....29c

Mattings

15 rolls of 17c matting 12½—by roll 10c.
13 " 30c " 10c " 15c.
10 " 35c " 25c " 20c.

Oil Cloths

In this line we have the best selection and lowest prices of any house in the city.

Ladies' Separate Skirts

Crepon skirts $4 25—worth $6
Black serge skirts $3 75—worth $5
Cloth skirts, all sizes, $2 49, worth $3 50
Just received an elegant line of Spring Capes in b'ack, blue and tan at $1.25. This price for a short time only.

Infants' Long Robes

$1 25 will buy a $1 65 robe, nicely trimmed.
$1 45 " $2 robe, handsomely made.
$2 00 " $2 65 robe, Valenciennes lace trimming.

Housefurnishing Goods Department.

Sorry you did not get one of our lamps last week, but this week we have a sale on Brooms and Wash Boards. For one week we will give you
A 20c Broom for 11c.
A 23 c Wash Board for 12c.
and bargains in any article that you can think of in this department.

Dress Goods

We still lead with our goods on the top of the ladder.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

Three New Styles.

A Year of Paper Dolls 60c
The Brownies in Paper Dolls 60c.
Famous Queens in Paper Dolls 15c.

R. C. RAND,
140 West Front st.

Are You Reading

Those Interesting Monographs on

Napoleon

BY

John Clark Ridpath

IN THIS PAPER?

The Greatest Warrior

Described by one of

The Greatest Historians

They Are Published Saturdays.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,

for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.

The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.

Corner Park avenue and Front street.

BIG CUT.

Special Friday and Saturday.

Philadelphia 1 lb Print Creamery Butter 20 cts.

4 lbs cod fish for 25 cents; 1 lb package best macaroni 7½ cents; Dried green peas 5 cents a quart; Best laundry starch 5 cents lb; Granulated sugar 4 cents lb; 2 lbs extra creamery cheese for 23 cents.

AT FULPER'S.

There Are Others

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,
177 North avenue.

PHOENIX.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. special are leaders. 2 26 3m

New Lines of Dinner Sets,

Rich Cut Glass, White China for decoration, Fancy Flower Pots

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

MUNYON'S COLD AND COUGH CURES

Guaranteed to Check a Cold in a Few Hours and Prevent Grip and Pneumonia.

Colds leads to coughs, cought to grip, pneumonia and consumption; therefore, it is all important to check a cold before it reaches the lungs. Munyon's Cold Cure will positively break a cold inside of 24 hours if taken as soon as the cold manifests itself. When the cold reaches the lungs or bronchial tubes the Cough Cure should be used alternately every half hour with the Cold Cure. The Cold Cure is guaranteed to prevent pneumonia if used in the beginning of a cold. Pneumonia or inflammation of the lungs can be controlled by the use of these two cures.

The Cough Cure positively cures bronchitis, tickling in the throat, hoarseness, loss of voice, soreness of the chest, difficulty in breathing, hacking cough and all pulmonary diseases where the lungs are not too far decomposed or covered with tubercles.

If you are ailing step into the nearest drug store and get a 25c vial of one of Munyon's Remedies. No matter what your disease, or how many doctors have failed to cure, it will give you relief.

Those who are in doubt as to the nature of their disease should address Professor Munyon, 1505 Arch st., Philadelphia, giving full symptoms of their disease. Professor Munyon will carefully diagnose the case and give you the benefit of his advice absolutely free of all charge. The Remedies will be sent to any address on receipt of retail price.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held March 4, 1895, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, March twenty-fifth, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 24, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council March 4, 1895, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000, payable to the treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

1,067 feet 24 inch pipe sewer,
2,284 feet 12 " " "
4,925 feet 10 " " "
80 605 feet 8 " " "
108 feet 8 to 12 inch cast iron pipe sewer,
116 manholes,
28 drop connections at manholes,
179 lampholes,
68 flush tanks,
4,141 Y branches,
875 extension connections on Y branches,
5,735 feet underdrains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposals, specifications, contract, bond, &c., may be obtained at the office of A. J. Gavett, constructing engineer, No. 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MAC MURRAY,
City Clerk.

GEO. J. TOBIN,
187 North avenue.

Practical Plumber

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer
TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

The sign on the windows reads

Woolston & Buckle,

Paper Hangers.

We have had the door hinges and latch oiled up so that getting in is easy. So also is the getting out.

Prices are so low on Wall Papers that you will buy before you go.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7 30, 9 40, 11 a. m., 2 30, 5, 8 30 p. m.
Close—7 and 9 20 a.m., 1 45, 6, and 7 30 p. m

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8 40 a. m., 2 40, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 15 a. m., 4 30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arrives 12 m; closes 9 20 a.m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9 30 to 10 30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6 15 p. m

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 112 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

R. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 8024, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Langer, Fin. Sec. 9 25 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 10 East Front street

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. C. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

DRAMA AND OPERA.

A PREPONDERANCE OF FOREIGN ACTORS IN NEW YORK.

Frau Sucher Scores a Success in German Opera and Gabrielle Rejane Acts So Naturally that Her Art is Lost Sight of. "Rory of the Hill."

It is in the works of Wagner that Frau Sucher has achieved her greatest successes. Not only is she said to possess a remarkable voice, but she is also looked upon as one of the most impressive actresses upon the operatic stage. Particularly noble is her Isolde said to be and it certainly formed one of the features of last year's festival performances at Beyreuth. She is a woman of generous proportions, with strong features, keen eyes and black hair, and it is easy to imagine that she must be an ideal Irish maid in the great love tragedy of the Beyreuth master. Frau Sucher has sung the principal dramatic soprano roles in Wagner and Gluck's works, besides Desdemona in Verdi's "Otello," for which she professed a strong admiration.

FRAU ROSA SUCHER.

A French actress has taken the town by storm. During twenty years Gabrielle Rejane has been an actress in comedies at the Paris Vaudeville Varieties and Odeon. It was not until she enacted the role of Catherine Hubscher in "Madame Sans Gene" a year and a half ago, however, that her fame extended beyond France. It is said that Sardou and Moreau in writing that role had her in mind as its performer. It is certain that her abilities are exactly the right kind for a correct and amusing portrayal of the character. That was demonstrated at Abbey's theater when she made her American debut. Those who see and read of theatricals in the great cities know all about the play through its performance in English, and so there is no need to make a repetition of its characteristics here. It remains only to tell that Mme. Rejane played the washerwoman countess as well as fancy could imagine it done. She worked in the laundry like a workingwoman, handling the clothes and implements in a matter of fact manner and not as though afraid the audience might think she had washed and ironed for a living before she became an actress. In the later scenes devoted to her experiences in court circles, as a novice in fashionable deportment and an unaccustomed wearer of modish gowns, she was simply honest and sincere in her treatment of the character. No self consciousness was discernable. She was not a lady of delicate fiber, merely pretending to be coarse grained and all the while afraid of being really deceptive. She was bad mannered because she neither knew how or cared to be polite. The scenes of rehearsal with the dancing master, of trying on slippers with the shoemaker and of putting on and taking off a riding habit with the dressmaker were very felicitous. Her awkwardness was good humored, too, and she was amused with herself, but never showed a sign of make believe or apology in all her lack of gentility in speech and bearing. When she came to the fiery quarrel with the princesses, the independent encounter with Bonaparte and the serious undertaking to clear the empress of calumny, she was not faulty through any monotony of method. She made a success that was unequivocal, both as an artiste and as an entertainer. None of this result was due to youth or beauty, for she possesses neither. Her face is brightly intelligent and piquantly expressive, but it is extremely ugly. It was her acting altogether that won the triumph.

Though strong in a pictorial sense when it began its stay at the Academy of Music, "Rory of the Hill" has been made to carry a good storm effect, beside its original outfit. The storm begins in the eviction scene. In this, the left side of the stage, as viewed from the audience, is set with a row of thatched huts. On the other side is Rory's dwelling, backed up by a small stable in which a donkey and goat seem to be very much at home. Toward the back of the stage a bit of scenery appears that represents a knoll, topped by a fine dwelling, with huts and woods scattered over its side. Beyond this in dim perspective is a much higher hill, its summit being seemingly several miles away. It is in this space between the lesser and greater hills that the mimic electric storm gets in its work, the noise of it growing louder and soon being followed by flashes of lightning that illuminate the rear stage space, without being themselves revealed. Another step in the storm's progress brings the zig-zag flashes into view, and finally they assume the white brilliancy of the real article. Each flash runs across the canvas with a dozen sharp-cornered kinks in it, and the light emitted illuminates the hill-top momentarily in a way that is very realistic. When the cruel landlord asks Rory if he has brought all the villagers together to incite them to riot, Rory replies that he has not; that he cautioned every man in hearing not to throw a stone that he couldn't lift. That is the cue for the biggest thunder reports. The whole storm effect is a big advance over the rattle of sheet iron and flash of light that has so long served to mark the villian's deeds in melodrama.

LINWARD.

An Ode to Pie.

You can talk about your lemon pie, your currant pie and all,
And preach about your mincemeat from the spring until the fall
But the sweetest pie in Georgia and the one that takes my eye
Is the Georgia raised and Georgia baked old fashioned pumpkin pie.
—Atlanta Constitution.

"NEW WOMAN" AND THE MOUSE.

Not Half as Courageous as One Might Imagine.

"I believe you are what is known as a 'New Woman,' Miss M—?" said the writer to a lady who holds very advanced views respecting the proper status of her sex.

"Yes; I am proud to say I am."

"Do you contend that woman is man's equal in all things?"

"Certainly."

"But she has not distinguished herself in the history of the world quite to the extent man has?"

"No; for the simple reason that she has always been kept in subjection. She has never had an equal chance."

"Otherwise, I presume, we should have had woman the equals, or superiors, of Shakespeare, Raphael, Isaac Newton, Nelson, Wellington and all the rest?"

"Unquestionably. Woman has never been allowed to develop herself physically or mentally. It has served the brutal purpose of men to treat her as the weaker vessel, to regard her as a chattel, and make her a slave to their domestic comforts. But at last our eyes have been opened, and we are entering upon a new order of things. The tyranny will soon be overpast."

"Then, you do not believe that women needs the protecting, strong arm of man?"

"Certainly not. Women have just as much courage as men; very often more. They will endure without a cry physical sufferings under which a man will writhe and howl. In the hour of danger it is the woman who stands calm and composed, while the man loses his presence of mind and is panic-stricken."

The writer had placed unnoticed on the floor a small clockwork mouse which he held down with his foot. At this point he liberated it, and it ran quickly across the carpet in full view of the lady and disappeared under a sofa.

The "New Woman" gave a fearful shriek, sprang to the seat of a chair and stood livid with fear.

"A mouse!" she cried. "Did you see it? Oh, kill it! Do—do kill it! Where is it gone? Please keep it away from me!"

But the writer had himself taken refuge on a chair, where he simulated a condition of abject terror.

"I—I really couldn't, Miss M—. You see, I'm only a m-m-man. You do it! You are a woman, remember—always calm and composed in danger."

"Oh, you coward! The idea of a man being frightened by a mouse!"

"But you are frightened, too."

"It's a curious antipathy I have."

"Look out! It's trying to get up the leg of your chair!"

The lady gave another shriek, and made a pitiful appeal for help.

"Oh, please, please do something! If you don't, I shall faint."

The writer, thinking the joke had gone far enough, declared that he could not see a woman in distress without going to her assistance, no matter what the consequence. He, therefore, went in search of the enemy, and after diving beneath the sofa and knocking over a few chairs, he stood before her with the mouse dangling by the tail from between his finger and thumb.

When the "New Woman" saw the clockwork and knew the trick that had been played upon her, she demonstrated that in expressions of withering scorn and contempt her sex is far and away man's superior. Among other things, the writer is "a mean, horrid ungentlemanly fellow, and she will never forgive him—never!"

WOULDN'T TOLERATE RAPHAEL.

Art in Chicago as Viewed by a Criminal Court Justice.

After looking through a copy of the Decameron published by a Chicago publishing company, Justice Bradwell decided that it was unfit for publication or distribution, and J. L. Veronee, manager of the company, was held to the Criminal Court. Veronee's lawyer objected that the pictures in his client's edition are no more indecent than the illustrations in dozens of other works of art which circulate without question. In proof of his statement he laid before Justice Bradwell the copy of Eugene Munst's portfolio of Raphael's masterpieces. The attorney explained that he had secured the book from the public library.

"Well, I don't like these, either," said the Justice, after he had glanced at several of the pictures.

"Who is this man, Raphael, any way?" asked the Judge.

"He was a great painter, your Honor," was the attorney's answer.

"Did he belong to the Union?" continued the Justice, bound not to be balked in his search for information.

"Why, no; he was a great artist nearly 400 years ago."

Even this answer did not satisfy the Court, and he then said what he would have felt to be his painful duty to perform toward Painter Raphael had the latter lived in Chicago to-day and been brought before him.

"I shall, therefore, treat you as I would have used Raphael," said the Judge in pronouncing his decision, "and shall be obliged to hold you to the Criminal Court in $1,000 bonds.

Veronee had his bondsman with him.

DIDN'T KEEP TIME.

Hans Von Bulow Was Worried by the Movement of a Fan.

Hans von Bulow had a decided penchant for making speeches from the conductor's rostrum and for doing eccentric things.

One sweltering day the irascible Hans was conducting a symphony concert. Suddenly and without cause, in so far as the audience or the orchestra could see, he rapped sharply on his stand and stopped the music. Facing his audience he said:

"I can't go on with this concert so long as that lady there continues to fan herself," and he pointed a finger at an inoffensive matron, who, with fan still in the air, was gazing in openeyed astonishment at the ochestra leader. She was seated near the stage.

"That lady is fanning in one-eighth time," vouchafed Hans, "while I'm playing in four-fourth time."

A Nominating Speech.

Col. Kinsey Hampton of the Tenth Kentucky Congress district nominated the Rev. Mr. Hopkins for Congress last fall on the Republican ticket, and this is how he began his speech, the colonel being a born orator: "And where, fellow citizens, do you suppose I found this man of God? Upon a rude platform in the mountains erected by those primitive but christian people, discoursing from the holy Scriptures in such a manner as to move men to tears and women to more violent emotions."

BRIAR PIPE GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY ONE POUND bale OF

DUKES MIXTURE

for 35 cents

Every pipe stamped DUKES MIXTURE or A.T.Co.

2 oz. PACKAGE 5¢

Treasury Department.

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1895.

Whereas, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882,

Now, therefore, I, James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business on March 1, 1915.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, 1895.

JAMES H. ECKELS,
Comptroller of the Currency.

s 4 30

READY TO PAINT.

Before you put on paint see that the article you put on is what it is represented. It is poor economy, indeed, to put on a mixture of burnt clays and kerosene. Come to us and get the best.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.,
141 East Front st.

W. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.
First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's
LAW OFFICES,
Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

Tel. 29B Established 1878.
ADDIS & SON,
PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
Opp Roberts's Livery 132 North Ave

H. DeMOTT,
With livery attached,
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,
175 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 98 y

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET.
(Estate D. I. Smalley.)
94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.
GEO. EGEL, Manager.
We sell only first-class goods, at low prices for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 10 t

HENRY C. ADAMS,
INSURANCE.
Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

J. W. VAN SICKLE,
Dealer in all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats
GAME IN SEASON,
New No. 139., North Ave., Plainfield.
Telephone 148 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

MOSLER SAFE CO.,
contractors to the United States Government
Mosler Patent Safes,
(fire and burglar-proof) in general use
All Over the World.
Lowest prices. Special attention and information given by
S. W. CLARK,
General Agent,
118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.
Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

J. C. POPE & CO.,
Insurance Agents,
NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET
Plainfield, N. J.

Granite Iron Ware.
Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.
Stoves at reduced prices.
Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-iron Work.
Plumbing and Heater Work.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
119 East Front St.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Jan 20, 1895, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

FAST LINE leaves Philadelphia 12 25 p m daily with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars for Pittsburg, Northern and Eastern Pennsylvania

6.37 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.24 p.m.—SOUTHWESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

8 42 p. m.—PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping cars, daily, for Pittsburg, Columbus, Chicago, and Toledo, daily, except Saturday for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 01, 9.05, 9.36 a. m., 9.39 p. m.

Sundays, 1, 9 05, 9 36 a. m., 9 41 p m.

For Baltimore only 1 37 p. m., week-days.

For Newark and New York—3 02, 5 34, 5 46, 6 17, 6 45, 7 07, 7 20, 7 49, 7 57, 8 06, 8 28, 8 35, 9 47, 9 17, 9 41, 9 48, 10 20, 10 38, 10 49, 11 07, 11 48 a. m., 1 13, 1 20, 1 56, 224, 2 40, 345, 3 27, 3 47, 4 42, 5 15, 5 28, 5 48, 6 08, 6 27, 6 42, 6 58, 7 07, 7 26, 7 39, 9 41, 9 10, 9 30, 10 03, 11 03 and 11 56 p. m.

Sundays 3 02, 5 34, 7 54, 8 45, 9 20, 9 47, 10 12, 10 38, 10 49 a. m., 12 35, 1 54, 3 28, 5 46, 6 48, 8 38, 8 54, 9 48, 11 05, 12 12, 12 25, 7 58, 8 30 9 15, 10 16, 11 46 and 11 56 p. m.

For New York only, 6 10 a. m. daily.

For Philadelphia—1 01, 6 37, 7 19, 9 05, 9 26, 9 41, 48 A. M.; 1 05, 1 37, 3 22, 5 02, 6 32, 7 46, 9 42, 9 59 P. M. Sundays at 1 05, 9 37, 9 05, 9 26, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

(2 25p.m. with through Buffet parlor car) Sundays 8 59 a. m.

Cape May, Sea Isle City and Ocean City 1 37 p. m. weekdays.

For Rahway—1, 1 42 daily ex. Monday, 4 06, 6 44, 7 10, 7 59, 8 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 39, 11 42, a. m., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 48, 3 20, 3 39, 5 09, 6 38, 6 52, 8 22, 8 40, 9 06, 9 36, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 1 42, 8 59, 9 42, 9 49, 10 25 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 3 47, 5 29, 6 50, 8 20, 8 40, 9 21, 9 37, 9 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 36, 9 50, 11 42 a. m., 12 36, 1 37, 2 48, 3 39, 5 09, 6 38, 6 52, 8 22, 8 40, 9 06, 9 36, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night, week-days Sundays, 1 42, 8 59, 9 42, 9 49, 10 25 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 3 47, 5 29, 6 50, 8 20, 8 40, 9 21, 9 37, 9 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 36, 9 50, 11 42 a. m., 12 36, 1 37, 2 48, 3 39, 5 09, 6 38, 6 52, 8 22, 8 40, 9 06, 9 36, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 1 42, 8 59, 9 42, 9 49, 10 25, 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 3 47, 5 29, 6 50, 8 20, 8 40, 9 21, 9 37, 9 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 09 a.m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, and 7 20 9 54 p m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 43, 10 25, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For Perth Amboy—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 09, 12 46 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, 7 20 7 56 9 54 and 12 27. Sundays, 1 43 10 25, 11 47 a m 10 14 p m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 35, 2 43 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 26, 11 42 A. M.; 1 05, 1 37, 2 48, 5 09, 6 38, 7 46, 9 42, 9 59 P. M. Sundays at 1 05, 6 19, 9 05 9 26 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

For Lambertville, Philipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M., 2.43 and 6.36 p. m., and 5.40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 43 P. M.

For Freehold—7 59, 11 43 a. m. 4 38, 5 08 p.m., via. Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via. Monmouth Junction—7 59 and 11 43 a. m., 4 38 and 5 08 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 4 13 5 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 25 a. m., and 5 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Sea Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p m.

For Boston—8 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 6 20, 7 35, 8 10, 9 00, 9 20, 10 20, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 10, 12 20 12 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 20, 4 00, 4 10, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 5 50, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 40, 7 00, 7 30, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 50 p. m., 12 10 night. Sundays, 1 00 6 15, 8, 9 00, 9 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 2 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 6 30, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 15, 11 00 p. m., and 12 10 night.

H. P. BALDWIN, General Manager
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Spring, Housecleaning, WALL PAPER

Do you know spring is near? Well you'll need Wall Paper for tha room and Paint, Oil and Brushes to make your home sweet and clean after the long cold winter.

Fine lot of Paper for 1895 that will please the most fastidicus.

Of course there is only one place to get these things if you want the

Best and Cheapest,

and that place is on the corner of

North and Watchung Aves.

LOVE'S?

Yes!

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS,
30 PARK AVE.
He Manufactures Them

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.
—NO.—
BUT FULL VALUE.
O. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging.
87 Chatham street.

MONEY LOANED.
Local Representatives Wanted.
Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors, with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m

H. Eggerding,
121 PARK AVENUE.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 9tf

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. TIME Table in Effect, Nov. 18, 1894.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 16, 3 37, 6 30, 6 59, 7 29, 7 50, 7 55, 8 00, 8 15, 8 37, 9 32, 10 04, 10 37, 11 19, A. M., 12 06, 1 15, 2 07, 3 00, 3 13, 3 51, 4 00, 5 04, 5 54, 7 09, 8 30, 9 32, 10 17, 11 30 P. M. Sunday—3 14, 5 37, 8 06, 8 37, 8 59, 10 05, 11 10, 11 38 A. M., 12 38, 1 45, 3 00, 5 20, 5 56, 7 11, 8 32, 10 17 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street, 4 30, 6 00, 7 15, 8 40, 9 10, 10, 11 45, A. M., 1 10, 1 30, 2 30, 3 30, 4 45, 4 45, 5 30, 6, 8 15, except Saturday, 8 00, 8 45, 9 30, 11 30, 12 15, 2 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10 15, 11 30 P. M. 12 15, 1, night. Sunday—4 30, 7 15, 8 30, 9 15, A. M., 12 M., 1, 2 15, 4, 5 30, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night. 1 A M.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 38, 6 10, 6 59, 7 26, 7 30, 8, 8 40, 9 39, 10 04, 10 37, A. M., 12 06, 1 15, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 51, 4 50, 5 04, 6 04, 7 08, 8 50, 10 17, 11 28 P. M. Sunday—8 01, 8 52, 10 08, 11 20, A. M. 12 39, 1 45, 2 30, 5 36, 7 11, 8 29, 8 32, 10 17 P. M.

Leave Newark 6 15, 7 15, 7 55, 8 39, 9 09, 10 05, 11 25 A. M., 1 15, 1 35, 2 30 Saturday only, 3 05, 3 35, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 34, 6 10, 6 30, 7 15, 7 35, 8 40, 10 05, 11 25 P. M. Sunday—7 30, 9 45, 9 25, 11 35, A. M., 1 10, 2 25, 4 10, 5 40, 7 30, 9 25, 10 30 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 5 45, 7 10, 8 14, 9 54, 11 a.m., 12 45 2 00, 3 25, 5 05, 5 14, 6 54, 8 04, 9 15, 10 30, 11 22 P. M. Night Sunday—6 44, 9 30 9 54, A.M., 2 05, 3 25, 5 14, 6 15, 10 15, 11 14 P.M.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 00, 7 25, 7 45, 8 20, 9 05, 9 45, 11 40 A. M., 12 50, 1 45, 3 05, 3 25, 4 25, 5 25, 6 35, 8 17, 9 45, 11 05, P. M. Sunday 8 25, 9 45, 10 55 A. M., 12 05, 1 20, 5 05, 6 45, 8 02, 8 05, 9 40 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 8 14, 9 54, A.M., 12 45, 3 00, 5 05, 5 14, 7 25, 8 21 P. M. Sunday—6 45, 8 28 A. M., 3 05, 6 25, P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 7 00, 8 55, A.M., 12 23, 4 04, 7 00 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 52, A. M. 5 40, 7 20, P. M

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 54, a. m, 5 05 p. m

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Flemington, Dover, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk Williamsport and Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m. for stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

8 16 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge branch D L & W R R, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Hazleton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m. way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 05 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Sunbury and Williamsport, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton. Buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk.

5 05 P. M., way for Easton, connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge branch

5 14 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor Allentown, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Mauch Chunk Shamokin and Tamaqua, Buffet parlor car to Scranton.

6 19 P. M. for Flemington.

6 30 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading and Harrisburg.

9 21 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

1 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 28 a.m. Sundays for Easton, 2 05 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Reading and Harrisburg, 6 25 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

For Atlantic City, 8 27 a. m. 1 18 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c

Leave Plainfield 8 27, 8, 10 27, a. m 1.18, 3 51, 5 54, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove 8 02, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 8 27, 8 02, 8 10 27 a. m., 1 18, 3 51, 4 50, 5 54, 7 05 p.m. Sunday—8 02, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold 8 27, 8, 10 27 a. m., 1 18 3 51, 4 50, 5 54 p.m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 45, 7 40 9 40, 10 45, a. m., 2 09*, 5 54* 7 45 9 31, 9 57* p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—5 45, 9 40, a. m., 2 09*, 5 54*, 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Trenton 5 45, 8 44, 9 40*, 10 45, a. m., 12 46, 2 09*, 5 54*, 8 29*, 9 21, 9 57* p.m., 1 12 night, Sunday—5 45, 9 34, a. m., 2 09*, 5 54* p. m., 1 12 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 9 45, a. m. 2 09, 5 54* 6 45 p. m. 1 12, night. Sundays—9 45 a. m., 2 09, 5 54* 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Chattanooga, New Orleans and all points south with through vestibule sleeper, via Shenandoah Valley Route at 5 54 p m. Sundays 5 54 p m.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points west, weekdays at 9 54 a m., 8 22 p. m. Sundays 6 35 p m 5 15, 6 04, 8 25 p.m. 12 10, night.

Sundays—4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 12 25 a. m., 8 30, 6 00, 8 25 p. m., 12 10 night.

From 24th and Chestnut—8 55, 7 58, 9 21, 11 19, a m. 2 40, 6 13, 8 10, 11 45 p. m. Sunday—3 55, 7 58, 12 19 p m, 8 30, 6 13, 8 10, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 00, 5 58, 9 06, 10 25, a.m. 12 15*, 2 10, 4 25*, 5 54, 9 01 p.m. Sundays—1 00, 4 58, 9 06, 10 27 a. m. 1 15*, 4 25, 6 45*, 9 03 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rate may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass. Agt.

PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS
COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

H. Hand,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.
Residence and postoffice address
SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.
Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

L. L. MANNING.
Marble and Granite Works
Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.
Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

Of course it is nonsense to spend your money
For Wall Paper
Unless you get your money's worth. We claim to have the finest line of new patterns in the city. If so you ought to buy here.

WOOLSTON & BUCKLE,
141 and 145 North avenue.

IF YOU WANT ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

PIANO BARGAINS.

Vanderbeek & Sattels

desire to say that they have ust received a fine lot of

New Pianos

of different makes which they will sell at prices never before offered. Among them are those wonderful

Behr Brothers Pianos

Also Behning & Sons.

They represent also the Knabe, Hazelton, Chickering and many others.

They offer an excellent

Steinway Grand, $350.

A great bargain. Call soon at

221 PARK AVENUE.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must faily be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

WASHINGTON NEWS.

TO CONNECT THE GREAT LAKES WITH THE HUDSON RIVER.

Erie Canal Avoided in the Project. Anti-Snappers for Postmasters in New York. Hill Recommends One Candidate, but He is Turned Down.

A reward of $100,000 for a successful invention is very liberal, and this is the amount offered by Congress to any inventor, of any nation, who shall, before the year 1900, construct an aerial vessel capable of going thirty miles an hour through the air and carrying passengers and freight. The sum of $100,000 might be a trifle to the fortune that would await the man who should construct and cover with patents the air ship thus called for.

The statue of Gen. Grant, which was designed to be erected in Statuary Hall, at the Capitol, by the Grand Army of the Republic, has arrived in Washington. It bears no resemblance to the dead soldier. It is a monstrosity—a perversion. It is to be hoped that the Joint Committee of the two Houses will refuse to allow it to be set up. There is a big principal at stake. The committee of veterans who accepted the work cannot be pardoned, for, though it does not follow that, because a man is brave and a good fighter, he is therefore a judge in matters of art, yet they ought to have insisted on something like a likeness. Statuary Hall is our national Westminster Abbey. It should be seen to that none of the eyesores which encumber the latter place get into our memorial chamber.

Before adjournment Senator Allison introduced a bill to incorporate the Maritime Canal of North America. It authorizes the construction of navigable canals through the territory of the United States between the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence River and tidewater in the Hudson River and entrances, and terminal and other works necessary and desirable in connection therewith, and proposes to regulate commerce on and over such canals and works and to establish the same as military and post roads. The capital stock of the canal company is fixed at $10,000,000, and a bonded indebtedness of $200,000,000 is authorized. The company is empowered to construct a canal from some point near the head of tidewater navigation on the Hudson to some point on Lake Champlain; also from some point at or near the head of Lake Frances to some point on the St. Lawrence above the rapids known as the "Long Sault;" also from a point at or near Lewiston on the Niagara River to some point on the same river above the Falls, of such dimensions as to make navigable channels at least twenty feet deep and of dimensions sufficient to admit of two of the largest vessels drawing twenty feet of water and passing each other in the channel at full speed. The plans for the construction of this canal are to be approved by the Secretary of War; all tolls are to be approved by the Inter State Commerce Commission. Work is to begin within five years from the passage of the act, and the canal to be completed in ten years. There is no provision for the guarantee of bonds by the Government, but the Government may take possession of the property at any time at a value to be fixed by a Board of Arbitration.

President Cleveland's nomination of G. H. Colton to be Postmaster at Elmira, was a genuine surprise to those who have thought that a reconciliation had been effected between Mr. Cleveland and Senator Hill. Since the latter dined at the White House it has been generally supposed that the hatchet had been buried, and that thereafter the senior New York Senator would be consulted about appointments, as other Senators are. Mr. Hill's repeated appearances as the defender of the President in the Senate and the advocate of his policies, caused a belief that he and the President had become allies and friends. The appointment of Mr. Colton, however, destroys this assumption, for he is not by any means a man whom Mr. Hill would have recommended had he been consulted. The nomination was a surprise to Senator Hill, and he frankly said that he knew little about Mr. Colton, and that he did not recommend him and was not asked for his opinion. The President sent to the Senate recently a long list of nominations of Postmasters at small towns in New York State. All of the nominees are anti-snappers. Some time ago Senator Hill and Senator Murphy broke through their rule of refusing to recommend any one to President Cleveland for appointment, and, because of extenuating circumstances, recommended a certain man to be Postmaster at Gloversville. A nomination came in for that office, but the nominee is not the man indorsed by the two New York Senators. Instead, he is a man especially obnoxious to both of them, and who is the very last person that they would like to see appointed to any office.

Mrs. May Wright Sewall, President of the National Council of Women, has received a great deal of praise for the capable manner in which she presided over the meeting of the organization in Washington. She is a strong minded woman, but is always richly and tastefully attired. Mrs. Sewall is a native of Wisconsin, though both her parents came from New England.

The nomination of William L. Wilson to be Postmaster-General seems to be satisfactory to everybody in Washington. When it was first reported that Mr. Wilson would be the successor of Mr. Bissell in the Cabinet it was said that the Senate might not be disposed to confirm him because of his criticism of certain Senators last summer during the struggle over the Tariff bill. There was no member of the Senate, however, who resented Mr. Wilson's attack earnestly enough to cause him to oppose the confirmation, and the Republicans were as willing as the Democrats to pay him the compliment of a prompt confirmation. Those who know Mr. Wilson best are surprised that he is willing to accept an office the duties of which are so onerous, and where he can hardly expect to make a reputation as an executive officer.

ROGER LEWIS.

Beating About the Bush.

A.—What! You call me a swindler?

B.—No. But I am prepared to give 10 marks to any one who proves to me the contrary.—Deutsche Wespen.

It Arouses Enthusiasm.

Radbourn—I wonder why the Irish selected green as the color of their flag?

Chesney—It's the color of the United States currency — I think.

METROPOLITAN NOTES.

Interesting Facts and Opinions Chronicled by the Daily Press of New York.

It may not be generally known that the late Ward McAllister was for the past few years very tender and touchy on one point, though he was for the most part genial and courteous. The failure of his book, "Society as I Found It," hurt him more than was generally known. He had high hopes that this would become a social classic in its way, recognized in perpetuity by society. He took infinite pains with it, and in truth it is a clever and readable book in more ways than one. But the critics and the newspapers would have none of it. They ridiculed the book and paragraphed the author in an unsparing way. The result was the book fell flat. McAllister could not understand it and he resented the indifference of the public. His friends never discussed the book in his presence. Any reference was sure to set him on edge. While discussing McAllister it may be said that while some of the newspapers are devoting much space to speculation as to his successor as lord high chamberlain of New York's social affairs, the real truth is that he will have no successor in the ordinary sense of the term. As a matter of fact, the supposed position of the late Mr. McAllister was more fictitious than real. The newspapers in a large part made it and supported it. Ward McAllister was a man of good position and fair fortune. He had the entree to the best society, and, possessing good tact and much organizing ability, he was a leading figure in arranging social affairs. But he was never the social dictator he was alleged to be, and, to do him justice, he made no claim to be.—Advertiser.

The public has watched patiently the progress of the Grant monument at Riverside Park during the year. The long delay that followed the laying of the cornerstone served to detract greatly from the public interest in the undertaking, and those who contributed to the fund had almost lost hope of living to see the tomb completed. Ground was broken for the monument in the spring of 1891, but it was not until three years later the first stone was set in place. The granite comes from North Jay, Me., and goes through the strictest inspection before it is accepted for the monument. For the many columns that will be required fully twice as many stones have been quarried and trimmed as will be used, the slightest flaw of quartz vein being enough to cause their being thrown out. The ground plan of the structure is 100 by 185 feet. From the level of the drive to the top of monument will be 165 feet in height and its dome will be 280 feet above the Hudson River. Surrounding the dome there will be a balcony about 250 feet above the river. From this point, which will be open to visitors when the monument is completed, one can see for thirty miles straight up the Hudson.

"My course of life," said an aged New Yorker, "has been like that of Shelley's skylark, 'higher, ever higher,' as the city has gone along upward. Fifty years ago my home was in Cliff street, in a house situated upon a spot which is now covered by the rear of Harper's big building, and there were very nice residences there then. On account of some changes I moved up town as far as Chambers street, where there were several good neighbors. The house was torn down and I removed my abode up to Canal street, west, next to a $4 boarding house, but my domicile there soon gave place to a tall building erected by a business firm. Wooster street, a few blocks above, was a quiet locality and I settled in it. Look at it now and you will see why I left it. I then determined to put an end to the everlasting moving, as business invaded one locality after the other, and so I took a house away up in Union Square about 1860. That brick house was bought by a manufacturer, who took down the bricks and raised a big concern where it stood. Again higher, and I was up above Thirtieth street. In a few years the traffic there drove me above Sixtieth street, east of Central Park, and if you will travel around there now you will see why I moved to a house above Eightieth street on the west side. Shops were opened there all around my domicile, and I got so tired of carting my furniture ever higher that I said I would be willing to end my life peacefully up in Harlem, a place which I always despised and which seemed to be at the other end of creation among the goats, when I lived down in Cliff street. I got within sight of the Harlem River ten or twelve years ago, and I felt like Moses when he was traveling to Canaan's happy land. Things soon got to be as bad as they had been a dozen miles lower down forty or fifty years before and I could not rest amid the rush of building, the rush of business and the rush of the crowds. I struck out upward again and am now as high as 217th street, but I can't stand it long here, for the population is following me in mobs and things rattle all round."

A comparison has recently been made of the expense of street cleaning in New York and Paris, the modern city which ranks just above New York in respect to population. The details of the comparison are, outwardly at least, favorable to the French capital rather than the American metropolis. Paris spends in a year $1,800,000 for street cleaning, whereas the appropriation in New York this year was $2,596,000. The population of Paris by the last census was 2,500,000, while that of New York was 1,800,000, so that the expense of street cleaning in New York is not only actually but also relatively greater than it is in Paris. But when the figures are analyzed it seems that New York is not so much worse off as might appear. The chief item of expense is of course the sweepers. In Paris the average rate for ordinary sweepers is $1 a day. In New York the minimum rate as fixed by law is $2 a day. Paris employs 3,000 sweepers, New York 2,200. The salary list of the Paris department, taking in all branches, is $1,000,000 a year. The New York pay roll is about $1,900,000. Much of the traffic on Paris streets is over thoroughfares paved with asphalt, which is easily cleaned and easily kept in good condition. Paris has very little of the trucking traffic which exercises a disastrous effect on New York's good pavements and causes them to require restoration every few years. New York has seventy-five miles of asphalt streets out of 375 miles paved.—New York Sun.

Echoes of the Wedding.

"It's all nonsense, dear, about wedding cake. I put an enormous piece under my pillow and dreamed of nobody."

"Well?"

"And the next night I ate it and dreamed of everybody."—Life.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B O F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money.

5,000 Pounds

Another big supply of Fresh Country Roll

BUTTER at 18c Per Pound.

Watch for our special sale price list in Thursday's and Saturday's paper.

FULPER'S, 207 West Front St.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose	7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose	10c pair
" " " double knee	18c pair
" " " extra heavy	25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handke chiefs	5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs	5c

210 West Front Street.

106 East Front Street — NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c
" Oolong tea	30c
" Young Hyson tea	40c
" Japan tea	40c
XX soda crackers	4½c
Ginger snaps	5½c
Nic-nac crackers	6c
California peaches	17c can
Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
Can peas, early June	8c
Can corn, fine goods	8c
Fine butter	24c
Ground coffee	17½c
Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
" Rio coffee	24c
Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented. H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement For walls and ceilings.

SHAD! Rogers 232 W. 2d. St.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats. Dress Shirts, Gloves and Neckwear

U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,

120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat.

or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.

E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,

177 North Avenue.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor, FRANK DAY.....Manager

Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.

1 14 tf

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,

Prescription Druggist,

143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

EIGHT MINUTES OF THREE.

A DETECTIVE STORY

BY NYM CRINKLE.

[Copyright, 1895, by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.]

CHAPTER II.

At this stage of the affair I was called into it, oddly enough. I received a note from that eminent lawyer, John Greve, with whom I had studied, asking me to call and see Mrs. Prineveau at her Fifth avenue home. He had taken the liberty, he said, of recommending me in a matter that would perhaps be of great service to me. Perplexed as I was at this, knowing that John Greve was Mrs. Prineveau's lawyer and did not need associate counsel, I nevertheless called promptly upon the lady.

I found her to be a very handsome woman with great dignity of person, a charming self-possession and all the evidences of a refined and estimable character.

"This unfortunate affair," she said, "has perplexed me in more ways than one. That wretched man, Clarkson, as you doubtless know, is in custody and is now here. The circumstances appear to leave little doubt of his guilt. But he has a wife and two children. Their abject misery is made all the more acute by the wife's belief in her husband's innocence. It is a very dreadful state of affairs, but I shrink from the responsibility which justice imposes on me, of hanging that helpless wretch without giving him a show for his life. He is not able to employ counsel, and I am at the best only a woman. I propose to pay you to try and do the best you can for him, and, of course, I do not wish anything said about it. I took the advice of Mr. Greve, and he said that in any case the man was entitled to good counsel and advised me to employ you. It seems in such a foregone conclusion a small concession to give him the benefit of the law. At all events it will relieve me from the reproach of having been influenced entirely by a vindictive feeling."

I do not now remember all that was said at this interview, but I recall that I was consciously affected by the woman's sympathy for a man that she saw had little or no chance for his life, and who wanted to soften her own share in the prosecution by not permitting him to say he had no chance to prove his innocence.

I promised her to go and see the accused man and to send her my decision as soon thereafter as was possible.

This interview was on the 25th. On the 26th I went to see Clarkson in his cell at the city prison. I found a woman in the warden's office who had also come to see him. It proved to be his wife. She was such a picture of abject misery that she arrested my attention. She must have been a very beautiful girl, although now she was at least twenty-five and suffering had drawn its lines across her white face. I could see that she was made of the finest material, was in fact one of those delicate, sensitive, emotional natures that shrink from the world, but are capable of the greatest sacrifices and measureless heroism when a crisis comes. She was wretchedly clad from the biting spring weather, and she stood with her face turned toward the wall, but through all her shabby integuments there was a proclamation of natural symmetry and even of character. When the warden told me who she was, I went to her and made myself and my mission known. She grasped my hand with her long cold fingers almost convulsively and sweeping away the veil that had partly concealed her face looked at me so searchingly and imploringly with her sad gray eyes that I started a little.

"O, sir!" she said, "bad as my husband may be, he is innocent of this, and he has two little children that he loves. You have come to save him. I feel it."

I patted her hand and tried to say something that was encouragingly noncommittal. "We shall see, we shall see. Things are often not as bad as they look. I am going to have a chat with him. In the meantime, save your strength. You are not friendless."

She paid no heed at all to what I said. She was looking at me with those gray eyes very much as if she saw something behind me, and hanging to my hand like a drowning person.

"Yes, yes!" she said, with a sob; "you will save him," and then she began to cry convulsively.

I had not the heart to tell her how hopeless it all looked. I wished that I had been spared this so that my judgment could come to the interview with the accused man unperturbed.

She made me go up and see her husband first. She would wait.

I found Clarkson to be the very antithesis of his wife. He was a large, muscular and slightly bloated fellow with a purplish face, the result of debauchery, but withal a rather handsome man or what would have been a handsome man in normal conditions. He sat on the edge of the iron bed when I entered the cell, his head between his hands, and he did not look up until I had spoken to him, and then it was with such a flabby despair that I felt repelled.

THE WARDEN TOLD ME WHO SHE WAS.

Here was one of those large vital natures that appear to have no internal resources. I could see in an instant why his life had been a failure. He was made up of unregulated appetites and sensibilities without volition enough to control them. Just the sort of man to do a desperate deed in the frenzy of drink, without a motive before it or a recollection after it, but as devoid of methodical vindictiveness as a mastiff.

I told him I had come to talk with him in view of conducting his defense.

"Bah," he said, "there is no defense. Can you defend me against God?"

"Let me ask of you," I began, "not to talk in that reckless manner. Try and be cool. Blasphemy may relieve your feelings, but it will not help your case."

"My case is helpless," he said, with every fleshly indication that it was.

"But if it is worth while to make a plea at all, it is not necessary to announce your guilt in advance."

He sprang up from the bed—he was six feet at least in height—and with a clenched fist uplifted shouted:

"I am not guilty, but I might as well be, for God has decreed that everybody shall think so."

A little gleam of hope suddenly had shot out of the darkness of this reply. The man might be in some degree insane, and irresponsible.

"If you are not guilty there are possibilities of defense. I don't think Heaven will object to our availing ourselves of them."

"Much you know of Heaven," he replied. "No man could have made such a set of circumstances to fit into my doom. It requires the subtlety and cruelty of a god. I might as well have killed that man and given myself up. The result will be the same. But I'm too d—d weak to kill anybody. So I am to be killed. This is in accordance with eternal practice."

He looked at me with a glaring eye. His words were hot with a burning arraignment. There could be no mistake about the earnestness and sincerity of his emotion.

"Either this man is innocent or mad," I said to myself, and then hastened to disavow the thought to myself.

"I tell you beforehand," he went on, "that you cannot do anything with the circumstances. Did I go to Mr. Prineveau and use threatening words—yes. Did I happen to have a pistol in my possession whose bullets exactly correspond to the one found in the man's body—yes. Did I disappear after the deed—yes. Is my life and character just such as would fit me for such a deed—yes. And yet I tell you that I was not there, did not kill him, and never had such an act in my mind."

"Easy," I said. "If you were not there, you were somewhere else. We ought to be able to get at that."

"Yes, we ought to, if we were not fighting against destiny. But just at the time that I ought to have known where I was I was unconscious."

"Then you might have been there unconsciously and irresponsibly."

"Yes. Some demon may have robbed me of myself and worked this thing through me. That's the safest theory. You'd better stick to that. You'll get some credit for it after I'm hanged."

"Clarkson," said I, "I met your wife downstairs; she made me come up and see you first."

He staggered against the wall in the corner of the cell and broke down.

"Poor girl! Poor girl!" he said, with great sobs. "I've been the curse of her life."

"She believes in your innocence."

"Of course she does. She knows me, poor old sweetheart. She knows that,

"POOR GIRL, POOR GIRL," HE SOBBED.

weak and worthless as I am, I never killed even an insect."

"She believes that I was sent to—to give you valuable assistance."

"Yes. She believes in a good God. You wouldn't think it, with such a husband as I am, would you? So did I, till He wound this mesh around me!"

"Tut, tut, man! Pull yourself together and let your reason work. Sit down there and answer my questions."

He wiped his eyes with his coat sleeve and sat down again, helplessly, on the edge of the bed.

"Now, you don't know where you were at four o'clock on the afternoon of March 17?"

"No. The last thing I remember was going down Vesey street toward the river."

"Where had you been?"

"I had been drinking on Sixth avenue at several places."

"And when you recovered your consciousness where were you?"

"In Troy."

"Humph! Had you ever been to Troy before?"

"No."

"Did you know anybody there?"

"No."

"Did you have the pistol with you that was found in your house?"

"No. I never carried a pistol in my life."

"Did not your wife then know that the pistol was in the house at the time this murder was committed up-town?"

"No. She did not know anything about it."

"Where did you get it?"

"I took it in pledge from a little Frenchman who boarded in the house and who wanted to raise money to go home. I threw it in a chest of drawers, saying I could get five dollars on it any time at a pawn shop, for it was handsomely silver mounted."

"How long was this before the murder of Mr. Prineveau?"

The man turned round and looked at me with a blank face and said, slowly: "It was about five days before and the day after I had had the words with Mr. Prineveau in the library."

I confess that both his looks and his words had a knell-like effect. In spite of myself I felt staggered.

"Do you know of anybody whose interest would be advanced by the death of Mr. Prineveau?"

He hesitated a moment. Then he said: "No. Mr. Prineveau's death was a deprivation to me. He was the best, and in fact, the only friend I had."

"Why did you go to him that night a week before his death?"

"To get money."

"Did you get it?"

"Yes. I always got it."

"By threats?"

"No. It was absolute charity. He gave me a twenty-dollar bill. He always felt sorry for me. I was flush with that money and bought the pistol, not because I wanted it, but because the Frenchman was hard up."

"Now tell me what the conversation was with your uncle that night."

"I cannot tell it clearly because I had been drinking, and I am effusive and foolish when I have liquor in me."

"Was there not a quarrel?"

"No. He may have upbraided me; he always did, and I may have talked fast and loud. I always do, but there was no other quarrel."

This man puzzled me completely. There was nothing in his information that at all removed the fatal circumstances. I had to confess to myself that any gushing sentimental lout, however guilty, might present this view of the case. But there was something in the fellow's face and tones that went past my reason and awakened some instinct that he was innocent.

When I left him I was in a curious quandary. I could not put my finger on a piece of evidence to be used in rebuttal of the circumstances, and yet I found some inarticulate voice in me saying: "That man is innocent."

I thought the matter over that night without coming to a conclusion, and went to bed saying I would sleep over it, which, of course, is very much like saying in the face of a dilemma that you will toss a penny up. In both cases there is an acknowledgment that something outside of your own will may determine for you.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

ARE YOU A SUFFERER

From Rheumatism or Neuralgia?

E. P. Tayer, of East Nassau, N. Y., says: "I wish it possible to speak personally with every rheumatic victim for I would tell them of my terrible experience and the relief and cure I found in Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. My condition at the time I began its use, seemed hopeless. I had suffered for 13 years with inflammatory rheumatism. My physician said I would be a cripple for life, but it was not ordained that way, for I had not used Favorite Remedy long before I was convinced that it was the right medicine, and in a short while I was cured."

Solemon Davis, of North Kortright, N.Y., suffered from neuralgia and loss of sleep, as is often the case with elderly people, says: "I found that Favorite Remedy relieved the bowels, improved the circulation of the blood and the old pain left me altogether."

One of Plainfield's physicians recently said:

"There is no reason in suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia, for Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will cure them." Druggists sell it.

A Word to the Wise is Sufficient.

I suffered terribly from roaring in my head during an attack of catarrh, and became very deaf, used Ely's Cream Balm and in three weeks could hear as well as ever.—A. E. Newman, Garling, Mich.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from the nose. Physicians prescribed without benefit. After using Ely's Cream Balm a short time the disease was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

DIRECTIONS for using CREAM BALM.

Apply a particle of the Balm well up into the nostrils. After a moment draw a strong breath through the nose. Use three times a day, after meals preferred, and before retiring.

ELY'S CREAM BALM opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of taste and smell. The Balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once. Price 50c at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

THE MASTODON

was the biggest animal of which we have any knowledge, and lived ages ago. Mastodons in other lines still exist, for instance you will find a mastodon stock of wall paper and mastodon bargains with us every day in the year.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.

141 East Front st

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values

IN

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality,

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c. at

49 cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street. Newark, N. J.

SPRING STYLES

In Men's Hats are in today.

G. A. Hallock, 109 West Front St.

Alex. Willett & Son

Sell the best

Men's $3 Shoe

IN THE CITY.

CARPETS

Made and Laid With Paper Without Charge

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,

73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.

are making and laying Carpets with paper without charge, which is a saving of 15c per yd.

Parties about going to housekeeping will find no larger stock of Parlor Suits and Bedroom Suits to select from at such low prices. All of the latest Spring styles of Bedroom Suits of the Hall & Lyon manufacture, and Parlor Suits of all the latest manufactures and of the latest designs and coverings.

Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

All other goods suitable to furnish a house with in our line are sold at the lowest prices. Terms easy; one dollar per week.

The Portland Range!

The Court of Errors has just unanimously affirmed the opinion of the lower courts that no other dealer can take any range and put the name Portland on it and try to hoodwink the people that they are selling the original Portland Range, when such is not the case. 7,000 of these ranges now in use and not one complaint. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Goods delivered to all parts of the State free of charge.

Storing Furniture

Our new building just erected at 88, 90, 92 Bank street, seems to be the only building in the State to store furniture, the way it is being filled up. Furniture moved with vans at reasonable rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

Spring Curry Comb

Clock Spring Blade. Soft as a Brush. Fits every Curve. The Only Perfect Comb. Used by U. S. Army and by Barnum and Forepaugh Circuses, and Leading Horsemen of the World. Ask your Dealer for It. Sample mailed post paid 25 cents. See our name on the handle. SPRING CURRY COMB CO., 102 Lafayette St., South Bend, Indiana.

781-1 9-1 t

HEATH & DRAKE

Announce their

Grand

Spring Opening

on Tuesday,

Wednesday,

Thursday,

MARCH 12, 13 and 14.

When a line of goods suitable for the season will be exhibited, consisting of elegant medium and low priced dry goods upholstery, carpets, etc.

You are cordially invited to attend.

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J.

MRS. L. COLES,

FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,

Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st

Taylor's French System

used. Suits $6.00 and upward.

2 2 tf

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1 50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 26 1m

Central Employment Office

218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.

All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Cigars, Etc.,

128 NORTH AVENUE,

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY,

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET,

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.,

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Telephone call, 29 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge. 6 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit,

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, India rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 6 p. m. H. HOSMER, 26 North ave., Plain field, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts Tomlinson, Gen. G. W. Shockfellow, and T. S. Armstrong. 8,27

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY, $5 A YEAR.

FLIGHT OF A SUMMER COTTAGE.

Hauled Out on a Lake and Then Back to Train Island Much Out of Shape.

Lake Hopatcong, March 7.—Robert K. Dunlap of Newark is largely interested in Lake Hopatcong. He owns the big Hotel Breslin, and has a fine Summer cottage on Train Island. The cottage is still there, but it is not upon its original foundation nor in a habitable condition. It is leaning worse than the tower of Pisa, close to the shore, and bears the marks of rough handling. A Western man looking at it might think that a cyclone had toyed with it and moved it from its former site. The change was wrought by an ordinary house mover from Morristown, who essayed to take the cottage from the island to the main land over the thick ice which still seals the romantic lake in the mountains. Mr. Dunlap did not like living on the island. It was inconvenient for him or any of his family to visit the shore. There are, it is said, mosquitoes on the island. But there are no mosquitoes at Hopatcong, that is, according to the hotel circulars.

Contractor James Mullin was called up from Morristown, and, after estimating the strength of the ice and the weight of the house, he agreed to transfer the house to the main shore.

He began by removing the chimneys and then laboriously skidded the structure down the slope to the ice. On Saturday night, when work ceased, and the horses were sent ashore, the house was well out on the ice, over one of the deepest places in the lake. If work had been kept up all night the removal could have been completed, but they do not perform even works of great necessity on Sunday at Lake Hopatcong, and Mr. Mullin had to desist on Saturday night.

On Sunday the weather moderated, and when the contractor arrived on Monday morning he found the house settling in the ice. One corner has gone through four or five feet. Here was a quandary. Jackscrews or derricks could not be used, and all the strength at hand did not budge the cottage.

The day was wasted in futile effort, and at night, when the weather turned cold, the house froze in. On Tuesday it was chopped loose. Twenty horses and ten men got the house out of peril after many hours of labor, and, as the temperature was rising rapidly, it was dragged toward the island from which it came.

On Wednesday the house was back on the shore, and there it stood today. It is one of the coolest and prettiest Summer houses at the lake and cost a lot of money.

Work for Men Wanted.

The District Committee of the Citizens Organized Aid Association held their fortnightly session last evening.

But five new cases were reported for two weeks, making 433 in all to date. The agent reported (including these five cases) twenty-four applications for assistance. Eleven of these cases were applications for food, eight for coal, three for clothing, and two for rent. There were in addition eight applications for work, and three for medicine. It appears that the Employment Committee of the C. O. O. A. was obtaining employment for women, but had been unable to fill applications by men. The aid of the daily newspapers was suggested to notify those having small jobs to attend to, to make applications for workers at the office of the C. O. A. A.

Crescent Sociable.

The social given by the Young People's Christian Endeavor Union of the Crescent Avenue Church last night in the church parlors afforded an evening of pleasure to about 100 members and friends who attended. Early in the evening a banjo club of four members from Newark, and Miss French with piano solos, entertained the assemblage with music, which was so well appreciated that both were compelled to respond to several encores. Afterward refreshments of a light kind were served in the church parlors, and a general good time in social intercourse followed.

The committee having charge of the affair were Misses Halloway, Bowen and Cahoone, and Mr. Murray.

New Spring Carpets.

The opening of new Spring carpets, mattings, oil-cloths, etc., is announced in Edsall's new advertisement in another column. He says besides keeping in stock a good variety of seasonable goods at special prices, he has also an extensive line of samples fro W. & J. Sloane. His connection with this house is such that he can furnish goods from them, either from samples, or by introduction to them, at their regular prices.

Some rare bargains for Saturday's trade are offered in the grocery department, as well as in the dry-goods department.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

A LAYMAN'S SERMON.

How One May Be a Citizen of the Kingdom.

CHURCHES AS STEPPING-STONES.

Lemuel W. Serrell Writes an Earnest Epistle Counseling Individual Unity With Christ as Superior to Church Unity—Popery's Effort to Shut Men Out of the Kingdom.

In its issue of Wednesday The Press referred to an article on "The Kingdom and the Church", contributed by Lemuel W. Serrell of Plainfield to The Religious Herald, and today The Press is privileged to reproduce the epistle, which will be read with interest by all thoughtful readers, whether churchmen or not. It is as follows:

In the New Testament much is said about the kingdom; very much more than about the church. Going back to the times of the prophets, the kingdom is plainly foreshadowed by the stone cut out of the mountain, that smote the image and filled the whole earth, and the pledge is given that in those days the God of heaven shall set up his kingdom.

John the Baptist came preaching, "The kingdom of heaven is at hand." The kingdom of heaven was the theme of the preaching of Jesus, and all men pressed into it, and his parables tell us that the kingdom of heaven is like unto seed, leaven, etc., and the keys of the kingdom and the gospel of the kingdom all show clearly that it is a part of the divine purpose to have a kingdom on earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness.

What are we to understand by a kingdom? We speak of the animal and the vegetable kingdoms and apply the term to countries and to peoples. How should it be understood when speaking of Christ's kingdom and the heavenly kingdom? Certainly it does not apply to any one nation, nor any one church nor denomination, and it may safely be said that nowhere does the Scripture warrant the application of the term to any earthly organization.

The world has been praying for nearly nineteen hundred years, "Thy kingdom come," and what have we been asking for? It may be safely asserted that very few have any definite idea on the subject. Some associate the thought with the future state and the second coming of Christ, but these words are followed by the petition that God's will be done on earth as it is in heaven, manifestly linking the kingdom to this earth.

Peter received the keys of the kingdom and opened the door into the kingdom on the day of Pentecost, when he preached to the Jews. He used the other key to open the kingdom, with all its precious treasures, to the Gentiles, when he preached to Cornelius and his house. The doors of the kingdom being opened, no man could or has shut them, and the heavenly keys, having done their duty, were no longer needed.

Popery has tried to shut men out of the kingdom and to make money by pretending to let the souls of men out of purgatory, and, instead of loosening on earth the captive from the chains of his sin and binding up the broken-hearted, has sought to obtain and maintain an earthly and temporal kingdom that could grind to pieces all opposition.

What do we mean by the Lord's Prayer? Are our prayers to be answered by the spread of a hierarchy in the world as a corporate power or organization? Do we desire any church authority to be dominant and sway its powers over the whole earth?

Much has been said and desired concerning Christian unity and the oneness of Christian denominations; and what kind of oneness is wanted? If it be a head, an authority to determine all questions of faith and practice and to bring everything into apparent harmony by the force of edicts and the grinding power of ecclesiasticism, then be consistent and let all join with Rome and make one gigantic temporal power to put down all other authority and to compel church unity.

Wait and look closely. Jesus' kingdom is not of this world. It is of heaven, but for this world. And in what does it consist? The kingdoms of this world are known one from the other, not by the king on the throne, but by the character of the government. So it may be said that the heavenly kingdom is known by the character of its government, which is of God. But how is it to be known?

Let me put a proposition to you. Suppose you and every professing Christian should solemnly promise God that hereafter you would, by His grace, live day by day according to the plain teaching of the New Testament, and make it your business at home, in the world, and in the church and in public affairs, to live up to the light and the liberty, and the holy inspiration of the Son of God—how long would it be before you would be in the kingdom of heaven? You say: "Why, this cannot be done!" With God all things are possible. Outside of the holy city John in Revelations saw dogs and sorcerers and other abominations. They are inseparable from earthly existence; but the inhabitants of the holy city are walled about, and they are not to be defiled with that which is outside. People are defiled by that which comes from within.

What will the next century be to the world? The answer is plain: Just what Christians seek to make it. If every professing Christian will study the principles and laws of the kingdom as laid down by Jesus Christ, and determine by God's grace to live them out, there may be heard in the distance the shout of the angels: "The kingdoms of the world have become the kingdoms of God and of his Christ, and he shall reign on the earth."

Brother, sister, what say you? Will you carefully study about this kingdom and be a good citizen thereof? Will you seek earnestly for conformity thereto? Will you seek to do to others as you would have them do unto you, and love the Lord with all the heart, mind, soul and strength?

When the kingdom thus comes, and without observation, no one will care about church unity. Human organizations might sink into utter oblivion, but there would be one bond of union; for, although there appeared no temple or external rallying-place in the heavenly city, the glory of the Lord shall lighten and the Lamb shall lead, not to the dry husks of formalism, but to the living waters, and shall wipe away all tears, and death shall be robbed of its victory and the grave of its sting.

Churches are means to an end. They are divinely ordained stepping-stones into the kingdom. The entrance into the kingdom is by the new birth—born of the Spirit, children of the kingdom. Many that are true children are not on church records, and many, trusting alone in church membership, will hear the words: "Depart; I never knew you."

The principles of the kingdom alone will bring about oneness in Christendom—not by church unity, but by union of individuals with Christ—and there need be no discord because one is under Methodist rule, another under Presbyterian strictness, or another under Baptist freedom, or another even under Roman Catholic intolerance; so long as the heart is right and the name is registered in the Lamb's book of life, each will see in the other a brother and a member of the Father's family and a citizen of the kingdom.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

George R. Nichol has left his position in New York after ten years service with one firm.

The Choral Union met in the chapel Wednesday evening, instead of Thursday, so as to enable Mr. Fitzhugh to attend the rehearsal in Plainfield Thursday evening.

The Republican primary will be held this evening at 8 in Excelsior Hall.

The Board of Registry met at the Town Rooms Tuesday from 1 until 9 p. m. Four new names were added to the registry, and one was erased.

Dr. Parks is confined to the house with illness.

Richard Robinson spent Wednesday night in Brooklyn with his friend James MacNair.

A. A. Champion has an assistant to help him with his increasing trade.

Election for town committeemen and several minor officers will be held Tuesday in the hall.

The J. O. U. A. M. meet this evening in their rooms in Castle Hall.

The Democratic voters of Fanwood Township held their primary last evening in the rooms of the Bucket and Engine Company. The nominations for Town Committeemen were: Ernest Keib of Fanwood and George R. Nichol of Scotch Plains. Owing to the absence of the nominees a committee was appointed to wait them for their acceptance or to fill any vacancies that may occur in the ticket.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dean are recovering from their recent attack of pneumonia under the skilful treatment of Dr. F. W. Wescott, the family physician.

Mrs. Thomas Paff, Jr., and her son Gere, go today to visit her mother, Mrs. F. A. Gere of St. James place, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Andrews of Montandon, Pa., has returned to her home after a four-weeks visit with her daugher, Mrs. J. S. Braker of the "Manse", taking with her little Miss Verna Braker.

Mrs. George Lyon of Warwick, N. Y., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Billing.

The pastor's choir of the Baptist Church will hold a reception in the chapel Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5.

Knights, Attention!

Knights of Pythias are reminded of the district meeting which takes place tonight at 8 in Perseverance Lodge rooms on Second street. Every Knight in this city, whether he belongs to any of the local lodges or not, is cordially welcome. Crescent Division will meet the grand officers at the North Avenue station, and escort them to the Lodge room. As the Grand Chancellor and his staff are eloquent and forceful speakers, an entertaining, instructive and profitable evening is anticipated, and it is earnestly hoped the brethren will turn out and give the grand officers a rousing reception.

—One member was initiated in Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M., last evening.

WILLING WORKERS SOCIAL.

Good Cheer Among Congregationalists in Spite of the Rain.

Those who attended the sociable given by the Willing Workers Mission Band in the parlors of the Congregationalist Church last night were well repaid for venturing out in the fog and rain. Although there was not a very large attendance, the evening passed off very successfully and reflected great credit on those in charge.

The evening's entertainment began with a game of "Hidden Authors" in which Miss Elsie DeR. Suffren and Rev Mr. Goodrich proved themselves the most expert. The game of the evening, "Hit or Miss", followed. Each person was supplied with a card of some fancy design on which were written the names of two articles; a part wrote questions relating to them, and the rest wrote answers without seeing the questions. The combinations read were very funny.

A piano solo was rendered by Miss Eva Wilkins, after which Miss Carrie Fuller recited "A Recipe for a Pussy Cat", and then gave "Fifty-four" as an encore.

A more elaborate programme had been planned, but several who expected to take part were detained at home by the threatening weather.

At the conclusion of the programme ice-cream and cake were served, and all enjoyed a social chat.

This very successful sociable was arranged by Miss Edna Howell, president of the society, who was ably assisted by the vice-president, Miss Elsie Suffren.

The candy table, where delicious home-made candies were sold, was in charge of Miss Emma LaBoyteaux and Miss Carrie Fuller. Miss Frankie Demarest and Miss Bessie Giles assisted in serving the refreshments.

The Mission Band seem fated to hold their sociables on rainy days, but the members certainly deserve great praise for the delightful evenings they always provide despite the bad weather.

HE WAS TRANSFERRED.

But It Cost Him Much Peace of Mind and Some Effort of Body.

In the future the members of Alert Hose Company will be careful how they resign from the active list to go on the honorary one.

Last night's meeting was one of unusual interest to all but one.

Peter Emmons has served the company faithfully for eight years, but in latter years he thought it about time that his name be placed on the honorary list, and accordingly asked for that privilege last evening.

He was told that to become inactive he would have to go through the initiations, which he agreed to. He was then clothed in proper regalia, which consisted of his old fire hat and cape. The instructions were that he should march around the room eight times for the number of years he had been a member, and at the same time shake hands with everyone. He did as he was told, and the joke was thoroughly enjoyed. As round after round was made, each time it became more interesting. By complying with the above Mr. Emmons became a full-fledged honorary member, although he says he never saw the initiation worked before.

SOMERS AS A BENEDICK.

The Somerset Assemblyman Cheered for His Courage.

Trenton, March 7—Frank Williamson Somers, member of the Assembly from Somerset County, was married on Monday. He returned to his legislative duties yesterday. Just before the close of the afternoon session, Mr. Olcott stepped in front of the Speaker's desk and said that, on behalf of his colleagues, he desired to perform a very pleasant task.

He said that one of the members had changed his habits. He was no longer at liberty to leave home without permission. It was now necessary for him to telephone home if he had to remain in Trenton over night. Appreciating the step Mr. Somers had taken and congratulating him on the happy event that had so recently occurred, Mr. Olcott presented the Somerset Solon with a large and very handsome basket of pink and white roses.

Everybody cheered when Mr. Olcott finished, and everybody cheered again when Mr. Somers responded in appropriate language.

—Noah Dove Encampment, No. 29, I. O. O. F., worked two degrees on Charles DeGraw and Frank Smith last night. Thursday, March 21, the last two degrees in Odd Fellowship will be worked on Messrs. Degraw and Smith by State officials of this organization.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. R. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

FOR THE TROLLEY.

Fanwood Legislators Pushing the Enterprise.

FIRST READING OF THE DOCUMENT.

Application of the Company Sworn to and Filed—Consents Secured, and the Work Proceeding Steadily.

The Fanwood Town Committee met at their rooms in the town hall last evening to take up the first reading of the application of the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company for a franchise to operate an electric road through the township by way of Midway avenue with a spur on Forest avenue to the village.

Chairman Terry called the meeting to order. On motion of Committeeman Miller Town Counsel Codington read the application as presented, after which discussion was held on the subject. Mr. Nichol, chairman of the committee appointed to secure signers, reported that the committee had secured 65 per cent. of the property owners on Forest avenue from Mountain avenue to North avenue near the station.

By request of Mr. Gaddis, the Committee's report was put in writing, sworn to, and filed with the Town Committee. Mr. Nichol being a notary public, John Robison made the affidavit, and the same was filed.

The application was then taken up, and acted on in sections separately. Several amendments were added, and corrections made, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, and the treasurer's report was read and accepted. On motion the Committee adjourned, subject to the call of the Chair, when the second reading of the application will be held.

AFFECTS PLAINFIELD.

A Bill to Provide for Sewer Improvements While the Mains Are Being Laid.

[From The Elizabeth Daily Journal.]

Assemblyman Codding has introduced a bill in the Legislature, known as House bill no 218, which is of considerable interest. It provides that "in all cities of this State where sewers are now being built or hereafter may be built, under and by virtue of the act to which this is a supplement, the Common Council, Board of Aldermen, or other municipal body, charged by law with the construction of sewers in such cities, shall have power and authority to build and construct at the time of the building of such sewer, house connections for such sewers proper to the curb line of the lots fronting on the street or streets through which such sewer or sewers shall be built; that the costs and expenses of making such house connections shall be charged to and borne by the lots and subdivisions of lots particularly benefited thereby, and shall be assessed against the same at the same time and by the same authority making the assessments for such sewer proper". This is by no means a novel proposition. Long ago private property owners, in opening up and improving streets through their premises, have found it both economical and profitable to build house connections for water, sewage and gas when they laid the mains and sewers. It prevents tearing up the street pavements. It saves unnecessary cost and expense. It keeps the pavements in decent condition. There is no reason why cities should not do the same as individuals, for if it is good policy for the one it is likely to be good policy for the other. It is shameful the way pavements are torn up to build house connections. They are never put back in as good condition as they were before being disturbed.

Ought to Be Plainfield.

Physical Instructor MacPhie of the Y. M. C. A. has been made a member of a committee of the State Association of Physical Directors to secure grounds for their first annual athletic meet in July. Mr. MacPhie is using his endeavors to bring the meet to Plainfield, and if the Crescent Wheelmen are any way liberal in renting their grounds, he will probably be successful in his efforts.

—A. E. Hoagland is making many contracts for Moving Day.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

City Judge Coddington is in Bound Brook today.

W. V. VanZant and wife of Tioga, Pa., spent yesterday in town.

D. M. Scollenger of Tacoma, Washington, was in town yesterday.

E. M. Warman of Newton spent a portion of yesterday in Plainfield.

Mr. Hotchkiss of Westervelt avenue will move to New York April 1.

G. W. Roberts of Carlisle, Pa., was the guest of the City Hotel yesterday.

Charles Schermerhorn is somewhat improved from his illness this morning.

M. Cartright of Mauch Chunk, Pa., called on Plainfield people yesterday.

Miss Louise Wilbur of East Third street is confined to her home with scarlet fever.

Capt. George M. Phillips of Evona will soon take a business and pleasure trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bovey of Somerset street spent yesterday with relatives in Brooklyn.

Miss Helen G. Thorn of Elizabeth is visiting her cousin, Miss Bertha Thorn of Craig place.

Mrs. M. Courtney of Philadelphia is visiting her son, William J. Courtney of Johnston avenue.

Miss Bankhead of New York city is the guest of Mrs. Charles Lefler of LaGrande avenue, Netherwood.

Mrs. Truell is building a double apartment house on New street between Third and Fourth streets.

Miss B. F. Rounburg of Brooklyn is visiting Mrs. J. F. Losier at the Gables, LaGrande avenue, Netherwood.

Mrs. Catherine Obitz of Brooklyn spent yesterday with her granddaughter, Mrs. August Trust of Somerset street.

Mrs. John Trout and Mrs. E. R. Vail of Quakertown took dinner with Adelbert Vail, East Second street, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Mulford of West Second street expect to start for Asheville, N. C., Tuesday, for Mr. Mulford's health.

Miss Sadie Cleaves, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Broshart at Jersey City, returned to her home on Netherwood avenue yesterday.

John G. Bicknell of South avenue has purchased the lot adjoining his property, where he will erect a seven-room house with all modern improvements.

Henry C. Corse, formerly a detective on the Central Railroad, has moved with his family to New York, where he has secured a position under Street Commissioner Waring.

Owen Bannon, who was employed in the stable of U. T. Hungerford of Rahway road, left yesterday for New York, where he has accepted a position in Richard Croker's stables.

Wm. H. Bohl of Somerset street has sold the house which he is building on Johnston avenue to Z. Pierson of Watchung avenue. Mr. Bohl expects to have the house completed by April 1.

Dr. H. G. Stephenson has recovered from the grip so as to be able to be about the house. Dr. Stephenson is nearly 90 years of age, and this is the third time he has been afflicted with the grip.

Mrs. E. Green and her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Cundy of Johnston avenue, expect to sail Saturday, March 23, by the Cunard line for Liverpool, where Mrs. Green has her home. Mrs. Cundy will be absent three months. Her two children will accompany her.

Rev. W. E. Honeyman of Somerset street has leased the house formerly occupied by William H. Shotwell on Emily street, where he will move about March 15. The house which Mr. Honeyman now occupies, after some alterations will be converted into an undertaking establishment by Henry DeMott.

Explosion on North Avenue.

Through the carelessness of a boy employed by Mr. McVey at his North avenue restaurant, the handsome lamp in front of his place was almost ruined Wednesday night.

As is the custom, a kerosene lamp is used at a late hour, after the electricity is shut off. The lamp was filled with oil to overflowing, and about 2 yesterday morning Mr. McVey was called by Policeman Cooney, and when he arrived the lamp was all ablaze. Everyone of the expensive glasses but one was broken before the blaze could be extinguished.

It will necessitate his expending a considerable amount of money to have it put in running order.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dismondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c.

THEY PUT GERRY OUT

Sergeant-at-Arms Removes Him from the Assembly.

He Is Accused of "Lobbying" for His Whipping-Post Bill—Indignant at What he Calls Shameful Treatment—He Was Once a State Officer.

Albany, March 8.—The biggest deputy sergeant-at-arms put Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry off the floor of the Assembly yesterday, and the Commodore left vowing vengeance. He had been at the State capital for three days working in the interest of his Whipping-Post bill, which passed the Senate yesterday, but was prevented from being railroaded through the Lower House.

The Commodore's earnest efforts to convert the members to the suport of his bill have aroused considerable criticism.

No Lobbying Allowed

When he appeared on the floor of the Assembly at 11 o'clock and began to circulate among the members, Assemblyman Bell, of the Annexed District, rose, and interrupting routne business, said:

"Mr. Speaker, I move that the rule against lobbying on this floor be enforced. There is a gentleman from New York city on this floor openly soliciting the votes of members in support of his Whipping-post bill. His practices are annoying to the members."

"The Sergeant-at-Arms will exclude all persons from the floor who have no business there," said the Speaker, bringing his gavel down with a bang.

"I object, Mr. Speaker," shouted Democratic Leader Foley, who was talking with Commodore Gerry when Mr. Bell made his motion.

Gerry in a Rage.

"Commodore Gerry is not lobbying in the interests of anything," he continued. "He was once a State officer and is entitled to the privileges of the floor."

The Commodore arose from his seat beside Mr. Foley and sat down on one of the steps in the main aisle, with his long sealskin coat wrapped around him, clutching his sealskin cap in his hand.

"The gentleman is not a State officer at present," said the Speaker, "and is not entitled to the privileges of this floor. The Sergeant-at-Arms will do his duty."

Approaching Commodore Gerry, Sergeant-at-Arms Garry Benson tapped him on the shoulder and motioned him outside the railing, which separates the lobby from the floor.

Assemblyman Stanchfield protested against the exclusion, but the Speaker brusquely admonished the Sergeant-at-Arms to remove Mr. Gerry, and ordered the consideration of routine matters to proceed.

The face of the Commodore was livid with rage as he left the Assembly chamber, and going out into the main corridor he sat down beside one of the young women typewriters there and gave vent to his feelings in several letters.

A Little Social Chat.

He was very angry, and expressed the opinion that he had been treated in a shameless manner.

"I wasn't lobbying," said he, "but was having a little social chat with my friend Foley."

The bill did not come up in Assemby to-day, but will probably be taken up to-morrow.

When the Senate learned of the action of the House on the question of Commodore Gerry's rights on the floor, it took action to show its disapproval of the attack.

Senator Guy, noticing Mr. Gerry behind the rail, offered a resolution extending to him the privileges of the floor, and it was granted unanmously.

Mr. Gerry said after the episode: "I don't know Mr. Bell at all, and I can't conceive what inspired his attack upon me. I have been on the floor of the two houses for the past fifteen years without molestation."

Wants $2,500 Damages.

New York, March 8.—George Barker wants heavy damages from the Cunard Steamship Company, Limited, on account of impaired lungs, arising out of rather peculiar circumstances. He was a second class passenger on the steamer "Gallia," from Liverpool to this city. He claims that the water came in on his bed and the company declined to put him in another berth. The leakage was so constant that his berth was wet all the time, with the result he contracted pneumonia, and his lungs are weak and his health poor. He asks damages to the extent of $25,000.

A Catholic Priest in Trouble.

Geneseo, N. Y., March 8.—A special panel of jurors was ordered yesterday and time fixed for the second trial of Rev. Charles Flaherty, the Catholic priest convicted of seduction and sentenced to Auburn for five years. His first trial took place about a year ago. Judge Nash will call the case for trial March 18.

Small-Pox in Chicago

Chicago, March 8.—A nest of small-pox has been discovered by the inspectors of health in West Lake street among colored men who came from Tennessee a month ago and formed a colony. Five cases have already been taken to the pest house. Since Jan. 1 there has been 313 cases in the city.

Operators in a Row.

Desmoines, Ia., March 8.—The meeting of Iowa Coal Mine Operators broke up in a row yesterday, consequently no schedule of wages to be paid miners was agreed upon. It is now thought that miners will be reduced again.

Destroyed by Fire.

Flora, Ind., March 8.—The business portion of this town was almost entirely destroyed by fire last night. The town has no fire protection. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

House Votes for Suffrage.

Agusta, Me., March 8.—The woman's suffrage bill passed the house yesterday by a vote of 80 to 50.

DID HE KILL HER?

Charged with Murder by the Girl's Mother.

Los Angeles, Cal. March 8.—The circumstances of the probable murder of Mrs. Louis F. Hoffman by her husband, formerly a constable, now a butcher, leaked out yesterday. A leg was found in a garbage dump. Yesterday Mrs. Walbridge, mother of Mrs. Hoffman, called on the chief of police and said that she believed that her daughter had been murdered and the body mutilated by the butcher. They had been married five years and quarreled frequently of late, owing to it having become known that the supposed eight-year-old son of Mrs. Walbridge was the son of her daughter before she married Hoffman.

About a month ago Mrs. Hoffman disappeared and her mother could learn nothing from Hoffman as to her whereabouts. Hoffman said his wife left in a temper and went to New York, February 3. He said he intended to leave in a few days for San Francisco, where he has a sister, or else for New York. He claims to have relatives in the latter city.

Mrs. Walbridge says that he once threatened to chop his wife up with a cleaver.

PRESIDENTS MEET.

Railroads Will Establish a Uniform Rate on Freight.

New York, March 8.—In the rooms of the Trunk Lines Association, on Liberty street, the trunk lines board of presidents held one of the liveliest conferences in their history yesterday, from 11 oclock in the forenoon until long after 5 o'clock. The subject under discussion was the west-bound freight rates between this city and Chicago. At the end, however, all those interested came to an agreement which will abolish, after April 1, all differentials on west-bound freight rates. This will put the above named lines on an equal footing and establish a uniform first-class rate between Chcago and New York of 75 cents per 100 pounds.

CATHOLICS EXCITED.

Father Doherty Receives an Anonymous Letter.

Haverhill, Mass., March 8.—The Catholics of this city are excited over an anonymous letter which Rev. James O'Doherty, pastor of St. James' Church, found under his door yesterday. The letter stated that the church would be blown up by dynamite next Sunday, and that Father Doherty would be shot at sight by the sender of the letter.

Rev. Father O'Doherty believes that the letter is the work of a crank, and will place watchmen in the church.

Steamship Havel Aground.

Sandy Hock, March 8.—The North German Lloyd steamship Havel from Bremen and Southampton, while entering the harbor yesterday ran aground on Romer Shoal. The mishap is said to be due to the ice, which has wrecked the electric light bouys. Mails have been discharged, and her cabin passngers taken to New York. The steerage passengers will be sent to Ellis Island to-day. A wrecking crew is now at work.

His Novel Defense.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 8.—Peter Blanksma, of Walker, yesterday set up a unique defense in the police court, where he was arranged on a charge of non-support. Blanksma married a pretty Wyoming township girl last January, and after two days of married life he left her. He now declares that he was hypnotized by the girl, and will try to have the marriage annulled on that ground.

He Tampered with the Safe.

Saratoga, N. Y., March 8.—The safe in the office of Robert Wells, a ginger ale manufacturer, was tampered with last Monday night, but no money was obtained. An employe admitted that he had tampered with the safe, and also confessed that he had stolen $100 from it several months ago. He has been committed for the Grand Jury.

Cutter Ailsa Wins

Cannes, France, March 8.—Brittania, Ailsa and Corsair started this morning in a match for prizes of $400, $125 and $60. Ailsa won by 2 min. 36 sec. actual time. Deducting time allowance to Brittannia, the new cutter won by 1 min. 24 sec. Ailsa resembles the Vgilant in profile; her lines are easy.

Alleged Criminal Operation.

Boston, March 8.—The case against Dr. Henry E. Bishop, alias Bailey, as principle, and Apie L. Johnson, colored, as accesory before the fact, to an alleged criminal operaton upon Florence Adley, colored, on January 25, was yesterday continued by Judge Brown in the Municipal Court to March 25.

Barnum's Advance Agent Dead.

Concord, N. H., March 8.—Fred Lawrence, for some time advance agent for Forepaugh's and Barnum's shows, died in his home in London last night of consumption. He was fifty-seven years old, and leaves a widow and a daughter.

"The Bismarckstein."

Berlin, March 8.—An iron tablet bearing Bismarck's name in gold letters is to be erected on April 1 on the Mittagstein, a granite rock forty feet high in the Giant Mountains, and the rock will rechristened "the Bismarckstein."

FOREIGN NOTES.

Cuxhaven, March 8.—The heavy wind and high seas prevented Emperor William from landing at Heligoand and he was obliged to proceed to this port.

London, March 8.—At South London yesterday an unemployed plasterer named Taylor, having become despondent from long idleness, murdered his wife and their five children and then killed himself.

London, March 8.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Henry Gardner, president of the Board of Agriculture, promised that the government would make an inquiry into the alleged packing of diseased meat in Chcago for export to Engand.

Berlin, March 8.—The greatest excitement has been created in Parchim by the failure of the Mecklenberg bank at that place. Hundreds of depositors have been ruined, and the People's Savings Bank, a small concern, and two large commercial houses have failed in consequence of the collapse of the Credit Bank.

GRANTED A REPRIEVE

Newark's Murderer Gets a Month Longer to Live.

Gov. Werts Grants the Respite—Prisoner's Counsel More Hopeful of Saving His Life—Claims to Have Recently Discovered Testimony—How Kohl Received the News.

Trenton, March 8.—The following teegram was sent to Frank M. McDermit, at Newark, one of the lawyers for Henry Kohl, who was sentenced to be hanged March 21 for the murder of his cousin, Joseph Prinel:

"Governor will extend time in Kohl case for four weeks longer. Get from official court record his full name, date of conviction and when sentenced to be executed and send here at once.

E. D. FOX, Executive Clerk.

The reprieve, which Governor Werts will grant as soon as he gets the information desired by him, is the result of the pleading for more time made by the prisoner's counsel and Rev. Aloysius Kammer, Kohl's spiritual adviser.

Now that the addtional time has been granted, Messrs. Henry and McDermit, counsel for Kohl, feel more hopeful of saving Kohl's life, as they will be better able to prepare themselves for the application for a new trial on recently discovered testimony or for carrying the case to the higher courts.

The lawyers are not sayng much about their intentions.

The Prisoner Smiles.

Warden Bovet conveyed the news of the reprieve to the condemned man soon after having been notified of the Governor's action by Kohl's counsel. The young man listened to Mr. Bovet's statement attentively and when the warden had concluded a faint smile crossed the prisoner's features.

"Well," he said presently, "that means four weeks more for me. And I guess you are as glad of it as I am," he added to the warden.

Apart from the smile that seemed to have settled on his features at hearing the news, Kohl acted in his accustomed manner.

Father Aloysius M. Kammer, the condemned man's spiritual adviser, called at the jail soon after Mr. Bovet had told the prisoner of his reprieve. The clergyman had not yet heard of the Governor's action, and the warden informed him of it. The priest seemed overjoyed at the news, and expressed his satisfaction and belief that Kohl's counsel would make good use of the time.

A Woman's Strange Death.

New York, March 8.—Deputy Coroner O'Hanlon held an autopsy on the the body of Mrs. Strager last night. He found that death resulted from a crimnal abortion. The examination showed that the woman had been pregnant for three months prior to her marriage. The deputy was of the opinion that instruments had been used. Dr. O'Hanlon gave a permit and the body of the unfortunate woman was removed to her home, No. 30 Delancy street. Mrs. Ochs, the midwife, has not yet been arrested.

American Excursionists Abroad.

Alexandria, Egypt, March 8.—The French line steamer La Touraine, Capt. Santelli, which sailed from New York on Feb. 6 on an excursion to the Mediterrean and the Orient, arrived here yesterday.

Constantinople, March 8.—The Hamburg-American line steamer Augusta Victoria, Capt. Kaempff, from New York, Jan. 22, with a party of excursionists, sailed from here yesterday for Messina.

A Conductor's Rash Act.

Denver, March 8.—K. A. Hamilton, registering from Cheyenne, blew the top of his head off in a room in the American House yesterday. The weapon used was a 38-calibre revolver. Some letters and a traveling card in the Order of Railway Conductors were found in his pocket, but nothing to show why he had committed suicide was discovered.

Bound for Liberia.

Memphis, Tenn., March 8.—Three hundred and ten negroes left Memphis yesterday on a special train for Savannah. There they expect a steamship to carry them to Liberia. The negroes were gathered from Arkansas and Mississippi. The craze is spreading in the Southern cotton countries.

Riot at a Bull Fight.

Mexico City, March 8.—Eight persons were killed and twenty wounded yesterday in the destruction of a bullring at Puebla, during a riot started because a spectator was dissatisfied with the class of bull furnshed for fighting.

The Work of Thieves.

Croswell, Mich., March 8.—The barn of John Conroy, township treasurer of East Fremont, was set on fire early yesterday, presumably by thieves. During the excitement Conroy's house was entered and $1,200 stolen.

The Friesland Undamaged.

Port Said, March 8.—The steamship Friesland, which ran aground inside the breakwater yesterday, was got off undamaged and has proceeded on her voyage. The Friesland carried a party of American excursionists.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

IT CURES DISEASE.

The Medical Profession Endorses Paine's Celery Compound.

This is from the writer of the prize thesis on Original Research, awarded by the Medico Chirurgical College in 1892, and published by the American Medical Press Company of Philadelphia:

In torpidity of the liver and nervous debility and kidney disorders, Paine's celery compound acts like a charm, restoring the general nervous system and these organs to their normal activity very speedily. It is of inestimable value, and possesses a wider range of action by far than any of its kindred remedies. Very truly yours,

Odessa, Del., Dec. 26, 1894. H. L. CLAYTON, M. D.

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE,
CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 75 Grandview ave. L. C. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,
MASON AND CONTRACTOR.
Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 5 26 y

JOHN P. EMMONS
—Mason and Builder.—
Washington avenue and Prospect place
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Jobbing promptly attended to 11 14 tf

D. L. HULICK,
CARPENTER.
And General Jobber.
Cabinet Work and Mantels a Specialty.
Jobbing Promptly Attended To.
Orders may be left at Brenner's Clothing Store, 26 Somerset street, or sent by mail.
Residence 178 Duer st. 6-3-tf

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St
H. B Gayle, No. 18 Vine St
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO V-21-tf

JOHN T. ODAM
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
Slate Roofer and Repairer
Residence, cor. Arlington ave. and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J. New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 6 19 y

GEO. W. STUDER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
985 ARLINGTON AVENUE.
Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to. Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,
21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.
H. H. McCullough, Proprietor.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 4-11-1

C. W. LINES,
Mason and Builder.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence—118 Liberty street.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to 12 6

Jno. J. Shotwell,
Wood Mantels,
Tiles and Fire Place Furnishings.
221 Park avenue, upstairs. 3 5 tf

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION
is called to the
Home Department
of Rockview School, 317 East Front street.
Children received from
4 to 15 Years.
Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.

Afternoon Class for Young Ladies
Three times per week. Higher English Branches, French and Music. For terms apply MISS FAWCETT, 25 Washington ave

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices.

BEEHIVE

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½
Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.
Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.
We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,
222 West Front st

JAMES E. BAILY,
97 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.
Trucking of All Kinds Done.
Two and four-horse vans and trucks. Particular attention given to moving furniture and pianos. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 26 tf

Joseph E. Mosher,
Agent for
H. J. Hayden & Co.,
WAR CLAIMS ATTORNEYS, WASHINGTON, D.C
All claims put in our hands will receive prompt attention.
Call at the Crescent Cigar Store for fine cigars

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS
Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc., in bunches, bouquets or design.
MILES,
Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 3 17 tf

A. Lusardi,
No. 120 North Ave.,
Will be pleased to serve his friends and the public generally with first-class fruits and confectioneries, cigars, etc. Fresh roasted peanuts every day 10c. quart.
Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.
80 BROADWAY, cor. 6th ST.,
Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.
UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.
ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.
He would also announce recently increased facilities for TURNING and SCROLL SAWING and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner and shortest notice. 12-12-

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL ALBION,
OPEN FOR GUESTS
Park avenue and 8th street.

The Finderne,
FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.
Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.
HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.
(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30) Steam heat; inclosed piazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.
A. E. WHITE, Manager, Finderne, N. J.
1 9 tf

HOTEL GRENADA,
North Avenue.
Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.
5-12-1

CITY HOTEL.
Plainfield, N. J.
COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. R. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.
With stables attached. 45 y

IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER
On draught at
CHARLES SMITH'S
Sample and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST.
The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian Dark and the St. Louis.
Ballantine's Ales also on draught The Indian Pale XXX Sttill Ale and Porter.

A full assortment of Stationery!
AT
HARPER'S,
411 Park ave.

$500 DOWN
Buys One of Those New Houses
on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

Mrs. L. Adams,
111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank.
is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.
BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

F. A. DUNHAM,
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 109 Park avenue. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas.

Real Estate Insurance
VAN BUREN & TIMPSON,
163 North ave. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

HOAGLAND'S
Local Express.
Telephone 121.
Office 161 North Avenue

REMOVAL.
I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to
142 North Avenue
Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.
CALEB DICKINSON

AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE
For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Bad Complexion, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels,
R·I·P·A·N·S· TABULES
act quickly yet promptly. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
Price 50 cents a box. Address
RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., N.Y.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North ave. 10 1 tf

Jones & Co., Excavators.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
JONES & CO.
Cesspools built, 9 18

FISCHER PIANOS.
ESTABLISHED 1840.
Nearly 100,000 Now in Use.
RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARD,
WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO
EASY TERMS, — EXCHANGED.
Catalogue mailed on application.
110 FIFTH AVE., cor. 16th St., N.Y.

WOMAN'S SUFFERING.

RELIEVED BY MAIL. HOW IT IS DONE.

How a Woman Works for Her Sex.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Seated at her desk in the bureau of correspondence, this wonderful woman opens her letters from all parts of the world. A few extracts from their contents tell the story.—

FROM IOWA.

"I am in a very bad condition. My courses have stopped from catching cold, and the pain is fearful. I am all bloated up; and the pain in lower part of my body is terrible. My back and head ache all the time. What shall I do for it?" Miss L——, Des Moines.

FROM NEW JERSEY.

Mrs. Lizzie DeCline, 224 Grand Street, Jersey City, relates her miseries resulting from womb trouble, from which she was relieved and cured by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She ends her letter by saying, "I owe all to you."

FROM OHIO.

Mrs. Newton Cobb, of Manchester, O., writes: "I used eight bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and I am happy to say it has cured me of painful menstruations and backache. My suffering every month was dreadful. The doctors gave me morphine to ease the pain; nothing to cure me. Oh, I want to tell every one what cured me! I wish every suffering woman would write and get your advice."

FROM ILLINOIS.

Miss Jennie ——, Chicago, states that she is twenty-two years of age; occupation, saleswoman in large dry goods store. Constant standing has brought on womb trouble, the symptoms of which she describes fully. She says: "Help me if you can. There are several girls I know who have written to Mrs. Pinkham, and been cured by her advice and medicine."

FROM PENN'LV'N'A.

Miss Mary Smylie, who resides at 2078 E. Susquehanna Avenue, Kensington, Phila., writes: "I am a working girl, and must stand eleven hours every day. I have suffered terribly from painful menstruations and kidney trouble. At times my head was so dizzy I could hardly see. A friend recommended your Vegetable Compound. I am a different girl now: no more aches and pains. Oh, thank you, thank you!"

The above extracts from many hundred letters received daily by Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., go to show how easily ailing women can obtain advice and relief. Write to Mrs. Pinkham.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most successful female medicine known to the world, can be obtained of any druggist in the land.

A LADY'S TOILET

Is not complete without an ideal

COMPLEXION POWDER.

POZZONI'S

Combines every element of beauty and purity. It is beautifying, soothing, healing, healthful, and harmless, and when rightly used is invisible. A most delicate and desirable protection to the face in this climate.

Insist upon having the genuine.

IT IS FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE IS THE BEST.

FIT FOR A KING.

$5. CORDOVAN, FRENCH & CHAMELLED CALF.
$4. $3.50 FINE CALF & KANGAROO.
$3.50 POLICE, 3 SOLES.
$2.50 $2. WORKINGMEN'S. EXTRA FINE.
$2. $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
LADIES.
$3. $2.50 $2. $1.75 BEST DONGOLA.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE. W. L. DOUGLAS, BROCKTON, MASS.

Over One Million People wear the

W. L. Douglas $3 & $4 Shoes

All our shoes are equally satisfactory. They give the best value for the money. They equal custom shoes in style and fit. Their wearing qualities are unsurpassed. The prices are uniform,—stamped on sole. From $1 to $3 saved over other makes. If your dealer cannot supply you we can. Sold by

A. WILLETT & SON.

Neuman Bros,

THE POPULAR GROCERS,

offer special inducements in prices which will interest everybody.

White cherries.....17c
Egg plants.....17c
Apricots.....17c
Crawford peaches.....17c
Sliced pineapple.....17c
Grated pineapple.....17c
Hamburg stringless beans.....10c can

17c

Try our own brands of Coffees, the finest in the market.

NEUMAN BROS.

N. E. KING,

High Grade Portraits

In Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.

483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimen of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

CODDINGTON'S

FURNITURE AND FREIGHT

EXPRESS.

OFFICES—94 West Front street; 33 Park avenue. Post Office Box 320.

PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large covered trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 11 17

700 GIRLS QUIT WORK

Woollen Mills Employes Go Out on Strike.

A Demand for Higher Wages—Strikers Declare They Are Unable to Pay Their Board, and Ask That the Old Rates Be Restored—Trade in a Serious Condition.

Trenton, March 8.—Between 600 and 700 girls and men employed in S. K. Wilson's two big woollen mills here went on strike this morning. They demand a restoration of the twenty per cent. reduction made last summer in the spinning and card rooms and in the wages of the weavers.

Last evening the girls waited upon Mr. Wilson at his handsome mansion on Greenwood avenue, and stated their grievance. This morning the aged manufacturer visited the mills and promised the girls that their grievance would receive his attention, but this did not satisfy them and they all walked from the mills, declaring that they would not return until at least some part of the reduction was restored.

$3 Dollars in Two Weeks.

The girls say they have not been able to earn more than $3 in two weeks under the new scale of wages. Many of them live in boarding houses, and they told Mr. Wilson this morning that they were unable to earn even enough to pay their board. Much of the work is of new designs since the new tariff laws went into effect, and the girls say it is necessarily of an inferior character in order to compete with the foreign goods, and consequently the piece price is less.

Besides the reduction of pay and of the work, the girls complain of the superintendent, who has, it is alleged, compelled them to wait for warps, thus further preventing them from earning good wages because of the great loss of time.

Girls Determined.

It is said that Mr. Wilson put the blame for the girls' loss of time upon the superintendent. The girls are determined not to return to the mills unless their wages are restored, and are upheld by the men employed in their departments. They are arranging for public meetings, and intend laying their case before the tradespeople of the town.

The Wilson mills have been the only important works that have been running at all in Trenton for come time back. Nearly all of the twenty-eight potteries of the city are practically closed down, not one of them employing more than seventy-five hands.

The Cooper & Hewitt mills are only working spasmodically and all the brickyards are shut down tight. There are rumors of a further big reduction in the wages of sanitary ware potters, and the men have just reorganized to meet the demand of the manufacturers. There is comparatively no building going on and there are thousands of workingmen walking the streets.

Racing in a Sea of Mud.

New Orleans, March 8.—Despite the inclement weather which prevailed yesterday there was a large attendance at the track. The Crescent City handicap, with a thousand dollar purse, was the feature of the day. As the horses went to the post for the handicap a blinding rain fell and the track was soon converted into a veritable sea of mud. Terrapn took things easy all around the track and won, but was pushed hard at the finish by Decaped. Kathleen was left at the post in the first race, Royal Flush in the second and Lay On the third. The work of Starter Pettingill was very bad. He imposed a fine of $50 on Turner, who had the mount on Lay On, for being left at the post. Terrapin was the only winning favorite.

Sports to the Bar of Justice.

Saratoga, N. Y., March 8.—Robert B. Fonda, special agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, caused the arrest and arraignment yesterday before Police Justice Pryer of David O'Brien and James Morrissey, owners of two bulldogs that killed each other while fighting in a pit here last Saturday night in the presence of a large number of local sports. The owners are charged with having wagered large sums of money on the fight.

All About a Woman.

Belvidere, N. J., March 8.—William Bebbier, of Germantown, Pa., who was convicted at the last term of court of assaulting Dr. Riegel, of Bloomsbury, with intent to kill, had the verdict set aside yesterday and a new trial given him. The judge said he thought both parties should be indicted. Bebbier and Riegel emptied their revolvers at each other last fall while quarreling about Bebbier's attention to Riegel's wife.

The Corbett-Fitzsimmons Fight.

Westchester, Pa., March 8.—Champion James J. Corbett with his theatrical combination was here last night. In speakng of his coming fight with Fitzsimmons, he said if it ever came off it would take place in Oklahoma, as there was less trouble in arranging a fight in that place than in anywhere else in the country.

Miners Victorious.

Mexico, Mo., March 8.—Yesterday morning all the striking miners at the Lanyon & Co.'s mines were put to work at their price, seventy-five cents a ton. The company tried to cut their wages down to fifty cents a ton, and they all struck. New men who were put in their places have been discharged.

He May Die.

New Haven, March 8.—Harry McGuffin, a brakeman, of Morristown, N. J., in the employ of the Consolidated road, fell from a freight car in the switch yard here this morning. His legs were amputated. He will probably die.

They Ask for a Living Wage.

Springfield, Mass., March 8.—The weavers at the Highland Mills, Huntington, Mass., left work in a body this morning, claiming that they cannot make living wages. There is no disorder.

GOLDBUGS TORTURE A FARMER.

Wanting More, They Place His Feet on Red-Hot Shovel.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 8.—While George Wagner, his wife, his sixteen-year-old daughter and a hired man were sitting around the fire in their farm house near this city last evening five masked men entered. The men searched the house, but finding very little money, they demanded of Wagner where he kept his cash.

The old man denied that there was any more in the house, and maintained this despite threats. The robbers heated a shovel red hot and taking off Wagner's shoes they held his feet close to the fiery surface. As there was no more money in the house Wagner was compelled to submit to the torture and repeat his denial. Finding they could extort nothing more from Wagner, the men threatened to put the women to torture also, but they did not carry it into effect. While five men entered the house the party was composed of six, one remaining without on guard. The robbers secured hardly anything of value for the risk they ran.

MAY TAKE ACTION.

Citizens Excited Over the Burning of Three Children.

Rochester, N. Y., March 8.—The people in Spencerport are still in a fever of excitement over the burning to death of the three Place children. The acquittal of Tom Covert last week is generally applauded. Mr. Place believes him innocent. The general verdict appears to be that Mrs. Coe, the next door neighbor and the chief witness against Covert, knows more about the fire than she tells, and a subscription is now being started to defray the expenses of an action against her by Mr. Place. Mrs. Coe refuses to return to her husband at Spencerport, and remains in the city.

MEN IN ARMS.

Riot Caused by the Non-Payment of Wages.

Yarmouth, N. S., March 8.—There is a big riot in camp No. 1 on the South Shore Railroad, a short distance from here. The men are up in arms against the officials. Manager Clark, Captain McGray and the foreman managed to escape in safety. The rioters are all coming into town and serious trouble is anticipated. Two hundred Italians are now surrounding the manager's store and demanding their unpaid wages. They refuse to accept 30 cents on the dollar, offered by the company.

Killed Over the Division of Spoils.

Seymour, Ind., March 8.—This morning Edgar Holmes, while quarreling over property left him by their mother, shot and fatally wounded his sister Florence, keeper of a disreputable house in this city. The woman was armed with a revolver and fired twice at her brother, who, while attempting to prevent her from firing the third shot, accidently discharged his own weapon, the ball taking effect immediately behind her left ear, killing her almost instantly.

Business Brisk Here.

Jamestown, N. Y., March 8.—Business among the many manufacturing establishments in this city is steadily increasing. Orders are pouring in from all drections and all are employing a full force of hands. In many cases employees are obliged to work overtime in order to keep up with the orders. Manufacturers report the outlook as very encouraging for a brisk trade during the coming season.

British Army Estimates.

London, March 8.—The Right Hon. Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, issued the army estimates for 1895 yesteday. They are placed at £17,983,800, a decrease of £221,000 from the figures of 1894. Mr. Campbell-Bannerman says the Government hopes to be able to withdraw a battalion of British troops from Egypt during the present year.

Shot Through the Heart.

Guthrie, O. T., March 8.—J. N. Jenkins, a farmer, who had been to town yesterday with a load of wood, was found lying dead beside his wagon in the outskirts of the city early this morning, shot through the heart. K. S. Stroude, a neighbor, has been arrested, charged with committing the murder.

May Get a New Trial.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 8.—Barney Murray, the convicted murderer of William Bright, was to have been sentenced to life imprisonment at Auburn yesterday, but on account of the alleged misconduct on the part of the jury in visiting the scene of the shooting without permission, the court may decide that the prisoner is entitled to a new trial. Justice Ward said he would give his decision to-morrow.

Digging for his Treasure.

Victoria, B. C., March 7.—Henry Chapham, the oldest settler on Mayne Island, has been chosen the as leader of the band of fifty enthusiastic shovel men who are scearching for the treasure buried by Nicholson, the miser, twenty years ago.

Was the Judge Impartial?

Bridgeport, Conn., March 8.—An appeal has been made against the sentece of five years, for criminal assault on Flora Sutcliff by Joshua Rockway. Grounds for error has been set up, claiming the charge of the judge was not wholly impartial.

Boiler Explosion.

Akron, O., March 8.—A boiler at the B. F. Goodrich Company exploded yesterday, killing John Vance and severely wounding John Somerville. The explosion took place in the shoddy department.

An Aluminum Bronze Boat.

East Greenwich, R. I., March 8.—The question of plates for the new yacht was settled by the arrival of aluminum bronz from the Pittsburg Reduction Company last evening.

Height Hotel Burned

Shelbyville, Tenn., March 8.—The Height Hotel burned yesterday. All of the furniture was destroyed and the guests had a narrow escape. Loss about $7,500; insured.

Lived God's Allotted Time.

Richford, Vt., March 8.—Jerry Larkin, the oldest man in Franklin County, perhaps Vermont, is dead, aged 106 years. He was born in Ireland.

TARS FIGHT FOR LIFE

A Desperate Battle to Save the Powder.

Fire Breaks Out in the Cabin of the United States Transport Fern—Four Hundred Pounds of Smokeless Explosive Beneath the Cabin—No Disorder on Board.

Boston, March 8.—Fire broke out on board the United States transport Fern during her trip from Philadelphia to the Boston Navy Yard, where she arrived last night, and it was only by many hours of hard fighting on the part of the officers and crew that the flames were kept from the magazine, where 400 pounds of powder were stored.

The Fern, which is under the command of Lieut.-Commander George A. Bicknell, was off Highland Light, near Cape Cod, when at 10 o'clock Tuesday night flames broke out in the captain's cabin. The fire spread with such rapidity that in a few minutes after the alarm was given the entire cabin was a mass of flames.

Made for the Harbor.

Almost all the members of the crew were in their bunks in the forward part of the vessel. All hands were called and a systematic fight against the flames was begun.

The powder magazine, in which was stored 400 pounds of smokeless powder, was situated directly below the cabin. Lieut.-Commander Bicknell and his officers realized the danger that threatened them, and all took part in the fight for their lives.

Officers and crew were beaten back again and again, but rallied each time in the face of the fierce flames. Perfect discipln was all that saved the vessel from total loss.

The fire burned through the upper deck, and the flames, fanned by the wind, leaped many feet into the air. Lieut.-Commander Bicknell stationed men with lines of hose at the entrance of the magazine ready to flood it at the moment he gave the signal, in case it should be necessary.

Perfect Discipline.

When he saw that the flames had gained such headway that he would have a hard fight, he gave orders to make all speed consistent with safety for the harbor of Provincetown. He had just got the flames fairly under control when the vesel entered the harbor. In a short time the fire was entirely extinguished,

It was found that the entire interior of the cabin was burned out. The damage, it is estimated, will exceed $2,000.

Attempted Suicide.

New York, March 8.—Mamie O'Rourke, 19 years, a resident of White Plains, tried to end her life and that of her child on the tracks of the Harlem Railroad last night, but two men prevented her. When they reached the girl' side the train was in sight and coming toward them rapidly. As they approached her the girl threw the child on the embankment. She struggled fiercely when they tried to lift her, but they finally dragged her body almost clear off the track. The train struck her limbs and hurled her on to the embankment. One of her legs was broken. She was carried to her father's house and the child attended to. When Miss O'Rourke became calm she explained that her lover, a wealthy young man of White Plains, had betrayed her and then cast her off.

Stole a Trunk of Silver.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 8.—Several days ago there came to this city a drummer named Jennings, representing a jewelers' firm. He had many large trunks to carry. Last night he was to leave the city, packed his trunks and had them in the depot under watch of a porter. In the absence of this employe for a few minutes one of the trunks mysteriously disappeared. The police were notified, and in an alley they heard the clicking of silver and the striking of the spade into the earth. They saw two men bending over a trunk, which contained the precious metal, depositing it into the ground. Prisoners and their booty were captured.

Young Couple Elope.

Middletown, Conn., March 8.—Helen Cragie, 18, of St. John, N. B., has been visiting an aunt in Portland for several days. Her parents wished her to study for the stage. Soon after her arrival F. G. Spencer, of that city arrived. Her mother on Monday wired Policeman Hayes to prevent their wedding, and said she would arrive Tuesday night, but she failed to come. Last night the couple eloped to New York, where they were married to-day.

From the Bottom of the Deep.

Philadelphia, March 8.—The British steamship Allegheny, which was sunk some months ago in Delaware Bay by a collision with the Belgian steamer Caucase, was finally raised yesterday from the shoal where she lay sunk, and towed bottom upward about ten miles further up the bay to Dan Baker shoal, where she is anchored. There is now a prospect that the steamship may yet be put into a navigable condition.

Cyclone Strike Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., March 8.—A cyclone three miles north of Brewton, Ala., yesterday cut a swath half a mile wide through the country, damaging the house of A. Pittman and E. B. Johnson and tearing to pieces a school and church building. No person was hurt, so far as heard from.

Bondholders Ask for a Receiver.

St. Louis, March 8.—Representatives of the bondholders of the Colorado Midland Railway and of the Atchison system, in conference here, have decided to ask for a separate receiver for the Midland. The roads will continue in friendly relations.

How He Met Death.

Hillsdale, Mich., March 8.—The boiler in Kinney's sawmill, located six miles east of this city, in Adams township, exploded yesterday, badly demolishing the mill and instantly killing Al Kinney, the proprietor.

CURE THAT COUGH WITH SHILOH'S CURE

TAKE THE BEST

25cts., 50cts. and $1.00 Bottle. One cent a dose.

THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures where all others fail. Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough and Asthma. For Consumption it has no rival: has cured thousands, and will CURE YOU if taken in time. Sold by Druggists on a guarantee. For a Lame Back or Chest, use SHILOH'S BELLADONNA PLASTER. 25c.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY.

Have you Catarrh? This remedy is guaranteed to cure you. Price 50 cts. Injector free.

Sold by all druggists.

8 14 y

M. M. DUNHAM,

Real Estate and Insurance.

7 East Front Street.

Prof. A. Wehner,

TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.

ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipzic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.

References given and required.

Address letters to the office of this paper. 1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new

SPALDING

FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new

'95 Spalding Cyclometer FREE.

W. H. ROGERS,

408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.

Tonsorial Parlor, 304 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J. Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty. 10 19 t

The Perfect Base Burner.

Sold by

DAVID T. KENNEY,

Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.

102 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL and WOOD,

YARD—No. 208 Madison Avenue. Also Office for coal orders, with Woolston & Buckle 145 North Avenue

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR SOLID SILVER SPOONS.

COLLIER'S,

103 PARK AVENUE.

ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S

MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,

SOMERSET STREET.

OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING TYPEWRITER

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.

It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.

It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.

These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.

The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.

Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,

307 Broadway, New York. 1 5 6m

UP TO DATE.

Oh, dear to my mind is the old-fashioned fagle
That fond recollection presents to my view,
Where forest-hewn logs would in fire-glow mingle
And cheer us with comfort and radiance too.
But warmer today, and more comfort insuring
Are fires whose fervor is kindled anew
With fruit of the mines that the wise are securing
From coal yards of Stevens, near Grant avenue—
That excellent coal you are sure of procuring
Near junction of Front st. and Grant avenue.

(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Timpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort [Hygeia Hotel]

Or Virginia Beach, Va. [Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $16 Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE of meals and berths en route, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,

Pier 26, North River, New York.

W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

[Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

In the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey pork and poultry a specialty.

203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles.

411 Park Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little booklet "Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning the men's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,

175 North ave.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH.8, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Short Stories of Heroism from Real Life.

The Raid of the Merrimac.

On the 8th of March, 1862, the monster Merrimac, the first ironclad afloat, sealed the fate of wooden ships of war for all time. When she steamed into Hampton Roads, five Union vessels lay just across the channel—the 50-gun frigate Congress, the 30 gun sloop Cumberland, the 40 gun frigates Roanoke and Minnesota and the frigate St. Lawrence, also rating 50 guns. The Congress and Cumberland opened on the ram, but she paid no attention, aiming to make short work of the enemy with her powerful beak. Closing in on the Cumberland, she struck her at right angles, cutting an immense hole near the forerigging and at the same time sweeping away two gun crews with shots from her bow guns. When hailed to surrender, Captain Morris of the Cumberland, fired with the spirit of the Old Guard, shouted: "Never! I'll sink alongside!" The Merrimac backed away, leaving her beak in the side of the Cumberland. The latter continued in action an hour, firing with her deck guns until she sank up to her peak. The Congress had given the ram a broadside as she passed to strike the Cumberland, but when turning to avoid collision she grounded and was at the mercy of the enemy. Her commander, Captain J. P. Smith, was killed at the first fire. The Merrimac steamed up within 20 yards and riddled her with shells and hot shot. The frigate Minnesota grounded when attempting to enter the fight, but the St. Lawrence and Roanoke hurled broadsides at the ram, with no other effect than to cut away her unprotected parts—the pipes, davits, stanchions and rail. Darkness ended the battle, leaving the Merrimac with eight guns and their crews in fighting trim. Her four inch armor was barely indented.

MORRIS.

Won by Cannon Balls and Bayonets.

March 8, 1862, was the second day of the battle of Pea Ridge, Ark. After a terrible repulse on the 7th, Van Dorn's Confederates rallied on a wooded height in front of which Sigel's fresh Union division had deployed before daylight. Davis and Carr's divisions on Sigel's right opened the conflict. Sigel wheeled his batteries into line as they galloped to the field. The pieces were 15 or 20 paces apart, with infantry between. Each gun opened the moment it was unlimbered. Trees in the pathway of the Union shots were cut down, and stones on the crest were uprooted and hurled among the Confederate ranks. After two hours cannonading Sigel's line moved onward. The artillery halted on the last ridge, firing at short range until the infantry began to climb the slope. Onward and upward marched the dark blue line of men and gleaming bayonets, from base to summit. There it was met by a terrible volley of bullets from the enemy sheltered in the dense forest. With an answering volley and a cheer, the men swept on, Illinoisans, Indianians, Missourians, hunting the Confederates through the woods to open ground. Then their line broke in confusion, leaving flags and cannon as trophies for the victors. GEORGE L. KILMER.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE

—John Flynn is making extensive improvements to his house on West Fourth street.

—The regular class at the riding academy last night was attended by only ten members.

—A paper on Thomas Hood will be read in All Souls Church by McCready Sykes this evening.

—A service of the Young Men's Association will be held in the parish house of Grace Church this evening.

—The rain of last night drove one unfortunate tramp into the police station station for a lodging place.

—A meeting of the Plainfield Branch of the Christian Alliance will be held Tuesday evening at 317 East Front street.

—Alexander Titsworth will remove his paper and tobacco business in a few days to the store opposite The Press office formerly occupied by Gilbride & Lodge.

—Those who took part in the doll show of the Mission Band last week will probably have a rehearsal or two before it is again presented for the young people, Saturday, March 16.

—There will be a meeting of the North Plainfield Whist Club tonight at the home of Peter A. Emmons, where four new members will be added to the club list, thus making twenty in all.

—The messenger boys at the North Avenue station keep busy during their spare moments in trying to extract small pieces of money from between the cracks of the platform where people have accidentally dropped them.

THE GUBERNATORIAL NOMINATION.

There will be 781 delegates in the State Convention this year to nominate a Republican candidate for Governor, and 397 of these delegates, or six more than a majority, will represent five contiguous counties of East Jersey, namely, Essex, 145; Hudson, 117; Passaic, 58; Union, 39, and Morris, 21.

Divided by the sections known as South and East Jersey the delegates will stand: South Jersey, 235 delegates; East Jersey, including all the rest of the State, 543 delegates. Essex and Hudson together have 24 more delegates than the whole of South Jersey, and the number is within 129 votes of a majority of the convention. The two counties can, therefore, if united, dictate the Republican nomination for Governor this year.

The names prominently mentioned for the candidacy are all of East Jersey. They are John Kean, Jr., of Union; Franklin Murphy, of Essex; John W. Griggs, of Passaic, and Foster M. Voorhees, of Union. It would be hard to choose from such a list, but choice there must be, and as this will divide the East Jersey delegates, the South Jersey strength in the convention becomes of the first importance. The East Jersey candidate who gets the South Jersey vote will most assuredly be nominated.

The New Jersey Society of the Sons of the Revolution has decided to offer three prizes for the best short sketches of the Revolution, written by scholars of the public schools of the State. The prizes will be medals of gold, silver and bronze, and will be awarded in the order of merit. A committee will be appointed to provide the subjects. This ought to result in a wholesome and patriotic contest. No State abounds in material for such a competition as our own State, with its historic battles and its historic personages. Here is a theme to inspire the boys and girls of New Jersey!

Hearts and Dancing.

The Heart Club met at the home of Miss Clara Long of Park avenue last evening and enjoyed their regular game. The first feminine prize, a tortoise shell hairpin, was won by Miss Elsie Jobes. Miss Lillian Schoonmaker was the winner of the second, a pair of silver and tortoise shell side combs. Volney F. Freen was the lucky one among the young men and received as his prize a gold fountain pen. Seymour G. Smith, Jr., secured second masculine prize, a set of silver studs.

After the game was concluded dancing and a hearty collation ended the evening.

Among those present were Misses Lillian Schoonmaker, Lillian Torry Glenn, Lizzie Long of Somerville, Percy Emmons, Bessie Baldwin, Ethel Green, and Volney F Green, Sidney R Titsworth. Seymour G Smith, Jr, Benjamin O Bowers, Jr, Clifford M Crane, Allen Taylor and George P. Smith.

Music Hall's Great Shows.

Despite the bad weather, a good house greeted Lillian Kennedy and her excellent company in Music Hall last night. The great play "She Could n't Marry Three" will be produced in matinee tomorrow. Tonight and tomorrow night "A Midnight Frolic" and "A Daughter of Dixie" will be the attractions.

Wandering Willies Captured.

Chief Grant and Policemen Frederickson and Mattox raided a gang of tramps near Richmond street this morning, and incarcerated five of the wandering "Willies" in the police station, where they will be arraigned on the charge of trespassing on the property of the Jersey Central railroad.

BY THE WAY.

—100 additional hymn books have been purchased for the use of the Sunday afternoon meetings for men at the Y.M.C.A.

—Not knowing the weight, no charge will be made by Manager Egel for the ham that was taken from the front of Mrs. D. I. Smalley's meat market, Somerset street, Wednesday evening.

—Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Independent Order of Foresters, meet tonight in Firemen's Hall, Park avenue. Important business will come up for consideration, and a large attendance is desired.

—The Saturday night special at Doane & Edsall's this week will be men's and women's $1.50 grade of shoes for $1 14, new fresh goods, sizes and widths, pointed toes and common-sense toes. Store open till 10.

—The unique advertisement of Mr. White's in last night's Press brought great results. They put on sale 1,500 yards of duck suiting at five cents per yard, and sold nearly all of them. It pays to advertise a good thing.

A Carriers Rest.

An apartment for the use of the carriers for a resting place when not engaged in work will be built in the rear of the post-office, and furnished with brussels carpet, table for writing, chairs, etc. Carpenters will commence the work tomorrow.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., sends this: "I have used for indigestion and stubborn constipation, and found them to work like a charm when all other remedies failed to benefit me. I cheerfully recommend them to all suffering with above troubles." WM. J. MOORE, Contractor and Builder, Atlantic City, N.J.

Dr. Deane's

Dyspepsia Pills

At all druggists', 25 cents. Send to us for a free sample.

DR. J. A. DEANE CO., Kingston, New York.

VALUABLE

Business Property

FOR SALE

to close an estate. The subscriber, executor of Manning Vermeule, deceased, will sell at public auction, on

Thursday, March 14 1895,

at 2 o'clock p. m., on the premises, the

4-Story Brick Store and Basement

property Nos. 107 and 109 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J. Situated on Front street near Park ave., and directly opposite Somerset street, this is one of the most desirable business stands in the city. Entrance also to the rear of said premises from Park ave.

Immediately after sale of the store property the late

HOMESTEAD PROPERTY

of said Manning Vermeule will be offered for sale on the premises, Nos. 550, etc., West Front st., consisting of the dwelling house and barn and lot of about 155 ft. in width. This will be sold as a whole or in parcels At same time and place 2 lots on West 3d st., near Plainfield ave., will be offered for sale, one having a frontage of about 104 ft., the other of 30 ft in parcels if desired.

TERMS LIBERAL, and will be made known on day of sale. Further information cheerfully given prior to sale by the subscriber, at his office, or by J. H French at French's Mills, Somerset st. NELSON RUNYON, Executor. cor. Park ave. and Front st.

Dated March 7, 1895. 386

Co-partnership Notice.

Notice is hereby given that J. Augustus Smith has associated with him, as co-partner, Frederick E. Smith, and that the general grocery business formerly conducted by him at No. 125 West Front street, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, is now conducted and will hereafter be conducted by the subscribers as co-partners under the firm name and style of J. Augustus Smith & Bro.

J. AUGUSTUS SMITH,
FREDERICK E. SMITH.
376

TERRILL & COLE,

Undertakers and Embalmers

206 West 2d street.

Next to Trinity Reformed Church.
First-class livery attached.
Telephone 153. 11 25 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, 1 ct. a word, each insertion. (Less than ten words, ten cents.) Cash must accompany ads.

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan. Mulford, broker. 21 tf

TO LET—Two small stores or offices on one of the finest corners in the city, with or without stable room for one or more horses; also one flat with six rooms. Inquire of F. Westphal & Son, cor. of West 4th and Liberty st. 36 m

MONEY wanted to introduce a patent (allowed), one-half interest given. Address L. W H., 104 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J. 373

WILL sell for $50, good will of first-class hosiery trade yielding $12 weekly. Investigation solicited. A Bargain, Box 263, Plainfield, N. J

FOR RENT—332 Carleton avenue, six room house perfect order, good garret and cellar, extra large lot, neighborhood first-class, rent $15 monthly. Particulars 33 Willow avenue North Plainfield. 382

FLAT to let with improvements. Inquire Manning's marble works, Front street and Central avenue. 386

YOUNG girl wants situation as chambermaid and waitress; good reference. Address D., care Press.

YOUNG girl wants situation at general housework or waitress; good reference. Call 306 East 4th st. 382

TO LET—Two new, large stores No. 224 East Front street; new 11 room house with all improvements 22 Norwood avenue, and a 6 room house 746 East 2nd street. Inquire J. Voehl 65 Somerset street, 376

TO LET—Desirable flats in the Miller Building. All improvements, steam heat. Inquire Miller 339 Park ave corner of 4th street. 376

FOR SALE or to let, two new 7-room houses on Stone street. Address March, care of Press. 373

TO LET—Two houses, 7 rooms, including bath; improvements; city water. Rent $20. 310 Central ave 379

A NEAT German girl wishes situation as upstairs girl or light housework. Call at 138 North avenue. 382

TO LET—3 or 4 rooms for light housekeeping; no children. Apply 103 Duer street. 36 tf

THE Employment Committee of the Organized Aid can recommend several competent women by the day at reduced prices, to supply the place of servants temporarily absent. Competent seamstresses also can be obtained. Apply at office, corner Park and North ave., from 9 to 11 o'clock. 346

SIX ROOM flat to let; all improvements. 200 West 2d st. 34 tf

WANTED—By an English person, a situation as working housekeeper Please address Priscilla Negus, Bound Brook, 326

SMALL houses to let, centrally located, $9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 228 1m

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 226 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 226 tf

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st 27 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 130 tf

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Pietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt,

of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,

Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

EQUAL TO ANY,
SUPERIOR TO MOST.

The Variety, Quantity and Value AT PECK'S.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block,
19-1

VAN EMBURGH & SON

Have Placed on Sale

1 lot outing flannel at 3½c yard, worth 8c.
1 lot white apron checks at 3c yard, worth 7c.
" " " 6c yard, worth 10c.
" " " 8c yard, worth 15c
1 lot yard wide bleached muslin at 5c; soft finish.
1 lot fast black SEAMLESS hose 8c. worth 15c.

We are still selling Sheeting Muslins at our cut prices. The above goods are displayed in our window.

Corner Store Babcock Building.

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,

Established nearly 60 years.

We sell only high-grade instruments and at as low prices as are charged by many dealers for comparatively worthless ones. Cash or installments.

Warerooms—Babcock Building, Plainfield, N. J. H. C. HADLEY, Manager.

Tuning a Specialty.

Call and secure a copy of the Monthly Musical Guest. 123 tf

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

Money refunded on all goods not entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before purchasing. Since the opening of the department we have sold over 6 000 cans of tomatoes, string beans and corn as an advertisement at the unheard-of price of 6c a can.

The goods give good satisfaction and the people are buying them over and over again, the demand increasing for them each week. They often remark that they are just as good as they pay 8 and 10c for elsewhere.

75 CASES MORE

new goods received

For Saturday's Trade.

We are constantly saving money to hundreds of our patrons and they seem to be pleased for us to do it.

Special 6c can | 25 cases sweet corn. 25 cases string beans. 25 cases tomatoes. | Special 6c can

25 cases very fine lemon cling peaches, regular price 25c, special 17c can; another lot of Blue Point catsup quart size, 17c bottle; Burnham's clam bouillon special 19 and 34c bottle; Heinz little giant pickles, all kinds, special 9c bottle; Oyster Bay asparagus, flat cans, special 18c can; celery salt in screw top bottles 10c each.

Silexo 2½c Cake | 5,000 pieces Silexo scouring soap, one of the best scouring articles on the market, for this sale only, 2½c cake. | Silexo 2½c Cake

Our White Seal flour can't be beat; one trial will convince you. ½ barrel at 54c, ¼ at $1.07, ½ at $1.98, 1 barrel at $3.95.

Finest quality olive oil, large size quarts, 69c bottle; do 1 gallon size $1 95 gallon. The above is the finest grade imported.

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each | 100 doz cups and saucers Tea, breakfast and soup plates at 3c each; 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each | 3c each

27c each | Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each | 27c each

73c each | Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each | 73c each

9c each | Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each | 9c each

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.
DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.

Newest spring styles in a great variety of washable fabrics. New and stylish effects in all-wool and silk and wool. The prices are the lowest ever known

Priestley's Silk Warp blk Henriettas

$1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

CARPET DEPARTMENT.

OPENING OF NEW SPRING GOODS.

We quote only a few specials. All-wool ingrains at 49c; Tapestry Brussels at 53, 59, 65c; Body Brussels, Moquette, Axminsters, Ispahan, Agra, Kandahar, Art Squares, Rugs, Mattings, new styles, jointless, 9c and up; oil cloths No. 1, 39c, No. 3, 25c, No. 4, 19c; linoleums 49c; window shades from 19c up, poles and fixtures 19c and up.

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5. For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

COOKING BY WIRE.

ELECTRICITY USED AS A FUEL IN THE KITCHEN.

Successfully Operated in Many Places. Its Cost But Little More Than Coal. Its Universal Use in the Near Future Confidently Predicted.

People iron clothes with electricity now and bless the invention which keeps an iron always hot and bright and clean. The workman makes his pot of glue or paste with its aid, the housewife concocts dainty dishes with it, its presence is felt in the hospital, the dining car, the dressing room and the ship's cabin. In hundreds of ways is this unobtrusive, but effective fuel slowly but surely gaining the public patronage, infringing on the rights of coal, kerosene and alcohol, and even threatening the reign of the convenient and much prized gas stoves and appliances.

Down in the business portion of New York in a certain imposing building there is an apartment fitted up for the purpose of demonstrating the use of electricity as a domestic agent. In most kitchens the stove or range is the most conspicuous feature, the important function about which all activities center. In this electrical cooking room no fuel is seen. All the various departments are conducted separately; the baker, for instance, has a distinct individuality of its own apart from the broiler, the frying pan, the teapot, the stewpan. Each article has a separate heating apparatus peculiar to itself, and the magic current is transmitted by means of an innocent looking red or green cord ending in a stopper which has a strong resemblance to a big spool cut in two and painted black.

Under the average power rates charged at present the cost is greater than the cost of fuel directly burned; but those who are experimenting daily with the possibilities of electricity in the kitchen assert that the day is not far distant when its labor saving devices will be placed within the reach of the poorest as well as the wealthiest citizen of the metropolis.

"In cooking with electricity fully 95 per cent. of the heat obtained is actually utilized," said an enthusiast. "In cooking with coal fully 75 per cent. of the heat is wasted, so electricity is bound to become the fuel of the future, when active competition has brought the price within the reach of people of moderate means. The kerosene stove is dangerous," he went on, "though familiarity with it prevents people from thinking so; it has an unpleasant odor and is troublesome to keep clean. Where gas is used, in spite of all assertions to the contrary, there is bound to be an objectionable taint in the air of the room, and perhaps a suspicion of smoke about the viands prepared with it. In the use of coal or wood there is more or less drudgery involved, and there is also an unavoidable waste of time and fuel, whether it is intended merely to heat a pot of coffee or prepare an entire meal. In the use of electricity the heat is secured promptly, just as much or as little may be used as required, and the most fastidious will fail to detect the slightest odor.

"See this broiler," he added, placing one of convenient size on the table for inspection. "It is divided into sections, and has a switch which can be operated so as to throw the heat on or off two or more of these sections at a time. Economy in the use of heat is what we are aiming at. If only two or three small chops are to be broiled it is useless to waste the current in heating the whole broiler. A third or a half or the whole may be heated, according to the size of the meat to be cooked. There is no more particular work than to broil or toast in a first class manner. The ordinary fire often fails. It is the exception when it is in a suitable condition. Not a little waiting has to be done for the coal stove, and the gas flame often ignites the hot fat and burns the food. The electric grills and broilers are ready in a few minutes after the current is applied, and the work is done without the food being singed, smoked, gas flavored or burned. The escaping juices are collected unspoiled in a pan beneath; the cook can baste the broiled meat with its own juices, and thus all the virtue of the food is saved. Now, here is a coffee pot. It has its own little circle of coiled wire underneath, and by adjusting the plug at the end of the wire the heat is turned on and the coffee is made in a jiffy. As soon as the coffee is made, unless you desire to keep it hot, withdraw the plug, much as you would pull the stopper out of a bottle, and the expense for heat stops at once."

A YANKEE, OR OUGHT TO BE.

He Swaps Razors and Barbers' Supplies and Always Gets a Cash Bonus.

A man has been going about among the barber shops of the country for several years who makes a good living in a novel manner. He carries in a large valise a stock of second hand razors, strops, hones, hair cutting shears, clippers, curling tongs, brushes and other implements and appliances of the barber's trade. Under no circumstances will he sell any article in his stock outright. He insists upon trading something that he has and the barber wants for something that the barber has and does not need, the difference in the value of the article which he disposes of and that which he receives being made up in cash, no matter how small the amount.

"I started in this business at Pittsburg five years ago," said the razor trader to a reporter. "On a Monday morning I had in hand half a dozen worn razors. By Saturday night I had a stock of barbers' tools that I could have sold for $25 and $12 in cash in my pocket. I am known now all over the country as 'the razor trader.' A week does not pass that I do not clear my $25 cash, and I always have a stock of good tradeable articles. I never let it grow or diminish. I would not sell my stock offhand if a man would offer me three times its value, because then I would be liable to spend the money, and when it was gone I would have neither money nor business."

At the Botanical Gardens.

Professor—Here, young ladies, you observe a tobacco plant.

One of the young ladies—Ah! how very interesting, professor. Pray how long will it be before the cigars are ripe?—Giornale delle Donne.

Hopeful.

"Any parlor matches, lady?" he asked, as he offered a bundle of his wares.

"Not yet," answered the mother of four daughters, "but we hope to make some before spring," and she closed the door on the astonished match vender.—Detroit Free Press.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

PARTICULAR MENTION

John Carney is in Oak Tree today.

George Miller is suffering from rheumatism.

"Doc" Greenwood of Boehm's drygoods store is a victim of the grip.

Miss Iola Moore of Carleton avenue is detained at home by illness.

J. E. Dorland of Poughkeepsie was in Plainfield on business yesterday.

Miss Bertha Jenkins of East Front street has recovered from illness.

Miss Elsie Smith of Westervelt avenue is convalescing after a severe attack of tonsilitis.

Miss Lizzie Long of Somerville is the guest of her cousin, Miss Clara Long of Park avenue.

Mrs. Lewis Alpaugh and baby Walter of Evona spent yesterday with Mrs. A. V. Lunger of East Front street.

Rev. Dr. Tiffany of New York will preach before the Young Men's Association of Grace P. E. Church Sunday evening.

Mrs. Charles Kiederling and her sons, Arthur and Charles, Jr., returned today after a short visit with relatives at Raritan.

Mrs. George Thatcher and a party of friends left for New Haven, Conn., this afternoon, to meet Thatcher & Johnson's minstrels, who are playing there. The party will return Monday.

F. A. Dunham, C. E., of this city, has just been awarded the contract by the borough authorities of Hasbrouck Heights, Bergen County, of making an accurate tax and assessment map of said borough.

A few of the young people of Plainfield and North Plainfield were invited to a dance last evening at the residence of John P. Emmons of Prospect place given in honor of Miss Contrell of Avon. They had a delightful time.

Rutgers College on Tuesday conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity on Rev. Edward Griffin Read, pastor of the Second Reformed Church of Somerville. Mr. Read has been a successful pastor there for the past thirteen years.

Owing to the inclement weather only a few attended the dime social of the Daughters of Rebecca at the home of C. H. Rugg on East Second street last night. The programme arranged was not carried out, but will be at some later date.

Ludlow P. Wooden, proprietor of the Union Hotel, of White House, and formerly of this city, has returned from the Brooklyn Methodist Hospital, where he has been under treatment, much improved in health, strength and general appearance.

The whist club of the Plainfield Lady Cyclers met yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Ida Cook of Rockview avenue. The first prizes were won by Miss Marguerite Yerkes and Mrs. A. Saltzman; the winners of the second prizes were Miss Ethel Green and Mrs. J. T. Fritts.

Thanks to the Public and The Press.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening. Eleven members were present. The following reports were received:

Religious Work—Chairman, A. C. LaBoyteaux.

Educational Work—Chairman, Stephen Cahoone.

Physical Work—D. A. MacPhie.

Rooms Committee—Chairman, Nelson Runyon.

Junior Work—Chairman, George H. Batchelor.

Entertainment—Chairman, H. M. Maxson.

Membership—Chairman, A. B. Beers.

Convention—Chairman, E. L. Bonny.

Music—Chairman, T. E. Hazell.

Reports were also received from the treasurer and general secretary.

At the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. the following expression of thanks contained in the report of E. L. Bonny, chairman of the Convention Committee, was adopted and ordered printed:

The thanks of the Association are due to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Andrews, and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman for their kind hospitality to the delegates who were entertained at the parlor conferences at their homes, and to the citizens who so generously entertained our visitors, and to the churches which so willingly opened their doors for the meetings of the convention; to the daily papers of the city for the extended space in their columns given to the reports of the various meetings of the convention.

Accepted the Call.

A. B. Clemens who has been connected with the Plainfield Manual Training School, and acted as instructor of the Plainfield branch of the National School of Electricity, but who has given most of his time to the assistant secretaryship of the local Young Men's Christian Association, has accepted a call to the assistant State secretaryship of the Young Men's Christian Association of New Jersey. This necessitates his removal to Newark May 15.

—Read Neumann Bros' ad of fresh vegetables.

—The street letter box near the Babcock Building is to be removed to some point where it is more needed.

—John R. Blackford emphatically denies the report of an irresponsible paper that he is to become a member of the detective force of the Jersey Central Railroad.

DEATH OF JERE BILYEU.

He Was an Old Soldier, and a Comrade of Post 109.

Jeremiah Bilyeu, an old and respected citizen of North Plainfield, died this morning at 5, at his home on Chatham street.

He was a great sufferer from rheumatism, and he was often unable to work at his trade as mason on account of it.

Some time ago he was taken with the grip, which left him in a weakened condition. Only during the past few days has his condition been thought serious. For several hours yesterday he was unconscious.

He was a veteran of the Civil War, and a member of Major Anderson Post, No. 109, G. A. R., of this city, which will have charge of the funeral services.

Went to Roselle to Dine.

A load of Plainfielders descended on Van Court Inn at Roselle last night, and made things merry during their stay. The party left North avenue about 8 in the evening in an enclosed stage, drawn by four spirited horses, and during the overland trip made themselves jolly with song and story.

Arriving at the Inn, dancing was indulged in, and dinner was served, all of which was so informal that great enjoyment was extracted therefrom. According to the register the following constituted the party:

Mr and Mrs Fred Pollock, Miss May Sandford, Miss Emily Sandford, Miss Jack Manning, Miss Safford, Miss Estelle Place, Mrs Bemson, A L C Marsh, Walter Place, Fred Sandford, Charles Hall, Frederick Hallock, Will Hallock, Mr Horton, and Mr Sandford of Plainfield; Miss Bolton of New York; Miss Maude Lord of Netherwood; and Mr James of New York.

—Neumann Bros' are selling fancy creamery and dairy butter at very low prices.

—A large force of carpenters are at work in the Babcock Building finishing off the rooms in the third story.

—The City National Bank is being elegantly re-decorated by those princes of household art, Woolston & Buckle, whose services are in great demand by people of good taste everywhere.

—Minerva Temple, Rathbone Sisters, gave another of their delightful dances last evening in the Manning Building, West Front street. The attendance was very good, and everyone had an enjoyable time.

Four-Fold Gospel.

While the "Four-Fold Gossip" would no doubt be an interesting subject, especially as treated by Rev. F. W. Farr, still the announcement of that as his subject is an error. He will speak at 317 East Front street, March 19, on the "Four-Fold Gospel".

MUSIC HALL,

Jos. Sohl, Lessee and Manager.

Telephone 49B.

3 Nights Commencing Thursday, March 7

Special return engagement of the sterling soubrette,

Miss Lillian Kennedy,

supported by a strong company of first-class artists, in

SHE COULDN'T MARRY THREE,
A MIDNIGHT FROLIC,
A DAUGHTER OF DIXIE.

A succession of beautiful stage pictures. New songs, new dances, new specialties.

Prices 10, 20, 30 and 50c. EXTRA—Special matinee Saturday afternoon for ladies and children. Admission 10 and 20c, including reserved seat.

FURNITURE

MOVING

Telephone 121. Office 161 North ave.

HOAGLAND'S EXPRESS.

—AT—

NEUMAN BROS.,

—THE—

Watchung Ave. Grocers,

will be found tomorrow a choice lot of fresh vegetables as follows—Spinach, cauliflower, Boston lettuce, celery, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, rhubarb, parsley, beets, oyster plant. Also a select lot of table apples and oranges.

Three New Styles.

A Year of Paper Dolls 60c

The Brownies in Paper Dolls 60c.

Famous Queens in Paper Dolls 15c.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front st.

BEEF, WINE, IRON.

The words suggest STRENGTH and ENERGY if any words can. Spring Fever is at hand. Perhaps you need BEEF and IRON. The wine only serves to hold them in solution together. Pint bottles of the best that can be made at

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

AT 50 CENTS.

No Gates nor Fences of Any Kind

A free pass to come and go. To ramble throughout our store and enjoy yourself. No officious attention. No asking you to buy. Come and do as you please. The store is yours.

But Such Inducements.

Dress Goods

The best bargain we have ever offered in black goods is a 45in imported serge that goes on sale at 39c yard. Those 50in. wool mixtures that we sell for $2.39 for a dress pattern with linings are worthy your attention. 54in. Covert cloth were 98c, now 45c

Ladies' Skirts

Black French satine skirts, special, 79c
" " " 2 ruffles, 98
" " " emb., $1 27
Black Moreen satin skirts, $2 17.

You will be interested in a new line of ladies's cloth suits and skirts See them when in the store.

Kid Gloves

Ladies' chamois kids both buttoned and mosquetaire 79c pair.

Embroideries

About 100 pieces of Hamburg embroidery; were 8 and 10c per yard. Cut to 4c yard.

House Furnishings

10 qt galvanized pails 13c.
Paper pails 17c.
Jap tea pots 10c.
No. 7 granite iron tea kettles 79c
2 qt granite coffee pots 37c.
2 qt granite stew kettles 27c.
Fine thin glasses 35c doz.
A good broom for 13c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

Hot Rolls

of carpet. Quite an accident happened to us while carrying carpets to our carpet department, 5 rolls tumbled down a flight of stairs; nothing broke but the prices and we are happy to say they broke in half. Not a piece of carpet have we forgot to mark down. If ever you had a chance to buy carpets cheap, this is one that you should grasp. A bare floor is as bad as a bare head. These are only a few of our many specials.

53c..Brussels carpet handsome patterns..53c
69c.....Brussels carpet worth 85c.....69c
29c.....Ingrain carpet worth 45c.....29c

Mattings

15 rolls of 17c matting 12½—by roll 10c.
13 " 20c " 10c " 15c.
10 " 35c " 25c " 20c.

Oil Cloths

In this line we have the best selection and lowest prices of any house in the city.

Ladies' Separate Skirts

Crepon skirts $1 25—worth $6
Black serge skirts $3 75—worth $5
Cloth skirts, all sizes, $2 49. worth $3 50
Just received an elegant line of Spring Capes in black, blue and tan at $1.25. This price for a short time only.

Infants' Long Robes

$1 25 will buy a $1 65 robe, nicely trimmed.
$1 45 " $2 robe, handsomely made.
$2 00 " $2 65 robe, Valenciennes lace trimming.

Housefurnishing Goods Department.

Sorry you did not get one of our lamps last week, but this week we have a sale on Brooms and Wash Boards. For one week we will give you
A 20c Broom for 11c.
A 23c Wash Board for 12c.
and bargains in any article that you can think of in this department.

Dress Goods

We still lead with our goods on the top of the ladder.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

A. W. BAKER, 206 Park Ave. B. C. YOUNG, 337 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young,

Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed. 2 23 3m

NAPOLEON

Monographs on the Man of Destiny

A Series of Original and Interesting Studies

—BY—

JOHN CLARK RIDPATH

THE HISTORIAN

Read Them in This Paper

They Are Published Saturdays.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,

for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.

The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.

Corner Park avenue and Front street.

BIG CUT.

Special Friday and Saturday.

Philadelphia 1 lb Print Creamery Butter 20 cts.

4 lbs cod fish for 25 cents; 1 lb package best macaroni 7½ cents; Dried green peas 5 cents a quart; Best laundry starch 5 cents lb; Granulated sugar 4 cents lb; 2 lbs extra creamery cheese for 23 cents.

AT FULPER'S.

There Are Others

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,

177 North avenue.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. specialties leaders. 2 26 3m

New Lines of Dinner Sets,

Rich Cut Glass, White China for decoration, Fancy Flower Pot

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

R. MURRAY, M. D.,
Surgeon General (Retired), U. S. A.
Philadelphia.

WRITES ABOUT

Nervous Dyspepsia

"As a dietetic preparation I believe Bovinine of great value. I have used it for more than a year in a very aggravated case of nervous dyspepsia, and found it very much superior to any other meat extract food.

BOVININE
The Original Raw Food

"I also find it keeps in the warmest weather. It is easily prepared for administration, and has been successful in every case where I have tried it."

Sold by all druggists.

THE BOVININE CO., NEW YORK.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held March 4, 1895, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, March twenty-fifth, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 24, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council March 4, 1895, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000, payable to the treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

1,067 feet 24 inch pipe sewer,
2,284 feet 12 " " "
4,925 feet 10 " " "
30,605 feet 8 " " "
108 feet 8 to 12 inch cast iron pipe sewer,
116 manholes,
28 drop connections at manholes,
179 lampholes,
68 flush tanks,
4,141 Y branches,
875 extension connections on Y branches,
5,735 feet underdrains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposals, specifications, contract, bond, &c., may be obtained at the office of A. J. Gavett, constructing engineer, No. 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MAC MURRAY,
City Clerk.

THE MASTODON

was the biggest animal of which we have any knowledge, and lived ages ago. Mastodons in other lines still exist, for instance you will find a mastodon stock of wall paper and mastodon bargains with us every day in the year.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.
141 East Front st

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7 30, 8 40, 11 a. m., 2 20, 5, 5 30 p. m.
Close—7 and 9 20 a.m., 2 45, 5, and 7 30 p. m

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8 40 a. m., 2 40, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 15 a. m., 4 30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arrives 12 m; closes 9 10 a.m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9 30 to 10 30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6 15 p. m

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 212 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

R. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 8094, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Lunger, Fin. Sec. 9 25 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 148, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 10 East Front stree

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. C. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

OLD HARRY.

"Riley has left the coffee run out again. There ain't but two pounds, and five plugs of tobacco left. You'll have to hook up Old Harry and go to town, Bobby. Here's the order."

The speaker, big Abe Hutchins, shoved a smooth pine chip with some writing upon it into Bobby's hand, and continued his way toward where the steady ringing click, click, of the axes told that "the boys" were at work.

Half an hour later, after considerable difficulty, Bobby had hitched Old Harry before a low bobsled and was jogging along the dimly outlined trail which led to Algoma Mills, or "to town," as big Abe called it. No wolves had as yet made their appearance about the lumber camp; so the solitary driver as he pushed on rather liked the long ride than otherwise. Bobby reached Algoma Mills without unusual incident; the smooth pine chip was as good at the little store as a check at the Chemical Bank at New York, so when the goods required had been packed on the rude bobsled the return trip was begun.

The full moon shone through the great pines, which cast their dark shadows upon the smooth snow with a distinctness of outline which was perfect, even to the small forks and the dead limb or two towering over one hundred feet above the level of the white robed landscape.

Bobby Taylor was silent. Old Harry, now that her nose was turned toward the camp, did not require the delicate manipulation which she had forced her driver to put into play to coax her along the trail to town. Bobby was riding under skies which for clearness could only be rivaled by those of the arctic regions. He was breathing an atmosphere so resonant that a slight sound traveled an almost inconceivable distance—one so bracing that it made melancholy almost next to an impossibility. Half of the home journey was made without interruption. Bobby was then aroused from his reverie by Old Harry. She had increased her pace perceptibly. Her sharp ears, which seemed generally most concerned with matters lying in the immediate arc attainable by her lively rear hoofs, were now brought forward warily.

"Getting hungry, Harry?" asked Bobby solicitously.

Old Harry flipped one sharp ear around a moment and showed the whites of her eyes. But it wasn't an affirmative reply to the question. Her small muzzle was pushed out ahead again instantly, her mind being occupied by other matters. As though coming to a final decision upon a debated query she gave a slight snort and suddenly broke out of the trail. Bobby straightened up and gripped the moose skin lines.

"She's going to show off some of her natural born cussedness," said he to himself.

Old Harry must have reckoned upon his reaching this conclusion. At any rate her neck was braced against all pulling toward the regular trail. The snow flew and the awkward bobsled sprang into the air, trailing out behind Old Harry not unlike the very much abbreviated tail of a grayish comet and appearing to Bobby to only touch the earth at the high places.

Bobby was a philosopher in a way. He was not long in seeing that it would be next to impossible for him to guide that four legged piece of equine obstinacy back into the trail, for a time at least. As Old Harry had now taken a line which the moon told Bobby was about parallel to the regular trail, he let her keep to it, only concerning himself in an attempt to make the bob runners escape contact with the fallen logs and like obstructions. Bobby fairly held his breath as they tore along. He had never seen Old Harry set such a pace before. He tried to see if any disarrangement of her scanty mooseskin harness had caused the wild runaway. Yet all seemed in place and everything held despite the terrific speed of the plunging sled.

Very soon some long, low, yelping howls came to the boy's ears. He recognized them instantly and they set his heart to thumping as the ride had failed to do. They were the cries of some old wolf and his pack of fierce marauders coming down from the interior.

How much more dismal and disturbing the long notes sounded out in the cold wilderness of snow than when one was safely housed in the stout log cabin at the lumber camp. They sent cold shivers down the back of the lonely driver as they swelled into greater distinctness as the pack came out of some of the lower valleys and ran in the open country. Bobby Taylor was never much more thankful than when those long, wailing yelps finally began to grow fainter again, with a promise of the pack being successfully avoided, owing, as Bobby thought, to the erratic racing of the old gray mare, for the wolves had passed by on the side upon which the trail lay.

The pack, with its old leader at its head, had come upon the track of the sled from Sullivan Camp to town and had started to follow it up at once. Old Harry had heard the howling of the pack from afar and bolted from the trail to avoid the wolves. At any rate the pack was circumvented, the distance between the hurrying mare and the trail being so great that the wolves did not catch the scent and cut across lots.

Now, like some reasoning person, Old Harry swerved back toward the left until she was again on the trail. She sped along it with rather renewed effort and some show of friskiness, as though she felt rather tickled at her successful ruse. She had not seen the last of the cunning pack, however, for the long drawn, eager yelps were soon heard again. The leader had come to where the tracks of the returning bobsled diverged from the trail. For a wolf of his cunning it had taken no time to detect the direction in which the bobsled was traveling. A sniff or two, a yelp, and he had started off upon the fresh trail with renewed vigor, and the pack had followed his lead without a moment's hesitation.

A long rise of ground shortly gave a view of the trail in the rear, when four—five—blackish objects could be seen relentlessly following the flying bobsled. The shaggy brutes slowly lessened the intervening distance, despite the greatest efforts of Old Harry, her long body now glistening with moisture and flecked with froth. Closer and closer they drew. The war cry of the leader soon sounded by the side of the nigh runners.

Bobby Taylor glanced down at the old scoundrel and noted the rows of white teeth and the protruding red tongue. The old wolf was a silver gray color about his muzzle—like some aged dog. His glittering eyes were fixed upon the sleek body of the terrified mare.

The whites of Old Harry's eyes shone for a moment in vivid half circles. She slackened her speed, and with a low snort kicked herself loose from the heavy shafts.

"Goodby for me!" said Bobby Taylor to himself.

He only hoped the old mare would draw the pack far enough after her to give him a chance to climb a tree even if he were to freeze to death there afterward. It was plain that Old Harry could not outrun the wolves to the camp in her exhausted condition. Bobby dropped back among the warm buffalo robes instead of diving from the bobsled as the last wolves passed him, and, cautiously peering after them, he was astonished by a really remarkable spectacle.

Old Harry had checked herself when she had gone some fifty yards, whirled upon her heels and waited. The hair on the back of the old wolf rose in a long ridge, and he sprang toward her. A snort and howl followed; a wildly sprawling body went flying through the air, landing twenty feet distant.

Again Old Harry's head was lowered—those small hoofs shot out, and a second wolf was thrown, a lifeless mass, into a neighboring sage bush. One snarling wolf fixed its fangs in the old mare's throat, but was quickly shaken off. Old Harry spun round like a top and met its second onslaught with her deadly hoofs with marksmanlike percision. The sound of breaking bones reached the ears of the sled's silent occupant. Old Harry's teeth closed with a snap upon another wolf that kept warily away from her nimble heels.

The leader, a foreleg crippled and dragging, limped toward the redoubtable mare. In his anger at finding an equal in combat the old depredator seemed to have lost all reason. Bobby Taylor shuddered at the sight of his snapping jaws, from which the lips were raised till every tooth shone in the bright moonlight. This charge, however, lacked the cunning of the first onslaught. The old wolf staggered almost blindly toward Old Harry with a snarl that sent a cold thrill through Bobby Taylor's crouching body.

It was the last snarl the old wolf ever gave. Old Harry swung round as though on a pivot. The old wolf landed at the roots of a great pine and never stirred again, and the last of the conquered pack sneaked off with his tail between his legs.

Old Harry gave a short of satisfaction, shook herself and trotted away toward the camp without more ado. Efforts to catch her were useless, but Bobby was comfortable, rolled up in the heavy furs where he was. He waited there, watching sharply for any signs of life in the stiffening gray bodies lying on the snow, until a big party of the boys from the camp reached him. Old Harry's arrival at the camp, her body torn and bleeding, had made them fear the worst. Riley, who was the identical cause of the whole trouble, was overwhelmingly penitent.

This short sketch might have a highly moral ending, despite Old Harry's desertion of Bobby after her triumph, as Riley straightway protested that, as cook of Sullivan Camp, he would lead a thoroughly exemplary life forever thereafter. That good hearted soul had tears of joy in his eyes when he saw Bobby was safe and sound. He swore, too, that Old Harry should never lack a blanket, plenty of pine needles and a warm mash on poudre days. But no one, not even Old Harry, could make Riley over again, so that his desire to do these things had to be accepted for the deeds. At any rate, he attended to Old Harry's wounds tenderly, exhausting the entire camp supply of salve on them, and the fact that she was soon no worse for her desperate experience with the wolves was owing to his thankful care.

HENRY G. ANTHONY.

THE GERMAN UNIVERSITIES.

Schools Where the Teutonic Youth Are Taught.

The representative of German scholarship are the professors in the universities. This is true to an extent that is not in other countries. In England and America, for instance, and it is also true of France, there is a great deal of scholarship scattered through the people. Some of the greatest scientific investigators of the age, indeed, in other countries have been private persons. In Germany this is not the case. The makers of scientific literature are in the universities. They are here for the purpose of investigation. They are a great class of people set aside by the State to dig and study, and in so far as they get paid, they are principally paid by the State. They must also teach, as a rule, but this they do only in a peculiar and leisurely way, so that it may not interfere with their own business of scientific investigation. These are relations such as we do not find in other countries, and they are worth looking into with some care.

The universities of Germany, as we have earlier seen, are all State institutions, and this they have been for a very long time. It is the theory that they shall, however, be free from any restrictive influence, and, indeed, the liberties the universities are guaranteed by some of the State Constitutions, as in Prussia, for instance. The police can go trampling over the people out in the street, the freedom of speech may be prohibited to the newspapers and to the old lady who calls over her back fence that the king has the scrofula, but socalled science shall go on its way unhindered. It is true that there have been digressions occassionally from this rule, and, earlier, very serious ones; but it is so that at the present time a professor is not selected because he holds such and such views, and not discharged again on this account. He is open to admonitions on account of his action from the higher State authorities, and if his students turn against him and report what he has said he may be arrested under the general penal laws, but he is in general free.

A Mistake Somewhere.

That St. Joe paper that says a Newton man ran down a jack rabbit on a bicycle is a liar. We lived twenty-seven years out in Western Kansas, the native heath of the animal and we never yet have seen a jack rabbit on a bicycle.—Kansas Breeze.

Serenade Etiquette.

There isn't anything graceful a man can do when he is serenaded except to pass out the lunch and be quick about it. If a woman smiles and bows, which costs nothing, she does the proper thing.—Atchison Globe.

It is a curious fact that when a man gets damaged in a railway accident he always applies to the railway company for further damages.

A burning question—The price of coals.

Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary,
carrying good news of relief from pain.

Allcock's Porous Plaster

stands at the head of all remedies for congestion in the chest, the first result of taking cold, and for all lameness and stiffness of joints or muscles.

"Just as Good as Allcock's." Not at all. No imitation approaches the genuine.

Allcock's Corn Shields,
Allcock's Bunion Shields,
Have no equal as a relief and cure for corns and bunions.

Brandreth's Pills

are free from injurious substances. They give universal satisfaction.

11 16y-m w f

Treasury Department.

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1895.

Whereas, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882,

Now, therefore, I, James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business on March 1, 1915.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, 1895.

2843 JAMES H. ECKELS,
3 4 30 Comptroller of the Currency.

GEO. J. TOBIN,
187 North avenue.
Practical Plumber
Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer
TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

W. K. McCLURE,
Counselor-at-Law.
SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.
First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's
LAW OFFICES,
Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

Tel. 29B Established 1878.
ADDIS & SON,
PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.
Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.
Opp Roberts's Livery 132 North Ave

H. DeMOTT,
With livery attached,
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,
175 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 98 y

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET.
(Estate D. L. Smalley.)
94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.
GEO. EGEL, Manager.
We sell only first-class goods, at low prices, for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 10 t

HENRY C. ADAMS.
INSURANCE.
Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

J. W. VAN SICKLE,
Dealer in all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats
GAME IN SEASON.
New No. 122., North Ave., Plainfield.
Telephone 143 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

MOSLER SAFE CO.,
contractors to the United States Government
Mosler Patent Safes,
(fire and burglar-proof) in general use
All Over the World.
Lowest prices. Special attention and information given by
S. W. CLARK,
General Agent,
118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.
Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

J. C. POPE & CO.,
Insurance Agents,
NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET
Plainfield, N. J.

Granite Iron Ware.
Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.
Stoves at reduced prices.
Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-iron Work.
Plumbing and Heater Work.
A. M. GRIFFEN,
119 East Front St.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.
The Standard Railway of America
Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Jan 20, 1895, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

FAST LINE leaves Philadelphia 12 22 p m daily with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars for Pittsburg, Northern and Eastern Pennsylvania.

6.37 P. M. WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.34 p m—SOUTHWESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

8 42 p. m.—PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping cars, daily, for Pittsburg, Columbus, Chicago, and Toledo, daily, except Saturday for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 01, 5.05, 9.36 a. m., 9.20 p. m.

Sundays, 1, 9 08, 9 36 a. m., 9 41 p m.

For Baltimore only 1 37 p. m., week-days.

For Newark and New York—3 02, 4 34, 5 46, 6 17, 6 45, 7 07, 7 20, 7 49, 7 57, 8 06, 8 28, 8 38, 8 47, 9 17, 9 41, 9 48, 10 20, 10 28, 10 40, 11 07, 11 43 a. m., 12 12, 1 12, 1 20, 1 55, 224, 2 40, 345, 3 57, 4 47, 5 42, 6 15, 6 36, 6 49, 6 58, 7 27, 7 45, 8 05, 8 57, 9 47, 10 29, 10 38, 10 49 a. m., 12 35, 1 44, 2 22, 2 45, 3 45, 4 38, 5 24, 6 48, 7 05, 7 12, 7 35, 7 58, 8 30, 9 15, 10 15, 11 46 and 11 56 p. m.

For New York only, 6 10 a. m. daily.

For Philadelphia—1 01, 6 37, 7 10, 9 06, 9 36, 11 40 A. M.; 1 06, 1 37, 3 22, 5 06, 6 26, 7 46, 9 40, 9 59 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 37, 9 06, 9 36, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

(2 25p.m. with through Buffet parlor car) Sundays 6 59 a. m.

Cape May Sea Isle City and Ocean City 1 37 p. m. weekdays.

For Bahway—1, 1 43 daily ex. Monday, 4 06, 6 44, 7 10, 7 59, 8 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 39, 11 43, a. m., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 48, 3 20, 3 39, 5 00, 5 38, 6 53, 8 22, 5 55, 6 06, 6 12, 6 17, 6 27, 6 45, 6 52, 6 59, 7 20, 7 46, 8 14, 8 55, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 1 43, 6 59, 7 43, 9 49, 10 26 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 2 47, 3 28, 4 50, 5 20, 5 40, 7 21, 7 27, 7 47, 8 14, 8 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 06, 9 36, 9 59, 11 43 a. m., 12 35, 1 37, 2 45, 3 59, 4 38, 5 06, 5 40, 6 06, 6 45, 7 46, 9 39 and 11 02 p. m. Sundays, 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 36 9 49, 10 41 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 5 40, 7 47, 9 16, 9 41 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39 a.m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, and 7 20 9 54 p.m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 43, 10 26, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For Perth Amboy—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39, 12 46 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, 7 20 7 36 9 54 and 12 27. Sundays, 1 43 10 25, 11 47 a m 10 14 p m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 35, 2 43 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 06, 9 36, 11 43 A. M.; 1 06, 1 37, 2 45, 5 06, 6 26, 7 46, 9 40, 9 59 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 06 9 36 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M., 2.43 and 6.36 p. m., and 5.40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 43 P. M.

For Freehold—7 59, 11 43 a. m., 4 38, 5 06 p.m., via. Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via. Monmouth Junction—7 59 and 11 43 a. m., 4 38 and 5 06 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 4 12 5 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 25 a. m. and 5 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Sea Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p m.

For Boston—3 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 6 30, 7 20, 8 10, 8 30, 9, 9 10, 10 10, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 20, 12 30, 12 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 10, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 5 50, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 40, 7 00, 7 30, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 50 p. m., 12 15 night. Sundays, 1 00 6 15, 8, 9 00, 9 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 2 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 6 30, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 9 30, 9 30, 10 15, 10 00 p. m., and 12 15 night.

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager
J. R. WOOD, Gen Pass. Agent

Spring, Housecleaning,
WALL PAPER

Do you know spring is near? Well you'll need Wall Paper for the room and Paint, Oil and Brushes to make your home sweet and clean after the long cold winter.
Fine lot of Paper for 1895 that will please the most fastidious.
Of course there is only one place to get these things if you want the

Best and Cheapest,

and that place is on the corner of

North and Watchung Aves.

LOVE'S?

Yes!

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS,
30 PARK AVE.
He Manufactures Them

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.
NO.
BUT FULL VALUE.
C. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging.
37 Chatham street.

MONEY LOANED.
Local Representatives Wanted.
Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum. It affords absolute security to investors with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m

H. Eggerding,
121 PARK AVENUE.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 7 11 3tf

Central Railroad of New Jersey.
(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)
Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect, Nov. 18, 1894.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 24, 5 27, 6 39, 6 58, 7 28, 7 58, 7 30, 7 50, 8 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 39, 11 43, a. m., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 48, 3 20, 3 39, 5 00, 4 38, 4 53, 5 22, 5 55, 6 06, 6 12, 6 17, 6 27, 6 45, 6 52, 6 59, 7 20, 7 46, 8 14, 8 55, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 1 43, 6 59, 7 43, 9 49, 10 26 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 2 47, 3 28, 4 50, 5 20, 5 40, 7 21, 7 27, 7 47, 8 14, 8 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 06, 9 36, 9 59, 11 43 a. m., 12 35, 1 37, 2 45, 3 59, 4 38, 5 06, 5 40, 6 06, 6 45, 7 46, 9 39 and 11 02 p. m. Sundays, 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 36 9 49, 10 41 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 5 40, 7 47, 9 16, 9 41 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39 a.m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, and 7 20 9 54 p.m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 43, 10 26, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For Perth Amboy—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39, 12 46 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, 7 20 7 36 9 54 and 12 27. Sundays, 1 43 10 25, 11 47 a m 10 14 p m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 35, 2 43 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 37, 7 10, 7 59, 9 06, 9 36, 11 43 A. M.; 1 06, 1 37, 2 45, 5 06, 6 26, 7 46, 9 40, 9 59 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 6 59, 9 06 9 36 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 A. M., 2.43 and 6.36 p. m., and 5.40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 59 A. M.; 2 43 P. M.

For Freehold—7 59, 11 43 a. m., 4 38, 5 06 p.m., via. Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via. Monmouth Junction—7 59 and 11 43 a. m., 4 38 and 5 06 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 4 12 5 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 25 a. m. and 5 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Sea Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p m.

For Boston—3 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 6 30, 7 20, 8 10, 8 30, 9, 9 10, 10 10, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 20, 12 30, 12 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 10, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 5 50, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 40, 7 00, 7 30, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 50 p. m., 12 15 night. Sundays, 1 00 6 15, 8, 9 00, 9 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 2 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 6 30, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 9 30, 9 30, 10 15, 10 00 p. m., and 12 15 night.

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager
J. R. WOOD, Gen Pass. Agent

Central Railroad of New Jersey.
(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring cleanliness and comfort.)
Station in New York foot of Liberty Street. Time Table in Effect, Nov. 18, 1894.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 24, 5 27, 6 39, 6 58, 7 28, 7 58, 7 30, 7 50, 8 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 39, 11 43, A. M., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 48, 3 20, 3 39, 5 00, 4 38, 4 53, 5 22, 5 55, 6 06, 6 12, 6 17, 6 27, 6 45, 6 52, 6 59, 7 20, 7 46, 8 14, 8 55, 9 54, 11 02 11 45 P. M. Sunday—2 24, 5 27, 6 06, 8 07, 8 52, 10 04, 11 16 P. M., 1 26 A. M., 12 32, 1 05, 2 20, 5 36, 7 11, 8 20, 8 52, 10 17 P. M.

Leave New York from foot of Liberty street 4 00, 6 00, 7 15, 8 40, 9 10, 10, 11 45, A. M., 1 15, 2 00, 3 00, 3 40, 4, 4 30, 5, 5 15, except Saturday, 5 30 5 45, 6, 6 15, 6 50, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9 15, 10 15, 11 30 P. M., 12 15, 1, night. Sunday—4 30, 7 15, 8 30, 8 15, A. M., 12 M., 1, 3 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7, 9 00, 10 00 P. M., 12 15 night. 1 A M.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 5 39, 6 39, 6 49, 7 26, 7 39, 8 22, 10 06, 10 27, A. M., 12 06 1 15, 2 07, 2 30, 3 12, 3 53, 4 30, 5 04, 5 54, 6 54, 7 09, 8 30, 10 15 11 20 P. M. Sunday—8 07, 8 52, 10 08, 11 20, A. M 12 32, 1 45, 2 30, 5 36, 7 11, 8 29, 8 52, 10 17 P. M.

Leave Newark 6 15, 7 15, 7 35, 8 39, 9 08, 10 08, 11 36 A.M., 1 15, 1 35, 2 20 Saturday only, 2 35, 3 08, 4 05, 4 40, 5 04, 5 34, 5 50, 6 20, 7 15, 7 38, 8 05, 10 00, 11 30 P. M. Sunday—7 30, 8 45, 9 25, 11 05, A. M., 1 10, 2 25, 4 10, 5 45, 7 20, 9 20, 10 20 P. M.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 6 48, 7 10, 8 16, 9 54, 11 a.m., 12 03 2 03, 3 32, 5 48, 6 36, 8 05, 8 14, 8 34, 9 04, 9 19, 9 37, 10 13, 10 21, 11 10 55, 11 22, P. M., 2 20 night Sunday—8 46, 9 24, A.M., 2 03, 3 32, 5 14, 6 36, 8 05, 10 15, 11 14 P.M.

Leave Somerville 6 8, 8 00, 7 00, 7 36, 7 55, 7 02, 8 20, 9 03, 11 00 A. M., 12 53, 1 48, 3 05, 3 25, 4 26, 5 20, 6 36, 8 17, 9 45, 11 03, P. M. Sunday 9 25, 9 45, 10 05 A. M., 12 03, 1 20 5 05, 6 45, 8 02, 9 05, 9 40 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON

Leave Plainfield 6 48, 8 16, 9 54, A.M., 12 46, 3 03, 5 05, 5 14, 7 38, 9 21 P. M. Sunday—8 45, 9 20 A. M., 3 03, 6 38, P. M.

Leave Easton 6 05, 7 00, 8 55, A.M., 12 32, 4 04, 7 00 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 02, A. M. 6 40, 7 30, P. M

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 54, a. m, 5 05 p.m

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

6 48 A. M. for Flemington, Bethlehem, Allentown, Bangor and Mauch Chunk, Williamsport and Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m. for stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

8 16 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge branch D L & W R R, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Hazleton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m. way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 08 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Sunbury and Williamsport, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton. Buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk.

5 05 P. M., way for Easton, connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge branch

6 14 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading and Harrisburg.

8 21 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

6 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 28 a.m. Sundays for Easton, 7 08 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Reading and Harrisburg, 6.36 p.m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

For Atlantic City, 8 37 a. m. 1 18 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c

Leave Plainfield 8 37, 8, 10 27, a. m 1.18, 3 51, 5 54, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove 8 32, a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 8 37, 8 38, 8 10 27 a. m., 1 18, 3 51, 4 50, 5 54, 7 08 p.m. Sunday—8 32 a. m., 3 30 p. m.

For Freehold 8 37, 8, 10 27 a.m., 1 18 3 51, 4 50, p.m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 5 45, 7 48 9 48, 10 45, a. m., 2 08*, 5 34* 6 48 8 21, 9 37* p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—5 45, 8 a. m., 2 08*, 5 34*, 6 45 p. m., 1

IF YOU WANT ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

PIANO BARGAINS.

Vanderbeek & Sattels

desire to say that they have ust received a fine lot of

New Pianos

of different makes which they will se'l at prices never before offered. Among them are those wonderful

Behr Brothers Pianos

Also Behning & Sons.

They represent also the Knabe, Hazelton, Chickering and many others.

They offer an excellent

Steinway Grand, $350.

A great bargain. Call soon at

221 PARK AVENUE.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must faily be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4⅞c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

SPRING NOVELTIES ATTRACTIVE BOTH IN COLORING AND DESIGN.

The General Lines of Dress Bid Fair to Remain About the Same. The New Wool Goods. Bright Linings to Be a Feature of the New Spring Gowns.

Fashions are in the transition stage again and the feminine mind is agitated by doubts and queries as to what will be the next variation of the mode. But whether there is anything new to offer or not, dress and style have become so significant a part of a fashionable woman's life that the subject never loses its interest or ceases to command her careful attention.

The general lines of dress bid fair to remain about the same, with very full, plain skirts, full waists and sleeves of varying degrees of expansion. The last show a tendency to reduce their fullness when the material is heavy. But so many of the spring goods are extremely light in weight that the sleeves may not show any perceptible difference.

The new wool goods are rough in finish, loosely woven and charmingly mixed with two or three colorings. There are checks, stripes and every variety of boucle effects, and, as usual in spring, green seems to be the dominating color, with dull red, brown, tan, gray and bluet blue following in the lead. All these loosely woven goods require a silk lining to make them up to date, and this must be of some contrasting color that will show through the meshes. Bright linings are to be a feature of the new spring gowns, and much of the artistic effect will depend upon an occasional glimpse of the showy lining of an otherwise unpretentious skirt. Blue dresses will be lined with pink, gray with rose color, and so on through all the brilliant tints. Manufacturers have anticipated the demand for fancy linings and have already produced a variety of colors at seasonable prices. Quiet tweed gowns will be made to assume an air of elegance they never knew before by linings of bright green, gaudy yellow and light blue.

Here is a new design for a toilet of wool cloth, having the corsage plain with lace at the side. It has a plain belt. The skirt is plain and very ample. The sleeves are elaborately puffed. A cloth toilet with genuine guimpe in silk muslin is shown in the second illustration. The corsage is open, cut square, with a large bias of black velvet. The belt has a large ornamental buckle. The sleeves are of muslin, with epaulets. The skirt is very wide. A silk gown with corselet of embroidered guipure and a large collar bordered with a band of embroidery is shown in the third illustration. The draped belt fastens at the back. The sleeves are puffed as far as the wristband, which is of embroidery to match that of the collar. The skirt fits closely about the hips and is very full at its lower edge. —New York Sun.

OYSTER SHELLS FOR DWELLINGS.

Texas Has Immense Inland Deposits of These Shells.

The region about the Gulf of Mexico has proved of unusual interest to the scientific explorer. The formation of Louisiana gives evidence of an antiquity beyond any part of America, and an aspect of age pervades much of the scenery. The ancient live oaks with the gray Spanish moss draping their gnarled limbs were a favorite camping region when the Northern soldiers occupied Louisiana soil.

In Florida the unaccounted deposits of phosphate, the hot springs, the hummock of the Everglades, the queer inlets from the sea and the numerous evidences of underground rivers honeycombing the rock on which the State lies, all suggest a history different from that of the upper Atlantic coast. The shell formations which are seen at St. Augustine, Jacksonville and other winter resorts have been made familiar to the North through tourists. It is not generally known, however, that Texas has similar geographical phenonema.

Houses built of oyster shells can be seen in a large number of Texas towns. The State was at one time undoubtedly a part of the bed of the Gulf of Mexico. How many years ago geologists do not know, and natural historians are puzzled at the forms of life, so different are they from any to be found elsewhere.

"Running across the State from northto south," says the Cincinnati Enquirer, "is an immense ledge or sheet of rock formed of oyster shells. This ledge averages about twenty feet in thickness, and is used for building purposes in some places, while in others it is ground up and placed upon the soil as a fertilizer. There is a large quarry near Henrietta, in the northern part of the State, and a number of handsome blocks have been constructed from it. When first taken out of the earth it is white and soft, but when exposed to the air becomes hard and turns a beautiful buff color. It was formerly used for foundations only, but during the past few years a great many handsome blocks and residences have been built of it.

"The deposits equal in extent and thickness the coal fields of Pennsylvania. In some places the shells are burned for lime, in others roads are made from them. In the vicinity of San Antonio and northeast from that city there are many of these roads. There are many more varieties of these oysters shells than are known now. At Greenville can be seen a specimen of enormous size, the shell being six inches thick and weighing five pounds, but the oyster itself was no larger than can be found now."

Tailor Made.

HOW THE CZAR FELT.

Tom Reed Tells of His Experiences As Speaker.

Mr. Reed was asked by Robert P. Porter, upon whose authority this story is told, how he felt when the uproar, confusion and abuse were at their worst in the Fifty-first Congress:

"I felt," said the ex-Speaker, "just as you would feel if a great creature was jumping at you and you knew the exact length and strength of his chain and were quite sure of the weapon you held in your hand. I had no feeling except that of perfect serenity, and the reason was simple. I knew just what I would do if the House did not sustain me, and there was no need to feel disturbed."

"And what would you have done if the House had decided adversely?"

"I should have resigned the speakership and my seat in Congress. There are other things to do outside of political life, and I had made up my mind that if political life consisted in sitting helplessly in the Speaker's chair and seeing the majority powerless to pass legislation I had had enough of it."

SEASICK NAVAL OFFICERS.

Length of Service Not Always a Certain Protection on Men-of-War.

"Before I went to sea," said a naval officer, "I had a notion that a man had his one dose of seasickness as he has his one painful initiation into the mysteries of tobacco and that after once getting on his sea legs he had those useful members in full possession forever after. I've learned better since then. In fact, I went to sea with horrible anticipations that were never realized and I was seasick for the first time in my life after I had been more than fifteen years in the service. It didn't last long and I returned to my pipe and tobacco half an hour after my seizure, to the astonishment of my shipmates, for a seasick man usually has no use for tobacco."

Sound Argument In England.

Temperance Orator—Oh, my friends, whiskey is the curse of England! You must all try to put it down. There must be no half measures; if you don't want whiskey to get the best of you, you must get the best of whiskey.

A Different State.

Counsel Drawfees—You must remember, madame, that if your husband divorces you, you can never marry again in this State.

Mrs. Wanterwed—I know that. That is why I want to get back into the single state.

Miss Anna Gould, who is soon to wed Count Castillane, is selecting the underwear for her trousseau at ——man's.—New York Sun.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B C F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money.

5,000 Pounds

Another big supply of Fresh Country Roll

BUTTER at 18c Per Pound.

Watch for our special sale price list in Thursday's and Saturday's paper.

FULPER'S, 207 West Front St.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S

Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose	7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose	10c pair
" " " double knee	18c pair
" " " extra heavy	25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handkerchiefs	5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs	5c

210 West Front Street.

106 East Front Street —— NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c
" Oolong tea	30c
" Young Hyson tea	40c
" Japan tea	40c
XX soda crackers	4½c
Ginger snaps	5½c
Nic-nac crackers	6c
California peaches	17c can
Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
Can peas, early June	8c
Can corn, fine goods	8c
Fine butter	24c
Ground coffee	17½c
Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
" Rio coffee	24c
Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented. H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement

For walls and ceilings.

SHAD! Rogers

232 W. 2d. St.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats, Dress Shirts, Gloves and Neckwear

U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,

120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat.

or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.

E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,

177 North Avenue.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager

Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.

1 14 tf

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,

Prescription Druggist,

143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

EIGHT MINUTES OF THREE.

A DETECTIVE STORY

BY NYM CRINKLE

(Copyright, 1895, by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.)

CHAPTER III.

In my case I suppose that something did, for I got up and wrote a leter to Mrs. Prineveau in which I told her that I accepted the case and would do the best I could for the accused, and that it looked like a hopeless affair. In response to this I received a note of brief thanks, inclosing a crisp five hundred dollar bill as a retaining fee. That the pale face of the man's wife had determined me is not unlikely, for it came back to me in the night with the strangest persistency and the same unwarranted look of trust in the gray eyes.

The trial was set down to come on about the first of May, and there was about a month's time to get ready for it. I wasted about a week in the conviction that all I could do was to dispute the evidence inch by inch, and in the last resort show that Clarkson was given to emotional aberrations and was at times irresponsible. But whenever my mind reverted to the matter that miserable woman's face rose up with an awful reproach in it, and then I fell to excusing myself to myself as if I had not done right.

One morning, with an entirely inexplicable impulse, I went down to the place in Varick street. I found Mrs. Clarkson living in one room on the third floor of a dismally dirty barracks, with two extraordinarily beautiful children, scantily but tidily dressed, playing about the floor, and occasionally asking when papa would come back. She had taken in some kind of needle work—button work, which she showed me. She had to cover the iron frames of the buttons with silk, and arrange them on a card, for which she got twenty-five cents a dozen, and by the utmost industry could never quite make two cards a day of a dozen buttons each. Her finger ends were black with needle marks. She looked weary and sick, but she did not complain. Nothing that ever I had encountered in my experience as a lawyer or as a man so moved my sympathy as this woman. Instinctively I knew that she had been gently bred; that she had loved a worthless man and this was her penalty for continuing to love him. I knew that she would cling to him through all misfortune and be the last to leave him when his doom came. I felt myself treating her with a fine courtliness that was inspired by respect, the respect we always feel for something that is a little above our human range.

It was difficult to pull myself out of this mood and come down to the practical business of a lawyer, but it was necessary.

"Mrs. Clarkson," I said, "it is necessary that we look at this matter in the most cold-blooded way. We have got to make the effort to save your husband beset on almost every side by almost insuperable difficulties, and shut into one or two miserably narrow courses. I have got to prove an alibi or establish his insanity."

"Do you mean by insanity that you will admit that he committed the deed in a mad fit?"

"Perhaps that would be the most judicious course, and then throw ourselves on the sympathy of the jury and the mercy of the court."

She shook her head with a sad dignity. "He did not commit the deed," she said.

"Perhaps not. That may be a moral certainty with you. But a lawyer must have facts. How are we to prove that he did not?"

"BY PROVING THAT SOME ONE ELSE DID IT!"

Her answer startled me a little. It was said calmly, and as if she saw no difficulty about it.

"By proving that some one else did it," she said.

"Have you some one else in your mind?" I asked quickly.

She hesitated a moment and then said: "No, but there must be some one else. Is that not your first and only task?"

She was standing in front of me. The two beautiful children were clinging, one on either side, to her dress. She reached down and put her hands on their heads. It was a lovely group of innocence, and made a touching appeal.

"I feel sure that you will do it," she added.

When I came away, I felt that in some way my visit had been a failure. I had meant to place the obdurate facts before her and ask her to assist me in working out the alibi or establishing her husband's tendency to emotional insanity. She had looked upon both suggestions with a dignified contempt and asked me to find the person who really committed the deed.

I made up my mind that I was to get no practical assistance from the wife, and in my extremity I sent for Amos Daryl, who was then employed in the secret service in Washington.

I had not seen him in several years, but he owed his position to me and he was the only detective I knew for whose abilities I had a profound respect. Luckily he was able to get away, and he came to New York promptly to see me.

Daryl was a great, brawny, raw-boned fellow with a child's simpleminedness; one of those men who deceive you completely in appearance and manner. He might easily have been mistaken for an Adirondack guide on a visit to the city. But he was well-known to the police authorities and most of the criminal lawyers.

He listened to me as I went over all the details of the affair, and I don't think he spoke once till I told him what Mrs. Clarkson had said; then he smiled, put his long hands in his pockets, and stretching out his interminable legs remarked: "A good idea."

"I have told you all that there is to it. What is your opinion?"

"My opinion is that Mrs. Clarkson suspects some one else and hasn't told you. Give me a card to Mrs. Prineveau, and three or four days' time."

Just before he left, he said: "You'd better give me a card to Mr. Greve while you are about it. I want to see that bullet, and I shall have to get an order from him."

After two days' time he came back. It was about ten o'clock in the morning and he sauntered into my study in his careless manner, unlimbered himself in a big chair, and then as usual waited for me to open the conversation.

"Well, Amos," I said, throwing down my pen and wheeling round "you've come back a little sooner than I expected. Have you got anything to say to me?"

"Not much."

He said this with his aggravating vacuity, and stopped. One hand was thrust into his pocket, the other supported his head in an easy, indolent, sprawling position.

"I THINK I KNOW WHO COMMITTED THAT MURDER."

"I suppose you have made up your mind; it is a waste of time trying to save that man. Well, I about made up my mind to that myself, some time ago."

"Do you mind telling me how you got into this case?" he asked.

"As that is a private matter and you are not disposed to take any share in the case, I don't see why I should make you a confidant."

"Did Mrs. Prineveau ask you to defend Clarkson?"

"Ah! Mr. Greve told you?"

"No he didn't."

"Then, Mrs. Prineveau?"

"Mrs. Prineveau would not talk to me. I scared her."

"Scared her? you must have lost your tact."

"No, I haven't."

"Look here, Daryl," I said, a little nettled. "You are one of the cleverest men in a particular line I ever met. This whole thing is in a nutshell. Either that man Clarkson shot Mr. Prineveau or he didn't. If he didn't shoot him he must have been somewhere at the time. He says he was drunk and if so some one must have seen him at some resort far away from the scene of the crime. It's a plain piece of work to find out the man's resorts and get hold of the persons who saw him there on that day. That's all there is to it, and I don't mind telling you that I haven't a bit of faith in the task, but there's a chance."

Daryl did not say anything for a moment. He worked his big fist in his pocket mechanically, and looked down at his heavy boots as if he were at a complete loss. Presently he said, drawlingly: "Yes, that would be a waste of time."

"Then you have made up your mind that Clarkson is guilty."

"No—o. I've made up my mind he is innocent."

"Have you seen him?"

"Ye—s. Saw his wife, too."

"And he convinced you that he was innocent?"

"N—o. His wife convinced me."

I laughed. "You're more susceptible than I supposed," I said. "She would have convinced me, too, if I hadn't kept my wits about me."

Daryl threw his head back and pulled at his iron-gray whiskers a moment. Then he said in a schoolboy way: "I think I know who committed that murder, old fellow."

"Do you? Who?"

"Mrs. Prineveau!"

If he had told me that he thought I had committed it, I don't think I could have been more astonished. I gave an incredulous start. "I wish you'd give me the facts upon which you have built that quick and—pardon me for saying it—that preposterous conclusion."

"I haven't got a single fact yet," he replied. "I'll look for the facts if you like, later on."

"What in heaven's name then have you got to warrant such a conclusion?"

"Kinder got the truth. It's different from facts. Can't foot it up, but you feel it all the same. I allers prefer it to facts—to begin with, for the facts kinder fit into it, easy like."

I got up and took a turn or two. My mind did not easily adjust itself to this possibility. Daryl reached out his long arm and played with the paper weight on my table contentedly.

"Amos," I said, "I don't know what to make of this, and I think that you ought to tell me exactly how this notion got into your mind."

He toyed with the paper weight, and did not look at me. I could see that he was somewhat at a loss how to explain himself.

"Well," he finally said, "I ain't good at tracking my own notions, as you call 'em, but I don't mind saying in a general way that the truth slips into some people's systems without their knowin' how. As a rule it's a woman's system, and ten to one it's a woman like Mrs. Clarkson. Why, if her husband had murder on his clothes she'd smell it over night. She knows every turn of his big lubberly heart. She knows he hasn't killed anybody, and I'd take her word for it. A woman knows a lot of things that a man don't."

"Yes," I said, "she knows how to play on a man's susceptibilities."

"Mrs. Prineveau don't want to play on my susceptibilities, does she? You saw her, and talked with her, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did."

"And she struck you as a conscientious, self-respecting, kindly old party, didn't she?"

"She certainly impressed me as a woman who had nothing to conceal and was anxious that justice should be tempered with mercy."

"Very cool, and collected, and dignified."

"Most assuredly."

"Well, when she met me, she gave a start. 'Who brought you into the case?' she said. 'Not you, madam, of course,' says I, and she gave a little twitch. 'I wanted,' says I, 'to take a look at that bullet.' She snatched at the back of the chair, and laid in a big breath. 'You had better go to my lawyer. I don't think he will let you see it.' 'I'm not sure that he has it, madam,' I said, 'I have seen it, and it was never made for a pistol barrel.'

"Say, old fellow, that's a great woman, and she'll beat us in the end if we don't use a woman's tactics. She just braced herself and began to act, but it was too late, 'Ah,' says she, 'you have some new theory in the case or some new light. I wish you would go to my lawyer with it and if you wish any material assistance why you can come to me afterwards.'

"I call that simply prodigious; she says to herself: 'Here's a dangerous man. I'll get Mr. Greve to handle him and I'll handle Mr. Greve, and I'll throw out a hint of money at the same time.'"

Then Amos Daryl struck the paperweight that he held in his hand emphatically on the table, and, turning round, said: "My friend, that woman had no sooner clapt her eyes on me than she understood the truth; and the truth was this: that somebody had arrived that she couldn't hoodwink. I tell you, a woman's thinking apparatus is lightning sometimes."

I sat down in front of Daryl. "You amaze me," I said. "Suppose you turn to the facts now. The bullet was not made for a pistol barrel."

"No. The pistol is a little French plaything. There are not twenty-five of them in the country, for we make those things better here. But it was made at a French factory where the cartridges are all moulder. The bullet from Mr. Prineveau's body was not moulder. It was cut from a piece of lead and shaped with an instrument. You can see the marks of a fine file on it if you use a glass."

"But," I observed, "the bullet entered Mr. Prineveau's side through his clothing, the hole was found in his vest. It must have been fired from that side, and Mrs. Prineveau was on the other side."

"See here," said Daryl, getting up suddenly. "I don't mind being a little rash just for once, and I'll bet you a trip ticket to Florida, where you can see my little orange grove, after this case is decided, that Mr. Prineveau didn't wear the vest with the hole in it when he was killed in the carriage. Have you been up to Sixty-sixth street and Fourth avenue to look the ground over?"

"No."

"Well, I have. It was five o'clock when Mr. Prineveau was killed, and there was a steady stiff wind blowing from the northeast with plenty of snow, but it was light enough to see westward across the open lots to the Fifth avenue. If there had been anybody within a thousand feet the coachman or Mrs. Prineveau could have seen him. To suppose that a little French pistol could have carried further than that straight to Mr. Prineveau's heart is one of those yarns that would make a marine sick. My dear fellow, I've talked more to-day than I have in six months. But Mrs. Clarkson was dead right when she said the thing to do is to prove that some one else committed the crime."

"Can we do it?"

"We can find that person, but to prove it—well, to tell you the truth, I don't believe we will, for that person is as clever as four lawyers and eight ordinary detectives, and has had the start of us for a year or more."

"Where are you going now?"

"I'm going over to take some things to that woman in Varick street. I don't believe she is comfortable, and I'm dead sure she hasn't any friends. I'll see you in the morning with some facts, if I run across 'em."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

—A meeting of the members of the Y. M. C. A. will be held this evening to organize a bicycle club.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

BAMBERGER'S

THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values

IN

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality,

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow coverings, new designs and choice colors, value 69c. at

49 cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

☞ Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street. Newark, N. J.

SPRING STYLES

In Men's Hats are in today.

G. A. Hallock, 109 West Front St.

Alex. Willett & Son

Sell the best

Men's $3 Shoe

IN THE CITY.

CARPETS

Made and Laid With Paper Without Charge

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,

73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.

are making and laying Carpets with paper without charge, which is a saving of 15c per yd.

Parties about going to housekeeping will find no larger stock of Parlor Suits and Bedroom Suits to select from at such low prices. All of the latest Spring styles of Bedroom Suits of the Hall & Lyon manufacture, and Parlor Suits of all the latest manufactures and of the latest designs and coverings.

Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

All other goods suitable to furnish a house with in our line are sold at the lowest prices. Terms easy; one dollar per week.

The Portland Range!

The Court of Errors has just unanimously affirmed the opinion of the lower courts that no other dealer can take any range and put the name Portland on it and try to hoodwink the people that they are selling the original Portland Range, when such is not the case. 7,000 of these ranges now in use and not one complaint. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Goods delivered to all parts of the State free of charge.

Storing Furniture

Our new building just erected at 88, 90, 92 Bank street, seems to be the only building in the State to store furniture, the way it is being filled up. Furniture moved with vans at reasonable rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

Spring Curry Comb

Clock Spring Blade. Soft as a Brush. Fits every Curve. The Only Perfect Comb. Used by U. S. Army and by Barnum and Forepaugh Circuses, and Leading Horsemen of the World. Ask your Dealer for It. Sample mailed post paid 25 cents. See our name on the handle. SPRING CURRY COMB CO., 102 Lafayette St., South Bend, Indiana.

781-1 9-t t

HEATH & DRAKE

Announce their

Grand

Spring Opening

on Tuesday,

Wednesday,

Thursday,

MARCH 12, 13 and 14.

When a line of goods suitable for the season will be exhibited, consisting of elegant medium and low priced dry goods upholstery, carpets, etc.

You are cordially invited to attend.

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J.

MRS. L. COLES,

FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,

Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st

Taylor's French System

used. Suits $6.00 and upward.

2 2 tf

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1 50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 26 1m

Central Employment Office

218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.

All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first-class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Cigars, Etc.,

128 NORTH AVENUE,

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY,

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET,

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.,

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Telephone call, 29 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge. 9 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit.

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, india rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 6 p. m. E. HOMMEL, 20 North ave., Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Frissell, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8 27

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, MARCH 9, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY. $5 A YEAR.

CLUBS BREAK EVEN.

Honors Are Easy in the All-Round Tournament.

TWO VICTORIES FOR EACH CLUB.

Parks Win at Bowling and Pool, and Country Club Captures Whist and Billiards.

The Park clubhouse presented a scene of enthusiasm last night when the all-round contest between the Union County Country Club and the Park Club took place. The honors were evenly divided, each winning two out of the four different games contested—the Parks bowling and pool, and the Country Club whist and billiards.

The score on the bowling game was:

PARKS.		COUNTRY CLUB.
Leonard	210	Browne	104
Erickson, R	108	VanBoskerck	148
Waring	122	Herring	119
Erickson, J	182	Fleming	128
VanBuren	135	Beebe	153
Hegeman	154	Bogert	159
Evans	138	Chapman	177
Worth, W	183	Wharton	96
Worth, G	128	Stelle	182
Matthews	163	Burnet	171
	1523		1426

BY FRAMES.

Park	142	285	403	617	775	902	1065	1197	1356	1523
C. Club	120	291	498	681	749	880	1007	1163	1334	1426

In billiards and pool 100 points constituted the game. Two members from each club contested these games, and each one played with the other, so that four games were necessary. The Parks won at pool and the Country Club at billiards. The scores:

BILLIARDS.

Murray—Union County	100
VanDeventer—Park	68
Underwood—Park	100
Scott—Union County	63
VanDeventer—Park	100
Scott—Union County	58
Murray—Union County	100
Underwood—Park	45

TOTALS.

Union County	321
Park Club	313

POOL.

Stockton—Union County	84
Lyman—Park	100
Stockton—Union County	86
Hinrichs—Park	100
Baker—Union County	57
Hinrichs—Park	100
Baker—Union County	52
Lyman—Park	100

TOTALS.

Park Club	400
Union County	379

At duplicate whist the score was:

PARKS.		UNION COUNTY.
McCutchen, Townsend	8	Dumont, Beebe	9
Peck, Horne	1	Kirchoff, Erickson	7
Dupee, McGee	5	Mason, Perkins	7
Reed, Rogers	8	Ladd, Kaufman	2

TOTALS.

Union County	25
Park Club	22

Days With the Birds.

A delightful talk on birds will be given in the lecture room of the Crescent Avenue Church next Wednesday at 3:45 p. m., by Mrs. Kate Tryon of Cambridge, Mass.

The entertainment is to be held under the auspices of the Benevolent Band of King's Daughters, and the proceeds devoted toward support of the city nurse of Plainfield. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

To hear Mrs. Tryon's talk is to fancy the singing and nest-building of birds to be all around one; her simple and unaffected manner in imparting her knowledge of bird life lends greatly to the charm of the talk, and should be listened to by all who love nature and have a desire to become acquainted with the habits, songs, haunts, wooing and war of the bird, and how it brings up a family. Imitations of the songs of birds will be heard, and colored plates showing their plumage in all its wonderful variations exhibited. All this will add greatly to the educational value of the lecture.

Plainfield Choral Society.

The second concert of the Choral Society will be given Tuesday evening, March 12, in Stillman Music Hall. The society will be assisted by Miss Charlotte Maconda, soprano, Miss Louise Wilbrandt, pianist, Joseph Hollman, 'cellist, Miss Jessie Utter and Signor Calos Serrano, accompanists.

—People driving through Woodland avenue between South and LaGrande avenues, Netherwood, are likely to have their horses buried alive in the mud, as the mud is so very deep in that street.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

THE SOMERSET-ST. CORDIAL MARKET

Thrilling Adventure of the Reckless Absinthour Who Sought Wormwood in the Borough.

A man who had evidently seen better days and who carried a cotton umbrella with an unnatural wood handle, entered a Somerset street cafe liquer the other night and seated himself at one of the little tables. The individual by courtesy known as "Waiter" and whose duties comprise every phase of saloon life from mixing drinks to cleaning cuspidors, sprinkling sawdust and ejecting late or too extensive customers, regarded the stranger with undisguised interest. He winked his other eye to the bartender and that personage paused in the preparation of a Manhattan cocktail a la Plainfield to inspect the newcomer.

"What is it?"—queried the waiter with the air of one discovering a new land but uncertain what to call it.

"You've got me dere"—returned the bartender. "Go an' ask it—mebbe it wants a drink."

The waiter approached the stranger with much caution.

"What'liyerhave?"—he inquired.

The man with the cotton umbrella turned upon him a pair of soft, reflective eyes, eyes that seemed to gaze beyond earthly things, over the hills and far away.

"You may bring me a little absinthe—just a murmur of it"—he said in a low, tender voice.

"A what?"—gasped the waiter.

"A little absinthe, I said—just a whisper."

"Whitekey?"

"No, absinthe."

"Come again—one of me hearers is a little misty tonight."

"A-b-s-i-n-t-h-e, absinthe; don't you know what absinthe is?"

The waiter reflected a moment, and then hoisted signals of distress which brought the bartender to the rescue.

"Dis gent has me dead razzled"—he explained.—Come in an' look aroun'."

"What's de gag?"—politely inquired the commingler of wet goods.

"I asked for absinthe"—observed the stranger with emphasis.

"Did you?"—returned the barman.

"I did."

"What was it you asked fer?"

The waiter grinned.

"A drink of absinthe, by the gods!"—cried the guest, rising.—"And if I have to ask for it again, I'll smash every glass on that buffet, set fire to the whole bungalow, and hang you two miserable wretches on the trolley wire; do you hear me?"

"Oh, a drink of absint'—oh, yes!'—apologized the bartender.—"Say, Chimmy, de gent wants an absint', did n' I tell yer?" He disappeared behind the bar to bob up in a moment with a cavernous red and yellow pitcher.

"Here, Chimmy, take dis growler up ter H——'s an' ask him kin he len' me a quart o' absint'—ourn is clean out."

As Chimmy vanished through the back door, the stranger arose with a sigh and went the other way. Pausing a moment on the step he was overheard muttering:

"It's no use—I'll have to go back to the metropolis; why, it's as bad as Brooklyn here!"

Then he was lost in the night.

In Seclusion During Lent.

The five tramps arrested yesterday morning near Richmond street were arraigned before City Judge Coddington yesterday afternoon. They gave their names as follows: Thomas Murphy, Geo. Letterly, Michael Toughey, James Emerson and James Bradley. They were all given 30 days in the county jail, with the exception of Bradley, who was half blind from cataracts on the eye, and who furnished the evidence that proved the others to be vagrants intent on committing depredations everywhere they went. Sentence was suspended on Bradley.

He's an Octogenarian.

Mrs. John H. Goodwin and her son Frederick of Manning avenue attended the eightieth birthday anniversary of Mrs Goodwin's father, Frederick VanLiew VanDoren, in New Brunswick, Wednesday. He is a descendant of the original Jersey Dutch, and holds the historical Dutch parchment brought over from England.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

KNIGHTS IN SESSION.

Goodwill, Unity and Perseverance Get Together.

A ROYAL DISTRICT MEETING.

Grand Officers Come to Plainfield, Give Good Counsel, and Partake of the Feast of Good Things.

The largest and most enthusiastic district meeting of Knights of Pythias ever held in this city took place last night when Perseverance lodgeroom was filled to overflowing with the members of Goodwill, Unity and Perseverance lodges, besides a host of visiting brethren. Grand Chancellor Ralph Donath, Grand Vice Chancellor Dr. Hitchcock, Grand Prelate Rockafellar, Grand Inner Guard Somers Champion and Grand Outer Guard Dicksheimer, arrived on the 8:20 express and were met by Crescent Division, No. 13, Uniform Rank of this city under command of Captain J. E. Flannery. Headed by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps they marched from the North avenue station to Watchung avenue, to Front street, to Madison avenue, to Second street, thence to the lodgeroom where Crescent Division was drawn up in open order and the Grand Chancellor and his staff received with the Grand honors and were welcomed on behalf of the various lodges by District Deputy Grand Chancellor James Patterson of Perseverence Lodge who also presided at the meeting and introduced the different speakers. They all gave eloquent and impressive addresses on the good of the order and the best means to attain a healthy increase of membership.

Besides the Grand Chancellor and his staff who made addresses, the Chancellor Commanders of Goodwill, Unity and Perseverance Lodges each gave in detail what had been accomplished since the first of January and future Pythian prospects were. Brothers VanEmburgh of Unity, Captain Flannery of Crescent Division, and Charles Ulrich of Perseverance Lodge, offered a few well-timed remarks. When the veteran Pythian and war-horse of the order, Past Chancellor Cadwallader Jones, made a feeling address, which was well received.

Grand Chancellor Donath then plad a deserved compliment to the Captain and Sir Knights of the Uniformed Rank for the manner in which they had acted as an escort. The Lodge was closed in regular form when all adjourned to the banquet room where a tempting collation had been provided for the attending officers and members by Perseverance Lodge under the supervision of Past Chancellors Pope, Turton, Clark, Higgins and Drake, and to which all did ample justice. After the cigars had been passed the grand officers left for home on the 11:28 train, satisfied that the results of the meeting would be of lasting benefit to the district.

They're After Him.

Fred Durand, a piano tuner, entered F. S. Taylor's music store last night to make some enquiries concerning a piano in which he was interested, but as Manager Richard Menzel was not inclined to impart the information desired, Durand became abusive and demanded it. He also suggested that Mr. Menzel would retire from his position before long. At this the manager became wrathy, and told Durand to get out. But it was necessary for him to tell the piano tuner three more times before he got out. Then Durand invited his antagonist out on the sidewalk so he could punch him. As an evidence of how he would do it he swung his arms wildly, and said things that would have been better if he had left them unsaid. But Menzel did n't go out in the street, but ordered the other man to go away. But he did n't go till he got ready, which soon called out a crowd of shopkeepers. Finally Durand got tired and went away.

This morning Menzel appeared before Judge Coddington and swore out a warrant for Durand's arrest for disorderly conduct. Mr. Durand will explain his conduct as soon as an officer finds him.

This Was an Accident.

While removing a piano from the music store of F. S. Taylor on West Front street last night a cartman accidentally slipped and fell with considerable force against the plate glass in one of the display windows breaking it into small fragments. The glass was valued at $100.

—A letter has been received by Plainfield friends of Edward Warren, who is living in Sodaville, Nevada, telling of a fall which he had. It is feared that he is severely injured.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

NOT A JOKER BY NATURE.

McCready Sykes Says that Thomas Hood's Inclination Was Towards the Serious.

The first paper of the series on five great humorists, under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch Alliance, was read in All Souls Church last night by McCready Sykes, formerly of The Daily Press staff, his subject being Thomas Hood.

Mr. Sykes said that humorists put a great deal more laughter in the world than they take out of it, and so it was with Hood. He was born an Englishman and at the age of 13 left school and was apprenticed to an engraver, which trade he followed for a number of years, with no idea of entering literature as a profession, though he always had an inclination and evinced from time to time ability in that direction. In 1821 he entered active journalism by taking charge of the London Magazine.

At that time he had little thought of ever making an avocation of writing pieces; instead his inclination was towards penning serious poems, but it takes long to establish a reputation in this line of literature that is sufficient to maintain one with the necessities of life. Unfortunately for the future which his proneness indicated his business venture did not succeed, and in the meantime he had married, so that without a reputation which would bring him in money he was obliged to turn his attention in a direction otherwise than the natural bent of his mind seemed to desire.

He had published several fairly meritorious poems but they did not meet with financial success. Mr. Sykes considered that Fair Ines was the turning point in his literary life when he left the serious and entered the humorous field. This piece was the exemplification of his best work along the lines which his real thought indicated, but fate compelled him to manufacture puns from a condition of affairs which he was bound to adapt himself to. He was a man who was in touch with the masses, as all his writings and actions in life indicated.

Mr. Sykes's paper was largely made up of extracts from his writings which gave the hearer a better insight into the life and character of Hood. A brief informal discussion followed the reading of the paper.

THE NATION'S CAPITAL.

Personally-Conducted Tours to Washington, D. C., via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The series of three-day tours to Washington, D. C., arranged by the Pennsylvania Railroad, offers an opportunity to visit that place under the most favorable conditions; the rate being low and the service first-class in every particular. A toutist agent and an experienced woman as chaperon will accompany each tour, and the services of special guides in the Capitol Building are placed at the disposal of the parties.

The tours leave New York and Philadelphia March 21, and at intervals of three weeks until May 23, 1895, inclusive. The rates, including accommodations at Washington's best hotels, are $13 50 from New York and $11 50 from Philadelphia; proportionate rates from other points.

Detailed itinerary will be sent on application to Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, New York, or Room 411, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Love Transforms the Home.

"There 's no place like home,"—sighed the housewife, as she viewed the kitchen smirched with smoke and saw the dining room paper flyspotted and torn, while the paint played hide-and-seek under the dirt.

But as she was a wise woman she did not despair, but went to Edward Love's, corner of North and Watchung avenues; and now she sings "There 's no place like home" with a far different and the true meaning.

—Danish services will be held Monday night at 8, with preaching by Rev. Nielsen, in the German Lutheran Church.

—Nym Crinkle's great detective story, "Eight Minutes of Three", now running on Page 8, will be concluded Monday. It will be followed by a charming tale fresh from the pen of Mary E. Wilkins, entitled "Comfort Pease". The Daily Press serials are brand-new and copyrighted.

—W. A. Woodruff and VanBuren & Timpson, the agents who had the insurance on the recent slight fire in Werner's, have generously contributed to the Plainfield Relief Association the two slightly damaged overcoats which became their property on payment of the insurance.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. R. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

THE RED-CART CZAR.

Reuben Ray, U. S. Autocrat, Arrested.

SERGT. KIELY VS. UNCLE SAM'S MAN

At First a Redhot Tussle Between City and National Government Was Threatened, But Reuben Ended All by Pleading Guilty.

Reuben Ray got into trouble with the city courts this morning because he works for Uncle Sam. Reuben is a familiar figure about the streets as he pushes his three-wheeled cart along the walks between the postoffice and the North Avenue station, loaded down with mail pouches. But hereafter Reuben will take to the roadway, for several complaints have been made to the Mayor by citizens about his cart soiling women's dresses and about his officious manner in which he ordered pedestrians to clear the way for him and his red cart, which resulted in his being hauled up before Judge Coddington this morning as a violator of a city ordinance.

After several complaints had been made the Mayor instructed Corporation Counsel Marsh to draw up a complaint against Reuben and his vehicle, which was sworn to by Sergeant Kiely. The formidable document reads as follows:

STATE OF NEW JERSEY, COUNTY OF UNION, CITY OF PLAINFIELD, } SS

Patrick Kiely of the city of Plainfield, County and State aforesaid, of full age, being duly sworn, according to law on his oath says: That Reuben Ray of said city of Plainfield, County and State aforesaid, on the 8th day of March, 1895, at the city of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, did violate section 11 of the ordinance of the said city of Plainfield entitled, "An ordinance relating to the morals, peace and good order of the city of Plainfield", approved April 23, 1874, amended by ordinances, approved Jan. 4, 1875, Dec. 7, 1881, Sept. 15, 1883, Oct. 7, 1884, Nov. 3, 1891 and Dec. 8, 1891, in manner following, that is to say:

Said Reuben Ray did then and there unnecessarily obstruct Park avenue, North avenue and West Second street, of said city, with a certain three wheeled vehicle, which he then and there propelled along and upon the sidewalk of North avenue, Park avenue, and West Second street, and deponent prays that the said Reuben Ray may be apprehended and held to answer said complaint and dealt with as law and justice may require.

PATRICK KIELY.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this 9th day of March, A. D., 1895.

WILLIAM A. CODDINGTON.

With this in hand Chief Grant started out to find Reuben, and the first place he looked for him was in Babbit's pool room, swapping stories with his dusky hued friends.

"I want you,"—said the Chief.

"All right, sah," replied Reuben.

And so they marched to the tribunal of justice.

After hearing what he was charged with and wondering what he had done to violate "An ordinance relating to the morals, peace and good order of the city of Plainfield," Reuben pleaded guilty. The Judge suspended sentence on the promise of Reuben not to run his cart on the sidewalk any more.

Reuben told a Press reporter afterward that he never sassed Chief Grant, as was told the Judge, when he suggested to him on various occasions that the roadway was the proper place for his cart; he only just smiled at him.

So ended a case which at first blush threatened to be a warfare between Plainfield and Uncle Sam, as it was threatened that the postal authorities would defend Reuben on the claim that every public thoroughfare is a mail route and that he often had to take the sidewalk because he could n't push the cart through the deep mud or snow.

Reuben evidently believes that where there is a will there is a way, for this afternoon he carried the mail on the sidewalk the same as ever. However, he disregarded the three wheel cart, and instead hired another man, with whom he divided the pouches and between them they walked on the sidewalk and observed the laws besides. Reuben gently hums this afternoon the song, "You Can't Fool Me, Charley."

Plumbers' Committees.

At the meeting of the Master Plumbers Association last night President John Carney announced the following standing committees:

Executive Committee—All officers, with vice-president as chairman.

Conference—Wm Addis, C M Raybert, C W Krausse, D W Littell, A H Enander.

License—D T Kenney, I L McVoy, W H Addis, Jr.

Auditing—D W Littell, C W Krausse, A M Griffin.

Trade School—C M Raybert, D W Littell, C W Krausse, Wm Addis, A H Enander.

Trade Protection—Geo J Tobin, C W. Krausse, D T Kenney, A H Enander, C M Raybert.

Geo. J. Tobin was elected marshal and Chas. M. Raybert sergeant-at-arms.

Five trustees were also elected with D. W. Littell as chairman.

—Freshen up your appearance for tomorrow with a new hat. You will look better, feel better, act better, if you have Hallock's style.

POLYGAMY PRACTICED.

Appearances May Not, But It Is a Fact, Says Miss Perley.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society was largely attended in the Crescent Avenue Church yesterday afternoon. The reports from the various officers and committees showed the organization to be in a prosperous condition. During the year $800 was raised, $500 of which was used to pay the salary of Miss Margaret Buchanan, a teacher in a mission school in Mount Pleasant, Utah, among the Mormons, and $300 was expended for miscellaneous purposes.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Israel Pierson; vice-president, Mrs. Stephen Struthers; secretary, Miss Mary Ketcham; treasurer, Mrs. William Myers.

At the conclusion of the routine business Miss Fannie Perley, a teacher in a mission boarding school at Spanish Forks, Utah, spoke of her life and work among the Mormons. Miss Perley said she was very glad the society had decided to continue raising the salary with which to pay Miss Buchanan for her labor, for she was personally acquainted with her and her work, and knew her to be an earnest and faithful worker. Among the Mormons, she said, there was an urgent need for spreading the Christian influence as against the teachings of the so-called Reform Church of the Latter-Day Saints. People who had not come in contact with Mormonism had no idea of the persuasiveness of the Mormon missionary. Few realize what an immoral and profane atmosphere young people are compelled to live in among these communities. The abolition of polygamy would tear down the whole structure of Mormonism, and while they profess not to practice polygamy, it is not a fact, for it is practiced quietly.

PRESIDENT M'LAUGHLIN.

First Baptist Endeavorers Organize for Another Year.

The annual business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church was held last evening in the lecture room of the church.

President G. F. Brown presided and after the devotional exercises the reports of the secretary and treasurer were read, also those of the chairmen of the different committees. They all showed steady progress along the different lines of work, and the society is in a far better condition spiritually than ever before.

Officers for the coming year were then elected as follows:

President—John G. McLaughlin.
Vice-president—G. H. Batchelor.
Secretary—J. Henry Crane.
Recording-secretary — Miss Emily Corlell.
Treasurer—Miss Laura J. Runyon.

The following were also elected chairmen of the several committees:

Lookout—G. F. Brown.
Devotional—Miss Alice G. Woodland.
Social—Miss Grace Yerkes.
Music—Miss Florence Marsh.
Missionary—William P. Spangenberg.
Welcome and Press—R. W. Barnes.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes, the pastor, made a few excellent remarks, giving the young people valuable suggestions and advice. Remarks were also made by the retiring and incoming presidents which were very interesting.

A year of active work has been planned by the society and they hope to accomplish much in the Master's service.

Thanks for Welcome Favors.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—The members of the Plainfield Section of the Socialist Labor Party desire to acknowledge your kindness in supplying their reading room with your valuable newspaper free of cost, and heartily thank you for this and many other past favors conferred.

JOHN BROOKS, Secretary.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—At a meeting of the Plainfield Auxiliary, the secretary was instructed to convey the sincere thanks of the Auxiliary to The Daily Press for the many kindnesses received during the past year.

SAIDEE HILLIARD HUNTER, Secretary.

Remarkable Age of a Canary.

"Pinafore", the pet canary of the household of Charles Matthews, died yesterday at the remarkable age of 16 years, that being about double the usual age of a canary. "Pinafore" was totally blind, but did not lose his voice till last Fall.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dismondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph, druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c

A MUCH MARRIED MAN

Always Seeking a Wife with Money.

A Swindler Now in the Clutches of the Law—Women Vow Vengeance on the Prisoner—Wanted a Wife Sufficiently Refined Presented for His Consideration.

Newark, N. J., March 9.—Chief Hopper yesterday received a letter from Mrs. R. M. Spath of Philadelphia, who conducts a matrimonial agency. She alleges that Charles H. Hecking, who was arrested in this city on Friday last and who, it is claimed, swindled Mrs. Anna Gebhardt, of this city, out of $11,000 after promising to marry her, also robbed an unsuspecting widow in New York of $900.

Mrs. Spath's sister, Mrs. Ida Ehrlich, who, too, managed a matrimonial agency, secured a woman for Hecking to marry in New York early last summer. The wife was Anna Schwartz, who received $1,000 insurance on her husband's life. Hecking is said to have married the woman and skipped away with her money.

Robbed Fifty Women.

Following is a copy of Mrs. Spath's letter:

"I am more than glad to learn that one of the greatest wretches who ever trotted the globe at last has been caught to get what he deserves, just punishment. Please do see that he will get it, for he has robbed more than fifty women out of their money and life, and I enclose one proof thereof. If necessary a New York minister with a reliable witness will appear in time to swear that he has married a Mrs. Schwartz. Please keep me informed of the proceedings."

Hecking is said to have married the Schwartz woman under the name of Otto Heidleman. The man claimed to live in Orange, N. J. The first woman whom the matrimonial agent selected to become Mrs. Heidleman was a young German girl without funds.

She was not "sufficiently refined" for the tastes of Heidleman, and he suggested that a widow with about $1,000 in cash be presented for his consideration. The wife-hunter represented that he was worth $47,000, but said his money was tied up in real estate, and he could not touch it. He represented that he wanted to purchase a hotel at Orange and needed $900.

Mrs. Schwartz was infatuated, so it is claimed, by the affable and loquacious Heidleman, and readily gave him the $900. She, it is alleged, accompanied him to the hotel in Orange after they were married, and there gave a check for $500, in part payment for the hotel. They returned to New York, where Heidleman deserted her.

For Business Only.

On September 6, 1894, Mrs. Ehrlich visited Mrs. Spath at Philadelphia, and was surprised to meet Heidleman in her sister's office. He was on another hunt for a wife who possessed some capital. When Mrs. Ehrlich entered the house Heidleman said: "My gracious! do you do business all over the world." Then he made a hasty exit, followed by Mrs. Ehrlich. He ran down Brown street, and was distancing his female pursuer, when a fireman and policeman joined in the chase, and Heidleman was arrested after boarding a trolley car.

The prisoner was taken before Magistrate Pole, who, after hearing Mrs. Ehrlich's evidence, declined to accept a complaint on account of the absence of Mrs. Schwartz, and Heidleman left the court a free man, after he had denied every allegation made by Mrs. Ehrlich.

On Wednesday Mrs. Spath saw a picture of Hecking in a Philadelphia paper, and at once identified him as the man who had been chased from her house.

Has $20,000 in Bank.

If the statements of Mrs. Spath and her sister, Mrs. Ehrlich, are true, Hecking is liable to another charge of bigamy. Hopper is satisfied that the extent of Hecking's operations in the matrimonial line will never be known. He is alleged to have taken to himself wives in St. Louis and Cincinnati during the past two years, and is said to have on deposit in banks over $20,000.

They Show Their Sympathy.

New York, March 9.—The Housesmiths' union, which has heretofore refused to strike in sympathy with the electrical workers, who went out for an eight-hour day, joined the strikers yesterday. It is said by the strikers that the owners of buildings upon which work has been delayed are going to take a hand and force the electrical contractors to terms. Both sides still reject all offers of arbitration.

Unable To Serve Warm Meals.

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 9.—Yesterday morning a pipe in the main natural gas line burst twelve miles north of the city. The entire city was without fuel from 3 o'clock till 11 o'clock. Hotels, restaurants and private houses were unable to serve warm meals. Fires in nearly all of the stores in the city went out. The suffering was intense as many homes are caring for grip patients.

Must Go Dry for a Year.

Hartford, Conn., March 9.—In the superior court yesterday Edward F. Crawford, aged 19, pleaded guilty to murderously assaulting Charles Rudd, 74 years old, a merchant, at Southington on Feb. 13. Crawford promised never to drink liquor again and Judge Robinson sentenced him to one year in jail.

A Startling Discovery.

York, Pa., March 9.—Mary and Eliza Sheffer, two aged ladies of Shrewsbury, this county, were found dead in bed last night, having suffocated by coal gas. Not having seen the ladies for several days, the neighbors broke in the house and made the startling discovery.

The Cruiser's Further Delay.

Newport, R. I., March 9.—Further delay in repairing the piston rod of the United States steamship Marblehead was met with, and will detain the vessel until sometime next week.

THE LONGFELLOW SUNK

Broken in Two Against a Bridge Pier.

Lives Lost on the Steamer at Cincinnati—Many Injured—A Number of the Passengers in Jeopardy—A Treacherous Current at the River Docks—Pilot Unable To See.

Cincinnati, March 9.—The steamer Longfellow struck a pier of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad bridge yesterday and sank. The Longfellow belonged to the Cincinnati, Memphis & New Orleans Packet Line company, and was on her way to New Orleans.

The loss of the Longfellow is one of those accidents which there seems to be no means of preventing, short of the removal of bridge piers. The steamboat was scheduled to leave for New Orleans, but fog in the river was so dense that Capt. Wise, the president of the Packet company to which the steamer belongs, ordered her to be held until yesterday morning. He also ordered the Hercules Carrel to be ready to assist the large boat to pass the dangerous piers.

A Treacherous Current.

For having given the latter order Capt. Wise is now very thankful, for it was undoubtedly the means of preventing a terrible loss of life. The Carrel took position at the stern and port side of the Longfellow and assisted in making the turn. The boat went all right until within a short distance of the piers of the Chesapeake & Ohio bridge, when the treacherous currents began to interfere with her management. There was no fog, then, as at first reported, but as the bow of the boat pointed to the Kentucky shore, the wind blew the smoke in such a way as to blind the pilot.

"I cannot see anything," he shouted to the captain. The captain called back to run her south of the pier. The pilot signalled the engineer to stop, using the speaking tube to make sure of quick action. But the current was so strong that the steamboat was absolutely helpless.

She Broke in Two.

Warning was given to everybody. In a moment the Longfellow crashed against the pier and was crushed. The stroke was alongside the boilers. All who could do so rushed for safety to the Carrel. Some of the Longfellow's crew manned two life-boats and saved themselves and the family of Capt. John Miller of Missouri, landing them in Covington, Ky. The steamer clung to the pier, while the current, striking bow and stern, broke her in two, and in less than five minutes she went down.

The known lost number but three. David Aldridge of Rome, N. Y., an elderly man, accompanied by his wife, and Mrs. Armstrong of Jamestown, N. Y., was lame, and could not make his way in time over the freight that impeded the way toward the stern, where the Carrel lay. His wife and Mrs. Armstrong were saved. The aged clerk of the boat, Captain J. L. Carter, got aboard the Carrel, but went back for something from his office. Before he could return the vessel went under. The third is James Miller, the colored porter, who was fatally crushed by the collision.

A number of others were reported missing, but one by one they have been accounted for.

They Want To Sit Down.

Jamestown, N. Y., March 9.—About 200 operatives, employed in the spinning department of the Jamestown Worsted mills, went out on strike yesterday. An order recently posted removing all the seats in the room, compelling the employes to stand while at their work, is the cause of the trouble. If the matter is not settled the employes of the other departments, 1,000 in number, will go out.

Killed in an Elevator Shaft.

Jacksonville, March 9.—At West Palm Beach, Fla., yesterday Miss Deborah Woolley of Lakewood, N. J., was instantly killed by falling down the elevator shaft of the Royal Poinciana hotel. Miss Woolley was about 20 years old. Her remains will be forwarded to Lakewood, N. J., for interment.

Paper Mills Burned.

Carlisle, Pa., March 9.—The large paper mills belonging to W. A. & A. F. Mullin, located at Mount Holly, together with paper and machinery, were totally destroyed by fire last night. The loss is estimated at $60,000; insured. The origin of the fire is not known.

Unable To Agree.

Richford, Vt., March 9.—The jury in the Smith assault case were not able to agree yesterday and were discharged. Judge Lynch pronounced their decision as "most extraordinary." The court adjourned until Monday, when the case will again be tried.

Operators Grant the 69-Cent Rate.

Pittsburg, March 9.—Seven coal operators in the Pittsburg district, engaged in supplying the local market have granted the 69-cent rate demanded by their miners.

The [illegible] Defeated.

Sacramento, March 9.—The woman suffrage bill was defeated in the senate yesterday.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The Spring is your most dangerous time!

Get your blood pure and your nerves strong.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy,

Guaranteed Purely Vegetable and Harmless, IS THE GREATEST AND BEST

Spring Medicine!

Are You Prepared for Spring?

S. W. NOURSE, Esq.

It is necessary to prepare yourself for the advent of spring by taking a spring medicine. Use the remedy which cured S. W. Nourse, Esq., of Hudson, Mass.

"From constant worry over business matters," he said, "I suffered from the loss of sleep, and became so nervous that I was entirely unfitted for my business. In fact, I feared insanity. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. The effect was almost magical. I could again sleep, mental composure, appetite, and strength returned. Six bottles of this remedy cured me, and I have remained well to this date. I have recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to many of my friends and neighbors, and have yet to learn of a failure to obtain good results."

He was Cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy.

How to Get Well and Keep Well.

Do You Feel Weak, Tired, and Nervous?

The wonderful cure of Mrs. Oliver Wilson, of Northboro, Mass., will interest you.

MRS. OLIVER WILSON.

"I was suffering from nervousness," she says, "caused by female weakness and nervous prostration. I was so nervous and weak I could not go up a common pair of stairs without stopping to rest, and was troubled to sleep at night. I took Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and have obtained my old elastic step around the house, to the surprise of my friends. After creeping around for two years, hardly able to do anything, it has proved a boon to me truly. I know of many others whom it has cured and who speak most highly in praise of it."

Everybody Should take a Spring Medicine.

Read this and You Will Know What to Use.

MRS. ELMER CRAIG.

Mrs. Elmer Craig, of LeRoy, Ill., tells you how you can be well and strong:

"I was stricken with nervous disease," she says, "which affected my heart, head, and stomach. I doctored with physicians of our town, but got no relief from the terrible sick headaches, pains in the heart and stomach until I used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Before I used this wonderful medicine the nerves in my eyes were so affected that I feared that I would lose my sight. I would get so nervous and weak I could not walk across the room without terrible palpitation of the heart. I had not taken one bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy before my head and eyes were cleared of their dull aching, and I am growing stronger every day. I cannot do half justice in the praise of this medicine."

Is Your Blood Pure, Are Your Nerves Strong?

Mr. Seth E. Parsons, of 22 Park St., Albany, N. Y., one of Albany's most prominent business men, states:

MR. SETH E. PARSONS.

"I was very nervous. I could not hold my hands still, especially my left hand; there was an involuntary contraction of the muscles and movement of the fingers.

"My food troubled me very soon after eating. My kidneys and bladder were affected so it was difficult to urinate freely.

"I used the celebrated medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and without being tedious reciting my experience, I can say that these difficulties have left me, and my nerves are quiet and my food does not distress me.

"I feel without hesitation in saying that I think Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy has produced these favorable results."

Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy Cured Him.

To get well and to keep well, take Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy.

It is the discovery and Prescription of a successful Physician.

DR. GREENE, 35 West 14th St., New York City, can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle. Accept no substitute. This remedy has no equal.

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

LYHAOEITSUORETMIRESOPUBCOFTRAPT

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money.

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,

Prescription Druggist,

143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S

Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose	7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose	10c pair
" " " double knee	18c pair
" " " extra heavy	25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handkerchiefs	5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs	5c

210 West Front Street.

106 East Front Street—— NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c	Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
" Oolong tea	30c	Can peas, early June	8c
" Young Hyson tea	40c	Can corn, fine goods	8c
" Japan tea	40c	Fine butter	24c
XX soda crackers	4½c	Ground coffee	17½c
Ginger snaps	5½c	Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Nic-nac crackers	6c	Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
California peaches	17c can	" Rio coffee	24c
All goods warranted as represented.		Lard	8c

H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement

For walls and ceilings.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager

Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.

1 14 tf

AUTHOR OF A "MODERN HEATHEN."

The Famous Southern Novelist, Mrs. E. Burke Collins, Tells of Her Complete Recovery from Nervous Debility by the Use of Paine's Celery Compound.

The London Graphic in its recent summing up of the half dozen successful novels of the year, includes with Du Maurier's "Trilby," Hall Caine's "Manxman," Conan Doyle's "Sherlock Holmes," "The Heavenly Twins," and "Ships That Pass in the Night," Mrs. E. Burke Collins' "A Modern Heathen."

Speaking of this last work of our distinguished southern author, the Graphic says:

"What Geo. W. Cable's writings are to the Creoles of New Orleans, Miss Murfee to the rough strata of humanity among the Tennessee mountains, and Gertrude Atherton to California, Mrs. E. Burk Collins are to the Acadians of the Louisana pine lands. In her latest work Mrs. Collins has struck a new vein in literature, opening to the novel reading world a vision of the real life of the Acadians of the backwoods, among the wild, scarcely known region of the bayous and swamps of Louisana."

Besides her novels she contributes each week short stories, sketches, etc., to the prominent magazines and to a great variety of other publications.

Although her writing has always been a labor of love, yet such incessant mental exertion, constantly harvesting the ideas of her brain without a single idle season or fallow time for rest and refreshment could not fail to have its effect on the recuperative power of her nervous system. At one time she found herself tired out and weak from such uninterrupted work; she became nervous and incapable of work; she even saw nervous prostration staring her in the face. The general toning up that her system needed so badly she found in Paine's celery compound. Today she is perfectly well and strong again, busy as ever with her brain and pen, and grateful to Paine's celery compound for the timely help when failure and trouble and despair seemed about to close round her and shut her off from everything that was dear to her. She says:

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 21, 1894.

I wish to add my mite to the thousands of testimonials which you have received in regard to the efficacy of this wonderful compound. In my profession of author, such a strengthening medicine is invaluable. I have just completed my 95th novel, and constant work at the desk had weakened my constitution, injured my nerves, and I suffered from general debility. When a person in that condition writes continually, living in the realm of fiction and romance, the effect upon the nervous system is lamentable. I was weak and debilitated, suffered from insomnia, and was irritable and nervous. Four bottles of Paine's celery compound gave me strength, quieted my nerves and brought sleep to my pillow. I owe lasting gratitude to this wonderful medicine, and I take pleasure in adding mine to the long list of testimonials.

Yours gratefully,
Mrs. E. Burke Collins.

313 Valence st.

Paine's celery compound is found to best supply the great need of studious, sedentary people. Its extensive use by brain workers, both men and women, suffering from sleeplessness, indigestion or other effects of a deficient nerve force, shows its ability to feed tired, emaciated nervous tissues. Nothing else has ever possessed anything like the power of Paine's celery compound to restore a healthy nervous tone to the entire body and to thoroughly cleanse the blood. School teachers, professional men, newspaper men, ministers, public officials, men whose daily outlay of vitality, because of hard, trying, anxious work, is excessive, find renewed strength, not only of the nerves, but, through their healthy action, of the entire body, in Paine's celery compound. Its use shortly dispels headaches, rheumatic pain, dyspepsia, heart trouble, general debility and languor and all other outward signs of the grave mischief that comes from disordered nerves and impure blood.

DIED BY AGREEMENT

Roath Fulfilled the Provisions of His Will.

He Had Arranged with His Heirs To Care for Him for Four Months. Before Time Expired He Committed Suicide His Last Will—Was He Insane?

New York, March 9.—When Oscar Roath, a nurse in the Mount Sinai hospital, made his will, in the early part of December, he evidently contemplated suicide

It was a combination will and agreement, by the terms of which he was to be taken care of for four months. Before the four months were up, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, he shot and killed himself in one of the rooms of the Harlem hotel.

Had Been Drinking.

A few minutes before midnight, Roath engaged a room in the hotel. He had been drinking. An hour after he was taken to the room Thomas Leath, a porter in the hotel, heard a pistol shot, and, running to Roath's room, found him lying on the floor, partially dressed and unconscious. Patrolman John O'Brien, of the East 104th street station called an ambulance, but Roath was dead before it arrived.

A soiled envelope was found on the floor of the room. On it was written: "Please send this overcoat to Mr. Lacy, 4,090 Third avenue, care of Mrs. Harris."

In the pockets of the dead man was found sixty-six cents and two medicine bottles.

His Queer Will.

Harry Harris was found at the number given on the envelope. When he went to the station house, he took with him the will of Roath. It reads:

I bequeath all my belongings to Harry and Katie Harris for my board and medical treatment and I am to receive $5 a week for spending money. They to take care of me for four months, my body is to be cremated and they are to pay all expenses.

This was signed "Oscar Roath," and all, even the signature, was typewritten.

Harris told the police that Roath had been living with him and his sister, that he was sick and compelled to give up his splendid position in the hospital and was not able to take care of himself.

Roath, Harris said, had insured his life for $1,000 and this was the belongings mentioned in the will. Harris thought that Roath had killed himself because he was suffering from an incurable disease.

On the permit of a coroner the body was taken to an undertaking establishment.

HE IS OUT $50,000.

Two Americans Sell a Salted Mine to an Englishman.

Zacatecas, Mex., March 9.—Louis Foot, an Englishman, representing a British syndicate, has been swindled out of about $50,000, by two American mining prospectors, who salted a non-paying mine in the district west of here and sold it to the Englishman for $100,000.

One-half of the amount was paid down in cash and the Americans immediately left the country.

Bread Will Remain Cheap.

Berlin, March 9.— Papers here state with reference to Count von Kunitz's proposal for a state price for grain, that the emperor has declared that he would not make the people's bread any deared. The dispatch adds that the most conspicuous indication of the improvement in domestic politics is the resignation of Count Stolberg-Wernigerode at the emperor's instance.

He Killed Two Brothers.

Nichita, Kan., March 9.—Burt and Willie Coleman, brothers, aged 22 and 16, were shot and killed near Newkirk, O. T., yesterday by Cyrus Cowan, a contestant for the land occupied by the brothers. Cowan surrendered and as threats of lynching are freely indulged in by the people of the vicinity, the authorities of Newkirk have placed a strong guard in the jail.

He Died a Free Man.

Concord, N. H., March 9.—A. M. Ross, a state prison convict serving a three years sentence for burglary, who was pardoned on Wednesday by the governor and council, died last night. Executive clemency was not needed to liberate him from his servitude, but the fact that he was dying a free man and not a convict was doubtless some solace to him in his last hours.

Charged with Shoplifting.

New Haven, Conn., March 9.—Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, aged 50, is in custody here and the police believe her to be an old hand at shop-lifting. They have reason to believe that she has operated in this city, New York and Philadelphia.

Their Difficulty Settled.

London, March 9.—The Times correspondent in Paris says he learns from authentic sources that the difficulty between France and San Domingo has been settled.

Not Expected To Live.

South Norwalk, Conn., March 9.—Tony Pereora, the Italian boy who was wounded last night while some Italians were handling a pistol, is not expected to live.

All Under One Head.

Boston, March 9.—The general council of shoemakers met yesterday and report in favor of organizing all the shoe makers of the country under one head.

The De Castellanes To Sail Away.

New York, March 9.—Marquis de Castellane, Marquise de Castellane and Jean de Castellane will sail to-day on the French line steamship La Bretagne.

Postal Clerk Accused.

Philadelphia, March 9.— United States Commissioner Craig, held M. C. Sullivan, postal clerk, charged with stealing mail.

TRAIN WRECKED.

Through a Tampered Switch Two Are Killed and Many Injured.

Macon, Ga., March 9.—The Florida vestibule train No. 31, south-bound, was wrecked at Scottland, Ga., by a tampered switch, the staple being broken. The train consisted of three Pullmans, first and second class coaches, mail and express car, every one of which was derailed the Pullmans first and second class coaches being thrown on their sides.

One of the coaches was occupied by the Roland Reed company, the others having a full complement of passengers. That there was no greater damage is miraculous. The schedule running time is fifty miles an hour and the engine crashed into some cars on the side track, telescoping itself in a box car.

The killed are Mrs. C. D. Subers, of Pickens, Miss., and her 5-year-old daughter.

The injured are: Roland Reed:, Mrs. Mary Myers, New York:, James Douglass, Brooklyn:, Miss Isadore Rush, New York:, Julian Reed, Philadelphia:, W. W. Bernan New York.

All of the above of the Roland Reed company will cancel their dates and return to Atlanta. Subers' nursing babe escaped uninjured.

HOW SHE WOULD PAY HIM.

Karp Testifies How Mrs. Brakel Would Cancel Her Indebtedness.

Cleveland, March 9.—David Karp, a teacher of French and an artist who came to this city from New York two years ago was in the police court yesterday charged with forging five notes, each for $100, using the name of Clara Brakel. The cases were set for hearing March 14, and he was placed under $500 bail.

Karp protests his innocence and alleges that Mrs. Brakel is indebted to him for painting her portrait. He alleges that she accompanied him to the World's fair and proposed payment of her indebtedness to him by living together. He says he has witnesses to prove that the notes bearing Mrs. Brakels' signature are genuine.

THEIR LEXOW INVESTIGATION

Police Charged with Taking Bribes from Gamblers and Harlots

Omaha, March 9.—Judge Scott rendered a decision yesterday which will make the public investigation very difficult. Last Saturday the grand jury reached no indictments, but implicated city officials, among them Chief of Police Seavey for alleged bribes taken from gambling and disreputable houses. Chief Seavey at once resigned pending an investigation. The board of fire and police commissioners at once formed itself into a court to investigate the charges and requested that the county attorney appear before them and produce the evidence furnished the grand jury.

CORDAGE WORKS SHUT DOWN.

One Thousand Men Thrown Out of Employment by the Trust.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 9.—The big cordage works of William Wall & Sons in Bushwick avenue, Williamsburg, have been entirely shut down since last Saturday, and all the employes discharged. The plant during the last few years has been controlled by the cordage trust. It gave employment to nearly 1,000 persons, and was tarted more than fifty years ago when Williamsburg was a village. It was said that the large area of ground occupied by the factory will be cut up into building lots.

Attacked by a Lunatic.

Rome, March 9.—Marquis Filippo Berardi, senator since 1882, was inspecting an insane asylum in the suburbs yesterday when a lunatic attacked him. The attendants were not at hand and the senator was thrown to the floor and terribly beaten before help arrived. When the maniac was overpowered the senator had become unconscious. The asylum physicians pronounced his wounds mortal. He will die.

Will Race To-Day.

Cannes, March 9.—The Ailsa and the Britannia will race to-day for the Prix de Monte Carlo. The course will be from this city to a mark-boat outside of Isle de St. Honorat, thence to a home-boat to the east of Point Monaco. The time allowance which the Ailsa concedes to the Britannia has not yet been made known.

Railroad Officials Meet.

Philadelphia, March 9.—The officials of the Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central railroads held a meeting at Bethlehem, Pa., yesterday but what definite action was taken in regard to the new coal freight rate presented to them by the Reading company could not be learned.

The Judge Increased His Bond.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 9.—In the police court yesterday Judge Conley again found probable cause against Hiram Leonard, charged with burglary and numerous thefts, and increased his bonds to $1,500. He will be tried at the May term of the superior court.

Given a Military Funeral.

Newport, R. I., March 9.—Apprentice boy, E. L. Kilburn, of Ottawa, Ill., who died on Wednesday of typhoid fever at the naval training station hospital was yesterday given a full military funeral, after which the remains were shipped to Ottawa.

Jailed for Life.

Buffalo, March 9.—Barney Murray, who shot and killed his former employer, William H. Bright, was sentenced by Justice Ward to life imprisonment at Auburn. His attorney will appeal.

Smallpox at Newport.

Newport, R. I., March 9.—A case of mild smallpox is reported at Block Island. The authorities have taken measures to prevent the spread of the disease.

More Gold Coming

London, March 9.—The steamship Lucania, sailing from Liverpool to-day, will carry £232,000 bar gold for the bond syndicate.

Declared a Draw.

Boston, March 9.—The Griffo and Dine fight was last night declared a draw in the eighth round.

KARL'S CLOVER ROOT THE PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD GIVES FRESHNESS AND CLEAR COMPLEXION. CURES [illegible] BEAUTIFIES THE COMPLEXION. $1.50 FOR A CASE IT WILL NOT CURE.

An agreeable laxative and NERVE TONIC. Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per package. Samples free.

KO NO The Favorite TOOTH POWDER for [illegible] Breath, 25c.

Captain Sweeney, [illegible], San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cts. Sold by Druggists.

SHILOH'S CURE.

THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures where all others fail. For Consumption it has no rival; has cured thousands, and will cure you, if taken in time. Price 25 cts., 50 cts., $1.00.

Sold by all druggists.

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance.
7 East Front Street.

Prof. A. Wehner,
TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.
ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.
References given and required.
Address letters to the office of this paper.
1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new
SPALDING
FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new
'95 Spalding Cyclometer
FREE.
W. H. ROGERS,
408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial Parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty. 10 18 f

The Perfect [illegible] Heater.
Sold by
DAVID T. KENNEY,
Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.
198 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL and WOOD,
YARD—No. 208 Madison Avenue. Also
Office for coal orders, with Woolston & Buckle 145 North avenue

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR
SOLID SILVER SPOONS.
COLLIER'S,
103 PARK AVENUE.
ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S
MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,
SOMERSET STREET.
OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 9 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING TYPEWRITER

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.
It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more
It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.
These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.
The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.
Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,
307 Broadway, New York.
1 5 6m

NEW STOCK.
Fine Hats, Dress Shirts, Gloves and Neckwear
U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,
120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat.
or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.
E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,
177 North Avenue.

LEGGETT'S
TOILET SOAP,
for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.
The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.
Corner Park avenue and Front street.

SHAD! Rogers
232 W. 2d. St.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held March 4, 1895, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, March twenty-fifth, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 25, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council March 4, 1895, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000, payable to the treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

1,067 feet 24 inch pipe sewer.
2,284 feet 12 " " "
4,925 feet 10 " " "
30,805 feet 8 " " "
10s feet 8 to 12 inch cast iron pipe sewer.
116 manholes,
28 drop connections at manholes,
179 lampholes,
68 flush tanks,
4,141 Y branches,
275 extension connections on Y branches,
5,738 feet underdrains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposals, specifications, contract, bond, &c., may be obtained at the office of A. J. Gavett, constructing engineer, No. 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MAC MURRAY,
City Clerk.

J. W. VAN SICKLE,
Dealer in all kinds of
Fresh and Salt Meats
GAME IN SEASON.
New No. 122., North Ave., Plainfield, N.
Telephone 143 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 9, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Leroy J. Ellis of Fanwood has patented a fastener for shutters.

Mrs. D. I. Smalley of North Plainfield is a sufferer with the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Firman Long's daughter, Mildred, is a sufferer from illness.

Edgar I. Serrell of Plainfield avenue is suffering from an attack of the grip.

Mrs. M. Pangborn of Newark is the guest of Mrs. Albert Hedden of Park avenue.

Mrs. John French of West Seventh street is improving from her recent illness.

Isaac L. Miller of Watchung avenue is able to be out again, after a severe attack of the grip.

Miss Blanche Jones of Sandford avenue left town yesterday to visit friends in Reading.

Miss Clara Long of Park avenue is entertaining her cousin, Miss Lizzie Long of Somerville.

Dr. Maloney of Amesbury, Mass., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McArdell of West Front street.

Veteran Baggage-Master Tom Jones goes on duty again Monday after an illness of several days.

Miss Bessie K. Leigh of Clinton, who has many warm friends in Plainfield, was married March 7 to Robert B. Ellenberg.

F. B. Stevens of South avenue has leased a flat in the Hart building over Moy's drug store, where he will move April 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus French returned yesterday from a two-months pleasure trip through Mississippi and Florida.

I. Winthrop Travell, principal of the High School, was out for the first time yesterday, after a prolonged attack of pneumonia.

J. W. Van Sickle, the North Avenue butcher, who has been very ill at his home on East Third street, is steadily improving.

A family reunion of parents, brothers and sisters is being enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garret Q. Packer, East Sixth street, today.

A. S. Patterson, who went 12 days ago to Hot Springs, N. C., on crutches with rheumatism, has improved so that now he can walk without even a cane.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thomas of South avenue, who are spending the Winter in New York, were the guests of Mrs. Dorsey Hyde of Woodland avenue yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will return to their Netherwood home about April 15.

Mrs. Florence Ianson of Berkley avenue has purchased from her father the large house on Leland avenue known as the Woodside, which she is thoroughly renovating and furnishing. Mrs. Ianson intends to open a Summer boarding house.

Justly proud is Joseph Sattels of his rare old Steiner violin. He knows it to be at least 170 years old, and it is an instrument of wonderful sweetness, tone and melody. He unearthed the treasure in South Jersey, where it had been sacrificed by a German musician in hard luck. Mr. Sattels has been offered $300 for the violin, and would not part with it for three times that sum.

When a Plainfield newspaper man begins to write Asbury Park personals he feels that the backbone of Winter is broken and Spring is at hand. Here, therefore, is a harbinger: Geo. W. DeMeza, the rising young lawyer, is planning for a vacation at Plainfield's popular shore resort. He has earned a rest, by close application to hard work; and early in the season he and his fast trotter are likely to be a feature of seaside life at the lively Park.

Dr. Hedges, assisted by Drs. Murray and Probasco, and a nurse from Muhlenberg Hospital, last night performed a successful operation for appendicitis on Andrew, the 11-year-old son of Lewis B. Mulford.

DUNELLEN.

The Dunellen Gun Club last night elected these officers: J A Lindsey, President, I W. Lane, Vice-President, W. H. Carman, Treasurer, T. W. Sisty, Secretary. George Huff was the former President and his friends worked hard for his re election, but the Lindsey following was too numerous. The club took up a subscription and intend to put the grounds in first class condition.

The new Board of Education of the borough of Dunellen met last night and organized. Rev. Frank Fletcher was elected president and Rev. A. I. Martine district clerk. They decided to raise $2,937 by special taxation for school purposes.

—Mr. Anderson of the West End has rented a house on Manson place of Chas. Hand, the real-estate dealer.

A Word to the Wise is Sufficient.

I suffered terribly from roaring in my head during an attack of catarrh, and became very deaf, used Ely's Cream Balm and in three weeks could hear as well as ever.—A. E. Newman, Garling, Mich.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from the nose. Physicians prescribed without benefit. After using Ely's Cream Balm a short time the disease was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Official Announcements for Worship in Plainfield Tomorrow.

[Matter intended for this department must be supplied fresh every week, not later than 10 a. m. Saturday to insure insertion.]

Reform Hall—4 p. m. Gospel temperance meeting, led by Rev. Wm. Humpston.

St. Joseph's Church—Masses at 8:30 and 10:30 a. m.; Sunday-school at 3, and Vespers at 8 p. m.

St. Mary's Church—Masses at 7:00, 8:30, 9:30, and 10:30 a. m.; Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m.; Vespers, 8 p. m.

Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest—Morning prayer and sermon, 11; Sunday-school, 9:45 a. m.

St. Peter's German Lutheran Church—Services, 10 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.; Sunday-school, 9 a. m. Rev. Ed Kionka, pastor.

All Souls Church—Rev. Hobart Clark, pastor. Services at 10:45 a. m. with preaching by the pastor. Sunday-school, 11:45 a. m.

Washingtonville Chapel — Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, State Secretary of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association, will preach in the evening.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Meeting—Conducted by A. D. French of Montclair. "Nails" will be the subject of his interesting illustrated talk. All men and boys are invited.

First Church of Christ (Disciples) Morris's Hall, 110 Liberty street—Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. by pastor B. W Hand. Lord's Supper, 12 m.; Sunday-school, 2:45; Christian Endeavor, 7 p. m.

First M. E. Church—Rev. Dr. C. R. Barnes, pastor. Services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. subject of evening sermon, "Strength and Beauty". Sunday-school, 2:30 p. m.; Epworth League, 6:45 p. m.

Grace Church—Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector. Early Celebration of Holy Communion, 7:30; morning prayer and sermon, 11; Sunday-school at 3; evening service, 7:45, sermon by Rev. Dr. Tiffany of New York.

Church of the Redeemer, Protestant Episcopal—Rev. Dr. Jocelyn Johnstone, rector. Celebration of the Holy Communion, 7:30 a. m. Morning prayer and sermon, 11:15; Sunday-school, 3 p. m.; evening service, 4:30.

St. Stephen's Church, Rev. S. P. Simpson, rector—Holy Communion, 7:30 a. m.; Sunday-school, 9:45; morning prayer, litany and sermon, 11; evening prayer, 4:30. Free stages from station at 10:30 a. m. and 4 p. m.

East Third Street Mission—An invitation is extended to those who do not attend Sunday-school to meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. The Gospel service at 8 p. m. will be conducted by George L. VanEmburgh, Christian Endeavor at 7.

Trinity Reformed Church—Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor. 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., preaching by pastor. Evening theme—"The Daring Exploits of Three Mighty Men". Sunday-school, 2:30; prayer-meetings at 10 a. m. and 6:45 p. m.

Grace M. E. Church—Rev. Herbert F. Randolph, pastor. Services at 10:30 a. m. Preach by Rev. E. M. Ferguson, D. D. of Trenton. At 7:45 p. m. preaching by the pastor. Subject, "Modern Heroes and Hermits". Sunday-school 2:30; Epworth League, 7.

Congregational Church—Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor. Morning service, 10:30, subject, "The Religious Experience of a Great Man". The pastor will talk to his class on the Moabite stone and other inscriptions. Sunday-school, 2:45 p. m. Christian Endeavor meeting 7:30.

Park Avenue Baptist Church—Rev. J. W. Richardson, pastor. Preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning theme, by the pastor, will be "The Alleged Immoralities of the Bible". In the evening Rev. Dr. Chivers of New York will occupy the pulpit. Sunday-school at 2:30.

Y. M. C. A. Building—4:15 p. m. meeting. "Personal Purity" will be the subject of C. F. Taylor's address at the men's meeting in the large hall. Mr. Taylor comes here from Princeton. A solo written especially for the occasion and singing by a male chorus will be interesting features.

The music in the First Presbyterian Church tomorrow will be assisted by Theodore Drury, New York's popular barytone. The musical programme: Morning—Prelude, Andante in A—Smart; anthem, Benedic Anima in G—Warren; offertory, barytone solo "Come Unto Me"—Cowen, Theodore Drury; Postlude, Processional in A—Guilmant. Evening—Prelude, second offertoire—Guilmant; barytone solo, "There is a Green Hill"—Gounod, Mr. Drury; anthem, "Nearer My God to Thee"—Lieb-Schilling; "O Lord, Thou Art My God"—Buck; offertory, barytone solo, "The Holy City"—Adams, Theodore Drury; postlude, March Religuise—Guilmant.

Watchung Avenue Whist Club.

A delightful evening was passed by the Watchung Avenue Whist Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Emmons last evening. The playing was excellent and interesting.

Mr. Tolles captured the men's prize which was a handsome gripsack, and Mrs. Hiram Woodruff, a new member, won the feminine prize, a choice fan. The consolation prizes were a small savings bank and a doll.

Those present were: Mr and Mrs L B Woolston, Mr and Mrs J Buckle, Mr and Mrs Tolles, Mr and Mrs Peter Emmons, Mr and Mrs Hiram Woodruff, Mr and Mrs Whitenack. The last two joined the club last evening.

The club will hold their next meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Whitenack.

It Was Anna This Time.

Anna Nelson, a domestic employed by Mrs. Meader on Orchard place, was arrested in Music Hall this afternoon by Sergeant Kiely for stealing a pocketbook containing $7 from her mistress. The culprit was in company of Mollie Stevens, who, undisturbed by the arrest, remained and saw the show out.

—Manager Chas. W. Runyon, always extending his splendid telephone service, has put in a pay station at Raritan and one at Ballantine's carriage factory, Somerville. He will use the electric-light poles in Somerville and provide 'phones wherever wanted.

A pure cream of tartar powder.

Cleveland's Baking Powder

Makes delicious hot breads for breakfast.

Pure and Sure.

Is called for in the latest recipes of Marion Harland, Author of "Common Sense in the Household."
Mrs. Rorer, Principal Philadelphia Cooking School.
Eliza R. Parker, Author of "Economical Housekeeping."
Mrs. Dearborn, Principal Boston Cooking School.
Mrs. Lincoln, Author of "Boston" Cook Book.

Those who know most about baking powders use Cleveland's.

Our Cook Book, 400 recipes, FREE. Ask your grocer for a copy. If he hasn't it, send stamp and address to Cleveland Baking Powder Co., N. Y.

MUSIC HALL.

Joseph Sohl, Lessee and Manager. Telephone call 49B.

1 Night Only, Wednesday, March 13,

There are others, but none like these. The fountain heads of modern wit.

Ward & Vokes

That's the last time I'll ever take Lady Belmont to a ball. A record of 700 nights in New York as "Percy" and "Harold." In the up-to-date farce comedy,

"A Run on the Bank."

You can't afford to miss it. It's a guaranteed attraction, and worth going miles to see. Prices 35, 50, 75 and $1. Box office now open.

NOTICE.

All who desire to join the class which is now being formed for vocal instruction, and breathing gymnastics, can do so by sending in their names before

March 15.

Particular attention will be given to classification and tone production. Also best instruction and care for children with small chests, weak throat and lungs. For full particulars address all letters to

MISS MINNIE YOUNG,
Care of Daily Press.

The New York Tribune, 1895.

Foremost of American Weeklies.

Circulation 168,000 Copies a Week

First to rally from the overwhelming defeat of 1892, The New York Tribune patiently labored for two years to awaken the sleeping judgment of the Nation. Possessing an enormous circulation, equipped with a staff of competent and honest students of public questions, and itself having no object to serve except the welfare of the masses upon the farms and in the shops scorning lies and sensational appeals, and satisfied merely to place the truth before its readers, The Tribune has sent to half a million earnest and reflecting people, weekly, a budget of honest facts, sensible arguments and friendly suggestions, which have at last born fruit in the elections of 1894. The work of the people is, however, only half done. It is necessary in 1896 to place in the Chair which Grover Cleveland has not adorned, a constructive statesman of the Republican faith. To this task The Tribune now addresses itself, and invites the support of every American citizen who desires a return of the "good old times."

Roswell G. Horr, ex-Congressman from Michigan, but now of New York City, will continue to discuss Tariff, Currency, Coinage and Labor questions in The Tribune. By all odds the most witty, earnest and well-informed speaker upon the stump, he is every year sent by The Tribune to aid the local campaigns in every part of the country. He keeps in constant touch with the people, knows their wants, and addresses himself in The Tribune directly to the thoughts which are in their minds, and makes himself understood. He will gladly answer questions, asked in good faith by readers.

All the regular features of The Tribune will be continued. For Western readers, a special array of Western news is supplied. For Eastern readers an Eastern edition is printed.

It is the intention to make the paper especially helpful to farmers and mechanics. Each class has its separate department in The Tribune; and the new inventions of mechanics, who lack the means to exploit the product of their brains, are advertised free of charge in the hope of aiding them to find a purchaser or a partner.

The market reports of The Tribune, long acknowledged to be the best in the country, will maintain their old standard; and the usual variety of foreign news letters, essays upon home topics, book reviews, articles on chess and checkers, and miscellany will be presented every week. The editorial pages of the paper sum up the most important news of the day, with comments.

The Tribune also prints, for the ladies, the very latest fashions from Paris and London, and there is a department of "Answers to Questions," conducted by a capable writer, in which all the questions of the people on miscellaneous topics are carefully answered.

The semi-weekly Tribune is an incomparable paper for residents who live beyond the range of The Daily Tribune, but find it necessary to keep in touch with the best thoughts and higher interests of the world at large.

A few premiums are offered to readers and club agents.

Any friend of The Tribune is cordially invited to send for sample copies and terms and make up a club of subscribers. We would be especially pleased to see a large circle of readers in every workshop.

The Weekly, $1; The semi-weekly, $2; The daily Tribune, $10 a year. The Tribune Almanac for 1895 ready in January, 25 cents a copy

THE TRIBUNE, New York.

LOVE,

Corner North and Watchung aves.

WALL PAPER

WALL PAPER,

Wall Paper.

Paint, Brushes, Shades, Glass, Carpets, Rugs.

LOVE,

Corner North and Watchung aves.

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt,

of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,

Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

EQUAL TO ANY,
SUPERIOR TO MOST.

The Variety, Quantity and Value AT PECK'S.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.

12-6-y

VAN EMBURGH & SON

Have Placed on Sale

" " " 6c yard, worth 10c.
" " " 8c yard, worth 15c.
1 lot yard wide bleached muslin at 5c; soft finish.
1 lot fast black SEAMLESS hose 8c. worth 15c.

We are still selling Sheeting Muslins at our cut prices. The above goods are displayed in our window.

Corner Store Babcock Building.

Hallet & Davis Piano Co.,

Established nearly 60 years.

We sell only high-grade instruments and at as low prices as are charged by many dealers for comparatively worthless ones. Cash or installments.

Warerooms—Babcock Building, Plainfield, N. J. H. C. HADLEY, Manager.

Tuning a Specialty.

Call and secure a copy of the Monthly Musical Guest. 1 23 tf

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

Money refunded on all goods not entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before purchasing. Since the opening of the department we have sold over 6 000 cans of tomatoes, string beans and corn as an advertisement at the unheard-of price of 6c a can.

The goods give good satisfaction and the people are buying them over and over again, the demand increasing for them each week. They often remark that they are just as good as they pay 8 and 10c for elsewhere.

75 CASES MORE

new goods received

For Saturday's Trade.

We are constantly saving money to hundreds of our patrons and they seem to be pleased for us to do it.

Special 6c can | .....25 cases sweet corn..... .....25 cases string beans..... .....25 cases tomatoes..... | Special 6c can

25 cases very fine lemon cling peaches, regular price 25c, special 17c can; another lot of Blue Point catsup quart size, 17c bottle; Burnham's clam bouillon special 19 and 31c bottle; Heinz little giant pickles, all kinds, special 9c bottle; Oyster Bay asparagus, flat cans, special 18c can; celery salt in screw top bottles 10c each.

Silexo 2½c Cake | 5,000 pieces Silexo scouring soap, one of the best scouring articles on the market, for this sale only, 2½c cake. | Silexo 2½c Cake

Our White Seal flour can't be beat; one trial will convince you. ½ barrel at 54c, ¼ at $1.07, ⅛ at $1.98, 1 barrel at $3.95.

Finest quality olive oil, large size quarts, 69c bottle; do 1 gallon size $1 95 gallon. The above is the finest grade imported.

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each | 100 doz cups and saucers Tea, breakfast and soup plates at 3c each; 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each | 3c each

27c each | Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each | 27c each

73c each | Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each | 73c each

9c each | Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each | 9c each

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.

Newest spring styles in a great variety of washable fabrics. New and stylish effects in all-wool and silk and wool. The prices are the lowest ever known.

Priestley's Silk Warp blk Henriettas

$1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

CARPET DEPARTMENT.

OPENING OF NEW SPRING GOODS.

We quote only a few specials. All-wool ingrains at 49c; Tapestry Brussels at 53, 59, 65c; Body Brussels, Moquette, Axministers, Ispahan, Agra, Kandahar, Art Squares, Rugs, Mattings, new styles, jointless, 9c and up; oil cloths No. 1, 39c, No. 3, 25c, No. 4, 19c; linoleums 49c; window shades from 19c up, poles and fixtures 19c and up.

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5. For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

CHRISTIAN CYCLERS.

Crack-Rider Cuming at the Head of the Y. M. C. A. Bicycle Club.

Quite an enthusiastic meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening by members of the gymnasium. The object of the meeting was to consider matters relative to the organization of a bicycle club. After the meeting was convened Physical Director MacPhie was called to the chair, and J. A. Robinson appointed secretary, pro tem.

The following officers were appointed to hold office for one year from date:

President, Thomas Cuming; Vice-President, J. A. Robinson; Secretary and Treasurer, C. W. Nichols. The above-named officers with Physical Director MacPhie, ex-officio, were appointed to form an executive committee.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Total eclipse of the moon tomorrow night, from 8:53 to 12:24.

—If Peck's stock of goods is typical of the season, it will be a grand one, for a better stock never came to town.

—The Board of Health held a meeting last evening, and passed on the second reading the ordinance on plumbing.

—The fourth of the famous new copyrighted monographs on Napoleon by John Clark Ridpath is published in The Press today.

—The Two Vans have sold out their 8c outing flannel at 3½ c., and their 7c apron check at 3c., but their other bargains still continue.

—Epworth League and Christian Endeavor departments receive their customary Saturday space in this issue of The Daily Press.

—Lewis A. Borsum of Woodland avenue is having the interior of his house handsomely papered and decorated by Woolston & Buckle.

—Marsh, Ayers & Co. have commenced the work of painting E. R. Ackerman's house on Eighth street, and papering John Bushnell's house on Central avenue.

—Street Commissioner Meeker with his men has removed the snow that obstructed the driving along Mulford Cole's hill, thus opening entirely that thoroughfare.

—The first anniversary service of the Men's Association of Grace Church will take place tomorrow evening in the church at 7:45. A sermon will be preached by Archdeacon Rev. Dr. Chas. C. Tiffany of New York.

—Mr. Ross of Elizabeth has challenged George Squires of North Plainfield to shoot a match for $50 a side, 50 birds, to take place at "Al" Heritage's, Marion, Saturday, March 16. Friends of Squires took the bet, and a good shoot is promised.

—The valuable property, 4-story brick store at 107-109 West Front street, and homestead 550 West Front street, are to be sold at auction next Thursday, on the premises, as advertised in The Daily Press. This sale throws on the market an excellent bargain.

—The sidewalk on East Front street from Farragut to Netherwood avenues is ankle-deep with mud. The property owners along that thoroughfare are wealthy enough to have their income taxed. The cost of a bluestone flagging would not materially reduce their income, and be of great benefit to pedestrians.

HER PA'S EXCEPTION.

The low-descending sun with torch of fire
Illumined cloudland's minaret and spire
As ardent maiden said unto her sire,
"A sight more vivid never met my quest!"
"Except", quoth he, cheered by the grate-fire bright,
"This warmth-disseminating anthra-cite
I bought of Geo. O. Stevens yesternight,
At 747 Front St., West."

Craig Place Euchre Party.

A full-dress euchre party was given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Church of Craig place to a large number of their friends. It was a delightful affair.

Mrs. S. W. Clark won the feminine prize, a cut-glass bonboniere; and Miss French the second, a silver belt buckle.

For the men J. Fred MacDonald captured first prize, a card case made of lizard skin; and L. M. French second, also a card case.

Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Bird, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. French, Miss French, Mr. Douglass, the Misses Blisch, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Edward VanWinkle, Dr. and Mrs. Thiers, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ulrich, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Demarest, Miss Pelletreau.

Refreshments were daintly served during the evening.

EASTER SYMPTOMS.

E'en now the modern maiden thinks upon her Easter bonnet
And with sweet anticipation waits the morning she will don it.
With a natty pin to hold it such as Collier's stock'll furnish She'll look just like a fairy with an 18-carat burnish.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sence of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

PLAINFIELD CHAMPION.

Amid Much Excitement She Captures the Watchung League Victory.

The Plainfield Bowling Club met the Bound Brooks at Somerville last evening and rolled off the tie in the Watchung League. The first half they lost, but in the second they caught up in great style, and finished 3 points ahead. When the boys returned at 11:30 they made the town merry with their cheers. The score:

FIRST HALF.

P. B. C.		BOUND BROOK.
VanEmburgh	153	Hastings	156
Maltby	166	Watt	173
Wilbur	153	Sebring	138
VanAlstyne	154	Algaire	178
Vail	126	Smith	152
	752		797

BY FRAMES:

Plainfield.....65 119 208 264 331 415 499 596 689 752
Bound Brook..78 160 228 310 386 453 575 655 712 797

SECOND HALF.

P. B. C.		BOUND BROOK.
VanEmburgh	140	Hastings	130
Maltby	165	Watt	138
Wilbur	128	Sebring	153
VanAlstyne	153	Algaire	128
Petrie	163	Smith	152
	749		701

BY FRAMES:

Plainfield.....76 139 222 300 390 461 537 602 685 749
Bound Brook..64 128 204 275 330 396 475 559 637 701

Totals—Plainfield, 1501; Bound Brook, 1498.

—The Park Club will have a joyous time tonight, when the members and their guests will be entertained by the Lehigh University Glee and Mandolin Clubs and W. N. Runyon and George O. Stevens.

A WEATHER JINGLE.

The sparrow, he keeps hidin' out,
The 'possum's layin' low;
The rabbit, he will frisk about
And track up all the snow.

Ketch him, Tiger, ketch him!
Fling him high and flat;
Go ahead and fetch him—
Rabbit, fine and fat!

The doves are moping in the wood,
The raccoon's in the "holler;"
The cold it makes the 'possum good—
He's worth a half a-dollar!

Ketch him, Tiger, ketch him!
Find out where he's at;
Go ahead and fetch him—
'Possum fine and fat!

—Atlanta Constitution.

THE CLIMATE OF CALIFORNIA.

The Land Where Natural Ice Is Practically Unknown.

The New York Times calls attention to the fact that while Florida lies between the parallels of 25° and 31° north latitude, the southern boundary being the thirty-second parallel, and the State extending as far north as the forty-second degree, and yet all along the coast the weather this winter has been milder than in Florida, which lies nearer the equator than the most southerly portion of Southern California.

It must be that the great Pacific ocean, with the temperature of its waters modified by the great Kuro Sirro, or Japanese Gulf Stream, is responsible for the mildness of the climate of the coast. In the interior, particularly in the mountain regions of the State, there is a great deal of snow and cold weather, but not along the coast, and it is remarkable to see how far the mild coast climate extends eastward and inward. Not until the warm wave from the ocean is met and counteracted by the chill of the snow clad Sierra is there a degree of cold experienced which is in any way worth considering.

In San Francisco, as in all the countries which border on the ocean, at least until we approach the Oregon line, it is extremely rare to see natural ice, unless it be a little thin sheet over a pool formed by the rain or a little skim over a horse trough, or something of that sort. The frost even is not enough to injure any but the tenderest plants and flowers, and they may be protected by the exercise of the most ordinary precautions.

THE MAKER OF GLASS EYES.

A Reminiscence of the World's Fair at Chicago.

Visitors at the World's Fair will remember the quaint little workman who sat in one corner of a great building and made eyes from morning until night; part of them for dolls, part of them for human beings, and occasionally one for a horse or some other pet animal. The workman, whose name was Muller, had come over from Germany to show how his people worked, and when the fair was over he set up a little shop in Chicago and tried for awhile to make his industry flourish on American soil. But after a time he found that the wholesale dealers persisted in sending across the water for their supplies, and he grew so homesick that he finally returned to the fatherland, and he is now doubtless working in some one of the quaint little Thuringian villages.

It will be remembered that he was marvelously deft in his work. First he blew a bulb from molten glass; then when it was cold he carefully broke off one side so as to leave a shell, the edges of which were blunted by melting. He secured the proper size of eye by having the person for whom it was made stand before him as he worked. Having the shell complete, he bent down over a Bunsen burner and, just touching its upper surface to the flame, he worked the eye design on the glass with little sticks of vari-colored glass, the points of which were melted in the flame.

The work requires a wonderfully steady hand and a true eye in order to make the iris and the retina of the proper color and shape. The workman is so skilled that he can copy direct from the person who stands before him.

A man one time a good thing had
Which people would have prized,
But he never sold a single one,
For he never advertised.

TODAY IN HISTORY.

Short Stories of Heroism from Real Life.

The First Fight Between Ironclads.

March 9, 1862, was the date of the Monitor's battle with the giant Merrimac. When the lilliputian steamed into Hampton Roads she looked like "a tin can on a board" alongside the great vessels around her. The wooden frigate Minnesota lay aground in the channel where the Merrimac had left her at the close of the action the evening before. To destroy her as she lay helpless was the first purpose of the Merrimac. As she approached her victim, Captain Worden made straight for her with the Monitor, and getting alongside stopped the engines and commenced firing. Lieutenant S. Dana Greene commanded in the turret where the only guns, two in number, were located. He ran out a gun and taking deliberate aim pulled the lock string. The ram quickly opened with a broadside. Captain Worden remained in the pilot-house, passing his orders to Greene by the lips of seamen. Greene could see nothing of the enemy except as the revolutions of the turret brought him into view through the ports opened for firing. "How does the Merrimac bear?" he would ask the captain. "On the starboard beam," or "On the port quarter," as it chanced to be. Then the trouble was for Greene in the closed turret to determine the direction of the bearings. Not to be baffled, the turret was set revolving and shots taken "on the fly." But this demanded a cool head at the port. A reckless shot might destroy the pilothouse of the Monitor, captain and all.

LIEUTENANT GREENE.

Once the Merrimac struck the Monitor a glancing blow, and at the instant of collision Greene planted a solid 180 pound shot upon her casemate, but it rebounded, doing no damage to the armor of the ram. The enemy's shots also rolled off the Monitor's sides, but one finally struck the square pilothouse where Worden stood and disabled him for the rest of the action. He ordered the Monitor to sheer off, but Greene coming forward found the damage to the house and gearing less than at first supposed. Taking his station in the pilothouse he turned the vessel's head in the direction of the Merrimac and ordered the guns to open. The ram, however, didn't wait for a second round, but steamed off into Elizabeth river, leaving the field to her plucky antagonist.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

Roswell G. Horr as a Writer.

While the American people have never seen a time during which they did not have a large array of burning public questions to discuss, there certainly never has been an epoch, since the Revolution, excepting that of 1861, which has given rise to more striking issues than the present. The Tribune discusses the silver, tariff and elections questions admirably. That great paper fills a field of its own, and does it well. Readers can subscribe both for The Tribune and for this paper if they desire; and the two make an excellent political outfit. The Tribune market reports are superb. Our metropolitan contemporary deals with national questions with remarkable force, ability and courage. For 50 years it has been a fighter and is no less so now than it ever was. It hits with a good hard stick and seldom misses the mark. It believes that agitation, discussion and thorough exploring of public questions are the only path which leads to a wise and patriotic solution of them; and the ably prepared and exhaustive articles in The Tribune by R. G. Horr of Plainfield, on the tariff, silver, labor, wages, etc., will help any citizen to decide rightly on the issues of the day. It illustrates the news of the day profusely. The Tribune's prospectus in another column tells the story more fully. Republicans in this county will do well to subscribe for The Tribune this year in combination with this paper. An illustrated premium list will be sent by The Tribune, free, to applicants. Sample copies are also free.

—A class in vocal instruction and breathing gymnastics will be organized for those applying before March 15 to Miss Minnie Young, care of Daily Press, as advertised today.

March, April, May.

March, April and May are the arches of a bridge which bind the season of ice to that of roses. Therefore, the spring is a trying time for the average person. The system at this season needs cleansing; remove the impurities from the blood, and you will be able to battle with the coming seasons in perfect health. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, more than any other medicine, will do this for you. It will purify the blood, dispel that worn out feeling, make you sleep and eat well. It is prescribed by physicians for just this purpose. Druggists sell it for $1 a bottle.

BEEF, WINE, IRON.

The words suggest STRENGTH and ENERGY if any words can. Spring Fever is at hand. Perhaps you need BEEF and IRON. The wine only serves to hold them in solution together. Pint bottles of the best that can be made at

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

AT 50 CENTS

—An election will be held Tuesday evening, March 19, in the North Plainfield Public School, for three school trustees, and the current school expenses, also for free text books, flag, and supplies. The amount thought necessary is $7,350.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell; 25c., 50c, and $1. Sold by all druggists.

DEATHS.

BILYEU—In North Plainfield, March 8, 1895, Jeremiah L. Bilyeu, aged 65 years.

Funeral services Sunday, March 10, at 1 p. m., from Warren Mission Chapel. Relatives and friends and members of Major Anderson Post, No. 9, G. A. R., are respectfully invited to attend. Interment at Mount Horeb.

TERRILL & COLE,

Undertakers and Embalmers

200 West 2d street,

Next to Trinity Reformed Church.
First-class livery attached.
Telephone 153. 11 26 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, 1 ct. a word, each insertion. (Less than ten words, ten cents.) Cash must accompany ads.

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan, Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

TO LET—Two small stores or offices on one of the finest corners in the city, with or without stable room for one or more horses; also one flat with six rooms. Inquire of P. Westphal & Son, cor. of West 4th and Liberty st. 3 6 m

FOR SALE—Good second-hand grocery wagon, all in good order. Address P. O. Box 771, Plainfield, N. J. 3 9 2

MILK route wanted by cash buyer. J H., care Press. 3 9 tf

TO LET—No. 329 Cottage place; four rooms. Apply at 461 Kensington avenue. 3 9 2

TO LET—House 235 East 6th st. Inquire 231 East 6th st. 3 9 tf

FOR RENT—House 6 rooms, $15; one with all improvements $25. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave.

MONEY wanted to introduce a patent (allowed), one-half interest given. Address L. W. H., 104 Somerset street, Plainfield, N. J. 3 7 3

FOR RENT—332 Carleton avenue, six room house perfect order, good garret and cellar, extra large lot, neighborhood first-class, rent $15 monthly. Particulars 33 Willow avenue North Plainfield. 3 8 2

FLAT to let with improvements. Inquire Manning's marble works, Front street and Central avenue. 3 8 6

YOUNG girl wants situation at general housework or waitress; good reference. Call 306 East 4th st. 3 6 2

TO LET—Two new, large stores No. 224 East Front street; new 11 room house with all improvements 22 Norwood avenue, and a 6 room house 746 East 2nd street. Inquire J. Voehl 65 Somerset street. 3 7 6

TO LET—Desirable flats in the Miller Building. All improvements; steam heat. Inquire Miller 339 Park ave corner of 4th street. 3 7 6

FOR SALE or to let, two new 7-room houses on Stone street. Address March, care of Press. 3 7 3

TO LET—Two houses, 7 rooms, including bath; improvements; city water. Rent $20. 310 Central ave. 3 7 9

A NEAT German girl wishes situation as upstairs girl or light housework. Call at 138 North avenue. 3 8 2

TO LET—3 or 4 rooms for light housekeeping; no children. Apply 103 Duer street. 3 6 tf

THE Employment Committee of the Organized Aid can recommend several competent women by the day at reduced prices, to supply the place of servants temporarily absent. Competent seamstresses also can be obtained. Apply at office, corner Park and North ave., from 9 to 11 o'clock. 3 4 6

SIX-ROOM flat to let; all improvements. 200 West 2d st. 3 4 tf

WANTED—By an English person, a situation as working housekeeper Please address Priscilla Negus, Bound Brook. 3 2 6

SMALL houses to let, centally located, 9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 2 26 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st. 2 7 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 1 30 tf

—The letter box which stood in front of the Babcock Building was removed yesterday afternoon by Letter-Carrier Hann, and placed on a post in front of White's drygoods store.

VALUABLE

Business Property FOR SALE

to close an estate. The subscriber, executor of Manning Vermeule, deceased, will sell at public auction, on

Thursday, March 14, 1895,

at 2 o'clock p. m., on the premises, the

4-Story Brick Store and Basement

property Nos. 107 and 109 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J. Situated on Front street, near Park ave., and directly opposite Somerset street, this is one of the most desirable business stands in the city. Entrance also to the rear of said premises from Park ave.

Immediately after sale of the store property the late

HOMESTEAD PROPERTY

of said Manning Vermeule will be offered for sale on the premises, Nos. 550, etc., West Front st., consisting of the dwelling house and barn and lot of about 155 ft. in width. This will be sold as a whole or in parcels. At same time and place 2 lots on West 3d st., near Plainfield ave., will be offered for sale, one having a frontage of about 104 ft., the other of 30 ft. in parcels if desired.

TERMS LIBERAL, and will be made known on day of sale. Further information cheerfully given prior to sale by the subscriber, at his office, or by J. H. French at French's Mills, Somerset st. NELSON RUNYON, Executor, cor. Park ave. and Front st.

Dated March 7, 1895. 3 8 6

MUSIC HALL,

Jos. Sohl, Lessee and Manager.

Telephone 49B.

3 Nights Commencing Thursday, March 7

Special return engagement of the sterling soubrette,

Miss Lillian Kennedy,

supported by a strong company of first-class artists, in

SHE COULDN'T MARRY THREE,
A MIDNIGHT FROLIC,
A DAUGHTER OF DIXIE

A succession of beautiful stage pictures. New songs, new dances, new specialties.

Prices 10, 20, 30 and 50c. EXTRA—Special matinee Saturday afternoon for ladies and children. Admission 10 and 20c, including reserved seat.

MOSLER SAFE CO.,

contractors to the United States Government

Mosler Patent Safes,

(fire and burglar-proof) in general use

All Over the World.

Lowest prices. Drop a postal to

S. W. CLARK,

General Agent,

118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.

and he will call and give special attention and information.

Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

No Gates nor Fences of Any Kind

A free pass to come and go. To ramble throughout our store and enjoy yourself. No officious attention. No asking you to buy. Come and do as you please. The store is yours.

But Such Inducements.

Dress Goods

The best bargain we have ever offered in black goods is a 45in. imported serge that goes on sale at 39c yard. Those 50in. wool mixtures that we sell for $2 39 for a dress pattern with linings are worthy your attention. 54in. Covert cloth were 98c, now 45c.

Ladies' Skirts

Black French satine skirts, special, 79c
" " " 2 ruffles, 98
" " " emb, $1 27
Black Moreen satin skirts, $2 17.

You will be interested in a new line of ladies's cloth suits and skirts. See them when in the store.

Kid Gloves

Ladies' chamois kids both buttoned and mosquetaire 79c pair.

Embroideries

About 100 pieces of Hamburg embroidery; were 8 and 10c per yard. Cut to 4c yard.

House Furnishings

10 qt galvanized pails 13c.
Paper pails 17c.
Jap tea pots 10c.
No. 7 granite iron tea kettles 79c
2 qt granite coffee pots 37c.
2 qt granite stew kettles 27c.
Fine thin glasses 35c doz.
A good broom for 13c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

A. W. BAKER, 206 Park Ave. B. C. YOUNG, 337 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young, Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial, satisfaction guaranteed. 3 2 m

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

BIG CUT.

Special Friday and Saturday.

Philadelphia 1 lb Print Creamery Butter 20 cts.

4 lbs cod fish for 25 cents; 1 lb package best macaroni 7½ cents; Dried green peas 5 cents a quart; Best laundry starch 5 cents lb; Granulated sugar 4 cents lb; 2 lbs extra creamery cheese for 23 cents.

AT FULPER'S.

There Are Others

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,

177 North avenue.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. special are leaders. 2 28 3m

The Welsbach Incandescent Gas Burner.

Call and see it.

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

TORTURED THIRTY YEARS

The Agonies of the Inquisition Endured by Rheumatic Sufferers.

An Octogenarian Tells a Wonderful Story of His Remarkable Cure.

John L. Gill, residing at 34 North Grant avenue, Columbus, O., aged 88 years, says: "I suffered from rheumatism for over 30 years. The pains were very severe and often I was unable to move around. I have doctored with many physicians and taken all kinds of patent medicine, but never received any relief until I began using Munyon's Rheumatism Cure. Within twelve hours after taking the first dose I was free from pain and am now completely cured."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or pain in the back are speedily cured.

Munyon's Homoeopathic Home Remedy Co. of Philadelphia put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25c. a bottle.

Those who are in doubt as to the nature of their disease should address Professor Munyon, 1505 Arch st., Philadelphia, giving full symptoms of their disease. Professor Munyon will carefully diagnose the case and give you the benefit of his advice absolutely free of all charge. The Remedies will be sent to any address on receipt of retail price.

Advertised Letters.

Postoffice Plainfield, N. J., March 4, 1895.

Apgar Mrs Isaiah	Foster Mrs M E
Anderson Mrs	Fallan Frank 2
Oberger Mr	Garthwaite L M
Cottinger Miss M E	Lockwood Mrs
Cradox Miss Lizzie	Packard W Alfred
Dunham Chas L	N J Mutual Live Stock Association

ADMINISTRATOR'S SETTLEMENT.—Notice is hereby given, That the account of the subscriber, administrator of Adele Feytel deceased will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the seventeenth day of April next.

CHARLES JOSEPH FEYTEL.

Dated February 11, 1895. 2 16 10

EXECUTOR'S SETTLEMENT—Notice is hereby given that the account of the subscriber, Executor of Robert Palmer, deceased, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate, and reported for settlement to the Orphan's Court of the County of Union, on Wednesday, the Seventeenth day of April next.

JOHN S. McLEAN.

Dated February 11, 1895. 2 16 10

FURNITURE

MOVING

Telephone 121. Office 161 North ave.

HOAGLAND'S EXPRESS.

Three New Styles.

A Year of Paper Dolls 60c

The Brownies in Paper Dolls 60c.

Famous Queens in Paper Dolls 15c.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front st.

MONEY LOANED.

Local Representatives Wanted.

Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m

H. Eggerding,

121 PARK AVENUE.

Manufacturer of the celebrated;

C. O. D. CIGAR

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 9tf

HENRY C. ADAMS.

INSURANCE.

Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 113 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

E. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 8084, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Lunger, Fin. Sec. 9 25

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 19 East Front stree

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 28, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. G. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

WILL PLACE THE BLAME

Coroner's Jury Censures Trolley Magnates.

Holds Them Responsible for a Boy's Death—A Non-Unionist Testifies. Cars Run at an Unlawful Speed. Official Examination of Life-Saving Fenders.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 9.—After hearing testimony for several hours in the case of the 12-year-old Stephen Gill, of 374 Hicks street, this city, a coroner's jury, shortly after midnight, returned the following verdict:

We find that Stephen Gill came to his death from hemorrhage and shock on Feb. 27 by being run over by car No. 2,126 of the Crosstown division of the Brooklyn Heights system, at Columbia and Amity streets. We further find that said car was running at an unlawful rate of speed and was defective and improperly adjusted; and we hold the railroad company directly responsible for the boy's death. Further, we recommend a competent person be employed to examine the fenders before the cars leave the depot and to see that said fenders are in proper place and secure.

White Testifies.

At the inquest Charley White, the motorman, testified he came from the west during the strike, and secured a situation on the Crosstown line. At the time of the accident, he said, his car was not going faster than six or seven miles an hour. The boy attempted to run across the tracks, in a diagonal course. White said he tried to stop the car, but was unable to do so until after the boy had fallen. White declared that when the fender struck the boy it was pushed under the car.

"If there had been no fender there," he said, "I think the boy might have escaped being knocked down, or I might have caught him. He slid under the car, putting out his hands. I tried to catch one of them, but he was drawn under the platform before I could save him."

White also said the fender may have been defective.

Fender Defective.

The grand jury may investigate now. Mayor Schieren has placed the report on the unlawful speed of trolley cars in the hands of Corporation Counsel McDonald.

"Nothing will be done to-day," said the mayor, "but I may take definite steps against the presidents of these railroads soon. Something must be done at once, and I propose to see that the cars are run through the streets at the rate of speed prescribed by law."

A few days ago Mayor Schieren announced when he had proper proof that cars were run at an unlawful rate he would swear out warrants for the arrest of the railroad presidents.

The corporation counsel, it was said, was considering the question whether motormen or the presidents should be held responsible.

Execution of Tom Watkins.

Little Rock, Ark., March 9.—The execution of Tom Watkins took place yesterday, the drop being sprung at 9:55 and the body cut down at 10:10. The neck was broken by the fall and the murderer died almost instantly without a quiver. Watkins made a speech on the scaffold warning all to profit by his example and declared that he did not kill O'Bannon, but had been hired to watch the old man by William Goccio, who had told him that he was going to kill O'Bannon. He said that Goccio had done the killing although he did not see him do it.

Smallpox Epidemic.

St. Louis, March 9.—The epidemic of smallpox has spread to such an extent that the city and state authorities have decided to take heroic measures in dealing with the disease. A corps of physicians visited the workhouse and after examining the 400 inmates, found twleve prisoners who are believed to be suffering from smallpox. They were quarantined and the remainder vaccinated. A thorough inspection of public schools will be made.

Boiler Makers on Strike.

Cleveland, March 9.—The strike in the boiler department of the Cleveland Shipbuilding company has extended to the Globe Iron works, seventy-five of the boiler makers at the latter shops going out on strike yesterday. They make the same demand as the shipbuilders. Only twenty-five men are now at work in the boiler making department in the ship yards.

Isaac Zane Shot Dead.

Seneca, Mo., March 9.—Isaac Zane was killed yesterday in the Indian territory, six miles northwest, by Jerry Wallace, in a dispute over some oats on the land. Wallace ordered him off but he refused to go and Wallace shot him dead. Wallace gave himself up, but the officers could not hold him as the crime was committed in the territory.

Bloodhounds After Desperados.

Anderson, Ind., March 9.—One hundred farmers on horseback and afoot with Sheriff Starr and his deputies and newspaper men, followed the trail of bloodhounds from Seymour until nearly daylight this morning and went over thirty miles in search of a gang of barn burners and horse thieves.

Explosion in a Tunnel.

Providence, R. I., March 9.—The counterweight tunnel on College Hill was wrecked yesterday by a gas explosion, which shook the city. One man is reported killed. The woodwork in the tunnel afterwards took fire.

Killed in a Saw Mill.

Chatham, Ont., March 9.—A circular saw in Sheaffs' mill, six miles west of this city, burst yesterday, instantly killing Simeon Gagnaux and injuring several other workmen.

Mrs. Lockwood To Wed.

London, March 9.—To-day's newspapers will announce the betrothal of Lionel Alers Rankey and the widow of Howard Lockwood, of New York.

EX-PRESIDENT HARRISON ILL.

His Family Hastily Summoned to His Bedside.

New York, March 9.—The Tribune says this morning:

It was reported in this city last evening that General Benjamin Harrison was lying seriously ill at his home in Indianapolis, and his condition was regarded as such that it was thought best to summon to his bedside the members of his family.

It was found that a telegram concerning the ex-president's condition had been received by Mrs. McKee, and that she had started west on the train leaving this city last evening at 7:30 o'clock. The train is due to arrive in Indianapolis at 11 o'clock this evening.

Mrs. McKee's husband is in Boston, and immediately upon receiving the dispatch from Indianapolis she notified him by telegraph and he will start at once for that city.

HARRY HAYWARD IS GUILTY.

Convicted of Murdering Miss Catherine Ging.

Minneapolis, March 9.—Harry Hayward was convicted yesterday of the murder of Catherine Ging. The jury returned a verdict soon after his fate was placed in his hands. This trial has lasted about seven weeks and attracted attention all over the country. The principal witness against Hayward was his brother Adry and a man named Blixt. The prisoner admitted during the trial that he was an inveterate gambler. This passion still rules him. He placed $10 that the verdict would be one of acquittal, and that it would be reached inside of two hours when placed in the jury's hands.

THE DOCTOR ACCUSED.

A Physician Arrested on a Charge of Malpractice.

Springfield, Mass., March 9.—Dr. John L. Dale, of this city, was arrested at his home yesterday, charged with performing an illegal operation upon Miss Fannie Farley, aged 23. It is charged that the operation was performed at a house on the outskirts of Westfield on Feb. 24.

The girl made a formal statement before a lawyer on Monday night, accusing Dr. Dale of being alone responsible for her condition. It was then supposed she could not live, but it is now thought she will recover. Dr. Dale denies the charges.

THEIR TREASURY BANKRUPT.

Trolley Company's Case May Lapse and a Forfeit Would Follow.

New York, March 9.—The special committee to devise a scheme of relief for the entangled condition of the Long Island Traction company, which has been at work for about two weeks, has formulated a report. On account of the strike and other causes, the Traction company's rentals due on April 1, has not been earned and the treasury is bankrupt. If the rental is not paid within sixty days after it is due, the Traction company's lease of the Brooklyn City railroad system lapses, and a forfeit of $4,000,000 now in the hands of trust companies, will follow.

FRANCE PROTECTIVE MEASURE

Our Ambassador Protests Against the Prohibition of Cattle.

London, March 9.—The Times correspondent in Paris says: "Mr. Eustis, the United States ambassador, presented yesterday an energetic protest against the order prohibiting imports of American beef. He affirmed that not a single case of disease had been noted either when the cattle were embarked or landed in France. The United States thinks the prohibition is a purely protective measure and the question of disease was raised because it alone would justify the prohibition."

Charged with Forgery.

New Orleans, March 9.—Arthur S. Shaw, a young man employed by the Westrn Union Telegraph company as receiving clerk and assistant cashier was held in $1,250 bonds by Recorder Whitaker in the criminal district court yesterday on the charge of forgery. Shaw possessed aspirations to be a high roller and as his salary did not admit of this, he forged the name of Manager West and made drafts upon several banks to the amount of several hundred dollars.

Detroit's $250,000 Fire.

Detroit, March 9.—Fire last night destroyed the five story brick building at Champlain and Brush streets, occupied by the Detroit Carbon works, Detroit Stamping works and smaller concerns. The fire originated in the cellar from an unknown cause and in forty minutes the entire building was gutted. The total loss is estimated at $250,000.

Emperor William's Visit.

Berlin, March 9.—Emperor William arrived at Bremen yesterday. He inspected the harbor, visited the cathedral, and dined in the Rathskeller. He left the city last night for this city. Wherever he appeared in Bremen he was received by enthusiastic crowds.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Montevideo, March 9.—Senor Podesta has been arrested on a charge of fraudulent bankruptcy.

London, March 9.—Waller Hugh Paton, the landscape painter, died in Edinburgh yesterday. He was born in 1828.

Rome, March 9.—The pope yesterday received in audience the Right Rev. Thomas A. Becker, D. D., Bishop of Savannah.

London, March 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who arrived here a few days ago from New York, have started for the continent.

London, March 9.—Bishop William Weathers died at Isleworth on March 4. He was one of the best known Catholic prelates in England.

Messina, March 9.—The steamer Augusta Victoria, which sailed from New York on January 22 with a party of excursionists to the Mediterranean, arrived here yesterday.

Berlin, March 9.—The husbandry council has adopted, by a vote of 36 to 22, Count von Kanitz's motion for the establishment of a state grain monopoly, but with a provision that only such measures be taken as will be compatible with the German commercial treaties. The smallness of the majority by which the motion was adopted is regarded as significant.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning March 10. Comment by Rev. Walter J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Peace Offering.

BIBLE READINGS.—Lev. iii, 1-6; I Pet. ii, 24.

The directions given for the various sacrifices in the tabernacle and temple worship were very minute. The ceremonial must have been deeply impressive. Probably no ritual in any other earthly sanctuary was ever so full of meaning, no rites so solemn, no vestments and utensils more costly than those used in the temple at Jerusalem. The offerings prescribed in Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy, though seemingly of many kinds, are really comprised in four general classes. They were peace, meat, burnt and sin offerings. Peace offerings, free will, thank offerings and common consecrations have one common law. Whatever the kind of beast presented, the blood is all to be poured by a priest at the foot of the altar of burnt offerings. All the fat is to be burned by the priest on the altar, with salt. The breast and right shoulder after being waved, or lifted up, become the priest's portion. The remainder of the animal is to be eaten by the one making the offering and his friends.

All this signifies participation with the Divine Provider in his bounty.

A second class of sacrifices, somewhat similar in nature but differing in the articles presented, was the meat offerings, or, more accurately in our modern speech, the meal offerings. These consisted of flour of various kinds, with oil, sometimes made into cakes and sometimes uncooked. Salt and frankincense were also to be offered with these, but never any leaven nor honey. Part of the gift was burned on the altar; the remainder was for the use of the priests.

The first fruits were to be presented in the temple and a offering made to God before it was lawful for any one to partake of the new harvest. At the Passover feast grain reaped from a field in the Kedron valley with much ceremony was beaten out from full ears, parched over a fire, ground into meal and made into cakes, of which an offering was made by fire on the altar to God. Then throughout the city and land the new harvest might be eaten by the people with rejoicing.

The burnt offering was to be wholly consumed on the altar in token of the complete submission of the soul to the service of Jehovah.

The sin offering and various kinds of trespass offerings were of a still different class. The sin offering had the blood poured at the base of the altar, the fat burned upon it, but the body removed outside the camp and wholly burned in the place where the ashes were deposited.

Thy Burden.

To every one on earth
God gives a burden to be carried down,
The road that lies between the cross and crown.
No lot is wholly free,
He giveth one to thee.

Thy burden is God's gift,
And it will make the bearer calm and strong.
Yet, lest it press too heavily and long,
He says, "Cast it on me,
And it shall easy be."

—Marianne Farningham.

The Value of Missions.

It is popular in some circles to decry missions as valueless. The educated natives of heathen lands are especially given to this view. This makes the testimony of the editor of a large daily paper in Japan of particular importance. He says: "Christian missionaries have now been working here a full generation. There are hundreds of men and women who have brought $500,000 annually here to establish Christian schools and churches, and how much have they accomplished? Really, when we see that they have gained only a few tens of thousands of converts, we can only be sorry for them and must call their work a failure. And yet look all over Japan. Our 40,000,000 today have a higher standard of morality than we have ever known. There is not a boy or girl throughout the empire that has not heard of the one man, one woman doctrine. Our ideas of loyalty and obedience are higher than ever. And when we inquire the cause of this great moral advance we can find it in nothing else than the religion of Jesus Christ."

Epworth League Houses.

The idea of cultured young people going to live in the slums of the great cities and by pure lives in the midst of vicious surroundings try to win the sinful to Christ is bearing fruit not only in London, but in Boston, New York, Chicago and our other western cities. The Epworth League house of the University settlement, Boston, is doing a noble work. Dr. G. W. Gray, with the Leaguers of Chicago, is having splendid success in the same line. Souls are converted, the hungry are fed, the destitute are clothed, the homeless are lodged, the friendless find true hearts and open hands. This is practical Christianity. The Epworth Leaguers support the work and find it more blessed to give than to receive.

Breadth of Purpose.

One of the most fatal criticisms possible of any religious movement, if well founded, is that of narrowness and bigotry. Breadth and depth are essential to success in Christianity. One of the most hopeful signs in the young people's movement in all the churches is proper recognition of this fact. Social life is duly provided for away from the allurements and entanglements of worldly amusements and associations. Intellectual needs are recognized, and new literature is being created to meet the demand. History, biography, travels, theology, fiction, art and science are resurveyed, and the old truths retold in new form, and new discoveries announced, so that by tracts, periodicals and books ample provision is made to cultivate intelligence and thorough knowledge. Interest in the more careful study of the Bible, the history of the church and the doctrinal peculiarities of the various denominations is manifest in many directions.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 10. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Everything for God.—Luke xiv, 25-33.

It costs something to be a Christian. Nor did Christ attempt to conceal this fact from His followers. Instead He emphasized the fact and told them plainly that unless they were willing to give up every thing for God they could not be His disciples. He also pointed out to them the importance of counting the cost before they pledged themselves to Him. As a man before building a tower counts the cost of it, as a king before going to war estimates his ability to cope with the enemy, so Christ taught that we should carefully consider the sacrifices embraced in Christian discipleship before we take this discipleship upon ourselves. It is reasonable and just that we should do so, and just as reasonable and just to give up all for God.

1. Everything for God includes our affections (verse 26). "If any man come to Me and hate not his father and mother and wife and children and brethren and sisters, * * * he cannot be My disciple." This does not mean literally that we are to hate our relatives. The Bible everywhere repudiates such a doctrine. It is simply another way of saying that the first place in our hearts, in our affections, must be reserved for God. We must allow nothing, then, to stand before Him, not even our dearest relatives and loved ones. "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." If we loved some one more than God in Christ, it would be placing something above Him, and this makes true discipleship impossible.

2. Everything for God includes life itself. Life is one of our greatest blessings. We prize it very highly and sell it very dearly, and yet even life itself, if necessary, must be given to God. If we are brought into a position when it is a question of life or Christ, there should be no hesitancy in choosing Christ. As Stephen and all the long list of martyrs chose Christ and death, so should all His disciples. We should die daily for Christ, die to sin, selfishness, unrighteousness and to the world in all its forms.

3. Everything for God includes all that we have (verse 33). "Whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath cannot be My disciple." This is the essence of the whole matter in one word—"all." It must be all for Christ or nothing for Him—loved ones, houses, lands, health, wealth, pleasure, prosperity. The child of God must stand ready to sacrifice any or all of it for Him.

That he should be willing to do so is not unjust or unreasonable. God has a just right to all we have and are. He gives us strength to make sacrifices for Him. He repays us abundantly for all we give up. "Every one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for My name's sake, shall receive a hundredfold and shall inherit everlasting life." Christianity may cost something, but it pays, for it hath the promise both of this life and the life to come.

Bible Readings.—Gen. xxii (1-3, 10-12); I Chron. xxix, 16, 17; Ps. l, 8-13; Math. iv, 18-20; xix, 28, 29; Mark x, 28-30; Luke v, 11; Acts xv, 25, 26; I Cor. xv, 29-32; Rev. iv, 11; xii, 11.

Face the World Bravely.

It is impossible to estimate the power for good in this sad, struggling life of a bright, glad, shining face.

Of all the lights you carry in your face,
Joy shines farthest out to sea.

One of the best things any of us can do for this world is to show it ever a victorious life of joy, a face that shines even through tears, a beauty of the Lord which glows with radiance even in the night. That is the life the Master wants every follower of His to live, and we can live it, too, if our life is truly hid with Christ in God.—J. R. Miller, D. D.

German Gifts to Missions.

The missionary gifts of the German Protestants are $848,170 a year. These gifts support 658 missionaries, 113 ordained natives and 4,717 native associates. In the churches cared for by these missionaries are 101,807 communicants, with 265,881 native Christians. Furthermore, the German Protestants support on mission fields 1,246 schools, with nearly 60,000 scholars.

The Mystery Solved.

When a pastor complains that his Christian Endeavor society is acting unworthily, the first question to be asked him is, "Do you attend its meetings regularly yourself?" If he answers, "No, but"— there is no need of further words. The mystery is solved.—Golden Rule.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

The Reformed Church society (German) of Cleveland has taken a share in the stock company that has sent Rev. S. S. Snyder to Japan as a missionary and is supporting him there.

Rev. J. E. Newell, the Christian Endeavor superintendent of the South Sea islands, writes that as yet the Samoan societies are not united.

In the Tokelau islands, in the South seas, there is a flourishing society on the island of Takaofo. It numbers 56 members, the entire population being only 264.

The Trinity Reformed society, York, Pa., recently raised $50 for mission work in Japan at one meeting.

There are 77 societies in Alabama, 9 being juniors.

There are now 507 societies in the colony of Victoria, N. S. W., with about 16,038 members. These are divided among ten denominations, the Wesleyans leading with more than twice the number of societies in any other church.

A Methodist Protestant Endeavorer of a certain town in Pennsylvania, being thoroughly in earnest, recently made a gift to his society of the money he had saved by shaving himself.

Scott's Emulsion

is not a secret remedy. It is simply the purest Norway Cod-liver Oil, the finest Hypophosphites, and chemically pure Glycerine, all combined into a perfect Emulsion so that it will never change or lose its integrity. This is the secret of Scott's Emulsion's great success.

It is the happy combination of these most valuable ingredients, materially increasing their potency; hence the great value of Scott's Emulsion in wasting diseases. We think people should know what they are taking into their stomachs.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50c. and $1

DIRECTIONS for using

CREAM BALM.

Apply a particle of the Balm well up into the nostrils. After a moment draw a strong breath through the nose. Use three times a day, after meals preferred, and before retiring.

ELY'S CREAM BALM opens and cleanses the nasal passages, allays pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from colds, restores the senses of taste and smell. The Balm is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once. Price 50c at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren street, New York.

CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

THE MASTODON

was the biggest animal of which we have any knowledge, and lived ages ago. Mastodons in other lines still exist, for instance you will find a mastodon stock of wall paper and mastodon bargains with us every day in the year.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.

141 East Front st

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7 30, 8 40, 11 a. m., 2 30, 5, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 and 9 30 a. m., 1 45, 6, and 7 30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8 40 a. m., 2 40, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 15 a. m., 4 30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arrives 12 m; closes 9 30 a. m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9 30 to 10 30 a. m.
Mail closes at 7 15 p. m.

J. C. POPE & CO.,

Insurance Agents,

NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET

Plainfield, N. J.

Granite Iron Ware.

Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.
Stoves at reduced prices.
Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-iron Work.
Plumbing and Heater Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

119 East Front St.

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS,

30 PARK AVE.

He Manufactures Them

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.

NO.

BUT FULL VALUE.

C. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging, 37 Chatham street.

H. Hand,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER.

15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Residence and postoffice address

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.

Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

L. L. MANNING.

Marble and Granite Works

Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

The sign on the windows reads

Woolston & Buckle,

Paper Hangers.

We have had the door hinges and latch oiled up so that getting in is easy. So also is the getting out.
Prices are so low on Wall Papers that you will buy before you go.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

SPECIAL!

Gent's suits dyed	$2 25
Gent's suits cleaned	$1.50
Overcoat dyed	$1.50
Ladies' dresses cleaned	$1.50
" " dyed	$1.50
Lace curtains cleaned, a pair	50c
Blankets cleaned	$1.00

G. O. KELLER,

317 WEST FRONT ST.

Goods called for and delivered.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must fairly be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 189 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE.

The Incipient Hero Completes His Military Studies.

A LIEUTENANT OF ARTILLERY.

Poverty Compels Him to Journey to His Regiment on Foot—Social Gayeties at the Barracks—Death of His Father. First Command of Soldiers In the Field.

[Copyright, 1895, by John Clark Ridpath.]

IV.—L'ECOLE MILITAIRE AND VALENCE.

When Cadet Bonaparte, in the autumn of 1784, was promoted to the Military School in Paris, he was in his sixteenth year. He had now made his way by stages, beginning with his tenth year, from his native place to the capital of France; and if of France, then of the world. Three months at Autun, four years—and more—at Brienne, and now to the school in Paris. At the last-named place he was destined to remain less than a year. Thus far he seemed to be rising toward a career of activity, if not of distinction; but there was never a time when his pathway was more clouded than during his stay at L'Ecole Militaire.

The school at which he now became a student was the best in the kingdom. It had been reformed and renewed as a result of recent agitations; and the institution was at this time well fitted to be the finishing ground for a young military aspirant. L'Ecole Militaire de Paris held the relation to that of Brienne and the others of college to academy. The curriculum was more ample and the methods more rational in the first than those pursued in the provincial institutions. Here the academic training of Napoleon Bonaparte—as that of his younger brother Lucien afterwards—was completed. From this school he was to be delivered, as if by a second birth, to the world.

NAPOLEON AT THIRTY.

The social character of Napoleon now began to show itself more distinctly. Back at Brienne he had been introduced by General Marbœuf to some private families of distinction. Them he impressed as a peculiar, forceful and solitary genius, more capable of heroic dreams and boyish monologue than of polite conversation or social amenities. Going to Paris, his acquaintance was somewhat enlarged. Marbœuf's nephew, the Bishop of Autun, now lived at Versailles; and that worthy was glad, after the lapse of five years, to receive his former pupil, greatly grown in intellect and person, but virtually the same in demeanor. Elise, the sister of Bonaparte, had meanwhile been brought out from Corsica, and was now a member of the Royal School for Girls at Saint-Cyr. So that the young man had now a few friends and some social advantages.

For the rest, he pursued in Paris the same self-centered life as at Brienne. He was a hard student—in his way. He still disprized the polite branches of education in favor of the exact sciences and geography. In humane inquiry, his sole endeavor was to master History. His study, however, in this field did not reach historical generalization or a broad philosophy. He stopped with the individual. He dwelt with interest and enthusiasm upon the lives of great men. Plutarch he knew almost by heart. The well-known stories which in that age passed for history he conned with the passion of a zealot.

In after life, the peculiar effect of this discipline was manifested in all of Napoleon's work and policy. Out of his history proper he branched in only one direction—politics. He became rather expert in the political platitudes and persiflage of the times. To the end of his life he was never capable of high and abstract views; but he knew all special things as if by intuition. His mind flashed out, lightning-like, in this direction and in that; the blaze of it illumined many a dark and blood-splashed place; but from that prodigious intellect there was never diffused a broad and universal light. Much of this must be attributed to his inborn character; and something to the manner of his education.

We must here allow also for the reactionary influence of Paris itself on a great genius in boyhood. Napoleon saw and felt Paris for ten months, in his sixteenth year. It was a revelation; but he seems not to have been greatly affected by it. So much was he concentrated on himself—so strongly was the concept of a destiny struggling to form itself within him—that even the glare, the magnificence, the charm, the seductive vices, of the metropolis were hardly noticed by the Corsican in his onward course.

The year 1785 was in all respects critical to Bonaparte. His course at the Military School ended with August of that year. He was admitted to his final examination almost precisely at his sixteenth birthday. Nearly six months before this time his father, who had found a temporary residence at Montpellier, came to the final scene. The visionary and unsuccessful Buonaparte had discovered a refuge for himself at the chateau of Madame Permon, mother of the Duchess d'Abrantes of great fame. There, on the 24th of February, he expired, of a chronic malady, perhaps cancer of the stomach—most fatal premonition of what should happen to his famous son thirty-six years afterwards. At his deathbed were his eldest son Joseph and that other Joseph who should become the Cardinal Fesch. The latter, now a priest, would fain administer some consolation of religion to the dying man; but Charles Bonaparte would not accept the solace,—preferring to die, as he had lived, in absolute unbelief.

Hard was this stroke of death on the members of Buonaparte's family. From the time of his union with Letitia Ramolino—a period of twenty years—thirteen children had been born. Eight of these were living; three were in France, and five with the mother in Ajaccio. All were at the door of penury. It is a law of nature and of man that every mother who bears thirteen children is a heroine; but Madame de Buonaparte had now to go into the fields and plant mulberry trees for a living! Marbœuf finally prevailed with the authorities to make Joseph Bonaparte also (we will now drop the Italian form Buonaparte) a military pensioner. But the father's death and Napoleon's protest countervailed the project, and Joseph was doomed to remain a cadet of the Church. For Lucien, who developed a passion for polite studies and wished to be a priest, a scholarship was obtained for the school at Brienne. Such is the perversity of fate. As to Napoleon, it was agreed that instead of going into the navy, as Keralio had recommended and as Marbœuf had wished, he should become instead a lieutenant in the artillery. After his graduation, he should be assigned to the Regiment La Fere, stationed at Valence, on the left bank of the Rhone, three hundred miles away as the [illegible] flies—far to the south.

The final examination at L'Ecole Militaire was passed. Like many other incipient military heroes—our own included—Napoleon did not obtain a high rank in his classes. His papers gave him only the forty-second place from the head. Louis Antoine Bourienne, his future private secretary, had been far above him at Brienne. Des Mazis, his favorite classmate, was now graduated far below him at L'Ecole Militaire. But the grade was sufficient; and he was enabled with his commission as lieutenant to choose the artillery as his arm of the service.

For two months (August to October, 1785) the restraints of red tape held back Lieutenant Bonaparte from going to his place. His means gave utterly out. At last, late in the fall of 1785, he set out by conveyance from Paris as far as Lyons, but was then obliged, from sheer inability to pay his fare, to walk the remainder of the journey to Valence. There he arrived, and took his place in the Regiment La Fere—doubtless so called because it had no iron in it!

Great was Napoleon's surprise at the character of the discipline. By the officers and men almost everything was practiced except those exercises which tended to make them soldiers. They were gay, dissipated, frivolous. The pay was insufficient to support them in their career of pleasure and vice; but they were nearly all scions of the nobility, and knew not what it was to be limited in the means of gratification. Napoleon's poverty and ambition alike held him back for a moment from this manner of life; but, strange to say, he presently threw himself into the swim, and during the winter of 1785-86 he dissipated like the rest. There seemed to be nothing to do about the barracks of Valence except to join the rout, or else to become again a solitary student; and for that there was not the slightest encouragement.

Valence was a small but important city. The young military officers were welcomed by ambitious families into their drawing rooms. For the nonce, Bonaparte concluded that he must become accomplished!—that he must be a social lion and quaff the bowl of pleasure with his fellows. He had social passports from Marbœuf's nephew, who was now the young Bishop of Autun. The Lieutenant got the entree to the home of important personages such as the Abbe Saint-Ruff. He knew what wine was—and fashionable women. For him the doors of the ball-room swung open; and his slight form in military regalia might be seen waltzing with luxurious womanhood much taller than himself! Cæsar, as late as his twenty-eighth year, just before he was elected military tribune, took such a plunge into the rivers of indulgence.

But to a nature such as Napoleon's pleasure, however torrid, could not long suffice. The Lieutenant presently turned upon himself in anger; and a sudden reform was the immediate result. The thoughtful brow and sullen manner returned. He went back gloomily to his books; recovered his vantage, and henceforth to the end of his life—though many a time he heard the Sirens singing on near-by shores—he never postponed his ambitions for the delirious dreams and fleeting hallucinations of a dissipated life.

During his career as a student, Napoleon's general reading had been in the nature of excursions along the coasts of political philosophy. The French manner caught his imagination. He talked of liberty, of the virtues of the elder Romans, of humanity in a state of nature—as revealed by Jean Jacques. Now, in the spring of 1786—recovering himself from the winter's revel—he turned from the "Contrat Sociale," which he had begun to distrust as a ground of political life, to the "Histoire Philosophique" of the Abbe Raynal. Here he lost himself in the mysteries (and mists) of that science which is said to teach by example.

The writings of the Abbe Raynal, from being a conglomerate in which several strong hands—notably that of Diderot—had a great part, were now in the ascendant. The French mind caught them, embraced them, and adored. They were thought for the time to be the be-all and the end-all of political philosophy. Behold Napoleon, whose mind had already been well stocked with the fascinating but unprofitable stories of Herodotus, Diodorus, Strabo, Plutarch, Xenophon, et id omne genus,—behold him at his candle-lighted, deal-board table in the barracks of Valence, rising in thought somewhat from the particulars of human story to the general laws of conduct. Be it remembered, however, that at that epoch the human mind had not yet gained the first glimpse of that universal coherence and consistency of all things which constitutes the bottom principle of the New History. As for the unfledged Jacobinism in him, that was sufficiently inflamed with the knowledge that five years previously this same "Histoire Philosophique" had been burned at the stake—so to speak—in Paris, and its author driven into exile.

Meanwhile, in August of 1787, while the members of our Constitutional Convention were hard at work in Philadelphia building their ship of state, an insurrection against the French government broke out in Lyons, fifty-three miles up the river from Valence; and the Regiment La Fere was ordered to put down the revolt. On the march thither Napoleon Bonaparte, lieutenant of artillery, had his first command of soldiers in the field.

JOHN CLARK RIDPATH.

Dolly Madison at the White House.

James Madison and his wife were famous for their generous hospitality, and it was extended to the president's bitterest political opponents. Dinner parties were given every week, and the beauty and fashion of the country met in the presidential drawing rooms. Mr. Madison possessed the old school elegance of manners to a remarkable degree, and among his intimate friends was humorous and entertaining. His wife, "Dolly," has likewise been portrayed by history as one of the most charming of the hostesses who have graced the White House.

BRIAR PIPE GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY ONE POUND bale OF

DUKES MIXTURE

for 35 cents

Every pipe stamped DUKES MIXTURE or ATC

2 oz. PACKAGE 5¢

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices.

BEE H VE

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½

Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.

Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.

We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,

222 West Front st

Treasury Department

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1895.

Whereas, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882,

Now, therefore, I, James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business on March 1, 1915.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, 1895.

3443 JAMES H. ECKELS, Comptroller of the Currency.

S 4 30

GEO. J. TOBIN,

187 North avenue.

Practical Plumber

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer

TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

W. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.

First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's LAW OFFICES,

Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

Tel. 29B Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.

Have your plumbing system tested with the smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

Opp Roberts's Livery 132 North Ave

H. DeMOTT,

With livery attached,
UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,
176 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 96 7

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET.

(Estate D. I. Smalley.)

94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.

GEO. EGEL, Manager.

We sell only first-class goods, at low prices, for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 19 t

N. E. KING,

High Grade Portraits

In Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.

483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimen of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

UP TO DATE.

Oh, dear to my mind is the old-fashioned ingle
That fond recollection presents to my view,
Where forest-hewn logs would in fire-glow mingle
And cheer us with comfort and radiance too.
But warmer today, and more comfort insuring
Are fires whose fervor is kindled anew
With fruit of the mines that the wise are securing
From coal yards of Stevens, near Grant avenue—
That excellent coal you are sure of procuring
Near junction of Front St. and Grant avenue.
(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Timpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort
[Hygeia Hotel]

Or Virginia Beach, Va.
[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $15 Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE of meals and berths en route, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,

Pier 26, North River, New York.
W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

in the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue.
Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey pork and poultry a specialty.
203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles,

411 Park Avenue,

Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES
From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little book—"Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning men's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,

175 North ave.

EIGHT MINUTES OF THREE.

A DETECTIVE STORY

BY NYM CRINKLE.

(Copyright, 1895, by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.)

CHAPTER IV.

This interview, when I came to think it over, took the conceit out of me, and the retaining fee of five hundred dollars had an ugly look. Daryl, it was true, might be mistaken, but there was something in me that respected his opinions. Why did Mrs. Prineveau have such confidence in me and such distrust of Daryl? Why was I sent to her to be sized up, as it were. Evidently she was the kind of woman Daryl had insisted she was. She had counted on just the stupidity that I had shown. This reflection made my professional vanity a little vindictive. "So, so," I said to myself, "I am retained to defend Clarkson. Very well. He shall be defended to the best of my ability."

THE RETAINING FEE OF $500 HAD AN UGLY LOOK.

When Daryl came to see me the next evening I told him frankly that Mrs. Prineveau had given me a five-hundred-dollar retaining fee. He said he felt sure of it, and advised me to send it to Mrs. Clarkson if it hurt me.

"And who is to pay you?" I asked.

"I don't think either you or I will get any pay out of this," he replied. "But we are into it and we might as well carry it through."

"I am afraid," I said, "that we have undertaken a hopeless task. Let's divide it up."

"You find out Mrs. Prineveau's antecedents and I will find out if Mr. Prineveau wore that vest with the hole in it when he was killed. If he didn't who made that hole in it and for what purpose?"

"Rather narrow ground," I said, somewhat hopelessly.

"O, I've been on narrower and more slippery, and pulled out."

"But tell me what kind of a theory can you invent that will enable Mrs. Prineveau to kill her husband with a bullet on his left side, while she is sitting on his right?"

Daryl fell into his vacuous attitude, stretched out his legs, thrust his hands into his pockets, and choked off a yawn.

"Did you read all the testimony at the coroner's examination?" he asked.

"Yes, all of it."

"Did you notice anything peculiar in the elements of time that entered into it?"

"No, I didn't."

He pulled out of his pocket a portion of the verbatim report. "Let me read you a little of it. This is the girl Rose Kenny's testimony:

"Q. What time was it when your master and mistress left the house to ride?

"A. Eight minutes of three.

"Q. What makes you so particular as to the time?

"A. I heard Mrs. Prineveau call to Mr. Prineveau and say that was the time just as they went out.

"Q. Wasn't there a clock in the room?

"A. No, sir. The clock is in the dining-room.

"There the question of time stops. Now listen to Mrs. Prineveau's testimony.

"Q. What time was it when the shot was fired?

"A. Five minutes past five—suddenly correcting herself — or about that.

"Does it occur to you that this particularity of time is unusual?"

"Yes; somewhat. But what is its significance?"

"This—that something may have been arranged to occur at a particular time, and Mrs. Prineveau had charged her mind with it. Here is the coachman's testimony:

"Q. Can you fix the exact time of the death of Mr. Prineveau?

"A. It was five o'clock.

"Q. Do you carry a watch?

"A. No.

"Q. Did Mrs. Prineveau have a watch with her?

"A. No, sir.

"Q. How then did you fix the time?

"A. Mrs. Prineveau looked at Mr. Prineveau's watch when we were turning into Fourth avenue and said it is five o'clock and that I must hurry.

"Now here the matter is dropped by the examination just as it is getting warm. Let's recapitulate," and Amos Daryl picked up my paper weight for illustration: "First, Mr. Prineveau carries a watch," and Amos Daryl put the paper weight down; "second, Mrs. Prineveau knew to a minute when they left the house." Mr. Daryl picked up the mucilage jar and placed it by the side of the paper weight; "third," and he picked up a match receiver, "she was anxious to know the exact time just before they reached the fatal spot." He put the match box down alongside the paper weight and reached for an ash receiver; "fourth, she ascertained the time by looking at Mr. Prineveau's watch." Down went the ash receiver; "fifth," and he picked up the ink bottle. "If she ascertained the exact time by looking at Mr. Prineveau's watch, and that watch was carried in the usual place on his left breast, then her fingers were at his heart just before the murder occurred," and down went the ink bottle. The usually scattered utensils of my desk were now in a little group covered by the massive paw of my friend Daryl.

"It is an interesting and a startling theory," I said, "and I see now to what it leads."

"I doubt that," replied Daryl. "Let me tell you to what it leads—insuperable difficulties, for the woman has all the clews in her own hand, and will baffle us at every step of the search, and have public sympathy in doing it."

"Then if we cannot get hold of the facts to substantiate your theory we are on a wild-goose chase."

"Not altogether."

"Why, we haven't a leg to go on without the facts."

"O, yes; one leg."

"What is it?"

"The truth."

I shrugged my shoulders.

"The truth will develop its own facts, and that is where Mrs. Prineveau, like all merely cunning people, is a little superficial. Suppose we set out to ascertain if Mr. Prineveau did not have two waistcoats of the same material, one of which it was alleged was punctured by a bullet and the other was not, and we wish to learn if Mrs. Prineveau did not have the opportunity when the body arrived home, to change the waistcoats, we shall be baffled by her, for she has arranged for just such a contingency."

"And away go our facts."

"Yes, but in comes our truth. Why does Mrs. Prineveau object to our searching for that waistcoat?"

Daryl gave his legs a stretch, rammed his big fists into his pocket, and then continued: "Look here, old fellow, I am right; that calm, self-possessed woman is living with a slow burning hell inside, for fear somebody will bring an intuition into this case and look past the facts that she has arranged to the truth that she can't alter.

"I've got a working hypothesis that fits every circumstance. What we've got to do is to keep this woman from suspecting it till she gets on the witness stand, and then pump it at her and watch the results. The moment she suspects that we have got the whole secret—she will go to pieces."

Three weeks of the month of April passed by and very little was done. Daryl went to Washington and to all appearances had made up his mind to let things rest on his far-fetched hypothesis. Gradually I fell into the belief that it was a hopeless case of defense. I had learned nothing to strengthen Daryl's theory. The prosecution openly avowed that they had a clear case. My friend John Greve patronizingly told me to do the best I could, and reminded me that there was no chagrin in making a good fight in a forlorn hope. I called upon Mrs. Prineveau once and she received me with the utmost candor, without a sign of perturbation and offered to give me any assistance in her power. I felt when I came away that Daryl had made a great mistake. As the day of the trial approached the newspapers referred to Clarkson as the murderer whose guilt was unmistakable, and Clarkson himself in one or two interviews had talked wildly and desperately and hurt his own case irremediably.

I FELT THAT DARYL HAD MADE A GREAT MISTAKE.

I think it was on the 26th of April when I got an absurd and very brief letter from Daryl in Washington. This was all it said: "If you get discouraged go and see Mrs. Clarkson. Will be on with a fact or two on Monday."

The letter did not stimulate me, but the visit to Mrs. Clarkson did. I found her in improved but modest quarters up town and much more hopeful than I expected. She seized me by the hands and said: "I pray for you night and morning—that Heaven will preserve you till this is over. I tremble to think something might happen to you. O, sir, we never can pay you; but when you see that poor dear with his children in his arms once more I am sure you will feel that you have not been wholly unpaid."

I tried to let down the pegs of this strain as softly as I could and tell her that it would not do to be oversanguine of the result, but she said, with calm assurance, that she had no fear of the result now, and shortly afterwards her two winsome children announced to me with pitiable importance that papa was coming home again.

So when Daryl arrived on Monday I told him that I felt as if I were the only guilty party in the case. We had allowed an estimable woman to build up the most unwarranted hopes only to cruelly destroy them in the end.

Daryl paid no attention whatever to this. "I have got an important fact," he said. "The Prineveaus were abroad in 1877, and staid two weeks at Geneva. I never should have known this but for Mrs. Clarkson, who hunted up a letter from Mr. Prineveau to Mr. Clarkson that had contained a remittance, and this sentence: 'We have been detained here a week over our time by Mrs. P., who has been making purchases.'"

"What do you see in that?"

"Geneva is celebrated for its watchmakers. I sent a cablegram from the Washington bureau to the department of justice there asking them to find out if Mrs. Prineveau purchased a watch while there. Here is the answer, translated. Don't read the official verbiage—look at that sentence. What is it? 'Yes, Mme. Prineveau purchased a large silver watch of Bringdat Frere, who was closing out business. Number and description of watch unattainable.'"

After reading this we both laid back and looked at each other in silence a moment.

"It is your sane opinion, Daryl, that Prineveau was killed by a watch."

"Just as sure of it as Clarkson's wife is that you will free her husband from this charge."

"But we haven't got a scintilla of proof."

"No, we'll make Mrs. Prineveau furnish it on the witness stand."

Do you know what I said to Daryl? It's a rather humiliating confession, but I was considerably younger then than I am now.

"Daryl," said I, "you are the senior counsel for the defense. I might as well put myself in your hands and go it blindly."

He pulled out his brawny and hairy hands as if to let me see that they were big and strong enough to take care of me. But he only said:

"Good. I shouldn't wonder if I pulled you out of it with a good deal of honor. I'm counting on one little thing that you don't think of."

"What is it?"

"That Mrs. Prineveau retained you for the defense."

"Is that sarcasm?"

"No. Inspiration. Don't you know why she retained you?"

"Because she thought I'd make the worst possible defense."

"That was a secondary motive. The primary one was compunction. She's a woman and she couldn't help feeling sorry for Clarkson, who was such a helpless victim of her conspiracy. So she eased up her conscience by providing him with a lawyer. She felt safe in doing it. She tried to steer you into the insanity plea. Now all that shows that there is a weak spot in her. We'll go to court and lie in wait for her and jump on it suddenly, and then you'll see something dramatic."

[TO BE CONCLUDED.]

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Hot Rolls

of carpet. Quite an accident happened to us while carrying carpets to our carpet department, 5 rolls tumbled down a flight of stairs; nothing broke but the prices and we are happy to say they broke in half. Not a piece of carpet have we forgot to mark down. If ever you had a chance to buy carpets cheap, this is one that you should grasp. A bare floor is as bad as a bare head. These are only a few of our many specials.

53c..Brussels carpet handsome patterns..53c
69c.....Brussels carpet worth 85c.....69c
29c.....Ingrain carpet worth 45c.....29c

Mattings

15 rolls of 17c matting 12½—by roll 10c.
13 " 20c " 15c " 15c.
10 " 35c " 25c " 20c.

Oil Cloths

In this line we have the best selection and lowest prices of any house in the city.

Ladies' Separate Skirts

Crepon skirts $4 25—worth $6
Black serge skirts $3 75—worth $5
Cloth skirts, all sizes, $2 49, worth $3 50
Just received an elegant line of Spring Capes in black, blue and tan at $1.25. This price for a short time only.

Infants' Long Robes

$1 25 will buy a $1 65 robe, nicely trimmed.
$1 45 " $2 robe, handsomely made.
$2 00 " $2 65 robe, Valenciennes lace trimming.

Housefurnishing Goods Department.

Sorry you did not get one of our lamps last week, but this week we have a sale on Brooms and Wash Boards. For one week we will give you
A 20c Broom for 11c.
A 23c Wash Board for 12c.
and bargains in any article that you can think of in this department.

Dress Goods

We still lead with our goods on the top of the ladder.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

—AT—

NEUMAN BROS.,

—THE—

Watchung Ave. Grocers,

will be found tomorrow a choice lot of fresh vegetables as follows—Spinach, cauliflower, Boston lettuce, celery, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, rhubarb, parsley, beets, oyster plant. Also a select lot of table apples and oranges.

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE."

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values

IN

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality.

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value
59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c. at

49 cents.

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

☞Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street. Newark, N. J.

SPRING STYLES

In Men's Hats are in today.

G. A. Hallock, 109 West Front St.

Alex. Willett & Son

Sell the best

Men's $3 Shoe

IN THE CITY.

IF YOU WANT

ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

Spring Curry Comb

Clock Spring Blade. Soft as a Brush. Fits every Curve. The Only Perfect Comb. Used by U. S. Army and by Barnum and Forepaugh Circuses, and Leading Horsemen of the World. Ask your Dealer for It. Sample mailed post paid 25 cents. Give our name on the handle. SPRING CURRY COMB CO., 102 Lafayette St., South Bend, Indiana.

78t-1 9-t t

HEATH & DRAKE

Announce their

Grand

Spring Opening

on Tuesday,

Wednesday,
Thursday,

MARCH 12, 13 and 14.

When a line of goods suitable for the season will be exhibited, consisting of elegant medium and low priced dry goods upholstery, carpets, etc.

You are cordially invited to attend.

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J.

MRS. L. COLES,

FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,

Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st

Taylor's French System

used. Suits $6.00 and upward.

2 2 tf

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1 50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 26 1m

Central Employment Office

218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.

All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first-class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Cigars, Etc.,

128 NORTH AVENUE,

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY,

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET,

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.,

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N J

Telephone call, 29 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge. 6 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit,

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, india rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 3 to 6 p. m. H. HORNER, 29 North ave., Plainfield, N J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong. 8,27

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., MONDAY, MARCH 11, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY. $5 A YEAR.

A SOLDIER AT REST.

Comrade Bilyeu's Coffin Adorned with Roses and a Flag.

The funeral of the late Jeremiah Bilyeu was held yesterday afternoon at 1, from Warren Chapel. There was a very large gathering of friends. Major Anderson Post, No. 109, G. A. R., of which decedant was a member, was present in a body. There were also delegations from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Loyal Ladies Legion, Woman's Relief Corps No. 10, and John Head Camp, No. 28, S. of V.

Rev. Mr. McKelvey, pastor, conducted the services, reading the Scripture selection and offering prayer, after which he said in part:

"This man was an old soldier. I care not whether the Grand Army button is worn on the oldest coat or the finest, I admire it, and it always inspires me with a feeling of pride. That button bespeaks a brave heart, and one ready to respond to duty's call. It is safe to say that 9 out of every 10 who wear it have a brave heart.

"In this case it was especially manifest, for I am told that this man was always in the thickest and best of the battle, and I am also told that he was good to his mother to the very last. The button shows sacrifice and labor; the call of Country outweighed all other considerations.

"The call of our Country is only secondary to the call of God. It was a strife for the right, and right won. It was a time of choice as to which side one would fight on, for our Country and martyred President, or for the South. There was an end to the strife, right conquered, and the old soldiers returned home proud of their defense for their country."

Mr. McKelvey then compared the war with the present fight against sin, and strong and impressive lessons were drawn.

After all had looked on the face of the departed his comrades escorted the body to Mt. Horeb, where interment was made.

A large American flag and a handsome pillow with the words "Our Comrade", rested on the casket. The pall-bearers were: Comrades Pennington, Aaron Sutton, Randolph Thorn, Simon Braider, L. C. Sheppard, and H. Frazee.

"Out With the Boys".

It was Saturday evening and perhaps not all of the boys were there but at least enough of them to show a decided interest in the opening of the new rooms for the Junior Department of the Y.M.C.A.

There are over sixty members already in this department, although so far the only privileges have been those in connection with the gymnasium.

These sixty boys were all at the reception, and as each boy was allowed to introduce a friend the result was that over one hundred boys were present and had a great time.

The programme included club and baton swinging by Mr. Shaffer, speeches by Mr. Batchelor, chairman of the Boys Committee, and by Mr. French of Montclair, who came out specially for the occasion. Inspection of the gymnasium and the boys reading and game rooms followed and then a committee of ladies served the boys with refreshments.

The boys are greatly pleased with the privilges afforded them at the new building and there is every prospect of a membership in this department of at least a hundred within a month. On Saturday morning Mr. MacPhie's class of boys in the gymnasium numbered fifty-five. He had his hands full.

Daughters of Liberty.

A meeting was held Saturday evening in Red Men's Hall, called by W. W. Stratton, for the purpose of organizing a "Daughters of Liberty" society.

Interesting addresses were made by Mr. and Mrs. Bush of Brooklyn, after which sixteen names were secured to the application for a charter. It is necessary to have thirty, and the paper will be in Mr. Stratton's possession for any to sign who wish.

His Kinsman Says He Swore.

John McGowan will have an examination before Judge Coddington Wednesday morning on the charge of disorderly conduct in swearing at a brother-in-law.

$10 for a Word.

$10 in gold is offered by Edward White for one word. Put on your thinking-cap, and try to win, always remembering that White's is Plainfield's money-saving mart.

—VanEmburgh & Son are selling a good shirt for 29 cents.

—Mrs. Dr. Edwards is now established in the Power House, Lakewood, for a season.

—Eight persons united with Hope Chapel yesterday morning, four by letter and four by confession.

—About $30 was realized from the stereopticon entertainment recently given in the German Reformed Church.

—The German Reformed Sunday-school will give a musical and literary entertainment in the church parlors March 28.

—Miss Duryea, a missionary, will speak to the Ladies Work Society and the King's Daughters of Trinity Reformed Church on missions Tuesday, March 19.

PLAINFIELD'S CHORAL.

Tomorrow's Concert of This Substantial Organization.

The Plainfield Choral Society, now in its sixteenth season, deserves the full support of the public in bringing to Plainfield such artists as will appear at the concert tomorrow night.

Joseph Hollman, the great 'cellist of the evening, is conceded to be unrivalled as a performer on the violoncello. The society will also introduce Miss Louise Wilbrandt, recently from Berlin, who is known by many musical people of Plainfield as a pianist of rare gifts. The chorus work will be particularly pleasing, and will include Gounod's "Gallia", which he composed at the time of the fall of the city of Paris in the Franco-Prussian war.

See Them in Music Hall Wednesday Night.

While Ward and Vokes are acknowledged to be the cleverest team now starring in farce comedy, they do not give nor attempt to give the entire performance. The supporting company is one of the best ever seen here, and is composed of the following well known artists: Messrs. Tony Williams, Joe Russell, Chas. Jerome, Al. Grant, the great New York favorite; Harry Blaney, Sid DeGrey, Clara Bell, soubrette with Tompkins's Black Crook company last year; Maggie Daly, of the famous Daly Sisters of Lillian Russell's company; Miss Inez Rae, Starre Kimball, Miss Gilberti Learock, J. Wilmot Eckert, the famous tenor; Emma Berg, the Swedish soprano, and six bright young women, form the organization. These clever people give an up-to-date comedy.

Prizes to Be Awarded.

Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Independent Order of Foresters, at the close of their regular business meeting Friday night, held a musical entertainment. Brother Monsell contributed "Kitty Wells", and "That Little Old Log Cabin" in fine style, followed by Brother Nuttal who gave "You'll Remember Me" in a feeling manner. Brother McIntosh gave "The Anchor's Weighed" in an excellent style.

High Chief-Ranger Bingham and other Grand Court officers will be present March 29, on a fraternal visit, and present to the members of Court Plainfield, who won them, the High Court prizes. On that occasion a fine programme of vocal and instrumental music will be given, and at the close a collation will be served.

Plainfield Should Have Some.

Chief Doane, Second Assistant Murray and Driver William Townley of Alert Hose cart of the city fire department, were in New York last week and saw a practical exhibition of the ball nozzle, in which all firemen have taken a great interest. Chief Doane says it is a wonderful invention and would be of great efficacy in fighting big fires, by reason of its throwing a spray over a large surface and with great force. The spray is caused by a little rubber ball in a bell-shaped nozzle, and no amount of pressure will drive it out of place.

Under Bonds to Keep the Peace.

John Durgan, Sr., John Durgan, Jr., Pat Boyle and James Muldowney, who were arrested Monday for disorderly conduct, had a second hearing Saturday before Judge Coddington. Muldowney was discharged as no convincing evidence was presented against him. The other three were held under $200 bonds to keep the peace, no fine being imposed because of their having large families and having been without work for some time.

A Sermon for Firemen.

Rev. C. E. Herring of the First Presbyterian Church has extended to the fire department an invitation through Chief Doane to attend a special sermon for firemen which he will deliver March 24. Chief Doane has sent out notices to all fire companies in both city and borough, and the exempt organization as well, and it is expected they will attend in a body.

Something Should Be Done.

West End merchants are complaining bitterly of the condition of side and crosswalks in that section of the city, on account of the mud through which patrons are compelled to wade in getting to stores.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs and expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

COUNSEL FOR THE MEN.

Dr. Tiffany Preaches an Anniversary Sermon in Grace P. E. Church.

The first anniversary of the Men's Association of Grace P. E. Church was marked last night by a visit from Archdeacon Rev. Dr. Charles C. Tiffany of New York, who delivered a sermon on the necessity of a definite aim in Christian as well as secular life. He said the Lord had aims, and he only accomplished them by tenacity of purpose, for He worked, suffered and was tempted on earth the same as are we of today. If we are to share in any degree His triumphs, we must also share of His sacrifices. True life is not how much we can enjoy, but how much we can do, and thus we must work for our salvation. Definite objects for which to strive, gave Christ victory over temptation; and the object of the Christian should be in not getting for ourselves but doing for others. The secret of eternal joy is to recognize in our daily life something to do for God's kingdom, and attain results in that direction. To work for Him simply to save ourselves is not right; instead, the Christian should go forth and labor as though it was a privilege to be enjoyed.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

John E. Simpson, Jr., of Grove street, moves soon to Brooklyn.

Mrs. T. S. Armstrong has passed the crisis and is steadily gaining.

Mrs. J. S. Cutter of West Front street is visiting relatives in Rahway.

Mrs. Brady is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. H. Bird Elm place.

Miss Kate Suydam of Franklin Park has returned home from her Plainfield visit.

Mrs. W. R. Williams has gone to her old home, Monroe, New York, for a short visit.

Edward Clark sang in the Grace Church choir yesterday afternoon and evening.

Frank VanWinkle and family of Newark visited his mother on Central avenue yesterday.

The Central Avenue Euchre Club will meet tomorrow night at the home of J. M. Whiton.

John J. Sullivan, proprietor of the Shamrock House, is out again after a short illness.

Judge Coddington enjoyed a drive to Elizabeth yesterday afternoon behind his fast steppers.

Theodore Hoffman of New York was the guest of James Love on East Second street yesterday.

F. M. Bacon is gradually improving from the operation performed on an abscess a few days ago.

Miss Maud VanDyke of East Front street has returned from a visit with Washingtonville friends.

Mrs. Sarah Bradshaw of 82 Duer street enjoyed a visit yesterday from her son Robert and wife, of Newark.

Arturio Lee, Spanish correspondent of Charles R. Flint of New York, visited A. E. Stover on East Ninth street yesterday.

Edward Clark sang in the Trinity Reformed church choir yesterday morning, and Mrs. J. C. VanDyke at the evening service.

Henry F. Windham returned ill from a visit to his father in Brooklyn last night, and is confined to his bed with the grip and rheumatism.

The Misses Coward gave a pleasant salmagundi party to a number of their friends at their home on East Front street Saturday evening.

Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will give a reception Thursday afternoon and evening from 2 to 9 at his home, 403 East Second street, to which all are earnestly invited.

Assemblyman Edward Hicks of New Brunswick was a distinguished caller on The Press yesterday. He is one of the brightest and busiest members of the Legislature, and faithful to his constituents.

Miss Biglow chaperoned a party of her music scholars on a visit to New York Saturday, to enjoy "Lohengrin". Those accompanying her were: Miss Middledith, Miss Mabel Force, Miss Maud French, Miss Moore, and Miss Robinson.

The nomination of George H. Hodenpyl, formerly of this city, for the office of township assessor in Summit, is a well-merited honor to one who has shown a most commendable interest in the public affairs of the township during the entire period of his residence in the community.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

CHEERS FOR HEGEMAN.

The Borough's Next Mayor Gets an Ovation.

THEN CAME MUSIC AND A DANCE.

Another Delightful Entertainment for Park Club Members and Their Guests.

The cosy ballroom of the Park Club was filled Saturday evening with members and friends to enjoy another of those delightful entertainments which have afforded so much pleasure during the past season.

The principal entertainers were the Lehigh University Banjo, Guitar and Mandolin Club, of eight pieces composed as follows: C. E. Pettnor, leader, B. G Jones and F. D. Hallock, banjorenes; J. S. Miller, mandolin; William Reinecke, piccolo banjo; J. G. Lehman, bass banjo; E. C. Ferriday and A. B. Jessup, guitars. George O. Stevens and William H. Runyon also contributed to the entertainment in their usual pleasing manner.

B. A. Hegeman, Jr., was given quite an ovation when he arose as master of ceremonies to announce the first number. He doubtless then realized that he was a political candidate. His friends were exulting over his prospects for election, this being their first chance to greet him since he was nominated. The borough's next Mayor received the compliment in as easy and graceful a manner as the most veteran campaigner, which pleased his admirers so much that it was several minutes before quietude reigned.

As an opening Messrs. Runyon and Stevens sang "The Pilot", and as ever the audience gave them enthusiatic reception.

They were followed by the Lehigh Club, who rendered "The Parade of the Guards", which was followed by "Lorenzo" as an encore. Mr Pettnor then sang several comic songs. A guitar and mandolin solo by Messrs. Miller and Pettinor came next, and then a medley from the Princess Bonnie by the club. Will Runyon then told in song what the parrot said when he visited his best girl, what they did at the Irish jubilee, with its yard-long menu, and finished with "Swim Out O'Grady". After a banjo solo Messrs. Runyon and Stevens rendered "The Burial at Sea." "The "Beau Ideal", with the "Cocoanut Dance" finished the music of the club. The last number on the programme was by F. D. Hallock, the only Plainfield member of the Lehigh Club, in which he gave his remarkable imitation of xylophone music by peculiar clucking sounds with the tongue.

At the conclusion of the musical programme the visiting entertainers led a merry dance in the ballroom.

NO SOUL FOR MUSIC.

Somerville's Cop Didn't Like the Melody That Tickled North Plainfield.

Somerville, March 9—The Lehigh University Banjo, Mandolin and Glee Club arrived here this afternoon on the 5 o'clock express, and changed cars to take the local for Plainfield, where they were to play at night. During the 28 minutes wait here, the boys gathered in the main waiting-room of the Jersey Central station, and five of them took out their mandolins and began to play some of their choicest selections.

A crowd gathered to hear the sweet music, when Somerville's boss cop walked into the station and in a loud voice demanded that the disturbance cease. The boys at once stopped playing, much amazed that anyone should think them disturbers of the peace. The crowd talked angrily of the officer after his back was turned.

Giving Her a Chance.

Anna Nelson, who was arrested in Music Hall Saturday afternoon for stealing $7 from her mistress, was released from custody in the evening on her promise to do better and return the $4 which was spent. She stated that some of the money was spent for wearing apparel for her chum Mollie Stevens.

Which Was It?

The first regular meeting of the Rear End Debating Club since the departure of Col. Williams for his southern home, was held yesterday. The discussion was led by Jack Daly, with this subject: "Did 'Doc' Greenwood have the grip, or was it a hand bag?"

—Residents of Pondville found walking difficult going to and from church yesterday, on account of the condition of the streets. In some places the mud was ankle deep.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. B. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

A DRINK OF WHISKEY.

Police Court Has Business This Morning With John Barleycorn Victims.

Robert Wallis, Donald Fitzpatrick and Patrick Cahill all work in the Pond Tool Works. Saturday night Cahill met Wallis and Fitzpatrick and asked them to have a drink of whiskey out of a bottle which he purchased for a Sunday supply. As soon as the invitation was accepted Cahill changed his mind and refused to let them drink.

Such treatment as this angered his friends and to demonstrate their resentment for the discourtesy, they toppled him over into the gutter on Plainfield avenue and pummeled his face so that his features resembled a piece of sirloin steak more than a human being.

Naturally enough Cahill bellowed for help, and he was so successful that Policeman Flynn heard the noise some distance away, and hastened to the scene of the fracas. He arrested the combatants, but Wallis got away, and Fitzpatrick swore that no man could take him in. He was taken in, although it took the efforts of Policemen Flynn and Flanegan to do it. After much trouble the other two were finally collared, and later on released for appearance in police court this morning. Wallis and Fitzpatrick kept their word, but Cahill did not appear, and Policeman Flynn was unable to find him. The first two denied every charge made against them, and as Cahill was not present, Judge Coddington set the examination down for Wednesday afternoon at 8:30.

DREW HIS GUN.

A Boroughite's Plucky Rout of Picton Robbers.

G. L. Douglass, Jr., of North Plainfield, was returning from a drive last night, and passing Picton, the Lehigh Valley station east of Westfield, when two men sprang to the head of his horse and seized the bridle.

"What do you want?"—he cried.

They answered "Money".

"Then take it"—responded Douglass, and drew from his pocket a revolver which he flourished at them.

They ran.

BY THE WAY.

—A. D. Pope has rented H. N. Spencer's house on Emily street.

—The eclipse last night was such a success that it will be repeated Sept. 3.

—Edsall's Commercial Palace enjoyed a brisk trade Saturday night, the grocery department coming in for its full share as usual.

—West Fourth street residents have a novel manner of disposing of ashes, which are dumped in the roadway so as to make crossings for pedestrians.

—The carpenter work on the carriers apartment in the new postoffice will be finished today, and will be ready for occupation the latter part of the week.

—80 boys and 170 men attended the meetings at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday. The addresses by Mr. French and Mr. Taylor were strong and full of interest.

—While driving along West Seventh street this morning Max Newman lost a wheel off his hack by reason of the nut becoming loose. No damage was done.

—Fred Frey of Plainfield avenue is still confined to the hospital suffering from the loss of his two fingers which were caught in the steam press at the Climax Stopper Works.

—Fred Durand, who raised a rumpus at Taylor's music store Friday evening, was arraigned before Judge Coddington Saturday night and sentence was suspended.

—The executive committee of the Christian Endeavor society of the First Baptist Church will meet at the home of Miss Grace Yerkes on West Seventh street Thursday evening.

—Edward Love, corner of North and Watchung avenues, is papering and decorating the house of Arthur L. Titsworth, and papering the house of P. M. French of Somerset street.

—Rev. William Humpston, who has met with great success in other places, will conduct a series of Bible readings in Reform Hall every afternoon of this week, Monday and Saturday excepted, at 3.

—A Gospel service was conducted in the chapel in Garwood, yesterday afternoon, by a few of the Christian Brethren from the Second Street Meeting-room. There was a good attendance, and much interest manifested. The services will be continued Sunday afternoons.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

A union service was held in the Presbyterian Church last night at which Mrs. Ellis, State Secretary of the W. C. T. U., made an address. Mrs. Ellis outlined the work of temperance, and was glad that the law for the teaching of scientific temperance in schools was passed. She hopes it will result in the overthrow of the liquor traffic. The choir rendered some excellent music.

We will not get a new station this year. Houses are scarce in the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Frederick spent a few days last week with friends at Bethlehem.

Adam Dealaman's new gun is the best in the place.

Thomas Todd purchased a horse Saturday and when the roads get good he will enjoy drives to and from his work.

Rev W. C. Kinsey has accepted a call from the Ferry Street M. E. Church of Newark. He leaves here April 1 to enter his new field.

Adam Seader will move into the Kratzer Building April 1.

The canvass for John Sebring of Greenbrook for a member of the Township Committee of Piscataway Township, is being diligently worked by Alex Harris.

Miss Lottie Baily of Pennsylvania is visiting at the home of Mrs. Charles Carpenter.

The gun clubs hold a shoot every Saturday afternoon.

The Junior Society of the Epworth League of the M. E Church will hold an entertainment Friday night.

The business meeting of the Y.P.S.C.E. of the Presbyterian Church will be held on Friday evening of next week, instead of this week as is the usual custom.

Peter Trimmer, who has been indisposed for some time, commenced work this morning.

OBITUARY.

Gustavus William Faber.

Gustavus William Faber, who died suddenly at his home, 430 West Twentieth street, Saturday, was one of New York's oldest merchants. He was born in Hamburg, Germany, in 1823. Coming to the United States at the age of fifteen, his first business connection was with Faber & Bierwirk, foreign commission merchants. In 1848, upon the death of his father, he, with his brother, A. E. Faber of Rockview avenue, North Plainfield, continued the business, which is at 36 Beaver street. Up to the last few years he was much sought after as an administrator of estates. He was father of A. E. Faber, Jr., of Mercer avenue.

He was for many years president of the German Widows and Orphans Society, and senior warden of St. Clement's Church. It was while attending a vestry meeting that he was stricken with apoplexy, which caused his death. In 1853 he married Miss Angelina Barcclough, daughter of the late Alonzo Cushman. His widow, three sons and three daughters survive him.

Mrs. A. W. Anderson.

The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to Dr. A. W. Anderson in the death of his wife, which occurred yesterday afternoon at 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Meeker, East Second street.

She had been an invalid the past two years, and death resulted from consumption.

Since last September she had been staying at Liberty, N. Y., and about a week ago she had a longing to see Plainfield again and, assisted by her husband, made the journey through to this city.

On Saturday she walked about the house, but her strength was failing fast, and the end came soon and peacefully.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2, from the residence of her father-in-law, Robert Anderson, 416 East Second street.

Centralizing Relief Work.

The Relief Association is about to remove from the corner of West Second street and Madison avenue, to the building next door, 305-307 West Second street. It is proposed to establish the Citizens Organized Aid Association in the same quarters and operate both societies under one roof. The proposition is likely to be considered at the meeting of the Organized Aid tonight.

Daily Press Serials.

Nym Crinkle's great story concludes on page 8 today, and will be succeeded by a charming story "Comfort Pease" by Mary Wilkins.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph, druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c.

TURKISH BRUTALITIES.

Further Details of the Butchery of Armenians.

London, March 11.—The Daily Telegraph has a dispatch, which was telegraphed from Kars, saying that a deputation of the survivors of the Sassoun massacre have appeared before the commission of inquiry and have narrated the whole story of the butchery. They presented a written statement of which the Telegraph will print a copy. The statement mentions that the cross and a bible were flung at the feet of an Armenian priest, who was ordered to trample on them. He refused, and thereupon, the Turkish soldiers gouged out his eyes and flung him into a pit with others who were dying. Of the 300 persons who were taken at the same time with the priest, only one, a merchant named Avak, escaped. He saved himself in an almost miraculous manner. The correspondent says that the statement has impressed the delegates powerfully, but does not mention the day on which it was presented. Another dispatch, dated at Kars, gives the testimony of Kurds who saw Turkish soldiers take children by the feet and dash them against stones. "A Turkish soldier," says the dispatch, "bound an old Armenian, head downward, to some branches and slowly cut his throat with an axe. The same Kurds saw the soldiers take pregnant women, offer bets on the sex of the children, and then cut the women open. The money was paid to the man who guessed correctly."

FIENDISH MOTHER.

Murders Her Children and Plots To Elope.

Paris, Texas, March 11.—Mrs. Mary Caruthers and James Strange are under arrest here charged with the murder of the woman's two children aged four and one years. Strange was a farm hand employe of Caruthers who lives 20 miles south of Paris. About 9 o'clock Friday night Mrs. Caruthers went to her room, which the children also occupied. Yesterday morning when Caruthers awoke he heard heavy breathing in his wife's room and entered it to learn the cause. There he found his two little boys in a deep stupor, from which he was unable to awaken them. Medical aid was summoned, but they both died at four o'clock. Mrs. Caruthers at first stated that she gave them some chill tonic, but the woman later confessed that she had tried to kill them all, declaring that she did so to get them out of their trouble and said that it was her intention to kill herself. She said that it was the fourth time she had attempted to kill them. Letters and other evidence in the possession of the officers show that there was a conspiracy between her and Strange to murder the children and leave the country. She is about 25 years of age and fairly good looking, while he is about 30 and uncouth. Enroute here the woman made a desperate effort to leap from the train but was prevented by the guard.

ECLIPSE OF THE MOON.

Favorable View of the Occurrence at New York.

New York, March 11.—The eclipse of the moon was plainly visible in this city Sunday night. The night was clear and propitious to the occasion. The centre of the moon's disk was of a blood-like red color, while toward the periphery the normal pale yellow color was unchanged. The moon seemed set in a deep sea of blackness, extending for a considerable distance around it, beyond which patches of clouds, like huge snow drifts, floated around in strange contrast. After 10 o'clock the moon was, at short intervals, totally obscured from view, then segmental portions of it were suddenly revealed again. Viewed with the naked eye the eclipse presented the appearance of a concentrated dark cloud, cone-shaped, pointing towards the moon's centre. The head of the cone seemed to open and close as if performing a suction process and in apparent efforts to tear itself away from a fixed position suddenly. The celestial spectacle was witnessed by many persons who assembled in the City Hall park, though the hundreds of persons who thronged the Brooklyn bridge had the vantage ground for viewing the various phases of the strange scene. No scientific observations of the eclipse were made at the weather bureau.

Big Steel Contract.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 11.—The contract for the steel work for the first section of the Boston subway, through which electric cars will run, was let to the Pennsylvania Steel company, of Steelton, Pa. The company have made extensive preparations at their plant which will enable them to roll the large eye beams included in the contract, and which hitherto have been made by only one mill in the country. The first section of the subway will be two thousand feet long under Boston Common and will contain two million pounds of steel. This contract will keep the Steelton mills busy nearly all summer.

The Story Exaggerated.

Boston, March 11.—Sixty-six Italians who have been employed on the grade construction of the South Shore railroad, in Nova Scotia, have arrived here on the steamer Boston. A reporter visited the steamer after her arrival and ascertained that the riot in camp was exaggerated in the published report. It was learned that the sudden return of the Italians was mainly due to a desire to obtain work where the labor is light and the wages better.

Death from Hydrophobia.

Reading, Pa., March 11.—Mrs. Susan Dautich, aged 60 years, who was bitten by a dog five weeks ago, died with all the symptoms of hydrophobia. She was seized with spasms on Thursday and it was necessary to keep her under the influence of opiates. At times she would bark like a dog, and went into convulsions at the sight of water.

Boom at Bethlehem.

Bethlehem, Pa., March 11.—The largest steel mill of the Bethlehem Iron Company will resume operations today on a twelve thousand ton order for a Georgia railroad. Fifteen hundred idle workmen will be given employment.

Mexican Revolutionist Killed.

Panama, March 11.—A dispatch from Colon says Catarino Garzo, the Mexican revolutionist, has been killed.

POLITE BUT POINTED

How Japan Turned Down China's Peace Envoys.

Intimation That the Chinese Messengers Were Given Limited Authority for a Purpose—Outspoken Charges of Duplicity—Japan Willing To Entertain Sincere Overtures.

London, March 11.—The full text of all the protocols and other correspondence in connection with the recent abortive peace propositions of China to Japan has been received here. The documents were laid before the Japanese parliament on the 5th of February last and have been translated into English and printed for the information of foreign governments. They are quite interesting. The last but one of the series is perhaps the most explanatory and fully discloses the attitude of Japan toward China. It consists of a translation of a speech addressed by Count Ito, the Japanese plenipotentiary, to Chang In Hoon and Shao Yu Lien, the Chinese peace commissioners, at a conference held on the 2d of February, 1895.

Count Ito spoke as follows: "The measure which my colleague and myself find it necessary at this moment to adopt, is the logical and inevitable result of a situation for which we are in nowise responsible. China has hitherto held herself almost entirely aloof from other powers and while she has in some instances enjoyed the advantages accruing to her as a member of the family of nations, she has perhaps more frequently denied the responsibilities of that relation. She has pursued a policy of isolation and distrust and consequently her external relations have not been characterized by that frankness and good faith which are essential to good neighborhood.

"Instances are not wanting in which Chinese commissions, after having formally agreed to international compacts, have refused to affix their seals, and cases might be cited in which treaties solemnly concluded have been unceremoniously and without apparent reason, repudiated. Those unfortunate occurrences find a sufficient explanation in the fact that China was not on those occasions seriously in earnest, but beyond that it might be said with truth, that the officials who were designated to carry on negotiations had not been clothed with the necessary authority for the purpose.

"It has from the first been the wish of Japan to avoid results which history teaches her are liable to be the outcome of negotiations with Chinese officials who are not clothed with full power in the sense in which that term is usually understood. Consequently the imperial government made it a condition precedent to any peace negotiations, that the Chinese plenipotentiaries should be furnished with full powers to conclude peace, and it was only upon receiving positive assurances from the Chinese government that that condition precedent had been complied with and that the Chinese plenipotentiaries were on their way to Japan, that his majesty, the emperor of Japan, conferred upon my colleague and myself full powers to conclude and sign preliminaries of peace, with the plenipotentiaries of China. That your excellencies' powers are, notwithstanding that assurance, fatally defective is to me a sure indication that the government of China is not yet really solicitous for peace.

"While Japan has found no reason to approach China on the subject of peace, she nevertheless feels bound in deference to that civilization which she represents, to listen to any bona fide overtures which China may advance, but she will decline to take part in the future in any fruitless negotiations or to become a party to a paper peace. The terms which Japan agrees to will be scrupulously observed by her and she will at the same time insist upon a like observance of the terms by China.

"Whenever, therefore, China finds herself seriously and sincerely desirous of peace and will confide actual full powers to Chinese officials whose names and positions will serve as an assurance that the terms which they may agree to will be confirmed and carried out in good faith, Japan will be prepared to enter upon new negotiations."

Daring Burglars.

Erie, Pa., March 11.—Burglars made a desperate attempt to loot the banking house of R. S. Battles, in Girard, near this city at an early hour. They entered a library building adjoining the bank and dug a hole through the wall but failed to strike the vault. Their next attack was on the wall at the side of the vault with dynamite. When the bank officials reached the building the robbers were within a brick of the interior of the vault. A brisk fight and hurried retreat got the burglars to a passing train on which they escaped.

Hayward's Case.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 11.—The Hayward trial is still occupying public attention to a very large extent. The chances of an order for a new trial from the supreme court are being discussed and there is a very general opinion that the verdict will stand. After the jury had been discharged, Judge Seagrave Smith, who presided at the trial, told the jurors that he thought their verdict a righteous one, and that had he been a juror himself it would have been the verdict he would have been constrained to render.

Hazle Mine Fire.

Hazleton, Pa., March 11.—The fire which started some weeks ago in the Hazle Mine and for a time threatened the destruction of the colliery, is still burning, but the flames have been so surrounded and confined that it is only a question of a short time before they will be either extinguished or completely under control.

Ago her Elbe Victim.

London, March 11.—The skipper of a trawler that arrived at Lowestoft, reports that he raised in his net a decomposed body which was identified by papers on it as that of Matzan Vanezas, who went down with the steamship Elbe.

PASTOR DIXON RESIGNS.

The Noted Preacher Will Start an Independent Church.

New York, March, 11.—For a long time past there have been dissensions among the members of the Twenty-third Street Baptist church, due to the objection of the more conservative members of the congregation to the "sensational" character of the sermons preached during the last five years by the pastor, Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr.

Yesterday Mr. Dixon announced his determination to sever his connection with the church and to found a new one on a broad and popular platform, and instead of speaking on "Spectacle Versus Sensation," in reply to the exceptions of "An old fashioned clergyman," as announced, Mr. Dixon read his resignation to his congregation, many portions of which were loudly applauded by the votaries of the retiring pastor.

In referring briefly to the circumstances which prompted his resignation Mr. Dixon said:—"My action is not one of sudden impulse and has no reference whatever to things that have happened within a year. I determined upon it over a year ago, but found it impossible to carry out my wish because the church was then encumbered with financial debt. I feel now relieved from that obligation of delay. The utmost good will prevails between myself and the officials and trustees of the church. I shall establish a new church. There will be only one creed in it; belief in the Lord Jesus Christ. I believe it to be a more important part of my lifework to lift many men out of the ditch than to spend my time in making a few men Baptists."

QUIET IN CUBA.

The Alleged Revolution Has About Petered Out.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 11.—A special to the Times Union from Port Tampa, Fla., says: The steamer Olivette arrived with advices from Cuba up to 1 o'clock Saturday. La Lucha, of Havana, publishes an interview with Consul General Williams, in which that gentleman denies any knowledge of a request on the part of the Spanish government for his recall. General Williams states very emphatically that his duty is to protect American citizens and their property and that he will do so at all hazards. From statements made by a half score of well informed passengers the so-called revolution has about petered out. Last Tuesday the government issued a proclamation granting amnesty to all who laid down their arms and took the oath of allegiance within eight days. All but about 200 of the insurgents have done so and these are divided into two bands under the leadership of two negro brothers named Santurius, who are operating near Santiago, burning plantation buildings and raiding stores belonging to those not in sympathy with their cause. The insurgents about Matanzas who were under the leadership of a Cuban doctor and Guarberto Gonez, of Cuba, who has terrorized the Island for seven years, has demoralized the bandits, who are surrendering under the amnesty pardon.

ORIZABA IN ERUPTION.

Dangerous Activity of a Famous Mexican Volcano.

St. Louis, March 11.—A special to a morning paper from Cordoba, state of Vera Cruz, Mexico, says: The peak of Orizaba, an ancient volcano, is in a state of eruption. The signs of disturbance began to manifest themselves last Sunday night, and have increased in force constantly since that time. It is now vomiting poisonous gases and thick volumes of smoke are emitted from 100 apertures in its maw. The earth for 100 miles around is shaken periodically with subterranean vibrations. For the public safety the governor of the state of Vera Cruz will shortly name a commission of scientists to make an investigation into the eruption, and to make recommendations looking to the protection of the inhabitants of the neighboring villages. The present eruption is in the heart of the best improved coffee districts in Mexico, where are located many Americans. Masses are being said in all the churches of the locality to ward off the impending danger.

Whiskey Trust.

Albany, March 11.—The reorganization plan of the Distilling and Cattle-feeding company is published in the Albany papers. The plan as announced is in marked contrast to the proposition for a reorganization which emanated from President Greenhut and which was submitted to the Albany stockholders for their opinion. It was here at Albany, when this proposition was made, that the agitation was started which resulted in the upheaval which has changed the management of the property. The stock owned here is held largely by those in the whiskey trade and these as well as other owners of the stock in this vicinity unanimously endorse the protective committee's call, and will deposit their stock at once with the Manhattan Trust company.

Swallowed Money and Died.

Fall River, Mass., March 11.—Patrick Sullivan, aged 59 years, met with death from an extraordinary cause. About 9 o'clock he went to bed with three pieces of money in his mouth. When his wife went to awaken him in the morning, his body was cold and he had probably been dead for some hours. The medical examiner was called and it was found that Sullivan had swallowed a half dollar, a quarter dollar and a nickel.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

PROOF IS POSITIVE

THAT LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Is Daily Curing Backache, Dizziness, Faintness, Irregularity, and all Female Complaints.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Intelligent women no longer doubt the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It speedily relieves irregularity, suppressed or painful menstruations, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, leucorrhœa, womb trouble, flooding, nervous prostration, headache, general debility, etc. Symptoms of

Womb Troubles

are dizziness, faintness, extreme lassitude, "don't care," and "want to be left alone" feelings, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy, or the "blues," and backache. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all this trouble as sure as the sun shines. That causing pain, weight, and backache, is instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it acts in perfect harmony with the laws that govern the female system, is as harmless as water. It is wonderful for Kidney Complaints in either sex.

Bearing-Down Feeling,

Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills work in unison with the Compound, and are a sure cure for constipation and sick-headache. Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash is frequently found of great value for local application. Correspondence is freely solicited by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., and the strictest confidence assured. All druggists sell the Pinkham remedies. The Vegetable Compound in three forms,—Liquid, Pills, and Lozenges.

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE,
CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS
Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 75 Grandview ave. L. C. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,
MASON AND CONTRACTOR.
Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 8 28 3

JOHN P. EMMONS
—Mason and Builder.—
Washington avenue and Prospect place, NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Jobbing promptly attended to 11 24 tf

PEARSON & GAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St. H. B Gayle, No. 13 Vine St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO 7-21-tf

JOHN T. ODAM
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
Slate Roofer and Repairer
Residence, cor. Arlington ave. and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J. New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 8 20 3

GEO. W. STUDER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
985 ARLINGTON AVENUE.
Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to. Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,
21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.
E. H. McCullough, Proprietor.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 4-11-1

C. W. LINES,
Mason and Builder.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence—118 Liberty street.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to 12 46

Jno. J. Shotwell,
Wood Mantels,
Tiles and Fire Place Furnishings.
221 Park avenue, upstairs. 3 5 tf

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION
is called to the
Home Department
of Rockview School, 317 East Front street.
Children received from
4 to 15 Years.
Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.

Miss Fawcett's School,
25 Washington Ave.
Department for boys to the age of 12.
" girls and kindergarten.
Girls prepared for college.
Re-opened September 13.

CODDINGTON'S
FURNITURE AND FREIGHT
EXPRESS.
OFFICES—36 West Front street; 69 Park avenue Post Office Box 239.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large covered trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 11 17

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B C F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,
Prescription Druggist,
143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats, Dress Shirts, Gloves and Neckwear

U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,
120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat.

or over, one pair 5cc Suspenders. One week only.

E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,

177 North Avenue.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,

for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.

The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.

Corner Park avenue and Front street.

SHAD!

Rogers
232 W. 2d. St.

106 East Front Street— NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.

Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c	Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
" Oolong tea	30c	Can peas, early June	8c
" Young Hyson tea	40c	Can corn, fine goods	8c
" Japan tea	40c	Fine butter	24c
XX soda crackers	4½c	Ground coffee	17½c
Ginger snaps	5½c	Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Nic-nac crackers	6c	Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
California peaches	17c can	" Rio coffee	24c
		Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented. H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement For walls and ceilings.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue. Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager
Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.
1 14 tf

IS IT THE END?

A Time of Great Mortality.

Especially Noticeable in Children.—Will Man Cease to Exist?—Can the "Omega" be Averted?

Why is it, with our improved sanitary appliances, our care to obtain fresh air, pure food, and plenty of exercise, the observance, in fact, of every hygienic law, that in spite of every care each succeeding generation seems to become weaker and shorter lived? Is it that we are now suffering for indiscretions of our ancestors, or is that terrible, unknown end of man at hand?

Whatever the cause, the existing condition of things is too apparent. Especially is this noticeable with he babies. Instead of the mother's life-giving milk, they are compelled to begin a struggle for existence with the bottle. The result in many cases is disastrous. The little one, failing to obtain necessary nourishment, grows weaker daily, until death ends the struggle. The end in these cases is Simply Starvation.

With this termination so often the case, the best physicians of the day have resorted to the use of Bovinine, that great and original raw food product, as a means to save the babies.

In this connection Dr. A. B. Robinson, 61 Dudley St., Boston, after commending Bovinine most highly for various complications where the waste of disease must be checked, and new blood, flesh, and strength created to effect a cure, says ncerning this life-creating preparation, With feeble, bottle-fed babies, a small mount added to the milk has in my ractice saved many children."

Bovinine is not a medicine, but a life-maintaining, flesh, bone, and blood-making preparation that contains the greatest amount of nourishment in the least possible bulk.

Give it to the little ones while there is still hope. Your physician, if you ask him, will recommend it, and you will bless the results obtained forever.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE IS THE BEST.

FIT FOR A KING.

$5. CORDOVAN, FRENCH & ENAMELLED CALF.

$4. $3.50 FINE CALF & KANGAROO.

$3.50 POLICE, 3 SOLES.

$2.50 $2. WORKINGMEN'S. EXTRA FINE.

$2. $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.

LADIES.

$3. $2.50 $2. $1.75

BEST DONGOLA.

SEND FOR CATALOGUE. W. L. DOUGLAS, BROCKTON, MASS.

Over One Million People wear the

W. L. Douglas $3 & $4 Shoes

All our shoes are equally satisfactory

They give the best value for the money.
They equal custom shoes in style and fit.
Their wearing qualities are unsurpassed.
The prices are uniform,—stamped on sole.
From $1 to $3 saved over other makes.
If your dealer cannot supply you we can. Sold by

A. WILLETT & SON.

A LADY'S TOILET

Is not complete without an ideal

COMPLEXION POWDER.

POZZONI'S

Combines every element of beauty and purity. It is beautifying, soothing, healing, healthful, and harmless, and when rightly used is invisible. A most delicate and desirable protection to the face in this climate.

Insist upon having the genuine.

IT IS FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held March 4, 1895, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, March twenty-fifth, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 25, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council March 4, 1895, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000, payable to the treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

1,067 feet 24 inch pipe sewer,
2,284 feet 12 " "
4,925 feet 10 " "
80,605 feet 8 " "
108 feet 8 to 12 inch cast iron pipe sewer,
116 manholes,
28 drop connections at manholes,
179 lampholes,
68 flush tanks,
4,141 Y branches,
875 extension connections on Y branches,
5,735 feet underdrains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposals, specifications, contract, bond, &c., may be obtained at the office of A. J. Gavett, constructing engineer, No. 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MACMURRAY,
City Clerk.

J. W. VAN SICKLE,

Dealer in all kinds of

Fresh and Salt Meats

GAME IN SEASON,

New No. 132, North Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

Telephone 148 B. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

MISSIONS IN DANGER

How Christians Are Treated in Darkest China.

Missionaries at the Mercy of a Mob. Threats of Violence and Robbery. Bravery of Friendly Natives—Tardy Protection by the Military—Satisfactory Assurances by Authorities.

Boston, March 11.—Since the Japanese-Chinese war began, numerous dispatches have been received relating to possible attacks on American Congregational missionaries. Such an attack as was feared has been made on the missionaries of the American board and an account of it has been received from the Rev. James H. Roberts, of Kalgan, who was in Paotingfu, the scene of the mob. Mr. Roberts writes: On Wednesday, Jan. 2, some soldiers who were here in Paotingfu, on their way from the southern or western provinces to the seat of war, entered the street chapel of the Presbyterians while Rev. Joseph Walter Lowrie was preaching, knocked over the benches, tried to get his watch and spectacles, and seemed ready to make an attack upon his person, when an outcry in the street, either a street fight, providentially occurring, or a call to others to come and join the fracas in the chapel, led the soldiers to run out into the street, and Mr. Lowrie closed the chapel. The mob raged outside the door till sunset, but could not get in. Those soldiers went on their journey the next day but the city roughs evidently planned to plunder our houses when more soldiers should come, for on the arrival of a few thousand soldiers on Friday noon they promptly paid us a visit, and were extremely menacing and insolent awaiting an opportunity to plunder the mission houses. Among them were ten or more women. One of them, on being asked why she was standing there, replied that she had heard that our houses were about to be pulled to pieces, and she did not know but that she might get something. There were many young men in the crowd, mostly with dissipated and villainous looks—some of them well dressed. Of these last, some were heard to say that the destruction of these mission houses cannot be postponed any longer, and that they would upset Dr. Noble's cart the next time he should go into the city. Soon afterward word came that the general had come to the south suburb. The soldiers all started to leave. It was growing dark, and that is the time of day when Chinese mobs generally end. All through the afternoon we had longed for sunset and darkness, to end the trouble. But a new danger arose, as the soldiers, who had been guarding the gate, started to go, and the city mob could see that we were helpless against them. Then a native preacher named Kao Jung, who had come from the country just in time to help us, told the soldiers that if the mob should steal anything, the soldiers would be held responsible. The latter had wooden clubs in their hands. They asked Mr. Kao "shall we beat them?" to which he answered, "yes." Then they gave it to the city fellows right and left, knocking them down, drawing blood from some of them, and clearing the street with wonderful quickness. After their supper, three soldiers came and guarded our gate till late at night, and the civil officers sent men to fire guns around our premises, to warn all persons that these places were under the protecting care of our Mighty Father in Heaven; else we, and all that we had, would have been wiped out clean, during that terrible afternoon. After the excitement subsided, a nervous reaction took place, which made some of us sick and miserable all the next day. We were more exhausted than we had supposed.

On Sunday, the governor of the county came to see us in person, which, to the Chinese mind, is a great honor to us, and assured us we should have no trouble in the future. Whenever any more troops come, he will promptly order their general to forbid their coming to our residences, or molesting us in any way. He has called the lower officials of the city and given them strict orders to suppress any rising of the people. He tells us to go about our work as usual, and have no fear, but not expose ourselves unnecessarily on the streets when soldiers are in town. Yet we are not on this account to desist from going to the street, chapels and hospitals. He has also issued a proclamation perfectly satisfactory to us, copies of which are posted in front of both our city and suburban premises. We could not have worded the proclamation better for our own interests if we had written it ourselves. Evidently the governor is determined to do everything he can for our safety. On Monday a still higher official called to see us, the governor of the department consisting of twenty-three counties. He visited each of our houses, talking in a most friendly way and assuring us of protection and safety. Both he and the governor of the county went into the chapel and read the ten commandments on the chapel in large, handsome characters. The governor of the department then asked me—"Is that the kind of doctrine you teach?" I said "Yes," and he said, "That is good." His younger brother, his assistant in office, called the next day, with two of the governor's sons. After all that happened, we all feel that we are safer now than we would be if the trouble had not occurred.

Massachusetts Weavers' Union.

Fall River, Mass., March 11.—Representatives of the weavers of New Bedford, Fall River and Clinton met here and made preparations for formal organization of a state union. Temporary officers were elected.

Plankinton Bank.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 11.—Judge Johnson has decided to appoint a receiver for the defunct Plankinton bank to collect from the stockholders a sum equal to the amount of their capital stock.

Lord Rosebery Better.

London, March 11.—Lord Rosebery is gaining strength.

PREMIUM ON MURDER

Evils of the Industrial Insurance System.

Babies Insured and Put Out of the Way To Secure Money on the Policies—Connecticut Officials Investigating the Iniquitous Scheme—Dishonest Companies.

New Haven, March 11.—City Attorney Fox, of this city, has called the attention of Insurance Commissioner Mansfield to a practice, on part of certain life insurance companies, which he believes to be full of danger. The insurance companies in question are those which conduct what are known as "industrial departments." Mr. Fox laid some startling facts before the commissioner and urged him to consider the advisability of securing legislation whereby poor people who take out these small policies on weekly payments may be protected from loss and deception.

Mr. Fox had one New York company, which does a large business in this state, in mind when he went before the commissioner. Numerous complaints have been made to the city attorney of methods of this particular company and it has been charged that the company has refused to pay policies on the merest pretext. The city attorney has been informed that the policy issued and complained of were issued without medical examination. These policies have been issued on children and aged people and in many cases parties have been insured by others in no way related to them, but who enter into the arrangement as a sort of speculation. Commissioner Hansfield will take some steps to bring about a change in the present system of industrial insurance. One of the most telling arguments brought to bear on Commissioner Mansfield was the danger of crime resulting from companies insuring babies. Mr. Fox is satisfied from facts in his possession that in many cases babies, who have been insured, have been put out of the way in order that the parents might secure the insurance money. Cases of of this nature have come to the attention of Mr. Fox, but in none of them could the evidence be gathered sufficint to warrant a prosecution for murder.

NINE MINERS ENTOMBED.

Fatal Result of Mine Fire in New Mexico.

Socerro, N. M., March 11.—The shaft house of the Old Abe mine at White Oaks, Lincoln county, caught fire, and in a few moments the flames were communicated to the shafting of the mine which was completely destroyed. Nine men were in the mine at the time, only one of them, G. F. Wilkinson, escaped. The others are supposed to be dead, as there is but slight possibility that they escaped suffocation. Those imprisoned are Charles S. Herrick, F. K. Williams, George Bawter, John Davis, Frederick White, W. B. Mitchell, Frank Wilson and J. Conover. Wilkinson was in the cage at the time the fire broke out and escaped through the air shaft. The others were in the lower levels and had no chance to make their way out. It will be impossible for a rescuing party to enter the mine for at least twenty-four hours.

MAY REVEAL A MURDER.

Body of an Unknown Man Found in the Passaic River.

Passaic, N. J., March 11.—The body of an unknown man which was found in the river here yesterday, may reveal a murder. The man's head was crushed and there are indications that robbery was the motive of the supposed crime.

Nothing of value was found in the pockets. There was a piece of broken watch chain hanging from the vest, but no watch. The body had been in the water for some time, and the police think it is that of a man who disappeared from one of the hotels a few weeks ago after hiring a horse and buggy. The vehicle was found near the river that night.

Gentry in Prison.

Philadelphia, March 11.—James B. Gentry, the actor who shot and killed Madge Yorke, four weeks ago, and who has since been in the German hospital suffering from the injuries he received and the exposure he endured while trying to escape after his crime, has so far recovered that he was removed to the county prison. Gentry is still so weak that he could not walk alone to the ambulance that took him to the prison, but he is out of danger of dying from the illness that prostrated him. Gentry was greatly effected when told he was to be taken to prison and could with difficulty control himself when borne out of the hospital.

Brave Seamen Rewarded.

New York, March 11.—There was an interesting event on the saloon deck of the big steamship Teutonic when her commander, Captain John G. Cameron, presented medals to the six men who comprised the crew of the lifeboat that went to the rescue and saved he lives of nine men, the crew of the foundering schooner Jessie Reeves in midocean, on Feb. 8 last.

Arms for China.

New Haven, Conn., March 11.—The Winchester Repeating Arms company shipped 2,000,000 cartridges to the Chinese government. Since the beginning of the hostilities the company has shipped 20,000 stand of arms to China, and is now working on an additional cartridge order for that government.

Baltic Canal.

Berlin, March 11.—The preparations for the opening of the North Sea and Baltic canal are on a grand scale. The activity all along the line from Kiel tot the North sea shows that the emperor intends to celebrate the occasion with a series of splendid fetes lasting a week.

Haverhill Strike Off.

Haverhill, Mass., March 11.—The striking shoemakers held a meeting in Lafayette hall, and voted 196 to 194 to declare the strike off and to return to work.

KOT AFTER PARKHURST

Strong Resentment in the New York Presbytery.

That Dignified Body Unwilling To Be Called a Tool of Tammany Hall—Complicated Proceedings May Arise from an Attempt To Dispose of an Ancient Church.

New York, March 11.—Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst is to be the subject of special attention by the New York presbytery and in a manner that may lead to proceedings as complicated and prolonged as those that originated exactly four years ago in the name of Charles A. Briggs. Plans are now forming to give Dr. Parkhurst a scorching over the coals of criticism respecting his conduct towards brethren in the ministry. If these plans are followed out, as they give promise of being, there is likely to be as great public interest in the proceedings of the Presbyterian church for the next few years, as was created by Dr. Parkhurst's friend and sympathizer, Dr. Briggs. Trouble has been preparing for Dr. Parkhurst ever since his strictures uttered in the pulpit and published in the New York Tribune, upon the financial integrity and business honor of the New York presbytery in relation to the sale of the abandoned Church of Sea and Land. The particular remark of Dr. Parkhurst on this subject, at which umbrage was taken by the New York ministers is thus quoted:

"You know that I have been extolled by my brethren of the New York presbytery, but I tell you that I am prepared to fight Tammany wherever I find it,"—meaning that the ubiquitous influence of Tammany hall had asserted itself against him to such an extent as to cause the New York presbytery to violate its solemn engagements in order to subvert the influence of Dr. Parkhurst and his church in Madison square. Dr. Parkhurst may have an opportunity to explain this and other like remarks on the same subject in speaking to resolutions which will probably be offered when the presbytery assembles in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church.

Cause of the Trouble.

This trouble has grown out of the proposed sale of the ancient church-building at the south-west corner of Market and Henry street in the Seventh ward of this city. This church was built by Col. Henry Rutgers nearly a century ago when the Seventh ward was a farm land, and was presented by him to the Dutch church. It was organized as an independent church by Dr. Milledeler and Dr. Kuypers in 1809 and maintained for many years under the name of the Market Street Dutch Reformed Protestant church. Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler, now of Brooklyn, was the last of a long line of famous preachers who occupied the pulpit. He left because the church session would not remove the church plant to an uptown site. Howard Crosby grew up from childhood under its influence, and Dr. Charles A. Briggs, while employed as a cooper in the second-hand barrel yard along the East river front, went to its Sunday school. When the Market Street Dutch church disbanded the building was sold to H. K. Corning, who organized a Presbyterian church for sailors under the name of "Sea and Land." Mr. Corning willed the church on his death to the New York presbytery to be maintained by that body as long as deemed advisible. Two years ago Dr. Sproul, the last pastor, was released by the presbytery on the passage of a resolution that a Presbyterian church was no longer necessary in that locality. Dr. Parkhurst undertook to continue services there at the charge of the Madison Square church after Dr. Sproul's departure under an arrangement with the presbytery, and he now lays claim to the church as a proper and permanent mission station of the Madison Square church. Notwithstanding this claim, the presbytery has resolved to dispose of the property and to divert a part of the proceeds to other uses. Dr. Parkhurst charges that this resolution is in violation of the contracts and agreements of the presbytery and that the proceedings by which it was reached are characterized by methods that would not be tolerated in Wall street or in any respectable business house in America. The public knows nothing of these proceedings, as they have all been transacted behind the closed doors of the presbytery. Dr. Parkhurst, however, has vented his criticisms in a public manner, and he has chosen to center his criticism about himself giving the impression that the actuating force in the presbytery was the dreadful power of Tammany hall. It is upon these premises that action in the presbytery will be based. Attempts will probably be made to swing open the doors, so that what goes on when the resolutions are proposed may be made known to the public.

Possible Result.

By reason of Dr. Parkhurst's singular fame as a leader in New York city social and political reform, a movement has arisen in the west to make him the moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly. The recent vote of approval of his extraordinary course in New York by the New York presbytery, is regarded as a first step in that direction. It is believed that Dr. Parkhurst's nomination would awaken an enthusiasm at Pittsburg that would beat down the old barriers of Briggs and Anti-Briggs which have now stood for three successive general assemblies, and cause his unanimous election as moderator. What effect the proposed action of the New York presbytery will have on the plans would seem to depend upon the adoption or rejection of the resolutions of censure which are to be offered in his name.

Honors to Bismarck.

Berlin, March 11.—It is announced that Prince Bismarck will receive the commanders of the German army corps at Friedrichruh on April 1. On April 5 a deputation of college teachers will present to him a collection of the exercise books used by him during his schooldays at the Berlin College of Grey Cloisters.

CURE THAT COUGH WITH SHILOH'S CURE

TAKE THE BEST

25cts., 50cts. and $1.00 Bottle. One cent a dose.

THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures where all others fail. Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough and Asthma. For Consumption it has no rival; has cured thousands, and will cure YOU if taken in time. Sold by Druggists on a guarantee. For a Lame Back or Chest, use SHILOH'S BELLADONNA PLASTER. 25c.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY.

Have you Catarrh? This remedy is guaranteed to cure you. Price 50cts. Injector free.

Sold by all druggists.

8 16 y

M. M. DUNHAM,

Real Estate and Insurance.

7 East Front Street.

Prof. A. Wehner,

TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.

ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.
References given and required.
Address letters to the office of this paper.
1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new

SPALDING

FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new

'95 Spalding Cyclometer

FREE.

W. H. ROGERS,

408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD

Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial Parlor, 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty. 10 19 t

The Perfect Water Heater.

Sold by

DAVID T. KENNEY.

Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.

196 North Ave., opp. Railroad Station

E. H. HOLMES,

DEALER IN

COAL and WOOD,

YARD—No. 208 Madison Avenue. Also Office for coal orders, with Woolston & Buckle 145 North Avenue.

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR

SOLID SILVER SPOONS.

COLLIER'S,

103 PARK AVENUE.

ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S

MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,

SOMERSET STREET.

OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING TYPEWRITER

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.

It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.

It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.

These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.

The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.

Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,

307 Broadway, New York.

1 5 6m

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL ALBION,

OPEN FOR GUESTS

Park avenue and 8th street.

The Finderne,

FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.

Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.

HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.

(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30) Steam heat; inclosed plazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.

A. E. WHITE, Manager,
Finderne, N. J.
1 d tf

HOTEL GRENADA,

North Avenue.

Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.

6-12-t

CITY HOTEL.

Plainfield, N. J.

COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.

J. R. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.

With stables attached. 467

IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER

On draught at

CHARLES SMITH'S

Sample and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST.

The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian, Dark and the St. Louis.

Ballantine's Ales also on draught The Indian Pale XXX Stiff Ale and Porter.

A full assortment of Stationery!

AT

HARPER'S,

411 Park ave.

$500 DOWN

Buys One of These New Houses

on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

Mrs. L. Adams,

111 East Front St., Under 1st National Bank.

is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.

BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

F. A. DUNHAM.

Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 109 Park avenue. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas.

Real Estate Insurance
VAN BUREN & TIMPSON.
163 North ave. Plainfield, N. J.

REMOVAL.

I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to

142 North Avenue

Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.

CALEB DICKINSON

AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE
For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Bad Complexion, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.
R-I-P-A-N-S TABULES
act gently yet promptly. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
Price 5 cents a box. Address
RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., N.Y.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,

Real Estate and Insurance,

197 North ave. 10 1 tf

H. Eggerding,

121 PARK AVENUE.

Manufacturer of the celebrated;

C. O. D. CIGAR

The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 2 11 y

Jones & Co., Excavators.

Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.

JONES & CO.

Cesspools built, 9 18

FISCHER PIANOS.

ESTABLISHED 1840.

Nearly 100,000 Now In Use.

RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARD, WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO.

EASY TERMS.—EXCHANGED.

Catalogue mailed on application.

110 FIFTH AVE., cor. 16th St., N. Y.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.

WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 11, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

PARTICULAR MENTION

J. P. Powers was in Trenton today.

H. G. Runkle and family are in Lakewood.

H. S. Clarke of Newark spent Saturday in town.

C. B. Morris of Newark was in town yesterday.

F. H. Andrews and family left Saturday for Atlantic City.

Mrs. W. H. Montfort of Somerset street is ill with bronchitis.

Mrs. J. Parker Mason has returned from a visit to Worcester.

Mrs. D. I. Smalley is improving from an attack of the grip.

Joseph Blatz of Somerset street is ill at his home with the grip.

J. VanEps and family visited friends in Bound Brook yesterday.

Alonzo Ayers expects to be out in a few days after a long illness.

Isaac W. Pangborn is seriously ill at his home on Rockview avenue.

Ellis P. Eddy of 210 Muhlenberg place is suffering from a painful illness.

Charles Palmer of East Third street is ill at his home with scarlet rash.

R. H. Travis of Poughkeepsie is visiting J. E. Townsend of Craig place.

Miss Helen Pfender of East Fifth street is detained at her home by illness.

Miss Josie Fritz of Washingtonville has fully recovered from a recent illness.

Miss Nettie Randall is convalescent from a six-weeks illness with the grip.

George Scribner will entertain a few friends at his home tomorrow evening.

H. G. Dunbar left yesterday for a visit with relatives in Orange County, New York.

Mrs. Alex Fisk is much improved in health, so as to be able to be about the house.

Miss Alice Bolton of West Farms, N.Y., is visiting Miss Maud Lord of Belvidere avenue.

George Stagaard of East Front street returned Saturday from a visit to Perth Amboy.

Miss M. G. Morse of Franklin place spent Sunday with the Misses Loomis of New York.

Charles Brinkenhoff of New York was the guest of Mrs. Rudd of Clinton avenue yesterday.

Ralph C. Varian will not go with the Danger Signal Company as advance agent as was expected.

Miss Grace Rowland of East Second street is spending a few days with relatives at Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Serrell, Jr., will remove from West Seventh street to Mrs. West's, Central avenue.

Frederick Coriell of Bound Brook spent Sunday with his classmate, Charles B. Morse of Franklin place.

A daughter came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Watson of Grant avenue last week.

Miss Murphy of Flemington visited Miss Annie Finley at her home on East Third street yesterday.

Charles Edwards, formerly a student of the High School, is now attending the New York Business College.

Thomas Barrett of Edsall's Commercial Palace, who has been ill the past week, resumed his duties this morning.

Miss Jeanette Simpson, who has been stopping in Washingtonville for some time, has returned to her home in Craig place

Manager Charles Schermerhorn returned to his duties in the Western Union office this morning, after a week of illness with the grip.

Mr. Palmer of Philadelphia has returned home after spending two weeks with his mother, Mrs. D. Manning of Clinton avenue.

Mrs. B. T. Barnes, organist of the Congregational Church, was unable to fill that place yesterday, and Miss Effeda A. Whiting acted in her stead.

Charles Johnson of Newark, formerly a resident of Plainfield, was in town Saturday on business. He is law student in the office of R. P. Bell in Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bovey of Stone street, who are spending the Winter in Brooklyn, enjoyed yesterday with Mr. Bovey's parents on Somerset street.

Mrs. Sarah Laing of Denver, who has been visiting her son Eugene the past two or three weeks, has gone on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. McIlvaine of Hotel Waldorf.

Commencing this evening a bowling tournament will be played among the four different classes in the Young Men's Lyceum. Each man will play 30 games, making a total of 800 in all.

Shiloh's cure is sold on a guarantee. It cures incipient consumption; it is the best cough cure, only 1c a dose; 25, 50c, $1. Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root, the great blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the complexion and cures constipation; 25c 50c, $1. Sold by all druggists.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life; I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels; 75c. Sold by all druggists.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Peter Emmons is having his house repainted.

—U. B. Crane, the hatter, has received over 40 new shapes in Spring hats.

—Preparations are being made for Easter celebration at Trinity Reformed Church.

—Queen City Lodge, I. O. O. F., will work the first rank on two candidates this evening.

—A meeting of the Christian Alliance will be held at 317 East Front street tomorrow evening.

—A large number of Plainfield people will attend the dance at New Market, Wednesday evening.

—Always something new at White's. They put on sale today 200 fine rugs at half their regular value.

—Frank Politz of New York opened a confectionery store at 110 West Front street Saturday afternoon.

—The Young Men's League of Hope Chapel will hold their regular weekly meeting this evening at 8.

—A. B. Clemens will leave Plainfield to assume his new position March 15, instead of May 15 as reported.

—The first degree will be worked on several candidates by Jerusalem Lodge, F. and A. M., Wednesday evening.

—The Ladies Aid Society of Hope Chapel will hold their regular weekly meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3:30.

—U. B. Crane has resigned from the committee having in charge the free reading room at the East Third Street Mission.

—Residents of East Fifth street are wondering why the dead cat which sends forth such a stench is not removed from the thoroughfare.

—The Christian Endeavor society of Hope Chapel will meet Wednesday evening at 8. The topic for the meeting will be "Winning Hearts".

—The case of Swody against the Plainfield Street Railway Company, in tort, was adjourned for two weeks in Justice Newcorn's court this morning.

—J. W. Jackson is contemplating the erection of a business block and row of flats on his property at the corner of West Front street and Madison avenue.

—The Plainfield Bowling Club will play the Cranford Club on the Cranford alleys tomorrow night, the game being the second one in the Elizabeth Journal series.

—It is W. C. Townsend of 10 Grove street who has moved to Poughkeepsie, and not J. E. Townsend the granite dealer as reported in another Plainfield paper.

—A. C. Johnson and Mr. Ackor were the only two Democrats who met in Washingtonville Friday evening to put up a ticket. The matter was therefore abandoned.

—The Young Ladies Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church will give a New England supper in the basement of the church Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week.

—The second of the series of Bible studies during Lent will be given by W. D. Murray in the Y. M. C. A. Building this evening. Second Thessalonians will be the subject.

—Chapman & Wannamaker's "Living Songs", is the title of new hymn books to be purchased and used at the prayer meetings, Sunday-school and Endeavor society meetings of Trinity Reformed Church.

—The following items were inadvertently left out of Borough Street Commissioner Stout's last report: Repairs on roller, purchasing and sharpening tools $81.48; extension of Grove street, $200; scraping and repairing different streets $1,022 90.

"Pure and Sure"

The best that money can buy.

Cleveland Baking Powder Co. New York.
Dr. C. N. Hoagland, President.

MUSIC HALL.

Joseph Sohl, Lessee and Manager.
Telephone call 49B.

1 Night Only, Wednesday, March 13.

There are others, but none like these. The fountain heads of modern wit.

Ward & Vokes

That's the last time I'll ever take Lady Belmont to a ball. A record of 700 nights in New York as "Percy" and "Harold." In the up-to-date farce comedy,

"A Run on the Bank."

You can't afford to miss it. It's a guaranteed attraction, and worth going miles to see.
Prices 25, 50, 75 and $1. Box office now open.

THE WEATHER.

Clearing Tomorrow, Warmer, Northeasterly Winds.

DRAGGED BY A TRAIN.

A Result to Be Expected from Boarding Cars in Motion.

Charles Runyon had a narrow escape from serious injury at the North Avenue station this morning while attempting to board the 7:30 train. The train was moving at increasing speed and as young Runyon caught hold of a platform bar he was thrown and dragged about 50 feet. He had presence of mind to hold fast until he could throw himself out from the track, and in this way escaped with nothing more serious than a scare. It is a wonder that more accidents do not occur from the practice of jumping on moving trains, at which passengers take great risks every day, at the station.

—The work at the Plainfield Manual Training School is progressing finely, and good results are being obtained.

—The young people of the East Third Street Mission will enjoy a sociable next Monday evening. A fine programme will be rendered.

—Martin Snyder of the Union Beef Company is a genius in the art of miniature ship building. He has just completed a model of one of the iron steamers, with clock and music box attachment. You drop a penny in a slot which causes the machinery to work. It makes a very interesting study.

BIRD TALK.

"Days with the birds" with imitations of their songs. Mrs. Kate Tryon, in the lecture room of the Crescent Avenue Church,

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 13, at 3:45, under the auspices of the Benevolent Band of Kings Daughters. Tickets 25c, for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy.

DEATHS.

HALLETT—In New Market March 9, 1895 Grace Ward Hallett, youngest child of James and Alice Hallett.
Relatives and friends are very respectfully invited to the funeral service on Tuesday, March 12, at 11 a. m.

COX—At Manasquan, N. J., March 5, 1895, Mrs. Martha H. Cox, widow of Rev. Charles Cox, in the 79th year of her age.

ANDERSON—In this city March 10, 1895, Henrietta B., wife of Dr. A. W. Anderson, aged 31 years 3 months and 10 days.
Funeral services from the residence of her father, Mr. Robert Anderson, 416 East 2d street, Tuesday, March 12, at 2 p. m.

TERRILL & COLE,

Undertakers and Embalmers

200 West 2d street,

Next to Trinity Reformed Church.
First-class livery attached.
Telephone 153. 11 26 y

Report of the Condition OF THE First National Bank

No. 447.

At Plainfield, in the State of New Jersey, at the close of business,

MARCH 5, 1895.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$626,439	45
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	599	74
U. S. bonds to secure circulation	50,000	00
Stocks, securities etc.	1,800	00
Banking house, Furniture and Fixtures	10,060	20
Other real estate and mortgages owned	50,800	47
Due from National Banks(not reserve agents		[illegible]
	7,614	78
Due from approved reserve agents	109,291	17
Checks and other cash items	7 225	51
Bills receivable	5,651	89
Notes of other National banks	1,820	00
Fractional paper currency, nickels, and cents	1,455	61
Lawful money reserve in bank, viz.
Specie 20 901 30
Legal tender notes 63,703 00	84,604	30
Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer (five per cent of circulation)	2,250	00
Total	$959,613	12

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in	$200,000	00
Surplus fund	50,000	00
Undivided profits less expenses and taxes paid	57,993	60
National Bank notes outstanding	44,997	50
Due to other National Banks	25,223	13
Dividends unpaid	1,100	00
Individual deposits subject to check	534,325	61
Demand certificates of deposit	42,007	75
Certified checks	3 965	53
Total	$959,613	12

STATE OF NEW JERSEY, } ss.
COUNTY OF UNION, }

I, F. S. Runyon, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. F. S. RUNYON, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 11th day of March, 1895. HARRY C. RUNYON, Notary Public of N. J.

Correct—Attest:
H. M. ESTIL,
WM. M STILLMAN,
D. F. RANDOLPH, } Directors.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the creditors of Sidney E. Flower, of the city of Plainfield, Union county, New Jersey, carrying on the business of dealer in pictures and stationery at No. 123 East Front street, in the city of Plainfield aforesaid, that all claims against his estate must be exhibited to the subscriber, his assignee, at his store, No. 151 West Front street, Plainfield, New Jersey, under oath or affirmation, on or before the 12th day of March next, being the time fixed by order of the Orphans' Court of Union county within which such claims must be presented, or be forever barred from coming in for a dividend of the said estate; and said creditors are further notified that a list of the claims against said Sidney E Flower will be filed with the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union at the expiration of said time when exceptions thereto may be filed by any person interested. V. L. FRAZER,
Dated Plainfield, Jan. 17, 1895. Assignee.
1 21 7-cow

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt,

of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,

Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

EQUAL TO ANY,
SUPERIOR TO MOST.

The Variety, Quantity and Value AT PECK'S.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.

VAN EMBURGH & SON

One factory lot of

Unlaundried Shirts at 29c

14 to 16½ inch neck.

One Factory lot White Goods Remnants

At half value.

Figured India Silks at 25c yard.

Corner Store Babcock Building.

The Welsbach Incandescent Gas Burner.

Call and see it.

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

Money refunded on all goods not entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before purchasing. Since the opening of the department we have sold over 6,000 cans of tomatoes, string beans and corn as an advertisement at the unheard-of price of 6c a can.

The goods give good satisfaction and the people are buying them over and over again, the demand increasing for them each week. They often remark that they are just as good as they pay 8 and 10c for elsewhere.

75 CASES MORE

new goods received

For Saturday's Trade.

We are constantly saving money to hundreds of our patrons and they seem to be pleased for us to do it.

Special 6c can | .....25 cases sweet corn..... .....25 cases string beans..... .....25 cases tomatoes..... | Special 6c can

25 cases very fine lemon cling peaches, regular price 25c, special 17c can; another lot of Blue Point catsup quart size, 17c bottle; Burnham's clam boullon special 19 and 34c bottle; Heinz little giant pickles, all kinds, special 9c bottle; Oyster Bay asparagus, flat cans, special 18c can; celery salt in screw top bottles 10c each.

Silexo 2½c Cake | 5,000 pieces Silexo scouring soap, one of the best scouring articles on the market, for this sale only, 2½c cake. | Silexo 2½c Cake

Our White Seal flour can't be beat; one trial will convince you. ¼ barrel at 54c, ½ at $1.07, ½ at $1.98, 1 barrel at $3.95.

Finest quality olive oil, large size quarts, 69c bottle; do 1 gallon size $1 95 gallon. The above is the finest grade imported.

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each | 100 doz cups and saucers and soup plates at 3c each; 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each; Tea, breakfast | 3c each

27c each | Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each | 27c each

73c each | Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each | 73c each

9c each | Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each | 9c each

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.
DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.

Newest spring styles in a great variety of washable fabrics. New and stylish effects in all-wool and silk and wool. The prices are the lowest ever known.

Priestley's Silk Warp blk Henriettas

$1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

CARPET DEPARTMENT.

OPENING OF NEW SPRING GOODS.

We quote only a few specials. All-wool ingrains at 49c; Tapestry Brussels at 53, 59, 65c; Body Brussels, Moquette, Axministers, Ispahan, Agra, Kandahar, Art Squares, Rugs, Mattings, new styles, jointless, 9c and up; oil cloths No. 1, 39c, No. 3, 25c, No. 4, 19c; linoleums 49c; window shades from 19c up, poles and fixtures 19c and up.

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5. For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

SCOTCH PLAINS.

Miss Hattie Wilcox of Brooklyn spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Wilcox.

John L. Force intends selling his West Side Hotel and leaving town. Several parties talk of buying, among them is Harry Illsley who formerly conducted the hotel on the corner for several years.

Miss Grace Robison returned Sunday from a pleasant visit with friends in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz returned from their Southern trip Saturday morning. Mr. Frentz reports that game is very plentiful at Avon Park and that it is a paradise for hunters.

A business meeting will be held in the chapel of the Baptist Church this evening.

George R. Nichol refusing to be a candidate for Town Committeeman on the Democratic ticket, the committee on vacancies have substituted the name of T. J. Nichol for the one-year term.

The outlook for the Spring election to be held tomorrow is that there will be a large vote polled.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Putnam of Plainfield spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Putnam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz.

The Pastor's Choir of the Baptist Church were entertained at a reception in the chapel Saturday afternoon from 3 until 5.

The Povertie Partie to be given Wednesday evening in the Baptist Church, by the Ladies Circle, promises to create quite some amusement, as those wearing jewelry and fine clothes will be fined.

Rev. Mr. Kingsley occupied the pulpit of the Methodist Church Sunday evening. Mr. Kingsley was a former pastor of the church, and a large congregation greeted him.

Rev. Mr. Braker preached an excellent sermon Sunday morning from the text, "Wealth, and what has it brought us?"

George Clark and Chas. Haberly while going for a drive Sunday afternoon with a spirited team, one of the horses started to kick, caught its foot in the harness and was thrown, breaking the shaft only.

Prof. Rivers's dancing class meet Tuesday in Bucket and Engine hall.

Miss Lizzie Stamets of Westfield spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Kittie Buckley.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sence of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

Roswell G. Horr as a Writer.

While the American people have never been a time during which they did not have a large array of burning public questions to discuss, there certainly never has been an epoch, since the Revolution, excepting that of 1861, which has given rise to more striking issues than the present. The Tribune discusses the silver, tariff and elections questions admirably. That great paper fills a field of its own, and does it well. Readers can subscribe both for The Tribune and for this paper if they desire; and the two make an excellent political outfit. The Tribune market reports are superb. Our metropolitan contemporary deals with national questions with remarkable force, ability and courage. For 50 years it has been a fighter and is no less so now than it ever was. It sticks with a good hard stick and seldom misses the mark. It believes that agitation, discussion and thorough exploring of public questions are the only path which leads to a wise and patriotic solution of them; and the ably prepared and exhaustive articles in The Tribune by R. G. Horr of Plainfield, on the tariff, silver, labor, wages, etc., will help any citizen to decide rightly on the issues of the day. It illustrates the news of the day profusely. The Tribune's prospectus in another column tells the story more fully. Republicans in this county should do well to subscribe for The Tribune this year in combination with this paper. An illustrated premium list will be sent by The Tribune, free, to applicants. Sample copies are also free.

[illegible] Private Life.

Washington, March 11.—The announcement that Senator George of Mississippi will not be a candidate for re-election creates no surprise in this city. Several weeks ago Senator George stated that he purposed retiring to private life at the close of his present term.

General Harrison Better.

Indianapolis, March 11.—Ex-President Harrison, who has been suffering from a severe attack of the grip, is much better. He rested well last night and his pulse is about normal. The doctor says he may sit up a little to-day.

Uncle Sam's Loan.

London, March 11.—The Rothschilds announce that the scrip of the United States loan will be delivered on Tuesday in exchange for letters of allotment.

—The Welsbach incandescent gas burner which is being introduced in the city by Gavett is receiving much favorable comment. The burner generates a brilliant and pretty tinted light, and has a soothing effect on the eye, which is a virtue not possessed by pioneers of a similar nature. Gavett exhibits it in operation.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Dunavan moved from Elmwood place to Plainfield avenue today.

Wm. Waters has a painful abscess on his right hand, caused by a bowling bruise.

Mrs. Edward Thorn of East Second street was able to go out yesterday after a protracted illness.

Rev. Mr. Williams of Abbyville, S. C., was the guest of Rev. Mr. Alexander yesterday and assisted at the session of the Sunday-school.

H. G. Bower and family of Jersey City will be residents of Plainfield from April 1. They will occupy one of Voehl's flats on East Front street.

Horace J. Martin has traded his property on Jackson avenue for a very desirable place on Fairview avenue, just east of Watchung avenue, and will move there.

Rev. Dr. E. E. Chivers of Buffalo, District Secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, preached a very impressive sermon in the First Baptist Church yesterday morning.

Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, son-in-law of P. M. French, and during 1866-69 pastor of the Plainfield M. E. Church, has resigned the presidency of the Centenary Collegiate Institute, Hackettstown.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hallett of New Market have the sympathy of friends and neighbors in the loss of their little daughter, who died Saturday morning of diabetes. The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning.

Rev. B. W. Hand, John Ackerman, John Staats and Henry VanMiddlesworth of the First Church of Christ will attend a meeting of the Disciples Union in Dr. Tyler's church, Fifty-sixth street, New York city, this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Safford of Grove street were today summoned to New Hampshire by the sudden serious illness of Mr. Safford's father. It was stated in the despatch that he could not live till night. They left immediately for his bedside.

The death occurred in Manasquan, March 5, of Mrs. Martha Cox, widow of Rev. Charles Cox, in the seventy-ninth year of her age. She leaves a daughter, who was Mrs. Harriet Stewart of East Sixth street, for years soprano singer in Trinity Reformed Church, and who is now wife of Editor Frank W. Baldwin of the Orange Chronicle.

—Justice Nash today gave judgment for $69.70 in the case of Mary K. Illsley against Mrs. A. DeBaud.

A London Singer With a Fetching Wink.

Cissy Fitzgerald's wink has broadened so with her advance from burlesque to the legitimate that Hoyt's Theater will not be able to hold it if it continues to grow. It has become a comprehensive dropping of the eyelid, which threatens to inclose half the orchestra every time it falls. Persons in the front rows of seats, when Cissy takes the center of the stage, puts her hands on her hips, leans over the footlights, and fills her eye with an expression of rebellious invitation, clamber back from the stage for fear of being engulfed in the wink that they know is coming. But the lid falls slowly over that black eye bulging with expressives, rests for a second in significant eclipse, and as it rests the audience tears itself reluctantly out of Cissy's confidence. The result of the wink in such a small theater as Hoyt's is still a matter of uncertainty. There never has been anything of the kind in the past, and what the consequence will be nobody can tell as yet. The wink is out of all proportion to the size of the house, and its effectiveness is increased to an extent that may lead to any consequences. Susceptible young men sitting near the stage have been carefully observed by the management since the opening night in order that any serious symptoms may be noticed and the wink abated if its pressure prove too strong to the square inch. Nothing really alarming has been noticed yet, but the management has made a very excellent provision whenever a crisis may arise.—New York Sun.

Marvellous.

Mrs. Sniffwell—Why, Bridget, you have been eating onions!

Bridget—Shure, mum, you're a moind reader.

Its Origin.

"I suppose," observed Adam after the fall, "that we must go."

"I haven't a blessed thing to wear," protested Eve. The thought was born.—Puck.

To the Pyramids by trolley sounds rather incongruous, but it may soon be a possible trip. The Egyptian Government has just granted a concession for an electric railroad in Cairo, and the Pyramids are only eight miles away.

To Cure

weak stomach, loss of appetite, flatulence, waterbrash, rising of food, heartburn, nightmare, coated tongue, offensive breath, jaundice, bad complexion, liver-spots, yellow eyes, constipation, palpitation of the heart, and short breath after meals, dyspepsia, and all its symptoms, take

Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills.

Eat plenty of good nourishing food. A pill after each meal. 25 cents at druggists'.

Send to us for free sample.

DR. I. A. DEANE CO., [illegible] New York

—H. C. Johnson of Passaic has rented through William D. Thickstun, agent, Capt. Phillips' house 407 Central avenue.

BARGAINS.

Poor old word used to mean something in times gone by, but not so now. Any old trash or plunder that some merchants can rake up is put out and named BARGAIN.

We are looking for a word to take its place and to any one sending us a new name for the many good things we offer to our customers every day we will give ten dollars in gold.

The items below are

Jap Rugs

Japanese rugs of the celebrated Yamato manufacture. All rich oriental designs and colorings at half the usual prices.

36x36 in 88c. value $1.25
26x54 in 90c. " 1.25
30x60 in 1.27 " 2.25
48x84 in 2.49 " 4.50
2½ yds x 3½ yds $6.98 value $10.00.

Dress Goods

38 in all-wool henriettas black and colors 33c.
45 in Imperial serges black and navy 39c.
50 in wool mixtures 33c.
54 in Covert cloth 49c.

Linoleums

10-piece extra heavy linoleums new designs 37½c square yard.

Skirts

Made of black satine, splendid quality, new styles and new prices 75c to $2.17 for the best.

Umbrellas

A good gloria silk paragon frame can be bought for 75c. Old price $1.00.

House Furnishings

10-qt. galvanized pails 13c.
Paper pails 17c.
Jap. Tea pots 10c.
2-qt granite Coffee pots 37c.
2 qt. " stew pots 27c.
Brooms 13c.
Pail, soap, brush and mop all for 27c.

WHITE, of Plainfield.

VALUABLE

Business Property FOR SALE

to close an estate. The subscriber, executor of Manning Vermeule, deceased, will sell at public auction, on

Thursday, March 14, 1895,

at 2 o'clock p. m., on the premises, the

4-Story Brick Store and Basement

property Nos. 107 and 109 West Front st, Plainfield, N. J. Situated on Front street, near Park ave., and directly opposite Somerset street, this is one of the most desirable business stands in the city. Entrance also to the rear of said premises from Park ave.

Immediately after sale of the store property the late

HOMESTEAD PROPERTY

of said Manning Vermeule will be offered for sale on the premises, Nos. 550, etc., West Front st., consisting of the dwelling house and barn and lot of about 155 ft. in width. This will be sold as a whole or in parcels. At same time and place 2 lots on West 3d st., near Plainfield ave., will be offered for sale, one having a frontage of about 104 ft., the other of 30 ft, in parcels if desired.

TERMS LIBERAL, and will be made known on day of sale. Further information cheerfully given prior to sale by the subscriber, at his office, or by J. H French at French's Mills, Somerset st. NELSON RUNYON, Executor, cor. Park ave. and Front st.

Dated March 7, 1895. 3 8 6

MOSLER SAFE CO.,

contractors to the United States Government

Mosler Patent Safes,

(fire and burglar-proof) in general use

All Over the World.

Lowest prices. Drop a postal to

S. W. CLARK,

General Agent,

118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.

and he will call and give special attention and information.

Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

BEEF, WINE, IRON.

The words suggest STRENGTH and ENERGY if any words can. Spring Fever is at hand. Perhaps you need BEEF and IRON. The wine only serves to hold them in solution together. Pint bottles of the best that can be made at

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

AT 50 CENTS

—The Christian Endeavor society of the First Church of Christ will hold a sociable Friday evening. There will be an entertainment and collation. No admission fee will be charged but a silver collection will be taken.

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, 1 ct. a word, each insertion. (Less than ten words, 10 cents.) Cash must accompany ads.

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan, Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

TO LET—Two small stores or offices on one of the finest corners in the city, with or without stable room for one or more horses; also one flat with six rooms. Inquire of F. Westphal & Son, cor. of West 4th and Liberty st. 3 6 m

FOR SALE—Good second-hand grocery wagon, all in good order. Address P. O. Box 771, Plainfield, N. J. 3 9 2

WANTED—A good cook and laundress; must have references. 930 Central ave. 3 11 2

YOUNG girl wants situation as chambermaid and waitress. Call for two days at 123 West 7th st., Seminary.

FOR SALE—Cheap for cash, old established meat market, 2 horses and 2 wagons; good paying business; reason for selling given. Address Butcher, care Press. 3 11 6

LOST—Pocketbook this noon. Finder return to Martin Bros. grocery store and receive reward. 3 11 2

FOR RENT—Half double house, six rooms; $11 per month. 29 Emily st. 3 11 3

SANDFORD ave; for sale, delightful location; lot 50x135 ft; 12 rooms, all improvements, perfect order; cost $6,000, worth $6,500; will sell at sacrifice; $1,000 down, balance remain on bond and mortgage at 5 per cent. Do not lose this opportunity if you want a home on the nicest residence street in Plainfield; will rent for $45 a month. Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave.

3 HOUSES sold on Fairview ave., Watchung Park last week; lots for sale; buy one; Watchung avenue is to be extended and will be a direct line to the property; buy a lot; there's money in it. For terms and full particulars inquire of Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave.

TO RENT—House 303 West 2d st; now occupied by Relief Association. Inquire 208 Madison ave. 3 11 6

RESPECTABLE colored woman wants washing, ironing or house cleaning by the day. Call 529 East 6th st.

GROCERY store and building for sale in a growing location; store is well stocked and doing a good business; I will sell reasonable to a quick buyer; reason for selling is on account of ill health. Address J. V. W., care Press. 3 11 3

YOUNG girl wants situation as chambermaid, waitress or light housework; good reference. Call 236 East 4th st.

FOR SALE or exchange, value $7,500, a place of 1 acre, house, stable, henery; also house for help; easy terms. Address Wm. Cornell, 124 Liberty st., New York. 3 11 3

HORSE and buggy for sale cheap. Call 85 Manning ave. 3 11 6

WANTED—Girl for general housework. 607 West Front st.

MILK route wanted by cash buyer. J. H., care Press. 3 9 tf

TO LET—No. 389 Cottage place; four rooms. Apply at 461 Kensington avenue. 3 9 2

TO LET—House 235 East 6th st. Inquire 231 East 6th st. 3 9 tf

FLAT to let with improvements. Inquire Manning's marble works, Front street and Central avenue. 3 8 6

TO LET—Two new, large stores No. 224 East Front street; new 11 room house with all improvements 22 Norwood avenue, and a 6 room house 746 East 2nd street. Inquire J. Voehl 65 Somerset street. 3 7 6

TO LET—Desirable flats in the Miller Building. All improvements, steam heat. Inquire Miller 339 Park ave corner of 4th street. 3 7 6

TO LET—3 or 4 rooms for light housekeeping; no children. Apply 103 Duer street. 3 6 tf

THE Employment Committee of the Organized Aid can recommend several competent women by the day at reduced prices, to supply the place of servants temporarily absent. Competent seamstresses also can be obtained. Apply at office, corner Park and North ave., from 9 to 11 o'clock. 3 4 6

SIX-ROOM flat to let; all improvements. 200 West 2d st. 3 4 tf

WANTED—By an English person, a situation as working housekeeper Please address Priscilla Negus, Bound Brook. 3 2 6

SMALL houses to let, centally located, $9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

TO LET—8 rooms and bath, water and heat furnished; $25 per month; cor 5th st. and Watchung ave. Inquire 333 LaGrande ave. 2 26 tf

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st. 2 7 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 1 30 tf

NAPOLEON

Monographs on the Man of Destiny

A Series of Original and Interesting Studies

—BY—

JOHN CLARK RIDPATH

THE HISTORIAN

Read Them in This Paper

They Are Published Saturdays.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber. Coal. Mason's Material. &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

BIG CUT.

Special Friday and Saturday.

Philadelphia 1 lb Print Creamery Butter 20 cts.

4 lbs cod fish for 25 cents; 1 lb package best macaroni 7½ cents; Dried green peas 5 cents a quart; Best laundry starch 5 cents lb; Granulated sugar 4 cents lb; 2 lbs extra creamery cheese for 23 cents.

AT FULPER'S.

There Are Others

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,

177 North avenue.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. special are leaders. 2 28 3m

The

New York Tribune, 1895.

Foremost of American Weeklies.

Circulation 168,000 Copies a Week

First to rally from the overwhelming defeat of 1892, The New York Tribune patiently labored for two years to awaken the sleeping judgment of the Nation. Possessing an enormous circulation, equipped with a staff of competent and honest students of public questions, and itself having no object to serve except the welfare of the masses upon the farms and in the shops scorning lies and sensational appeals, and satisfied merely to place the truth before its readers, The Tribune has sent to half a million earnest and reflecting people, weekly, a budget of honest facts, sensible arguments and friendly suggestions, which have at last born fruit in the elections of 1894. The work of the people is, however, only half done. It is necessary in 1896 to place in the Chair which Grover Cleveland has not adorned, a constructive statesman of the Republican faith. To this task The Tribune now addresses itself, and invites the support of every American citizen who desires a return of the "good old times."

Boswell G. Horr, ex-Congressman from Michigan, but now of New York City, will continue to discuss Tariff, Currency, Coinage and Labor questions in The Tribune. By all odds the most witty, earnest and well-informed speaker upon the stump, he is every year sent by The Tribune to aid the local campaigns in every part of the country. He keeps in constant touch with the people, knows their wants, and addresses himself in The Tribune directly to the thoughts which are in their minds, and makes himself understood. He will gladly answer questions, asked in good faith by readers.

All the regular features of The Tribune will be continued. For Western readers, a special array of Western news is supplied. For Eastern readers an Eastern edition is printed.

It is the intention to make the paper especially helpful to farmers and mechanics. Each class has its separate department in The Tribune; and the new inventions of mechanics, who lack the means to exploit the product of their brains, are advertised free of charge in the hope of aiding them to find a purchaser or a partner.

The market reports of The Tribune, long acknowledged to be the best in the country, will maintain their old standard; and the usual variety of foreign news letters, essays upon home topics, book reviews, articles on chess and checkers, and miscellany will be presented every week. The editorial pages of the paper sum up the most important news of the day, with comments.

The Tribune also prints, for the ladies, the very latest fashions from Paris and London, and there is a department of "Answers to Questions," conducted by a capable writer, in which all the questions of the people on miscellaneous topics are carefully answered.

The semi-weekly Tribune is an incomparable paper for residents who live beyond the range of The Daily Tribune, but find it necessary to keep in touch with the best thoughts and higher interests of the world at large.

A few premiums are offered to readers and club agents.

Any friend of The Tribune is cordially invited to send for sample copies and terms and make up a club of subscribers. We would be especially pleased to see a large circle of readers in every workshop.

The Weekly, $1; The semi-weekly, $2; The daily Tribune, $10 a year. The Tribune Almanac for 1895 ready in January, 25 cents a copy

THE TRIBUNE, New York.

LOVE,

Corner North and Watchung aves.

WALL PAPER

WALL PAPER,

Wall Paper.

Paint, Brushes, Shades, Glass, Carpets, Rugs.

LOVE,

Corner North and Watchung aves.

H. A. STILES,

of Leech, Stiles & Co., the Philadelphia Eye Specialists, formerly with QUEEN & CO. —OF— PHILADELPHIA, SEND THEIR EYE SPECIALIST TO PLAINFIELD Every Thursday.

He will be found at

No. 107 East Front Street,

Dunham's Real Estate Office,

From 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

A. W. BAKER, 206 Park Ave. B. C. YOUNG, 337 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young, Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 2 m

MARRYING TITLES.

AN UNLUCKY GAME, FASCINATING TO AMERICANS.

The Gould Wedding Furnishes a Text for the Rev. Madison C. Peters. He Indulges in Some Very Plain and Emphatic Statements.

The Rev. Madison C. Peters, who began his New York career in September, 1889, has kept things in a stew ever since. He came from Philadelphia, where he kept things in a stew after a milder, more Quakerish fashion.

He began by refusing to swear and kiss the book in the registration booth. He upheld the theaters in a convention of clergymen. He attacked Dean Hoffman, accusing him of maintaining a lot of tumbledown shanties. He assaulted the parochial system of the Catholic church as a fostering of ignorance. He accused the brewers of importing cocculus indicus for use in adulterating beer.

He came originally from the Lehigh Valley and his first pastorate was in Indiana, about twelve years ago. He is now a few months past 35 years old.

The undoing of Samson, the strong man, as the result of his marriage with Delilah, the daughter of the Philistines, was the subject of the Rev. Peters' sermon recently.

It was an international marriage, the preacher said, and so was bound to turn out badly. He read the fourteenth chapter of Judges, and then made some slashing comments on the Castellane-Gould nuptials. Mr. Peters said:

"The wealth of this nation is in the hands of a few and these few are marrying off their daughters to titled imbeciles.

"This is the most successful way of making a nation poor. A marriage for money or title is a humiliation to the dust, a hollow mockery that blushes to heaven. American men as a rule marry for love—royal scoundrels always for money. With them Cupid has changed his name to Cupidity.

"There is no record of an international marriage where hard cash was the consideration for empty titles that did not end unhappily. Yet ambitious fathers and managing mothers and heartless daughters are constantly playing the same unlucky game.

"Two million dollars for a title! The outward legal form in such a matter may seal the lips of criticism. But a marriage it is not. As the $2,000,000 to be settled on the little count are contingent on his good behavior, there is very little likelihood of the money ever getting out of the Gould family.

"So common is the mercantile estimate of marriage becoming that I should not be surprised to see the hymeneal market lists chronicled in the newspapers with the prices current of the Stock Exchange. Marriage, instead of being God's holiest institution, a union on equal terms, a free and glad surrender of the heart, is becoming so profaned and reproached that it makes one shudder to think of it.

"We despise the man who takes a bribe. We put stripes on him. What shall we say of these titled adventurers who offer themselves in marriage to the highest American bidder? What shall we say of the young women who turn what is noble and pure and American away and sell themselves willing victims to be offered on the altars of European profligacy.

"Our boast is that we are democratic. The fact is we are the most snobbish and the most slavish worshipers of rank of any nation in the world. It is seldom that a titled fortune hunter fails in his suit for an American woman's hand. There is such a bewitching charm in the empty titles we affect to despise that women will feign to love an effete nobleman who would if untitled be positively repulsive.

"Such a marriage is far from respectable. It may take place in high society, but it is high society turned low. The pagan pomp and vulgar show with which it may be celebrated only furnish the mask that covers the mockery—the mockery which invariably taunts the misery in the end."

A MAMMOTH AUGER.

Used to Clear the Track Through Western Snowdrifts.

A rotary snowplow can be simply described as an elongated box car carrying a windmill on the front end. This wheel is about ten feet in diameter and fitted on its face with knives or fans set at an angle like the fans of a windmill. The backs of these knives are turned over in the form of a trough, slightly curved, and as the snow slides in through the cutter it is carried up and thrown from an opening just back and above the upper rim of the wheel. Any one who has seen a blower pumping air can understand the working of the rotary. They both operate on the same principle. In the latter snow instead of air is drawn backward between the jaws and projected through the funnel. When feeding well and turned against work to its liking, a steam rotary picks up the oil ding snow and hurls it into the next township.

The rotary carries its own operating plant, but is propelled by a locomotive coupled on behind. By means of a whistle the man who handles the fan signals the engineer when to back or fill or break away. The combination of noises which greet the visitor boxed up inside the rotary are something appalling. An earthquake on wheels would be a mild comparison. There is a hiss of steam, shrieking of whistles and the rumble and rattle of heavy machinery which cause the entire fabric to tremble and dance on the rails. Then as the whirling knives carve their way foot by foot into the frozen drifts there comes a horrible crunching, crumbling sound, as if some strong jawed man somewhere in the fan was eating dry toast with his mouth open. Small rocks click once as they strike the metal and then go whizzing through the funnel and strike the opposite bank before the snow in a graceful arch of dissolving views can cover half the distance.

Ill Luck.

Friend (encouragingly)—Don't be so downhearted over such a simple little ailment; why you'll be well in no time.

Cholly (mournfully)—Ya-as, I know that, but isn't it just my beastly luck, don't you know, to be laid up with such a vulgaw disawdah as the mumps. Fancy the mumps when appendicitis is the propah thing!

Her Devotions.

"Do you go to church to hear the sermon or the music, Maude?"

"I go for the hims," said Maude.

WEASEL A CLEVER DODGER.

One That Was Quicker Than the Shot of a Sportman's Trusty Gun.

"Coming to our camp in the cool October evening after throwing our lines for bass at sunset in Little Bear Pond," said the Gotham sportsman, "we found that a visitor had been there during our absence. We had taken up our quarters in a deserted shingle camp, a low log structure with a splint roof. A 'deacon's seat' stood before the open fireplace of stone, and behind, laid thatchwise on the ground, were the pine boughs upon which we were to sleep. We had hung up upon a peg in the wall two partridges that we had shot. After we had lighted up the place with a glowing fire, we saw that the partridges were gone from the wooden peg on which they had hung, and were nowhere to be seen. A long search about the camp revealed them at last, on the opposite side, crowded half under the bottom log of the wall as if an attempt had been made to get them out of the camp that way.

"We hung them up again upon the peg and in a few minutes discovered a weasel running about them trying to get them down again. He appeared to be regardless of our presence. He would run out to the end of the peg and work away awhile to try to push the string that held them over the end, and then would dart to the ground below and sit upright looking at them, his eyes all the while glowing like emeralds. At last I picked up my gun, loaded with heavy charges of birdshot.

"'It's no use trying to hit him,' said Farris, my companion, an old woodsman. 'He'll dodge the flash of your gun. The most you can do is to scare him away.'

"As the weasel sat upright and motionless on one of the bottom logs of the camp I took a careful sight and fired with my right barrel at him. The smoke cleared away but no weasel was to be seen, although the place where he had sat was peppered with fine holes where the shot had struck within a space as large as the palm of my hand. If the weasel had been hit he would have been found, and he had evidently dodged at the flash of the explosion, or perhaps the fall of the hammer. But the shot had the effect of frightening him away, for we had no more visits from him during our stay."

SOUTHERN NEGRO LORE.

The Darky Knows Nature by Heart and Profits From Her Secrets.

The plantation pickaninny is a close observer of nature's secrets, those secrets which she reveals only to those who from interest or necessity become intimate with her and win her confidence. A negro boy of 10 years old knows the peculiar note or whistle of every bird that inhabits his native woods and swamps. He knows the nature of these birds, whether they remain in the neighborhood all winter, whether the male and female of a certain species has the same note or cry, what kind of nests they have, whether they build them close to the ground or in more inaccessible places. He is familiar with the appearance and habits of these little songsters and calls them by names indicative of certain peculiarities, which he or his fathers before him have noticed in them without regard to what ornithologists may denominate them.

Every bush and shrub in the southern woods has its individual meaning for the negro, and he knows the names of all the various species of trees, all the different kinds of oaks and what they are good for, from the red oaks, the bark of which is utilized in teas and liniments for the sick, the foliage of which is such a royal canopy, to the white oaks, the thin split shavings of which they are wont to see woven in baskets for conveying the newly gathered cotton in the fall; from the live oak, with its perpetual crown of green, to the post oak and the scrub oak or black jack, good for nothing but firewood. The sweet gum is dear to his heart, for here the 'possum dwells, stealing out to the persimmon tree, over in the corn field hard by, and the dog wood has its significance, because when it spreads its wide tents in the dim spaces of the woods it is a sign that the winter is indeed over and gone, and the voice of the turtle will soon be heard in the land, and the negro race rejoices in sunshine and summer.

"My baby will be a year ole—risin' two—when de maple tree blossom red," some buxom matron will say as she displays her sturdy offspring, or she will date his birth from "de time the jassamine fust come out," or say, "dey begin to haul cotton to the gin when he was two days ole."

The small darky is as conversant with the varieties and habits of the fish in the creeks and lagoons in his native country as with the rabbits and squirrels, foxes and owls of the woods and fields. He knows where the fish hide, what kind of bait is most seductive to certain varieties of the finny tribe, and at what seasons of the year he is most likely to inveigle them on his hook. The water fowl who have nests along the banks and in the marshes of the ponds and branches have few secrets from him. He explores every nook and cranny of his familiar ground, undeterred in his investigation even by the presence of a snake. Of reptiles, however, he has a wholesome fear, but he never hesitates to give battle to them, one of his chief boasts being the number of snakes he has killed during his journey through life.—Philadelphia Times.

MISS BROWN'S CANCELLED STAMPS.

She Is Nearly Buried Under Them and Wants Everybody to Stop.

Postmaster General Bissell has received a report from postoffice inspector T. B. Laughlin on a case relating to an alleged violation of the postal laws by Miss Edna Brown, of Kanesville, Ill. In some way an intimation was made public that a crippled sister of her betrothed husband would be taken care of in a certain hospital if 1,000,000 cancelled stamps could be collected in her behalf. Miss Brown is now praying that the stamps may quit coming. People all over the country are burying her, her relatives and the postmaster under an avalanche of cancelled postage stamps. The letters for Miss Brown during the summer varied from 7,000 to 25,000 a month.

When the inspector arrived in Kanesville he found stored away in one corner of the postoffice five or six bushels of letters and packages addressed to Miss Brown, and the stage was bringing in more at every trip. To top the whole business the inspector recommends that the postmaster general issue a fraud order to check the delivery of mail addressed to Miss Brown, of Kanesville, Ill.

A Profitable Search.

People who went South for the winter found it

New York Announcement.

"Our American Homes and How to Furnish Them"

Can readily be ascertained by visiting

HORNER'S

Great Furniture Emporium

where everything is of the best quality, artistic excellence, and moderate in price. No such assortment of reliable goods can be seen in America.

Over two hundred and fifty distinctly different Bedroom Sets in all the various woods, Brass Bedsteads in over seventy patterns, as well as endless lines of Parlor, Drawing-Room, Library and Dining-Room Furniture.

Hundreds of Imported Novelties particularly suitable for presents, or home use and decoration.

All prices in plain figures.

R. J. HORNER & CO.,

Furniture Makers and Importers,

61-65 W. 23d St., New York,

Adjoining Eden Musee.

Horner & Co.'s establishment is one of the sights of New York.—Newspaper Comment.

Three New Styles,

A Year of Paper Dolls 60c

The Brownies in Paper Dolls 60c.

Famous Queens in Paper Dolls 15c.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front st.

MONEY LOANED.

Local Representatives Wanted.

Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors, with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m

Advertised Letters.

Postoffice Plainfield, N. J., March 4, 1895.

Apgar Mrs Isaiah	Foster Mrs M E
Anderson Mrs	Falian Frank 2
Oberger Mr	Garthwaite L M
Cottinger Miss M E	Lockwood Mrs
Cradox Miss Lizzie	Packard W Alfred
Dunham Chas L	N J Mutual Live Stock Association

FURNITURE

MOVING

Telephone 121. Office 161 North ave.

HOAGLAND'S EXPRESS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

JAMES E. BAILY,

97 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Trucking of All Kinds Done.

Two and four-horse vans and trucks. Particular attention given to moving furniture and pianos. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 26 tf

Joseph E. Mosher,

Agent for

H. J. Hayden & Co.,

WAR CLAIMS ATTORNEYS, WASHINGTON, D.C

All claims put in our hands will receive prompt attention.

Call at the Crescent Cigar Store for fine cigars

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS

Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc., in bunches, bouquets or design.

MILES,

Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 2 17 tf

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3542, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 212 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

R. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 3 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 8094, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Langer, Fin. Sec. 9 25 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 142, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 10 East Front stree

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 32, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
Dr. D. G. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Simmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Jan 20, 1895, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

FAST LINE leaves Philadelphia 12 27 p m daily with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars for Pittsburg, Northern and Eastern Pennsylvania

6.57 p. m.—WESTERN EXPRESS, with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland, daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.36 p.m.—SOUTH WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

8 43 p. m.—PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping cars, daily, for Pittsburg, Columbus, Chicago, and Toledo, daily, except Saturday for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00 9.05, 9.36 a. m., 9.39 p. m.

Sundays, 1, 9 05, 9 36 a. m., 9 41 p m.

For Baltimore only 1 37 p. m., week-days.

For Newark and New York—3 02, 5 34, 5 46, 6 17, 6 45, 7 07, 7 20, 7 49, 7 57, 8 06, 8 28, 8 38, 8 47, 9 17, 9 41, 9 48, 10 20, 10 38, 10 49, 11 07, 11 48 a. m., 1 12, 1 20, 1 56, 2 24, 2 40, 3 45, 3 27, 3 47, 4 43, 5 15, 5 36, 5 48, 6 08, 6 27, 6 48, 6 58, 7 07, 7 26, 7 59, 9 17, 9 10, 9 50, 10 03, 11 03 and 11 56 p. m. Sundays 3 02, 5 34, 7 54, 8 45, 9 20, 9 47, 10 12, 10 38, 10 49 a. m., 12 35, 1 44, 2 38, 3 45, 5 45, 6 38, 8 34, 5 48, 7 05, 7 12, 7 35, 7 58, 8 20, 9 15, 10 16, 11 46 and 11 56 p. m.

For New York only, 6 10 a. m. daily.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 19, 8 05, 9 36, 11 43 a. m.; 1 05, 1 57, 3 32, 5 06, 6 36, 7 46, 9 43, 9 59 p. m. Sundays at 1 00, 8 02, 9 05, 9 36, 10 41 a. m.; 5 40, 6 37, 7 47 and 9 41 p. m.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

(2 25p.m. with through Buffet parlor car) Sundays 5 50 a. m.

Cape May, Sea Isle City and Ocean City, 1 37 p. m. weekdays.

For Rahway—1 43 daily ex. Monday, 4 08, 6 44, 7 10, 7 59, 8 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 59, 11 43 a. m., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 48, 3 20, 3 39, 5 59, 4 38, 4 53, 5 22, 5 40, 6 06, 6 12, 6 17, 6 27, 6 45, 6 52, 6 59, 7 20, 7 46, 8 14, 8 55, 9 54, 11 02, 11 45 p. m., and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 43, 6 59, 7 43, 9 49, 10 36, 10 43 and 11 47 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 2 47, 3 28, 4 50, 5 20, 5 40, 7 31, 7 37, 7 47, 8 14, 8 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 59, 9 05, 9 36, 9 50, 11 43 a. m., 12 58, 1 37, 2 48, 3 59, 4 38, 5 05, 5 40, 6 06, 6 45, 7 46, 9 30 and 11 02 p. m. Sundays, 1 00, 6 59, 9 05, 9 36 9 49, 10 41 a. m., 12 50, 1 58, 5 46, 7 47, 9 16, 9 41 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 59 a.m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 6 54, 6 12, and 7 20 9 54 p.m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 43, 10 26, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For Perth Amboy—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 59, 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 6 54, 6 12, 7 20 7 36 9 54 and 12 27. Sundays, 1 43 10 26, 11 47 a m 10 14 p m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 26, 2 48 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 5 57, 7 19, 7 59, 9 05, 9 36, 11 43 a. m.; 1 05, 1 57, 3 32, 5 06, 6 36, 7 46, 9 43, 9 59 p. m. Sundays at 1 00, 8 59, 9 05, 9 36, 10 41 a. m.; 5 40, 6 57, 7 47 and 9 41 p. m.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 59 a. m., 2 48 and 6 36 p. m., and 5 40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 59 a. m.; 2 48 p. m.

For Freehold—7 59, 11 43 a. m., 4 38, 6 08 p.m., via. Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via. Monmouth Junction—7 59 and 11 43 a. m., 4 38 and 6 08 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 4 13 5 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 25 a. m., and 5 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Bee Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p. m.

For Boston—5 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 6 30, 7 20, 8 10, 8 30, 9, 9 10, 10 10, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 10, 12 20, 12 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 20, 4 00, 4 10, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 40, 7 00, 7 30, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 50 p. m., 12 15 night. Sundays, 1 00, 2 15, 3, 3 00, 3 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 2 45, 4 00, 4 25, 5 00, 6 00, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 15, 10 00 p. m., and 12 15 night.

S. M. PREVOST, General Manager.
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent.

THE MASTODON

was the biggest animal of which we have any knowledge, and lived ages ago. Mastodons in other lines still exist, for instance you will find a mastodon stock of wall paper and mastodon bargains with us every day in the year.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.

141 East Front st

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7 30, 8 40, 11 a. m., 2 30, 5, 8 30 p. m.
Close—7 and 9 20 a.m., 1 45, 6, and 7 30 p. m.

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8 40 a. m., 2 40, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 15 a. m., 4 30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arrives 12 m; closes 9 20 a.m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9 30 to 10 30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6 15 p. m.

J. C. POPE & CO.,

Insurance Agents,

NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET

Plainfield, N. J.

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS.

30 PARK AVE.

He Manufactures Them

HENRY C. ADAMS.

INSURANCE.

Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

A. Lusardi,

No. 120 North Ave.,

Will be pleased to serve his friends and the public generally with first-class fruits and confectioneries, cigars, etc. Fresh roasted peanuts every day 10c. quart.

Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. Rheaume, Ag

80 BROADWAY, cor. 4th ST.,

Invites the public to inspect the operation his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL, in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for TURNING and SCROLL SAWING and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(Anthracite coal used exclusively insuring a clean, cheerful and comfortable ride.)

Station in New York foot of Liberty Street.

On and after Nov. 18, 1894, Table in Effect.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 3 14, 5 07, 6 30, 6 55, 7 20, 7 56, 7 56, 8 00, 8 28, 8 37, 8 45, 9 30, 10 04, 10 30, 11 19, A. M., 12 06, 1 16, 2 07, 3 05, 3 32, 4 00, 4 30, 5 04, 5 16, 6 00, 6 34, 7 09, 8 20, 9 22, 10 17, 11 P. M. Sunday—3 14, 5 07, 7 06, 8 13, 9 22, 10 16, 11 P. M., 12 00 night. Leave New York foot of Liberty street, 4 00, 6 00, 7 15, 8 40, 9 30, 10 30, 11 40, A. M., 12 00, 2 00, 3 00, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 15, except Saturday, 5 30, 6 45, 6 00, 6 30, 7, 7 30, 8, 9 00, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00 P. M., 12 15, night. Sunday—4 00, 7 15, 8 00, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00 P. M., 12 00 night. 1 A. M.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK

Leave Plainfield 3 25, 6 19, 8 00, 7 36, 8 00, 8, 8 40, 9 32, 10 06, 10 27, A. M., 12 06, 1 15, 2 00, 2 50, 3 12, 3 53, 4 00, 4 54, 5 09, 5 30, 10 17, 11 20 P. M. Sunday—9 01, 8 32, 10 06, 11 20, A. M., 12 00 night. Leave Newark 6 10, 7 15, 7 55, 8 30, 9 00, 10 00, 11 20 A. M., 1 15, 1 55, 2 20 Saturday only, 3 00, 3 30, 4 08, 4 40, 5 05, 5 34, 6 10, 6 40, 7 20, 7 55, 10 00, 11 20 P. M. Sunday—7 20, 8 45, 9 25, 11 00 A. M., 1 10, 2 05, 4 10, 5 40, 7 20, 9 25, 10 20 P. M. Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 7 10, 9 16, 9 54, 11 a.m., 12 00, 2 00, 2 22, 3 45, 4 00, 5 05, 5 14, 5 34, 6 04, 6 19, 8 32, 9 12, 10 26, 11 22 P. M. 12 38 night Sunday—8 45, 9 30, 9 54, A. M., 2 00, 3 20, 5 14, 6 38, 10 18, 11 14 P. M. Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 00, 7 28, 7 55, 8 20, 9 05, 9 48, 11 40 A. M., 12 50, 1 45, 3 05, 3 25, 4 38, 5 28, 6 28, 8 17, 8 45, 11 05, P. M. Sunday 8 25, 9 45, 10 55 A. M., 12 05, 1 20, 5 05, 6 45, 8 02, 9 05, 9 40 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND BOUND BROOK

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 8 16, 9 54, A. M., 12 46, 3 03, 5 14, 6 28, 9 22 P. M. Sunday—7 45, 9 20 A. M., 3 03, 6 28, P. M.

Leave Boston 6 05, 7 00, 8 50, A. M., 12 02, 4 04, 7 00 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 02, A. M. 6 40, 7 30, P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 54, a. m., 5 05 p. m.

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

5 45 A. M. for Flemington, Bethlehem, Allentown, Reading, Fairmount Park, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport and Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m. for stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

8 15 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge branch D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Hazleton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 54 p. m. way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 06 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Sunbury and Williamsport, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. Buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk.

5 05 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge branch.

5 14 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Reading and Harrisburg, Bangor, Allentown, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Mauch Chunk, Shamokin and Tamaqua, Buffet parlor car to Scranton.

6 19 P. M. for Flemington.

8 02 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading and Harrisburg.

9 21 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

5 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 36 a.m. Sundays for Easton, 2 03 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Reading and Harrisburg, 6 35 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

For Atlantic City, 8 37 a. m. 1 18 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c.

Leave Plainfield 8 37, 8, 10 27, a. m. 1 18, 3 51, 6 54, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove 8 03, a. m., 3 03 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 8 37, 8 36, 8 10 27 a. m., 1 18, 3 51, 4 40, 6 54, 7 08 p.m. Sunday—8 03, a. m., 3 03 p. m.

For Freehold, 8 37, 8, 10 27 a.m., 1 18 3 51, 4 40 p.m.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 8 45, 9 48, 10 45, a. m., 2 08, 5 18, 8 21, 9 37 p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—8 45, 9 48 a. m., 2 08, 5 18, 8 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Trenton 8 45, 9 48, 10 45, a. m., 12 46, 2 08, 5 18, 8 45 p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—9 48 a. m., 2 08, 5 18, 8 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Chattanooga, New Orleans and all points south with through vestibule sleeper, via Shenandoah Valley Route at 5 34 p. m. Sundays 5 18 p. m.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points west, week-days at 9 54 a. m., 8 22 p. m. Sundays 6 55 p. m.

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA, Reading terminal, 4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 11 35 a.m., 12 10 6 15, 4 04, 6 25, p.m. 12 10, night. Sundays—4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 12 35 a. m., 3 50, 6 00, 10 p. m., 12 10 night.

From 24th and Chestnut—9 55, 7 55, 9 21, 11 15 a.m. 3 50, 6 12, 9 10, 11 45 p. m. Sunday—9 55, 7 55, 12 19 p m, 3 50, 6 12, 9 10, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 3 00, 4 55, 9 05, 10 25, a.m. 12 15, 3 10, 4 20, 8 54, 9 05 p.m. Sundays—1 00, 4 55, 9 05, 10 27 a. m. 1 10, 4 20, 8 48, 9 05 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Granite Iron Ware.

Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.

Stoves at reduced prices.

Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-Iron Work.

Plumbing and Heater Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

119 East Front St.

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.

NO.

BUT FULL VALUE.

C. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging.

27 Chatham street.

H. Hand,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER

15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Residence and postoffice address

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.

Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

L. L. MANNING.

Marble and Granite Works

Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

CARPETS

Made and Laid With Paper Without Charge

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,

73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.

are making and laying Carpets with paper without charge, which is a saving of 15c per yd.

Parties about going to housekeeping will find no larger stock of Parlor Suits and Bedroom Suits to select from at such low prices. All of the latest Spring styles of Bedroom Suits of the Hall & Lyon manufacture, and Parlor Suits of all the latest manufactures and of the latest designs and coverings.

Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

All other goods suitable to furnish a house with in our line are sold at the lowest prices. Terms easy; one dollar per week.

The Portland Range!

The Court of Errors has just unanimously affirmed the opinion of the lower courts that no other dealer can take any range and put the name Portland on it and try to hoodwink the people that they are selling the original Portland Range, when such is not the case. 7,000 of these ranges now in use and not one complaint. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Goods delivered to all parts of the State free of charge.

Storing Furniture

Our new building just erected at 88, 90, 92 Bank street, seems to be the only building in the State to store furniture, the way it is being filled up. Furniture moved with vans at reasonable rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N J

PIANO BARGAINS.

Vanderbeek & Sattels

desire to say that they have ust received a fine lot of

New Pianos

of different makes which they will sell at prices never before offered. Among them are those wonderful

Behr Brothers Pianos

Also Behning & Sons.

They represent also the Knabe, Hazelton, Chickering and many others.

They offer an excellent

Steinway Grand, $350.

A great bargain. Call soon at

221 PARK AVENUE.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S

Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose..... 7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose.....10c pair
" " " double knee.....18c pair
" " " extra heavy.....25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handke chiefs.....5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs.....5c

210 West Front Street.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must faily be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will blow them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut prices.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

PATTI'S BIG PAY.

THE DISTINGUISHED PRIMA DONNA'S EARLY SUCCESS.

On the Stage at 7 and Carried Her Doll. A Twelve Thousand Dollar Concert in Boston. Suggestions to Beginners. Pretended Illness of Singers.

In an article recently contributed to the press, Mme. Patti says of her early experience as a prima donna:

Looking back over my many years of life on the operatic stage, reminiscences crowd thick and fast upon me. I sang on the stage from my seventh to my eleventh year, and carried on my doll when I made my first appearance in public, singing "Ah! non giunge"—the finale of the third act of "La Somnambula"—in a concert at Niblo's Garden, New York, on Dec. 3 1851.

I remember that occasion as well as though it were yesterday, and can even recall the dress I wore—a white silk with little trimming. After I had passed my eleventh or twelfth birthday I did not again sing on the stage till I was fifteen, and the interim I devoted to constant study and practice. On Nov. 24, 1859, when I was fifteen years of age, I made my debut in opera at the Academy of Music, in New York, singing the title role in "Lucia di Lammermoor."

Of all the tributes I received I remember one in Naples in 1878. On the last night of my engagement the warm hearted, generous Neapolitans literally covered the stage with flowers. Not only was I presented with large and beautiful floral designs, but small bunches of flowers, and even single ones, were rained upon me in a perfect shower. The leader of the orchestra was almost entombed in flowers, and the front of the stage was a perfect bank of them.

I think I may justly claim to have sung to audiences representing larger sums of money than any other artist now living. During my first engagement with Mr. Henry E. Abbey I sang to $12,350 at one concert in Boston, at the Mechanic's Institute. During the same engagement I sang in twenty-two concerts and twelve operas to a total of $226,000. During an engagement with Mapleson, in San Francisco, Etelka Gerster and myself being the prima donnas, we sang to $162,000 at eighteen performances, an average of $9,000 to each performance.

The late Thomas Winans, the great Baltimore millionaire, who amassed an immense fortune by railroad building in Russia, once paid $1,000 to hear me sing. It was in St. Petersburg, and the boxes were disposed of at auction. Mr. Winans paid $1,000 for the first choice.

There is a popular notion that singers often pretend that they are sick and decline to sing for that reason, when in reality there is nothing the matter with them. Perhaps this idea is sometimes correct. At all events, that famous tenor, the late Sig. Brignoli, in his palmy days in London was often accused of adopting that trick to secure some new exaction from his manager.

Col. Mapleson once secured a rival tenor, Brignoli's bitter enemy, who was up in all Brignoli's roles. Whenever Brignoli sent word that he was sick, the wily Mapleson would replace him with the other tenor, who was pushing Brignoli hard for first place in public favor, and would arrange a large claque that would vociferously applaud the tenor's every note to the echo, deluge him with flowers, and thus cause him to seemingly achieve a genuine triumph. This would immediately cure Brignoli, and it would be a long time before he took sick again.

But it must be borne in mind that singers are quite as mortal and quite as subject to all the ills that flesh is heir to as other people are, and when a great singer, suffering from a severe cold and hoarseness, must choose between disappointing the public and permanently injuring her voice, can she be expected to hesitate in choosing the latter alternative?

Young women with some voice and dramatic talent constantly ask me what they must do to become singers, operatic singers, of course, for nothing short of that will satisfy their vaulting ambition. You must be a workman at your trade before you can be an artist in your art is my invariable answer.

One should begin at a very early age, and it is of the utmost importance that the first instruction should be the very best obtainable. Above all, she should be thoroughly and correctly grounded in the rudiments of her art. This can only be done by one who is a complete master of vocal training. It is a common and very serious error to think that inferior teachers are good enough for a beginner.

Got Their Punishment in This World.

Regardless of the law on the subject, three young men of Windsor Locks, Conn., went out to hunt rabbits with a ferret recently, and spent an anxious day in consequence. They went over onto the Warehouse Point side equipped with a dog, a ferret and a piece of meat, to which was attached a long piece of stout twine. The dog was for general hunting purposes, the ferret was for unlawfully driving the rabbit out of his den, and the meat was to let down into the hole after the ferret had driven out the rabbit to lure the ferret out. Ferrets are lazy, and are very apt to go to sleep in the hole and stay there till they wake up unless they are enticed out by the smell of fresh meat.

After some tramping the young men saw a rabbit hole that looked as though it might contain a bunny, and slipped the ferret into it. They waited some time, but no rabbit appeared. They then wanted to get the ferret out, and go in search of more holes, and they looked around for the piece of meat to attract it out of the hole, but it was nowhere to be seen. One of the boys saw that the dog was industriously chewing something, and on closer examination of the end of the string was seen hanging out of his mouth. Inferring naturally that the dog had swallowed the meat, they began to cast about for some means of getting it back again.

They finally decided that the only means was to catch hold of the loose end of the string and pull the meat back again. So two of the boys laid hold of the dog and the other took hold of the string and began to pull. But the dog began to evince symptoms of distress and the plan had to be given up. The string was cut close to the dog's mouth, and he was left to digest the stringy meat in the best way he could. But the ferret was still in the hole. One of the boys was dispatched to town for another piece of meat, and the ferret was finally got back again.

Berlin has no slums. Even in the poorest quarters the streets are paved with asphalt, and are kept faultlessly clean.

SAVANNAH SNOW MAD.

Wild Scenes in the City After a Fall of Snow.

When the mantle of snow was spread over Savannah, the people did not know just how to take it at first. Then they turned in to have fun. All day the city was practically in the hands of the merrymakers. The people went wild over the snow. It was worse than three years ago. Then, on the occasion of a very slight fall of snow, some merchants got outside their stores and began snowballing each other, and a policeman interfered with the sport. They turned on him and made it so hot for him that he was glad to retreat, at first slowly, but afterward at double quick, and he finally broke into a run and was chased to the barracks, a distance of a mile and a half, by a howling mob of a thousand men, women and children.

The school children were dismissed for the day after roll call in the morning, so they joined the throng on the streets. Staid and sober business men, bankers, lawyers and clergymen went along the streets with tightly packed balls of snow in their hands ready to pelt acquaintances, or, in fact, anybody that made a good target. Bang! and the silk hat worn by a banker or lawyer would leave the head of wearer and land far out in the street. As the owner attempted to capture it a volley of snowballs would come from another direction. The electric cars were a mark for a large portion of the merrymakers, and conductors and motormen were treated as targets put up expressly for the snowball sharpshooters. The conductors hid themselves inside the car most of the time. Along in the afternoon, when the fun had become more furious and the snow was so soft that snowballs could be packed like solid ice, the motormen, after leaving one street crossing, would go inside the car and stay there until the next crossing was reached, thus escaping the bombardment directed at the car.

The women, both young and old, were not far behind the men in the sport. The height of the excitement was reached late in the afternoon, when an improvised sleigh turned from one of the side streets into Bull street. It was followed by about fifty men and boys, but once on this principal thoroughfare the crowd increased tenfold and the noise correspondingly. The sleigh went up the street and down again. Every man, woman and child wanted a sleigh ride. The frail conveyance was swarmed with passengers all the time, and the horse was well nigh exhausted by drawing the load and being pummelled with snowballs. The breaking of windows became a favorite pastime. On many street cars not a whole pane of glass could be found when they returned to the carhouse, so the order was given to haul off the closed cars and after that only open cars were run, and the conductors and motormen alone were left as targets.

EXEMPTIONS IN VARIOUS STATES.

Property of Judgment Debtors That Cannot Be Sold Under Execution.

Every State has a standard of exemptions protecting to a certain extent the property of judgment debtors from levy and sale under execution to satisfy claims for debt. In New York State the exemption is $1,000 for a homestead and $250 for household furniture and the tools of trade required by any mechanic in the pursuit of his business are also exempted. In Pennsylvania the exemption is $300, applying to real estate and personal property conjointly. In Illinois the exemption is $1,000 of real estate and on personal property $300 for a married and $100 for an unmarried person. In Alabama the real estate exemption is $2,000 and the personal exemption $1,000. In Arkansas 160 acres of land are exempt in the country and $2,500 of real estate within the city.

In Maryland there is no real estate exemption and only $100 on personal property, exclusive of clothing. In California the real estate exemption is $5,000 and the personal property exemption varies from $400 to $2,000, the latter being on miners' cabins, tools and claims. In Dakota, North and South; Kansas, Missouri, Montana and Louisiana, the real estate exemption is 160 acres of land. In Texas it is 200 acres; in Wisconsin and Michigan it is 40 acres. In New Jersey and Oregon there is no real estate exemption.

Generally speaking the insolvent laws of the United States are liberal and lenient to debtors in the West, liberal as to land but strict as to personal property in the South, and strict as to both in the Eastern and New England States. These variances are in part explained by the fact that under the Homestead law, adopted to promote the settlement of Western and Southern States, a certain amount of land was exempted by law from attachment, this operating as an inducement to new settlers. Gradually the exemption of personal estate was extended in order to correspond with the amount of exemption of real estate, which was not the case in the older portions of the country included within the thirteen original States. In the absence of a national bankruptcy law each State now makes its own regulations both for the seizure or the exemption of property.

The Arrogance of Riches.

Mrs. Van Stryver—Do you believe that Mrs. Goldmore's husband is really worth sixty millions?

Mrs. De Style—My dear, it must be true; look how shabbily she dresses.

Worth Trying.

Postman—I've got a letter for a policeman that I can't deliver. The neighbors say he has moved, but they don't know where.

Postmaster—Mark it, "Try Sing Sing."

Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, carrying good news of relief from pain.

Allcock's

Porous Plaster

stands at the head of all remedies for congestion in the chest, the first result of taking cold, and for all lameness and stiffness of joints or muscles.

"Just as Good as Allcock's." Not at all. No imitation approaches the genuine.

Allcock's Corn Shields, Allcock's Bunion Shields,

Have no equal as a relief and cure for corns and bunions.

Brandreth's Pills

are free from injurious substances. They give universal satisfaction.

11 16y-m w f

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices.

BEE H VE

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½

Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.

Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.

We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,

222 West Front st

Treasury Department

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1895.

Whereas, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882,

Now, therefore, I, James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business on March 1, 1915.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, 1895.

2143 JAMES H. ECKELS,
3 4 30 Comptroller of the Currency.

GEO. J. TOBIN,

187 North avenue.

Practical Plumber

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer

TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

W. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.

First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's

LAW OFFICES,

Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

Tel. 29B Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.

Have your plumbing system tested with the Smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

Opp Roberts's Livery 132 North Ave

H. DeMOTT,

With livery attached,

UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,

176 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 89 7

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET.

(Estate D. L. Smalley.)

94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.

GEO. EGEL, Manager.

We sell only first-class goods, at low prices, for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 10 t

N. E. KING,

High Grade Portraits

in Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.

483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimen of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

HER PA'S EXCEPTION.

The low-descending sun with torch of fire
Illumined cloudland's minaret and spire
As ardent maiden said unto her sire,
"A sight more vivid never met my quest!"
"Except", quoth he, cheered by the grate-fire bright,
"This warmth-disseminating anthra-cite
I bought of Geo. O. Stevens yesternight,
At 747 Front St., West."

(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Simpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort

[Hygeia Hotel]

Or Virginia Beach, Va.

[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $16 Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE

of meals and berths enroute, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,

Pier 26, North River, New York.
W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

In the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue.
Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey pork and poultry a specialty.
203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles.

411 Park Avenue,

Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES

From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little book—"Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning men's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,

175 North ave.

EIGHT MINUTES of THREE.

A DETECTIVE STORY

BY NYM CRINKLE.

[Copyright, 1895, by Bacheller, Johnson & Bacheller.]

CHAPTER V.

The day of the trial arrived in May. Daryl and I had arranged our plan carefully. We were to let the prosecution sail along with only a perfunctory show of objections and the most careless of cross-examinations and wait for Mrs. Prineveau to get on the stand. Daryl kept out of court, and the state had everything its own way. The killing was shown, the post-mortem gone over and the bullet and pistol shown and identified, and the ownership established. I let each witness go by without an attempt to confuse or invalidate his testimony, and only cross-examined the girl, Rosy, in accordance with Daryl's suggestion.

"One moment, Miss Kenny," I said, as she was leaving the stand. "You have testified that Mrs. Prineveau alone assisted Mr. Prineveau to dress for the ride?"

Rosy—"Yes, sir; she always helped him to dress."

"When you came into the room was he completely dressed?"

"No, sir; he had his waistcoat on, but not his coat, and he was going into his own room to get it."

"And Mrs. Prineveau called after him to hurry, as it was eight minutes of three?"

"Yes, sir."

"Now, Miss Kenny, try and recall if Mrs. Prineveau did not say anything else before they left the house?"

"O, yes, sir. She called back to me on the stairs and told me to keep her door locked, as there were strange men working on the roof."

"What were they doing there?"

"Fixin' the tin."

"How many of them?"

"Two or three, I guess."

"That will do, Miss Kenny."

So transparently puerile and nude of any mark was all this to John Greve that he came to me at recess and in his large patronizing way said, as he laid his hand on my shoulder:

"Harry, my dear fellow, you'll have to get up some steam and make a show of earning your retainer. By Jove, I recommended you!"

Daryl on the other hand was in the best of humor when we met in my study.

"Capital, capital," said he. "Couldn't be better. The two or three men on the roof is a surprise. The evening papers are playing into our hands beautifully.

"One of them says: 'The counsel for the defense had to be waked up at intervals and asked to say a few words and then went to sleep again.' That's a godsend. If Mrs. Prineveau is not lulled into a profound sense of security by this time then I'm an Injin. Keep your eye on her when I come into court and sit down by your side."

The next day, after a good deal of medical testimony about the aorta and bulllet wounds, all of which I let go without a word, Mrs. Prineveau was called. It was rather late in the afternoon. She came forward richly but plainly dressed, looked every inch a dignified but sorrowful widow and won everybody's sympathy at once. When she had seated herself in the witness box with calm and prepossessing candor, John Daryl came in through the crowd and sat down at my side. I was watching her closely, and saw plainly enough the muscles of her mouth twitch and her glance turn involuntarily toward John Greve for reassurance. But neither John Greve nor anybody else but myself saw anything.

Her testimony, given in a clear, direct manner and with the low, soft convincing tones of a lady, was merely corroborative of what we already knew. She was carried over the facts and restated them.

When the examination, without a single exception on my part, had been concluded, I began the cross-examination.

"Madame," I said, "it is in evidence that there was no clock in your dressing room, and that when you had put Mr. Prineveau's vest upon him and he had gone into his room, you called after him and asked him to hurry as it was eight minutes of three. Will you kindly tell the jury how you knew at that moment the exact time?"

The full import of this question, very rapidly put, came upon her all at once. According to Daryl's theory she had looked at the silver watch before putting it into Mr. Prineveau's vest pocket, and this was the first intimation she had received that we were in full cry after the watch.

There was a dead silence in the courtroom, caused by the curiosity of the listeners to find out what this question had to do with the murder.

I saw her hand tighten on the rail in front of her and her eyes dart from Daryl to me with a quick gleam of alarm. It was a critical moment for her, and she and the two men in front of her alone knew it.

Then, to my astonishment and chagrin, she seemed to recover herself, and with the same placid and candid voice as before she said:

"The clock on the church tower of St. Mary's is visible from my window, and I saw the time on that. It was eight minutes of three."

"Adjourn the cross-examination," whispered Daryl, hoarsely, to me.

"Your honor," I said, "it is now fifteen minutes of the hour of adjournment, and the witness is fatigued. I ask you to let the further cross-examination of the witness go over till morning."

I heard the suppressed laugh that went round the counsel table and was echoed by the listeners in the courtroom. But the adjournment was taken, and the moment I got Daryl alone, I said: "Well, you see your theory didn't work. What are we going to do now?"

To my surprise Daryl betrayed something like excitement. "I told you," he said, "that she was a smart woman. But I'll beat her now or hang myself. Go to your rooms and leave orders so that I can see you any time before daybreak to-morrow. I'll be back there, sure."

"What are you going to do?"

"Find those men that were working on the roof."

And with that he darted off, and had a sickly kind of feeling that if he kept his word he would hang himself

About three o'clock the next morning he woke me up with an outrageous ringing of the door gong. I slipped on my dressing gown, rubbed a wet towel over my head and face and went down. His long legs were stretched out in the study.

"Now, look here," he began, at once. "Let me give you this as straight and briefly as possible. That woman never saw the church clock that day, for it was impossible. She deliberately lied, and that lie is her doom.

"THAT WOMAN NEVER SAW THE CLOCK."

"Between her house and the church tower, which is on Twenty-second street, there is on the other side of Twenty-second street, nearest to her house, a building called Hibernia hall. There are two poles on either end of its cornice, and on the 17th of March, which is St. Patrick's day, there was a big banner stretched between them, and nobody in Mrs. Prineveau's house could see the church clock. The men on the roof couldn't tell when the dinner hour came, on account of it. I've got the two men, and they will swear positively, and so will the man who keeps the hall. Go back to bed; get your rest, and tackle her to-morrow just where you left off."

When the court opened John Greve, with the privileged sarcasm of an old lawyer, said: "The witness is yours, counselor. You can now investigate that church clock."

This was an unlucky speech.

"Madame," I said to Mrs. Prineveau, "at my learned brother's suggestion we will go back to the church clock. Now why did you say you saw the time on that church clock when it was impossible to see it from your house on that day?"

She was taken unawares and repeated after me: "Impossible?"

"Yes," I said, "impossible. There was a large stationary banner stretched on St. Patrick's day between your house and the church tower."

She showed some signs of distress and half turned towards her counsel. He was on his feet in a moment.

"Your honor," he said, "while I am perfectly willing to allow every latitude to my learned young friend in this interesting diversion, I submit that the time of this court cannot be taken up altogether with matters that are obviously irrelevant. The witness may have seen the time by a watch or computed it by the sun."

This was my chance. The witness did see the time on a watch. I said: "But she will not acknowledge it. I now ask you, madame: Did you not see that it was eight minutes of three by a watch?"

Daryl had come in now and his big cavernous eyes were fixed on her. She hesitated a moment and then said:

"I may have done so; I do not remember."

"Do you mean to say that you fixed the time to a minute and do not remember how you did it?"

"I do not remember."

"Then why did you swear yesterday that you fixed it by the church clock?"

"I have been in the habit of so doing when in my room."

"But now you say you may have done it by a watch."

"I may have."

"What watch?"

"I—I cannot say."

I heard Daryl whisper at this moment, hard and fast now: "Don't let her think."

"Was it a silver watch made by Bringdat Frere, Geneva?"

A look of weariness shot across her face. Her lids came down a little tremulously. She made a movement, very slight, of distress. John Greve jumped to his feet to protest, and some one gave her a glass of water.

"The counsel is simply wearing out the witness," said Greve, "with incomprehensible questions. On behalf of the lady, who is distressed and ill, I protest."

"And on behalf of justice," I replied, "I ask the jury to observe that the questions about a watch distress both witness and counsel.

"Madame, was it not your husband's silver watch by which you saw the time when you put it in his waistcoat pocket, to be worn over that spot where the bullet hole was made?"

Here the prosecuting attorneys were all on their feet, of course, shouting exceptions. But I kept my eye on the witness. I knew that there was a profound sensation in the courtroom. I could feel it against my back like a magnetic wave. But I never took my eyes off the woman.

"Your honor," I said, without turning my head toward the bench, "this is a question of life or death to an innocent man. His fate lies in the answers of this witness. She has deliberately lied in saying that she saw the time from a church clock; and she did it to conceal something. It will save the state and my learned friends a great deal of futile labor to permit the cross-examination to go on now."

"If the counsel will frame his questions to fall within the evidence there can be no objection," said the judge.

"Madame, your husband carried a watch?"

She bowed her head.

"Did he buy that watch or did you?"

"I may have done so. I have made many purchases for him."

"Can you produce that watch?"

"I suppose so."

"Could you identify it if I produced it?"

She did not immediately answer this question. I could see that a weird change was coming over her. She was making up her mind that Daryl and I knew the whole dire history of her crime, and were merely playing with her. The weary look became more pronounced. Daryl saw this, too, and whispered to me not to forget the waistcoat.

"I ask you, could you identify the watch if we produced it?"

"Yes, I suppose so."

"Could you identify the bullet that fitted into the back of it?"

I stood still while the indignant voices of the prosecution rang out. For I saw what was coming. During the wrangle of objections, she toppled over in a dead faint and struck her head on the bar of the box heavily.

The one thing that I distinctly heard in the confusion that followed was Daryl's husky whisper: "Look out now that she don't kill herself before she makes a confession. The jig's up. I'm going over to tell Mrs. Clarkson."

But he didn't go to Mrs. Clarkson's till the next day. He got shunted off quite unexpectedly. As soon as he learned that Mrs. Prineveau had been taken from the courtroom to a neighboring hospital, he went straight to her house and, getting in by some means, ransacked the whole establishment with one of the central office men, until he found the watch.

It was the most ingenious piece of mechanism I ever saw. If you set it at eight minutes of three it fired off a fulminating cap and drove the silver-plated bullet in the back with sufficient force to bed itself for half an inch in a soft piece of wood, for we saw it tried in Superintendent Byrnes' office.

[THE END.]

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

Hot Rolls

of carpet. Quite an accident happened to us while carrying carpets to our carpet department, 5 rolls tumbled down a flight of stairs; nothing broke but the prices and we are happy to say they broke in half. Not a piece of carpet have we forgot to mark down. If ever you had a chance to buy carpets cheap, this is one that you should grasp. A bare floor is as bad as a bare head. These are only a few of our many specials.

53c..Brussels carpet handsome patterns..53c
69c.....Brussels carpet worth 85c.....69c
29c.....Ingrain carpet worth 45c.....29c

Mattings

15 rolls of 17c matting 12½—by roll 10c.
13 " 30c " 10c " 15c.
10 " 35c " 25c " 20c.

Oil Cloths

In this line we have the best selection and lowest prices of any house in the city.

Ladies' Separate Skirts

Crepon skirts $4 25—worth $6
Black serge skirts $3 75—worth $5
Cloth skirts, all sizes, $2 49, worth $3 50
Just received an elegant line of Spring Capes in black, blue and tan at $1.25. This price for a short time only.

Infants' Long Robes

$1 25 will buy a $1 65 robe, nicely trimmed.
$1 45 " $2 robe, handsomely made.
$2 00 " $2 65 robe, Valenciennes lace trimming.

Calico Waists

Ladies calico waists, sizes from 32 to 44, for one week only 21c.

Capes

Cloth capes, a bargain, at $1.75; our price for one week only $1.

Dress Goods

We still lead with our goods on the top of the ladder.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

—AT—

NEUMAN BROS.,

—THE—

Watchung Ave. Grocers,

will be found tomorrow a choice lot of fresh vegetables as follows—Spinach, cauliflower, Boston lettuce, celery, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, rhubarb, parsley, beets, oyster plant. Also a select lot of table apples and oranges.

BAMBERGER'S

"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values

IN

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality,

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c. at

49 cents.

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street. Newark, N. J.

SPRING STYLES

In Men's Hats are in today.

G. A. Hallock, 109 West Front St.

Alex. Willett & Son

Sell the best

Men's $3 Shoe

IN THE CITY.

IF YOU WANT

ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

Spring Curry Comb

Clock Spring Blade. Soft as a Brush. Fits every Curve. The Only Perfect Comb. Used by U. S. Army and by Barnum and Forepaugh Circuses, and Leading Horsemen of the World. Ask your Dealer for It. Sample mailed post paid 25 cents.

"Use one name on the handle." SPRING CURRY COMB CO., 102 Lafayette St., South Bend, Indiana.

78t-1 9-t t

HEATH & DRAKE

Announce their

Grand

Spring Opening

on Tuesday,

Wednesday,

Thursday,

MARCH 12, 13 and 14.

When a line of goods suitable for the season will be exhibited, consisting of elegant, medium and low priced dry goods, upholstery, carpets, etc.

You are cordially invited to attend.

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J.

MRS. L. COLES,

FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER

Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st.

Taylor's French System used. Suits $6.00 and upward.

221

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1.50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 239 1m

Central Employment Office

218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.

All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first-class help always on hand or can be had on 2 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Cigars, Etc.,

128 NORTH AVENUE,

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY D.

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Telephone call, 29 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge. 220

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit,

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lilies, Indian azaleas, India rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 9 p. m. H. HOHNER, 26 North ave., Plainfield. J. Reters to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Frith, Tomlinson, Geo. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong.

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., TUESDAY, MARCH 12, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY. $5 A YEAR.

TWIRLING THE SPHERES.

Catholic Young Men's Lyceum Begin a Bowling Tourney.

The individual handicap bowling tournament of the C. Y. M. L. members was inaugurated last night, the starters being the scratch and Class B men.

The average scores made were not particularly good, with the exception of Patrick Kiely's score, but doubtless before the 800 games of the tournament are finished the bowlers will all push close to the 200 mark. The fact that the contestants bowl ten continuous frames without a break makes the running up of a big score a very difficult matter—especially on the last half, when that "tired feeling" permeates the bowler, and the perspiration pours off in huge drops.

The best bowling last night was that of McInerney of Class B and Kiely and Carty of the scratch men. Donnelly, with his shining new rubbers, caused quite a bit of fun among the bowlers.

The scores of Class B men were:

C. Guinee	142	McInerney	154
Moran	137	"	170
"	138	C. Guinee	125
Donnelly	143	Moran	116
"	165	C. Guinee	159
"	111	McInerney	153

The scores of the scratch men were:

Kiely	123	Butscher	121
Gallagher	138	Carty	185
Waters	145	Wierenga	150
Butscher	135	Gallagher	109
Waters	142	Carty	171
Kiely	150	Wierenga	131
Butscher	150	Carty	152
Gallagher	102	Kiely	194

The Dangerous Slingshots.

As the occasional pleasant days come and go, the busy little sparrows begin to get ready for their season's work, and they congregate on the trees in great numbers seeking proper localities in which to erect new homes. The small boys, and many who are not so small, are after them with their slingshots, that is, a bit of rubber attached to a forked stick or wire, and of sufficient power to propel buckshot or small pebble with sufficient force to kill a sparrow twenty-five or thirty feet away. The trouble is the boys do not always confine themselves to feathered game. It frequently occurs that they turn their catapult batteries on each other, which is a very dangerous pastime indeed. Even when shooting the birds they are not at all careful which way they aim their shots, and broken windows are often the result, and of course "nobody" did it. Somebody's eyes might be saved if the police were to put a stop to the use of these dangerous toys.

Result of the Bank Failure.

Trenton, March 11.—Chancellor McGill granted today an order requiring ex-Congressman J. Nelson Pidcock of Hunterdon County to show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of court. The order is returnable before the Chancellor at Trenton March 19, and was granted on the application of William Y. Johnson the receiver of the Somerset County Bank, which was wrecked by Pidcock's failure two years ago. Receiver Johnson recovered judgments against Pidcock aggregating about $55,000 and an injunction was issued by the Chancellor restraining Pidcock from transferring or disposing of any property held by him. Since that injunction was granted, Receiver Johnson alleges that Pidcock assigned to his two sons for the nominal consideration of $1 a judgment for $1,100.15 which he had obtained against the executors of John Vermilye. This, it is claimed, is a violation of the injunction.

Acorns That Grow Big.

Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman has appointed the following committee to form an Acorn Society: Mrs S A Cruikshank, Mrs Thos Mumford, Mrs Marion S Ackerman, Mrs D T VanBuren, Mrs Joseph W Reinhart, Mrs N Pendelton Rogers and Miss Dryden. The object of the society is the reduction and final extinction of the debt on the church property, and it is expected that every family in the parish will have a representative in the society.

Always Ready for the Gong.

Driver Townley of Alert Hose cart yesterday afternoon constructed a small bridge from a window in the flat in which his family resides to a window in Alert Hose house, which is only a few feet distant. By this means he can go quickly and safely from his home to the hose cart. Heretofore he has taken the risk of jumping from one window to another.

The Monday Afternoon 200.

The annual entertainment of the Monday Afternoon Club will take place April 29, when an elaborate lunch will be given in the Casino of the Union County Country Club. It is expected that 200 will attend the event.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

THE PLAINFIELD POOR.

Leading Citizens Discuss Plans and Prospects.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE TRAMPS.

Funds Low, But Work Progressing Steadily—Planning to Incorporate the Association, to Perfect and Make Permanent Its Work.

The meeting of the Citizens Organized Aid Association in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Church last evening was well attended, and much interest was evidenced.

It was stated, as announced in last night's Daily Press, that the Plainfield Relief Association had rented the house on West Second street next to their present quarters, and the Aid decided to rent two of their new rooms, where headquarters would be established from April 1.

H. B. Newhall, Dr. W. H. Murray, Miss E. B. Leonard, Mrs. H. B Opdyke, D. P. Hall and S. E. Huntington were appointed a committee to revise the constitution and see what could be done towards incorporating the society.

A communication was received from Councilman S. A. Ginna stating that a committee from the Council had been appointed to confer with the committee from the society in regard to the proposed poor farm.

Reports of various commitees were read, and showed a steady progress, though the funds of the treasury were low. A private donation of $50 was received, and gratefully acknowledged.

The Employment Committee called attention to the fact that they had enrolled a number of deserving women, who were anxious to secure work.

A portion of the evening was occupied indiscussing the tramp question, but no conclusions were reached as to what should be done with them.

Consolidating the Parishes.

[From The Advance.]

By the approach of Spring we are reminded that it will soon be necessary to make arrangements for the Sunday-school Summer excursion. It has been customary for the Sunday-school of Grace Church, as well as of St. Stephen's, to unite with the Baptist or Presbyterian Sunday-schools, or rather to pay them outright a sum of money for the use of a certain number of cars attached to their train. Lewis G. Timpson, who has long had charge of this matter for Grace Sunday-school, offers a suggestion which he desires to bring to the attention of the schools belonging to the parishes represented by this paper, namely: That the four parishes unite in making the excursion, hiring their own train, and not being dependent on others in this matter. He has considered the subject carefully, and he believes that instead of being obliged to make expenditure on this account, each Sunday-school would, through the sale of tickets, if not have a balance to its credit from the venture, at least would be able to send its scholars free; that the receipts would balance expenses. Would it not be well to have a meeting of the superintendents to consider the question?

A Run on the Bank.

Ward and Vokes, as "Percy and Harold", have probably caused more genuine laughs, and more favorable newspaper comment, than any team in the theatrical profession. For years with that great amusement caterer, Tony Pastor, they received the best possible schooling, which brought out their great store of rich humor and spontaneous wit. Burlesque was their great forte, and an evening spent hearing and seeing them and their splendid company in "A Run on the Bank" is the pleasant thing in store for the Music Hall audience of tomorrow night.

On to Victory.

The Plainfield Bowling Club will leave town tonight on the 7:03 train for Cranford, where they will contest their second game in the Elizabeth Journal league. The team will be composed of Pope, Maltby, VanAlstyne, Vail, Wilbur and VanEmburgh. Thursday night the Westfield Club will bowl with the Plainfielders on the Board of Trade alleys.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold New York is one of the healthiest places on the Atlantic coast and yet there are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

NO PEPPER FOR THE GOAT.

But His Honored Highness Will Be Given Some Lively Substitute.

At the well-attended meeting of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, held last evening in Firemen's Hall, arrangements were made for the reception of Fanwood Council at the meeting March 25. These brothers will show their Plainfield brethren a trick or two in the way of properly riding his bewhiskered majesty, that really harmless terror, the goat. The old-time method of feeding the animal on cayenne pepper two weeks in advance of initiation will hereafter be abolished. The new method is as yet the secret of the Fanwood boys, and the denouement is impatiently awaited. A male quartette, W. F. MacClymont on the piano, and Brother Korff on the violin, will see to the musical part of the affair.

Past Regent Peter A. Emmons was surprised last evening by the presentation to him of a beautiful royal velvet and gold Past Regent's regalia. Orator Burtis made a few appropriate remarks, and Brother Emmons thanked the Council in a few well-chosen words.

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

A number of Dunellen's elite enjoyed a dance at the home of Miss Della Fritz last evening. The young people were served with a bountiful collation at midnight, when they left for their several homes, thanking the hostess for being so pleasantly entertained.

J. A. Lindzey and J. E. Low are among those of the Gun Club who will carry new guns.

Dr. Brakeley has been ill with a severe cold for a few days past, and it has been difficult for him to attend to his business.

Miss Emma Gamelton of Plainfield visited friends in Dunellen yesterday.

Charles Maire will move to New York city, April 1.

Clubbed Her With a Monkey-Wrench.

The Boulevard was the scene of a serious fracas Sunday evening. A man and wife living on West Third street had imbibed considerable newly-licensed whiskey, and towards night began abusing one another, first with words, then with fists, and finally, on the husband's part, with a monkey-wrench.

About 7 in the evening the wife was seen running along the street with her baby in arms, and the blood flowing in a stream down over her dress and child from a brutal wound in her forehead, which was bulged out in a large lump. The woman sought out a policeman, and returned with him to the domicile, where the husband was whiskey crazy. The sight of the officer had a quieting effect on the man, and the wife then repented and declined to have him arrested.

As usual every effort was made by the couple to keep the matter quiet, and no complaint was made in the City Court.

Banjo, Mandolin, Guitar.

Lovers of banjo, guitar and mandolin music will be pleased to co-operate with Miss Claribel Jeffery in her endeavor to establish herself in that line of instruction in Plainfield. Miss Jeffery is a pupil of Signor L. Ricca and Guiseppe Braime of New York, I. G. Withers of New York, and E. H. Furguson of Rochester. She is an adept on all three instruments, and skilful at teaching the art to others. She is a member of the Park Conservatory in Newark, and makes a specialty of forming and instructing clubs. She can be addressed in Plainfield at Taylor's music store, 322 West Front street, or in Newark at 28 Marshall street.

A Helping Hand.

The Helping Hand society of Grace P. E. Church will hold a sale of fancy articles, home-made candy, etc., during Easter week, the proceeds of which will be used to furnish new vestments for the choir. Donations of fancy and useful articles from any member of the congregation will be gladly received by the society.

Pleasures of Rural Living.

People who reside on Arlington avenue near the Randolph road are compelled to walk through several inches of mud to get to their homes, and in the night time it is particularly disagreeable on account of the absence of electric lights.

—Painters are touching up the interior of John Rafferty's saloon with varnish.

—Fire-alarm Box 37, corner of Spooner avenue and West Seventh street, has never been rung for a fire since it was placed in position, and the people of the district pray it never may be.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

OVER THE VETO.

A Partisan Legislature Refuses to Listen to Gov. Werts's Arguments.

Trenton, March 11.—The Republican Senators held a long caucus tonight and decided that the Senate would be ready for final adjournment Friday, March 22. They also decided to pass over the Governor's veto the Voorhees bill abolishing lay Judges of the county courts and providing for the the election of the county law Judges by the people.

This was done immediately after the caucus adjourned. The vote to pass the bill over the veto was 14 to 4, the minority votes being cast by Democrats. The bill will go to the Senate on Wednesday, and must lie over a day there before being acted upon. There will be no session of either House tomorrow, which will be given up the State House investigation.

Later the Elective Judiciary bill was taken up and passed by partisan votes. Senator Daly spoke against it and Senator Voorhees for it. The former after reading an editorial from the Jersey City Evening Journal (Rep.) condemning the bill said he did this for the edification of the Republican party, and while he did not suppose he could influence the party to vote against the bill, he said it was not a Democratic funeral.

Mr. Daly also read from the Newark Times (Rep.) a similar article against the bill. He submitted that a majority of the people of the State were opposed to the measure, and that if passed it would be a step backward. But he supposed it must go, and the judicial ermines for the first time must be dragged in the political mire.

PARTICULAR MENTION

David S. Dunavan is suffering with a severe cold.

Samuel Saums of Evona avenue visited Trenton today.

Isaac L. Miller is attending to business once more after an illness.

Counselor Charles A. Reed is in Jersey City today on legal business.

Mrs. Austin Sturtevant is dangerously ill at her home on Liberty street.

Edgar I. Serrell of Plainfield avenue is out again after an attack of the grip.

J. G. Hadam of Concord, N. H., was in town last night and this morning on business.

Isaac Smalley of East Front street is not improving as rapidly as his friends wish.

James F. Redhead of Hutchinson, Kansas, is visiting F. S. Green of East Fifth street.

Judge Coddington is one of the latest recruits to enter the gymnasium work at the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Nellie Cranmer of Jersey City spent Sunday with Mrs. James C. Pope of West Fourth street.

Perley Curtis of Penn Yan, a Junior at Lehigh University, was visiting friends in Plainfield yesterday.

Lewis DeCamp, who has been sick for three weeks, has resumed work in the Potter Press Works.

Miss M. Catrell of Avon returned Saturday to her home after a visit at the home of John P. Emmons of Prospect place.

The many friends of L. H. Biglow and family will be pleased to learn that they expect to return to Plainfield as residents.

Mr. Clemens of the Y.M.C.A. closes his work there Thursday, and Friday goes to Newark, where he enters on his duties as Assistant State Secretary.

Mrs. Rudolph Barrett, who has been seriously ill at her home on West Sixth street for several weeks, was yesterday removed to the Muhlenberg Hospital.

Recent prominent arrivals at the Finderne hotel are: Mrs. O. C. Storring, Lyman S. White, Mrs. C. W. Russell and Mrs. M. MacStay of New York, and Miss Grace Eldredge of Yonkers.

Plays Five at Once.

W. L. Lindsay, a musical prodigy, champion harmonica player of the world, who plays five different instruments simultaneously, all in perfect chord, will appear in appropriate costume in Bethel Chapel, Thursday evening, March 14.

With his mouth he plays the harmonica, he plays the guitar with his hands, with the neck of the guitar he plays an accompaniment on the organ or piano, with his right hand he plays on the autoharp, and with his feet he plays on a musical bell and pumps the organ at the same time, the whole being in perfect harmony.

—The Plainfield Bowling Club will be somewhat handicapped in their coming games by reason of Will Waters's inability to bowl on account of a felon on his thumb.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. R. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

LEVI HETFIELD'S WILL.

Filed for Probate in Union County.

EVERYTHING STAYS IN THE FAMILY

Plainfield Property Specifically Bequeathed to His Sons and Daughters, and Two of Them Chosen Executors.

The will of Levi Hetfield was filed for probate in Elizabeth yesterday.

After providing for the payment of his debts and the erection of a monument over his grave, the testator bequeaths:

To his daughter Anna D. Serrell the land, brick stores and right of way at 202-204 West Front street, valued at $18,000 and mortgaged for $8,000.

Also to Anna D. Serrell his gold watch and chain and gold eye glasses.

To the executors, in trust for his son Walter L. Hetfield, and to said Walter's heirs after his death, the land, brick building and right of way at 140-142 Park avenue, valued at $6,000, mortgaged for $2,000.

Also to the executors in trust for Walter L., the four brick dwellings, land and right of way, on West Third street between Madison and Arlington avenues, valued at $6,000.

To Walter L. Hetfield the use of testator's diamond stud, one-half his set of carpenter's tools, tool chest, and gold-headed cane.

To John M. Hetfield the row of eight frame dwellings on Arlington avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, valued at $10,000.

Also to John M. Hetfield his diamond ring, gold-band bracelet, one-half set carpenter's tools.

To his daughter Aretta H. Manning the homestead, Madison avenue and West Fourth street, valued at $8,000. Also $2,000 cash, and $500 special legacy for her kind and careful attention to him and his brother Squire Hetfield.

Also to her, the piano, carpets, rugs, pictures and other household goods.

The balance of the estate is to be divided among the four sons and daughters, Walter L's share being held in trust by the executors. Two notes endorsed for Walter and held by the City National Bank, for $1,000 and $475, are to be paid out of his share.

John M. Hetfield and Aretta H. Manning are made executors.

Wm. C. Boone and J. A. Hubbard are witnesses.

Today's Election.

The election that is being held today in North Plainfield is one of the most peculiar that has ever taken place in that community. The call for the Republican primary was published only four hours previous to its assembling. The Press named most of the successful candidates at the same time that it published the primary call one week ago last Friday. The Democratic call was published that same day, and was called for the following evening, (twenty-eight hours later), when a few met and nominated a ticket. The persons there nominated refusing to run, left the field to the Republicans without any opposition. And yet both parties are nearly equally divided in the number of voters, in that municipality.

New Mission Officers.

The Home Missionary society of the First Presbyterian Church elected the following officers yesterday afternoon: President—Gertrude Conover; First Vice-president—Louise Kohler; Second Vice-president—Bertha Wilcox; Secretary—Mabel Conover; Treasurer—Miriam Wilcox. A public annual meeting was arranged for March 25, when a lecture on "Africa" will be delivered.

President VanVliet.

The Plainfield Bicycle Club held a meeting yesterday evening, and elected the following officers:

President—D. M. VanVliet; Vice-president—A. E. Woltmann; Secretary—F. W. Walz; Treasurer—J. G. Drayton; Captain—F. L. C. Martin; Trustees—George P. Mellick, J. W. Sanford, Jr., J. S. Burr, J. Kushmore, A. L. C. Marsh, A. W. Dabol.

One new member was elected.

An Afternoon Runaway.

The horse attached to the peddling wagon of M. Rothburg became frightened on West Third street this afternoon at 2, and starting at a breakeck speed ran through various thoroughfares until stopped on Somerset street by Motorman Higgins of Car No. 1, and a number of bystanders. No damage was done.

Four Big Successes.

Having the needed merit to more than make good all the advertising claimed for them, the following four remedies have reached a phenomenal sale. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, each bottle guaranteed—Electric Bitters, the great remedy for liver, stomach and kidneys. Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world, and Dr. King's New Life Pills, which are a perfect pill. All these remedies are guaranteed to do just what is claimed for them and the dealer whose name is attached herewith will be glad to tell you more of them. Sold at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Hillier & Co. have a new horse for their delivery wagon.

—New telephone poles are being set along the lower end of Central avenue.

—The urchin with his long piece of cord and top is very much in evidence nowadays on every street corner.

—No business of importance was transacted at the meeting of the Street Committee of the Common Council last night.

—A new floor for the horses of Alert Hose cart to stand on was built in the stables in the West Second street house yesterday.

—Watchung avenue was given a more respectable look yesterday when Street Commissioner Meeker's men removed the surplus mud.

—A new plate glass was placed in the display window of Barker's pharmacy this morning to replace the one broken a few days ago.

—Theodore Drury, the Negro barytone who sang so well in the First Presbyterian Church last Sunday, is planning to give a concert in Plainfield.

—At the Carpenters and Joiners meeting to be held tonight all members are requested to be present, as business of great importance will come up.

—An entertainment is being planned by Woman's Relief Corps, No. 10, Auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., to take place at an early date.

—The residence of George Belcher on East Fifth street is receiving extensive exterior alterations and a fresh coat of paint. A brick barn is being erected in the rear.

—It will be several weeks before the two-men team bowling tournament at the Park clubhouse is finished. At present Peter Matthews and Julius Erickson are in the lead.

—An important meeting of Unity Lodge, K. of P., will be held tomorrow evening when the matter of changing their lodge rooms to the Babcock Building will be decided.

—The swimming tank at the Y. M. C. A. was flushed yesterday and put in condition for use. The bowling alleys are about finished, and in another week will be ready for the members.

—Residents on East Fourth street complain greatly of the disturbance made by boys in the freight cars which stand on the siding. If the disturbance is not stopped arrests will be made.

—If you want to see how far a dollar will go, stand on the corner of North and Watchung avenues and throw it at some of Love's wall-paper, shades and carpets, and you will be surprised at the distance.

—The second Lenten Bible study given by W. D. Murray in the Y. M. C. A. Building last night was attended by about 50 persons, who derived much profit and inspiration from the points brought forth.

—The first degree of Odd Fellowship was worked on Harry C. Runyon last night by Queen City Lodge. The discussion under the head of good and welfare of the order was productive of much benefit to the attending members.

—The women's desk in the postoffice is in almost constant use during each day, which is ample evidence that the feminines appreciate the attention of Postmaster Hetfield to their comfort and convenience while shopping with Uncle Sam.

—The next regular meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club will be held Monday, when a paper will be read by Miss Marion Dumont on "The Lieder of Mendelssohn and Schumann, with later composers of Lieder". Mrs. George A. Chapman will have charge of the illustrations.

To Join in a Show.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Camera Club was held last night, at which J. Hervey Doane, Walter Freeman and F. R. Stevens were made a committee to confer with a committee of the Crescent Wheelmen for the purpose of making arrangements for an entertainment which is to be given some time in April. The affair will take place in the Camera club-rooms in the Babcock Building, and the proceeds will be divided between the two organizations.

Republicans Afraid of Temperance Legislation.

The Senate bill prohibiting the holding of elections in hotels or bar rooms met with such strong opposition that it was laid over yesterday till Wednesday, as were several other bills of importance. Many members were absent, as today is election day in the townships.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down by pneumonia succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Sold by L. W. Randolph, druggist. Regular size 50c and $1; our price 45c and 90c.

LET PARKHURST ALONE

Such Is the Decision of the Presbytery.

Resolutions of Censure on Account of Recent Utterances Laid Upon the Table—Animated Discussion Over the Church of Sea and Land. Plain Talk But No Action.

New York, March 12.—According to programme the resolutions reflecting upon the conduct of Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst in the matter of his criticism of the New York presbytery's action with regard to the sale of the church of Sea and Land as outlined in these despatches, were offered at the monthly meeting of that body in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Parkhurst was absent, having left the city for a two weeks' rest, but his friends were there in force. Dr. Chambers, having the resolutions in charge, secured the floor at the opening of the session. He had a long statement based upon the records of presbytery and giving in detail the facts in regard to the proposed sale of the property and the terms of the occupancy, pending the sale, by the Madison Square church, of which Dr. Parkhurst is pastor. He prefaced this statement with a whereas setting forth the fact of an interview with Dr. Parkhurst in which the proposed sale was characterized by the eminent reformer as a "cold blooded violation of a solemn contract which is as true as the everlasting gospel. It was an act which, had it been committed in Wall street, would have furnished the clerical members of the presbytery with what they would have considered juicy material for homilitical exploitation." Following this preamble were the extracts from the presbytery records showing that the decision to sell the "Sea and Land" church antedaded the arrangement with Dr. Parkhurst's church by nearly a year and a half, that the occupancy of the church by Dr. Parkhurst's session was for one year only, that the session of the Madison Square church had stipulated in writing that "we would not wish to be obligated ourselves or ask presbytery to obligate itself beyond the one year," that subsequent action in regard to the sale of the church was made subject to the agreement with the Madison Square church, and that part of the proceeds of the sale was to be used in planting a mission in the neighborhood of the church, which would be available as a field for work carried on in the Sea and Land building by Dr. Parkhurst's session.

Animated Discussion.

Dr. John Hall opposed the resolution in the interests of peace and harmony. He objected to references in the preamble to Dr. Parkhurst and the Madison Square church. He asked to have the names stricken out. "Authorize the officers of the presbytery," he said, to print and circulate the statement as far as you wish, but omit all personal references to a brother whom we love and respect. Let the statement rest on the facts, and let the newspaper interviews with this brother alone. The public will be able to compare these statements of facts authorized by us with the newspaper references and adjudicate upon them as they see fit."

Dr. Mullaly, whose objections to the recent vote of approval of Dr. Parkhurst's reform methods created such a stir in the presbytery several weeks ago, was on his feet in an instant. "To my mind," he cried, "the preamble is the most important. It is a question of a member of presbytery arraigning his presbytery before the public instead of before the session and charging it with crime, with a misappropriation of funds, with a violation of contract, with being not worthy of confidence. An honored pastor of a church rises to object because the member who does this is named. Are we to be the prey of a man who makes his living by sensational writing? An individual has arraigned the presbytery, and an individual shall be named. If I had my way I would bring him before the bar of this court and make him answer."

Dr. Francis Brown, Dr. Duffield, Dr. Buchanan and other pastors opposed the resolution, which had been altered by Dr. Chambers to meet Dr. Harris' suggestion. Dr. Buchanan of the Thirteenth Street church thought it was unnecessary and undignified for the presbyery to exonerate itself from alleged criticisms spoken to an unknown reporter on mere rumor by publishing a statement. Dr. Anterbury of the Park Presbyterian church agreed with Dr. Buchanan and his motion to lay the resolutions as amended on the table was carried by a vote of 57 to 36. Many of the conservative members of presbytery voted with the liberals on this motion.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

WHEAT—Trade on spot is quiet, owing to the higher views of holders. No. 2 red quoted 2½ over May. No. 1 Manitoba 5⅝@⅞-over May f. o. b. afloat.

CORN—Spot dull but held strongly. No. 2 quoted 51¾ afloat; steamer yellow in elevator 5⅝@50⅞, part to arrive.

OATS—Spot firm but quiet. No. 2 white 37@37¼. No. 2 mixed 33½@33¾.

BUTTER—The demand continues slow, but with larger receipts. Prices show a further decline all along the line. New butter, creamery, Western extras, 19@19¼c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fancy, 18c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, seconds to firsts, 12@17c.; Western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 9@14c.; Western dairy, firsts, 12@13c.; Western dairy, thirds to seconds, 8@10c.; Western factory, fancy, 13c.; Western factory, firsts, 9@10c.; Western factory thirds to seconds, 7@8@c.

CHEESE—The demand for fine and fancy cream continues and the market is strong, more especially for small size small-made, which is now in very small supply. State, full cream, large colored, fancy, 11½c.; do. do., large white, fancy, 11c.; do. do., large choice, 10½@10¾c.; do. do., large, good to prime, 10@10⅛c.; do. do., common to fair, 8½@9¼c.; do. do., small colored, fancy, 12c.; do. do., white, fancy, 11½c.

EGGS—Receipts continue large and prices show a further decline. Western fresh collections prime 15½c.

CUBAN REVOLUTION

Spain Deems the Situation Serious and Sends $1,000,000

Madrid, March 12.—A credit of $1,000,000, to be used in suppressing the Cuban insurrection, has been cabled to Captain General Calleja in Havana. The preparations to ship more troops to Cuba are pressed forward with great rapidity. In addition to the three transports which have already sailed, half a dozen or more troopships have been made ready to leave Cadiz and Santander as soon as the infantry shall be got aboard. The total number now under orders for the Cuban campaign is 12,000. Not a few of the soldiers are veterans of the previous campaign. They and the other experienced men have been distributed among the regiments so that every company of new recruits may have a backbone of tried campaigners. Despite the terrors of the Cuban climate for the European Spaniard, there are numerous volunteers from all parts of the country. The popular excitement is beyond anything warranted by the sanguine reports given out by the government. It is almost as great as when the Kabyles attacked Melille.

While military men here profess to believe that the insurrection is not very serious, the officers of Cuban experience, most notably Martinez de Campos, fear that the present outbreak is the beginning of a long period of unrest on the island. They think the armies will be forced to remain some time in the disturbed districts. The expense and loss of life in the trying climate, they predict, will be sources of constant regret and inconvenience to the mother country. To this view undoubtedly is due Campo's eagerness to have many thorough reforms introduced in the administration of Cuban affairs. He has reiterated in private conversation with members of the government the plea for reform which he made in the senate last week and the ministers have decided to take in hand most of the measures suggested by him.

WORTH IS DEAD.

End of the Man Who Ruled the World of Fashion.

Paris, March 12.—Charles Frederick Worth, the world-famed dressmaker, of Paris, and the man who ruled the world of fashion, died yesterday.

The famous dressmaker was, singularly enough, a native of England, but the only queen in all Europe who never ordered a toilette from him is the one in whose dominions he was born. He began life as a printer, but an instinctive dislike to soiling his hands, as well as his inborn gifts, led him to exchange his apprenticeship for a position in the extensive dry goods house of Swan & Edgar, in London.

There he developed and perfected his appreciations for the productions of the French milliners and dressmakers, superintending the unpacking of every case of pattern garments that arrived, and speedily becoming an authority in all matters connected with stylishness of cut and tastefulness of trimming.

Worth made dresses not only for the royal ladies of Europe, but for the queens of society both in Europe and the United States, and for the queens of the footlights as well. His first royal customer was Donna Maria da Gloria, queen of Portugal.

For years thereafter there was scarcely a princess married in Europe—outside of the imperial family of Germany, whose principles forbid them from ever ordering anything to be made in Paris—that did not have a group of Worth toilets included in her trosseaus.

Jameson's Unlucky Journey.

Providence, R. I., March 12.—Mrs. Thos. Jameson, of Johnston, sent her husband to Quebec two weeks ago to transact business in her name. Jameson received $755 for her, and started for home, and, as he failed to reach here, it was supposed that he had deserted his wife. It now transpires that Jameson, who was once an able seaman on H. M. S. Pandora, was arrested in Quebec by an officer of that vessel and has been held to await a court-martial in England, he having deserted the Pandora at Barbados. He will probably be sentenced to serve his entire term of enlistment, and in addition a long term of imprisonment. At the time of the queen's jubilee Jameson failed to secure a pardon.

Plan to Pension Employees.

Peru, Ind., March 12.—President Ashley of the Wabash railway has evolved a new plan for pensioning and providing insurance for the employees of that system. The company is to set aside a certain sum of money each year to be invested as an insurance fund, the men to be paid according to length of service and good record. Five years from now, in 1900, would give those entitled $1,000 at death. For each five years' service thereafter $1,000 additional would be paid until the limit as provided is reached. His plan also provides for a pension under which employees who become disabled or grow old in the service, will receive stated amounts.

What China Agrees To Do.

London, March 12.—The Times correspondent in Pekin says: "China, through the United States Ministers Denby and Dun, has agreed that the points to be discussed at the peace conference with Japan shall include: the independence of Corea; the cession of territory; the payment of such an indemnity as the envoys may determine."

Fatal Fire in a Shaft House.

Winnipeg, Man., March 12.—The Sultana mine shaft house at Rat Portage took fire in the drying room yesterday. Two miners are dead and eight others were almost suffocated to death. The fire is supposed to have been started by a pipe in the pocket of a coat hanging on the wall.

Rebellion of Sooloos.

Madrid, March 12.—The captain general of the Philippine Islands has made an urgent application for troops to quell a rebellion of the Sooloos. A battalion of marines held ready at Ferrol to embark for Cuba has been ordered to Manila.

Clean Sweep for Republicans.

Augusta, Me., March 12.—Yesterday's election resulted in a clean sweep for the republicans who re-elected Mayor Millikin by an increased majority.

LAW AND LANGUAGE

Judge Righter Seems To Be Master of Both.

Louisiana's Law on Prize Fighting Declared To Be a Piece of Legislative Fraud and Mendacity—Pugilism a Legitimate Business and Domestic Industry in That State.

New Orleans, March 12.—Yesterday Judge Righter handed down the following decision in the case of the state vs. the Olympic club:

"I am called upon to interpret and enforce act No. 25 of the statutes of 1890. The title of the act reads: 'An act defining the crime of prize fighting and to provide for the punishment thereof in and out of the state of Louisiana.'

"The act embraces two sections and a proviso, neither of the sections defining the crime of prize fighting nor does the proviso tell what a glove contest is. The former (not defined) is forbidden and punished, the latter are under conditions permitted and by implication encouraged.

"Having under instructions from the supreme court excluded all expert testimony as to the distinction between these differently designated methods of pugilism, and referring only to the facts proved in one case and in the other, I find that a prize fight is a glove contest without gloves, and that a glove contest is a prize fight with gloves. In each case, there is a duel with fists and there is a prize. In each case there is the same danger to limb and life, the same maiming and shedding of blood; the same brutality.

"I conclude therefore, that the act entitled 'An act defining the crime of prize fighting and to provide for the punishment thereof in and out of the state of Louisiana,' is a piece of legislative fraud and mendacity. It neither defines the crime of prize fighting nor does it provide any penalty for the same which cannot be evaded by the mockery of covering with gloves the hands of the gladiators. That a glove contest is brutal and dangerous as a prize fight was clearly settled in the case of Lavigne vs. Andy Bowen. On the whole, I find that a prize fight in Louisiana is a glove contest and that a glove contest is a prize fight. It logically follows, that there being no prohibition of glove contests in this state, the same being legalized and encouraged under certain conditions, which the prize fighter willingly accepts, prize fighting is now what it never was before the enactment of statute No. 25 of 1890, a legitimate business and domestic industry, under the special protection of the law, while before the passage of that statute it would constitute the crime of assault and battery and in some cases of manslaughter.

"Judgment for the Olympic club."

JERSEY POLITICAL SCANDALS.

Plan To Continue the Investigations Begun at Trenton.

Trenton, N. J., March 12.—The state house investigating committee will resume the examination of witnesses in the senate chamber to-day. Sensational developments are expected but the members of the committee are close-mouthed and refuse to reveal their nature. Eugene J. Murphy, the former book-keeper of John Mullin & Co., the Jersey City furniture dealers, will probably be put on the stand again. He was closeted with Counsellor Corbin several hours. He was the witness who last Friday showed from the books of Mullin & Co., that desks, chairs, etc., sent to private houses were paid for by the state and that the state paid exorbitant prices for nearly everything bought from the firm. While it is true that great pressure is being brought by certain politicians to have the committee end its labors summarily it is also a fact that there is a great demand that the committee shall continue its work and "cleanse the stables" thoroughly before quitting. The committee have practically decided after getting through at the state house to investigate complaints of corruption in Hudson, Middlesex and other counties. There is work enough, however, right in the capitol to keep the committee busy several weeks.

Strange and Fatal Epidemic.

Ashland, Ky., March 12.—Latest reports from Floyd county brought by local traveling salesmen just returned are not at all encouraging for the early suppression of the strange malady that is raging in the Mud river country. It has become so violent that even the physicians of the surrounding towns refuse to visit the victims. In all, the death roll has exceeded fifty already and the disease is on the increase. The disease instead of being smallpox resembles cholera except that it chokes the victim to death, beginning in the stomach and rising to the throat. In almost every case it has been fatal, the victims seldom living three days after the attack.

Want Their Old Wages.

Jamestown, N. Y., March 12.—Nearly 400 girls employed in the drawing and spinning rooms at the Broadhead Worsted mills will go on strike to-day unless their wages are increased to what they were before the cut of last fall. The other employes of the factory are in sympathy with them and a general strike of the 1,000 employes may result.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box. For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

DOCTORS TRY MUNYON.

Official Records Open to the Public.

A Well-Known Physician Tests the New Discovery With Most Successful Results.

Dr. George F. Brooks, No. 29 Temple place, Boston, says:

"I have used a good many rheumatism medicines in the course of my practice, but I can candidly say that I never saw a remedy as effective as Munyon's Rheumatism Cure. I gave the sample bottle I got Monday to one my patients, a lady, who has had chronic rheumatism in her limbs for years. Her knee and elbow joints were stiff, and she suffered great pain. Its effect was simply marvelous. Relief from pain was obtained in a few hours after the first dose, and inside of 24 hours the lady was feeling better than she had for years. I shall prescribe Munyon's Cure for all cases of rheumatism that come under my care in the future."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or pain in the back are speedily cured.

Munyon's Homoeopathic Home Remedy Co. of Philadelphia put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25c. a bottle.

Those who are in doubt as to the nature of their disease should address Professor Munyon, 1505 Arch st., Philadelphia, giving full symptoms of their disease. Professor Munyon will carefully diagnose the case and give you the benefit of his advice absolutely free of all charge. The Remedies will be sent to any address on receipt of retail price.

A Word to the Wise is Sufficient.

I suffered terribly from roaring in my head during an attack of catarrh, and became very deaf, used Ely's Cream Balm and in three weeks could hear as well as ever.—A. E. Newman, Garling, Mich.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from the nose Physicians prescribed without benefit. After using Ely's Cream Balm a short time the disease was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE,
CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 25 Grandview ave. L. C. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,
MASON AND CONTRACTOR.
Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 3 28 y

JOHN P. EMMONS
—Mason and Builder.—
Washington avenue and Prospect place
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Jobbing promptly attended to 11 14 tf

PEARSON & CAYLE,
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. B Cayle, No. 19 Vine St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
7-21-tf

JOHN T. ODAM
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
Slate Roofer and Repairer
Residence, cor. Arlington ave. and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J. New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 6 10 y

GEO. W. STUDER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
985 ARLINGTON AVENUE.
Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to. Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,
21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.
E. H. McCullough, Proprietor.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 4-13-tf

C. W. LINES,
Mason and Builder.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence—118 Liberty street.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to 12 6tf

Jno. J. Shotwell,
Wood Mantels,
Tiles and Fire Place Furnishings.
221 Park avenue, upstairs. 3 5 tf

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION
Is called to the
Home Department
of Rockview School, 317 East Front street.
Children received from
4 to 15 Years.
Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.

Afternoon Class for Young Ladies
Three times per week. Higher English Branches, French and Music. For terms apply MISS FAWCETT, 25 Washington ave

CODDINGTON'S
FURNITURE AND FREIGHT
EXPRESS.
OFFICES—24 West Front street; 28 Park avenue Post Office Box 228.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large covered trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 11 87

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10¾c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,

Painters and Decorators.

167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I R E S O P U B C F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; second if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.

Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,
Prescription Druggist,
143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

NEW STOCK.

Fine Hats, Dress Shirts,
Gloves and Neckwear
U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,
120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat.
or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.
E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,
177 North Avenue.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,

for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.

The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.

Corner Park avenue and Front street.

SHAD! Rogers
232 W. 2d. St.

106 East Front Street—— NEW STORE. NEW GOODS.
Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."

Fine quality mixed tea	25c	Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
" Oolong tea	30c	Can peas, early June	8c
" Young Hyson tea	40c	Can corn, fine goods	8c
" Japan tea	40c	Fine butter	24c
XX soda crackers	4½c	Ground coffee	17½c
Ginger snaps	5½c	Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Nic-nac crackers	6c	Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
California peaches	17c can	" Rio coffee	24c
		Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented. H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,

301-311 Watchung Ave.

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.

Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement
For walls and ceilings.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables

Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.

OFFICE AND STABLES,

147, 149, 151 North Avenue, Opp. Railroad Depot.

A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager
Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn. 1 14 tf

SPRING HINTS.

Some Good and Necessary Advice at This Season.

THERE ARE SOME THINGS WE MUST SURELY DO.

And This Thing is By Far the Most Important of Them All.

Everybody needs a spring medicine—a remedy which will strengthen and invigorate the system, and tone up the action of all the organs. The change from cold to warm weather causes a depression of the vital forces, resulting in weakened nerves, impure blood and inactive organs.

Our esteemed correspondent, Mrs. A. S. Gould, writes us from Garland, Me., some facts in regard to this subject which will be of great interest and value just at this season.

"Through the loss of my mother, the sickness of my husband and the extra work which fell upon me, I was thrown into a condition of nervous and physical exhaustion. I grew constantly worse I cannot find words to expreee the terrible feeling that existed through my whole system—a feeling of utter weakness and prostration, with strange nervous sensations.

"My right foot was so bad it was with great difficulty I could walk. I had to place my foot every way to keep from falling. My hands and arms were weak, numb and pickly. I was very tired all the time. There was a heavy dull feeling in my limbs. Nights they seemed like lead weights. When out riding a mile distance, they would feel as though I had lost the use of them. I would move my fingers and arms to see if I could. I expected any day to be found paralyzed.

"Then I began to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. The first bottle did not seem to help me much but the second bottle did, and made me better. I kept on using it.

MRS. A. S. GOULD.

"Now I am feeling well, can do all my work and sleep well nights. I feel as though a great burden had been rolled away from me. I am doing a great deal of work every day and often walk, besides, as much as two miles.

"I think I will pass for a smart old lady so much for Dr. Greene's Nervur blood and nerve remedy. I can truly say that it has done wonders for me. I cannot speak too much in praise of it, for it has hee the greatest blessing to me.

"I only wish that other people afflicted with disease would try it—not one bottle, but several, in order to give it a fair trail. I truly think they would never be sorry. My earnest prayer is that this wonderful remedy may go out into the wide world to sick and suffering humanity."

If you want to be perfectly strong and healthy, the best possible thing to do is to take this great curer and strengthener You can be cured quicker in the spring than at any other season. You must take a spring medicine, everyone knows that, and Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the best and most certain, because it always cures.

It is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City. He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held March 4, 1895, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, March twenty-fifth, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 25, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council March 4, 1895, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000, payable to the treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

1,067 feet 24 inch pipe sewer,
2,284 feet 12 " " "
4,925 feet 10 " " "
80,605 feet 8 " " "
108 feet 8 to 12 inch cast iron pipe sewer.
116 manholes,
28 drop connections at manholes,
179 lampholes,
68 flush tanks,
4,141 Y branches,
875 extension connections on Y branches,
5,735 feet underdrains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposals, specifications, contract, bond, &c., may be obtained at the office of A. J. Gavett, constructing engineer, No. 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MACMURRAY,
City Clerk.

THE NOISE OF BATTLE

Swords Drawn Among the Southern Railroads.

The Seaboard Air Line Hits Back at the Boycotters—Good Exercise for the Combatants and Fun for the Public Who Pay the Freight.

Deep Cuts in Rates.

Baltimore, March 12.—President R. Curzon Hoffman, of the Seaboard Air line, has returned here after an absence of a week. In talking about the boycott which the Southern Railway & Steamship association had instituted against the Seaboard, and the cut in passenger rates which his line has made in retaliation, Mr. Hoffman said: "We have made our move, and we are now waiting for the other fellows to do something. Our cut has not been met as yet. At least there has been no public announcement. We are prepared to make a determined fight for what we know to be our rights. Some of our competitors say that the action of the Southern Railway & Steamship association was not a boycott. If the fight that association is making against us is not what is generally termed a boycott, I would like to know what it is. At all events, we consider it a boycott and will resist it with all the power at our command.

"The hearing of the injunction which we obtained against the Western & Atlantic and Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, restraining them from joining in the fight against us, which was set for last Saturday, was postponed at the instance of the counsel of the defense. We were ready and anxious to go ahead with the case. Judge Lumpkin, before whom the case will be tried, has not set a date for the hearing, but will probably decide upon an early hearing. Meantime the injunction stands and the defendant roads are exchanging business with the Seaboard as usual."

Asked if his line would join the Southern Passenger association, which was formed last week, to take the place of the old association, which was run in connection with the Southern Railroad & Steamship association, Mr. Hoffman replied that the Seaboard did not contemplate joining any association at the present time. The Seaboard was not represented at the meeting at which the association was formed although it was invited to send a representative.

A rumor is current that the Southern Railway company has secretly cut both passenger and freight rates, but the report was denied at the local office of the company. A cut in freight rates by the Seaboard Air line would cause no surprise in shipping circles.

Secret Rate-Cutting.

It was reported that open proof of widespread demoralization in Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania passenger rates had been obtained, and as a result a searching investigation is to be instituted. The allegations are that both roads have been manipulating rates for some time in various forms. Mileage books, it is alleged, have been sold by the passenger department of the Pennsylvania system directly to ticket scalpers at reduced rates. The company denies the report, however. The Baltimore & Ohio is accused of secretly cutting the rate between Chicago and Columbus. As a result of the discoveries an expert has been appointed to go to Pittsburg, which is the headquarters of the western lines of the Pennsylvania, and examine the books of the latter system with a view to learning how many of the mileage books have been issued. It is also charged that not one half the roads are maintaining the agreement relative to paying commissions.

Coal Rates.

Philadelphia, March 12.—Anthracite coal operators and dealers in this city received from the Lehigh Valley Railroad company official notification of the withdrawal of the old joint rate from the mines to points on the Reading company's sytem and with which was enclosed the new tariff sheet giving the rate to South Bethlehem and East Penn Junction, the points of connection with the Reading. The change is not to take effect until March 20 although the withdrawal of the old joint rate on the part of the Reading has gone into effect. The naming of the later date by the Lehigh Valley is stated to be due to the desire of that company not to inflict any hardship upon dealers who have ordered Lehigh Valley coal in advance and also because the action is in compliance with the provisions of the interstate commerce law.

Dinners $140 Each.

New Haven, Conn., March 12.—The Yale special train from New York to this city Sunday nights has been discontinued. For years the Yale men living in New York and vicinity have been trying to get the New York road to put on such a train, and six weeks ago Henry S. Borden, a new York broker, whose son is a Yale man, induced the railroad people to try the experiment. He guaranteed the road against loss for six trips. Only one of the trips has paid, and as nearly as can be ascertained, the Sunday dinners which student Borden has enjoyed with his father, have cost Borden senior about $140 each.

New Railroad.

Baltimore, March 12.—The preliminary arrangements for the construction of the Baltimore & Cumberland railroad have been completed and work will begin as soon as the weather will permit. Although having a separate charter, the line will really be an eastern extension of the West Virginia Central & Pittsburg, which guarantees both principal and interest on the bonds issued for the purpose of construction. The line is projected from Cumberland to Hagerstown, but will ultimately be extended to Baltimore.

Senator George's Shoes.

Jackson, Miss., March 12.—In an interview Gov. J. M. Stone announced himself a candidate for the seat in the United States senate now occupied by Senator George.

SUFFERING IN ST. JOHNS.

Stories of Destitution from All the Neighboring Districts.

St. Johns, N. F., March 12.—The goods for the relief of the suffering poor of this city, which were brought here by the steamer Grand Lake from Boston a few days ago, have all been landed and stored free of cost and were being distributed yesterday. The opinion of the committee in charge of the distribution is that the quality of the goods was never excelled in this city. The amounts for distribution in outports are being carried to their destination by the railroad company free of cost. The number of destitute families in St. Johns is increasing daily and the reports from outports are to the effect that the people in many localities are in utter destitution. A dispatch from a small settlement on the southwest coast, signed by the parish priest, was received here stating that forty families were starving there and there was nothing to give them. The dispatch also asked that assistance be sent them immediately. This same condition exists in nearly all the neighboring districts. There are about two thousand eight hundred families in this city and its suburbs in distress and they are being assisted by the relief committee as much as possible. At a meeting of the clerical relief committee resolutions of thanks to the good people of Boston and of New England were unanimously adopted for their haste in replying to the appeal for assistance from this place with such a magnificent donation of food which was so badly needed.

CHURCH SCANDAL.

An Illinois Priest Appeals to the Civil Courts.

Chicago, March 12.—A novel suit for $50,000 damages has been brought in the circuit court here against Archbishop Feehan by Rev. Francis Noonan, formerly priest of the parish of Wilmington, Ill., now without a charge. The bill states that when the priest came to the Chicago diocese, six years ago, he was officially received by the archbishop, who assigned him to the Wilmington church, where he remained three years, the time necessary to become a child of the diocese when the bishop does not formally adopt the priest. The suit rests largely on this question of adoption into the diocese fold, Father Noonan suing to recover his regular pay and damages for the loss of his parish position. The further charge is made that Rev. Thomas O'Garra, the present pastor of the Wilmington church, coveted the position of the plaintiff, and obtained the same by circulating false reports to the effect that two young women who lived with Father Noonan at the Wilmington parish house were not, as represented by the plaintiff, his nieces. A scandal resulted and when Father O'Garra was appointed to the parish it is alleged he threw Father Noonan out of the house. Suit for libel will also be brought against Father O'Garra.

NATIONAL FINANCES.

Receipts Improving But Not Yet Equal to Expenses.

Washington, March 12.—The treasury condition for the first third of March shows the receipts to have aggregated $9,325,000, and the expenditures over receipts $2,029,000. An element of uncertainty not heretofore entering into treasury calculations, has now to be considered. It is the large sums of money appropriated by congress in the deficiency appropriation bills and sundry civil appropriation bill. Many of these items are made immediately available and the payment of $615,000 on the "civil and miscellaneous" accounts shows that some of them have begun to reach the cashier's desk. The custom receipts show a continued and sustained improvement, being for the fiscal year up to date $105,877,000 or nearly a million more than for the same time last year. Internal revenue receipts are $5,000,000 in excess of this time last year, but improvement in both sources of receipts must be shown for the last third of the fiscal year or government revenues for the entire fiscal year will fall considerably below the estimates.

Executive Courtesy.

Indianapolis, March 12.—A bitter quarrel occurred between Lieut.-Gov. Nye and Gov. Matthews shortly before noon. This is the last day of the legislature and the lieutenant-governor took advantage of his constitutional right to pass no bills on the last day. Gov. Matthews heard of this and started out to hunt for Nye. He found him in the speaker's room and demanded that he permit the passage of the prize fighting bills. Those present say that Nye told the governor to go to hell. "I am running this senate," said Nye, "and not a single bill shall be passed while I'm in the chair." The governor left in a rage and blows were narrowly averted.

Binghamton's Bank Affair.

Albany, March 12.—Superintendent Preston, of the state banking department, held a conference with Attorney-General Hancock yesterday regarding the prosecution of the persons connected with the defalcation in the Chenango Valley Savings bank of Binghamton. The attorney-general has decided to take charge of the proceedings in person and will act independently of the district attorney in the matter. He will send a representative to Binghamton at once to confer with Bank Examiner Backus and obtain necessary data.

Hayward Sentenced To Be Hanged.

Minneapolis, March 12.—Harry T. Hayward, convicted of the murder of Catherine Ging, was sentenced by Judge Seagrave Smith, after a motion for an arrest of sentence had been denied, to be hanged on a day fixed by the governor of the state after the expiration of three months' confinement in the Hennepin county jail. Hayward listened calmly to the sentence and showed no feeling afterwards.

Ithaca Is Dry.

Ithaca, N. Y., March 12.—This city, the seat of Cornell university, has gone dry. At 7 o'clock last night all liquor licenses expired and there is now in office a no-license board of excise. The liquor sellers all made applicaton for a renewal of their licenses, which were all refused by the board. The drug stores were given licenses, however.

BRITISH LION GROWLS

Another Acute Stage in the Behring Sea Matter.

Bitter Complaints Because the United States Have Not Paid That $425,000 to Canadian Sealers—Newspaper Comment on the Fifty-third Congress.

Ottawa, Ont., March 12.—Another acute stage in the Behring sea difficulty is engaging the attention of the British, United States and Canadian governments. Since the refusal of the American congress to vote the compensation agreed upon, the Canadian government has been urging the home authorities that the indisposition of the United States to carry out the understanding, justifies the refusal of Great Britain to assent to the enforcement of the restrictions upon sealing during 1895. So far no answer has been received to these representations. About this time last year a similar difficulty arose when through the delay of the great powers interested it began to look as if the award would not be enforced in the approaching season. At that time Senator Morgan, chairman of the senate committee on foreign affairs, made a bold declaration that in his opinion no damages would ever be paid by the United States. Though the government of the republic is still declaring its desire that the lump sum of $425,000 agreed upon should be paid over, the action of congress is a plain intimation that Senator Morgan's views hold good with those who hold the strings of the national purse. Whether Canada is to be compelled to live up to her portion of the award while the United States refuses to be bound by the part which applies to it, is the question which is bothering the diplomats of the nations concerned.

Severe Comment.

Toronto, Ont., March 12.—The Mail and Empire, (government organ) in an editorial, under the caption "An Unhonored Legislature" says: "Nobody has a good word to say for the late unlamented fifty-third congress. On all hands it appears to be agreed that the United States was never cursed with its like before. It was this boorish, dishonorable congress that repudiated the just claim of our sealers. By doing so it placed its own country in a mortifying position in the eyes of the world; a position which the government of the United States keenly feels. To-day the government is as much ashamed of that congress as the people are indignant with it. It broke the national word, formally passed by representatives of the country in a treaty which provided for the settlement of the Behring sea question by arbitration. The executive is in no sense responsible for the non-payment of the $425,000 due to our sealers. On the contrary both President Cleveland and Secretary Gresham pressed on congress the expediency and justice of paying this amount at once. When congress refused to do so Secretary Gresham expressed his regret to Great Britain. The whole disgrace rests on congress. It is with the executive, through its outside agents, that foreign countries have to deal. If it were as mean as the late legislature, Great Britain would no doubt withdraw from the Behring sea arrangement at once. But the president and secretary of state are most worthy men, anxious for upholding the honor of their country. They may be seconded by a worthy congress in the fifty-fourth."

Libel in Massachusetts.

Boston, March 12.—The committee on judiciary of the legislature gave a hearing on the petition of Charles H. Taylor, jr., secretary of the general committee of Massachusetts publishers, for an amendment to the law relative to libel, and providing that a person aggrieved by a publication in a newspaper shall make a demand for a retraction, and if that is made the publisher may in case of suit introduce evidence of the retraction, and that the alleged libel was published in good faith and without actual malice. The proposed amendment also provides that in all civil suits for libel, unless the plaintiff prove actual malice, or a failure to retract after written demand, he shall recover as damages only such pecuniary loss as he shall specially allege and prove. Evidence may also be introduced of settlements of other suits for the same cause of action.

Cleveland's Luck.

Cape Henry, Va., March 12.—Unpropitious weather put an end to the president's duck shooting, after a few hours sport yesterday. In that short time, however, Mr. Cleveland had fairly good luck. Storm signals are hoisted here indicating a northeaster which will prevent the president from shooting to-day in which event it is probable that the Violet will be put about on the return trip to Washington.

Miners Resume Work.

Pittsburg, March 12.—Eight thousand river coal miners in this city will start to work to-day, the operators having granted the 69 cents per ton demanded by the men. The operators claim, however, that the advance is not permanent and that it would not have been granted but for the reason of the favorable condition of the river for shipping coal.

Silence Regarding Rosebery.

London, March 12.—The Daily News, Lord Rosebery's organ, is silent as to the renewal of the tory rumors of the premier's resignation. It will remark, however, that "Lord Rosebery will occupy shortly his official residence in Downing street while extensive alterations are making in his own house."

Noted Forger Arrested.

Newark, N. J., March 12.—Alphonse Voullaire, alias Albert St. Claire, a forger of some fame, has been arrested here in the act of passing a worthless check for $15 on Theodore Hilbert, a saloon keeper.

Morocco Factory Burned.

Lynn, Mass., March 12.—Kelly & Green's morocco factory was burned last night. Loss about $40,000.

An agreeable Laxative and Nerve Tonic. Sold by Druggists or sent by mail, 25c., 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. Samples free.

KO NO ... TIVE POWER ... breath, 25c.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. Navy, San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cts. Sold by Druggists.

SHILOH'S CURE.

THIS GREAT Cough, Croup, Cures promptly cures where all others fail. For Consumption it has no rival; has saved thousands, and will cure YOU, if taken in time. Price 25 cts., 50 cts., $1.00.

Sold by all druggists. 8 14 y

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance.
7 East Front Street.

Prof. A. Wehner,
TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.
ALSO VOICE CULTURE.

Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.
References given and required.
Address letters to the office of this paper.
1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new
SPALDING
FOR '95.

Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new
'95 Spalding Cyclometer
FREE.
W. H. ROGERS,
408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial Parlor, 304 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty. 10 19 t

The Perfect Paper Feeder.
Sold by
DAVID T. KENNEY,
Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.
198 North Ave., opp Railroad Station

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL and WOOD,
YARD—No. 208 Madison Avenue. Also
Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle 145 North avenue.

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR
SOLID SILVER SPOONS.
COLLIER'S,
103 PARK AVENUE.
ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S
MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,
SOMERSET STREET.
OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.

It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.

It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.

These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.

The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.

Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co,
307 Broadway, New York.
1 5 6m

Hotels and Saloons.

HOTEL ALBION,
OPEN FOR GUESTS
Park avenue and 8th street.

The Finderne,
FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.

Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.

HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.

(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30) Steam heat; inclosed piazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.

A. E. WHITE, Manager.
1 9 tf Finderne, N. J.

HOTEL GRENADA,
North Avenue.
Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.
8-12-3

CITY HOTEL.
Plainfield, N. J.
COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. E. BEERBOWER, Proprietor.
With stables attached. 482

IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER
On draught at
CHARLES SMITH'S
Sample and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST.
The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian Dark and the St. Louis.
Ballantine's Ales also on draught The Indian Pale XXX Still Ale and Porter.

A full assortment of Stationery!
AT HARPER'S.
411 Park ave.

$500 DOWN
Buys One of Those New Houses
on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m

Mrs. L. Adams,
111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank.
is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.
BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.

F. A. DUNHAM.
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 109 Park avenue.
Sewers, pavements and road improvements.
Publisher of city map and atlas.

Real Estate Insurance
VAN BUREN & TIMPSON,
163 North ave. PLAINFIELD, N. J.

REMOVAL.
I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to
142 North Avenue
Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.
CALEB DICKINSON

AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE
For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Bad Complexion, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.
R·I·P·A·N·S TABULES act gently yet promptly. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by Druggists or sent by mail. Price 60 cents a box. Address RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., N.Y.

WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North ave. 10 1 tf

H. Eggerding,
121 PARK AVENUE.
Manufacturer of the celebrated
C. O. D. CIGAR
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 [illegible]

Jones & Co., Excavators.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
JONES & CO.
Cesspools built. 9 15

FISCHER PIANOS.
ESTABLISHED 1840.
Nearly 100,000 Now in Use.
RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARD,
WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO.
EASY TERMS.—EXCHANGED.
Catalogue mailed on application.
110 FIFTH AVE., cor. 16th St., N. Y.

THE DAILY PRESS.

E. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.

WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 12, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

BY THE WAY.

—Underwear suitable to the variations in temperature at Peck's.

—A regular meeting of the Camera Club will be held next Monday evening.

—A meeting of the Independent Fife and Drum Corps will be held this evening.

—Fire last night destroyed a house in South Plainfield near the coal dumps. It was owned by Mrs. Hogan.

—"Aunt Samantha's Album" will be presented in the W. C. T. U. rooms Thursday, March 14, at 8 p. m.

—The house located on the corner of West Front and Liberty streets is receiving exterior improvements.

—The Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational Church will entertain their friends with a sociable Friday evening.

—Lawyer George DeMeza yesterday displayed signs of increasing prosperity by adding a costly flat top desk to his office furniture.

—A large brick annex is being built in the rear of the American Laundry on East Front street, which will greatly increase their facilities.

—Through the efforts of S. S. Swackhamer the suit of John H. Nichols against the Lehigh Valley Railroad for the loss of stock has been settled.

—A regular meeting of Crescent Division, U. R., K. of P., will be held tomorrow evening, at which the installation of officers will be conducted by Captain Durland of Phillipsburg.

—The carriers room in the postoffice will be furnished from the surplus fund which has accrued from the sale of the annual of the Letter-Carriers Mutual Benefit Association, Branch No. 396.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK.

G. F. Edwards, captain of Third Regiment Cadets addressed the boys of the High School relative to joining the cadet company this morning. When the weather becomes settled Mr. Edwards has kindly offered to give the High School Cadet Company instruction in military tactics.

The P. H. S. A. A. will hold an important meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Every Man on the Same Footing.

George Webb was arraigned before City Judge Coddington this morning on the charge of riding a bicycle without a license and fined $1. A councilman sent word asking that he be dealt with as leniently as possible, but the Judge stated that he could make no discrimination, and therefore imposed the usual fine.

THE GREAT SUIT SALE.

Watson & Co. Show in All Their Broad and Market Street Windows Elegant Suits at Just Half the Order Price.

Watson & Co. commence today their great closing-out sale of Laurel, Azelia and Silk Mixed Suits, cut from all their surplus custom patterns that are too heavy for their Spring trade, but just right to fit perfect, keep their shape and put on now. Sixty different styles of Azelia Suits in all shades are shown at $15, as many Laurel Cassimere Suits complete for $12.50, and hundreds of handsome Silk Mixed Suits at $9 and $10, which you should see before you buy as all are marked at just half the order price. As these are all custom patterns many are left in the third baste and will have to be correctly fitted to your form, and finished while you wait, or sent home without delay.

It is a well-known fact that Watson & Co. do the largest and finest merchant tailoring business in the State and have to carry an immense stock of custom patterns, which are charged over at the end of each season to their ready-made department at a low price and the loss charged to the make to order part of their business. These patterns are then cut by their custom cutters to keep their best tailors at work during the dull season and are sold at just half the order price to turn into money, and as an advertisement for future business.

Many thus secure the finest suits in which only custom trimmings are used at $9, $10, $12 and $15, and often speak in advance to have a suit their size laid away for them, but this season the custom department was so completely overstocked that there will be suits enough finished to supply all who may need them for ten days ahead. Just now all sizes can be fitted, and it would be a poor buyer who would pay regular prices for his clothing when they can go to Watson & Co. and see this great display of suits, any of which will certainly improve your dress appearance—Newark Item.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell; 25c., 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists.

A WOMAN ATHLETE.

Mme. Antonio Began Her Work On the Trapeze When Only 5 Years Old.

"I have been in training since I was five, and that's twenty years ago," Mme. Antonio tells her questioners. So long, indeed, the training and so gradual the practice of the feats that this Roumanian trapezist never gave herself a shock or a thrill like she now gives Londoners twice a day at the Royal Aquarium. One thing she does is this: Having gayly mounted to the giddy height of the roof, Mme. Antonio falls backward into her net seventy feet beneath. She starts on her descent with a weight of ten stone and with each yard down her weight doubles. The blow with which she strikes the net causes her to rebound nine or ten feet—according as the weather is dry or damp—into air. That blow must be on her back. If she fell on her arms or feet they would be broken like matches, and if on her neck the figure that has fallen so far through space would stir no more. Loud is the whirl of the air in her ears during that flight downward. It strikes cold against her eye, too, but her eye must be alert to see the net beneath her as she makes her double somersault in air, so that she may arrange her attitude before she strikes the net. She does not breathe as she descends. But she thinks and sees Then there is the crash of the fall, the rebound, the bow to the applauding crowd, the smile, the hand wafted kiss, and for half a day more Adelina Antonio has the assurance of life and limbs.

Not so sensational, but more deliberately beautiful, is her descent of the rope. With arms cast free, with no tying or fastening, with no haste or effort, she comes gliding perpendicularly down, floating and swaying. Where does the rope hold her? By a mere twist round waist or ankle. There is no sign of strain. The turning on the high trapeze, with a mere grip of the knees and both hands incessantly striking the tambourine, is perhaps less distinctive, but it is a marvelous feat of both grace and strength. Ten times or fifty times, without the help of a finger, the vigorous figure wheels itself under and over this bar so quickly that the mere spectator is giddy. But she herself is giddy never; she does not know what blood to the head means and she remains white in face where red and purple would be expected, just as her arms are shapely when you might suppose that by development of muscle they must appear malformed.

HAWTHORNE'S EARLY YEARS.

As Solitary as a Hermit Until He Was Married.

The little town of Salem in Massachusetts is memorable chiefly because of the pitiful witchcraft trials held there two hundred years ago. One of the judges most active in the task of convicting the poor creatures then accused of evil practices was John Hawthorne. In Salem, their lived, first and last, six generations of this family (spelling its name sometimes Hathorne and sometimes Hawthorne); and in Salem Judge Hathorne's grandson's grandson was born in 1804 on the Fourth of July—a fitting birthday for an author so intensely American as Nathaniel Hawthorne. Four years after the boy's birth, his father, a sea captain, died at Surinam; and his mother never recovered from the blow of her husband's death, withdrawing herself wholly from society, and living for forty years the life of a recluse, even to the extent of taking her meals apart from her children.

When Nathaniel Hawthorne was eight or nine years old his mother took up her residence on the banks of Sebago Lake in Maine, where the family owned a large tract of land. Here the boy ran wild, fishing and swiming, shooting and skating—and, on rainy days reading. This life in the woods increased the liking for solitude which he inherited from his mother, and which in after years he was never able to wholly overcome. In time he went back to Salem to prepare for college. In 1821, being then seventeen, he entered Bowdoin, having Longfellow for a classmate, and making a close friend of Franklin Pierce, who was in the class before him.

He was graduated in 1825, and he then went back to Salem. The family was fairly well to do, and it was not needful for Nathaniel to hurry in choosing a profession. He had already decided that he wished to be an author, but authorship offered little chance of a livelihood. There was not then a single prosperous magazine in the United States. Yet the Sketch Book and the Spy, the pioneers of American literature, had been published not five years before; and the success of Irving and of Cooper, and the prompt appreciation with which their early writings were received both in America and in England, was encouraging to other native authors. So the year after he left college, Hawthorne wrote a tale and published it at his own expense; but it made no impression on the public, and very few copies were sold.

The tale appeared without its author's name, and its failure seems to have increased Hawthorne's love of solitude. For ten years and more he lived ta his mother's almost as alone as if he were a hermit in a cave. For months together he scarcely met any one outside of his own family, seldom going out save at twilight or to take the nearest way to the desolate seashore. Once a year, or thereabouts (so he told a friend a long while after), he used to make an excursion of a few weeks, "in which I enjoyed as much of life as other people do in the whole year round." Unnatural as this existence was, Hawthorne kept his health, and seldom lost his cheerfulness. He read endlessly and he wrote unceasingly. These were his 'prentice years of authorship and in them he became a master of the craft of writing.—St. Nicholas.

In Luck.

"I ask for bread," exclaimed the mendicant, bitterly, "and you give me a stone."

The young man glanced apprehensively in the direction of his young bride who was bending eagerly over the cook stove.

"Hush," he whispered. "That isn't a marker to what you would have got if you had asked for custard pie."

With a swift exchange of glances they parted.—Puck.

Rarity of Christian Charity.

Wretched Canada! We learn from the Montreal papers that "at a meeting of the Protestant board of school commissioners it was decided that no Roman Catholic should have any of the work in any of the numerous buildings controlled by the board." Wretched Canada! Unhappy Protestants and Roman Catholics of Montreal!

"Coffee Cooler" Knocked Out.

London, March 12.—The fight between Frank P. Slavin and Frank Craig, the "Harlem Coffee Cooler," which took place at Central hall, Holborn, last evening, was quickly decided, Slavin defeating his opponent in the first round.

A Judge Attempts Suicide.

Bradford, Pa., March 12.—Associate Judge C. M. Stearns, of Potter county, who has been recently suffering from the grip, attempted to commit suicide yesterday by cutting his throat. He was overpowered and disarmed before he could succeed.

Steamers in Collision

London, March 12.—Two unknown steamers were in collision last night off Beachy Head. One is believed to be sinking.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sence of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

MUSIC HALL

Joseph Sohl, Lessee and Manager.
Telephone call 49B.

1 Night Only, Wednesday, March 13.

There are others, but none like these. The fountain heads of modern wit.

Ward & Vokes

That's the last time I'll ever take Lady Belmont to a ball. A record of 700 nights in New York as "Percy" and "Harold." In the up-to-date farce comedy,

"A Run on the Bank."

You can't afford to miss it. It's a guaranteed attraction, and worth going miles to see.
Prices 35, 50, 75 and $1. Box office now open.

BARGAINS.

Poor old word used to mean something in times gone by, but not so now. Any old trash or plunder that some merchants can rake up is put out and named BARGAIN.
We are looking for a word to take its place and to any one sending us a new name for the many good things we offer to our customers every day we will give ten dollars in gold.
The items below are

Jap Rugs

Japanese rugs of the celebrated Yamato manufacture. All rich oriental designs and colorings at half the usual prices.
36x36 in. 88c. value $1.25
26x54 in 90c. " 1.25
30x60 in 1.27 " 2.25
48x84 in 2.49 " 4.50
2½ yds x 3½ yds $6.98 value $10.00.

Dress Goods

38 in all-wool henriettas black and colors 33c.
45 in Imperial serges black and navy 39c.
50 in wool mixtures 33c.
54 in Covert cloth 49c.

Linoleums

10 piece extra heavy linoleums new designs 37½c square yard.

Skirts

Made of black satine, splendid quality, new styles and new prices 75c to $2.17 for the best.

Umbrellas

A good gloria silk paragon frame can be bought for 75c. Old price $1.00.

House Furnishings

10-qt. galvanized pails 13c.
Paper pails 17c.
Jap. Tea pots 10c
2-qt granite Coffee pots 37c.
2 qt. " stew pots 27c.
Brooms 13c.
Pail, soap, brush and mop all for 27c.

WHITE,
OF Plainfield.

ELY'S Cream Balm CATARRH

COLD IN HEAD

Is quickly absorbed. Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation. Heals the Sores, Protects the Membrane from Additional Cold. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.

IT WILL CURE. A particle is applied into each nostril and is a greeable. Price 50c. at druggists or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren st., New York.

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognize her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R VanZandt,

of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,

Plainfield, N. J

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks, but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose flattering testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

No. 132 Crescent Avenue.

Plainfield, N. J.

EQUAL TO ANY,
SUPERIOR TO MOST.

The Variety, Quantity and Value AT PECK'S.

SEBRING, CLOTHIER,

Will close the balance of $12 suits for $8.
$15 suits for $10.
$12 ulsters for $8.50.
$15 overcoats for $10.
Children's overcoats and school suits at cost.

Park Avenue, Packer's Block.

12-6-7

VAN EMBURGH & SON

One factory lot of

Unlaundried Shirts at 29c

14 to 16½ inch neck.

One Factory lot White Goods Remnants
At half value.

Figured India Silks at 25c yard.

Corner Store Babcock Building.

The Welsbach Incandescent Gas Burner.

Call and see it.

Gavett's,

129 East Front street.

Commercial Palace, EDSALL'S Babcock Building,

Grocery Department.

TERMS CASH.

Money refunded on all goods not entirely satisfactory. Goods open for inspection before purchasing. Since the opening of the department we have sold over 6,000 cans of tomatoes, string beans and corn as an advertisement at the unheard-of price of 6c a can.

The goods give good satisfaction and the people are buying them over and over again, the demand increasing for them each week. They often remark that they are just as good as they pay 8 and 10c for elsewhere.

75 CASES MORE

new goods received

For Saturday's Trade.

We are constantly saving money to hundreds of our patrons and they seem to be pleased for us to do it.

Special 6c can | .....25 cases sweet corn..... .....25 cases string beans..... .....25 cases tomatoes..... | Special 6c can

25 cases very fine lemon cling peaches, regular price 25c, special 17c can; another lot of Blue Point catsup quart size, 17c bottle; Burnham's clam bouilon special 19 and 34c bottle; Heinz little giant pickles, all kinds, special 9c bottle; Oyster Bay asparagus, flat cans, special 18c can; celery salt in screw top bottles 10c each.

Silexo 2½c Cake | 5,000 pieces Silexo scouring soap, one of the best scouring articles on the market, for this sale only. 2½c cake. | Silexo 2½c Cake

Our White Seal flour can't be beat; one trial will convince you. ½ barrel at 54c, ¼ at $1.07, ⅛ at $1.98, 1 barrel at $3.95.

Finest quality olive oil, large size quarts, 69c bottle; do 1 gallon size $1.95 gallon. The above is the finest grade imported.

Housefurnishing Department.

3c each | 100 doz cups and saucers Tea, breakfast and soup plates at 3c each; 150 doz thin blown table tumblers worth 60c per doz at 3c each | 3c each

27c each | Bread boxes square Japanned and well made regular price 39c special 27c each | 27c each

73c each | Solid copper tea kettles choice of any size Some are nickle plated Your choice 73c each | 73c each

9c each | Earthen cuspidores assorted decorations Regular size colors burnt in at 9c each | 9c each

DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.
DRESS GOODS. DRESS GOODS.

Newest spring styles in a great variety of washable fabrics. New and stylish effects in all-wool and silk and wool. The prices are the lowest ever known.

Priestley's Silk Warp blk Henriettas

$1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75.

CARPET DEPARTMENT.

OPENING OF NEW SPRING GOODS.

We quote only a few specials. All-wool ingrains at 49c; Tapestry Brussels at 53, 59, 65c; Body Brussels, Moquette, Axministers, Ispahan, Agra, Kandahar, Art Squares, Rugs, Mattings, new styles, jointless, 9c and up; oil cloths No. 1, 39c, No. 3, 25c, No. 4, 19c; linoleums 49c; window shades from 19c up, poles and fixtures 19c and up.

EDSALL'S

The greatest money-saving place to buy at in this part of the State.

Shoe Bargains.

Among the many bargains that we shall offer for a short time yet are the following—Boys patent leather bals $1.98, were $4
Boys grain leather bals, waterproof, $1.98, were $3.
Misses Dongola kid, button, $1.48, were $2 50
Womens " " $1.48, were $3, $4 and $5.
Womens gt., button, $1.48, were $5. For men we have a number of bargains. Come and see for yourself.

DOANE & EDSALL.

RAAHER SOT IN HER WAYS.

Especially In a Matter of Spelling That Has Stood the Test of 20 Years.

One day as I was toiling up a rough trail road in the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee, I encountered a man on horseback, just as he turned in from another trail. As we were going the same way we jogged along together, and after some general talk he observed:

"Stranger I want to ask yo' a question plumb center, and if yo' don't feel like answerin' it I shan't be put out."

"Well, go ahead."

"Kin yo' read print?"

"Yes, fairly well."

"Kin yo' read writin'?"

"Yes."

"Kin yo' figger?"

"Yes."

We jogged along for the next forty rods in silence, and then he said:

"Stranger, I'm livin' two miles further on. I'd like to have yo' stop at my cabin and settle a dispute."

"I shouldn't like to get mixed up in any quarrel, you know."

"Oh! of co'se not. It's a dispute between me'n my wife, an' we've bin a lookin' fur somebody to settle it fur the last three months. Yo' won't get into trouble about it. We don't spell nor figger, nor pronounce words jest alike, and I reckon yo' kin set us straight."

When we reached his cabin I was tendered a sip from the jug and introduced to his wife, who was a middle aged woman of great firmness of character. The husband explained that we had met accidently, and he asked me to act as referee, and added:

"Now, stranger, how do yo' spell dawg?"

"There is no such word as dawg. It is dog."

"But how do yo' spell it?"

"Why, d-o-g, dog. How do you spell it?"

"I don't go fur to consider to reckon I'm much of a speller, but I gits a 'd' and an 'o' and an 'r' and a 'g' in thar sumwhars."

"That would be spelling it d-o-r-g."

"Yes."

"And how do you spell it?" I asked his wife.

"I say it's a d-a-w-g, dawg," she replied in a surly manner.

"You mean a dog—an animal?"

"Of co'se I do! I've spelled it that way for twenty y'ars and I know I'm right!"

"But that isn't according to the English language, ma'am."

"I don't keer fur no English language," she snapped, as she rose up and entered the house.

I was about to say I hoped I hadn't offended her when her husband arose and pulled the door to, and got a good grip on the handle, and whispered:

"Stranger, I'll try to hold the door till yo' git outer shootin' distance, but you must hurry."

"Why, what's the matter?"

"The matter is that my wife is rather sot in her ways, pertickerly on spellin', and I kin hear her pourin' shot and powder into the bird gun! Stranger, I'm sorry to hev yo' go this way, but dawg gone my dorg if your dog hain't got to hustle or go out of the spellin' book bizness!"

When I made the turn in the road he was still holding the door, but I saw something that looked like a woman climbing out of one of the side windows with a gun in her hand.—Detroit Free Press.

THE FREEDOM OF CUBA.

Little Reason for the Island's Allegiance to Spain.

Why should the Spanish monarchy any longer exercise despotic authority over the people of the radiant island which lies so near our own seaboard, and is thousands of miles distant from the kingdom of Spain? It is an anomaly. It is preposterous.

Why should these people, numbering over a million and a half, be taxed to the amount of millions of dollars every year for the enrichment of Spain? Why should Spanish troops be stationed among the people, and Spanish men-of-war occupy their harbors, to keep them in subjection? Why should these people be governed from Madrid, or compelled to obey the laws made there? Why should all their interests be rendered subordinate to those of the Spanish monarchy? Why should their rights be trampled upon by a foreign power, which cares only for the revenues that can be extorted from them? Why should their aspirations for liberty under a republic be crushed, generation after generation?

These things are anomalous. They are immoral and cruel. Their existence ought not to be protracted.

The Cubans possess one of the richest and loveliest islands in the world. They are an intelligent people. They are brave. They are capable of self government, and they have made many an effort to obtain it.

Early in the last century there were uprisings in Cuba against Spanish exactions and tyranny. All of them were mercilessly surpressed by Spanish arms. At the opening of our century there was ominous manifestations there. About the middle of the century there was a revolt, which gave good hopes of success. In recent years there have been outbreaks again and again; and now, once more, we have news of an uprising, and of encounters with the Spanish troops, and of the hurried preparations of the Spanish authorities in Havana for a serious conflict.

The patriotic party are unable to organize effectively in any part of the island; they cannot procure arms; they are deficient in pecuniary resources; the movements of every man of them, every man under suspicion, are watched by Spanish spies; they cannot meet except by stealth; they do not possess the liberty of speech or of printing. Spanish tyranny is everywhere, over the provinces, cities and villages; Spanish guns are ever ready for service. Spain has strongholds in Cuba; she has a large military force; she has naval vessels and gunboats on the seaboard; she has storehouses of supplies; she can despatch more troops to the island in case they may be needed; she can squeeze from the Cuban people all the means required for the maintenance of their own subjection.

That Cuba is bound to be free we have not a doubt. It cannot be held in perpetual bondage by Spain. The spirit of its natives is that of freedom. The Spanish exactions and the Spanish depotism, against which it has so often and so long protested, must be brought to an end.

We wish success to every struggle for emancipation and a free government in which Cuba may engage.—N. Y. Sun.

"Hair Cutting While you Wait" is a sign in a Philadelphia barber shop.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

PARTICULAR MENTION.

W. S. Eichman of Trenton is in Plainfield today.

John Carney is in Oak Tree today on business.

Miss Tomlinson, teacher in the High School, is ill at her home.

Miss Emma Wyckoff is ill with the grip at her home on East Sixth street.

Miss Phemie Demarest of Park avenue is slightly recovered from illness.

D. V. Horton and family of Westervelt avenue will not move to Brooklyn as was announced.

Miss Carrie Barton of Edsall's Commercial Palace is confined to her home with illness.

The 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vail of West Eighth street is very ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. George Demler and baby Carrie, of Washingtonville, are convalescing after an attack of the grip.

This evening George Scribner will give a dancing party to a number of friends at his home on Pearl street.

Walter Williams of Netherwood this morning entered the office of Lawyer S.S Swackhamer as a law student.

Miss Sophia Rudd pleasantly entertained a number of friends at her home on Clinton avenue last night.

Lawyer S. S. Swackhamer is having his office entrance in the Babcock Building lettered with his name and profession.

Jacob Shatter, who was injured two weeks ago by a buggy wheel passing over his foot, is slowly improving at the hospital.

Miss Cora Gardner, cashier in the Prudential office, Park and North avenues, is ill at her home, 998 Arlington avenue, with the grip.

A. C. LaBoyteaux has brought through Broker Lyman L. B. Woolston's residence on Fairview avenue, and Mr. Woolston will build next door to Alexander Shotwell.

Capt. W. C. Smith has sold one of his houses on Watchung avenue, and has staked out ground for the cellar of two more dwellings, which he will soon erect on that thoroughfare.

Responded as One Man.

"Will some gentleman in the audience please lend me a pint flask of whisky?" asked the slight-of-hand man performing to a Kentucky audience. There was no response.

"Is it possible?" said the performer, "that in all this gathering of Kentucky gentlemen not one of them has a pint flask of whisky?" Then the "Colonel" asked if a quart flask would do as well. "Just as well," was the reply; and then all in that vast audience rose as one man and produced his flask.—New Orleans States.

Women Sang the Doxology.

In the Delaware House of Representatives a bill was passed to repeal the act which permits saloon keepers to sell liquor in quantities less than one quart to be drunk off the premises.

When the result was announced Mrs. James L. Wolcott, wife of the Chancellor, began to sing the doxology, which was taken up by about fifty women present. The members were taken by surprise at this action, and no attempt to rebuke the violation of the rules of the House was made.

—Wm. Mowrey of Maple avenue badly cut his foot with an axe today. He is in the hospital.

—Rickert & Titsworth, 108 North avenue, have ordered a soda-fountain from J. A. Sangston.

—Charles Stover of Plainfield was confidential clerk and partner of Clarence McKim who failed yesterday.

—Andrew Mulford was pleasantly remembered by his Sunday-school class yesterday with a basket of choice fruit and flowers.

—Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman will conduct a service in Grace P. E. Church Friday night for the benefit of those who are not regular attendants. In the afternoon a meeting will be held for instruction in confirmation.

—Those who will attend the dance at New Market tomorrow night will go from here to Dunellen by train and then to New Market by stage. The affair is in charge of E. M. TenEyck, F. Faulks and L. H. Swoden. Guttman will furnish the music.

—The Encore Circle have issued invitations for a dance on Easter Monday night, April 15, in Red Men's Hall. The committee having it in charge are: W. A. Boe, J. T. Carty, G. F. Scheeleine and P. C. Blimm. Music will be furnished by Guttman.

—Invitations for a dance to take place in Central Hall, Wednesday, March 20, have been issued by Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M. The committee of arrangements are T. A. Kurzhals, H. C. McVoy, W. V. Sutton, I. Squires and H. M. Cooke.

—A move that is being condemned by observing ones is being quietly worked today in the borough election by men who could not be elected by the people at large were their names submitted to a vote. They ask those who happen to the polls to give them a vote for a small insignificant office, and by that means expect to pull through and be elected.

NEVER STUDIED LAW.

But He Was Cute Enough to Get the Best of Lawyer Runyon.

Frederick Endress, the Liberty street meat market man, is nothing if not ingenious. Some time ago a jury in Justice Newcorn's Court decided that he would have to pay Jacob Geigher $200 for two fingers which were lost while operating a sausage machine in his market. The $200 judgment was secured mainly through the efforts of Lawyer Harry C. Runyon, who represented Geigher, and was to receive recompense when the judgment was paid.

But Endress settled for about $50 and Lawyer Runyon can only whistle for his pay, for Geigher is on his way to the Fatherland where he will reside in the future. Mr. Runyon will have to settle the court costs. It came about in this way.

As soon as the justice jury returned a verdict for $200, Lawyer DeMeza, who defended Endress's case, appealed to the county court. Along about this time Geigher began to feel homesick and longed to get back to the land of his birth. Endress heard of this and approached Geigher with the offer to pay his fare to Germany if he would leave and not press the judgment for $200. This offer found much favor in the mind of the eight fingered man, and he accepted it. A few days after Geigher was on the briny deep so blue, Endress was laughing in his sleeve at having settled a $200 obligation for about $50, and Lawyer Runyon was confronted with the condition of settling court costs and donating gratis his services to the eight fingered Dutchman.

To the Victor Belong the Spoils.

It is expected that the trophy which the Plainfield Bowling Club won by finishing first in the Watchung league will be delivered to them in a few days. It is in the shape of three tenpins, supporting a full-sized bowling ball, silver-mounted, and handsomely engraved. The trophy will always remain the property of the Plainfielders.

VALUABLE

Business Property

FOR SALE

to close an estate. The subscriber, executor of Manning Vermeule, deceased, will sell at public auction, on Thursday, March 14, 1895,

at 2 o'clock p. m., on the premises, the

4-Story Brick Store and Basement

property Nos. 107 and 109 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J. Situated on Front street, near Park ave., and directly opposite Somerset street, this is one of the most desirable business stands in the city. Entrance also to the rear of said premises from Park ave.

Immediately after sale of the store property the late

HOMESTEAD PROPERTY

of said Manning Vermeule will be offered for sale on the premises, Nos. 550, etc., West Front st., consisting of the dwelling house and barn and lot of about 155 ft. in width. This will be sold as a whole or in parcels. At same time and place 2 lots on West 3d st., near Plainfield ave., will be offered for sale, one having a frontage of about 104 ft., the other of 30 ft, in parcels if desired.

TERMS LIBERAL, and will be made known on day of sale. Further information cheerfully given prior to sale by the subscriber, at his office, or by J. H. French at French's Mills, Somerset st. NELSON RUNYON, Executor, cor. Park ave. and Front st.

Dated March 7, 1895. 3 8 6

BANJO.

Miss Claribell Jeffery,

Teacher of Banjo Mandolin and Guitar, 322 West Front street, Taylor's music store, Plainfield. Send for circular. Residence 28 Marshall st., Newark, N. J. 3 12 m

STATE OF NEW JERSEY

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

To All To Whom These Presents May Come, Greeting:

Whereas, In the judgement of the Board of Directors of The Music Hall Association of Plainfield, a corporation organized under the laws of this State, it has been "deemed advisable and most for the benefit of such corporation that the same should be dissolved before the expiration of the time limited in its certificate of organization," as appears by a duly authenticated record of the proceedings of said board of directors of such corporation held in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled "An Act concerning corporations," approved April 7, 1875, and the several supplements thereto, which said record, including the consent in writing of "two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders" of said corporation that such dissolution should take place, as by said act required having been by said corporation deposited in my office;

Now therefore, I Henry C. Kelsey, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, being satisfied by due proof that the requirements of "An Act concerning corporations," approved April 7, 1875, and the supplements thereto, relative to the dissolution of corporations, have been fully complied with by the said corporation, do hereby certify that The Music Hall Association of Plainfield did on the twenty-fifth of February, 1895, file in my office a duly executed and attested certificate of consent to the dissolution of said corporation by two-thirds in interest of all the stockholders thereof, which said certificate of consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file and of record in my said office, as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Trenton, this twenty-fifth day of February, A. D. eighteen hundred and ninety-five.

(L. S.)

HENRY C. KELSEY, Secretary of State. 2 26 4

ASSIGNEE'S SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given, that the account of the subscriber, assignee of Sylvester Sharkey, will be audited and stated by the Surrogate and reported for settlement to the Orphans' Court of the county of Union, on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of March next.

Dated January 7, 1895.

1 8 10-osw CHARLES B. CLIFTON.

BEEF, WINE, IRON.

The words suggest STRENGTH and ENERGY if any words can. Spring Fever is at hand. Perhaps you need BEEF and IRON. The wine only serves to hold them in solution together. Pint bottles of the best that can be made at

Reynolds's Pharmacy,

AT 50 CENTS

Aunt Samantha's Album, with musical selections,

IN W. C. T. U. ROOMS,

Watchung ave.,

Thursday, March 14,

1895, at 8 o'clock.

Admission, 25c. 3 12 2

TERRILL & COLE,

Undertakers and Embalmers

200 West 2d street.

Next to Trinity Reformed Church. First-class livery attached. Telephone 153. 11 26 y

WANTS AND OFFERS.

Advertisements under this heading, 1 ct. a word, each insertion. (Less than ten words, ten cents.) Cash must accompany adv.

LOANS NEGOTIATED. J. T. Vail, broker. 2 21 tf

MONEY to loan. Mulford, broker. 2 1 tf

TO LET—Two small stores or offices on one of the finest corners in the city, with or without stable room for one or more horses; also one flat with six rooms. Inquire of F. Westphal & Son, cor. of West 4th and Liberty st. 3 6 m

WANTED—A good cook and laundress; must have references. 930 Central ave. 3 11 2

HOUSE to let on Duer st., 9 rooms with improvements; $35. Call at 17 Duer street. 3 12 6

TO LET—7 room house on Duer st; $15. Call 17 Duer st. 3 12 6

FIVE room house to let; new building; city water; $12 50 per month. Chas. H. Hand, 317 Watchung ave. 3 12 3

$3,000 TO LOAN on bond and mortgage. Chas. S Moffett, att'y, cor. Park and North aves.

WANTED—Shipping clerk; accurate in figures and understanding bookkeeping. Climax Stopper Co.

FOR SALE—Fresh Alderney cow. P. Quinn, Plainfield ave. 3 12 2

WANTED.—Young machinist who thoroughly understands lathe and sharer work; one familiar with tool work preferred. Address Climax Stopper Co., care Press.

STABLE to let; room for 8 horses and 8 wagons; rent cheap. Charles. H. Hand, 317 Watchung ave. 3 12 3

WANTED.—Position by a colored coachman; thoroughly understands the care of horses; 3 years reference; present employer can be seen. Thomas Sims, 239 West Front st.

WHITE woman wants position as cook and laundress; good reference. Call or address 331 Cottage place.

FOR SALE—Cheap, a carriage and cart. 1045 West 2d st.

FOR SALE—Cheap for cash, old established meat market, 2 horses and 2 wagons; good paying business; reason for selling given. Address Butcher, care Press. 3 11 6

LOST—Pocketbook this noon. Finder return to Martin Bros. grocery store and receive reward. 3 11 2

FOR RENT—Half double house, six rooms; $11 per month. 29 Emily st. 3 11 3

TO RENT—House 303 West 2d st; now occupied by Relief Association. Inquire 208 Madison ave. 3 11 6

GROCERY store and building for sale in a growing location; store is well stocked and doing a good business; I will sell reasonable to a quick buyer; reason for selling is on account of ill health. Address J. V. W., care Press. 3 11 3

FOR SALE or exchange, value $7,500, a place of 1 acre, house, stable, henery; also extra house for help; easy terms. Address Wm. Cornell, 124 Liberty st., New York. 3 11 3

HORSE and buggy for sale cheap. Call 85 Manning ave. 3 11 6

MILK route wanted by cash buyer. J. H., care Press. 3 9 tf

TO LET—House 235 East 6th st. Inquire 231 East 6th st. 3 9 tf

FLAT to let with improvements. Inquire Manning's marble works, Front street and Central avenue. 3 8 6

TO LET—Two new, large stores No. 224 East Front street; new 11 room house with all improvements 22 Norwood avenue, and a 6 room house 746 East 2nd street. Inquire J. Voehl 65 Somerset street. 3 7 6

TO LET—Desirable flats in the Miller Building. All improvements, steam heat. Inquire Miller 339 Park ave corner of 4th street. 3 7 6

TO LET—3 or 4 rooms for light housekeeping; no children. Apply 103 Duer street. 3 6 tf

SIX-ROOM flat to let; all improvements. 200 West 2d st. 3 4 tf

SMALL houses to let, centally located, 9 and 10 dollars. F. W. Bird, 321 East Front street. 2 28 1m

MONEY to loan in sums to suit. Reed & Coddington, atty's., Babcock Building. 2 26 tf

TABLE boarders wanted in private family. Apply 303 West Fourth st. 2 7 tf

OFFICES and flats to rent in Babcock Building. Inquire of J. A. Hubbard or W. M. Stillman. 1 30 tf

Are You Reading

Those Interesting Monographs on

Napoleon

BY

John Clark Ridpath

IN THIS PAPER?

The Greatest Warrior

Described by one of

The Greatest Historians

They Are Published Saturdays.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

Lumber, Coal, Mason's Material, &c.

Our stock is under cover and we can always deliver dry stock. Agents for Adamant Wall Plaster. Orders solicited.

BOICE, RUNYON & CO.

BIG CUT.

Special Friday and Saturday.

Philadelphia 1 lb Print Creamery Butter 20 cts.

4 lbs cod fish for 25 cents; 1 lb package best macaroni 7½ cents; Dried green peas 5 cents a quart; Best laundry starch 5 cents lb; Granulated sugar 4 cents lb; 2 lbs extra creamery cheese for 23 cents.

AT FULPER'S.

There Are Others

but none of finer material or of handsomer design and finish than the

CZAR.

E. FRANK VAIL, AGENT,

177 North avenue.

Also Phoenix and P. & G. special are leaders. 2 23 3m

MOSLER SAFE CO.,

contractors to the United States Government

Mosler Patent Safes,

(fire and burglar-proof) in general use

All Over the World.

Lowest prices. Drop a postal to

S. W. CLARK,

General Agent,

118 West 5th st., Plainfield, N. J.

and he will call and give special attention and information.

Large assortment of second-hand safes in first-class condition at low prices.

—AT—

NEUMAN BROS.,

—THE—

Watchung Ave. Grocers,

will be found tomorrow a choice lot of fresh vegetables as follows—Spinach, cauliflower, Boston lettuce, celery, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, rhubarb, parsley, beets, oyster plant. Also a select lot of table apples and oranges.

The New York Tribune, 1895.

Foremost of American Weeklies.

Circulation 168,000 Copies a Week

First to rally from the overwhelming defeat of 1892, The New York Tribune patiently labored for two years to awaken the sleeping judgment of the Nation. Possessing an enormous circulation, equipped with a staff of competent and honest students of public questions, and itself having no object to serve except the welfare of the masses upon the farms and in the shops scorning lies and sensational appeals, and satisfied merely to place the truth before its readers, The Tribune has sent to half a million earnest and reflecting people, weekly, a budget of honest facts, sensible arguments and friendly suggestions, which have at last born fruit in the elections of 1894. The work of the people is, however, only half done. It is necessary in 1896 to place in the Chair which Grover Cleveland has not adorned a constructive statesman of the Republican faith. To this task The Tribune now addresses itself, and invites the support of every American citizen who desires a return of the "good old times."

Roswell G. Horr, ex-Congressman from Michigan, but now of New York City, will continue to discuss Tariff, Currency, Coinage and Labor questions in The Tribune. By all odds the most witty, earnest and well-informed speaker upon the stump, he is every year sent by The Tribune to aid the local campaigns in every part of the country. He keeps in constant touch with the people, knows their wants, and addresses himself in The Tribune directly to the thoughts which are in their minds, and makes himself understood. He will gladly answer questions, asked in good faith by readers.

All the regular features of The Tribune will be continued. For Western readers, a special array of Western news is supplied. For Eastern readers an Eastern edition is printed.

It is the intention to make the paper especially helpful to farmers and mechanics. Each class has its separate department in The Tribune; and the new inventions of mechanics, who lack the means to exploit the product of their brains, are advertised free of charge in the hope of aiding them to find a purchaser or a partner.

The market reports of The Tribune, long acknowledged to be the best in the country, will maintain their old standard; and the usual variety of foreign news letters, essays upon home topics, book reviews, articles on chess and checkers, and miscellany will be presented every week. The editorial pages of the paper sum up the most important news of the day, with comments.

The Tribune also prints, for the ladies, the very latest fashions from Paris and London, and there is a department of "Answers to Questions," conducted by a capable writer, in which all the questions of the people on miscellaneous topics are carefully answered.

The semi-weekly Tribune is an incomparable paper for residents who live beyond the range of The Daily Tribune, but find it necessary to keep in touch with the best thoughts and higher interests of the world at large.

A few premiums are offered to readers and club agents.

Any friend of The Tribune is cordially invited to send for sample copies and terms and make up a club of subscribers. We would be especially pleased to see a large circle of readers in every workshop.

The Weekly, $1; The semi-weekly, $2; The daily Tribune, $10 a year. The Tribune Almanac for 1895 ready in January, 25 cents a copy

THE TRIBUNE, New York.

LOVE,

Corner North and Watchung aves.

WALL PAPER

WALL PAPER,

Wall Paper.

Paint, Brushes, Shades, Glass, Carpets, Rugs.

LOVE,

Corner North and Watchung aves.

H. A. STILES,

of Leech, Stiles & Co., the Philadelphia Eye Specialists, formerly with

QUEEN & CO. OF PHILADELPHIA SEND THEIR EYE SPECIALIST TO PLAINFIELD

Every Thursday.

He will be found at

No. 107 East Front Street,

Dunham's Real Estate Office

From 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

A. W. BAKER, 206 Park Ave. B. C. YOUNG, 217 Watchung Ave.

Baker & Young,

Carpenters and Builders.

Estimates given on all kinds of plans and alterations. Jobbing attended to. Give us a trial. Satisfaction guaranteed. 3 2 m

NEBRASKA'S PLIGHT.

FAILURE OF CROPS RENDER THE PEOPLE DESTITUTE.

The Feeble Condition of Horses and Men Caused By Lack of Food Makes Work Impossible. A Pitiable Plea For Help.

Nebraska, as a whole, is a good agricultural State. The eastern half of the State contains very rich, fertile soil and a prosperous class of people. The western part is as yet a poor section. Twenty years ago it was covered with a great growth of buffalo grass, which absorbed all the rain that fell and permitted the earth to receive no moisture. By various ways this buffalo grass has been removed and the land has been opened for farmers. Previous to this use it was a section devoted wholly to grazing, and great herds of cattle and horses roamed over it. The railway companies and the land speculators began booming the country, and thousands were attracted to it in search of a home which could be secured cheaply. In this way it was settled, and mushroom "cities" sprang up all over the former solitudes.

The experimenth as not yet proved a failure, and there is hope that this section, under reasonable climatic influences may yet become rich and prosperous. But the census of 1890 showed that three-fourths of Nebraska's population live in the eastern half of the State.

The people in western Nebraska were prostrated by drought in 1890. Good crops followed in 1891, and fair y good crops in 1892. By the beginning of 1893 the farmers were in good spirits, and had begun to pay off mortgages and to plan for the future. But 1893 saw a partial failure of the crops, do to drought. The farmers did not lose heart, but used all their funds to put in their crop last Spring. Prospects were never better until the July drought set in. July 24 and 25 hot winds blew over this State and Iowa and over many other portions of the West. These hot wind, preceded and followed by drought, ruined Nebraska's crops. The ruin in the western part of the State was almost total. The eastern parts experienced the same conditions of weather, but little suffering has occurred on account of the many prosperous years before this.

The difference between these two sections—the eastern and the western—lies in the presence of a reserve in the east and a total lack of it in the west. The western farmers were left without any resources, and destitution and want were inevitable.

To show exactly how great is the need, the New York Times' correspondent had an interview a few days ago with J. H. Edmiston, State Oil Inspector, just appointed by Gov. Holcomb. Mr. Edmiston was the Chairman of the Populist State Central Committee in the last campaign, and was chiefly busied in keeping down the calamity howlers in his party and making a campaign on State issues alone. He lives at Eddyville, in Dawson County, in the western part of the State where there is some destitution.

He owns there a farm of over 1,000 acres, and is an intelligent, prosperous man. He said that last year his farm raised not a bushel of anything, although in a good year he could count on an income of $3,000 from it without any care on his part. He emphasized the great need of seed all over the western part of the State. To illustrate how great this need is he said that he had seven renters on his farm. As it is impossible for them to secure seed, he recently bought 1,000 bushels of seed wheat for the use of his renters. He was at once implored by dozens of farmers to secure a rental for them. Every owner was willing to abandon their own farms in order to lease one of his to secure the seed. Without the seed they could do nothing on their farms.

Mr. Edmiston said that he was sure there would be yet much distress and that many of the farms would not be tilled during the coming year because of the lack of seed and the feeble condition of the horses and their owners, who, exhausted by the long winter and little food, will be unfit for duty.

Pitiful letters of entreaty or thanks continue to come in. Here is one from a worthy family in Dundy County, the extreme southwestern part of the State. This family received some supplies from the Omaha Woman's Christian Temperance Union in December. This poor woman wrote:

"Dear ladies: The groceries you sent us are gone except the glass of jelly, which I am keeping for mother's birthday. How often we have said, 'God bless those ladies!' What comfort we took in what you sent us! We have no money to get anything. Will you help us? If you cannot send things to us free of transportation charges send us some money to get food with, and if all goes well and our crops are good, we will try and send the money back to you, so you can have it to help others. You have no idea how hard it is on us in this lonely country. Should we lose another crop we cannot stay, yet all we have is here and I want to pull through. I shall have two cows in the spring, which will help. My chickens are dying for the want of feed. You can travel for days and not find over six chickens on a farm. I could tell you much of the suffering in this country, but it would not do you any good, for you know how it is."

DEFIES THE BOYCOTT.

Hostilities Engendered by the Recent Brooklyn Trolley Strikes.

Mayor Schieren's administration of the duties of mayor of Brooklyn during the recent strike upon the street car lines has resulted in a boycott being placed upon his private business interests.

The Executive Association of engineers denounced Mr. Schieren for his attitude in the recent labor troubles and voted to boycott the leather belting manufactured by his concern. Resolutions to that effect were adopted.

The firm of Charles A. Schieren & Co. is one of the largest manufacturers of leather belting in this country.

Mr. Schieren expresses utter indifference to the boycott. His business, he said, would not be affected by it.

Proof Positive.

Stage Manager—The audience is calling for the author.

Manager—All right. Go out and announce that he is in the audience somewhere, but you don't know where.

Stage Manager—But, perhaps he isn't in the audience.

Manager—Don't be a fool! Who else would have started the call?

Somewhere in the West a woman has preached her husband's funeral sermon. Another case of the last word.

RATIONS IN VARIOUS ARMIES.

The Allowances of Food for Sailors Greater Than Those for Soldiers.

In the present contest between the Japanese and the Chinese troops the question of rations figures greatly to the benefit of the Japanese soldiers. They are well fed, whereas the Chinese from all accounts are insufficiently nourished and in poor condition therefore to cope with their victorious opponents. The staple article of diet of the Japanese soldiers is rice, but they have also canned meat, vegetables and fish in abundance and consume almost as much meat per capita on march as do European soldiers. The daily allowance of meat, fresh or canned, to Japanese soldiers is seven ounces. The American standard is twenty ounces, while European armies have daily allowances of meat as follows: Russian sixteen ounces; English twelve; Italian eleven; French, Belgian, Turkish and German nine; Austrian and Spanish eight.

The daily allowance of bread is highest among the Austrian troops, who receive thirty-two ounces, and lowest among the English troops, who get sixteen ounces. In the United States army, the French army and the Italian army the allowance is twenty-two ounces. In the German army it is twenty-eight; in the Russian seventeen. All modern soldiers, except the Russians, have a daily allowance of rice. The American soldier stands at the head of all others in respect of the amount of coffee—ten ounces a week. The English, French, Italian and German soldiers get four ounces, the Spanish three. Tea is supplied to the Russian soldiers. A special allowance of sugar is made to German and English soldiers, of wine to French and Italian soldiers, and of fish—three pounds a week—to Spanish soldiers. The American army is the only one in the commissariat of which beans are found as an article of diet.

The rations of a soldier in the United States army are very liberal. They consist of a daily allowance of twenty ounces of pork, bacon, salt beef or canned beef and eighteen ounces of soft bread or flour. In place of the bread the American may have twenty ounces of corn meal. For every one hundred men there is a daily allowance of fifteen pounds of beans, eight pounds of coffee, fifteen pounds of sugar, one quart of vinegar, four pounds of soap, four pounds of salt, four ounces of pepper and one pound and a half of candles. The matter has not been put to a practical test of late years, but it is believed that the expense of the transportation of soldiers' rations is now materially less than before the extension of the canning industry, and soldiers who were dependent on salt fish and meat can now be as well supplied on march with provisions as in garrison. It is the opinion of military authorities that this improvement, apart from the greatly reduced expense, will, at the next war between modernized soldiers, manifest itself in improved fighting qualities.

HAPPY JACK, THE COWBOY.

A Cattle Puncher Who Carries No Revolver in His Work on the Plains.

"Happy Jack, the Colorado cowboy, was a Kentuckian by birth," said the amateur ranchman. "Kentucky's sons in the far West are typically tall men, good tempered and of indomitable courage, and Happy Jack was no exception. I first met him at the Horse Creek ranch, where one night late in autumn he stopped with his fellows. They had come up from the South with a herd of beef cattle, which were put into one of the corrals over night while their cavalcade was turned out in the horse pasture.

"Happy Jack was up next morning earliest of all and while the rest of the boys were going to breakfast he had saddled his gray horse, a vicious creature, as 'spready' and active as his master, and having led it to the front of the ranch house was about to mount. The morning was cold and frosty and Jack wore over his regulation cowboy equipment an old army overcoat.

"'Think he'll buck this morning, Jack?' said one of the cowboys from the veranda.

"'Well,' Jack drawled, 'I reckon he'll do about as he's a mind to, and he's generally got a mind to buck.'

"He settled into the saddle and the horse went up into the air, and for the first hundred yards his progress was a zigzag pitching fore and aft like a wherry among breakers. He used every broncho trick to throw off his rider, who, with the cape of the old soldier's overcoat flapping up to meet the brim of his broad sombrero, showed an absolute unconcern as to what performance the horse might take it into his head to try. The horse at last discovered that bucking was useless and wearisome, and Happy Jack was soon down in the pasture rounding up the horses. He had got them together and driven them back to the ranch building before the other boys had eaten their breakfast. That was the kind of worker Happy Jack was.

"Everything that Happy Jack did or said was done laughingly. He carried no revolver, but as he adjusted his saddle equipments before starting away from the ranch I saw that among the things carefully stowed away in his cantinas or saddle bags was a long knife with a shining blade a foot long, and what that hints at when seen in a Kentuckian's outfit everybody knows. Happy Jack was a philosopher who was prepared equally for peace or for trouble."

PUBLIC LIGHTING.

About $10,000,000 Paid Yearly by American Cities for Gas and Electricity.

It costs about $10,000,000 a year to supply gas and electricity for illuminating purposes in the cities of the United States. This total is exclusive, of course, of the amount paid by individuals, corporations, hotels, theaters and railroad and steamship companies. It covers only the item of gas and electricity furnished under official authority and at the public expense.

The city of New York appropriates for gas and electric lighting $250,000 a year. Of this sum $105,000 is divided among four gas companies. The sum of $98,000 goes to the electric light companies, with seven of which the city has contracts. The gas supplied to public departments costs $10,000 additional, and about $1,000 is expended for naphtha lamps.

In Chicago the cost of gas is $140,000 a year, Chicago owning its own electric light plant. Philadelphia owns its own lighting plant and spends $300,000 a year for lighting. San Francisco spends $200,000 and Boston about the same. St. Louis spends more in a year for electric light purposes than for gas illumination and is the only city in the United States of which this is true.

No Secret About It.

Physicians have had the formula of Scott's Emulsion for 20 years and know they can always depend upon it as being exactly the same. It contains the purest Norway Cod-liver Oil, the best Hypophosphites and chemically pure Glycerine, made into a perfect Emulsion that does not separate or grow rancid like other so-called Emulsions. There have been many things presented as substitutes, but there is nothing that can take its place in Consumption and all wasting diseases.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute!

Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

Three New Styles.

A Year of Paper Dolls 60c

The Brownies in Paper Dolls 60c

Famous Queens in Paper Dolls 15c.

R. C. RAND,

140 West Front st.

MONEY LOANED.

Local Representatives Wanted.

Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m

Advertised Letters.

Postoffice Plainfield, N. J., March 4, 1895.

Apgar Mrs Isaiah	Foster Mrs M E
Anderson Mrs	Falian Frank 2
Oberger Mr	Garthwaite L M
Cottinger Miss M E	Lockwood Mrs
Cradox Miss Lizzie	Packard W Alfred
Dunham Chas L	N J Mutual Live Stock Association

FURNITURE

MOVING

Telephone 121. Office 161 North ave.

HOAGLAND'S EXPRESS.

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS COPYRIGHTS.

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT? For a prompt answer and an honest opinion, write to MUNN & CO., who have had nearly fifty years' experience in the patent business. Communications strictly confidential. A Handbook of Information concerning Patents and how to obtain them sent free. Also a catalogue of mechanical and scientific books sent free.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice in the Scientific American, and thus are brought widely before the public without cost to the inventor. This splendid paper, issued weekly, elegantly illustrated, has by far the largest circulation of any scientific work in the world. $3 a year. Sample copies sent free.

Building Edition, monthly, $2.50 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. Every number contains beautiful plates, in colors, and photographs of new houses, with plans, enabling builders to show the latest designs and secure contracts. Address MUNN & CO., NEW YORK, 361 BROADWAY.

JAMES E. BAILY,

97 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Trucking of All Kinds Done.

Two and four-horse vans and trucks. Particular attention given to moving furniture and pianos. Satisfaction guaranteed. 2 26 tf

Joseph E. Mosher,

Agent for

H. J. Hayden & Co.,

WAR CLAIMS ATTORNEYS, WASHINGTON, D.C

All claims put in our hands will receive prompt attention.

Call at the Crescent Cigar Store for fine cigars

CUT ROSES, CARNATIONS AND VIOLETS

Flowers furnished for weddings, funerals, etc., in bunches, bouquets or design.

MILES,

Somerset st., Johnston's drive, terminus of electric railroad. 2 27 tf

Lodge and Society Meetings.

Senate Lodge, 3543, Knights of Honor.—The regular meetings of this Lodge are held on the First and Third Thursday evenings of each month in Stillman Building, No. 213 West Front street, at 8 p. m.

H. C. Pease, Dictator.
H. A. Thorne, Reporter. 2 6 tf

Court Pride of New Jersey, No. 5094, Ancient Order of Foresters of America, meets in K. of P. Hall, No. 108 West 2d st., first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

Samuel J. Flynn, Chief Ranger.
Samuel H. Lungir, Fin. Sec. 9 25 y

Anchor Lodge, No. 140, F. & A. M.—Meets second and fourth Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, 10 East Front stree

C. C. Howard, W. M.
T. A. Rogers, Secretary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M.—Meets first and third Tuesdays at Masonic Hall, East Front street.

Chas. Yeager, Secretary.
D. C. Adams, W. M.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum.—The regular meetings of this Council are held on the Second and Fourth Monday evenings of each month in Exempt Firemen's Hall, Coward's Building, Park avenue, at 8 P. M.

P. A. Emmons, Regent.
H. A. Thorne, Secretary.

J. W. VAN SICKLE,

Dealer in all kinds of

Fresh and Salt Meats

GAME IN SEASON,

New No. 122., North Ave., Plainfield.

Telephone 148 P. O. Orders called for and delivered promptly.

The Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Standard Railway of America

Protected throughout by the Interlocking Switch and Block Signal System.

On and after Jan 20, 1895, trains will leave Elizabeth as follows:

FAST LINE leaves Philadelphia 12 50 p m daily with Pullman Vestibule parlor and sleeping cars for Pittsburg, Northern and Eastern Pennsylvania

6.57 P. M., WESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman Vestibule sleeping cars, dining car daily for Pittsburg, Chicago, Cleveland daily except Saturday, for Toledo, Williamsport, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

8.34 p.m.—SOUTHWESTERN EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping car, daily, to Columbus, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Memphis. Dining car Altoona to Richmond.

8 42 p. m.—PACIFIC EXPRESS with Pullman vestibule sleeping cars, daily, for Pittsburg, Columbus, Chicago, and Toledo, daily, except Saturday for Cleveland.

For Baltimore, Washington and the South—1 00 9.05, 9.36 a. m., 9.39 p. m.

Sundays, 1, 9 05, 9 36 a. m., 9 41 p m.

For Baltimore only 1 37 p. m., week-days.

For Newark and New York—3 02, 5 34, 5 46, 6 17, 6 45, 7 07 7 20, 7 49, 7 57, 8 05, 8 28, 8 35, 8 47, 9 17, 9 41, 9 48, 10 20, 10 30, 10 49, 11 07, 11 48 a. m., 1 18, 1 20, 1 56, 2 24, 2 40, 3 45, 3 57, 4 43, 5 15, 5 26, 5 48, 6 05, 6 27, 6 45, 6 58, 7 07, 7 26 7 59, p. m. 9 10, 9 50, 10 05 11 03 and 11 56 p. m. Sundays 3 02, 5 34, 7 54, 8 45, 9 20, 9 47, 10 12, 10 30, 10 49 a. m., 12 25, 1 44, 2 22, 3 45, 5 45, 6 28, 6 54, 8 48, 7 05, 7 12, 7 25, 7 58, 8 30 9 15, 10 16, 11 46 and 11 56 p. m.

For New York only, 6 10 a. m. daily.

For Philadelphia—1 00, 6 57, 7 19, 9 05, 9 36, 11 45, a. m., 1 05, 1 37, 3 32, 5 00, 6 36 7 45, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 8 57, 9 05, 9 36, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 57, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

FOR ATLANTIC CITY

(2 25p.m. with through Buffet parlor car) Sundays 8 50 a. m.

Cape May, Sea Isle City and Ocean City 1 37 p. m. weekdays.

For Rahway—1, 1 43 daily ex. Monday, 4 08, 6 44, 7 10, 7 50, 8 54, 9 46, 9 50, 10 39, 11 43, a. m., 12 46, 1 11, 1 37, 2 48 3 20, 3 39, 5 00, 4 38, 4 53, 5 22, 5 40, 6, 6 06 6 12, 6 17, 6 27, 6 45, 6 52, 6 59, 7 20, 7 46, 8 14, 8 55, 9 54, 11 09 11 45 p. m. and 12 27 night week-days Sundays, 1, 1 43, 6 39, 7 43, 9 49, 10 35 10 41 and 11 47 a. m., 12 56, 1 50, 2 47, 3 28, 4 20, 5 20, 6 40, 7 21, 7 27, 7 47, 8 14, 8 47, 9 16, 10 14, 11 and 11 55 p. m.

For New Brunswick—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 39, 9 05 9 36, 9 50, 11 43 a. m., 12 36, 1 37, 2 45, 3 39, 4 28, 5 06, 5 40, 6 06, 6 45, 7 46, 9 39 and 11 02 p. m. Sundays, 1 00, 6 39, 9 05, 9 36 9 49, 10 41 a. m., 12 50, 1 50, 5 40, 7 47, 9 16, 9 41 p. m.

For Woodbridge—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39 a.m., 12 46, 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, and 7 20 9 54 p.m., 12 27 night, week-days. Sundays, 1 43, 10 25, and 11 47 a. m., 10 14 p. m.

For Perth Amboy—1 43 a m daily except Monday, 6 44, 9 46, 10 39, 12 46 3 20, 4 53, 5 44, 6 12, 7 20 7 36 9 54 and 12 27. Sundays, 1 43 10 25, 11 47 a m 10 14 p m.

For East Millstone—7 10 a. m., 12 36, 2 48 and 5 40 p. m., week-days.

For Trenton—1 00, 6 57, 7 10, 7 39 9 05, 9 36, 11 43 A. M.; 1 05, 1 37, 2 48, 5 05, 6 36, 7 45, 8 42, 9 39 P. M. Sundays at 1 00, 8 39, 9 05 9 36, 10 41 A. M.; 5 40, 6 57, 7 47 and 9 41 P. M.

For Lambertville, Phillipsburg and Belvidere via Trenton—7 39 A. M., 2 48 and 6 36 p. m., and 5 40 p. m. Sunday.

For Flemington—7 39 A. M.; 2 48 P. M.

For Freehold—7 39, 11 43 p. m., 6 36, 5 05 p.m., via Monmouth Junction, week-days.

For Jamesburg, via Monmouth Junction—7 39 and 11 43 a. m., 4 36 and 5 05 p. m., week days.

For Long Branch, Ocean Grove, and points on New York and Long Branch R. R.—9 46 12 46, 4 12 5 44 p.m., 12 27 night week-days. Sundays, 10 25 a. m., and 5 44 p. m.; do not stop at Asbury Park on Sundays.

For Sea Side Park, Island Heights and Toms River—12 46, p. m.

For Boston—8 46 p. m., daily.

For Brooklyn, N. Y.—All through trains connect at Jersey City with boats to Brooklyn annex, affording direct transfer to and from Fulton Street, avoiding double ferriage and journey across New York City.

Leave New York for Elizabeth—1 00 daily except Monday 6, 8 30, 7 25, 8 10, 8 30, 9, 9 10, 10 10, 11 00 a. m., 12, 12 10, 12 30, 12 40 1 00, 2 10, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 10, 4 30, 4 40, 5 00, 5 10, 5 20, 5 30, 5 40, 5 50, 6 00, 6 10, 6 20, 6 40, 7 00, 7 30, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 15 night. Sundays, 1 00 6 15, 8 00, 9 45, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 3 45, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 45, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 30, 10 15, 11 00 p. m., and 12 15 night.

E. M. PREVOST, General Manager
J. R. WOOD, Gen. Pass. Agent

THE MASTODON

was the biggest animal of which we have any knowledge, and lived ages ago. Mastodons in other lines still exist, for instance you will find a mastodon stock of wall paper and mastodon bargains with us every day in the year.

Marsh, Ayers & Co.

141 East Front st

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF MAILS.

NEW YORK MAILS.

Arrive—7 30, 8 40, 11 a. m., 2 30, 5, 8 30 p. m.
Close—7 and 9 20 a.m., 1 45, 5, and 7 30 p. m

SOMERVILLE AND EASTON MAILS.

Arrive—8 40 a. m., 2 40, 6 30 p. m.
Close—7 15 a. m., 4 30 p. m.
Warrenville mail arrives 12 m; closes 9 10 a.m.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Office open from 9 30 to 10 30 a. m.
Mail closes at 6 15 p. m.

J. C. POPE & CO.,

Insurance Agents,

NO. 6 EAST FRONT STREET

Plainfield, N. J.

TRY DOBBINS'S CIGARS,

30 PARK AVE.

He Manufactures Them

HENRY C. ADAMS.

INSURANCE.

Agent for National Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford; Mutual Benefit Life Ins. Co. of Newark. Residence—306 Orange place.

A. Lusardi,

No. 120 North Ave.,

Will be pleased to serve his friends and the public generally with first-class fruits and confectioneries, cigars, etc. Fresh roasted peanuts every day 10c. quart.

Branch store corner Front and Somerset streets.

CLEANER COAL.

L. A. Rheaume, Ag't.

80 BROADWAY, cor. 6th ST.

Invites the public to inspect the operation of his newly added steam vibrating mechanical screen for nut coal, which he confidently believes enables him to deliver cleaner coal than is possible by any other method of screening.

UPPER LEHIGH AND HONEYBROOK COAL in best qualities and various sizes carried in stock.

ROUGH AND DRESSED LUMBER.

He would also announce recently increased facilities for TURNING and SCROLL SAWING and is prepared to execute orders for the same in the best manner at short notice.

Central Railroad of New Jersey.

(ANTHRACITE COAL USED EXCLUSIVELY INSURING A CLEAN, UNIFORM HEAT AND COMFORT.)

Stations in New York foot of Liberty Street, North River.

Table in Effect, Nov. 18, 1894.

PLAINFIELD AND NEW YORK.

Leave Plainfield 2 36, 5 37, 5 38, 6 20, 7 30, 7 50, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 a. m., 12 00, 12 30, 1 00, 1 30, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 3 30, 4 00, 4 30, 5 00, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 7 30, 8 00, 8 30, 9 00, 9 30, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00, 11 30 p. m., 12 00 night.

Leave New York foot of Liberty street, 4 00, 6 00, 7 10, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 10 30, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 2 30, 3 00, 4, 4 30, 5 00, except Saturday, 5 30, 6 00, 6 30, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night, except Saturday, 12 30 a. m., 1, night. Sunday—4 00, 7 10, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 a. m., 12 00 noon, 1 00, 2 00, 3 00, 4 00, 5 00, 6 00, 7 00, 8 00, 9 00, 10 00, 11 00 p. m., 12 00 night.

PLAINFIELD AND NEWARK.

Leave Plainfield 8 39, 8 59, 9 39, 10 39, 11 39 a. m., 12 39, 1 39, 2 39, 3 39, 4 39, 5 39, 6 39, 7 39, 8 39, 9 39, 10 39, 11 39 p. m., Sunday—8 39, 10 39, 11 39 a. m., 12 39, 1 39, 2 39 Saturday only, 3 39, 4 39, 5 39, 6 39, 7 39, 8 39, 9 39, 10 39, 11 39 p. m., Sunday—7 39, 8 39, 9 39, 10 39, 11 39 a. m., 1 39, 2 39, 4 39, 5 39, 6 39, 7 39, 8 39, 9 39, 10 39, 11 39 p. m.

Passengers for Newark change cars at Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELD AND SOMERVILLE.

Leave Plainfield 6 45, 7 10, 8 14, 9 04, 11 a.m., 12 40 2 05, 3 22, 5 45, 6 05, 8 14, 8 54, 9 04, 9 10, 10 08, 11 21, 11 26, 11 28 p.m., 12 26 night Sunday—8 45, 9 26 9 34, A.M., 3 05, 5 26, 6 14, 6 56, 10 18, 11 14 p.m.

Leave Somerville, 6, 6 30, 7 00, 7 36, 7 55, 7 40, 8 20, 9 05, 9 48, 11 40 A. M., 12 50, 1 45, 3 05, 3 25, 4 25, 5 28, 6 25, 6 47, 8 45, 11 05, P. M. Sunday 8 26, 9 45, 10 55 A. M., 12 05, 1 20 5 05, 6 45, 8 03, 8 56, 9 40 P. M.

PLAINFIELD AND EASTON

Leave Plainfield 8 45, 9 16, 9 56, A.M., 12 45, 3 05, 5 16, 7 25, 8 21 P. M. Sunday—8 45, 9 26 A. M., 5 05, 8 26, P. M.

Leave Easton 9 05, 7 00, 8 55, A.M., 12 25, 4 04, 7 00 P. M. Sundays—7 15, 10 02, A. M. 5 40, 7 30, P. M

PLAINFIELD AND LAKE HOPATCONG.

Leave Plainfield 9 04, a. m., 5 05 p. m

WESTWARD CONNECTIONS.

LEAVE PLAINFIELD.

8 45 A. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Pottsville, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport and Tamaqua.

7 10 a. m. for stations to High Bridge, connecting for stations on High Bridge Branch.

9 16 A. M. for Flemington, D. L. & W. R. R. Easton, Bangor and Mauch Chunk.

9 54 A. M. for Flemington, High Bridge branch D L & W R R, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Williamsport, Tamaqua, Pottsville, Hazleton, Upper Lehigh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, &c. Through coach to Williamsport.

12 46 p. m. way for Easton, connecting at Junction for stations on D. L. & W. R. R.

2 05 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Sunbury and Williamsport, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton. Buffet parlor car to Mauch Chunk.

5 05 p. m., way for Easton, connecting at High Bridge for stations on High Bridge branch

6 14 P. M. for Flemington, Easton, Bethlehem, Bangor, Allentown, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Mauch Chunk Shamokin and Tamaqua, Buffet parlor car to Scranton.

6 19 P. M. for Flemington.

6 38 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading and Harrisburg.

8 21 P. M. for Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown.

8 45 A. M. Sunday for Easton, Bethlehem Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Wilkesbarre and Scranton. 8 26 a.m. Sundays for Easton, 2 05 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Tamaqua, Reading and Harrisburg, 6 38 p. m. Sundays for Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Mauch Chunk, Reading, Harrisburg, &c. and at Junction for D. L. & W. R. R.

For Atlantic City, 8 57 a. m. 1 13 p. m.

Long Branch, Ocean Grove, &c

Leave Plainfield 8 57, 8, 10 27, a. m 1.13, 3 51, 6 54, p. m. Sundays—(except Ocean Grove 8 53, a. m., 3 02 p. m.

For Perth Amboy, 8 57, 8 02, 8 10 27 a. m. 1 13, 3 51, 6 50, 8.54, 7 05 p.m. Sunday—8 53, a. m., 3 02 p. m.

For Freehold, 7 37, 9,10 27 a.m., 1 13 3 51, 4 50, P. M.

ROYAL BLUE LINE.

Leave Plainfield for Philadelphia, 8 45, 9 46 9 45, 10 45, a. m., 2 05*, 5 34* 6 45 8 21, 9 37* p. m., 1 12, night. Sundays—8 45, 9 46, a. m., 2 05*, 5 14* 6 45 p. m., 1 12, night.

For Trenton 8 45, 9 46, 9 45*, 10 45, a. m., 12 45, 2 05*, 5 34*, 6 30*, 8 21, 9 37* p.m., 1 12 night, Sunday—8 45, 9 34, a. m., 2 05*, 5 14* 6 30 p. m., 1 12 night.

For Baltimore and Washington at 8 45, a. m., 2 05, 6 34* 6 45 p. m. 1 12, night.

For Chattanooga, New Orleans and all points south with through vestibule sleeper, via Shenandoah Valley Route at 5 34 p m. Sundays 5 14 p m.

For Buffalo, Chicago and all points west, week-days at 9 54 a m., 8 22 p. m. Sundays 6 36 p. m

RETURNING—LEAVE PHILADELPHIA.

Reading terminal, 4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 11 35 a.m., 1 20 3 40 5 15, 6 04, 8 26, p.m., 12 10, night.

Sundays—4 10, 8 30, 9 50, 12 35 a. m., 3 50, 6 00, 8 26 p. m., 12 10 night.

From 24th and Chestnut—3 55, 7 58, 9 21, 11 19, a. m. 3 40, 6 19, 8 10, 11 45 p. m. Sunday—3 55, 7 58, 12 19 p m, 3 30, 6 19, 8 10, 11 45 p. m.

Leave Trenton, Warren and Tucker sts., 1 6, 4 59, 9 06, 10 25, a.m., 12 15*, 3 10, 4 29*, 6 54, 9 07 p.m. Sundays—1 00, 6 58, 9 06, 10 27 a. m., 1 15*, 4 27 6 45*, 9 03 p. m.

Plainfield passengers by trains marked * change cars at Bound Brook.

Through tickets to all points at lowest rates may be had on application in advance to the ticket agent at the station.

J. H. OLHAUSEN, General Sup't.
H. P. BALDWIN. Gen. Pass. Agt.

Granite Iron Ware.

Prices reduced January 1. Only perfect goods sold.

Stoves at reduced prices.

Hardware, Housefurnishings, Tin and Sheet-iron Work.

Plumbing and Heater Work.

A. M. GRIFFEN,

119 East Front St.

Gold Dollars for Fifty Cents.

NO.

BUT FULL VALUE.

C. E. MORSE, Painting and Paper Hanging, 27 Chatham street.

H. Hand,

LICENSED AUCTIONEER.

15 YEARS EXPERIENCE.

Residence and postoffice address

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J.

Office in Plainfield at Terrill & Cole's livery, 200 West 2d st. 1 12 tf

L. L. MANNING.

Marble and Granite Works

Cor. Central Ave. and Front st., opp. First Baptist Church.

Over 150 monuments and headstones to select from. Prices never so low.

The s

CARPETS

Made and Laid With Paper Without Charge

Amos H. VanHorn, Limited,

73 Market Street, Near Plane Street.

are making and laying Carpets with paper without charge, which is a saving of 15c per yd.

Parties about going to housekeeping will find no larger stock of Parlor Suits and Bedroom Suits to select from at such low prices. All of the latest Spring styles of Bedroom Suits of the Hall & Lyon manufacture, and Parlor Suits of all the latest manufactures and of the latest designs and coverings.

Note the Name Amos Before Entering the Store.

All other goods suitable to furnish a house with in our line are sold at the lowest prices. Terms easy; one dollar per week.

The Portland Range!

The Court of Errors has just unanimously affirmed the opinion of the lower courts that no other dealer can take any range and put the name Portland on it and try to hoodwink the people that they are selling the original Portland Range, when such is not the case. 7,000 of these ranges now in use and not one complaint. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Goods delivered to all parts of the State free of charge.

Storing Furniture

Our new building just erected at 88, 90, 92 Bank street, seems to be the only building in the State to store furniture, the way it is being filled up. Furniture moved with vans at reasonable rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

AMOS H. VAN HORN, Limited,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N J

PIANO BARGAINS.

Vanderbeek & Sattels

desire to say that they have just received a fine lot of

New Pianos

of different makes which they will sell at prices never before offered. Among them are those wonderful

Behr Brothers Pianos

Also Behning & Sons.

They represent also the Knabe, Hazelton, Chickering and many others.

They offer an excellent

Steinway Grand, $350.

A great bargain. Call soon at

221 PARK AVENUE.

PUTNAM & DeGRAW'S

Specials.

Ladies' fast black hose	7c, 4 pair for 25c
Children's fast black seamless hose	10c pair
" " " double knee	18c pair
" " " extra heavy	25c pair
Ladies' lace edge handke chiefs	5c
Men's white and colored border handkerchiefs	5c

210 West Front Street.

UNUSUAL.

Great reductions, "half price sales," and "goods at cost," usually mean undesirable things that must faily be kicked out, if they are to go out.

This week we offer two brilliant exceptions—

1st—$12 and $15 Ulsters at $7.90.

2d—$15 and $20 Overcoats at $10.90.

We make prices this week that will move them like feathers before a March wind.

WERNER'S, 206 West Front St.

CLEARING-OUT SALE.

GOODS MARKED LOWER THAN EVER.

Special discount of 10 per cent on all Fall and Winter Goods.

Are you looking for an Overcoat or Ulster? Remember we have them and are closing them out at slaughter prices.

Our Men's, Boys' and Children's Goods are all put in at the same cut rates.

Schepflin, Schultz & Co.,

318 WEST FRONT STREET.

EDWARD C. MULFORD,

(Armstrong Mulford, Assistant.)

Real Estate Broker and Fire Insurance,

Office 169 North ave., (opp. Railroad station.) Money to loan. 1 19 tf

TRIP OF PAUL JONES.

HE STARTED AROUND THE WORLD WITHOUT A CENT.

Returns With $5,000. Various Expedients He Resorted to in His Endeavor to Win a Bet Made a Year ago. Taken for a Spy.

Paul Jones, genius and globe trotter, landed in New York the other day, having completed a circuit of the world from Boston.

It will be remembered that this Paul Jones, as he calls himself, made a sensation last February by the odd means he took to get money enough to start on his journey. He was in New York for several days shortly after his release from several Massachusetts jails. He was not a particular success in New York, but outside he did very well, and made money rapidly. In his journey around the world he has succeeded in adding to his pile rather than lowering it, and as he turns up in Boston with $5,000 in hand, he will have another $5,000, the aggregate of the wagers made on the success of his exploit.

Now that he has practically won the identity of Jones is disclosed. His name is E. C. Pfeiffer and he is a well known Harvard man. He was at one time captain of the Harvard crew and was a member of the class of '89. He rowed in the freshman crew against the Columbia freshmen and the next year pulled No. 6 in the 'Varsity against Yale. He was captain in his senior year. He is an athlete, stands six feet high and describes himself as "a sure winner."

Here is his own story of his trip around the world and of the way he came to make it, as he told it to me the other day.

"When I left Harvard I joined the Boston Athletic club. I was sitting in the club one evening with a group of men when the expense connected with a trip around the world became the topic. Two Americans had just made the trip and their expenses had amounted to $8,000 apiece. I expressed the opinion that a man ought to be able to start on such a trip with nothing and make money.

"One of the party asked me if I could do as much. I said I thought I could. Then several wagers were made that I couldn't do it. In all $5,000 was staked, and the agreement was that I was to be put into a room, my clothes taken from me, and in one year I was to travel around the world and make, including my expenses, $5,000. One day in February, 1890, I was put into a room. There was nothing in the room. My clothes were taken from me.

"Several newspaper men heard of this and came to the room. They knocked for admittance. I said they could come in, but I must charge them a cent apiece. They paid their cents. A committee was in the room to see that the start was fair and according to agreement.

"I paid one of my visitors a cent to buy me a paper.

"With the paper I made as much of a suit of clothes as possible. At any rate it enabled me to talk more freely. Other persons kept coming and the men who had paid a cent to come in paid me ten cents to get their original cents back. They thought there might be luck in them. In this way I got a dollar or so, and sent out and bought some manilla paper. With this I made a suit of clothes. I stuck it together with gum, for which I paid a cent.

"Then I went to a clothier, told him about my plans, and asked him if he had a proposition to make. He offered to let me have a suit of clothes if I would exhibit myself in his shop for a day. I accepted. The newspapers wrote me up and I soon found that I could make money by exhibiting myself.

"I was hired by proprietors of various kinds of business to work for them. Some paid me $25 a day for three days. I have got as much as $200 a week. I traveled over a great part of the United States. I exhibited my paper suit everywhere. I rode on bicycles and was paid for it by the manufacturers. I sailed for Liverpool on the Umbria and sold some of my photographs on board.

"I was introduced to the representative of an English banking syndicate, who took a liking to me and hired me as interpreter for a trip through Germany. We went to Hamburg, spending one week, thence to Berlin for three days, thence to Leipsic, and finally to Inspruck, where we remained one day. Here we parted and I dropped into Switzerland."

Only a short time was spent in Switzerland and the round the world tramp was soon in Naples. Here he went on shipboard and plunged into the Mediterranean. One Thanksgiving day he was puffing down the Suez canal, and ate his dinner in full view of a crowd of fleet footed Arabs that ran along by the side of the boat.

In Japan he had an experience that for a time ruined his prospects. He reached that country during the New Year's festivities, which last a week, and as a traveler has to use a passport was hampered by the failure to get the signature of the necessary officials. He supplied by American nerve the Japanese signature, but at Kioto was held under suspicion as a spy against the government. As good fortune would have it, he encountered at the right instant a Japanese, now an official, who had been educated in Boston, and he straightway released him from his predicament.

Of his trip, as almost completed, Jones says:

"On my trip I have found men of all nationalities who have seen printed in their native tongue some account of my undertaking. I have found that my attempt to become an outcast, a wanderer on the face of the earth, in an endeavor to escape from the blandishments of modern civilization has been a failure, for everywhere, in varied languages and with an infinitude of accent, I heard the children sing 'Ta-ra-ra, boom-de-aye,' and the old folks in all hours of the day and night exercising their voices with the strains of 'After the Ball.'"

A Close Similarity.

Hojack (reading)—The Emperor of China has ordered the Peking bankers to advance him the money he needs or lose their heads.

Tomdik—That sounds like an American invitation to officeholders to make voluntary campaign contributions.—Puck.

An Eye to Business.

Milligan—If I be afther leaving security equal ter what I take away, will yez thrust me till nixt wake?

Sands (the grocer)—Certainly!

Milligan—Well, thin, sell me two av thim hams, an' kape wan av thim till I come agin.—Puck.

DEPARTURE.

Well, Bill, shake han's 'n' say goodby afore ye go away,
We hate t' see ye leavin'; we'd lots ruther hev' ye stay.
Mother 'n' me's a gettin' ole; we ain't be with ye long.
She's bin porely fer some time now, 'n'll never be ez strong
Ez she wuz afore the ager laid 'er up a' long in bed.
'N' more 'n likely when ye git back ye'll find yer mother dead.
Her pore ole lips 'uz quiverin' when she went t' say goodby,
'N' tears splashed on the pillers when she axed ye ef ye'd try
'N' be a good boy fer her sake, Billy, when ye git fur away.
We hate t' see ye go, Bill; we'd lots ruther hev' ye stay.

Look et them pore young 'n's 'way up yander on the hill
Wavin' ther hats 'n' apruns 'n' throwin kisses et ye, Bill.
Ther little throats 'uz choakin', they could hardly help but cry
When ye went up 'n' shuck ther han's 'n' kissed 'em all goodby.
They'll be mighty sad o' evening's circled round the ole fireplace.
'N' they'll miss the tales ye told 'em 'bout early boyhood days;
They'll be listenin' fer yer whis'le ez ye done your evening chores,
'N' they'll hev' no one to swing 'em in 'at ole rope swing o' yours.
'N' ther little eyes'll water nowcher fiddle's quit its play;
Oh, they hate t' see ye go, Bill; they'y a heap ruther hev' ye stay.

—Chicago Record.

THE NEW MILLINERY.

Hats to Transcend All Their Predecessors for Screen Purposes This Season.

Straw hats which will not be needed for weeks to come have already appeared in the shops in all sorts of fantastic shapes, large and small, high and low crowns, and mostly made up with a rim of one color and a crown of another. There is a new straw called satin, which is very glossy and pliable, like baby ribbon, and is used for rosettes as well as plaits. Some of the straws are shot with different colors, like the ribbons and silks which trim them, and Leghorn hats with ostrich feathers and lace are to be worn again.

Many of the hats are immense in size, and assume a sort of square shape, and flowers, feathers, lace, velvet, and glistening ornaments are used in their trimming. Roses are the favorite flower in Paris, and more foliage is used this season than ever. Several close rosebuds, massed together in an upstanding bunch, rising from a bunch of bright green leaves, is a favorite arrangement. Rims of hats are covered with frillings of silk, chaffon and braid, and crowns are made of tiny straw wings.

Great width is given to hats and bonnets by widespreading bows directly in front, and wings of chiffon wired into shape and covered with sequins are to be used more than ever.

Large airy black lace hats are a feature of the new millinery. One startling combination has a black lace rim and a crown of gold and black from which roses in varying dahlia tints spread out among the hoops of wide dahlia satin ribbon which extend out at either side in front, and are further softened by black lace edging. The backs of the hats are trimmed broad, like the front, and large rosettes of lace and velvet are seen on one hat, with a cascade of roses falling at the back.

Boat shaped hats are here again, but they are transformed by a frill of lace, which is wired and made to extend over the brim, and masses of flowers are arranged just above the ears.

A lace in white and cream, which resembles Brussels applique, is a specialty in millinery, and every shade of red, from the palest to the darkest ruby, is to be worn, while violets will continue in favor. Bonnets are made entirely of loops of jet prettily mingled and brightened by flowers placed directly in front.

With broad bows at the back of our hats, broad bows in front, such upstanding aigrettes on the crown, the new hat will transcend any of its predecessors for all screen purposes.

Shirt waists continue to multiply in variety and besides the regulation Chambery waist with the stiff turn over collar, there are dainty ones of dotted Swiss, striped with a color and made with the soft draped band at the neck, which can be replaced by one of satin ribbon.

Passed Him Off as McClellan.

Although the train on which I traveled westward was burdened with many distinguished and jubilant Democratic leaders, it was notable that the most conspicuous person was Congressman Harris, of Maryland, who had been censured by the House for so called treasonable language. It was known that he was on the train and whenever we stopped—and that was pretty often—the Butternuts yelled vociferously for him. I made his acquaintance and found him a very companionable person. He frankly said that he found himself much more popular in the West than in Maryland. It had been bruited abroad that McClellan was on our train, and at Plymouth, Ind., there was a great call for "Little Mac." A Union colonel, going home on furlough, was readily passed off as the redoubtable general by some of the fun-loving Democrats, who were determined that their Indiana compatriots should not be disappointed. The colonel made a very ingenious little speech in the character of McClellan and was received with tremendous cheers.—St. Nicholas.

Pennsylvania's Candidate.

The meanest man on record is said to live in Centre County, Pa. He sold his son in law one half interest in a cow and then refused to divide the milk, maintaining that he sold only the front half. The buyer was also required to provide the food the cow consumed and was compelled to carry water to her three times a day. Recently the cow hooked the old man, and he is suing the son in law for damages.—Oil City Blizzard.

Another Famous Contributor.

"Got 'em dead to rights this time," said the great magazine editor.

It is the privilege of great magazine editors to indulge in the vernacular when not posing before the public.

"What have you now?" asked the publisher.

"Got a contribution from Herr Schweinfleisch, the famous anarchist, on 'How the Authorities Made Me Take My First Bath.'"—Indianapolis Journal.

Mild Love.

"I cannot say that I love him wildly," admitted the Chicago young lady, "but still I think he would make a good enough husband for a year or so."—Indianapolis Journal.

BRIAR PIPE GIVEN AWAY

WITH EVERY ONE POUND bale OF

DUKES MIXTURE

for 35 cents

Every pipe stamped DUKES MIXTURE or ATC

2 oz. PACKAGE 5¢

HOSIERY.

You should always buy your hose at a regular hosiery store. The keeps a full line of ladies', men's and children's hose. We will quote a few prices.

BEE H VE

Ladies fast black hose, seamless, 10 and 12½

Ladies' fast black Hermsdorf sold in town at 21c our price 15c.

Men's Hermsdorf black socks 2 pair for 25c.

We also received all numbers in Clark's crochet cotton on spools at 5c.

The "Cast-iron" shirt made of good muslin, heavy linen bosom, reinforced front and double back, at 38c.

LOUIS CALLMAN,

222 West Front st

Treasury Department

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1895.

Whereas, By satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, has complied with all the provisions of the "Act of Congress to enable National Banking Associations to extend their corporate existence and for other purposes," approved July 12, 1882,

Now, therefore, I, James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, do hereby certify that the City National Bank of Plainfield, in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey, is authorized to have succession for the period specified in its amended articles of association, namely, until close of business on March 1, 1915.

In testimony whereof, witness my hand and seal of office this 1st day of March, 1895.

2243 JAMES H. ECKELS, Comptroller of the Currency.

3 4 30

GEO. J. TOBIN,

187 North avenue.

Practical Plumber

Contractor for plumbing, steam and hot water heating, drainage, sewerage, ventilation and water supply; testing ventilation and sewer lines, under hydraulic and air pressure. This should be done before connecting with new sewer

TELEPHONE CALL 158a. 12 15 tf

W. K. McCLURE,

Counselor-at-Law.

SUPREME COURT COMMISSIONER.

First National Bank Building.

W. R. Codington's

LAW OFFICES,

Corner Park avenue and Second street.
Solicitor and Master in Chancery.
Notary Public.

Tel. 29B Established 1878.

ADDIS & SON,

PLUMBING AND HOT WATER HEATING.

Have your plumbing system tested with the smoke process under pressure, preparatory for the sewerage system.

Opp Roberts's Livery 182 North Ave

H. DeMOTT,

With livery attached,

UNDERTAKER AND EMBALMER,

178 Somerset Street, Plainfield, N. J. 98 y

SMALLEY'S CASH MARKET.

(Estate D. I. Smalley.)

94 Somerset, Corner Race Street.

GEO. EGEL, Manager.

We sell only first-class goods, at low prices, for cash. Orders called for and delivered. 12 10 t

N. E. KING,

High Grade Portraits

in Crayon, Pastel and Water Colors.

483 Lexington ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Refers by permission to John A. Thickstun, L. B. Woolston, J. L. Blackford, L. W. Randolph, A. L. Force. Further information at the drug store of L. W. Randolph or office of The Daily Press, where specimen of work can be seen. 11 20 tf

HER PA'S EXCEPTION.

"The low-descending sun with torch of fire
Illumined cloudland's minaret and spire
As ardent maiden said unto her sire,
"'A sight more vivid never met my quest!'
"Except", quoth he, cheered by the grate-fire bright,
"This warmth-disseminating anthra-cite
I bought of Geo. O. Stevens yesternight,
At 747 Front St., West."

(Orders may be left at VanBuren & Timpson's, opposite railroad station, or at G. A. Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

Short Vacations

For busy people by the beautiful new steamships of the Old Dominion Line.

To Old Point Comfort
[Hygeia Hotel]

Or Virginia Beach, Va.
[Princess Anne Hotel] may be made for

$16 Old Point Comfort, $16 Virginia Beach, $17 $17

INCLUDING EVERY EXPENSE

of meals and berths enroute, and a day and a quarter's board at the hotels.

These trips are ideal, as a considerable portion is made through the quiet waters of the famous Hampton Roads and there is little likelihood of seasickness.

Also tickets on sale, with privilege of going or returning by rail.

Write for particulars of these and other delightful trips to

Old Dominion S. S. Co.,

Pier 26, North River, New York.
W. L. Guillaudeu, Vice Pres. and Traffic Manager. 11 26 6m

M. Powers & Son.

[Superior quality of

LEHIGH COAL.

No. 2 Coal Only $3.75

In the yard. A No. 1 Kindling Wood.

Yard and office, 763 South Avenue. Down-town office with Lyman & Petrie, 171 North ave., opp. railroad station.

Fred Endress,

Dealer in all kinds of

CHOICE MEATS

Jersey porkland poultry a specialty.
203 LIBERTY STREET.

HARPER'S

Toys, Games, Wagons, Velocipedes, Tricycles.

411 Park Avenue,

Plainfield, N. J.

Finest Elgin Creamery Butter 25c. lb
Finest Dairy Butter.....22c. lb

V. L. FRAZEE,

151 West Front St.

Your valuables will be safe in

Doane's Safe Deposit Vault.

LOCK BOXES

From $3.50 to $10.00 a year.

Vanity

is a virtuous vice. The world is better for it. It makes men ambitious—and it makes women careful of their personal appearance. It doesn't take much money to keep well-dressed now-a-days. Cleaning or dyeing makes it possible to use soiled or faded garments. And there's where our ax comes in. We are in the Cleaning and Dyeing business. Our cleaner is ready, and our dyer has his fall shades mixed.

Ask for our little book—"Re-Freshing Thoughts." It tells about cleaning men's clothing.

HILLIER & Co.,

175 North ave.

PEASE

GOLD RING.

WILKINS.

[Copyright, 1894, by Keller, Johnson & Bacheller.]

CHAPTER I.

The first things which Comfort remembered being told was that she had been named for her Aunt Comfort, who had given her a gold ring and a gold dollar for her name. Comfort could not understand why. It always seemed to her that her aunt and not her mother had given the name, and that she herself should have given the ring and the dollar, but that was what her mother had told her. "Your Aunt Comfort gave you this beautiful gold ring and this bright gold dollar for your name," said she.

The ring and the dollar were kept in Mrs. Pease's little rosewood work box, which she never used for needlework, but as a repository for her treasures. Her best cameo brooch was in there, too, and a lock of hair of Comfort's baby brother, who died.

One of Comfort's chiefest delights was looking at her gold ring and gold dollar. When she was very good her mother would unlock the rosewood box and let her see them. She had never worn the ring; it was much too large for her. Aunt Comfort and her mother had each thought that it was foolish to buy a gold ring that she could outgrow. "If it were a camelian ring I wouldn't care," said Aunt Comfort, "but it does seem a pity when it's a real gold ring." So the ring was bought a little too large for Comfort's mother. She was a very small woman and Comfort was a large baby, and, moreover, favored her father's family, who were all well grown, and Aunt Comfort feared she might have larger fingers.

"Why, I've seen girls eight years old with fingers a good deal bigger than yours, Emily," she said. "Suppose Comfort shouldn't be able to get that ring on her finger after she's eight years old what a pity 'twould be, when it's real gold, too."

But when Comfort was eight years old she was very small for her age, and she could actually crowd two of her fingers, the little one and the third, into the ring. She begged her mother to let her wear it so, but she would not. "No," said she, "I shan't let you make yourself a laughing stock by wearing a ring any such way as that, besides you couldn't use your fingers. You've got to wait till your hand grows to it."

So poor little Comfort waited, but she had a discouraged feeling sometimes that her hand never would grow to it. "Suppose I shouldn't be any bigger than you, mother," she said, "couldn't I ever wear the ring?"

"Hush, you will be bigger than I am; all your father's folks are, and you look just like them," said her mother conclusively, and Comfort tried to have faith. The gold dollar also could only impart the simple delight of possession for it was not to be spent. "I am going to give her a gold dollar to keep beside the ring," Aunt Comfort had said.

"What is it for?" Comfort asked sometimes, when she gazed at it shining in its pink cotton bed in the top of the workbox. "It's to keep," answered her mother. Comfort grew to have a feeling which she never expressed to anybody that her gold dollar was somehow like Esau's birthright, and something dreadful would happen to her if she parted with it. She felt safer, because a "mess of pottage" did not sound attractive to her, and she did not think she would ever be tempted to spend her gold dollar for that.

Comfort went to school when she was ten years old; she had not begun as early as most of the other girls, because she lived three-quarters of a mile from the schoolhouse and had many sore throats. The doctor had advised her mother to teach her at home, and she could do that because she had been a teacher herself when she was a girl.

Comfort had not been to school one day before everybody in it knew about her gold ring and her dollar, and it happened in this way: She sat on the bench between Rosy and Matilda Stebbins, and Rosy had a ring on the middle finger of her left hand. Rosy was a fair, pretty little girl, with long, light curls, which all the other girls admired, and begged for the privilege of twisting. Rosy at recess usually had one or two of her friends standing at her back twisting her soft curls over their fingers.

Rosy wore pretty gowns and aprons too, and she was always glancing down to see if her skirt was spread out nicely when she sat on the bench. Her sister, Matilda, had just as pretty gowns, but she was not pretty herself. However she was a better scholar, although she was a year younger. That day she kept glancing across Comfort at her sister and her black eyes twinkled angrily. Rosy sometimes sat with her left hand pressed affectedly against her pink cheek, with the ring finger bent slightly outward, and then she held up her spelling book before her with her left hand, and the same ostentatious finger.

Finally Matilda lost her patience, and she whispered across Comfort Pease. "You act like a ninny," said she to Rosy, with a fierce pucker of her red lips and a black twinkle of eyes.

Rosy looked at her and the pink spread softly all over her face and neck, but she still held her spelling book high, and the middle finger with the ring wiggled at the back of it.

"It ain't anything but brass neither," whispered Matilda.

"It ain't," Rosy whispered back.

"Smell of it."

Rosy crooked her arm around her face, and began to cry. However, she cried quite easily, and everybody was accustomed to seeing her fair head bent over the hollow of her arm several times a day, so she created no excitement at all. Even the school-teacher simply glanced at her and said nothing. The school-teacher was an elderly woman who had taught school ever since she was sixteen. She was called very strict, and the little girls were all afraid of her. She could ferrule a boy just as well as a man could. Her name was Miss Tabitha Hanks. She did not like Rosy Stebbins very well, although she tried to be impartial. Once, at recess, she pushed Charlotte Hutchins and Sarah Allen, who were twisting Rosy's curls, away and gathered them all up herself in one hard hand. "I'd cut them all off if I was your mother," said she with a sharp little tug, but when Rosy rolled her scared blue eyes up at her she only laughed grimly, and let go.

Now Miss Hanks just looked absently at Rosy, weeping in the hollow of her blue gingham arm, then went over to the blackboard and began writing in fair large characters: "A rolling stone gathers no moss," for the scholars to copy in their writing books. The temptation and the opportunity were too much for Comfort Pease. She nudged Matilda Stebbins and whispered in her ear, although she knew that whispering in school was wrong: "I've got a real gold ring," whispered Comfort.

Matilda turned astonished eyes upon her. "You ain't."

"Yes, I have."

"Who gave it to you?"

"My Aunt Comfort, for my name."

"Were you named for her?"

"Yes, and she gave me a real gold ring for it."

"Matilda Stebbins and Comfort Pease, stand out in the floor," said Miss Tabitha Hanks, sharply. Comfort gave a great jump. The teacher had been standing at the blackboard, with her back toward them, and how had she seen? Never after that did Comfort feel quite safe from Miss Tabitha's eyes; even if they were on the other side of a wall, she could not quite trust it.

"Step right out on the floor, Matilda and Comfort," repeated Miss Tabitha, and out the two little girls stepped. Comfort's knees shook, and she was quite pale. Matilda looked very sober, but her black eyes gave a defiant flash when she was out on the floor and saw that her sister Rosy had lowered her arm and was looking at her with gentle triumph. "You see what you've got because you called my ring brass," Rosy seemed to say, and Matilda gave a stern little nod at her, as if she replied: "It is brass."

Poor little Comfort did not feel much sustained by the possession of her real gold ring. It was dreadful to stand out there facing the school, which seemed to be a perfect dazzle of blue and black eyes all fastened upon her in her little red gown and gingham tire, in her little stout shoes, which turned in for very meekness; with her little, dangling hands, which could not wear the gold ring, and her little shamed face and whispering lips, and little vain heart, which was being punished for its little vanity.

They stood on the floor until recess. Comfort felt so weak and stiff that she could scarcely move, when Miss Hanks said, harshly: "Now, you can go." She cast a piteous glance at Matilda, who immediately put her arms around her waist and pulled her along to the entry, where their hoods and cloaks hung. "Don't you cry," she whispered

"DON'T YOU CRY," SHE WHISPERED.

"she's awful strict, but she won't hurt you a mite. She brought me a whole tumbler of currant jelly when I had the measles."

"I shan't whisper again as long as I live," half sobbed Comfort, putting on her hood.

"I shan't, either," said Matilda. "I never had to stand out on the floor before. I don't know what my mother will say when I tell her."

The two little girls went out in the snowy yard, and there was Rosy, with Charlotte Hutchins and Sarah Allen, and she was showing them her ring. It was again too much for sensible little Matilda, weary from her long stand on the floor. "Rosy Stebbins, you are a great ninny, acting so stuck up over that old brass ring," said she. "Comfort Pease has a real solid gold one, and she don't even wear it."

Rosy and Charlotte Hutchins and Sarah Allen all stared at Comfort. "Have you?" asked Charlotte Hutchins, in an awed tone. She was a doctor's daughter and had many things that the other little girls had not, but even she had no gold ring—nothing but a carnelian.

"Yes, I have," replied Comfort, blushing modestly.

"Real gold?" asked Rosy, in a subdued voice.

"Yes."

Some other girls came up, some of the older ones, with their hair done up, and even some of the boys towering lankily on the outskirts. Not one of these scholars in this county district school fifty years ago had ever owned a gold ring. All they had ever seen were their mothers' well-worn wedding circlets.

"Comfort Pease has got a real gold ring!" went from one to the other.

"Why don't she wear it then?" demanded one of the girls. She had very red cheeks and her black hair was in two glossy braids, crossed and pinned at the back of her head, and surmounted by her mother's shell comb she had let her wear to school that day. She had come out to recess without her hood to show it.

"She's waiting for her hand to grow to it," explained Matilda, to whom Comfort had slyly whispered the whole story.

"Hold up your hand," ordered the big girl, and Comfort held up her little hand pink with cold.

"H'm, looks big enough," said the big girl, and she adjusted her shell comb.

"I call it a likely story," said another big girl in an audible whisper.

"The Pease's don't have any more than other folks," said still another big girl. The little crowd dispersed with scornful giggles. Comfort turned redder and redder. Rosy and Charlotte and Sarah were looking at her curiously,

"SHE HAS GOT A GOLD RING," SHE CRIED.

only Matilda stood firm. "You are all just as mean as you can be!" she cried. "She has got a gold ring."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Roswell G. Horr as a Writer.

While the American people have never seen a time during which they did not have a large array of burning public questions to discuss, there certainly never has been an epoch, since the Revolution, excepting that of 1861, which has given rise to more striking issues than the present. The Tribune discusses the silver, tariff and elections questions admirably. That great paper fills a field of its own, and does it well. Readers can subscribe both for The Tribune and for this paper if they desire; and the two make an excellent political outfit. The Tribune market reports are superb. Our metropolitan contemporary deals with national questions with remarkable force, ability and courage. For 50 years it has been a fighter and is no less so now than it ever was. It hits with a good hard stick and seldom misses the mark. It believes that agitation, discussion and thorough exploring of public questions are the only path which leads to a wise and patriotic solution of them; and the ably prepared and exhaustive articles in The Tribune by R. G. Horr of Plainfield, on the tariff, silver, labor, wages, etc., will help any citizen to decide rightly on the issues of the day. It illustrates the news of the day profusely. The Tribune's prospectus in another column tells the story more fully. Republicans in this county will do well to subscribe for The Tribune this year in combination with this paper. An illustrated premium list will be sent by The Tribune, free, to applicants. Sample copies are also free.

Hot Rolls

of carpet. Quite an accident happened to us while carrying carpets to our carpet department, 5 rolls tumbled down a flight of stairs; nothing broke but the prices and we are happy to say they broke in half. Not a piece of carpet have we forgot to mark down. If ever you had a chance to buy carpets cheap, this is one that you should grasp. A bare floor is as bad as a bare head. These are only a few of our many specials.

53c..Brussels carpet handsome patterns..53c
69c.....Brussels carpet worth 85c.....69c
29c.....Ingrain carpet worth 45c.....29c

Mattings

15 rolls of 17c matting 12½—by roll 10c.
13 " 20c " 10c " 15c.
10 " 35c " 25c " 20c.

Oil Cloths

In this line we have the best selection and lowest prices of any house in the city.

Ladies' Separate Skirts

Crepon skirts $4 25—worth $6
Black serge skirts $3 75—worth $5
Cloth skirts, all sizes, $2 49, worth $3 50
Just received an elegant line of Spring Capes in black, blue and tan at $1.25. This price for a short time only.

Infants' Long Robes

$1 25 will buy a $1 65 robe, nicely trimmed.
$1 45 " $2 robe, handsomely made.
$2 00 " $2 65 robe, Valenciennes lace trimming.

Calico Waists

Ladies calico waists, sizes from 32 to 44, for one week only 21c.

Capes

Cloth capes, a bargain, at $1.75; our price for one week only $1.

Dress Goods

We still lead with our goods on the top of the ladder.

BOEHM'S,

113 WEST FRONT STREET.

BAMBERGER'S

THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE

NEWARK, N. J.

Phenomenal Values

IN

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The careful housewife whose thoughts will soon turn to spring house cleaning and fixings, and who desires to practice economy, cannot possibly make a better investment than in the grand values we offer in Upholstery Goods.

New Nottingham Lace Curtains,

Very choice and well covered designs and excellent quality,

98c Value, $1.49 Value, $1.98 Value, $2.98 Value, $3.98 Value

59c 98c $1.25 $1.98 $2.98

FIGURED CHINA SILK

for drapery and also suitable for pillow covering, new designs and choice colors, value 69c. at

49 cents.

TAMBONIED SASH MUSLIN

with double border and well covered centres, in the latest designs, very choice quality, value 19c, at

12½ cents.

FIGURED SILKALINE

36 inches wide, fine designs and desirable colorings, value 12½c, at

7½ cents.

CHENILLE PORTIERES,

each pair 75 inches wide, wide dado and frieze and heavy tassel fringe, excellent weighty quality, all the most desirable shades, value $2.98, at $1 98.

☞ Mail orders promptly filled.

L. BAMBERGER & CO.,

147 and 149 Market Street,

Near Broad Street. Newark, N. J.

SPRING STYLES

In Men's Hats are in today.

G. A. Hallock, 109 West Front St.

Our Men's $3 Shoes

will give you lots of wear and good solid comfort.

ALEX. WILLETT & SON,

107 Park avenue

IF YOU WANT

ANY REAL ESTATE,

Come and see me. I always keep a good line of houses to rent and for sale. Elegant flats, steam heated, city water and electric lights. Private houses with all modern improvements. Vacant lots, farms, speculative property bought, sold and exchanged.

Now is the opportunity to get a home; prices are away down. Real estate owners need money. Buy this year as you will have to pay 25 per cent. more next year. You hear what I am saying. Take warning and come at once.

F. M. BACON,

Babcock Building, Room 211.

Spring Curry Comb

Clock Spring Blade. Soft as a Brush. Fits every Curve. The Only Perfect Comb. Used by U. S. Army and by Barnum and Forepaugh Circuses, and Leading Horsemen of the World. Ask your Dealer for It. Sample mailed post paid 25 cents.

See our name on the handle. SPRING CURRY COMB CO., 102 Lafayette St., South Bend, Indiana.

781-1 9-t tf

HEATH & DRAKE

Announce their

Grand

Spring Opening

on Tuesday,

Wednesday,
Thursday,

MARCH 12, 13 and 14.

When a line of goods suitable for the season will be exhibited, consisting of elegant, medium and low priced dry goods upholstery, carpets, etc.

You are cordially invited to attend.

HEATH & DRAKE,

777 and 779 BROAD STREET,

Newark, N. J.

MRS. L. COLES,

FASHIONABLE DRESS-MAKER,

Room 202, Babcock Building } { Plainfield, N. J. Residence 78 Duer st

Taylor's French System

used. Suits $6.00 and upward.

2 2 tf

FLORIST.

A. E. LINCOLN, 226 Park avenue,

has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants. Also will have a fine assortment of flowering plants, azaleas, lilies, etc., for Easter. Large assortment of choice cut flowers daily. Floral design work for all occasions a specialty.

BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS pure stock. Eggs for hatching, guaranteed. $1.50 a setting (13) delivered anywhere in Plainfield. Stock can be seen on premises. Address Wm. J. Dougherty, New Market, N. J. 2 25 1m

Central Employment Office

218 Liberty st. Gibson & Cable, agents.

All kind of help furnished on short notice. We have first-class help always on hand or can be had on 3 days notice. Satisfaction guaranteed. 1 19 2m

L. PAOLI & CO.,

Fruits, Confectionery, Temperance Drinks, Segars, Etc.,

128 NORTH AVENUE,

FRESH ROASTED PEANUTS EVERY DAY,

10 CENTS A QUART.

I take this method of informing my friends and the public in general that I am again in business at the old stand. I solicit your patronage. Store will close at sundown on Friday and open at sundown on Saturday.

L. A. HUMMER. L. B. MULFORD.

Hummer & Mulford,

VARIETY MARKET,

Meats, Fruits, Vegetables, Poultry, Eggs, Etc.,

220 PARK AVE., PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Telephone call, 29 A.

Goods delivered to any part of the city free of charge 6 11

Prospect Hill For Sale,

26 acres, or in plots to suit,

Also trees, shrubs, hedge plants, palms, Bermuda lillies, Indian azaleas, India rubber trees, etc.

L. J. DENTON, 131 Hillside avenue.

MEDICATED

Sulphur and Vapor Baths,

followed by a thorough rubbing with alcohol; a wonderful help for rheumatism and skin diseases. For men only; hours 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 8 p. m. H. HOHNER, 26 North ave., Plainfield, N. J. Refers to Drs. Probasco, Endicott, Fritts Tomlinson, Gen. F. W. Rockefellow and T. S. Armstrong. [redacted] 6 27

THE DAILY PRESS

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 13, 1895. TWO CENTS A COPY. $5 A YEAR.

MAYOR HEGEMAN.

Borough Republicans Do Just as They Please.

A VERY ONE-SIDED ELECTION.

In the Township, Charles Sebring is Defeated for Committeeman—Few Votes Cast at Any Poll.

The election in North Plainfield borough yesterday was simply a perfunctory casting of ballots for one ticket—the only ticket in the field. The vote, which was as follows, requires no comment:

NORTH PLAINFIELD BOROUGH.

	1st. Dist.	2d Dist.
Total votes cast	151	147
Mayor, 3 years—
B. A. Hegeman, Jr.	144	143
Councilmen—
H. B. Lounsbury, 3 years	145	143
W. A. Schutt, 3 years,	147	140
W. C. Smith, 1 year	145	139
Assessor—
Dr. J. H. Cooley	147	142
Collector, 3 years—
H. N. Spencer	150	142
Freeholder—
L. E. Barkalew	144	142
Justices of the Peace—
L. A. Kline	148	141
F. N. Brown	129	136
C. W. Taynor	146	141
Constables—
Sam Taynor	148	143
Mark Dowd	148	140
J. W. VanHorn	148	141
Surveyors of Highway—
John H. Worth	149	143
J. S. Lunger	149	143
Commissioners of Appeal—
L. B. Woolston	148	144
J. P. Emmons	147	144
Robert Carson	148	143
Overseer of the Poor—
David R. Weaver	148	143

APPROPRIATIONS.

Borough	$5000	150	147
Roads	4000
Support of Poor	1500
Board of Health	500

There were a few scattering votes as follows: For mayor—Joel Hedden, 1; Wm. E. Mattison, 1. For councilman—E. Winckler, 7. For assessor—John Goodwin, 1. For overseer of the poor—Augustus Sutterlein, 1. For justices—E. C. Morse, 8; Wm. E. Mattison, 25. For pound keepers—R. McGinnis, J. W. Stout, John Goodwin, R. Speigel, Peter B. Matthews, Pat Eagen, H. N. Spencer, and Fritz Von Diebhenker, 1 apiece. For collector—Frank Conehee, 1.

NORTH PLAINFIELD TOWNSHIP.

	1st. Dist.	2d Dist.
Town Committee—
Chas. Sebring, Rep	11	4
Frank Mobus, Cit	33	24
Justice of the Peace—
Thomas Taylor, Rep	26	29
Dirk Debaas, Cit	25	16
Commissioners of Appeal—
Chas. Mooney, Rep. and Cit	26	29
Phillip Acker, "	26	29
Amos Vail "	26	29
Surveyors of Highways—
John Archibold, Rep	19	13
David Lowrie, Rep and Cit	19	29
Pound Keepers—
Samuel Redden, Rep	19	13
Oscar Leibe, Rep and Cit	19	29
Thos. McGann, Cit	26	16

APPROPRIATIONS CARRIED.

Support of Poor	$ 150.00
Repair of Roads	1,000.00
Town Committee Salary	25.00

DOWNER DOWNED.

Fanwood Democrats Gain a Town Committeeman.

A lively fight was concentrated against Abner P. Downer in the Fanwood Township election yesterday, and was successful, Thos. J. Nicholl defeating him by 34 ballots. Otherwise the entire Republican ticket was elected. Following is the vote:

Total ballots cast	270
Republican	163
Democrat	107
Rejected	1
Town Committee, 3 years—
Wm. H. Terry, Rep	143
Ernest C. Keib, Dem	116
Town Committee, 1 year—
Abner P. Downer, Rep	116
Thos. J. Nicholl, Dem	150
Justices of the Peace, (same on both tickets)
Joseph Clark	263
Benjamin Urner	267
Constable—
Wm. H. Trayno, Rep	160
Joseph Gurrier, Dem	106
Surveyors of Highways—
John G. Cook, Rep	158
Edward M. Johnston, Rep	162
Thos. Lee, Dem	107
John Radin, Dem	108
Commissioners of Appeal—
Wm. H. Lake, Rep	161
Henry Cook, Rep	160
Alfred D. Beekin, Rep	164
Chas. Haberle, Dem	107
Lewis B. Coles, Dem	103
Pound Keepers—
Hans Lambertson, Rep	160
Joseph Thys, Rep	159
Edward Terry, Rep	161
John G. Cook, Rep	158
J. W. K. Clark, Rep	161
Lewis B. Coles, Dem	107
Frederick K. Clark, Dem	109
Clarence Lambert, Dem	106

APPROPRIATIONS.
(Same on both tickets.)

For Roads, Repair and Material	$1,500
For Support of Poor	300
For Sidewalks	250
For Fire Department	500

Over the Mountain.

John D. Bornman was re-elected Town Committeeman of Warren Township yesterday, as was also the entire Democratic ticket.

In Bernards Township there was a decided opposition to the Committeeman on the Democratic ticket, and an independent candidate named J. Wilbur Smith was elected. Fred P. Olcott is a member of the same committee.

HIRAM HORNISH DEAD.

The Veteran Nurse Found Lifeless in His Rooms on North Avenue.

Hiram Hornish, the veteran nurse, was found dead in his rooms on North avenue at 2:55 p. m. today. T. S. Armstrong called in to see him and found him lifeless on a couch. The body was still warm. M. C. Dobbins had taken him his dinner at noon, which he ate heartily. Death resulted from Bright's disease. Decedent was born in Pennsylvania 72 years ago.

POVERTIE PARTIE.

Much Fun Sure to Be Extracted from This Unique Event.

Many Plainfielders will journey to Scotch Plains tonight to enjoy the frolic of a povertie partie. The invitations are printed in old style on butcher's brown paper, and read as follows:

Ye be all herewith invited to a gathering to be held on ye evening of Wednesday, ye thirteenth day of ye third month of ye year of our Lord eighteen hundred and ninety-five, in ye Baptist Meeting House, located on ye avenue called Park and ye street called Grand, in ye fair village of Scotch Plains.

Such partie to be given in ye spirit of ye hard times which do now prevail.

ADMITTANCE.

Five pennies it shall be to all,
Whether ye be greate or smalle.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Ye women must weare ye cotton gowne and apron or equally befitting apparel.

Ye menne must weare ye plain attire. Such menne as do bedeck themselves with gold watch chain or brocade tie shall pay ye fine of five cents.

Ye man and ye woman who shall appear at such partie in garments most suitable shall partake of ye supper free of compensation.

These rules will be enforced by ye select committee who will likewise introduce strangers and also much befriende ye bashful young menne.

In ye dining room crullers, cookies and ginger nuts will be served with coffee and bread with meat between.

FINES.

These be ye fines: for women; No apron, 1 cent; earrings, plain, 5 cents; earrings, diamonds, 10 cents; wool dress, old, 3 cents; wool dress, new 5 cents; trimmed apron, 3 cents; finger rings, plain, 3 cents; diamonds, 10 cents; gold framed glasses, 5 cents; steel frame, 3 cents; no glasses, 1 cent; hats, 5 cents; silk dress, 10 cents; evening dress, 25 cents; borrowed articles, 10 cents.

These be ye fines: for ye menne; Mustache, 1 cent; full beard, 3 cents; patent leather shoes, 3 cents; ye glasses fined ye same as ye women; ye gold cuff buttons, 5 cents; ye diamond scarf pin, 10 cents; ye plain scarf pin, 5 cents; linen collars, 5 cents; linen cuffs, 3 cents; bicycle suits, 25 cents; evening suits, 50 cents; borrowed things, 10 cents.

Extra: Flirting, 3 cents; telling secrets, 5 cents; backbiting, 3 cents.

The money shall expended be
To furnish entertainment free.

Music Hall Tonight.

"A Run on the Bank", the play in Music Hall tonight, was written for John Ward and Harry Vokes, who have long been known for their highly entertaining work as "Percy and Harold" in the best grade of vaudeville houses, and this is their first appearance as joint dramatic stars. In "A Run on the Bank" they appear as two impecunious but nervy individuals, who accidentally securing the credentials of two noblemen, pass themselves off as Lord Percy Soskup and Baron Harold DeCanter. They offer their titles to two daughters of a wealthy banker and are accepted.

The father of the girls starts his prospective sons-in-law in a bank, and the manner in which they conduct the institution causes plenty of amusement. A run on the bank finally occurs and the depositors are paid off in counterfeit currency. The dialogue is credited with being bright, the scenes and situations original and comical, and the specialties novel and humorous, while the comedy is adorned with appropriate and elaborate scenery.

To Remodel the Bank.

The First National Bank Directors yesterday decided to adopt the plan of remodeling the building already fully described in these columns.

This means a new front of terra cotta and stone, a ground-floor story of 14 feet height, for the bank itself; and a second story of 9 feet and a third story, for offices.

Another New Order.

The second meeting of the Order of Chosen Friends since their organization was held last night, and five new members initiated, which now makes a total membership of 23. L. Hopkins, Past Counsellor, J. J. Reed, Provisional Grand Secretary, and Mrs. J. J. Reed, Past Secretary, all of Jersey City, were present.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

A HARMONY IN HEARTS.

Prelude of Wedding Bells to a Perpetual Duet.

PLAINFIELD-WESTFIELD CHORUS.

Miss Kittie Vail Weds Will MacClymont, and Fluttering Feminine Hearts Sigh with the Gentle Intoxication of Carnations, Violets, Roses, and Orange Blossoms.

A scene of beauty last evening was the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, where a large number of friends and relatives had gathered to witness the marriage of Miss Catherine Ann Vail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan H. Vail of Westfield, to William Earl MacClymont of this city. The bride is a reigning society favorite and a highly accomplished musician. The groom is organist of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainfield, and his marriage sets at rest many a fluttering feminine heart.

Seated at the organ was Robert Elsworth Terry, organist of the Church of Eternal Hope, West 81st street, New York, and the choice selections rendered while the audience was waiting were enjoyed exceedingly.

At 7:35 the familiar notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march were heard, and all eyes eagerly watched the coming of the bridal party.

From the rear of the church, the bride, resting on the arm of her father, slowly proceeded up the centre aisle, while at the front, from side entrances, appeared the groom, best man and ushers, preceded by the bridemaids, and, walking down the aisle, met the bride and her father. The entire bridal party then went to the front, and met Rev. D. Thomas MacClymont, D. D., uncle of the groom, and Rev. N. W. Cadwell, pastor of the church.

The ceremony, which was a combination of the Episcopal and Presbyterian services, was beautiful, and was performed by Dr. MacClymont, assisted by Rev. Cadwell.

The bride was given away by her father and was married with a ring.

The wedding march from Lohengrin was delightfully rendered while the party was leaving the church, the bride and groom graciously bestowing happy recognitions on their friends.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white satin duchesse, with duchesse lace and pearl passementerie and ostrich-feather trimmings. She wore diamond ornaments, low corsage, veil, and orange blossoms; and carried a bouquet of white bride roses.

Miss Jennie Marlor of Roselle, the maid of honor, wore pink silk, with duchesse lace and satin ribbons, and carried pink mermet roses.

The bridemaids, Miss Georgiana Bogert of Westfield, and Miss Ida Elizabeth Schafer of Trenton, were gowned in white silk mull over white taffeta, trimmed with pink ribbons. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Richard E. Pease of Plainfield was best man, and the ushers were E. E. Turlington and Irving Pope of New York, David Marlor of Roselle, and Harry Williams of Plainfield.

The maid of honor and bridemaids were presented by the bride with favors of Roman gold scabbard pins with pearls inlaid. The groom's gift to the best man and ushers were of the same design in scarf pins.

Mrs. Vail, mother of the bride, wore a black satin duchesse gown, with jet and duchesse lace and diamond ornaments. Mrs. MacClymont, mother of the groom, was gowned in black velvet with jet and duchesse lace and diamond ornaments. Mrs. C. A. Provost, mother of the bride's father, wore a black silk gown with jet and diamond ornaments. They all wore violets.

Many handsome gifts were received, among which was an inkstand with gold pen and holder, from the choir of the First Presbyterian Church, Plainfield. The groom's gift to the bride was a graceful and substantial tribute to her musical genius, a Sohmer grand piano.

The reception at the bride's home was largely attended by guests from New York, Trenton, Plainfield, Newark, and other places, including a notable delegation of Plainfield belles.

Mr. and Mrs. MacClymont left last evening for New York, and today proceeded to Washington.

A Courtesy to Bride and Groom.

Through the influence of Rev. Dr. D. Thomas MacClymont, H. P. Baldwin of the Central Railroad had the Royal Blue Line train which leaves Plainfield at 9:48 stop at Westfield last night, especially to accommodate Mr. and Mrs. W. E. MacClymont.

For seven years or more Mrs. W. D. Louder, of Quincy, Ky., was subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Mr. S. R. Morse, a druggist of that place, recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which has effected a permanent cure, saving her much suffering besides the trouble and expense of sending for a doctor, which was often necessary. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

THE CHORAL CONCERT.

A Cultured Audience Hears Splendid Music.

OVATION TO JOSEPH HOLLMAN.

Miss Louise Wilbrandt Makes a Triumphant Plainfield Debut—The Chorus Work Much Enjoyed, Especially in the Sparkling Melodies.

Talented soloists from out of town gave color and zest to the programme presented by the Choral Society in the second of the present Winter's concert series, last night. The honors of the evening were divided somewhat unevenly between Miss Louise Wilbrandt, pianist; Miss Charlotte Maconda, soprano, and Joseph Hollman, violoncellist; the two instrumentalists receiving the most marked evidences of approval from a very critical audience.

Miss Wilbrandt has learned much of the celebrated masters under whom she has studied. New Yorkers recognized her talent at once, and credit is certainly due the Choral Society for its introduction of such a brilliant young woman to Plainfield musical circles. Her touch is surpassingly delicate, and her rendition of the most difficult of selections, "Rhapsodie Hongroise", No XI, captivated everyone, and won for her a rapturous encore.

Mr. Hollman may lay undisputed claim to high honors. His 'cello selections of his own composition were played with a fervor and skill that would have elicited demonstrative approval from any cultured audience. Upon his second appearance, after playing three brief selections, the last a mazourka of his own, he evidently believed the audience satiated with the music from his 'cello, for he responded with an encore only after the house was swept from pit to gallery with applause of five-minutes duration.

Miss Maconda's voice was best enjoyed when adapted to the solo parts in the closing number on the programme, "Gallia", when she was supported by the chorus in the delineation of a lament over the fall of Paris during the Franco-Prussian War. Her first solo, "Bell Song", Delibes, was an intricate and difficult selection, and one which few but prima-donnas may attempt with success to sing. It was in a measure suited to her voice, for her high notes were clear and bell-like; but her less ambitious efforts were best enjoyed.

As accompanists, Miss Jessie Utter and Signor Charles A. DeSerrano lent invaluable aid to the proper rendition of solos and choruses alike.

The chorus is unquestionably in need of a more robust representation of bass voices. The foundation of harmony is sadly lacking without these. In but two selections did the chorus appear evenly balanced, these being the first and last numbers on the second half of the programme. The songs were blithe in composition, and were sung with much spirit, considering the fact that there was no orchestral accompaniment. The impressimo passages were well executed in general, and it was seen that Mr. Fitzhugh had his pupils well in hand. The gay, the merry, and the sparkling, they were the parts best sung, together with the "Mother's Lullaby", given by the female chorus.

The society will present Rossini's "Stabat Mater", and Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise", with full orchestral accompaniment, at the third concert of the series, May 14.

That Word.

Edward White received about fifty answers to his offer of $10 in gold to the one sending him a new word to take the place of the word bargain. All the letters will be given to a prominent man in Plainfield, and he will decide who is the fortunate one. The offer is good for this week, and all answers must be in by Friday morning, and the name of the winner and the word will be published in Friday night's Daily Press.

Sorry to Hear It.

The many friends of Lou Coombs, the popular young bartender who has had charge of the Hotel Grenada bar for the past two years, will be surprised to learn that Lou leaves next Tuesday morning for Catasauqua, where he will fill a similar position at the Grand View Hotel, a new and elegant structure just completed at that place.

All Shocked.

The party given by Charles Scribner at his home on Pearl street last night was attended by 9 couple who made the affair a merry one with dancing. An electric battery from which all received a shock added a bit of novelty to the affair. During the progress of dancing refreshments were served. Naylor furnished the music.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, colds and croup. A. W. Baldridge, Millersville, Ill. For sale at Reynolds's pharmacy, Park and North avenues. T. S. Armstrong, manager.

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Borough election will take place in April.

Mrs. Bowlby's two children are ill with whooping cough.

Miss Anna Mulford of New Market was in town yesterday.

Mrs. John Hunt, who has been very ill, is slowly improving.

J. Barber of Fanwood was the guest of John Smalley Sunday.

Miss Maud Benton spent yesterday in Plainfield with friends.

Mrs. Henry Cora of New York is visiting friends in West Dunellen.

John Wyhuski of Plainfield spent last evening with friends in Dunellen.

Mrs. Charles Jennings spent yesterday with Mrs. Charles Barry of Plainfield.

Much sickness among children is prevalent in the borough at the present time.

Misses Lillian and Celia Staats spent Sunday with the Misses Uhdal at Netherwood.

Our merchants should look out for newcomers, as on April 1 a number will move to town.

Miss Charlotte Williams returned last night, after spending several days with relatives at Middlesex, N. Y.

Miss Charlotte Baily of Williamsport, Pa., is being pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carpenter.

The members of the Dunellen Gun Club will hold their monthly practice shoot at targets March 13 at 1 p. m. sharp.

Jesse Dalrymple returned yesterday from Jersey City, where he has been visiting his daughter Mrs. J. B. Sproul.

Miss Lizzie Abel of Jersey City returned to her home yesterday, after spending several days with Mrs. Wm. Shiveley.

Miss Lizzie Staats of Farmingdale, Ill., is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Conover of West Dunellen.

A "Calico Hop" is to be given some time this month at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Goldson Smalley at Greenbrook.

Mrs. W. A. Rogers, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Titsworth, returned yesterday to her home in Waterville, Me.

The Central Railroad Company have started to fill in on the Todd lot recently purchased by them. The site will eventually be used for a station.

Chris McDonnell, operator for the Tide Water Pipe Line, has been removed from Dunellen to Bedminster. C. A. Harrison of Williamsport has taken McDonnell's place.

Funeral services were held yesterday over the remains of Grace Ward Hallett, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. James Hallett of New Market. The deceased was two years and nine months of age. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery.

Yesterday was a great day at New Market. Spring election caused considerable work on both sides. The principal bone of contention was the office of Town Committeeman. Party vote was not taken into consideration. Joseph Field, Democrat, was elected by about 40 majority. The Republican candidate was John Sebring.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK.

The regular weekly singing lesson of of the High School was led this morning by Mr. Allen.

The meeting of the P. H. S. A. A. will not be held this afternoon as previously announced as the committee is not quite ready with its report.

Captain Edwards's talk has aroused interest in military drill and there is much talk of a regular uniformed company in the High School. The idea seems to find great favor among the boys and it is to be hoped that it will succeed.

Mr. Travell has almost recovered from his attack of pneumonia and is expected back again next Monday.

The subjects for the Senior essays for March are as follows:

A Comparison of Taine's or Johnson's Sketch of Melton's Character with the sketch by Macaulay; The Story of Roland Graeme from Scott's Abbott; Modern Political Methods; Woman's Work and Woman's Wages; The Character of Confucius. They are due Monday, March 25.

Cocking Main.

A red hot ten-round cock fight took place last night at South Plainfield between birds owned by parties in this city and ones owned by Middlesex County sports. The birds were young and showed a good strain of gamey breeding. They finished royally and much money passed. The sports from this city got most of the money at the windup.

Soda at 30 Degrees.

Henry J. Fleischhauer, the East Front street druggist, has a soda fountain in his store which is a beauty. It was made according to his own special plans and he claims that he can maintain an average temperature of 30 degrees on every glass of soda drawn.

Those living in the vicinity will appreciate the efforts of Mr. Fleischhauer to please them, and his well-lighted store, with a complete stock of everything in the drug business makes it a very attractive place for East siders, as well as the general public.

Means More Trains for Plainfield.

It is reported that Dunellen will soon be made a terminal for all trains now laying over at Roselle.

GRIST OF CITY COURT.

The Man With the Bowery Dialect Goes to Jail.

THE BOULEVARD SCRAPPER FINED.

John McGowan Breaks Up a Family and Then Threatens to Kill the Son Who Tries To Be Good to His Little Sisters—Trials and Tribulations.

"All I wants is fair show, dat's all; give me a fair shake"—was the remark of John McGowan in police court this morning with the genuine Bowery dialect, and a voice that was, inflated from too close contact with the law.

McGowan was in court on the charge of using indecent language and threatening to kill George Snyder on South avenue last December, while Snyder was giving Christmas presents to his two small sisters. The trouble who one of those family quarrels which are so frequently aired in police court.

It was said that Snyder and wife parted some time ago, and McGowan stepped in to take his place, and since then has estranged Mrs. Snyder from the rest of the family, though the son has endeavored to maintain friendly relations with the mother. McGowan, however, has been successful in influencing her against the son, and other members of the family.

On the stand Snyder said that McGowan had frequently threatened to take his life, and swore and cussed at him every time they met.

Amelia Bancroft, a half-sister of Snyder's, also testified as to the circumstances when McGowan said he would kill her brother. She said that McGowan went to board with her father and mother two years ago, and had not been there long when he succeed in parting the couple. Ever since Mrs. Snyder had supported McGowan, who lived with her and never worked. She did n't think it right for McGowan to live there and never work.

McGowan said in extenuation of his act the day before Christmas that Mrs. Snyder told him not to let the children take any presents from her son.

"All dat I done"—said McGowan—"was to take de children in de house; dat's all dat I did, and den dey made regular examples of demselves round dere. Besides, Jedge, yer honer, der moder tol' me to never speak to dis feller, but to jest watch him and keep me eye on him."

"Have you got any witnesses?"—asked the Judge.

"Dat's what I hav"—was the reply.

"Where are they?"

"It's de moder—de little gal's gone fer her; she'll tell ye whats de kind of man dis feller is"—pointing to Snyder.

"Well, this case has been delayed long enough; why did n't you have her this morning?"—asked the Judge.

"She—why she workin' and could n't lose any time, but say, Jedge, yer honer, she'll be here in a minit."

"You have had time enough, why did n't you have her here at half past eight, when the case was called"—asked Chief Grant.

"Say, jedge, all I wants is fair show, dats all; give me a fair shake, will ye"—replied the Bowery man.

Here the Judge waited a moment to see if Mrs. Snyder would put in an appearance, and young Snyder turned to McGowan and said:

"If you was any kind of a man you would n't stay there with my mother, and live off from her, like you have done for two years. It 's got so she thinks more of you than she does of us."

"Kin ye blame her after whats the like of ye done to her—turns her out of de house?"

"Yes, and you never pay any board, either."

"What 's dat! Ye do n't 'member de time dat you turn out of de house, and den I give he five plunks and take to de road. Dats de kind of man I am."

"But five dollars don't pay board for two years nor two months"—was the answer, which took McGowan's breath away and caused a lull in the colloquy. This gave Judge Coddington a chance to say that if Mrs. Snyder did n't come quick he would have to close the case.

"Ders someting de matter—ders someting crooked 'bout dis"—replied McGowan, as he realized his argument was useless.

"McGowan"—said the Judge—"the sentence of this court is that you pay a fine of $5 or go to jail for 20 days."

McGowan threw up his hands and said: "Dats all right; I'll go to de jail."

The court adjourned and Sergeant Kiely locked the man with the tough dialect in one of the dingy cells.

Donald Fitzpatrick, Robert Wallis and Patrick Cahill who were arrested for fighting on Plainfield avenue early Sunday morning, were also arraigned for a second time this morning before City Judge Coddington. Policemen Flynn and Flanagan and the three fighters were sworn, and the facts brought out were substantially the same as published in Monday's Press. Fitzpatrick and Wallis paid fines of $5 and Cahill $3.

—A home in Watchung Park is offered by Abner Bartlett at a genuine bargain.

TING'S TRAGIC DEATH

Inside History of the Oriental Crisis.

How the Chinese Admiral Ignored a Plausible Temptation To Desert His Country and Became a Victim of Its Brutal Customs—Story of Friendship and Patriotism.

Victoria, B. C., March 13.—The Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of India arrived here with the following advices from Tokio, Japan: The surrender of the Chinese fleet and of the remaining forces of Wei-Hai-Wei constituted the most striking scene in the drama of the war. Several days before the event Vice-Admiral Ito, commander-in-chief of the Japanese naval squadron, had addressed a letter to Admiral Ting, who held a corresponding position on the Chinese side. The two men were intimate friends, as they had often come together before the breaking out of the war, and each had been attached to the other by mutually similar qualities of good-fellowship and professional zeal. Admiral Ito, therefore, in addressing Admiral Ting by letter while the fleets commanded by the two admirals were waiting to destroy each other, divested himself entirely of his public capacity and spoke simply as a friend. The gist of the letter was to advise Admiral Ting to abandon the doomed cause and to take refuge in Japan until the termination of the war. Naturally, the question of Admiral Ting's personal safety was kept out of sight. Admiral Ito based his advice solely on patriotic motives. China's disasters, he said, were due to inherent weakness. They were the outcome of defective systems, corrupt government and blind conservatism. He continued:

"It has long been fated that you should witness results such as are now before you. Can it be the duty of the faithful subjects of the empire, men really solicitous for its welfare, to swim idly with the tide now sweeping over the country by the decree of an ancient fate, and making no effort to stem it? A single pillar cannot prevent the fall of a great edifice. By whatever reputation for honorable dealing the Japanese soldiers possess in the eyes of the world, I vow that I believe that your wisest course is to come to Japan and wait there till the fortunes of your country are again in the ascendant."

Remarkable Circumstances.

Admiral Ito did not add to his reputation by this letter. The ethics it advocates have never been those adopted by brave and loyal men in any age. Admiral Ting's duty was in the real present, not in the hypothetical future. He had to serve his country, such as it was, and not to wait to serve it such as it might be; to save the fleet actually entrusted to his command, not to save himself in vague hope of commanding a better fleet hereafter. He adopted the only dignified course under the circumstances—he left the letter unnoticed. Strange to say, little comment has been evoked in the east by this letter. It has, however, a history which is still concealed from the general public. Admiral Ito did not write it. He was, of course, a consenting party and since the letter bore his signature, he must bear the responsibility. But the work of composition and inditing was actually done by one of the foreign military attaches. The language used was English. It is a curious and suggestive fact that in this war the Chinese and Japanese find the English language the most convenient and accessible medium of communication. The Chinese admiral, when he received the letter, had a fine fleet under his command—a powerful ironclad, seven cruisers, seven gunboats and eleven torpedo boats. The land defences at Wei-Hai-Wei were also intact. Garrisoned by a strong body of troops and excellently planned, they appeared impregnable. The humiliating defeat of the Chinese, however, is well known to the world.

Ting's Dignified Surrender.

Admiral Ting's case was now desperate. On the 12th of February he dispatched to Admiral Ito the following letter:

"I have received a letter of suggestion addressed to me by the officer commanding the united Japanese squadrons but I did not reply because our countries were at war. Now, however, having fought resolutely, having had my ships sunk and my men decimated, I am ready to give up the contest and ask for a cessation of hostilities in order to save the lives of my people. I will surrender to the Japanese ships of war now in Wei-Hai-Wei harbor together with Liu Kung island forts and armament provided my request is complied with, namely, that the lives of all persons connected with the army and navy, Chinese and foreign, be uninjured and that they be allowed to return to their homes. If this is acceded to the commander-in-chief of the British naval squadron will become guarantor."

Admiral Ito accepted the proposed terms. He dispensed, however, with the foreign guarantee offered by Admiral Ting. In acknowledging the dispatch of surrender Ito sent to his old friend a few cases of champagne, claret, etc. But Ting would accept nothing. His mind was set on other things.

Tragic Death.

Immediately after this the stout old sailor retired to his cabin and poisoned himself with opium. His example was followed by the second officer in command, Commodore Liu, and by the officer commanding the Liu Kung garrison, General Chang. These three men had done their duty bravely, but knew that nothing excuses failure where Chinese judges are on the bench. To have returned home would have been to court certain disgrace and decapitation and to involve their families in their fate. By dying as they did, they saved their wives and children and their own honor. Admiral Ito restored one of the captured men-of-war in order that the bodies of the three officers might be carried home in due state and as the vessel steamed out of Wei-Hai-Wei every Japanese ship manned its yards and fired a salute to the memory of China's bravest soldiers.

NEW ORLEANS RIOT.

Three Men Killed Outright and Many Wounded.

New Orleans, March 13.—Another bloody riot occurred along the levee yesterday between St. Ann and Dumaine streets. Three men were killed outright, while a number were wounded. The killing was done by a mob of white men numbering about 200 who were armed with pistols and Winchester rifles. The negroes were about to start to work on the steamer Engineer, lying at that point, when white men approached from all directions. All were armed and many took positions behind box cars and poured volley upon volley into the negroes. The negroes were given no quarter and were shot down like dogs. Not only were the darkies shot down but several innocent persons suffered. Among those killed was Jules Clice Carabee, a shoemaker, who happened to be in the vicinity. James Bane, the purser of the Engineer, was standing on the levee near his ship when the attack was made and he received four wounds, three in the head and another in the arm. He was fired upon by several men who aimed over the heads of three policemen who were kneeling behind some freight just on the edge of the wharf. His wounds may prove fatal.

IS WHITNEY TO BE MARRIED?

Rumored That the Ex-Secretary Will Wed Miss Davidge of New York.

Washington, March 13.—A rumor of more than passing interest to Washington society is being circulated with a good deal of persistence to the effect that Hon. William C. Whitney, ex-secretary of the navy, and Miss Joanna Davidge, of New York, are to be married in June next. Although the announcement is not authentatively made, it is credited in circles usually well informed.

Miss Davidge belongs to the old southern family of that name, and is well known in New York society as well as in this city, where she has relatives. When Miss Whitney was taken abroad for her health, Miss Davidge accompanied her. They are now in Cairo, Egypt, accompanied by Mr. Whitney and the other members of the family.

On account of the high social prominence of the Whitneys during his career in the cabinet under Mr. Cleveland's first administration, the rumored engagement is being discussed with much more than ordinary interest in this city's society.

CUBAN REVOLUTION.

General Disposition of the Rebels To Surrender.

Havana, March 13.—It is reported that the revolutionists in the province of Santiago de Cuba were led by the instigators of the revolt to give no credence to the statements that the rebellion had been suppressed in the provinces of Matanzas and Santa Clara, but that now, having learned the truth, they will also surrender to the authorities. Juan Gualberto Gomez, another of the rebel leaders, also believes that the revolutionists have been deceived and considers the surrender of the chiefs a shameful one. The entire force of revolutionists in the province of Santiago de Cuba is estimated at 700, two-thirds of whom are colored. The rebels are armed with weapons of different kinds and are entirely without organization or discipline.

NO KNOWN CAUSE.

Suicide of a Pennsylvanian Worth Nearly $50,000.

Pottsville, Pa., March 13.—Henry Trautman, aged 56 years, shot and killed himself at Ashland yesterday. He had resided in Ashland about five years. He helped his brother load a wagon with furniture, as the latter was moving to a farm in Mahantongo township.

Early in the morning, while his brother was eating breakfast, Trautman went to a hardware store and bought a revolver, which he said he was going to give to his brother. Then he went to the barn and committed suicide.

Trautman was worth about $50,000 and made his will a week ago. He has a wife, and was very highly respected. No cause for the suicide has been ascertained.

Cotton Milling South.

Augusta, Ga., March 13.—Work on the new cotton factory to be built by the Aiken Manufacturing company at Bath, six miles from this city, will be commenced at once. The main building is to be 315 feet long, 102 feet wide, three stories high, and built of brick. The new mill will be furnished with 15,000 spindles and 450 looms and will be completed and ready for operation in about five months. It will give employment to 600 operatives.

More Imported Workmen.

London, March 13.—The correspondent of the Daily News in Antwerp says that 120 diamond workers, among whom are some of the most skillful artisans of their class, started yesterday for Liverpool, whence they will take passage on the steamer Majestic for New York. They have been engaged, it is said, by an American syndicate to carry on their trade in the United States.

Severe Censure.

New York, March 13.—The coroner's jury who have been investigating as to the cause of the collapse, on March 1, of the building in course of erection at 153 Orchard street, in which four workmen were killed, returned a verdict finding that the primary causes of the disaster were faulty plans, and gross carelessness and ignorance on the part of the builders.

Heavy Gale on the Italian Coast.

Rome, March 13.—A heavy southerly gale prevails along the Italian coast in the vicinity of Naples, and many coasting vessels have been sunk or driven ashore. The Hamburg American steamer Augusta Victoria, from New York Jan. 22, with a party of excursionists on board, which was lying at Naples, broke from her moorings, and went adrift.

Henry George's Windfall.

London, March 13.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says that the will of S. M. Burroughs, who died at Monte Carlo on Feb. 6, bequeaths £4,000 to Henry George.

WILD WAR OF WORDS

Unseemly Riot in a Methodist Conference.

Emphatic Language About the Sanitary Aspect of Communion Cups. Prohibition and Politics—Questions Creating Much Talk But No Definite Action—Women Left Out.

Baltimore, March 13.—The last day of the Baltimore Methodist conference proved its liveliest. The question of individual communion cups was introduced by Rev. B. F. Clarkson in a resolution which stated that: "It is the sense of this conference that the preachers in charge of the circuits and stations have neither scriptural authority nor disciplinary right to introduce or to use individual cups in the administration of the Lord's supper."

Rev. Dr. Richard Harcourt, pastor of Grace church, was on his feet in an instant asserting that there was scriptural authority for the use of individual cups and that there was nothing in the discipline against their use. He brought in the sanitary side of the matter. "There was a time," Dr. Harcourt said, "when it was said everybody had to go clean-shaven like the bishop of this conference—when there was no dipping of the moustache into the cup, with perhaps tobacco juice on it; when there was no offensive suffering from the grip after having left the handkerchief at home. I tell you, Mr. President, that from those causes, at the table of the Lord and at His communion, I have administered slops."

Dr. Harcourt reached this climax, raising himself to put all the force of his voice in it and making a positive whole-arm gesture. The groans that greeted it rose to a tumult, entirely drowning Dr. Harcourt's voice as he attempted to proceed. There were exclamations of "Oh" and cries of "Stop."

Men clamored for recognition all over the conference floor. Rev. J. A. Price was recognized and called Dr. Harcourt to order alleging that his remarks were not to the question. There was much confusion but Dr. Harcourt was allowed to proceed, after being cautioned by the bishop to keep to the question. Dr. Harcourt continued his objections to the resolution for some time and concluded by saying that he refrained on account of the presence of ladies, from giving further unpleasant facts.

Rev. J. N. Davis spoke in favor of the resolution. He was called down on a point of order and Rev. Dr. J. B. Stitt of Dumbarton church, Washington, was recognized. Dr. Stitt uses individual cups in his church and warmly defended their use.

"I know I am in a hopeless minority," he said, but I believe I am right. The amazing thing to me is that we have forgotten the blood and are putting all our attention on the cup. It is not the cup but the blood that makes the communion perfect. The Lord Jesus Christ left no specific directions as to how His supper should be commemorated. I believe in introducing the individual cups because it seems more seemly to me."

A motion to lay the matter on the table was carried, 91 to 73. Later in the session it appeared again in the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That we hereby declare that our action taken this morning with reference to the use of individual communion cups is not to be construed as either approving or condemning this innovation.

A resolution was introduced by Rev. Frank G. Porter asking the secretaries of the church extension society to use their veto power in keeping out of a church paper ("Christianity in Earnest") advertisements of a magazine which had a regular theatrical department. The resolution was adopted after an explanation by Mr. Porter. He said: "An advertisement has appeared in the paper of a magazine which devotes probably a fourth of its issue to the modern stage. The Methodist church has taken a stand against the stage. The Epworth leagues are against it. We cannot afford to countenance advertisements of a magazine which regularly makes a feature of the theatre."

The committee on temperance reported a resolution reciting that it was inconsistent for a Christian to vote for a party which advocated the license of the liquor traffic or refused to put itself on record against it. This brought Rev. T. M. West to his feet with a strong protest on the line of personal liberty. He said no one should crack a whip over him to tell him how to vote. After discussion last years' resolutions, with a slight addition asking that temperance people get together, were adopted as a substitute.

The proposition to admit women to the general conference came up as the order of the day and the ladies applauded all those voting "aye" but the motion was lost by a vote of 116 to 65.

Glass Trust.

Chicago, March 13.—What is believed to be the evolution of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company into a trust controlling all of the plate glass companies in the country began yesterday in the purchase of the properties of the Diamond Plate Glass company, the great western rival of the eastern concerns.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25c. per box For sale by L. W. Randolph, druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Benefits Three Generations.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my family ten years with the best of results.

"Before taking it I had falling of the womb; such bearing-down pains, backache, and kidney trouble. I had had eight children, and was approaching the change of life.

"I took the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills; was cured of all my troubles, and passed through the change all right, and now am fifty-four years old and well. My daughter had catarrh of the bladder, and it cured her. I send you my picture with my grandson, whose mother was cured by your remedies. I will recommend your Compound to every body."—MRS. L. KELLY, Patchogue, L.I.

Co-partnership Notice.

Notice is hereby given that J. Augustus Smith has associated with him, as co-partner, Frederick E. Smith, and that the general grocery business formerly conducted by him at No. 125 West Front street, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, is now conducted and will hereafter be conducted by the subscribers as co-partners under the firm name and style of J. Augustus Smith & Bro.

J. AUGUSTUS SMITH,
FREDERICK E. SMITH.
3 7 4-oaw

Carpenters and Builders.

UTZINGER & KLINE.
CARPENTERS AND BUILDERS.
Jobbing promptly attended to.
V. Utzinger, 75 Grandview ave. L. C. Kline, 54 Jackson ave.

THEODORE GRAY,
MASON AND CONTRACTOR.
Estimates given, repairing promptly attended to. Residence 117 Hillside ave. 8 28 1

JOHN P. EMMONS
—Mason and Builder.—
Washington avenue and Prospect place
NORTH PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Jobbing promptly attended to 11 1a 11

PEARSON & GAYLE.
Carpenters and Builders.
RESIDENCE—W. J. Pearson, No. 15 Vine St.
H. B Gayle, No. 18 Vine St.
ALL WORK PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
1-21-tf

JOHN T. ODAM
PLAIN AND ORNAMENTAL
Slate Roofer and Repairer
Residence, cor. Arlington ave. and 6th st. Yard, near Freight House. P. O. Box, Plainfield, N. J. New work warranted for one year. Slating over shingles. 8 10 1

GEO. W. STUDER,
CARPENTER AND BUILDER,
985 ARLINGTON AVENUE.
Jobbing of any kind promptly attended to Estimates given; charges reasonable. 5 3 6m

McCullough's Steam Mill,
21 Steiner Place, North Plainfield.
E. H. McCullough, } Proprietors.
Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Sawing Turning, &c. Estimates cheerfully Furnished. 4 11

C. W. LINES.
Mason and Builder.
PLAINFIELD, N. J.
Residence—118 Liberty street.
Estimates cheerfully given.
Jobbing promptly attended to 12 6t

Jno. J. Shotwell,
Wood Mantels,
Tiles and Fire Place Furnishings.
221 Park avenue, upstairs. 3 5 tf

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE IS THE BEST. FIT FOR A KING.

$5. CORDOVAN, FRENCH & ENAMELLED CALF.
$4 $3.50 FINE CALF & KANGAROO.
$3.50 POLICE, 3 SOLES.
$2.50 $2. WORKINGMEN'S EXTRA FINE.
$2. $1.75 BOYS' SCHOOL SHOES.
LADIES.
$3. $2.50 $2. $1.75 BEST DONGOLA.
SEND FOR CATALOGUE. W. L. DOUGLAS, BROCKTON, MASS.
Over One Million People wear the
W. L. Douglas $3 & $4 Shoes
All our shoes are equally satisfactory
They give the best value for the money.
They equal custom shoes in style and fit.
Their wearing qualities are unsurpassed.
The prices are uniform,—stamped on sole.
From $1 to $3 saved over other makes.
If your dealer cannot supply you we can. Sold by
A. WILLETT & SON.

CODDINGTON'S
FURNITURE AND FREIGHT
EXPRESS.
OFFICES—24 West Front street; 39 Park avenue
Post Office Box 228.
PIANO MOVING A SPECIALTY. Large covered trucks. Goods sent to any part of the country. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed. 12 8 6

WE HAVE GOT THOSE HAMS

YOU WERE ASKING ABOUT.

Hams	10½c pound
Fine butter	25c pound
Lard	9c pound
New can peas	10c
3 cans new tomatoes	25c
2 pound citron	25
3 pound raisins	25
Granulated sugar	4½c

J. F. MacDonald, 180 East Front St.

E. E. Marshall & Co.,
Painters and Decorators.
167 NORTH AVENUE. (Formerly with A. D. VanSciver.)

We renew our offer of last month to paper any room free for the first one sending the correct sentence composed of the following letters:

L Y H A O E I T S U O R E T M I B E S O P U B C F T R A P T

We give you your selection of our immense stock of Wall Papers, which is the finest in the city, and all this years patterns. This contest to close on the 31st day of this month. Our first prize went to Dunellen; see if this one can be kept here. Remember, one guess to each family. To win this prize is an easy way to save money

Ready, There

Yes! All ready at Randolph's for your patronage—A first-class pharmacy to anchor by.
Reasonable prices, courteous clerks, pure drugs and chemicals await you.

L. W. Randolph,
Prescription Druggist,
143 West Front st., Plainfield, N. J.

NEW STOCK.
Fine Hats, Dress Shirts, Gloves and Neckwear
U. B. Crane, Hatter and Furnisher,
120 West Front street.

Given Away With Every $2.00 Hat.
or over, one pair 50c Suspenders. One week only.
E. M. LAING, 105 Park Avenue.

J. T. VAIL, Real Estate and Insurance,
177 North Avenue.

LEGGETT'S TOILET SOAP,
for the toilet, bath and nursery. 15 cents a cake, 6 cakes 75 cents. Warranted absolutely pure.
The compounding of physicians' prescriptions a specialty.
Corner Park avenue and Front street.

SHAD! Rogers
232 W. 2d. St.

106 East Front Street — NEW STORE, NEW GOODS.
Grand Opening of the Plainfield Tea and Grocery Co., Saturday, Feb. 9.

"EVERY DAY PRICES."
Fine quality mixed tea	25c	Can tomatoes, solid packed	8c
" Oolong tea	30c	Can peas, early June	8c
" Young Hyson tea	40c	Can corn, fine goods	8c
" Japan tea	40c	Fine butter	24c
XX soda crackers	4½c	Ground coffee	17½c
Ginger snaps	5½c	Java and Mocha coffee	32c
Nic-nac crackers	6c	Extra fine Maricaibo coffee	30c
California peaches	17c can	" Rio coffee	24c
		Lard	8c

All goods warranted as represented.
H. T. WILLIAMS, Manager.

DeWitt C. Ivins & Co.,
301-311 Watchung Ave.
DEALERS IN
Lumber, Coal, Masons' Materials, &c.
Agents for King's Windsor Asbestos Cement
For walls and ceilings.

Metropolitan Livery and Boarding Stables
Horses boarded by the day, week or month. Especial accommodations for transient trade.
OFFICE AND STABLES,
147, 149, 151 North Avenue, Opp. Railroad Depot.
A. C. BLAIR.....Proprietor. FRANK DAY.....Manager
Telephone 152, connected with all circuits of New Jersey, New York and Brooklyn.
1 14 tf

A GREAT AGREEMENT.

25,000 Physicians of One Mind.

Food for Strength First.—Medicine for Cure Second.—The Least Food that will give Most Nourishment, the Kind.

In this enlightened age, the old theory held by physicians — to get as much medicine in the least possible time into the system of a patient, even at the expense of stomach, blood, brains, nerves, and often, in the end, life itself — has been abandoned.

The old way was to "dose." If the patient had a tremendous constitution, he sometimes "pulled through;" if not, which was more often the case, that special disease was considered more dangerous, as it had claimed another for its own.

But this is all changed now. All prominent physicians agree on one subject, anyway. It is this — build the patient up first, give him new blood and strength, add flesh to his bones. He's then ready to receive the benefit of proper medical treatment.

To do this effectually, that must be given which will, in the least quantity, produce the greatest amount of vitality, — not a stimulant which quickly reacts disastrously, but a genuine food, a muscle, bone, and blood maker. Such a food was long sought for, and at last discovered in that original and only raw food extract — Bovinine.

By the use of this wonderful life-generating preparation, every organ of the body becoming strengthened by nourishment, naturally begins to perform its ordinary functions, and at once the patient is on the road to recovery.

It is this result, obtained in hundreds of cases where Bovinine has been used, that has caused its indorsement by 25,000 prominent physicians in America.

In addition, thousands who have been benefited can vouch for the wonderful results obtained by the use of Bovinine, for invalids, the old, convalescents, the over-worked, or, in fact, all who have found it necessary to maintain strength, flesh, and vigor.

A LADY'S TOILET
Is not complete without an ideal
COMPLEXION POWDER.
POZZONI'S
Combines every element of beauty and purity. It is beautifying, soothing, healing, healthful, and harmless, and when rightly used is invisible. A most delicate and desirable protection to the face in this climate.
Insist upon having the genuine.
IT IS FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

EDUCATIONAL.

SPECIAL ATTENTION
is called to the
Home Department
of Rockview School, 317 East Front street.
Children received from
4 to 15 Years.
Parents leaving city can place children for any length of time. References.

Miss Fawcett's School,
25 Washington Ave.
Department for boys to the age of 12.
" girls and kindergarten.
Girls prepared for college.
Re-opened September 13.

MONEY LOANED.
Local Representatives Wanted.
Our system affords an opportunity to borrow on either personal or real estate security. The plan is superior to building and loan associations. The amount borrowed may be returned in monthly payments without bonus, with interest at 5 per cent. per annum, it affords absolute security to investors with a reasonable guarantee of an annual dividend of from 8 to 10 per cent. We desire to secure the services of energetic, representative men in every community to act as local secretaries. The position will be sufficiently remunerative to amply compensate for services. If you possess the above qualifications write for particulars. Full information regarding our system of making loans as well as investments and agencies will be furnished by addressing S. S. Robertson, President, 1122 Walnut st., Philadelphia. 1 5 3m.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the city of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a regular meeting held March 4, 1895, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, March twenty-fifth, 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 23, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council March 4, 1895, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000, payable to the treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

1,067 feet 24 inch pipe sewer,
2,284 feet 12 " " "
4,925 feet 10 " " "
20,695 feet 8 " " "
108 feet 8 to 12 inch cast iron pipe sewer,
116 manholes,
28 drop connections at manholes,
179 lampholes,
68 flush tanks,
4,141 Y branches,
875 extension connections on Y branches,
5,735 feet underdrains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposals, specifications, contract, bond, &c., may be obtained at the office of A. J. Gavett, constructing engineer, No. 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MAC MURRAY,
City Clerk.

TURKISH BARBARITIES

Armenians Imprisoned on Forged Evidence.

Fiendish Scheme To Breed Disease Among Prisoners and Let Them Die from Neglect and Starvation. Charges of Sedition Fabricated as Excuse for Persecution.

New York, March 13.—The Independent speaks as follows of the atrocities of the Turks toward the Armenians: "From all reports it appears that the investigating commission in eastern Turkey are discovering that the situation is and has been much worse than the government has been disposed to acknowledge. Meanwhile reports continue to come in from other sections of the country of most brutal treatment by Turkish officers. In the north where the Dersim Kurds dominate the whole region, there seems to have been special zeal in searching for proofs of sedition among the Armenians. In two villages papers were found stating that a certain order for arms had been filled and the arms forwarded. But there were no weapons of any kind to be found among the Christians, surrounded by armed Kurds and soldiers. Subsequently a man confessed that he himself had forged the papers. Notwithstanding this, fifty people, thirty from one village, were imprisoned, of whom ninteen were subsequently released, five died and 27, at the last account, were still under arrest. Fourteen of these had been at work in a remote part of the country, but had been brought back there because their forged names were upon one of the letters. The prison was a stable which had been used by the cavalry. A quantity of wet sand was brought in and put upon the ground already wet and covered with boards. There were only two small windows and soon typhus fever broke out among the men. A physician was sent for whose first effort was to isolate the sick. In this he failed, although there was a room that could easily have been secured. Sick and well were all kept together. Three of the prisoners had government rations, consisting of a small loaf of bread daily. The rest had to care for themselves. When lime was desired, to be used as a disinfectant, it was refused on the ground that there was no money to pay for it. It would cost 20 cents a day. Not a mill could be had to secure suitable food for sick, and, in some cases, the doctor gave money from his own pocket for the purpose. To many it looked as if the government wished these people to die as the easiest way to dispose of them. Everywhere throughout Asia Minor the Christians are in constant fear of the Turks, who are being stirred up by their priests to provide themselves with arms in order to be prepared for any emergency. Everywhere the prisons are crowded with political prisoners, most, if not all, absolutely innocent of any seditious intentions. In Constantinople itself we are glad to learn that matters are more quiet. The note from the foreign ambassadors demanding better police supervision seems to have had some effect."

Cut in Wages.

Pittsburg, March 13.—Employes of the Pennsylvania railroad shops and the transfer officers have received notice of a reduction in wages, to go into effect Monday next. It is also asserted that after that date all employes must pay fare while going to and from work, all passes having been recalled. The reduction has caused some excitement among the five hundred men affected and there is some talk of a strike. The reason for the reduction and the taking away of free transportation has not yet been ascertained. It is reported that in some instances the wage reduction amounts to a forty per cent cut.

Fatal Politics.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 13.—As a result of the row which disgraced the closing session of the legislature last midnight, Myron D. King, the governor's private secretary, is not expected to live. A rib was broken and it is pressing upon the heart. King was the centre of a rush made by the republicans to prevent him from delivering a vetoed bill to the house. Great excitement prevails and the members who assisted in the assult upon King are leaving the city to avoid arrest.

Cleveland's Outing.

Cape Henry, Va., March 13.—Mr. Cleveland finished his duck hunt at Cape Hatteras and is now homeward bound. If it is a good day to-day, Mr. Cleveland will probably hunt for a few hours in the vicinity of Currituck Light, though ducks have been unusually scarce there this season.

Harrison Convalescent.

Indianapolis, March 13.—Ex-President Benamin Harrison is in a much improved condition. Dr. Jameson, who has been attending Mr. Harrison, reports that his patient is entirely out of danger, and that he will be able to be out in a few days.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

WHEAT—Trade on spot is quiet, owing to the higher prices asked.

CORN—Spot scarce and held higher, checking trade, No. 2 quoted 53 afloat; steamer yellow 51¼ elevator.

OATS—Spot quiet but held strongly, especially mixed. No. 2 white 37@37¼. No. 2 mixed 33¼@34.

PORK—Spot firm with a fair inquiry.

BUTTER—Receipts show a decrease, but the demand continues slow, and prices show a further decline in most grades. New butter, creamery, western extras, 19 c.; creamery, western, seconds to firsts, 14@18c.; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, fancy, 17½@18c; state dairy, half-firkin tubs, seconds to firsts, 12@17c.; western imitation creamery, seconds to firsts, 9@14c.; western dairy, firsts, 12@13c.; western dairy thirds to seconds, 8@10c.; western factory, fancy, 11½@12c.; western factory, firsts, 9@10 c.; western factory, thirds to seconds, 7@8½c.

CHEESE—Strictly fancy, especially small size colored, strong owing to the steady decrease in the supply. Local buyers are showing fair interests.

PEACE COMES nigh.

Japan Wants Heavy Indemnity and a New Treaty.

Washington, March 13.—Information which reaches here through private but entirely trustworthy sources is to the effect that Li Hung Chang's peace mission to Japan will probably look to other matters than an amicable settlement of hostilities between China and Japan. The existing commercial treaty between the two countries has been set aside by the war and it is understood that a new treaty will be formed. In this treaty, it is asserted, Japan will insist that her consular officers in China shall have jurisdiction over all matters connected with the subjects of Japan who may be living in China. Japan, it is asserted, looks with as much disfavor upon an unchecked immigration of Chinese to her shores as do the United States or any of the other countries which have restricted Chinese immigration. It is believed that the new treaty with China will contain a provision which will not permit Chinese subjects to enter the interior of Japan but will limit their residence wholly to the seacoast cities. So far as a treaty of peace is concerned, it is claimed that Japan will insist upon an indemnity sufficient to cover the expenses of war. It is estimated that this sum will reach $150,000,000. The radical war party in Japan are also urging that all that part of the province of Manchuria which is now occupied by Japanese troops shall be ceded to Japan and that the latter government be also placed in control of Port Arthur and Wei-Hai-Wei. It is also understood that Japan will, above everything else, claim the island of Formosa, where the rich sugar plantations of the orient are located.

SOUTH CAROLINA RUM.

Dispensary Law Sent to United States Supreme Court.

Charleston, S. C., March 13.—The state dispensary law is now on its way to the United States supreme court. In the United States circuit court Judge Simonton handed down a decision in the habeas corpus case of the master and crew of the schooner Carolina, who had been arrested on a charge of violating the dispensary law. Their vessel contained a cargo of liquor brought from Savannah, Ga., to this port, which was seized by the police and state constables and confiscated. Suits were brought to transfer the case to the federal court, and the master and crew of the vessel were brought into that court on habeas corpus. In the decision, which order the release of the men from custody, Judge Simonton expresses the opinion that the arrest and detention of the defendants was against the interstate commerce law and that the dispensary law is unconstitutional and indicates that it would be best for the state and the public for the case to be carried speedily before the supreme court of the United States.

SOUTHERN MANUFACTORIES.

Massachusetts Legislators on a Tour Through Dixie.

Atlanta, Ga., March 13.—The legislative committee from Massachusetts spent the day in this city investigating southern methods of manufacturing cotton. The members found that coal is much cheaper in the southern states than in New England. Raw cotton, labor, insurance and taxes are all lower here, and the hours of labor longer. It was found that the southern manufacturers are enlarging their plants and new cotton manufacturing companies are springing up everywhere. One thing which impressed the committee was evidence of a growing sentiment for protection. The legislators were entertained by the cotton states and international exposition directors, and were shown much attention. The committee left here for Raleigh, and will visit Wilmington and Richmond on the way home.

Tilden Estate.

New York, March 13.—With a view to furthering the consummation of the proposed consolidation of the Tilden trust with the Astor and Lenox libraries, the action which was brought in December, 1893, by the Tilden trust for a partition of all the property left by Samuel J. Tilden in New York, Kings and Westchester counties, has been sent to a referee—J. Warren Greene—by Judge Patterson, of the supreme court, for the purpose of taking testimony and reporting as to the partition and the rights and interests of the heirs and next of kin, and also that of the Tilden trust.

Nicaragua Canal.

New York, March 13.—Judge Lacombe, in the United States circuit court, handed down an opinion in the case of Louis Chable against the Nicaragua Canal Construction company. In it he says that if the reorganization committee of the new company assumes the obligations of the old company as to the outstanding $65,000 bonds, such an arrangement, if acceptable to the trustee, would probably be approved by the court, and an adjustment, in that way, would, no doubt, be satisfactory to all parties.

Slavin Challenges Jackson.

London, March 13.—Frank P. Slavin has again challenged Peter Jackson, the colored pugilist, to make a match with him for £1,000 a side. Slavin objects, however, to the fight coming off under the auspices of the National Sporting club, believing that that organization would favor Jackson. Ted Pritchard has issued another challenge to Frank Craig, the "Harlem Coffee Cooler." O'Brien, of Cardiff, also has challenged Craig.

Suffering at St. Johns.

St. Johns, N. F., March 13.—Governor Sir Terrance O'Brien has received complete returns from all available sources in regard to the suffering in this city, with the result that his report to the home office in London will show 50 per cent. of the entire population of the city to be either receiving or in need of assistance to keep starvation from their doors.

Jeddo's Second Big Fire.

Buffalo, March 13.—For the second time within the last two years the business portion of the village of Jeddo, near Medina, has been destroyed by fire. The loss will reach about $15,000. Insurance not ascertained.

SALUTE OF SOLID SHOT

Questionable Action of a Spanish Warship.

An American Passenger Steamship Chased and Fired on Without Apparent Justification—Secretary of State Gresham Notified and International Complications May Arise.

New York, March 13.—The American mail steamship Allianca was fired upon March 8 by a Spanish gunboat off the eastern shore of Cuba. Secretary Gresham has been formailly notified of the circumstances and the affair may lead to serious complications. The story told by the Allianca's officers is that at daylight last Friday morning about 6:30 o'clock, while going through the Windward passage from the Caribbean sea to the Atlantic, a ship was seen coming out from under the land of Cape Maysi, the eastern point of Cuba. The stranger laid her course with the evident object of intercepting the Allianca, and at 7 o'clock she hoisted the orange and crimson colors which, taken with her build and general appearance, left no doubt in the minds of those aboard the Allianca that she was a Spanish man-of-war. No sooner were the gunboat's colors seen at her mizzen peak than Captain Crossman of the Allianca ordered the stars and stripes to be hoisted on the jack staff over the taffrail and dipped three times in salute. The marine courtesy was returned in kind by the warship and the Allianca's ensign was unbent from its halliards and stowed away. Hardly had this been accomplished than the Spaniard again displayed his colors, and, as a mark of extra politeness Captain Crossman ordered the Allianca's flag to be run up and dipped again, and then left flying. Again was the salute acknowledged, and then to the utter amazement of those aboard the American steamer, a blank shot was fired from one of the war vessel's forward port guns. The shot was probably meant as an invitation to the Allianca to heave to, but Captain Crossman had no intention of obeying the summons. He remarked to Second Officer Russell, who was on duty on the bridge, "The Spaniard seems to be firing a shot," and then calmly kept to his course. Soon another blank shot was fired, which the captain greeted by saying, "All right; let him shoot to h—ll."

Shooting in Earnest.

A third shot was fired, but this time it was shot in earnest. It was a solid shot and not a harmless blank cartridge with which the gunboat next charged her bow port rifle, and she yawed from her course that the gun might be aimed at the Yankee merchantman. The course of the shot could be seen where it ricocheted along the water before finally going to the bottom, a full quarter of a mile short of its mark. Still Captain Crossman kept his course and waited for the gunboat to overtake him, if it could. The black smoke began to pour from the gunboat's funnel and the water around her bow to heap up in a way that showed that her fires were being vigorously stoked and steam forced up to its big heat limit. The gunboat fired again, ten minutes later, and still again after another equal interval of time. But observation through the glass showed that she was gradually falling astern, and after a chase lasting for twenty-five miles she gave it up and laid away on her course. Captain Crossman was very indignant over the occurrence. He said:

"We were from six to eight miles off shore when the occurrence took place, and not in Spanish jurisdiction at all. We were to the southward of Cuba when we first sighted the warship and far away from Guantanamo, where I understand they have been having trouble in that country. In consequence of this I took particular pains to keep off my ordinary course. I usually pass within a mile of Cape Maysi, but on this trip I was from four and a half to five miles off shore, and therefore outside the Spanish jurisdiction, as I knew that a gunboat was patrolling those waters. I could not see any reason why he could stop me on the high sea. If it had been one of our men-of-war I might have stopped, as he might have wanted to send some mail, of I would have stopped if he had been in distress—always. But if he wanted to talk with powder and shot, he'd have to catch us first.

"If I had been within one marine league of shore, I would have stopped my ship; but I wasn't, and he had no right to stop me. We were going at our usual speed of thirteen knots, when we met the warship, and we kept it up. Although he fired up, he couldn't make more than about eleven and a half knots, and we slowly dropped him astern. I suppose he wanted to show the authority and prestige of a warship, but, time is valuable, in this business, and I have none to waste on gunboats. Besides, anyone with half the eye of a seaman, could see that this was an ordinary passenger steamer—with awnings spread fore and aft, just going about her business. He set no signals till we were so far away we couldn't read them. It may be that the ship was a new one on that station. One thing that makes it look that way was that the ship was painted black, and her bottom seemed very clean. They always paint their ships on that station white. But he could easily have seen that this was not the kind of ship for a filibusterer."

Captain Crossman is the senior commander of the Columbian line, and commodore of the fleet.

Elbe Rescuers Rewarded.

London, March 13.—The mayor of Lowestoft has publicly presented to the crew of the fishing boat Wildflower which picked up the survivors of the steamer Elbe, the sum of £5. This amount was subscribed in response to an appeal made by the mayor. The crew were also presented with a photograph of the surviving officers of the Elbe, which was sent with a letter expressing the gratitude of the North German Lloyd company. One hundred pounds will be privately presented to the crew.

CURE THAT COUGH WITH THE BEST SHILOH'S CURE
25cts., 50cts. and $1.00 Bottle. One cent a dose.
THIS GREAT COUGH CURE promptly cures where all others fail. Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough and Asthma. For Consumption it has no rival; has cured thousands, and will CURE YOU if taken in time. Sold by Druggists on a guarantee. For a Lame Back or Chest, use SHILOH'S BELLADONNA PLASTER. 25c.
SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY.
Have you Catarrh? This remedy is guaranteed to cure you. Price 50cts. Injector free.
Sold by all druggists.
9 14 y

M. M. DUNHAM,
Real Estate and Insurance.
7 East Front Street.

Prof. A. Wehner,
TEACHER OF THE PIANOFORTE.
ALSO VOICE CULTURE.
Graduate of the Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany, desires a few more pupils in Plainfield.
References given and required.
Address letters to the office of this paper.
1 21 tf-c

Call and see the new
SPALDING
FOR '95.
Any one placing their order for a Spalding before January 1, 1895, will receive a new
'95 Spalding Cyclometer
FREE.
W. H. ROGERS,
408 West 5th st.

EDWIN B. MAYNARD
Hair Cutting and Shampooing.
Tonsorial Parlor, 204 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.
Ladies shampooing and childrens hair cutting a specialty. 10 12 y

The Perfect Vapor Heater.
Sold by
DAVID T. KENNEY.
Practical worker in Sanitary Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam and Warm Air Heating.
102 North Ave., opp Railroad Station

E. H. HOLMES,
DEALER IN
COAL and WOOD,
YARD—No. 208 Madison Avenue. Also
Office for coal orders with Woolston & Buckle 145 North avenue

PLAINFIELD SOUVENIR
SOLID SILVER SPOONS.
COLLIER'S,
103 PARK AVENUE.
ESTABLISHED 1869.

TOWNSEND'S
MARBLE AND GRANITE WORKS,
SOMERSET STREET.
OUR MOTTO—Good work, good material at fair prices. 8 4 y

BAR-LOCK VISIBLE WRITING TYPEWRITER
Writes every letter in sight of operator. Does most of the work, in writing AUTOMATICALLY, and yields in the time thus saved additional work.
It acts as if it studied the convenience of the operator at every turn, and thereby lightens his labor and renders him capable of doing more.
It has a knack of keeping well, and is always ready at critical or other times.
These are some of the reasons why it is different from all other writing machines.
The catalogue tells you more about it. FREE.
Columbia Typewriter Mfg. Co.,
307 Broadway, New York.
1 5 6m

Hotels and Saloons.
HOTEL ALBION,
OPEN FOR GUESTS
Park avenue and 8th street.
The Finderne,
FINDERNE, Somerset Co., N. J.
Open all the year as a resort of the highest order. Driving and sleighing parties will receive every attention.
HIGH-CLASS SUNDAY DINNERS.
(Table d' Hote from 1 to 3:30) Steam heat; inclosed piazzas; everything immaculate. When out driving let us entertain you.
A. E. WHITE, Manager.
1 9 tf Finderne, N. J.
HOTEL GRENADA,
North Avenue.
Now open for the reception of guests, under the management of George and Wallace V. Miller. House has been thoroughly renovated and re-furnished throughout, and contains all improvements. First-class accommodations for families and the traveling public.
5-12-y
CITY HOTEL.
Plainfield, N. J.
COR. PARK AVENUE AND SECOND STREET.
J. K. DEERBOWER, Proprietor.
With stables attached. 4 17
IMPORTED WERZBURGER BEER
On draught at
CHARLES SMITH'S
Temple and Lunch Rooms, 4 WEST FRONT ST.
The Bartholomay, Rochester Pale, the Bavarian Dark and the St. Louis.
Ballantine's Ales also on draught The Indian Pale XXX Stil Ale and Porter.

A full assortment of Stationery!
AT
HARPER'S,
411 Park ave.

$500 DOWN
Buys One of These New Houses
on Duer street near Linden avenue; the balance on easy payments. F. H. Martin, 61 Sandford ave., or agents. 2 13 m
Mrs. L. Adams,
111 East Front st., Under 1st National Bank.
is selling out her stock of Winter Millinery at reduced prices. Alpine Hats from 39c to 75c. The celebrated Bazar Glove Fitting Patterns at 15c each.
BROWNIE HANDKERCHIEFS.
F. A. DUNHAM.
Civil Engineer and Surveyor, 109 Park avenue. Sewers, pavements and road improvements. Publisher of city map and atlas.
Real Estate Insurance
VAN BUREN & TIMPSON.
105 North ave. Plainfield, N. J.
REMOVAL.
I have removed my watchmaking and jewelry business from Park ave. to
142 North Avenue
Next to Walker's bakery, and shall be pleased to have my friends call.
CALEB DICKINSON
AN IDEAL FAMILY MEDICINE
For Indigestion, Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, Bad Complexion, Offensive Breath, and all disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.
R-I-P-A-N-S TABULES
act quickly yet promptly. Perfect digestion follows their use. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
Price 50 cents a box. Address
RIPANS CHEMICAL CO., 10 Spruce St., N. Y.
WM. D. THICKSTUN,
Real Estate and Insurance,
197 North ave. 10 1 tf
H. Eggerding,
121 PARK AVENUE.
Manufacturer of the celebrated;
C. O. D. CIGAR
The best 5c cigar in the State, and made on the premises from the finest Havana. Clear Havana cigars a specialty. A large assortment of the choicest brands of domestic cigars. 11 p tf
Jones & Co., Excavators.
Cesspools and sinks thoroughly cleaned. Attention given to sanitary condition. Buildings, cellars, etc., disinfected. All work done under experienced manager.
JONES & CO.
Cesspools built. 9 15
FISCHER PIANOS.
ESTABLISHED 1840.
Nearly 100,000 Now in Use.
RECEIVED HIGHEST AWARD, WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO.
EASY TERMS, — EXCHANGED.
Catalogue mailed on application.
110 FIFTH AVE., cor. 16th St., N. Y.

THE DAILY PRESS.

E. L. FORCE, Publisher and Proprietor.

WALTER IRVING CLARKE, Managing Editor.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., MCH. 13, 1895

TOWN AND HOME FAVORITE.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Pussy willows are purring.

—The Climax Gun Club hold their regular shoot today at Fanwood.

—Finest and freshest meats are supplied by Fred Endress, the popular marketman of 203 Liberty street.

—The excellent music at the reception of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. MacClymont was furnished by A. G. Carpenter of this city.

—A special business meeting of the W. T. A. S. will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2. All members are earnestly requested to attend.

—Ex-Councilman Tell A. Beguelin of East Front street is having his house brightened by a coat of paint; Marsh, Ayres & Co. are doing the work.

—VanEmburgh & Son, the enterprising West Front street dry-goods merchants, are having a handsome gilt sign lettered on their plate-glass front by Artist Theo. Vroom.

—The beautiful pen and ink drawing by Miss Alice E. Loomis, which has been on exhibition in Garret Q. Packer's window, has been purchased by a New York person who admires fine penwork.

—The election in the borough yesterday cost considerable over one dollar for each and every vote cast. There were 298 votes polled, and it will cost nearly $400 to pay the expenses pertaining to the election.

—The Grocers Association are already making arrangements for their annual excursion which will no doubt be to Boynton Beach. Twenty-five additional cars have been secured to accommodate those who will go.

—The second in the series of Lenten readings conducted by Rev. C. L. Goodrich will be given in the Congregational Church tomorrow afternoon at 4. The book is The Ministry of the Spirit, by Dr. A. J. Gordon.

—The youths who make a practice of spinning their tops on the concrete walk in front of the Babcock Building, may some day come to grief by smashing one of the large plate glass windows that adorn the building.

—While Rickert's team were drawing slate for Justice Crosley's house on Duer street, they became stranded in the mud on Mercer avenue yesterday afternoon, and only by unloading part of the load were they able to proceed.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., held their regular meeting last evening, at which time one member was received by transfer from Major Anderson Post, No. 109, G. A. R. The evening was chiefly taken up with routine business.

—The foundry men, pattern-makers and laborers employed in the Scott Press Works have accepted a small reduction in wages paid them. The reduction was graduated according to the amount received, no uniform reduction being made.

—Adjt. George Wood will be present at the Salvation Army to conduct special meetings March 16, 17 and 18. All are invited to come and bring their friends. Several recruits will be made into soldiers during his visit. Monday night the 18th the meeting will be for the members only.

—Woodland avenue from South avenue to Ravine road, is in such a dangerous condition caused by the depressions in the road, that the residents of that avenue have placed stakes with a red flag attached, to warn people who have occasion to drive through that thoroughfare where the dangerous spots are.

Always Winners.

The Plainfield Bowling team went down to Cranford last night to win, and win they did. Every man on the team did good work, making a much better average than their opponents. In addition to their playing good they also had a good time socially—the women in particular extending a hearty welcome. The best work among the Plainfielders was that of WanAlstyne, who in the last half ran up a score of 193.

The score follows:

FIRST GAME.

P. B. C.		CRANFORD.
VanEmburgh	183	Cox	143
WanAlstyne	162	Sharp	165
Wilbur	168	Rogers	168
Maltby	149	Lawrence	169
Wall	166	Page	145
	828		790

SECOND GAME.

VanEmburgh	160	Cox	169
VanAlstyne	193	Sharp	168
Wilbur	169	Rogers	158
Maltby	155	Lawrence	152
Wall	161	Page	153
	838		799

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price 75 cts. per bottle.

THE MEN ARE CROWDING.

Usurping the Places Once Occupied by Wage Earning Women.

"There is nothing," said Rev. Anna Howard Shaw a few evenings before she left to attend the council meetings in Washington, "which I like so much as the phrase 'Woman's Sphere' when applied to intellectual women by the average man, but I cannot understand why he does not endeavor to protect that sphere. Thirty years ago thousands of poor women made a good living by day's washing. It is very humble work, and requires but little intelligence. Yet today we find the business monopolized by men. They have even organized a national association of American laundrymen, not male washerwomen, mark you, and glory in their success at driving woman out of the field.

"Dressmakers and seamstresses were formerly all women, but now a man does the sewing in a filthy tenement, a man takes your measure and a man sells wear and underwear to you across the counter. To cap the climax, if you want to be stylish you must patronize some man tailor. In fashionable society not a pretty maid but a coarse, ignorant man opens the door to you and serves you at dinner. In the kitchen a masculine chef replaces the good old woman cook. Men make mittens, socks and comforters on the knitting machine, and have driven the old lady and her needles out of the market. In flats and apartments the male janitor brings up your coal and wood, scrubs your halls and windows, feeds the dog and does two-thirds of the menial work.

"Everywhere men are usurping the place of the waitress, the chambermaid, the scrub woman, the shop girl, the dairy maid, the governess, the music teacher, the singing teacher, the ladies' hairdresser, the dishwasher, the preserve maker and the maker of home made bread. It really requires a magnifying glass to find a part of woman's sphere which is not occupied by a lot of superior male beings. The average man is certainly a coward, as well as a simpleton, to glibly descant upon our sphere and deprecate our leaving it for a second, while at the same time he calmly permits it to be parceled out and appropriated by his own sex."

QUEER IDEAS OF HONESTY.

A Michigan Man Who Was Bound to Buy Green Goods.

Charles Tyler, whose home is on a farm a couple of miles from the little town of Cheshire, in Michigan, was stopped by Patrolman Rya at Albany, while on his way to New York to buy green goods and was sent back to his home in the pines. They went to police headquarters, where the man from the West gave Chief Willard his name and address and told the old, old story of the green goods circulars and letters.

"Would you pass this counterfeit money?" asked the chief.

"'Tain't counterfeit money," replied Mr. Tyler. "They sent me half of a bill an' it wuz good's gold! Durned me if it wasn't! Besides, th' government's rich and th' little money I'd spread 'round wouldn't make it poor. Any way, I wouldn't give it t' no poor people. I'd only give it t' people whut could spare it."

Then the chief explained the ancient game. It was a new story to Tyler and his eyes filled with tears as he heard it.

"Jest t' think!" he said. "I sold all my hosses except one team, all my hogs, all my sheep and all my cattle!"

But now and then he would recover his confidence and he said:

"I don't believe they'd cheat me. They've been honest in every letter they wrote me. They didn't ask me t' meet them in no dark place. They said fer me t' come t' a hotel. Here's the telegram. Jest read it an' tell me if it ain't like one frum an honest man."

The chief did not look at it, but he went to his desk and showed Mr. Tyler a half dozen telegrams and letters just like the ones he had received. Then he showed him a dozen or more newspaper clippings. The clippings settled the whole thing.

"When did you last read a paper?" asked the chief. "Don't you ever read papers?"

"Yes, sometimes; but they seemed so gosh darned honest," replied Mr. Tyler. "They did everything right out in the open."

"How much money have you?"

"I've jest got $361."

"You take part of it and buy a ticket to Cheshire," advised the chief. "If you want me to I'll give you a note to the conductor telling him to keep you from putting your head out of the window."

Mr. Tyler took a train for Saginaw at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

When Maggie Entered Society.

It doesn't matter how old they may be, whenever two or three women are gathered together they always will insist on calling each other girls. Take that New York dance the other night, for instance, at which Miss Ma gie Cline made her debut in society. No sooner had Miss Cline gone through the preliminary rites and begun to chat with Mrs. Dinsmore, Miss Anita De Forest, Mrs. Cooper-Hewitt and Mrs. William Douglass, than she exclaimed: "Well, girls, I'll tell you what it is, now. If my poor old mother was alive she'd walk all the way from the Bowery to see me now."

The Policeman Refused to be Useful.

For some time it has been the custom for the police force of Marion, Ind., to scrub the mayor's office and clean the cuspidors. A few days ago one of the force declined to do the work and was dismissed from the force on a charge of insubordination. He then made charges against the mayor, who used what was considered undignified language in his denial. A mass meeting of citizens was held and his resignation demanded.

To Excess.

"Did you read about that man in Baltimore who swallowed his glass eye?" asked the youngest boarder.

"I did," replied the cheerful idiot. "And it does seem to me that he was carrying the modern weakness for introspection a trifle too far."—Indianapolis Journal.

The Mistress' Fears Allayed.

Mrs. Youngwife—Mary, don't you put acid in the water when you wash the clothes?

Mary—Oh, yes'm; but don't worry—me hands is used to it.—Brooklyn Life.

Redeemed Himself.

"Why does he stand so high socially? He got his money in trade."

"Yes; but he lost it at gambling, you know."—Detroit Tribune.

BY THE WAY.

—Voehl's flats on East Front street were connected with the water main yesterday.

—The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company have removed from 140 Park avenue to 132 North avenue.

—Fred Smith of Berkley avenue, Netherwood, is improving his house by the addition of a large veranda.

—A. A. Dyett's house on Belvidere avenue is being handsomely decorated and pspered by Woolston & Buckle.

—A special meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association will be held in their rooms tomorrow night at 8.

—The Junior Epworth League of the Dunellen Methodist Church will give an entertainment Friday evening in the church.

—The proprietor of the Arlington Hotel on Somerset street is making extensive alterations, preparatory to the Spring influx of boarders.

—Henry Willimeyer, proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, has placed a faucet in front of his place, where drivers may water their horses.

Ask Your Druggist for It.

Such strong proofs of the cures made by Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy have been brought to public notice through newspaper investigations that it is now the standard medicine for the diseases for which it is prepared.

Dr. G. H. Ingraham, of Amsterdam, N. Y., states where the regular prescriptions used in a case of kidney disease and gravel utterly failed, he prescribed Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and it cured the patient.

Dr. Wm. Smith, of Jewett's Heights, N. Y., prescribed Favorite Remedy for Mrs. Casper Brooks, of Athens, N. Y., who was suffering from kidney disease and ulceration of the stomach; after the second day, steady improvement was noted, and final permanent recovery.

Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy acts directly upon the kidneys, liver and blood in cases of nervousness, dyspepsia, rheumatism and Bright's disease; it has made most pronounced cures, after all other treatments have failed.

BARGAINS.

Poor old word used to mean something in times gone by, but not so now. Any old trash or plunder that some merchants can rake up is put out and named BARGAIN.

We are looking for a word to take its place and to any one sending us a new name for the many good things we offer to our customers every day we will give ten dollars in gold.

The items below are

Jap Rugs

Japanese rugs of the celebrated Yamato manufacture. All rich oriental designs and colorings at half the usual prices.

36x36 in. 88c. value $1.25
26x54 in 90c. " 1.25
30x60 in 1.27 " 2.25
48x84 in 2.49 " 4.50
2½ yds x 3½ yds $6.98 value $10.00.

Dress Goods

38 in all-wool henriettas black and colors 33c.
45 in Imperial serges black and navy 39c.
50 in wool mixtures 33c.
54 in Covert cloth 49c.

Linoleums

10-piece extra heavy linoleums new designs 37½c square yard.

Skirts

Made of black satine, splendid quality, new styles and new prices 75c to $2.17 for the best.

Umbrellas

A good gloria silk paragon frame can be bought for 75c. Old price $1 00.

House Furnishings

10-qt. galvanized pails 13c.
Paper pails 17c.
Jap. Tea pots 10c.
2-qt granite Coffee pots 37c.
2 qt. " stew pots 27c.
Brooms 13c.
Pail, soap, brush and mop all for 27c.

WHITE,
of Plainfield.

MUSIC HALL.

Joseph Sohl, Lessee and Manager.
Telephone call 49B.

1 Night Only, Wednesday, March 13.

There are others, but none like these. The fountain heads of modern wit.

Ward & Vokes

That's the last time I'll ever take Lady Belmont to a ball. A record of 700 nights in New York as "Percy" and "Harold." In the up-to-date farce comedy,

"A Run on the Bank."

You can't afford to miss it. It's a guaranteed attraction, and worth going miles to see.
Prices 35, 50, 75 and $1. Box office now open.

REMOVAL.

Dr. Lighthill begs leave to give notice that he has removed to

NO. 132 CRESCENT AVE.

(a few doors from his former location) where he can be consulted on all chronic diseases of whatever name and nature.

Dr. Lighthill refers with pardonable pride to the success of his practice in Plainfield and submits below a few of the many testimonials which he has received from grateful patients. A mass of similar ones can be seen at his office.

AN ALMOST MIRACULOUS CURE.

The Statement of Mr. Edward Teel, Jr., of Dunellen, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

From a sense of duty I desire to call public attention to the almost miraculous cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in the case of my wife. For eleven years she had been afflicted with piles of an unusual severe and distressing character. She suffered every day of her life the most intense pain, attended with frequent and profuse hemorrhage. This state of things debilitated her entire system until she became a perfect wreck of her former self.

We made every effort to obtain a cure but they all resulted in bitter disappointment, although a number of physicians of excellent reputations for skill in that direction had treated her case. She grew worse and worse all the time, the pain became perfectly unbearable and I felt she could not bear the strain of her condition much longer. In this extremity, a friend of mine, Mr. W. E. Dilts, a resident of Roselle, N. J., a passenger conductor on the New Jersey Central told me that he had been similarly affected, and had been permanently cured by Dr. Lighthill, after other medical skill had failed. He assured me that the doctor would cure my wife, no matter how severe her case may be, and his prediction proved perfectly correct. In spite of her desperate condition, Dr. Lighthill, I am glad to say, has effected a complete and perfect cure in her case, and has given her new life.

Since the cure has been effected she has gained in health and strength and is so improved in appearance that her friends scarcely recognise her. They all consider her cure as almost miraculous, and Dr. Lighthill's praise is heard on every side. Our gratitude to Dr. Lighthill is unbounded and we only hope that other sufferers may be benefited by this publication.

EDWARD TEEL, JR.

A Flattering Testimonial from Colonel John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing with which I was afflicted.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Mr. Thomas Callahan of No. 214 Richmond street Cured of a Very Distressing Trouble by Dr. Lighthill.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., June 1, 1894.

TO THE PUBLIC:

For some time past I have been greatly distressed with noises in the head. They were all over my head and troubled me constantly; they were loudest at night when everything was quiet and at such times would often keep me from sleep and disturb my rest. In fact they got to be so bad and distressing that they affected my whole nervous system as well as my health. I did not obtain the least relief until I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill, of No. 132 Crescent avenue, who effected a complete cure in my case in a short time and made me a very happy man.

THOMAS CALLAHAN,
214 Richmond street.

A Card From Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

of Nos. 304 and 306 Park ave.,

Plainfield, N. J

